But his armor-bearer was terrified and would not do it; so Saul took his own sword and fell on it. ⁵When the armor-bearer saw that Saul was dead, he too fell on his sword and died. ⁶So Saul and his three sons died, and all his house died together.

⁷When all the Israelites in the valley saw that the army had fled and that Saul and his sons had died, they abandoned their towns and fled. And the Philistines came and occupied them.

¹¹When all the inhabitants of Jabesh Gilead heard what the Philistines had done to Saul, ¹²all their valiant men went and took the bodies of Saul and his sons and brought them to Jabesh. Then they buried their bones under the great tree in Jabesh, and they fasted seven days.

¹³Saul died because he was unfaithful to the LORD; he did not keep the word of the LORD and even consulted a medium for guidance, ¹⁴and did not inquire of the LORD. So the LORD put him to death and turned the kingdom over to David son of Jesse.

1 Chronicles 11

David Becomes King Over Israel

¹All Israel came together to David at Hebron and said, “We are your own flesh and blood. ²In the past, even while Saul was king, you were the one who led Israel on their military campaigns. And the LORD your God said to you, ‘You will shepherd my people Israel, and you will become their ruler.’ ” The Law of Influence: David Led Before Saul Left Office

³When all the elders of Israel had come to King David at Hebron, he made a covenant with them at Hebron before the LORD, and they anointed David king over Israel, as the LORD had promised through Samuel.

David Conquers Jerusalem

⁴David and all the Israelites marched to Jerusalem (that is, Jebus). The Jebusites who lived there ⁵said to David, “You will not get in here.” Nevertheless, David captured the fortress of Zion—which is the City of David.

⁶David had said, “Whoever leads the attack on the Jebusites will become commander-in-chief.” Joab son of Zeruiah went up first, and so he received the command.

⁷David then took up residence in the fortress, and so it was called the City of David. ⁸He built up the city around it, from the terraces^a to the surrounding wall, while Joab restored the rest of the city. ⁹And David became more and more powerful, because the LORD Almighty was with him.

David’s Mighty Warriors

¹⁰These were the chiefs of David’s mighty warriors—they, together with all Israel, gave his kingship strong support to extend it over the whole land, as the LORD had promised— ¹¹this is the list of David’s mighty warriors: Jashobeam,^b a Hakmonite, was chief of the officers^c; he raised his spear against three hundred men, whom he killed in one encounter. The Law of Magnetism: David Attracted Loyal Risk Takers 21 Laws: David and the Law of the Inner Circle: A Leader’s Potential Is Determined by Those Closest to Him

¹⁵Three of the thirty chiefs came down to David to the rock at the cave of Adullam, while a band of Philistines was encamped in the Valley of Rephaim. ¹⁶At that time David was in the stronghold, and the Philistine garrison was at Bethlehem. ¹⁷David longed for water and said, “Oh, that someone would get me a drink of water from the well near the gate of Bethlehem!” ¹⁸So the Three broke through the Philistine lines, drew water from the well near the gate of Bethlehem and carried it back to David. But he refused to drink it; instead, he poured it out to the LORD. ¹⁹“God forbid that I should do this!” he said. “Should I drink the blood of these men who went at the risk of their lives?” Because they risked their lives to bring it back, David would not drink it.

Such were the exploits of the three mighty warriors.

²⁰Abishai the brother of Joab was chief of the Three. He raised his spear against three hundred men, whom he killed, and so he became as famous as the Three. ²¹He was doubly honored above the Three and became their commander, even though he was not included among them.

²²Benaiah son of Jehoiada, a valiant fighter from Kabzeel, performed great exploits. He struck down Moab's two mightiest warriors. He also went down into a pit on a snowy day and killed a lion. ²³And he struck down an Egyptian who was five cubits^d tall. Although the Egyptian had a spear like a weaver's rod in his hand, Benaiah went against him with a club. He snatched the spear from the Egyptian's hand and killed him with his own spear. ²⁴Such were the exploits of Benaiah son of Jehoiada; he too was as famous as the three mighty warriors. ²⁵He was held in greater honor than any of the Thirty, but he was not included among the Three. And David put him in charge of his bodyguard.

²⁶The mighty warriors were:

Asahel the brother of Joab,

Elhanan son of Dodo from Bethlehem,

²⁷Shammoth the Harorite,

Helez the Pelonite,

²⁸Ira son of Ikkesh from Tekoa,

Abiezer from Anathoth,

²⁹Sibbekai the Hushathite,

Ilai the Ahohite,

³⁰Maharai the Netophathite,

Heled son of Baanah the Netophathite,

³¹Ithai son of Ribai from Gibeah in Benjamin,

Benaiah the Pirathonite,

³²Hurai from the ravines of Gaash,

Abiel the Arbathite,

³³Azmaveth the Baharumite,

Eliabha the Shaalbonite,

³⁴the sons of Hashem the Gizonite,

Jonathan son of Shagee the Hararite,

³⁵Ahiam son of Sakar the Hararite,

Eliphal son of Ur, ³⁶Hepher the Mekerathite, Ahijah the Pelonite, ³⁷Hezro the Carmelite,
Naarai son of Ezbai, ³⁸Joel the brother of Nathan,
Mibhar son of Hagri, ³⁹Zelek the Ammonite,
Naharai the Berothite, the armor-bearer of Joab son of Zeruiah, ⁴⁰Ira the Ithrite,
Gareb the Ithrite, ⁴¹Uriah the Hittite,
Zabad son of Ahlai, ⁴²Adina son of Shiza the Reubenite, who was chief of the Reubenites, and the thirty with him, ⁴³Hanan son of Maakah, Joshaphat the Mithnite, ⁴⁴Uzzia the Ashterathite,
Shama and Jeiel the sons of Hotham the Aroerite, ⁴⁵Jediael son of Shimri, his brother Joha the Tizite, ⁴⁶Eliel the Mahavite,
Jeribai and Joshaviah the sons of Elnaam, Ithmah the Moabite, ⁴⁷Eliel, Obed and Jaasiel the Mezobaite.

1 Chronicles 12

Warriors Join David

¹These were the men who came to David at Ziklag, while he was banished from the presence of Saul son of Kish (they were among the warriors who helped him in battle; ²they were armed with bows and were able to shoot arrows or to sling stones right-handed or left-handed; they were relatives of Saul from the tribe of Benjamin): Leaders Reproduce Themselves: David Raised Up Leaders

⁸Some Gadites defected to David at his stronghold in the wilderness. They were brave warriors, ready for battle and able to handle the shield and spear. Their faces were the faces of lions, and they were as swift as gazelles in the mountains.

⁹Ezer was the chief,
Obadiah the second in command, Eliab the third, ¹⁰Mishmannah the fourth, Jeremiah the fifth,
¹¹Attai the sixth, Eliel the seventh,
¹²Johanan the eighth, Elzabad the ninth,
¹³Jeremiah the tenth and Makbannai the eleventh.

¹⁴These Gadites were army commanders; the least was a match for a hundred, and the greatest for a thousand. ¹⁵It was they who crossed the Jordan in the first month when it was overflowing all its banks, and they put to flight everyone living in the valleys, to the east and to the west.

¹⁶Other Benjamites and some men from Judah also came to David in his stronghold. ¹⁷David went out to meet them and said to them, “If you have come to me in peace to help me, I am ready for you to join me. But if you have come to betray me to my enemies when my hands are free from violence, may the God of our ancestors see it and judge you.”

¹⁸Then the Spirit came on Amasai, chief of the Thirty, and he said:

“We are yours, David!
We are with you, son of Jesse!
Success, success to you,
and success to those who help you,
for your God will help you.”

So David received them and made them leaders of his raiding bands.

¹⁹Some of the tribe of Manasseh defected to David when he went with the Philistines to fight against Saul. (He and his men did not help the Philistines because, after consultation, their rulers sent him away. They said, “It will cost us our heads if he deserts to his master Saul.”) ²⁰When David went to Ziklag, these were the men of Manasseh who defected to him: Adnah, Jozabad, Jediael, Michael, Jozabad, Elihu and Zillethai, leaders of units of a thousand in Manasseh. ²¹They helped David against raiding bands, for all of them were brave warriors, and they were commanders in his army. ²²Day after day men came to help David, until he had a great army, like the army of God.^b

Others Join David at Hebron

²³These are the numbers of the men armed for battle who came to David at Hebron to turn Saul's kingdom over to him, as the LORD had said:

⁴from Judah, carrying shield and spear—6,800 armed for battle;

⁵from Simeon, warriors ready for battle—7,100;

¹from half the tribe of Manasseh, designated by name to come and make David king—18,000;

²from Issachar, men who understood the times and knew what Israel should do—200 chiefs, with all their relatives under their command; The Law of Intuition: Discernment Comes Before Decision

³from Zebulun, experienced soldiers prepared for battle with every type of weapon, to help David with undivided loyalty—50,000; ³⁴from Naphtali—1,000 officers, together with 37,000 men carrying shields and spears;

⁵from Dan, ready for battle—28,600;

⁵from Asher, experienced soldiers prepared for battle—40,000;

⁷and from east of the Jordan, from Reuben, Gad and the half-tribe of Manasseh, armed with every type of weapon—120,000.

³⁸All these were fighting men who volunteered to serve in the ranks. They came to Hebron fully determined to make David king over all Israel. All the rest of the Israelites were also of one mind to make David king. ³⁹The men spent three days there with David, eating and drinking, for their families had supplied provisions for them. ⁴⁰Also, their neighbors from as far away as Issachar, Zebulun and Naphtali came bringing food on donkeys, camels, mules and oxen. There were plentiful supplies of flour, fig cakes, raisin cakes, wine, olive oil, cattle and sheep, for there was joy in Israel.

Bringing Back the Ark

¹David conferred with each of his officers, the commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds. ²He then said to the whole assembly of Israel, “If it seems good to you and if it is the will of the LORD our God, let us send word far and wide to the rest of our people throughout the territories of Israel, and also to the priests and Levites who are with them in their towns and pasturelands, to come and join us. ³Let us bring the ark of our God back to us, for we did not inquire of^a it^b during the reign of Saul.” ⁴The whole assembly agreed to do this, because it seemed right to all the people.

⁵So David assembled all Israel, from the Shihor River in Egypt to Lebo Hamath, to bring the ark of God from Kiriath Jearim. ⁶David and all Israel went to Baalah of Judah (Kiriath Jearim) to bring up from there the ark of God the LORD, who is enthroned between the cherubim—the ark that is called by the Name. Leaders Must Be Teachable

⁷They moved the ark of God from Abinadab’s house on a new cart, with Uzzah and Ahio guiding it. ⁸David and all the Israelites were celebrating with all their might before God, with songs and with harps, lyres, timbrels, cymbals and trumpets.

⁹When they came to the threshing floor of Kidon, Uzzah reached out his hand to steady the ark, because the oxen stumbled. ¹⁰The LORD’s anger burned against Uzzah, and he struck him down because he had put his hand on the ark. So he died there before God.

¹¹Then David was angry because the LORD’s wrath had broken out against Uzzah, and to this day that place is called Perez Uzzah.^c ¹²David was afraid of God that day and asked, “How can I ever bring the ark of God to me?” ¹³He did not take the ark to be with him in the City of David. Instead, he took it to the house of Obed-Edom the Gittite. ¹⁴The ark of God remained with the family of Obed-Edom in his house for three months, and the LORD blessed his household and everything he had.

1 Chronicles 14

David's House and Family

¹Now Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers to David, along with cedar logs, stonemasons and carpenters to build a palace for him. ²And David knew that the LORD had established him as king over Israel and that his kingdom had been highly exalted for the sake of his people Israel.

³In Jerusalem David took more wives and became the father of more sons and daughters. ⁴These are the names of the children born to him there: Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon, ⁵Ibhar, Elishua, Elpelet, ⁶Nogah, Nepheg, Japhia, ⁷Elishama, Beeliada^a and Eliphelet.

David Defeats the Philistines

⁸When the Philistines heard that David had been anointed king over all Israel, they went up in full force to search for him, but David heard about it and went out to meet them. ⁹Now the Philistines had come and raided the Valley of Rephaim; ¹⁰so David inquired of God: “Shall I go and attack the Philistines? Will you deliver them into my hands?”

The LORD answered him, “Go, I will deliver them into your hands.”

¹¹So David and his men went up to Baal Perazim, and there he defeated them. He said, “As waters break out, God has broken out against my enemies by my hand.” So that place was called Baal Perazim. ^b ¹²The Philistines had abandoned their gods there, and David gave orders to burn them in the fire.

¹⁷So David’s fame spread throughout every land, and the LORD made all the nations fear him.

1 Chronicles 15

The Ark Brought to Jerusalem

¹After David had constructed buildings for himself in the City of David, he prepared a place for the ark of God and pitched a tent for it. ²Then David said, “No one but the Levites may carry the ark of God, because the LORD chose them to carry the ark of the LORD and to minister before him forever.”

³David assembled all Israel in Jerusalem to bring up the ark of the LORD to the place he had prepared for it. ⁴He called together the descendants of Aaron and the Levites:

From the descendants of Kohath, Uriel the leader and 120 relatives;
from the descendants of Merari, Asaiah the leader and 220 relatives;
from the descendants of Gershon,^a Joel the leader and 130 relatives;
from the descendants of Elizaphan, Shemaiah the leader and 200 relatives;
from the descendants of Hebron,
Eliel the leader and 80 relatives;
³from the descendants of Uzziel,
Amminadab the leader and 112 relatives.

¹¹Then David summoned Zadok and Abiathar the priests, and Uriel, Asaiah, Joel, Shemaiah, Eliel and Amminadab the Levites. ¹²He said to them, “You are the heads of the Levitical families; you and your fellow Levites are to consecrate yourselves and bring up the ark of the LORD, the God of Israel, to the place I have prepared for it. ¹³It was because you, the Levites, did not bring it up the first time that the LORD our God broke out in anger against us. We did not inquire of him about how to do it in the prescribed way.” ¹⁴So the priests and Levites consecrated themselves in order to bring up the ark of the LORD, the God of Israel. ¹⁵And the Levites carried the ark of God with the poles on their shoulders, as Moses had commanded in accordance with the word of the LORD.

¹⁷So the Levites appointed Heman son of Joel; from his relatives, Asaph son of Berekiah; and from their relatives the Merarites, Ethan son of Kushaiah; ¹⁸and with them their relatives next in rank: Zechariah,^b Jaaziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattithiah, Eliphelehu, Mikneiah, Obed-Edom and Jeiel,^c the gatekeepers.

¹⁹The musicians Heman, Asaph and Ethan were to sound the bronze cymbals; ²⁰Zechariah, Jaaziel,^d Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Maaseiah and Benaiah were to play the lyres according to alamoth,^e ²¹and Mattithiah, Eliphelehu, Mikneiah, Obed-Edom, Jeiel and Azaziah were to play the harps, directing according to sheminith.^f ²²Kenaniah the head Levite was in charge of the singing; that was his responsibility because he was skillful at it.

²³Berekiah and Elkanah were to be doorkeepers for the ark. ²⁴Shebaniah, Joshaphat, Nethanel, Amasai, Zechariah, Benaiah and Eliezer the priests were to blow trumpets before the ark of God. Obed-Edom and Jehiah were also to be doorkeepers for the ark.

²⁵So David and the elders of Israel and the commanders of units of a thousand went to bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD from the house of Obed-Edom, with rejoicing. ²⁶Because God had helped the Levites who were carrying the ark of the covenant of the LORD, seven bulls and seven rams were sacrificed. ²⁷Now David was clothed in a robe of fine linen, as were all the Levites who were carrying the ark, and as were the musicians, and Kenaniah, who was in charge of the singing of the choirs. David also wore a linen ephod. ²⁸So all Israel brought up the ark of the covenant of the LORD with shouts, with the sounding of rams' horns and trumpets, and of cymbals, and the playing of lyres and harps.

²⁹As the ark of the covenant of the LORD was entering the City of David, Michal daughter of Saul watched from a window. And when she saw King David dancing and celebrating, she despised him in her heart.

1 Chronicles 16

Ministering Before the Ark

¹They brought the ark of God and set it inside the tent that David had pitched for it, and they presented burnt offerings and fellowship offerings before God.

⁴He appointed some of the Levites to minister before the ark of the LORD, to extol,^a thank, and praise the LORD, the God of Israel: ⁵Asaph was the chief, and next to him in rank were Zechariah, then Jaaziel,^b Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Mattithiah, Eliab, Benaiah, Obed-Edom and Jeiel. They were to play the lyres and harps, Asaph was to sound the cymbals, ⁶and Benaiah and Jahaziel the priests were to blow the trumpets regularly before the ark of the covenant of God.

⁷That day David first appointed Asaph and his associates to give praise to the LORD in this manner:

⁸Give praise to the LORD, proclaim his name;
make known among the nations what he has done.

⁹Sing to him, sing praise to him;
tell of all his wonderful acts.

¹⁰Glory in his holy name;
let the hearts of those who seek the LORD rejoice.

¹¹Look to the LORD and his strength; seek his face always.

¹²Remember the wonders he has done,
his miracles, and the judgments he pronounced,

¹³you his servants, the descendants of Israel,
his chosen ones, the children of Jacob.

¹⁴He is the LORD our God;
his judgments are in all the earth.

¹⁵He remembers^c his covenant forever, the promise he made, for a thousand generations,

¹⁶the covenant he made with Abraham,
the oath he swore to Isaac.

17He confirmed it to Jacob as a decree,
to Israel as an everlasting covenant:

18“To you I will give the land of Canaan as the portion you will inherit.”

19When they were but few in number, few indeed, and strangers in it,

20they^d wandered from nation to nation, from one kingdom to another.

21He allowed no one to oppress them;
for their sake he rebuked kings:

22“Do not touch my anointed ones;
do my prophets no harm.”

23Sing to the LORD, all the earth; proclaim his salvation day after day.

24Declare his glory among the nations, his marvelous deeds among all peoples.

25For great is the LORD and most worthy of praise;
he is to be feared above all gods.

26For all the gods of the nations are idols,
but the LORD made the heavens.

27Splendor and majesty are before him;
strength and joy are in his dwelling place.

28Ascribe to the LORD, all you families of nations, ascribe to the LORD glory and strength.

29Ascribe to the LORD the glory due his name;
bring an offering and come before him.

Worship the LORD in the splendor of his^e holiness.

30Tremble before him, all the earth!

The world is firmly established; it cannot be moved.

31Let the heavens rejoice, let the earth be glad;
let them say among the nations, “The LORD reigns!”

32Let the sea resound, and all that is in it;
let the fields be jubilant, and everything in them!

³³Let the trees of the forest sing,
let them sing for joy before the LORD,
for he comes to judge the earth.

³⁴Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good;
his love endures forever.

³⁵Cry out, "Save us, God our Savior; gather us and deliver us from the nations,
that we may give thanks to your holy name,
and glory in your praise."

³⁶Praise be to the LORD, the God of Israel,
from everlasting to everlasting.

Then all the people said "Amen" and "Praise the LORD."

³⁷David left Asaph and his associates before the ark of the covenant of the LORD to minister there regularly, according to each day's requirements. ³⁸He also left Obed-Edom and his sixty-eight associates to minister with them. Obed-Edom son of Jeduthun, and also Hosah, were gatekeepers.

⁴³Then all the people left, each for their own home, and David returned home to bless his family.

1 Chronicles 17

God's Promise to David

¹After David was settled in his palace, he said to Nathan the prophet, “Here I am, living in a house of cedar, while the ark of the covenant of the LORD is under a tent.” Humility: The Mark of a Leader Who Finishes Well

²Nathan replied to David, “Whatever you have in mind, do it, for God is with you.”

³But that night the word of God came to Nathan, saying:

⁷“Now then, tell my servant David, ‘This is what the LORD Almighty says: I took you from the pasture, from tending the flock, and appointed you ruler over my people Israel. ⁸I have been with you wherever you have gone, and I have cut off all your enemies from before you. Now I will make your name like the names of the greatest men on earth. ⁹And I will provide a place for my people Israel and will plant them so that they can have a home of their own and no longer be disturbed. Wicked people will not oppress them anymore, as they did at the beginning ¹⁰and have done ever since the time I appointed leaders over my people Israel. I will also subdue all your enemies.

“ ‘I declare to you that the LORD will build a house for you: ¹¹When your days are over and you go to be with your ancestors, I will raise up your offspring to succeed you, one of your own sons, and I will establish his kingdom. ¹²He is the one who will build a house for me, and I will establish his throne forever. ¹³I will be his father, and he will be my son. I will never take my love away from him, as I took it away from your predecessor. ¹⁴I will set him over my house and my kingdom forever; his throne will be established forever.’ ”

¹⁵Nathan reported to David all the words of this entire revelation.

David’s Prayer

¹⁶Then King David went in and sat before the LORD, and he said:

“Who am I, LORD God, and what is my family, that you have brought me this far? ¹⁷And as if this were not enough in your sight, my God, you have spoken about the future of the house of your servant. You, LORD God, have looked on me as though I were the most exalted of men.

¹⁸“What more can David say to you for honoring your servant? For you know your servant, ¹⁹LORD. For the sake of your servant and according to your will, you have done this great thing and made known all these great promises.

²⁰“There is no one like you, LORD, and there is no God but you, as we have heard with our own ears. ²¹And who is like your people Israel—the one nation on earth whose God went out to redeem a people for himself, and to make a name for yourself, and to perform great and awesome wonders by driving out nations from before your people, whom you redeemed from Egypt? ²²You made your people Israel your very own forever, and you, LORD, have become their God.

²³“And now, LORD, let the promise you have made concerning your servant and his house be established forever. Do as you promised, ²⁴so that it will be established and that your name will be great forever. Then people will say, ‘The LORD Almighty, the God over Israel, is Israel’s God!’ And the house of your servant David will be established before you.

²⁵“You, my God, have revealed to your servant that you will build a house for him. So your servant has found courage to pray to you. ²⁶You, LORD, are God! You have promised these good things to your servant. ²⁷Now you have been pleased to bless the house of your servant, that it may continue forever in your sight; for you, LORD, have blessed it, and it will be blessed forever.”

David's Victories

¹In the course of time, David defeated the Philistines and subdued them, and he took Gath and its surrounding villages from the control of the Philistines.

²David also defeated the Moabites, and they became subject to him and brought him tribute.

³Moreover, David defeated Hadadezer king of Zobah, in the vicinity of Hamath, when he went to set up his monument at^a the Euphrates River. ⁴David captured a thousand of his chariots, seven thousand charioteers and twenty thousand foot soldiers. He hamstrung all but a hundred of the chariot horses.

⁵When the Arameans of Damascus came to help Hadadezer king of Zobah, David struck down twenty-two thousand of them. ⁶He put garrisons in the Aramean kingdom of Damascus, and the Arameans became subject to him and brought him tribute. The LORD gave David victory wherever he went.

¹¹King David dedicated these articles to the LORD, as he had done with the silver and gold he had taken from all these nations: Edom and Moab, the Ammonites and the Philistines, and Amalek.

¹²Abishai son of Zeruiah struck down eighteen thousand Edomites in the Valley of Salt. ¹³He put garrisons in Edom, and all the Edomites became subject to David. The LORD gave David victory wherever he went.

David's Officials

¹⁴David reigned over all Israel, doing what was just and right for all his people. ¹⁵Joab son of Zeruiah was over the army; Jehoshaphat son of Ahilud was recorder; ¹⁶Zadok son of Ahitub and Ahimelek^c son of Abiathar were priests; Shavsha was secretary; ¹⁷Benaiah son of Jehoiada was over the Kerethites and Pelethites; and David's sons were chief officials at the king's side. 1 Chronicles 19

David Defeats the Ammonites

¹In the course of time, Nahash king of the Ammonites died, and his son succeeded him as king. ²David thought, “I will show kindness to Hanun son of Nahash, because his father showed kindness to me.” So David sent a delegation to express his sympathy to Hanun concerning his father.

When David’s envoys came to Hanun in the land of the Ammonites to express sympathy to him, ³the Ammonite commanders said to Hanun, “Do you think David is honoring your father by sending envoys to you to express sympathy? Haven’t his envoys come to you only to explore and spy out the country and overthrow it?” ⁴So Hanun seized David’s envoys, shaved them, cut off their garments at the buttocks, and sent them away.

⁵When someone came and told David about the men, he sent messengers to meet them, for they were greatly humiliated. The king said, “Stay at Jericho till your beards have grown, and then come back.”

¹⁰Joab saw that there were battle lines in front of him and behind him; so he selected some of the best troops in Israel and deployed them against the Arameans. ¹¹He put the rest of the men under the command of Abishai his brother, and they were deployed against the Ammonites. ¹²Joab said, “If the Arameans are too strong for me, then you are to rescue me; but if the Ammonites are too strong for you, then I will rescue you. ¹³Be strong, and let us fight bravely for our people and the cities of our God. The LORD will do what is good in his sight.”

¹⁴Then Joab and the troops with him advanced to fight the Arameans, and they fled before him. ¹⁵When the Ammonites realized that the Arameans were fleeing, they too fled before his brother Abishai and went inside the city. So Joab went back to Jerusalem.

¹⁶After the Arameans saw that they had been routed by Israel, they sent messengers and had Arameans brought from beyond the Euphrates River, with Shophak the commander of Hadadezer's army leading them.

¹⁷When David was told of this, he gathered all Israel and crossed the Jordan; he advanced against them and formed his battle lines opposite them. David formed his lines to meet the Arameans in battle, and they fought against him.

¹⁸But they fled before Israel, and David killed seven thousand of their charioteers and forty thousand of their foot soldiers. He also killed Shophak the commander of their army.

¹⁹When the vassals of Hadadezer saw that they had been routed by Israel, they made peace with David and became subject to him.

So the Arameans were not willing to help the Ammonites anymore.

1 Chronicles 20

The Capture of Rabbah

¹In the spring, at the time when kings go off to war, Joab led out the armed forces. He laid waste the land of the Ammonites and went to Rabbah and besieged it, but David remained in Jerusalem. Joab attacked Rabbah and left it in ruins. ²David took the crown from the head of their king^a—its weight was found to be a talent^b of gold, and it was set with precious stones—and it was placed on David's head. He took a great quantity of plunder from the city³ and brought out the people who were there, consigning them to labor with saws and with iron picks and axes. David did this to all the Ammonite towns. Then David and his entire army returned to Jerusalem.

War With the Philistines

⁴In the course of time, war broke out with the Philistines, at Gezer. At that time Sibbekai the Hushathite killed Sippai, one of the descendants of the Rephaites, and the Philistines were subjugated. The Law of the Picture: Giant Killers Grow Under David's Leadership

⁵In another battle with the Philistines, Elhanan son of Jair killed Lahmi the brother of Goliath the Gittite, who had a spear with a shaft like a weaver's rod.

⁶In still another battle, which took place at Gath, there was a huge man with six fingers on each hand and six toes on each foot—twenty-four in all. He also was descended from Rapha. ⁷When he taunted Israel, Jonathan son of Shimea, David's brother, killed him.

⁸These were descendants of Rapha in Gath, and they fell at the hands of David and his men.

1 Chronicles 21

David Counts the Fighting Men

¹Satan rose up against Israel and incited David to take a census of Israel. ²So David said to Joab and the commanders of the troops, “Go and count the Israelites from Beersheba to Dan. Then report back to me so that I may know how many there are.” Pay the Price; Depend on God PROFILE in Leadership: David: Willingness to Assume the Blame

³But Joab replied, “May the LORD multiply his troops a hundred times over. My lord the king, are they not all my lord’s subjects? Why does my lord want to do this? Why should he bring guilt on Israel?”

⁶But Joab did not include Levi and Benjamin in the numbering, because the king’s command was repulsive to him. ⁷This command was also evil in the sight of God; so he punished Israel.

⁸Then David said to God, “I have sinned greatly by doing this. Now, I beg you, take away the guilt of your servant. I have done a very foolish thing.”

⁹The LORD said to Gad, David’s seer, ¹⁰“Go and tell David, ‘This is what the LORD says: I am giving you three options. Choose one of them for me to carry out against you.’ ”

¹³David said to Gad, “I am in deep distress. Let me fall into the hands of the LORD, for his mercy is very great; but do not let me fall into human hands.”

¹⁴So the LORD sent a plague on Israel, and seventy thousand men of Israel fell dead. ¹⁵And God sent an angel to destroy Jerusalem. But as the angel was doing so, the LORD saw it and relented concerning the disaster and said to the angel who was destroying the people, “Enough! Withdraw your hand.” The angel of the LORD was then standing at the threshing floor of Araunah^b the Jebusite.

¹⁶David looked up and saw the angel of the LORD standing between heaven and earth, with a drawn sword in his hand extended over Jerusalem. Then David and the elders, clothed in sackcloth, fell facedown.

¹⁷David said to God, “Was it not I who ordered the fighting men to be counted? I, the shepherd,^c have sinned and done wrong. These are but sheep. What have they done? LORD my God, let your hand fall on me and my family, but do not let this plague remain on your people.”

David Builds an Altar

¹⁸Then the angel of the LORD ordered Gad to tell David to go up and build an altar to the LORD on the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite. ¹⁹So David went up in obedience to the word that Gad had spoken in the name of the LORD.

²⁰While Araunah was threshing wheat, he turned and saw the angel; his four sons who were with him hid themselves. ²¹Then David approached, and when Araunah looked and saw him, he left the threshing floor and bowed down before David with his face to the ground.

²²David said to him, “Let me have the site of your threshing floor so I can build an altar to the LORD, that the plague on the people may be stopped. Sell it to me at the full price.”

²³Araunah said to David, “Take it! Let my lord the king do whatever pleases him. Look, I will give the oxen for the burnt offerings, the threshing sledges for the wood, and the wheat for the grain offering. I will give all this.”

²⁴But King David replied to Araunah, “No, I insist on paying the full price. I will not take for the LORD what is yours, or sacrifice a burnt offering that costs me nothing.”

²⁷Then the LORD spoke to the angel, and he put his sword back into its sheath. ²⁸At that time, when David saw that the LORD had answered him on the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite, he offered sacrifices there. ²⁹The tabernacle of the LORD, which Moses had made in the wilderness, and the altar of burnt offering were at that time on the high place at Gibeon. ³⁰But David could not go before it to inquire of God, because he was afraid of the sword of the angel of the LORD.

1 Chronicles 22

¹Then David said, “The house of the LORD God is to be here, and also the altar of burnt offering for Israel.” Perspective and Vision: David Sees a Bigger Picture

Preparations for the Temple

²So David gave orders to assemble the foreigners residing in Israel, and from among them he appointed stonecutters to prepare dressed stone for building the house of God. ³He provided a large amount of iron to make nails for the doors of the gateways and for the fittings, and more bronze than could be weighed. ⁴He also provided more cedar logs than could be counted, for the Sidonians and Tyrians had brought large numbers of them to David.

⁵David said, “My son Solomon is young and inexperienced, and the house to be built for the LORD should be of great magnificence and fame and splendor in the sight of all the nations. Therefore I will make preparations for it.” So David made extensive preparations before his death.

⁶Then he called for his son Solomon and charged him to build a house for the LORD, the God of Israel. ⁷David said to Solomon: “My son, I had it in my heart to build a house for the Name of the LORD my God. ⁸But this word of the LORD came to me: ‘You have shed much blood and have fought many wars. You are not to build a house for my Name, because you have shed much blood on the earth in my sight. ⁹But you will have a son who will be a man of peace and rest, and I will give him rest from all his enemies on every side. His name will be Solomon,^a and I will grant Israel peace and quiet during his reign. ¹⁰He is the one who will build a house for my Name. He will be my son, and I will be his father. And I will establish the throne of his kingdom over Israel forever.’

¹⁴“I have taken great pains to provide for the temple of the LORD a hundred thousand talents^b of gold, a million talents^c of silver, quantities of bronze and iron too great to be weighed, and wood and stone. And you may add to them. ¹⁵You have many workers: stonecutters, masons and carpenters, as well as those skilled in every kind of work ¹⁶in gold and silver, bronze and iron—craftsmen beyond number. Now begin the work, and the LORD be with you.”

¹⁷Then David ordered all the leaders of Israel to help his son Solomon. ¹⁸He said to them, “Is not the LORD your God with you? And has he not granted you rest on every side? For he has given the inhabitants of the land into my hands, and the land is subject to the LORD and to his people. ¹⁹Now devote your heart and soul to seeking the LORD your God. Begin to build the sanctuary of the LORD God, so that you may bring the ark of the covenant of the LORD and the sacred articles belonging to God into the temple that will be built for the Name of the LORD.”

1 Chronicles 23

The Levites

¹When David was old and full of years, he made his son Solomon king over Israel.

²He also gathered together all the leaders of Israel, as well as the priests and Levites. ³The Levites thirty years old or more were counted, and the total number of men was thirty-eight thousand. ⁴David said, “Of these, twenty-four thousand are to be in charge of the work of the temple of the LORD and six thousand are to be officials and judges. ⁵Four thousand are to be gatekeepers and four thousand are to praise the LORD with the musical instruments I have provided for that purpose.”

⁶David separated the Levites into divisions corresponding to the sons of Levi: Gershon, Kohath and Merari.

Gershonites

⁷Belonging to the Gershonites:

Ladan and Shimei.

⁸The sons of Ladan:

Jehiel the first, Zetham and Joel—three in all.

⁹The sons of Shimei:

Shelomoth, Haziël and Haran—three in all.

These were the heads of the families of Ladan.

¹⁰And the sons of Shimei:

Jahath, Ziza, ^aJeush and Beriah.

These were the sons of Shimei—four in all.

¹¹Jahath was the first and Ziza the second, but Jeush and Beriah did not have many sons; so they were counted as one family with one assignment.

Kohathites

¹²The sons of Kohath:

Amram, Izhar, Hebron and Uzziel—four in all.

¹³The sons of Amram:

Aaron and Moses.

Aaron was set apart, he and his descendants forever, to consecrate the most holy things, to offer sacrifices before the LORD, to minister before him and to pronounce blessings in his name forever. ¹⁴The sons of Moses the man of God were counted as part of the tribe of Levi.

¹⁵The sons of Moses:

Gershom and Eliezer.

¹⁶The descendants of Gershom:

Shubael was the first.

¹⁷The descendants of Eliezer:

Rehabiah was the first.

Eliezer had no other sons, but the sons of Rehabiah were very numerous.

¹⁸The sons of Izhar:

Shelomith was the first.

¹⁹The sons of Hebron:

Jeriah the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third and Jekameam the fourth.

²⁰The sons of Uzziel:

Micah the first and Ishiah the second.

Merarites

²¹The sons of Merari:

Mahli and Mushi.

The sons of Mahli:

Eleazar and Kish.

²²Eleazar died without having sons: he had only daughters. Their cousins, the sons of Kish, married them.

²³The sons of Mushi:

Mahli, Eder and Jerimoth—three in all.

²⁴These were the descendants of Levi by their families—the heads of families as they were registered under their names and counted individually, that is, the workers twenty years old or more who served in the temple of the LORD. ²⁵For David had said, “Since the LORD, the God of Israel, has granted rest to his people and has come to dwell in Jerusalem forever, ²⁶the Levites no longer need to carry the tabernacle or any of the articles used in its service.” ²⁷According to the last instructions of David, the Levites were counted from those twenty years old or more.

²⁸The duty of the Levites was to help Aaron’s descendants in the service of the temple of the LORD: to be in charge of the courtyards, the side rooms, the purification of all sacred things and the performance of other duties at the house of God. ²⁹They were in charge of the bread set out on the table, the special flour for the grain offerings, the thin loaves made without yeast, the baking and the mixing, and all measurements of quantity and size. ³⁰They were also to stand every morning to thank and praise the LORD. They were to do the same in the evening ³¹and whenever burnt offerings were presented to the LORD on the Sabbaths, at the New Moon feasts and at the appointed festivals. They were to serve before the LORD regularly in the proper number and in the way prescribed for them.

³²And so the Levites carried out their responsibilities for the tent of meeting, for the Holy Place and, under their relatives the descendants of Aaron, for the service of the temple of the LORD.

1 Chronicles 24

The Divisions of Priests

¹These were the divisions of the descendants of Aaron:

The sons of Aaron were Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar. ²But Nadab and Abihu died before their father did, and they had no sons; so Eleazar and Ithamar served as the priests. ³With the help of Zadok a descendant of Eleazar and Ahimelek a descendant of Ithamar, David separated them into divisions for their appointed order of ministering. ⁴A larger number of leaders were found among Eleazar's descendants than among Ithamar's, and they were divided accordingly: sixteen heads of families from Eleazar's descendants and eight heads of families from Ithamar's descendants. ⁵They divided them impartially by casting lots, for there were officials of the sanctuary and officials of God among the descendants of both Eleazar and Ithamar.

⁶The scribe Shemaiah son of Nethanel, a Levite, recorded their names in the presence of the king and of the officials: Zadok the priest, Ahimelek son of Abiathar and the heads of families of the priests and of the Levites—one family being taken from Eleazar and then one from Ithamar.

⁷The first lot fell to Jehoiarib, the second to Jedaiah,

⁸the third to Harim,
the fourth to Seorim,

⁹the fifth to Malkijah,
the sixth to Mijamin,

¹⁰the seventh to Hakkoz,
the eighth to Abijah,

¹¹the ninth to Jeshua,
the tenth to Shekaniah,

¹²the eleventh to Eliashib,
the twelfth to Jakim,

¹³the thirteenth to Huppah,
the fourteenth to Jeshebeab,

¹⁴the fifteenth to Bilgah,
the sixteenth to Immer,

¹⁵the seventeenth to Hezir,
the eighteenth to Happizzesz,

¹⁶the nineteenth to Pethahiah,

the twentieth to Jehezkel, ¹⁷the twenty-first to Jakin,
the twenty-second to Gamul, ¹⁸the twenty-third to Delaiah and the twenty-fourth to Maaziah.

¹⁹This was their appointed order of ministering when they entered the temple of the LORD, according to the regulations prescribed for them by their ancestor Aaron, as the LORD, the God of Israel, had commanded him.

The Rest of the Levites

²⁰As for the rest of the descendants of Levi:

from the sons of Amram: Shubael;
from the sons of Shubael: Jehdeiah.

²¹As for Rehabiah, from his sons:
Ishiah was the first.

²²From the Izharites: Shelomoth;
from the sons of Shelomoth: Jahath.

²³The sons of Hebron: Jeriah the first,^a Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third and Jekameam the fourth.

²⁴The son of Uzziel: Micah;
from the sons of Micah: Shamir.

²⁵The brother of Micah: Ishiah;
from the sons of Ishiah: Zechariah.

²⁶The sons of Merari: Mahli and Mushi.
The son of Jaaziah: Beno.

²⁷The sons of Merari:
from Jaaziah: Beno, Shoham, Zakkur and Ibri.

²⁸From Mahli: Eleazar, who had no sons.

²⁹From Kish: the son of Kish: Jerahmeel.

³⁰And the sons of Mushi: Mahli, Eder and Jerimoth.

These were the Levites, according to their families. ³¹They also cast lots, just as their relatives the descendants of Aaron did, in the presence of King David and of Zadok, Ahimelek, and the heads of families of the priests and of the Levites. The families of the oldest brother were treated the same as those of the youngest.

1 Chronicles 25

The Musicians

¹David, together with the commanders of the army, set apart some of the sons of Asaph, Heman and Jeduthun for the ministry of prophesying, accompanied by harps, lyres and cymbals. Here is the list of the men who performed this service:

²From the sons of Asaph:

Zakkur, Joseph, Nethaniah and Asarelah. The sons of Asaph were under the supervision of Asaph, who prophesied under the king's supervision.

³As for Jeduthun, from his sons:

Bukkiah, Mattaniah, Uzziel, Shubael and Jerimoth; Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Giddalti and Romamti-Ezer; Joshbekashah, Mallothi, Hothir and Mahazioth. ⁵(All these were sons of Heman the king's seer. They were given him through the promises of God to exalt him. God gave Heman fourteen sons and three daughters.)

⁶All these men were under the supervision of their father for the music of the temple of the LORD, with cymbals, lyres and harps, for the ministry at the house of God.

Asaph, Jeduthun and Heman were under the supervision of the king. ⁷Along with their relatives—all of them trained and skilled in music for the LORD—they numbered 288. ⁸Young and old alike, teacher as well as student, cast lots for their duties.

1 Chronicles 26

The Gatekeepers

¹The divisions of the gatekeepers:

From the Korahites: Meshelemiah son of Kore, one of the sons of Asaph.

Competence: David's Royal Administration

²Meshelemiah had sons:

Zechariah the firstborn,

Jediael the second,

Zebadiah the third,

Jathniel the fourth,

³Elam the fifth,

Jehohanan the sixth and Eliehoenai the seventh.

⁴Obed-Edom also had sons:

Shemaiah the firstborn, Jehozabad the second,
Joah the third,
Sakar the fourth,
Nethanel the fifth,

⁵Ammiel the sixth,

Issachar the seventh and Peullethai the eighth.
(For God had blessed Obed-Edom.)

⁶Obed-Edom's son Shemaiah also had sons, who were leaders in their father's family because they were very capable men. ⁷The sons of Shemaiah: Othni, Rephael, Obed and Elzabad; his relatives Elihu and Semakiah were also able men. ⁸All these were descendants of Obed-Edom; they and their sons and their relatives were capable men with the strength to do the work—descendants of Obed-Edom, 62 in all.

⁹Meshelemiah had sons and relatives, who were able men—18 in all.

¹⁰Hosah the Merarite had sons: Shimri the first (although he was not the firstborn, his father had appointed him the first), ¹¹Hilkiah the second, Tabaliah the third and Zechariah the fourth. The sons and relatives of Hosah were 13 in all.

¹²These divisions of the gatekeepers, through their leaders, had duties for ministering in the temple of the LORD, just as their relatives had. ¹³Lots were cast for each gate, according to their families, young and old alike.

Guard was alongside of guard: ¹⁷There were six Levites a day on the east, four a day on the north, four a day on the south and two at a time at the storehouse. ¹⁸As for the court^b to the west, there were four at the road and two at the court^c itself.

¹⁹These were the divisions of the gatekeepers who were descendants of Korah and Merari.

The Treasurers and Other Officials

²⁰Their fellow Levites were^d in charge of the treasuries of the house of God and the treasuries for the dedicated things.

²¹The descendants of Ladan, who were Gershonites through Ladan and who were heads of families belonging to Ladan the Gershonite, were Jehieli, ²²the sons of Jehieli, Zetham and his brother Joel. They were in charge of the treasuries of the temple of the LORD.

²³From the Amramites, the Izharites, the Hebronites and the Uzzielites:

²⁴Shubael, a descendant of Gershom son of Moses, was the official in charge of the treasuries. ²⁵His relatives through Eliezer: Rehabiah his son, Jeshaiiah his son, Joram his son, Zikri his son and Shelomith his son. ²⁶Shelomith and his relatives were in charge of all the treasuries for the things dedicated by King David, by the heads of families who were the commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds, and by the other army commanders. ²⁷Some of the plunder taken in battle they dedicated for the repair of the temple of the LORD. ²⁸And everything dedicated by Samuel the seer and by Saul son of Kish, Abner son of Ner and Joab son of Zeruiah, and all the other dedicated things were in the care of Shelomith and his relatives.

²⁹From the Izharites: Kenaniah and his sons were assigned duties away from the temple, as officials and judges over Israel.

³⁰From the Hebronites: Hashabiah and his relatives—seventeen hundred able men—were responsible in Israel west of the Jordan for all the work of the LORD and for the king's service. ³¹As for the Hebronites, Jeriah was their chief according to the genealogical records of their families. In the fortieth year of David's reign a search was made in the records, and capable men among the Hebronites were found at Jazer in Gilead. ³²Jeriah had twenty-seven hundred relatives, who were able men and heads of families, and King David put them in charge of the Reubenites, the Gadites and the half-tribe of Manasseh for every matter pertaining to God and for the affairs of the king.

Army Divisions

¹This is the list of the Israelites—heads of families, commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds, and their officers, who served the king in all that concerned the army divisions that were on duty month by month throughout the year. Each division consisted of 24,000 men.

⁵The third army commander, for the third month, was Benaiah son of Jehoiada the priest. He was chief and there were 24,000 men in his division. ⁶This was the Benaiah who was a mighty warrior among the Thirty and was over the Thirty. His son Ammizabad was in charge of his division.

⁷The fourth, for the fourth month, was Asahel the brother of Joab; his son Zebadiah was his successor. There were 24,000 men in his division.

¹⁶The leaders of the tribes of Israel:

over the Reubenites: Eliezer son of Zikri;

over the Simeonites: Shephatiah son of Maakah;

¹⁷over Levi: Hashabiah son of Kemuel;

over Aaron: Zadok;

¹⁸over Judah: Elihu, a brother of David;

over Benjamin: Jaasiel son of Abner;

²²over Dan: Azarel son of Jeroham.

These were the leaders of the tribes of Israel.

²³David did not take the number of the men twenty years old or less, because the LORD had promised to make Israel as numerous as the stars in the sky.

²⁴Joab son of Zeruiah began to count the men but did not finish. God's wrath came on Israel on account of this numbering, and the number was not entered in the book^a of the annals of King David.

The King's Overseers

²⁵Azmaveth son of Adiel was in charge of the royal storehouses.

Jonathan son of Uzziah was in charge of the storehouses in the outlying districts, in the towns, the villages and the watchtowers.

²⁶Ezri son of Kelub was in charge of the workers who farmed the land.

²⁷Shimei the Ramathite was in charge of the vineyards.

Zabdi the Shiphmite was in charge of the produce of the vineyards for the wine vats.

²⁸Baal-Hanan the Gederite was in charge of the olive and sycamore-fig trees in the western foothills.

Joash was in charge of the supplies of olive oil.

²⁹Shitrai the Sharonite was in charge of the herds grazing in Sharon.

Shaphat son of Adlai was in charge of the herds in the valleys.

³⁰Obil the Ishmaelite was in charge of the camels.

Jehdeiah the Meronothite was in charge of the donkeys.

³¹Jaziz the Hagrite was in charge of the flocks.

All these were the officials in charge of King David's property.

³²Jonathan, David's uncle, was a counselor, a man of insight and a scribe. Jehiel son of Hakmoni took care of the king's sons.

³³Ahithophel was the king's counselor.

Hushai the Arkite was the king's confidant. ³⁴Ahithophel was succeeded by Jehoiada son of Benaiah and by Abiathar.

Joab was the commander of the royal army.

1 Chronicles 28

David's Plans for the Temple

¹David summoned all the officials of Israel to assemble at Jerusalem: the officers over the tribes, the commanders of the divisions in the service of the king, the commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds, and the officials in charge of all the property and livestock belonging to the king and his sons, together with the palace officials, the warriors and all the brave fighting men.

²King David rose to his feet and said: "Listen to me, my fellow Israelites, my people. I had it in my heart to build a house as a place of rest for the ark of the covenant of the LORD, for the footstool of our God, and I made plans to build it.

³But God said to me, 'You are not to build a house for my Name, because you are a warrior and have shed blood.'

⁴"Yet the LORD, the God of Israel, chose me from my whole family to be king over Israel forever. He chose Judah as leader, and from the tribe of Judah he chose my family, and from my father's sons he was pleased to make me king over all Israel. ⁵Of all my sons—and the LORD has given me many—he has chosen my son Solomon to sit on the throne of the kingdom of the LORD over Israel. ⁶He said to me: 'Solomon your son is the one who will build my house and my courts, for I have chosen him to be my son, and I will be his father. ⁷I will establish his kingdom forever if he is unswerving in carrying out my commands and laws, as is being done at this time.'

⁸"So now I charge you in the sight of all Israel and of the assembly of the LORD, and in the hearing of our God: Be careful to follow all the commands of the LORD your God, that you may possess this good land and pass it on as an inheritance to your descendants forever.

⁹"And you, my son Solomon, acknowledge the God of your father, and serve him with wholehearted devotion and with a willing mind, for the LORD searches every heart and understands every desire and every thought. If you seek him, he will be found by you; but if you forsake him, he will reject you forever.

¹⁰Consider now, for the LORD has chosen you to build a house as the sanctuary. Be strong and do the work."

¹¹Then David gave his son Solomon the plans for the portico of the temple, its buildings, its storerooms, its upper parts, its inner rooms and the place of atonement. ¹²He gave him the plans of all that the Spirit had put in his mind for the courts of the temple of the LORD and all the surrounding rooms, for the treasuries of the temple of God and for the treasuries for the dedicated things. ¹³He gave him instructions for the divisions of the priests and Levites, and for all the work of serving in the temple of the LORD, as well as for all the articles to be used in its service. ¹⁴He designated the weight of gold for all the gold articles to be used in various kinds of service, and the weight of silver for all the silver articles to be used in various kinds of service: ¹⁵the weight of gold for the gold lampstands and their lamps, with the weight for each lampstand and its lamps; and the weight of silver for each silver lampstand and its lamps, according to the use of each lampstand; ¹⁶the weight of gold for each table for consecrated bread; the weight of silver for the silver tables; ¹⁷the weight of pure gold for the forks, sprinkling bowls and pitchers; the weight of gold for each gold dish; the weight of silver for each silver dish; ¹⁸and the weight of the refined gold for the altar of incense. He also gave him the plan for the chariot, that is, the cherubim of gold that spread their wings and overshadow the ark of the covenant of the LORD.

²⁰David also said to Solomon his son, “Be strong and courageous, and do the work. Do not be afraid or discouraged, for the LORD God, my God, is with you. He will not fail you or forsake you until all the work for the service of the temple of the LORD is finished. ²¹The divisions of the priests and Levites are ready for all the work on the temple of God, and every willing person skilled in any craft will help you in all the work. The officials and all the people will obey your every command.”

1 Chronicles 29

Gifts for Building the Temple

¹Then King David said to the whole assembly: “My son Solomon, the one whom God has chosen, is young and inexperienced. The task is great, because this palatial structure is not for man but for the LORD God. ²With all my resources I have provided for the temple of my God—gold for the gold work, silver for the silver, bronze for the bronze, iron for the iron and wood for the wood, as well as onyx for the settings, turquoise,^a stones of various colors, and all kinds of fine stone and marble—all of these in large quantities. ³Besides, in my devotion to the temple of my God I now give my personal treasures of gold and silver for the temple of my God, over and above everything I have provided for this holy temple: ⁴three thousand talents^b of gold (gold of Ophir) and seven thousand talents^c of refined silver, for the overlaying of the walls of the buildings, ⁵for the gold work and the silver work, and for all the work to be done by the craftsmen. Now, who is willing to consecrate themselves to the LORD today?”

⁶Then the leaders of families, the officers of the tribes of Israel, the commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds, and the officials in charge of the king’s work gave willingly. ⁷They gave toward the work on the temple of God five thousand talents^d and ten thousand darics^e of gold, ten thousand talents^f of silver, eighteen thousand talents^g of bronze and a hundred thousand talents^h of iron. ⁸Anyone who had precious stones gave them to the treasury of the temple of the LORD in the custody of Jehiel the Gershonite. ⁹The people rejoiced at the willing response of their leaders, for they had given freely and wholeheartedly to the LORD. David the king also rejoiced greatly.

David’s Prayer

¹⁰David praised the LORD in the presence of the whole assembly, saying,

“Praise be to you, LORD,
the God of our father Israel,
from everlasting to everlasting.

¹¹Yours, LORD, is the greatness and the power and the glory and the majesty and the splendor, for everything in heaven and earth is yours.

Yours, LORD, is the kingdom;
you are exalted as head over all.

¹²Wealth and honor come from you;
you are the ruler of all things.
In your hands are strength and power to exalt and give strength to all.

¹³Now, our God, we give you thanks, and praise your glorious name.

¹⁴“But who am I, and who are my people, that we should be able to give as generously as this? Everything comes from you, and we have given you only what comes from your hand. ¹⁵We are foreigners and strangers in your sight, as were all our ancestors. Our days on earth are like a shadow, without hope. ¹⁶LORD our God, all this abundance that we have provided for building you a temple for your Holy Name comes from your hand, and all of it belongs to you. ¹⁷I know, my God, that you test the heart and are pleased with integrity. All these things I have given willingly and with honest intent. And now I have seen with joy how willingly your people who are here have given to you. ¹⁸LORD, the God of our fathers Abraham, Isaac and Israel, keep these desires and thoughts in the hearts of your people forever, and keep their hearts loyal to you. ¹⁹And give my son Solomon the wholehearted devotion to keep your commands, statutes and decrees and to do everything to build the palatial structure for which I have provided.”

²⁰Then David said to the whole assembly, “Praise the LORD your God.” So they all praised the LORD, the God of their fathers; they bowed down, prostrating themselves before the LORD and the king.

Solomon Acknowledged as King

²¹The next day they made sacrifices to the LORD and presented burnt offerings to him: a thousand bulls, a thousand rams and a thousand male lambs, together with their drink offerings, and other sacrifices in abundance for all Israel. ²²They ate and drank with great joy in the presence of the LORD that day.

Then they acknowledged Solomon son of David as king a second time, anointing him before the LORD to be ruler and Zadok to be priest. ²³So Solomon sat on the throne of the LORD as king in place of his father David. He prospered and all Israel obeyed him. ²⁴All the officers and warriors, as well as all of King David's sons, pledged their submission to King Solomon.

²⁵The LORD highly exalted Solomon in the sight of all Israel and bestowed on him royal splendor such as no king over Israel ever had before.

The Death of David

²⁶David son of Jesse was king over all Israel. ²⁷He ruled over Israel forty years—seven in Hebron and thirty-three in Jerusalem. ²⁸He died at a good old age, having enjoyed long life, wealth and honor. His son Solomon succeeded him as king.

²⁹As for the events of King David's reign, from beginning to end, they are written in the records of Samuel the seer, the records of Nathan the prophet and the records of Gad the seer, ³⁰together with the details of his reign and power, and the circumstances that surrounded him and Israel and the kingdoms of all the other lands.

Genealogies: The Impact of a Leader's Heritage

The first nine chapters of 1 Chronicles furnish a genealogy of Israel's leaders—almost a third of the book! The enormous space given to these ancestral lists illustrates the vast importance of heritage to a Hebrew leader.

Such an emphasis can teach us several important lessons. Our generation and culture seem to place a much lower value on family stock and past tradition than did others in history. What do we learn from the lineages of these Jewish leaders?

1. They remained connected to their heritage.
2. They saw their place in history and gained perspective from it.
3. They were able to honor and pay respect to their forefathers.
4. They saw their lineage as a family blessing and passed on this blessing.
5. They used their heritage to provide a sense of stability for their children.
6. They sensed tendencies of ancestral giftedness and calling.
7. They could retain their identity even when exiled to a foreign land.

PROFILE in Leadership

Amnon: The High Cost of No Self-Discipline

1 Chronicles 3:1

One might suppose the firstborn son of the greatest king of Israel to be almost foreordained to do great things for God and his people. Yet David's firstborn, Amnon, wound up as little more than a quick and sad footnote to the early chapters of 1 Chronicles.

Amnon forfeited any claim to leadership of his people because he could not control himself—specifically his fleshly lusts (2Sa 13:1–19). This lack of self-control led to the disgrace of his family, and eventually to his death at the hands of a vengeful brother (13:22–29).

Amnon's demise began the day he fixed his eyes upon his lovely half sister, Tamar, and lusted after her beauty. The Law expressly forbade this kind of union and laid out severe penalties for those who violated its provisions (Lev 18:9; 20:17). But this didn't deter Amnon, who hatched a plot to lie with his sister. Despite Tamar's horrified protests, Amnon forced himself on her and then sent her away in disgrace. When Absalom, Tamar's brother, heard what his half brother had done, he plotted revenge. At an opportune time, Absalom's men murdered Amnon and fled the scene.

A miserable, sordid story—and all because of a lack of discipline. No leader can afford to do without self-discipline. Amnon tried, and wished he hadn't.

Jabez's Honorable Mention

1 Chronicles 4:9–10

God singled out one man from more than 600 others for special recognition in the genealogical lists of 1 Chronicles. Why did the Lord say Jabez lived above average? Because he modeled three qualities that make leaders rise to the top: (1) great ambition, (2) great faith, and (3) great prayer.

The Law of Influence: David Led Before Saul Left Office

1 Chronicles 11:1–3

As the most influential man in the country, David was leading long before Saul lost his throne.

Like it or not, position doesn't make a person a leader. Title may give someone authority, but not influence. Influence comes from the person; it must be earned. David had earned it and Saul had not. Why was this so?

1. Unity: David rallied the people and created unity (v. 1).
2. Identification: David identified with his followers as family (v. 1).
3. Credibility: David effectively led various military campaigns (v. 2).
4. Anointing: David enjoyed God's hand and power on his life (v. 2).
5. Partnership: David worked cooperatively with key leaders, not over them (v. 3).

The Law of Magnetism: David Attracted Loyal Risk Takers

1 Chronicles 11:10–23

The Scripture offers an impressive list of military leaders connected to David, calling them his “mighty warriors” and describing several of their incredible exploits.

Have you ever wondered how David was able to attract such a qualified and extraordinary group of leaders? The answer lies in the Law of Magnetism. Leaders attract people like themselves.

21 Laws

DAVID AND THE LAW OF THE INNER CIRCLE

A Leader's Potential Is Determined by Those Closest to Him

1 Chronicles 11:10—12:40

THERE ARE no Lone Ranger leaders. If you're alone, you're not leading anybody.

Think of any highly effective leader, and you will find someone surrounded by a strong inner circle.

Hire the best staff you can find, develop them as much as you can, and hand off everything you possibly can to them. When you have the right staff, potential skyrockets.

You see, every leader's potential is determined by the people closest to him. If those people are strong, then the leader can make a huge impact. If they are weak, he can't.

• • • • •

Examine the way David pulled together the core people who made him great:

1. He started building a strong inner circle before he needed it. David began building his team long before he was crowned king. First Chronicles emphasizes how many of the warriors who flocked to David were leaders (1Ch 12:14). David didn't attract just anyone; he attracted strong leaders.

2. He attracted people with varied gifts. David attracted men of diverse abilities. We read of experienced warriors with a variety of skills—ambidextrous bowmen, slingers and spearmen—many mighty men of valor, and hundreds of captains. With the help of these men, David felt ready for anything.

3. He engendered loyalty. David's followers displayed incredible loyalty to him throughout his life. In the early days, three of his men risked their lives to get him some water from a favorite well in Bethlehem. Decades later his closest men stayed with him even when it looked as though Absalom might crush his father (2Sa 15:21). Those closest to David always seemed willing to put their lives on the line for him.

4. He delegated responsibility based on ability. David continually gave authority to others. He designated Joab as commander of the army, and he felt equally secure in giving others civil authority (1Ch 18:14–17). Of course, delegating authority always entails risk—witness Joab's unilateral decision to kill Abner (2Sa 3:22–30). But great leaders risk delegation in order to reach the highest level of leadership.

Inner-Circle Qualities

The following qualities spell out the words inner circle. Look for these traits in the people you depend on most:

Influential—Everything begins with influence. If you want to extend your reach, you must attract and lead other leaders. More than 1,200 leaders are mentioned in the list of warriors who came to David (1Ch 12:23–37).

Networking—Who people know is just as important as what they know. When David hid from Saul, he was able to escape with the help of those who cared about him.

Nurturing—People who care about each other take care of each other. Your inner circle should prop you up. Certainly Jonathan is the best example of a nurturer in David's life. He loved David unconditionally, encouraged him, and guarded his life.

Empowering—The members of your inner circle should enable you to achieve more than you could alone. David's mighty men empowered him to accomplish incredible things.

Resourceful—Inner-circle members should always add value. When David desired to conquer Jerusalem, he offered to make the man who led the charge chief over his army (2Sa 5:6–10)—and Joab won control of the armed forces.

Character-driven—The character of an inner-circle member matters more than any other quality. People of weak character in David's inner circle cost him dearly. But people of strong character often helped to steer him out of trouble.

Intuitive—While every person is naturally intuitive in his area of gifting, that doesn't mean everyone uses his or her intuition. As you seek members for your inner circle, rely on those who have learned to trust their instincts.

Responsible—Those closest to you should never leave you hanging. If you ask them to carry the ball, they must follow through. David's companions made his cause their own.

Competent—You can't get anything done if your people can't do their jobs. You don't need world-class performers exclusively, but all of your inner-circle people must perform with excellence. The skill of David's people helped make him great.

Loyal—Loyalty alone does not make people candidates for your inner circle, but lack of loyalty definitely disqualifies them. David's people stuck with him even to death. Don't keep anyone close to you whom you cannot trust.

Energetic—Energy covers a multitude of mistakes, for it helps a person to keep coming back, failure after failure. Without tenacity, David and his men never would have survived in the wilderness, nor would they have made the nation secure from its enemies.

Look Around!

When God wants a leader to do something of value for him, he provides that leader with the individuals to get the job done. That was true for David, and it will be true for you. All you need to do is look around.

Leaders Reproduce Themselves: David Raised Up Leaders

1 Chronicles 12:1–38

We can conclude from the list of warriors who joined David in Ziklag that his ragtag team was diverse, loyal, and hungry for victory. So what did David do to reproduce his leadership in them?

1. He was relational.

Unlike Saul, who lived in fear, David's personable and approachable manner enticed hundreds of misfit volunteers to serve him. David accepted anyone.

2. He was resourceful.

David made use of every situation and got the best out of it—even in the wilderness. He resourced his team to become all they could be and enabled it to succeed.

3. He was rewarding.

David quickly shared both rewards and recognition for victory. He affirmed his men and motivated them with words of encouragement and spoils from battle.

4. He was respectable.

David modeled a leadership style that others wanted to imitate. Friends and foes alike respected him; people saw in David an example of good leadership.

The chronicler says simply, "All these were fighting men who volunteered to serve in the ranks. They came to Hebron fully determined to make David king over all Israel. All the rest of the Israelites were also of one mind to make David king" (1Ch 12:38). And he concludes, "There was joy in Israel" (1Ch 12:40).

The Law of Intuition: Discernment Comes Before Decision

1 Chronicles 12:32

One of the more popular passages in 1 Chronicles is found in chapter 12. The men of Issachar are there described as men who “understood the times and knew what Israel should do” (v. 32). What a description of the Law of Intuition! Before Israel made a decision, they got discernment. The sons of Issachar understood three key factors:

1. The culture: They understood the population and the place where they lived.
2. The timing: They understood the times and discerned when to move.
3. The strategy: They knew what Israel should do, the steps that should be taken.

How about you? Are you a man of Issachar? Do you understand your culture—its trends, its myths, its strengths, its dangers? Do you understand the age in which you’re living—its tenor and general movement? And do you have a strategy to grapple with both the culture and the times?

Leaders Must Be Teachable

1 Chronicles 13:5–12

David grew both angry and frightened when God struck down Uzzah during an accident involving the transport of the ark of God. Leaders must remain teachable. We must not presume we know exactly how things will play out or what tomorrow will bring. Leaders must be learners.

Humility: The Mark of a Leader Who Finishes Well

1 Chronicles 17:1–27

Both Nathan and David showed genuine humility. Nathan had to modify his instructions to David after he too quickly spoke for God, and David responded with grace when he learned he would not build the temple. Humility keeps leaders on track and enables them to see beyond themselves.

Leaders Broker Human Resources

1 Chronicles 18:14–17

David understood that he was to broker human gifts and talents. As Scripture says, he did “what was just and right for all his people” (1Ch 18:14). The next verses report how the king placed individuals in appropriate tasks according to their gifts: Joab led the army; Jehoshaphat was the recorder; Shavsha served as the secretary; and so on.

Effective leaders know their primary job isn’t to amass personal accomplishments, but to accomplish as much as possible through the gifts of others. How do leaders inspire their associates to such great heights?

1. Know the keys to their heart: What do they sing about, cry about, dream about?
2. Know the gifts in their possession: What do they do well that gets results?
3. Know the opportunities in their path: What next step fits their maturity?

The Law of the Picture: Giant Killers Grow Under David’s Leadership

1 Chronicles 20:4–8

You might call it “Déjà vu all over again.”

First Chronicles 20 describes David’s army battling and beating Philistine giants. You can’t help but recall 1 Samuel 17, when young David killed Goliath. His men had simply learned the second verse of the same song.

By this point in Israel’s history, David had selected and trained giant killers just like himself—the story of the Law of the Picture. When leaders model behavior, they multiply themselves. People do what people see. Leaders can reproduce only what they have already become. We teach what we know, but we reproduce what we are. Consider the following truths:

1. It takes one to know one. We tend to see what we possess ourselves.
2. It takes one to show one. We cannot model for someone what we haven’t done.
3. It takes one to grow one. We cannot train someone until we’ve done it ourselves.

Pay the Price; Depend on God

1 Chronicles 21:1–13

David’s choice to count his soldiers revealed he was beginning to place more confidence in his troops than in the power of God. Fortunately, he placed himself in the hands of the Lord when he chose his punishment—once again demonstrating the “divine dependency” that got him to the top.

PROFILE in Leadership

David: Willingness to Assume the Blame

1 Chronicles 21:1–17

Times of failure not only reveal a leader's true character, but also present opportunities for significant leadership lessons.

Following a major victory over the Philistines, King David made a major mistake. The king chose to listen to Satan, stopped trusting God for the defense of his nation, and undertook a census. His pride in the growth of his kingdom blinded his judgment. Had his spiritual advisors temporarily left the area? Or had David ignored their counsel? Either way, David failed miserably—as do most leaders at some point in the journey.

David's willingness to take responsibility for his foolish action demonstrated his depth of character. The king refused to project blame, even though the Scripture states that Satan provoked him. David repented and accepted punishment from the hand of God, acknowledging the mercy of God and trusting in the grace of God. Even so, David's error snuffed out the lives of 70,000 Israelites. When leaders mess up, many people suffer.

Many leaders attempt to hide failures, blame others, or run from God. Not David. He admitted his failure and repented. Although he faced many difficulties, David worked to restore his relationship with God and did whatever he could to minimize the consequences of his failure in the lives of others (1Ch 21:16–17).

Perspective and Vision: David Sees a Bigger Picture

David's personal vision and passion extended far beyond his own lifetime. Although he knew Solomon would build the temple, he did some long-range planning and preparation for its construction. "My son Solomon is young and inexperienced," he explained, "and the house to be built for the LORD should be of great magnificence and fame and splendor in the sight of all the nations. Therefore I will make preparations for it" (1Ch 22:5).

David appointed stonecutters, gathered cedar logs, acquired mounds of iron for the nails, and even gave Solomon a solemn charge to finish the job (22:11–19). This is the kind of thing that separates leaders from followers. Leaders see . . .

- Beyond Others: They look past their own future to the generations that follow.
- Before Others: They see what must happen long before others are ready.
- Bigger Than Others: They have a larger-than-usual vision of what can happen.

David not only prepared the materials for the construction of the temple and challenged his son to faithfully build the Lord's house, but he also commanded all the leaders of Israel to help Solomon complete the task. “Now devote your heart and soul to seeking the LORD your God,” he told them. “Begin to build the sanctuary of the LORD God” (22:19). Worthy visions outlast those who cast them.

Competence: David’s Royal Administration

1 Chronicles 26:1—27:34

Toward the end of 1 Chronicles we see David’s flow chart of army divisions, tribal officers, treasurers and royal overseers. God selected a leader with a compass in his head and a magnet in his heart. David had mastered the three P’s of organization: planning, preparation and personnel.

The Law of Legacy: David Sets Up Solomon to Succeed

1 Chronicles 29:1–5

As his life begins ebbing away, we see David preparing his son Solomon to give oversight to the construction of the temple. The old king is determined to ensure his legacy by setting up the next leader and committing him to the care of God Almighty. Look closely at what he did:

1. He rallied all the people together (v. 1).
2. He affirmed God’s choice of his successor (v. 1).
3. He identified the great need for help (v. 1).
4. He reminded the people of his own commitment (v. 2).
5. He declared that the people were well on their way to the goal (vv. 3–5).
6. He asked for commitment (v. 5).

The people loved this old king, and they knew he was not asking them to do anything he had not already demonstrated an eagerness to complete himself. Because people do what people see, David was able to motivate the Israelites to do three things:

- Sacrificially give toward the temple project
- Support Solomon and his leadership
- Rejoice in what God was doing among them

And so the book of 1 Chronicles comes to a close, saying of David, “He died at a good old age, having enjoyed long life, wealth and honor. His son Solomon succeeded him as king” (29:28).

Introduction to
2 Chronicles

Leaders Need to Finish Well

If 2 Chronicles develops one major theme or offers one major lesson, it is this: Leaders need to finish well.

Four kings—Solomon, Asa, Uzziah and Jehoshaphat—all began their monarchies well, but failed to finish strongly. Each enjoyed both success and fame as a leader, but they let the good times get to them. Their perspective got fuzzy; they began to overestimate their own importance; they grew blind to their weaknesses and refused accountability; and they started to trust in human ingenuity rather than in God—all “alarm bells” appropriate for leaders yet today!

What accounts for these poor finishes? Second Chronicles considers the Jerusalem worship center as symbolic of God’s covenant with his people (chapter 7). The temple represented his presence, his promises, his provision and his protection. Indeed, it symbolized his very person. As each leader drifted away from his calling, his worship grew cold and sterile, becoming nothing more than an item to be checked off of a “to-do” list. While God was still there, they grew emotionally absent—and eventually God’s presence and blessings began to fade.

Second Chronicles delivers a sobering warning to leaders who are drifting from their passion. When our leadership activities become mere routine, we have wandered from our original call. When we become distracted by peripheral issues and deviate from the purpose that first drove us to lead, we have wandered from our original call. When we overestimate our importance and allow ourselves to become exceptions to the rules—we have wandered away from our leadership call.

Second Chronicles demonstrates that leaders cannot separate their spiritual condition from their success as a leader. While intimacy with God does not automatically make anyone a great leader—plenty of deeply spiritual people do not lead well—yet one cannot be a godly leader apart from intimacy with God. Our leadership must begin with our relationship with God. Had the kings of Israel and Judah remained intimate with Yahweh, they would have avoided many of their mistakes, pride, blindness, presumption and failures. Nearly every king desired to lead his people in reform, yet most of them failed. The lesson for us? Leaders cannot execute public reform until they experience personal repentance.

God’s Role in 2 Chronicles

God intended to call the Hebrew leaders into close, personal encounters with him. Josiah most clearly illustrates God's goal.

Josiah became king at eight years of age (34:1). As he grew older, God increasingly led this young man's life (34:3–7). Josiah led strongly to the very end: "Josiah removed all the detestable idols from all the territory belonging to the Israelites, and he had all who were present in Israel serve the LORD their God" (34:33).

Rehoboam's young counselors, Shemaiah, Micaiah, Jehoiada, Oded Lessons in Leadership

- Priorities must be in place: all's well that begins well.
- Leaders committed to excellence will excel themselves.
- Healthy leaders seek wise counsel, even if it's not what they want to hear.
- When things go wrong, check the humility of the leader.
- God blesses his people so that they will bless the nations.
- Leaders who maintain God's rule over their life maintain their rule.
- Leaders cannot pursue power and love at the same time.
- Leaders can undo their accomplishments by failing to finish well.
- Example is the main ingredient in influencing others.
- Leaders find a way to reach the goal and enable the team to win.

2 Chronicles 1

Solomon Asks for Wisdom

¹Solomon son of David established himself firmly over his kingdom, for the LORD his God was with him and made him exceedingly great.

²Then Solomon spoke to all Israel—to the commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds, to the judges and to all the leaders in Israel, the heads of families— ³and Solomon and the whole assembly went to the high place at Gibeon, for God’s tent of meeting was there, which Moses the LORD’s servant had made in the wilderness. ⁴Now David had brought up the ark of God from Kiriath Jearim to the place he had prepared for it, because he had pitched a tent for it in Jerusalem. ⁵But the bronze altar that Bezalel son of Uri, the son of Hur, had made was in Gibeon in front of the tabernacle of the LORD; so Solomon and the assembly inquired of him there. ⁶Solomon went up to the bronze altar before the LORD in the tent of meeting and offered a thousand burnt offerings on it. The Law of Priorities: Solomon Gets It All

⁸Solomon answered God, “You have shown great kindness to David my father and have made me king in his place. ⁹Now, LORD God, let your promise to my father David be confirmed, for you have made me king over a people who are as numerous as the dust of the earth. ¹⁰Give me wisdom and knowledge, that I may lead this people, for who is able to govern this great people of yours?”

¹¹God said to Solomon, “Since this is your heart’s desire and you have not asked for wealth, possessions or honor, nor for the death of your enemies, and since you have not asked for a long life but for wisdom and knowledge to govern my people over whom I have made you king, ¹²therefore wisdom and knowledge will be given you. And I will also give you wealth, possessions and honor, such as no king who was before you ever had and none after you will have.”

¹³Then Solomon went to Jerusalem from the high place at Gibeon, from before the tent of meeting. And he reigned over Israel.

¹⁴Solomon accumulated chariots and horses; he had fourteen hundred chariots and twelve thousand horses,^a which he kept in the chariot cities and also with him in Jerusalem. ¹⁵The king made silver and gold as common in Jerusalem as stones, and cedar as plentiful as sycamore-fig trees in the foothills. ¹⁶Solomon’s horses were imported from Egypt and from Kue^b—the royal merchants purchased them from Kue at the current price. ¹⁷They imported a chariot from Egypt for six hundred shekels^c of silver, and a horse for a hundred and fifty.^d They also exported them to all the kings of the Hittites and of the Arameans.

2 Chronicles 2^a

Preparations for Building the Temple

¹Solomon gave orders to build a temple for the Name of the LORD and a royal palace for himself. ²He conscripted 70,000 men as carriers and 80,000 as stonecutters in the hills and 3,600 as foremen over them. The Law of Navigation: Solomon Commits Himself to Excellence

³Solomon sent this message to Hiram^b king of Tyre:

“Send me cedar logs as you did for my father David when you sent him cedar to build a palace to live in. ⁴Now I am about to build a temple for the Name of the LORD my God and to dedicate it to him for burning fragrant incense before him, for setting out the consecrated bread regularly, and for making burnt offerings every morning and evening and on the Sabbaths, at the New Moons and at the appointed festivals of the LORD our God. This is a lasting ordinance for Israel.

⁵“The temple I am going to build will be great, because our God is greater than all other gods. ⁶But who is able to build a temple for him, since the heavens, even the highest heavens, cannot contain him? Who then am I to build a temple for him, except as a place to burn sacrifices before him?

⁷“Send me, therefore, a man skilled to work in gold and silver, bronze and iron, and in purple, crimson and blue yarn, and experienced in the art of engraving, to work in Judah and Jerusalem with my skilled workers, whom my father David provided.

⁸“Send me also cedar, juniper and algum^c logs from Lebanon, for I know that your servants are skilled in cutting timber there. My servants will work with yours ⁹to provide me with plenty of lumber, because the temple I build must be large and magnificent. ¹⁰I will give your servants, the woodsmen who cut the timber, twenty thousand cors^d of ground wheat, twenty thousand cors^e of barley, twenty thousand baths^f of wine and twenty thousand baths of olive oil.”

¹¹Hiram king of Tyre replied by letter to Solomon:

¹²And Hiram added:

“Praise be to the LORD, the God of Israel, who made heaven and earth! He has given King David a wise son, endowed with intelligence and discernment, who will build a temple for the LORD and a palace for himself.

¹³“I am sending you Hiram-Abi, a man of great skill, ¹⁴whose mother was from Dan and whose father was from Tyre. He is trained to work in gold and silver, bronze and iron, stone and wood, and with purple and blue and crimson yarn and fine linen. He is experienced in all kinds of engraving and can execute any design given to him. He will work with your skilled workers and with those of my lord, David your father.

¹⁵“Now let my lord send his servants the wheat and barley and the olive oil and wine he promised, ¹⁶and we will cut all the logs from Lebanon that you need and will float them as rafts by sea down to Joppa. You can then take them up to Jerusalem.”

¹⁷Solomon took a census of all the foreigners residing in Israel, after the census his father David had taken; and they were found to be 153,600. ¹⁸He assigned 70,000 of them to be carriers and 80,000 to be stonecutters in the hills, with 3,600 foremen over them to keep the people working.

2 Chronicles 3

Solomon Builds the Temple

¹Then Solomon began to build the temple of the LORD in Jerusalem on Mount Moriah, where the LORD had appeared to his father David. It was on the threshing floor of Araunah^a the Jebusite, the place provided by David. ²He began building on the second day of the second month in the fourth year of his reign.

³The foundation Solomon laid for building the temple of God was sixty cubits long and twenty cubits wide^b (using the cubit of the old standard). ⁴The portico at the front of the temple was twenty cubits^c long across the width of the building and twenty^d cubits high.

He overlaid the inside with pure gold. ⁵He paneled the main hall with juniper and covered it with fine gold and decorated it with palm tree and chain designs. ⁶He adorned the temple with precious stones. And the gold he used was gold of Parvaim. ⁷He overlaid the ceiling beams, doorframes, walls and doors of the temple with gold, and he carved cherubim on the walls.

⁸He built the Most Holy Place, its length corresponding to the width of the temple—twenty cubits long and twenty cubits wide. He overlaid the inside with six hundred talents^e of fine gold. ⁹The gold nails weighed fifty shekels.^f He also overlaid the upper parts with gold.

¹⁰For the Most Holy Place he made a pair of sculptured cherubim and overlaid them with gold. ¹¹The total wingspan of the cherubim was twenty cubits. One wing of the first cherub was five cubits^g long and touched the temple wall, while its other wing, also five cubits long, touched the wing of the other cherub. ¹²Similarly one wing of the second cherub was five cubits long and touched the other temple wall, and its other wing, also five cubits long, touched the wing of the first cherub. ¹³The wings of these cherubim extended twenty cubits. They stood on their feet, facing the main hall.^h ¹⁴He made the curtain of blue, purple and crimson yarn and fine linen, with cherubim worked into it.

¹⁵For the front of the temple he made two pillars, which together were thirty-five cubitsⁱ long, each with a capital five cubits high. ¹⁶He made interwoven chains^j and put them on top of the pillars. He also made a hundred pomegranates and attached them to the chains. ¹⁷He erected the pillars in the front of the temple, one to the south and one to the north. The one to the south he named Jakin^k and the one to the north Boaz.^l

The Temple's Furnishings

⁴The Sea stood on twelve bulls, three facing north, three facing west, three facing south and three facing east. The Sea rested on top of them, and their hindquarters were toward the center. ⁵It was a handbreadth^e in thickness, and its rim was like the rim of a cup, like a lily blossom. It held three thousand baths.^f ⁶He then made ten basins for washing and placed five on the south side and five on the north. In them the things to be used for the burnt offerings were rinsed, but the Sea was to be used by the priests for washing.

⁷He made ten gold lampstands according to the specifications for them and placed them in the temple, five on the south side and five on the north.

⁸He made ten tables and placed them in the temple, five on the south side and five on the north. He also made a hundred gold sprinkling bowls.

⁹He made the courtyard of the priests, and the large court and the doors for the court, and overlaid the doors with bronze. ¹⁰He placed the Sea on the south side, at the southeast corner.

¹¹And Hiram also made the pots and shovels and sprinkling bowls.

So Hiram finished the work he had undertaken for King Solomon in the temple of God:

- ¹²the two pillars;
the two bowl-shaped capitals on top of the pillars;
the two sets of network decorating the two bowl-shaped capitals on top of the pillars;
- ¹³the four hundred pomegranates for the two sets of network (two rows of pomegranates for each network, decorating the bowl-shaped capitals on top of the pillars); ¹⁴the stands with their basins;

¹⁵the Sea and the twelve bulls under it;

¹⁶the pots, shovels, meat forks and all related articles.

All the objects that Hiram-Abi made for King Solomon for the temple of the LORD were of polished bronze. ¹⁷The king had them cast in clay molds in the plain of the Jordan between Sukkoth and Zarethan.^g ¹⁸All these things that Solomon made amounted to so much that the weight of the bronze could not be calculated.

¹⁹Solomon also made all the furnishings that were in God's temple:

the golden altar;

the tables on which was the bread of the Presence;

²⁰the lampstands of pure gold with their lamps, to burn in front of the inner sanctuary as prescribed;

²¹the gold floral work and lamps and tongs (they were solid gold);

²²the pure gold wick trimmers, sprinkling bowls, dishes and censers; and the gold doors of the temple: the inner doors to the Most Holy Place and the doors of the main hall.

2 Chronicles 5

¹When all the work Solomon had done for the temple of the LORD was finished, he brought in the things his father David had dedicated—the silver and gold and all the furnishings—and he placed them in the treasuries of God’s temple.

The Ark Brought to the Temple

²Then Solomon summoned to Jerusalem the elders of Israel, all the heads of the tribes and the chiefs of the Israelite families, to bring up the ark of the LORD’s covenant from Zion, the City of David. ³And all the Israelites came together to the king at the time of the festival in the seventh month.

⁷The priests then brought the ark of the LORD’s covenant to its place in the inner sanctuary of the temple, the Most Holy Place, and put it beneath the wings of the cherubim. ⁸The cherubim spread their wings over the place of the ark and covered the ark and its carrying poles. ⁹These poles were so long that their ends, extending from the ark, could be seen from in front of the inner sanctuary, but not from outside the Holy Place; and they are still there today. ¹⁰There was nothing in the ark except the two tablets that Moses had placed in it at Horeb, where the LORD made a covenant with the Israelites after they came out of Egypt.

¹¹The priests then withdrew from the Holy Place. All the priests who were there had consecrated themselves, regardless of their divisions. ¹²All the Levites who were musicians—Asaph, Heman, Jeduthun and their sons and relatives—stood on the east side of the altar, dressed in fine linen and playing cymbals, harps and lyres. They were accompanied by 120 priests sounding trumpets. ¹³The trumpeters and musicians joined in unison to give praise and thanks to the LORD. Accompanied by trumpets, cymbals and other instruments, the singers raised their voices in praise to the LORD and sang:

Then the temple of the LORD was filled with the cloud,¹⁴ and the priests could not perform their service because of the cloud, for the glory of the LORD filled the temple of God.

2 Chronicles 6

¹Then Solomon said, “The LORD has said that he would dwell in a dark cloud;
²I have built a magnificent temple for you, a place for you to dwell forever.”

³While the whole assembly of Israel was standing there, the king turned around and blessed them. ⁴Then he said:

⁵‘Since the day I brought my people out of Egypt, I have not chosen a city in any tribe of Israel to have a temple built so that my Name might be there, nor have I chosen anyone to be ruler over my people Israel. ⁶But now I have chosen Jerusalem for my Name to be there, and I have chosen David to rule my people Israel.’

⁷“My father David had it in his heart to build a temple for the Name of the LORD, the God of Israel. ⁸But the LORD said to my father David, ‘You did well to have it in your heart to build a temple for my Name. ⁹Nevertheless, you are not the one to build the temple, but your son, your own flesh and blood—he is the one who will build the temple for my Name.’

¹⁰“The LORD has kept the promise he made. I have succeeded David my father and now I sit on the throne of Israel, just as the LORD promised, and I have built the temple for the Name of the LORD, the God of Israel.
¹¹There I have placed the ark, in which is the covenant of the LORD that he made with the people of Israel.”

Solomon’s Prayer of Dedication

¹²Then Solomon stood before the altar of the LORD in front of the whole assembly of Israel and spread out his hands. ¹³Now he had made a bronze platform, five cubits long, five cubits wide and three cubits high,^a and had placed it in the center of the outer court. He stood on the platform and then knelt down before the whole assembly of Israel and spread out his hands toward heaven.
¹⁴He said:

“LORD, the God of Israel, there is no God like you in heaven or on earth

—you who keep your covenant of love with your servants who continue wholeheartedly in your way. ¹⁵You have kept your promise to your servant David my father; with your mouth you have promised and with your hand you have fulfilled it—as it is today.

¹⁶“Now, LORD, the God of Israel, keep for your servant David my father the promises you made to him when you said, ‘You shall never fail to have a successor to sit before me on the throne of Israel, if only your descendants are careful in all they do to walk before me according to my law, as you have done.’ ¹⁷And now, LORD, the God of Israel, let your word that you promised your servant David come true.

¹⁸“But will God really dwell on earth with humans? The heavens, even the highest heavens, cannot contain you. How much less this temple I have built! ¹⁹Yet, LORD my God, give attention to your servant’s prayer and his plea for mercy. Hear the cry and the prayer that your servant is praying in your presence. ²⁰May your eyes be open toward this temple day and night, this place of which you said you would put your Name there. May you hear the prayer your servant prays toward this place. ²¹Hear the supplications of your servant and of your people Israel when they pray toward this place. Hear from heaven, your dwelling place; and when you hear, forgive.

²⁴“When your people Israel have been defeated by an enemy because they have sinned against you and when they turn back and give praise to your name, praying and making supplication before you in this temple, ²⁵then hear from heaven and forgive the sin of your people Israel and bring them back to the land you gave to them and their ancestors.

²⁶“When the heavens are shut up and there is no rain because your people have sinned against you, and when they pray toward this place and give praise to your name and turn from their sin because you have afflicted them, ²⁷then hear from heaven and forgive the sin of your servants, your people Israel. Teach them the right way to live, and send rain on the land you gave your people for an inheritance.

²⁸“When famine or plague comes to the land, or blight or mildew, locusts

or grasshoppers, or when enemies besiege them in any of their cities, whatever disaster or disease may come, ²⁹and when a prayer or plea is made by anyone among your people Israel—being aware of their afflictions and pains, and spreading out their hands toward this temple— ³⁰then hear from heaven, your dwelling place. Forgive, and deal with everyone according to all they do, since you know their hearts (for you alone know the human heart), ³¹so that they will fear you and walk in obedience to you all the time they live in the land you gave our ancestors.

³²“As for the foreigner who does not belong to your people Israel but has come from a distant land because of your great name and your mighty hand and your outstretched arm—when they come and pray toward this temple, ³³then hear from heaven, your dwelling place. Do whatever the foreigner asks of you, so that all the peoples of the earth may know your name and fear you, as do your own people Israel, and may know that this house I have built bears your Name.

³⁶“When they sin against you—for there is no one who does not sin—and you become angry with them and give them over to the enemy, who takes them captive to a land far away or near; ³⁷and if they have a change of heart in the land where they are held captive, and repent and plead with you in the land of their captivity and say, ‘We have sinned, we have done wrong and acted wickedly’; ³⁸and if they turn back to you with all their heart and soul in the land of their captivity where they were taken, and pray toward the land you gave their ancestors, toward the city you have chosen and toward the temple I have built for your Name; ³⁹then from heaven, your dwelling place, hear their prayer and their pleas, and uphold their cause. And forgive your people, who have sinned against you.

⁴⁰“Now, my God, may your eyes be open and your ears attentive to the prayers offered in this place.

⁴¹“Now arise, LORD God, and come to your resting place, you and the ark of your might.

May your priests, LORD God, be clothed with salvation, may your faithful people rejoice in your goodness.

⁴²LORD God, do not reject your anointed one.

Remember the great love promised to David your servant.”

2 Chronicles 7

The Dedication of the Temple

¹When Solomon finished praying, fire came down from heaven and consumed the burnt offering and the sacrifices, and the glory of the LORD filled the temple. ²The priests could not enter the temple of the LORD because the glory of the LORD filled it. ³When all the Israelites saw the fire coming down and the glory of the LORD above the temple, they knelt on the pavement with their faces to the ground, and they worshiped and gave thanks to the LORD, saying,

“He is good;

⁴Then the king and all the people offered sacrifices before the LORD. ⁵And King Solomon offered a sacrifice of twenty-two thousand head of cattle and a hundred and twenty thousand sheep and goats. So the king and all the people dedicated the temple of God. ⁶The priests took their positions, as did the Levites with the LORD’s musical instruments, which King David had made for praising the LORD and which were used when he gave thanks, saying, “His love endures forever.” Opposite the Levites, the priests blew their trumpets, and all the Israelites were standing.

⁸So Solomon observed the festival at that time for seven days, and all Israel with him—a vast assembly, people from Lebo Hamath to the Wadi of Egypt. ⁹On the eighth day they held an assembly, for they had celebrated the dedication of the altar for seven days and the festival for seven days more. ¹⁰On the twenty-third day of the seventh month he sent the people to their homes, joyful and glad in heart for the good things the LORD had done for David and Solomon and for his people Israel.

The LORD Appears to Solomon

¹¹When Solomon had finished the temple of the LORD and the royal palace, and had succeeded in carrying out all he had in mind to do in the temple of the LORD and in his own palace, ¹²the LORD appeared to him at night and said:

¹³“When I shut up the heavens so that there is no rain, or command locusts to devour the land or send a plague among my people, ¹⁴if my people, who are called by my name, will humble themselves and pray and seek my face and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven, and I will forgive their sin and will heal their land. ¹⁵Now my eyes will be open and my ears attentive to the prayers offered in this place. ¹⁶I have chosen and consecrated this temple so that my Name may be there forever. My eyes and my heart will always be there.

¹⁹“But if you^a turn away and forsake the decrees and commands I have given you^b and go off to serve other gods and worship them, ²⁰then I will uproot Israel from my land, which I have given them, and will reject this temple I have consecrated for my Name. I will make it a byword and an object of ridicule among all peoples. ²¹This temple will become a heap of rubble. All^c who pass by will be appalled and say, ‘Why has the LORD done such a thing to this land and to this temple?’ ²²People will answer, ‘Because they have forsaken the LORD, the God of their ancestors, who brought them out of Egypt, and have embraced other gods, worshiping and serving them—that is why he brought all this disaster on them.’ ”

2 Chronicles 8

Solomon's Other Activities

¹At the end of twenty years, during which Solomon built the temple of the LORD and his own palace, ²Solomon rebuilt the villages that Hiram^a had given him, and settled Israelites in them. ³Solomon then went to Hamath Zobah and captured it. ⁴He also built up Tadmor in the desert and all the store cities he had built in Hamath. ⁵He rebuilt Upper Beth Horon and Lower Beth Horon as fortified cities, with walls and with gates and bars, ⁶as well as Baalath and all his store cities, and all the cities for his chariots and for his horses^b—whatever he desired to build in Jerusalem, in Lebanon and throughout all the territory he ruled.

¹¹Solomon brought Pharaoh's daughter up from the City of David to the palace he had built for her, for he said, "My wife must not live in the palace of David king of Israel, because the places the ark of the LORD has entered are holy."

¹²On the altar of the LORD that he had built in front of the portico, Solomon sacrificed burnt offerings to the LORD, ¹³according to the daily requirement for offerings commanded by Moses for the Sabbaths, the New Moons and the three annual festivals—the Festival of Unleavened Bread, the Festival of Weeks and the Festival of Tabernacles. ¹⁴In keeping with the ordinance of his father David, he appointed the divisions of the priests for their duties, and the Levites to lead the praise and to assist the priests according to each day's requirement. He also appointed the gatekeepers by divisions for the various gates, because this was what David the man of God had ordered. ¹⁵They did not deviate from the king's commands to the priests or to the Levites in any matter, including that of the treasuries.

¹⁶All Solomon's work was carried out, from the day the foundation of the temple of the LORD was laid until its completion. So the temple of the LORD was finished.

¹⁷Then Solomon went to Ezion Geber and Elath on the coast of Edom. ¹⁸And Hiram sent him ships commanded by his own men, sailors who knew the sea. These, with Solomon's men, sailed to Ophir and brought back four hundred and fifty talents^c of gold, which they delivered to King Solomon.

2 Chronicles 9

The Queen of Sheba Visits Solomon

¹When the queen of Sheba heard of Solomon's fame, she came to Jerusalem to test him with hard questions. Arriving with a very great caravan—with camels carrying spices, large quantities of gold, and precious stones—she came to Solomon and talked with him about all she had on her mind. ²Solomon answered all her questions; nothing was too hard for him to explain to her. ³When the queen of Sheba saw the wisdom of Solomon, as well as the palace he had built, ⁴the food on his table, the seating of his officials, the attending servants in their robes, the cupbearers in their robes and the burnt offerings he made at^a the temple of the LORD, she was overwhelmed. PROFILE in Leadership: Solomon: Blessed by God to Bless the Nations

⁵She said to the king, “The report I heard in my own country about your achievements and your wisdom is true. ⁶But I did not believe what they said until I came and saw with my own eyes. Indeed, not even half the greatness of your wisdom was told me; you have far exceeded the report I heard. ⁷How happy your people must be! How happy your officials, who continually stand before you and hear your wisdom! ⁸Praise be to the LORD your God, who has delighted in you and placed you on his throne as king to rule for the LORD your God. Because of the love of your God for Israel and his desire to uphold them forever, he has made you king over them, to maintain justice and righteousness.”

¹⁰(The servants of Hiram and the servants of Solomon brought gold from Ophir; they also brought alnumwood^c and precious stones. ¹¹The king used the alnumwood to make steps for the temple of the LORD and for the royal palace, and to make harps and lyres for the musicians. Nothing like them had ever been seen in Judah.) ¹²King Solomon gave the queen of Sheba all she desired and asked for; he gave her more than she had brought to him. Then she left and returned with her retinue to her own country.

Solomon's Splendor

¹³The weight of the gold that Solomon received yearly was 666 talents,^d ¹⁴not including the revenues brought in by merchants and traders. Also all the kings of Arabia and the governors of the territories brought gold and silver to Solomon.

²²King Solomon was greater in riches and wisdom than all the other kings of the earth. ²³All the kings of the earth sought audience with Solomon to hear the wisdom God had put in his heart. ²⁴Year after year, everyone who came brought a gift—articles of silver and gold, and robes, weapons and spices, and horses and mules.

²⁵Solomon had four thousand stalls for horses and chariots, and twelve thousand horses,ⁱ which he kept in the chariot cities and also with him in Jerusalem. ²⁶He ruled over all the kings from the Euphrates River to the land of the Philistines, as far as the border of Egypt. ²⁷The king made silver as common in Jerusalem as stones, and cedar as plentiful as sycamore-fig trees in the foothills. ²⁸Solomon's horses were imported from Egypt and from all other countries.

Solomon's Death

²⁹As for the other events of Solomon's reign, from beginning to end, are they not written in the records of Nathan the prophet, in the prophecy of Ahijah the Shilonite and in the visions of Iddo the seer concerning Jeroboam son of Nebat?

³⁰Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel forty years. ³¹Then he rested with his ancestors and was buried in the city of David his father. And Rehoboam his son succeeded him as king.

2 Chronicles 10

Israel Rebels Against Rehoboam

¹Rehoboam went to Shechem, for all Israel had gone there to make him king.

²When Jeroboam son of Nebat heard this (he was in Egypt, where he had fled from King Solomon), he returned from Egypt. ³So they sent for Jeroboam, and he and all Israel went to Rehoboam and said to him: ⁴“Your father put a heavy yoke on us, but now lighten the harsh labor and the heavy yoke he put on us, and we will serve you.” Rehoboam Violates the Law of Intuition and Pays

⁵Rehoboam answered, “Come back to me in three days.” So the people went away.

⁶Then King Rehoboam consulted the elders who had served his father Solomon during his lifetime. “How would you advise me to answer these people?” he asked. Rehoboam and the Law of the Inner Circle

⁷They replied, “If you will be kind to these people and please them and give them a favorable answer, they will always be your servants.”

⁸But Rehoboam rejected the advice the elders gave him and consulted the young men who had grown up with him and were serving him. ⁹He asked them, “What is your advice? How should we answer these people who say to me, ‘Lighten the yoke your father put on us’?”

¹⁰The young men who had grown up with him replied, “The people have said to you, ‘Your father put a heavy yoke on us, but make our yoke lighter.’ Now tell them, ‘My little finger is thicker than my father’s waist. ¹¹My father laid on you a heavy yoke; I will make it even heavier. My father scourged you with whips; I will scourge you with scorpions.’ ”

¹²Three days later Jeroboam and all the people returned to Rehoboam, as the king had said, “Come back to me in three days.” ¹³The king answered them harshly. Rejecting the advice of the elders, ¹⁴he followed the advice of the young men and said, “My father made your yoke heavy; I will make it even heavier. My father scourged you with whips; I will scourge you with scorpions.” ¹⁵So the king did not listen to the people, for this turn of events was from God, to fulfill the word the LORD had spoken to Jeroboam son of Nebat through Ahijah the Shilonite. 21 Qualities: LISTENING: Rehoboam Fails to Listen to the Right People

¹⁶When all Israel saw that the king refused to listen to them, they answered the king:

“What share do we have in David

What share do we have in David,
what part in Jesse's son?
To your tents, Israel!
Look after your own house, David!"

So all the Israelites went home. ¹⁷But as for the Israelites who were living in the towns of Judah, Rehoboam still ruled over them.

¹⁸King Rehoboam sent out Adoniram,^a who was in charge of forced labor, but the Israelites stoned him to death. King Rehoboam, however, managed to get into his chariot and escape to Jerusalem. ¹⁹So Israel has been in rebellion against the house of David to this day.

2 Chronicles 11

¹When Rehoboam arrived in Jerusalem, he mustered Judah and Benjamin—a hundred and eighty thousand able young men—to go to war against Israel and to regain the kingdom for Rehoboam.

²But this word of the LORD came to Shemaiah the man of God: ³“Say to Rehoboam son of Solomon king of Judah and to all Israel in Judah and Benjamin, ⁴‘This is what the LORD says: Do not go up to fight against your fellow Israelites. Go home, every one of you, for this is my doing.’ ” So they obeyed the words of the LORD and turned back from marching against Jeroboam.

Rehoboam Fortifies Judah

⁵Rehoboam lived in Jerusalem and built up towns for defense in Judah: ⁶Bethlehem, Etam, Tekoa, ⁷Beth Zur, Soko, Adullam, ⁸Gath, Mareshah, Ziph, ⁹Adoraim, Lachish, Azekah, ¹⁰Zorah, Aijalon and Hebron. These were fortified cities in Judah and Benjamin. ¹¹He strengthened their defenses and put commanders in them, with supplies of food, olive oil and wine. ¹²He put shields and spears in all the cities, and made them very strong. So Judah and Benjamin were his.

¹³The priests and Levites from all their districts throughout Israel sided with him. ¹⁴The Levites even abandoned their pasturelands and property and came to Judah and Jerusalem, because Jeroboam and his sons had rejected them as priests of the LORD ¹⁵when he appointed his own priests for the high places and for the goat and calf idols he had made. ¹⁶Those from every tribe of Israel who set their hearts on seeking the LORD, the God of Israel, followed the Levites to Jerusalem to offer sacrifices to the LORD, the God of their ancestors. ¹⁷They strengthened the kingdom of Judah and supported Rehoboam son of Solomon three years, following the ways of David and Solomon during this time.

Rehoboam's Family

¹⁸Rehoboam married Mahalath, who was the daughter of David's son Jerimoth and of Abihail, the daughter of Jesse's son Eliab. ¹⁹She bore him sons: Jeush, Shemariah and Zaham. ²⁰Then he married Maakah daughter of Absalom, who bore him Abijah, Attai, Ziza and Shelomith. ²¹Rehoboam loved Maakah daughter of Absalom more than any of his other wives and concubines. In all, he had eighteen wives and sixty concubines, twenty-eight sons and sixty daughters.

²²Rehoboam appointed Abijah son of Maakah as crown prince among his brothers, in order to make him king. ²³He acted wisely, dispersing some of his sons throughout the districts of Judah and Benjamin, and to all the fortified cities. He gave them abundant provisions and took many wives for them.

2 Chronicles 12

Shishak Attacks Jerusalem

¹After Rehoboam's position as king was established and he had become strong, he and all Israel^a with him abandoned the law of the LORD. ²Because they had been unfaithful to the LORD, Shishak king of Egypt attacked Jerusalem in the fifth year of King Rehoboam. ³With twelve hundred chariots and sixty thousand horsemen and the innumerable troops of Libyans, Sukkites and Cushites^b that came with him from Egypt, ⁴he captured the fortified cities of Judah and came as far as Jerusalem.

⁵Then the prophet Shemaiah came to Rehoboam and to the leaders of Judah who had assembled in Jerusalem for fear of Shishak, and he said to them, "This is what the LORD says, 'You have abandoned me; therefore, I now abandon you to Shishak.' "

⁶The leaders of Israel and the king humbled themselves and said, "The LORD is just."

⁷When the LORD saw that they humbled themselves, this word of the LORD came to Shemaiah: "Since they have humbled themselves, I will not destroy them but will soon give them deliverance. My wrath will not be poured out on Jerusalem through Shishak. ⁸They will, however, become subject to him, so that they may learn the difference between serving me and serving the kings of other lands."

¹²Because Rehoboam humbled himself, the LORD's anger turned from him, and he was not totally destroyed. Indeed, there was some good in Judah.

¹³King Rehoboam established himself firmly in Jerusalem and continued as king. He was forty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city the LORD had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel in which to put his Name. His mother's name was Naamah; she was an Ammonite. ¹⁴He did evil because he had not set his heart on seeking the LORD.

¹⁵As for the events of Rehoboam's reign, from beginning to end, are they not written in the records of Shemaiah the prophet and of Iddo the seer that deal with genealogies? There was continual warfare between Rehoboam and Jeroboam.

¹⁶Rehoboam rested with his ancestors and was buried in the City of David. And Abijah his son succeeded him as king.

2 Chronicles 13

Abijah King of Judah

There was war between Abijah and Jeroboam. ³Abijah went into battle with an army of four hundred thousand able fighting men, and Jeroboam drew up a battle line against him with eight hundred thousand able troops. Vision: Abijah Learns the Right Vision, Gets the Right Results

⁴Abijah stood on Mount Zemaraim, in the hill country of Ephraim, and said, "Jeroboam and all Israel, listen to me! ⁵Don't you know that the LORD, the God of Israel, has given the kingship of Israel to David and his descendants forever by a covenant of salt? ⁶Yet Jeroboam son of Nebat, an official of Solomon son of David, rebelled against his master. ⁷Some worthless scoundrels gathered around him and opposed Rehoboam son of Solomon when he was young and indecisive and not strong enough to resist them.

⁸"And now you plan to resist the kingdom of the LORD, which is in the hands of David's descendants. You are indeed a vast army and have with you the golden calves that Jeroboam made to be your gods. ⁹But didn't you drive out the priests of the LORD, the sons of Aaron, and the Levites, and make priests of your own as the peoples of other lands do? Whoever comes to consecrate himself with a young bull and seven rams may become a priest of what are not gods.

¹⁰"As for us, the LORD is our God, and we have not forsaken him. The priests who serve the LORD are sons of Aaron, and the Levites assist them. ¹¹Every morning and evening they present burnt offerings and fragrant incense to the LORD. They set out the bread on the ceremonially clean table and light the lamps on the gold lampstand every evening. We are observing the requirements of the LORD our God. But you have forsaken him. ¹²God is with us; he is our leader. His priests with their trumpets will sound the battle cry against you. People of Israel, do not fight against the LORD, the God of your ancestors, for you will not succeed."

¹³Now Jeroboam had sent troops around to the rear, so that while he was in front of Judah the ambush was behind them. ¹⁴Judah turned and saw that they were being attacked at both front and rear. Then they cried out to the LORD. The priests blew their trumpets ¹⁵and the men of Judah raised the battle cry. At the sound of their battle cry, God routed Jeroboam and all Israel before Abijah and Judah. ¹⁶The Israelites fled before Judah, and God delivered them into their hands. ¹⁷Abijah and his troops inflicted heavy losses on them, so that there were five hundred thousand casualties among Israel's able men. ¹⁸The Israelites were subdued on that occasion, and the people of Judah were victorious because they relied on the LORD, the God of their ancestors.

¹⁹Abijah pursued Jeroboam and took from him the towns of Bethel, Jeshanah and Ephron, with their surrounding villages. ²⁰Jeroboam did not regain power during the time of Abijah. And the LORD struck him down and he died.

²¹But Abijah grew in strength. He married fourteen wives and had twenty-two sons and sixteen daughters.

²²The other events of Abijah's reign, what he did and what he said, are written in the annotations of the prophet Iddo.

2 Chronicles 14^a

¹And Abijah rested with his ancestors and was buried in the City of David. Asa his son succeeded him as king, and in his days the country was at peace for ten years.

Asa King of Judah

²Asa did what was good and right in the eyes of the LORD his God. ³He removed the foreign altars and the high places, smashed the sacred stones and cut down the Asherah poles.^b ⁴He commanded Judah to seek the LORD, the God of their ancestors, and to obey his laws and commands. ⁵He removed the high places and incense altars in every town in Judah, and the kingdom was at peace under him. ⁶He built up the fortified cities of Judah, since the land was at peace. No one was at war with him during those years, for the LORD gave him rest.

⁷“Let us build up these towns,” he said to Judah, “and put walls around them, with towers, gates and bars. The land is still ours, because we have sought the LORD our God; we sought him and he has given us rest on every side.” So they built and prospered.

⁹Zerah the Cushite marched out against them with an army of thousands upon thousands and three hundred chariots, and came as far as Mareshah. ¹⁰Asa went out to meet him, and they took up battle positions in the Valley of Zephathah near Mareshah.

¹¹Then Asa called to the LORD his God and said, “LORD, there is no one like you to help the powerless against the mighty. Help us, LORD our God, for we rely on you, and in your name we have come against this vast army. LORD, you are our God; do not let mere mortals prevail against you.”

¹²The LORD struck down the Cushites before Asa and Judah. The Cushites fled, ¹³and Asa and his army pursued them as far as Gerar. Such a great number of Cushites fell that they could not recover; they were crushed before the LORD and his forces. The men of Judah carried off a large amount of plunder. ¹⁴They destroyed all the villages around Gerar, for the terror of the LORD had fallen on them. They looted all these villages, since there was much plunder there. ¹⁵They also attacked the camps of the herders and carried off droves of sheep and goats and camels. Then they returned to Jerusalem.

2 Chronicles 15

Asa's Reform

¹The Spirit of God came on Azariah son of Oded. ²He went out to meet Asa and said to him, "Listen to me, Asa and all Judah and Benjamin. The LORD is with you when you are with him. If you seek him, he will be found by you, but if you forsake him, he will forsake you. ³For a long time Israel was without the true God, without a priest to teach and without the law. ⁴But in their distress they turned to the LORD, the God of Israel, and sought him, and he was found by them. ⁵In those days it was not safe to travel about, for all the inhabitants of the lands were in great turmoil. ⁶One nation was being crushed by another and one city by another, because God was troubling them with every kind of distress. ⁷But as for you, be strong and do not give up, for your work will be rewarded."

⁸When Asa heard these words and the prophecy of Azariah son of^a Oded the prophet, he took courage. He removed the detestable idols from the whole land of Judah and Benjamin and from the towns he had captured in the hills of Ephraim. He repaired the altar of the LORD that was in front of the portico of the LORD's temple.

⁹Then he assembled all Judah and Benjamin and the people from Ephraim, Manasseh and Simeon who had settled among them, for large numbers had come over to him from Israel when they saw that the LORD his God was with him.

¹⁶King Asa also deposed his grandmother Maakah from her position as queen mother, because she had made a repulsive image for the worship of Asherah.

Asa cut it down, broke it up and burned it in the Kidron Valley. ¹⁷Although he did not remove the high places from Israel, Asa's heart was fully committed to the LORD all his life. ¹⁸He brought into the temple of God the silver and gold and the articles that he and his father had dedicated.

¹⁹There was no more war until the thirty-fifth year of Asa's reign.

2 Chronicles 16

Asa's Last Years

²Asa then took the silver and gold out of the treasuries of the LORD's temple and of his own palace and sent it to Ben-Hadad king of Aram, who was ruling in Damascus. ³"Let there be a treaty between me and you," he said, "as there was between my father and your father. See, I am sending you silver and gold. Now break your treaty with Baasha king of Israel so he will withdraw from me."

⁷At that time Hanani the seer came to Asa king of Judah and said to him: "Because you relied on the king of Aram and not on the LORD your God, the army of the king of Aram has escaped from your hand. ⁸Were not the Cushites^b and Libyans a mighty army with great numbers of chariots and horsemen^c? Yet when you relied on the LORD, he delivered them into your hand. ⁹For the eyes of the LORD range throughout the earth to strengthen those whose hearts are fully committed to him. You have done a foolish thing, and from now on you will be at war."

¹⁰Asa was angry with the seer because of this; he was so enraged that he put him in prison. At the same time Asa brutally oppressed some of the people.

¹¹The events of Asa's reign, from beginning to end, are written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. ¹²In the thirty-ninth year of his reign Asa was afflicted with a disease in his feet. Though his disease was severe, even in his illness he did not seek help from the LORD, but only from the physicians.

¹³Then in the forty-first year of his reign Asa died and rested with his ancestors.

¹⁴They buried him in the tomb that he had cut out for himself in the City of David. They laid him on a bier covered with spices and various blended perfumes, and they made a huge fire in his honor.

2 Chronicles 17

Jehoshaphat King of Judah

¹Jehoshaphat his son succeeded him as king and strengthened himself against Israel. ²He stationed troops in all the fortified cities of Judah and put garrisons in Judah and in the towns of Ephraim that his father Asa had captured.

³The LORD was with Jehoshaphat because he followed the ways of his father David before him. He did not consult the Baals ⁴but sought the God of his father and followed his commands rather than the practices of Israel. ⁵The LORD established the kingdom under his control; and all Judah brought gifts to Jehoshaphat, so that he had great wealth and honor. ⁶His heart was devoted to the ways of the LORD; furthermore, he removed the high places and the Asherah poles from Judah.

¹⁰The fear of the LORD fell on all the kingdoms of the lands surrounding Judah, so that they did not go to war against Jehoshaphat. ¹¹Some Philistines brought Jehoshaphat gifts and silver as tribute, and the Arabs brought him flocks: seven thousand seven hundred rams and seven thousand seven hundred goats.

¹²Jehoshaphat became more and more powerful; he built forts and store cities in Judah ¹³and had large supplies in the towns of Judah. He also kept experienced fighting men in Jerusalem. ¹⁴Their enrollment by families was as follows:

From Judah, commanders of units of 1,000:

Adnah the commander, with 300,000 fighting men;

¹⁵next, Jehohanan the commander, with 280,000;

¹⁶next, Amasiah son of Zikri, who volunteered himself for the service of the LORD, with 200,000.

⁷From Benjamin:

Eliada, a valiant soldier, with 200,000 men armed with bows and shields;

¹⁸next, Jehozabad, with 180,000 men armed for battle.

¹⁹These were the men who served the king, besides those he stationed in the fortified cities throughout Judah.

2 Chronicles 18

Micaiah Prophecies Against Ahab

¹Now Jehoshaphat had great wealth and honor, and he allied himself with Ahab by marriage. ²Some years later he went down to see Ahab in Samaria. Ahab slaughtered many sheep and cattle for him and the people with him and urged him to attack Ramoth Gilead. ³Ahab king of Israel asked Jehoshaphat king of Judah, “Will you go with me against Ramoth Gilead?”

Jehoshaphat replied, “I am as you are, and my people as your people; we will join you in the war.” ⁴But Jehoshaphat also said to the king of Israel, “First seek the counsel of the LORD.” Compromise: Sometimes There's No Room for Tolerance

⁵So the king of Israel brought together the prophets—four hundred men—and asked them, “Shall we go to war against Ramoth Gilead, or shall I not?”

“Go,” they answered, “for God will give it into the king’s hand.”

⁶But Jehoshaphat asked, “Is there no longer a prophet of the LORD here whom we can inquire of?”

⁷The king of Israel answered Jehoshaphat, “There is still one prophet through whom we can inquire of the LORD, but I hate him because he never prophesies anything good about me, but always bad. He is Micaiah son of Imlah.”

⁸So the king of Israel called one of his officials and said, “Bring Micaiah son of Imlah at once.”

⁹Dressed in their royal robes, the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah were sitting on their thrones at the threshing floor by the entrance of the gate of Samaria, with all the prophets prophesying before them. ¹⁰Now Zedekiah son of Kenaanah had made iron horns, and he declared, “This is what the LORD says: ‘With these you will gore the Arameans until they are destroyed.’ ”

¹¹All the other prophets were prophesying the same thing. “Attack Ramoth Gilead and be victorious,” they said, “for the LORD will give it into the king’s hand.”

¹²The messenger who had gone to summon Micaiah said to him, “Look, the other prophets without exception are predicting success for the king. Let your word agree with theirs, and speak favorably.”

¹³But Micaiah said, “As surely as the LORD lives, I can tell him only what my God says.”

¹⁴When he arrived, the king asked him, “Micaiah, shall we go to war against Ramoth Gilead, or shall I not?”

¹⁵The king said to him, “How many times must I make you swear to tell me nothing but the truth in the name of the LORD?”

¹⁶Then Micaiah answered, “I saw all Israel scattered on the hills like sheep without a shepherd, and the LORD said, ‘These people have no master. Let each one go home in peace.’ ”

¹⁷The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “Didn’t I tell you that he never prophesies anything good about me, but only bad?”

¹⁸Micaiah continued, “Therefore hear the word of the LORD: I saw the LORD sitting on his throne with all the multitudes of heaven standing on his right and on his left. ¹⁹And the LORD said, ‘Who will entice Ahab king of Israel into attacking Ramoth Gilead and going to his death there?’

“One suggested this, and another that. ²⁰Finally, a spirit came forward, stood before the LORD and said, ‘I will entice him.’

“ ‘By what means?’ the LORD asked.

²¹“ ‘I will go and be a deceiving spirit in the mouths of all his prophets,’ he said.

“ ‘You will succeed in enticing him,’ said the LORD. ‘Go and do it.’

²²“So now the LORD has put a deceiving spirit in the mouths of these prophets of yours. The LORD has decreed disaster for you.”

²³Then Zedekiah son of Kenaanah went up and slapped Micaiah in the face. “Which way did the spirit from^a the LORD go when he went from me to speak to you?” he asked.

²⁴Micaiah replied, “You will find out on the day you go to hide in an inner room.”

²⁵The king of Israel then ordered, “Take Micaiah and send him back to Amon the ruler of the city and to Joash the king’s son, ²⁶and say, ‘This is what the king says: Put this fellow in prison and give him nothing but bread and water until I return safely.’ ”

²⁷Micaiah declared, “If you ever return safely, the LORD has not spoken through me.” Then he added, “Mark my words, all you people!”

Ahab Killed at Ramoth Gilead

²⁸So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah went up to Ramoth Gilead. ²⁹The king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “I will enter the battle in disguise, but you wear your royal robes.” So the king of Israel disguised himself and went into battle.

³⁰Now the king of Aram had ordered his chariot commanders, “Do not fight with anyone, small or great, except the king of Israel.” ³¹When the chariot commanders saw Jehoshaphat, they thought, “This is the king of Israel.” So they turned to attack him, but Jehoshaphat cried out, and the LORD helped him. God drew them away from him, ³²for when the chariot commanders saw that he was not the king of Israel, they stopped pursuing him.

³³But someone drew his bow at random and hit the king of Israel between the breastplate and the scale armor. The king told the chariot driver, “Wheel around and get me out of the fighting. I’ve been wounded.” ³⁴All day long the battle raged, and the king of Israel propped himself up in his chariot facing the Arameans until evening. Then at sunset he died.

2 Chronicles 19

¹When Jehoshaphat king of Judah returned safely to his palace in Jerusalem, ²Jehu the seer, the son of Hanani, went out to meet him and said to the king, “Should you help the wicked and love^a those who hate the LORD? Because of this, the wrath of the LORD is on you. ³There is, however, some good in you, for you have rid the land of the Asherah poles and have set your heart on seeking God.”

Jehoshaphat Appoints Judges

⁸In Jerusalem also, Jehoshaphat appointed some of the Levites, priests and heads of Israelite families to administer the law of the LORD and to settle disputes. And they lived in Jerusalem. ⁹He gave them these orders: “You must serve faithfully and wholeheartedly in the fear of the LORD. ¹⁰In every case that comes before you from your people who live in the cities—whether bloodshed or other concerns of the law, commands, decrees or regulations—you are to warn them not to sin against the LORD; otherwise his wrath will come on you and your people. Do this, and you will not sin.

¹¹“Amariah the chief priest will be over you in any matter concerning the LORD, and Zebadiah son of Ishmael, the leader of the tribe of Judah, will be over you in any matter concerning the king, and the Levites will serve as officials before you. Act with courage, and may the LORD be with those who do well.”

2 Chronicles 20

Jehoshaphat Defeats Moab and Ammon

¹After this, the Moabites and Ammonites with some of the Meunites^a came to wage war against Jehoshaphat. PROFILE in Leadership: Jehoshaphat: Finished Poorly by Forming Destructive Alliances 21 Qualities: RESPONSIBILITY: Leaders Cannot Give It Away

²Some people came and told Jehoshaphat, “A vast army is coming against you from Edom,^b from the other side of the Dead Sea. It is already in Hazezon Tamar” (that is, En Gedi). ³Alarmed, Jehoshaphat resolved to inquire of the LORD, and he proclaimed a fast for all Judah. ⁴The people of Judah came together to seek help from the LORD; indeed, they came from every town in Judah to seek him.

“LORD, the God of our ancestors, are you not the God who is in heaven? You rule over all the kingdoms of the nations. Power and might are in your hand, and no one can withstand you. ⁷Our God, did you not drive out the inhabitants of this land before your people Israel and give it forever to the descendants of Abraham your friend? ⁸They have lived in it and have built in it a sanctuary for your Name, saying, ⁹‘If calamity comes upon us, whether the sword of judgment, or plague or famine, we will stand in your presence before this temple that bears your Name and will cry out to you in our distress, and you will hear us and save us.’

¹⁰“But now here are men from Ammon, Moab and Mount Seir, whose territory you would not allow Israel to invade when they came from Egypt; so they turned away from them and did not destroy them. ¹¹See how they are repaying us by coming to drive us out of the possession you gave us as an inheritance. ¹²Our God, will you not judge them? For we have no power to face this vast army that is attacking us. We do not know what to do, but our eyes are on you.”

¹³All the men of Judah, with their wives and children and little ones, stood there before the LORD.

¹⁴Then the Spirit of the LORD came on Jahaziel son of Zechariah, the son of Benaiah, the son of Jeiel, the son of Mattaniah, a Levite and descendant of Asaph, as he stood in the assembly.

¹⁵He said: “Listen, King Jehoshaphat and all who live in Judah and Jerusalem! This is what the LORD says to you: ‘Do not be afraid or discouraged because of this vast army. For the battle is not yours, but God’s. ¹⁶Tomorrow march down against them. They will be climbing up by the Pass of Ziz, and you will find them at the end of the gorge in the Desert of Jeruel. ¹⁷You will not have to fight this battle. Take up your positions; stand firm and see the deliverance the LORD will give you, Judah and Jerusalem. Do not be afraid; do not be discouraged. Go out to face them tomorrow, and the LORD will be with you.’ ”

¹⁸Jehoshaphat bowed down with his face to the ground, and all the people of Judah and Jerusalem fell down in worship before the LORD. ¹⁹Then some Levites from the Kohathites and Korahites stood up and praised the LORD, the God of Israel, with a very loud voice.

²⁰Early in the morning they left for the Desert of Tekoa. As they set out, Jehoshaphat stood and said, “Listen to me, Judah and people of Jerusalem! Have faith in the LORD your God and you will be upheld; have faith in his prophets and you will be successful.” ²¹After consulting the people, Jehoshaphat appointed men to sing to the LORD and to praise him for the splendor of his^c holiness as they went out at the head of the army, saying:

“Give thanks to the LORD,
for his love endures forever.”

²²As they began to sing and praise, the LORD set ambushes against the men of Ammon and Moab and Mount Seir who were invading Judah, and they were defeated. ²³The Ammonites and Moabites rose up against the men from Mount Seir to destroy and annihilate them. After they finished slaughtering the men from Seir, they helped to destroy one another.

²⁴When the men of Judah came to the place that overlooks the desert and looked toward the vast army, they saw only dead bodies lying on the ground; no one had escaped. ²⁵So Jehoshaphat and his men went to carry off their plunder, and they found among them a great amount of equipment and clothing^d and also articles of value—more than they could take away. There was so much plunder that it took three days to collect it. ²⁶On the fourth day they assembled in the Valley of Berakah, where they praised the LORD. This is why it is called the Valley of Berakah^e to this day.

²⁷Then, led by Jehoshaphat, all the men of Judah and Jerusalem returned joyfully to Jerusalem, for the LORD had given them cause to rejoice over their enemies. ²⁸They entered Jerusalem and went to the temple of the LORD with harps and lyres and trumpets.

²⁹The fear of God came on all the surrounding kingdoms when they heard how the LORD had fought against the enemies of Israel. ³⁰And the kingdom of Jehoshaphat was at peace, for his God had given him rest on every side.

The End of Jehoshaphat's Reign

³¹So Jehoshaphat reigned over Judah. He was thirty-five years old when he became king of Judah, and he reigned in Jerusalem twenty-five years. His mother's name was Azubah daughter of Shilhi. ³²He followed the ways of his father Asa and did not stray from them; he did what was right in the eyes of the LORD. ³³The high places, however, were not removed, and the people still had not set their hearts on the God of their ancestors.

³⁵Later, Jehoshaphat king of Judah made an alliance with Ahaziah king of Israel, whose ways were wicked. ³⁶He agreed with him to construct a fleet of trading ships.^f After these were built at Ezion Geber, ³⁷Eliezer son of Dodavahu of Mareshah prophesied against Jehoshaphat, saying, "Because you have made an alliance with Ahaziah, the LORD will destroy what you have made." The ships were wrecked and were not able to set sail to trade.^g

¹Then Jehoshaphat rested with his ancestors and was buried with them in the City of David. And Jehoram his son succeeded him as king. ²Jehoram's brothers, the sons of Jehoshaphat, were Azariah, Jehiel, Zechariah, Azariahu, Michael and Shephatiah. All these were sons of Jehoshaphat king of Israel. ^a ³Their father had given them many gifts of silver and gold and articles of value, as well as fortified cities in Judah, but he had given the kingdom to Jehoram because he was his firstborn son.

Jehoram King of Judah

⁴When Jehoram established himself firmly over his father's kingdom, he put all his brothers to the sword along with some of the officials of Israel. ⁵Jehoram was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem eight years. ⁶He followed the ways of the kings of Israel, as the house of Ahab had done, for he married a daughter of Ahab. He did evil in the eyes of the LORD. ⁷Nevertheless, because of the covenant the LORD had made with David, the LORD was not willing to destroy the house of David. He had promised to maintain a lamp for him and his descendants forever.

Libnah revolted at the same time, because Jehoram had forsaken the LORD, the God of his ancestors. ¹¹He had also built high places on the hills of Judah and had caused the people of Jerusalem to prostitute themselves and had led Judah astray.

¹²Jehoram received a letter from Elijah the prophet, which said:

“This is what the LORD, the God of your father David, says: ‘You have not followed the ways of your father Jehoshaphat or of Asa king of Judah. ¹³But you have followed the ways of the kings of Israel, and you have led Judah and the people of Jerusalem to prostitute themselves, just as the house of Ahab did. You have also murdered your own brothers, members of your own family, men who were better than you. ¹⁴So now the LORD is about to strike your people, your sons, your wives and everything that is yours, with a heavy blow. ¹⁵You yourself will be very ill with a lingering disease of the bowels, until the disease causes your bowels to come out.’ ”

¹⁶The LORD aroused against Jehoram the hostility of the Philistines and of the Arabs who lived near the Cushites. ¹⁷They attacked Judah, invaded it and carried off all the goods found in the king's palace, together with his sons and wives. Not a son was left to him except Ahaziah,^b the youngest.

¹⁸After all this, the LORD afflicted Jehoram with an incurable disease of the bowels. ¹⁹In the course of time, at the end of the second year, his bowels came out because of the disease, and he died in great pain. His people made no funeral fire in his honor, as they had for his predecessors.

²⁰Jehoram was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem eight years. He passed away, to no one's regret, and was buried in the City of David, but not in the tombs of the kings.

2 Chronicles 22

Ahaziah King of Judah

¹The people of Jerusalem made Ahaziah, Jehoram's youngest son, king in his place, since the raiders, who came with the Arabs into the camp, had killed all the older sons. So Ahaziah son of Jehoram king of Judah began to reign. Servanthood: Leaders Serve Their People and Their Purpose

²Ahaziah was twenty-two^a years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem one year. His mother's name was Athaliah, a granddaughter of Omri.

³He too followed the ways of the house of Ahab, for his mother encouraged him to act wickedly. ⁴He did evil in the eyes of the LORD, as the house of Ahab had done, for after his father's death they became his advisers, to his undoing. ⁵He also followed their counsel when he went with Joram^b son of Ahab king of Israel to wage war against Hazael king of Aram at Ramoth Gilead. The Arameans wounded Joram; ⁶so he returned to Jezreel to recover from the wounds they had inflicted on him at Ramoth^c in his battle with Hazael king of Aram.

Then Ahaziah^d son of Jehoram king of Judah went down to Jezreel to see Joram son of Ahab because he had been wounded.

⁷Through Ahaziah's visit to Joram, God brought about Ahaziah's downfall. When Ahaziah arrived, he went out with Joram to meet Jehu son of Nimshi, whom the LORD had anointed to destroy the house of Ahab. ⁸While Jehu was executing judgment on the house of Ahab, he found the officials of Judah and the sons of Ahaziah's relatives, who had been attending Ahaziah, and he killed them. ⁹He then went in search of Ahaziah, and his men captured him while he was hiding in Samaria. He was brought to Jehu and put to death. They buried him, for they said, "He was a son of Jehoshaphat, who sought the LORD with all his heart." So there was no one in the house of Ahaziah powerful enough to retain the kingdom.

Athaliah and Joash

¹⁰When Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, she proceeded to destroy the whole royal family of the house of Judah. ¹¹But Jehosheba,^e the daughter of King Jehoram, took Joash son of Ahaziah and stole him away from among the royal princes who were about to be murdered and put him and his nurse in a bedroom. Because Jehosheba,^f the daughter of King Jehoram and wife of the priest Jehoiada, was Ahaziah's sister, she hid the child from Athaliah so she could not kill him. ¹²He remained hidden with them at the temple of God for six years while Athaliah ruled the land. PROFILE in Leadership: Athaliah: Pursuing Power Rather Than Love

¹In the seventh year Jehoiada showed his strength. He made a covenant with the commanders of units of a hundred: Azariah son of Jeroham, Ishmael son of Jehohanan, Azariah son of Obed, Maaseiah son of Adaiah, and Elishaphat son of Zikri. ²They went throughout Judah and gathered the Levites and the heads of Israelite families from all the towns. When they came to Jerusalem, ³the whole assembly made a covenant with the king at the temple of God.

Jehoiada said to them, “The king’s son shall reign, as the LORD promised concerning the descendants of David. ⁴Now this is what you are to do: A third of you priests and Levites who are going on duty on the Sabbath are to keep watch at the doors, ⁵a third of you at the royal palace and a third at the Foundation Gate, and all the others are to be in the courtyards of the temple of the LORD. ⁶No one is to enter the temple of the LORD except the priests and Levites on duty; they may enter because they are consecrated, but all the others are to observe the LORD’s command not to enter.^a ⁷The Levites are to station themselves around the king, each with weapon in hand. Anyone who enters the temple is to be put to death. Stay close to the king wherever he goes.”

⁸The Levites and all the men of Judah did just as Jehoiada the priest ordered. Each one took his men—those who were going on duty on the Sabbath and those who were going off duty—for Jehoiada the priest had not released any of the divisions. ⁹Then he gave the commanders of units of a hundred the spears and the large and small shields that had belonged to King David and that were in the temple of God. ¹⁰He stationed all the men, each with his weapon in his hand, around the king—near the altar and the temple, from the south side to the north side of the temple.

¹²When Athaliah heard the noise of the people running and cheering the king, she went to them at the temple of the LORD. ¹³She looked, and there was the king, standing by his pillar at the entrance. The officers and the trumpeters were beside the king, and all the people of the land were rejoicing and blowing trumpets, and musicians with their instruments were leading the praises. Then Athaliah tore her robes and shouted, “Treason! Treason!”

¹⁴Jehoiada the priest sent out the commanders of units of a hundred, who were in charge of the troops, and said to them: “Bring her out between the ranks^b and put to the sword anyone who follows her.” For the priest had said, “Do not put her to death at the temple of the LORD.” ¹⁵So they seized her as she reached the entrance of the Horse Gate on the palace grounds, and there they put her to death.

¹⁶Jehoiada then made a covenant that he, the people and the king^c would be the LORD’s people. ¹⁷All the people went to the temple of Baal and tore it down. They smashed the altars and idols and killed Mattan the priest of Baal in front of the altars.

²⁰He took with him the commanders of hundreds, the nobles, the rulers of the people and all the people of the land and brought the king down from the temple of the LORD. They went into the palace through the Upper Gate and seated the king on the royal throne. ²¹All the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was calm, because Athaliah had been slain with the sword.

2 Chronicles 24

Joash Repairs the Temple

¹Joash was seven years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem forty years. His mother's name was Zibiah; she was from Beersheba. ²Joash did what was right in the eyes of the LORD all the years of Jehoiada the priest.

³Jehoiada chose two wives for him, and he had sons and daughters.

⁴Some time later Joash decided to restore the temple of the LORD. ⁵He called together the priests and Levites and said to them, "Go to the towns of Judah and collect the money due annually from all Israel, to repair the temple of your God. Do it now." But the Levites did not act at once. Motives: Why You Do Determines What You Do

⁶Therefore the king summoned Jehoiada the chief priest and said to him, "Why haven't you required the Levites to bring in from Judah and Jerusalem the tax imposed by Moses the servant of the LORD and by the assembly of Israel for the tent of the covenant law?"

⁸At the king's command, a chest was made and placed outside, at the gate of the temple of the LORD. ⁹A proclamation was then issued in Judah and Jerusalem that they should bring to the LORD the tax that Moses the servant of God had required of Israel in the wilderness. ¹⁰All the officials and all the people brought their contributions gladly, dropping them into the chest until it was full.

¹³The men in charge of the work were diligent, and the repairs progressed under them. They rebuilt the temple of God according to its original design and reinforced it. ¹⁴When they had finished, they brought the rest of the money to the king and Jehoiada, and with it were made articles for the LORD's temple: articles for the service and for the burnt offerings, and also dishes and other objects of gold and silver. As long as Jehoiada lived, burnt offerings were presented continually in the temple of the LORD.

¹⁵Now Jehoiada was old and full of years, and he died at the age of a hundred and thirty. ¹⁶He was buried with the kings in the City of David, because of the good he had done in Israel for God and his temple.

The Wickedness of Joash

¹⁷After the death of Jehoiada, the officials of Judah came and paid homage to the king, and he listened to them. ¹⁸They abandoned the temple of the LORD, the God of their ancestors, and worshiped Asherah poles and idols. Because of their guilt, God's anger came on Judah and Jerusalem. ¹⁹Although the LORD sent prophets to the people to bring them back to him, and though they testified against them, they would not listen.

²⁰Then the Spirit of God came on Zechariah son of Jehoiada the priest. He stood before the people and said, "This is what God says: 'Why do you disobey the LORD's commands? You will not prosper. Because you have forsaken the LORD, he has forsaken you.' "

²¹But they plotted against him, and by order of the king they stoned him to death in the courtyard of the LORD's temple. ²²King Joash did not remember the kindness Zechariah's father Jehoiada had shown him but killed his son, who said as he lay dying, "May the LORD see this and call you to account."

²³At the turn of the year,^a the army of Aram marched against Joash; it invaded Judah and Jerusalem and killed all the leaders of the people. They sent all the plunder to their king in Damascus. ²⁴Although the Aramean army had come with only a few men, the LORD delivered into their hands a much larger army. Because Judah had forsaken the LORD, the God of their ancestors, judgment was executed on Joash. ²⁵When the Arameans withdrew, they left Joash severely wounded. His officials conspired against him for murdering the son of Jehoiada the priest, and they killed him in his bed. So he died and was buried in the City of David, but not in the tombs of the kings.

²⁶Those who conspired against him were Zabad,^b son of Shimeath an Ammonite woman, and Jehozabad, son of Shimrith^c a Moabite woman. ²⁷The account of his sons, the many prophecies about him, and the record of the restoration of the temple of God are written in the annotations on the book of the kings. And Amaziah his son succeeded him as king.

Amaziah King of Judah

¹Amaziah was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem twenty-nine years. His mother's name was Jehoaddan; she was from Jerusalem. ²He did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, but not wholeheartedly. ³After the kingdom was firmly in his control, he executed the officials who had murdered his father the king. ⁴Yet he did not put their children to death, but acted in accordance with what is written in the Law, in the Book of Moses, where the LORD commanded: "Parents shall not be put to death for their children, nor children be put to death for their parents; each will die for their own sin."^a ⁵Amaziah called the people of Judah together and assigned them according to their families to commanders of thousands and commanders of hundreds for all Judah and Benjamin. He then mustered those twenty years old or more and found that there were three hundred thousand men fit for military service, able to handle the spear and shield. ⁶He also hired a hundred thousand fighting men from Israel for a hundred talents^b of silver.

⁷But a man of God came to him and said, "Your Majesty, these troops from Israel must not march with you, for the LORD is not with Israel—not with any of the people of Ephraim. ⁸Even if you go and fight courageously in battle, God will overthrow you before the enemy, for God has the power to help or to overthrow."

⁹Amaziah asked the man of God, "But what about the hundred talents I paid for these Israelite troops?"

The man of God replied, "The LORD can give you much more than that."

¹⁰So Amaziah dismissed the troops who had come to him from Ephraim and sent them home. They were furious with Judah and left for home in a great rage.

¹¹Amaziah then marshaled his strength and led his army to the Valley of Salt, where he killed ten thousand men of Seir. ¹²The army of Judah also captured ten thousand men alive, took them to the top of a cliff and threw them down so that all were dashed to pieces.

¹³Meanwhile the troops that Amaziah had sent back and had not allowed to take part in the war raided towns belonging to Judah from Samaria to Beth Horon. They killed three thousand people and carried off great quantities of plunder.

¹⁴When Amaziah returned from slaughtering the Edomites, he brought back the gods of the people of Seir. He set them up as his own gods, bowed down to them and burned sacrifices to them. ¹⁵The anger of the LORD burned against Amaziah, and he sent a prophet to him, who said, “Why do you consult this people’s gods, which could not save their own people from your hand?”

¹⁶While he was still speaking, the king said to him, “Have we appointed you an adviser to the king? Stop! Why be struck down?”

So the prophet stopped but said, “I know that God has determined to destroy you, because you have done this and have not listened to my counsel.”

¹⁷After Amaziah king of Judah consulted his advisers, he sent this challenge to Jehoash^c son of Jehoahaz, the son of Jehu, king of Israel: “Come, let us face each other in battle.”

¹⁸But Jehoash king of Israel replied to Amaziah king of Judah: “A thistle in Lebanon sent a message to a cedar in Lebanon, ‘Give your daughter to my son in marriage.’ Then a wild beast in Lebanon came along and trampled the thistle underfoot. ¹⁹You say to yourself that you have defeated Edom, and now you are arrogant and proud. But stay at home! Why ask for trouble and cause your own downfall and that of Judah also?”

²⁵Amaziah son of Joash king of Judah lived for fifteen years after the death of Jehoash son of Jehoahaz king of Israel. ²⁶As for the other events of Amaziah’s reign, from beginning to end, are they not written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel? ²⁷From the time that Amaziah turned away from following the LORD, they conspired against him in Jerusalem and he fled to Lachish, but they sent men after him to Lachish and killed him there. ²⁸He was brought back by horse and was buried with his ancestors in the City of Judah.^f

2 Chronicles 26

Uzziah King of Judah

¹Then all the people of Judah took Uzziah,^a who was sixteen years old, and made him king in place of his father Amaziah. ²He was the one who rebuilt Elath and restored it to Judah after Amaziah rested with his ancestors. PROFILE in Leadership: Uzziah: Built His Military, Later His Own Power

⁶He went to war against the Philistines and broke down the walls of Gath, Jabneh and Ashdod. He then rebuilt towns near Ashdod and elsewhere among the Philistines. ⁷God helped him against the Philistines and against the Arabs who lived in Gur Baal and against the Meunites. ⁸The Ammonites brought tribute to Uzziah, and his fame spread as far as the border of Egypt, because he had become very powerful.

¹¹Uzziah had a well-trained army, ready to go out by divisions according to their numbers as mustered by Jeiel the secretary and Maaseiah the officer under the direction of Hananiah, one of the royal officials. ¹²The total number of family leaders over the fighting men was 2,600. ¹³Under their command was an army of 307,500 men trained for war, a powerful force to support the king against his enemies. ¹⁴Uzziah provided shields, spears, helmets, coats of armor, bows and slingstones for the entire army. ¹⁵In Jerusalem he made devices invented for use on the towers and on the corner defenses so that soldiers could shoot arrows and hurl large stones from the walls. His fame spread far and wide, for he was greatly helped until he became powerful.

¹⁶But after Uzziah became powerful, his pride led to his downfall. He was unfaithful to the LORD his God, and entered the temple of the LORD to burn incense on the altar of incense. ¹⁷Azariah the priest with eighty other courageous priests of the LORD followed him in. ¹⁸They confronted King Uzziah and said, “It is not right for you, Uzziah, to burn incense to the LORD. That is for the priests, the descendants of Aaron, who have been consecrated to burn incense. Leave the sanctuary, for you have been unfaithful; and you will not be honored by the LORD God.”

¹⁹Uzziah, who had a censer in his hand ready to burn incense, became angry. While he was raging at the priests in their presence before the incense altar in the LORD’s temple, leprosy^c broke out on his forehead. ²⁰When Azariah the chief priest and all the other priests looked at him, they saw that he had leprosy on his forehead, so they hurried him out. Indeed, he himself was eager to leave, because the LORD had afflicted him.

²¹King Uzziah had leprosy until the day he died. He lived in a separate house^d —leprous, and banned from the temple of the LORD. Jotham his son had charge of the palace and governed the people of the land.

²²The other events of Uzziah’s reign, from beginning to end, are recorded by the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz. ²³Uzziah rested with his ancestors and was buried near them in a cemetery that belonged to the kings, for people said, “He had leprosy.” And Jotham his son succeeded him as king.

2 Chronicles 27

Jotham King of Judah

¹Jotham was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem sixteen years. His mother's name was Jerusha daughter of Zadok. ²He did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, just as his father Uzziah had done, but unlike him he did not enter the temple of the LORD. The people, however, continued their corrupt practices. ³Jotham rebuilt the Upper Gate of the temple of the LORD and did extensive work on the wall at the hill of Ophel. ⁴He built towns in the hill country of Judah and forts and towers in the wooded areas.

⁵Jotham waged war against the king of the Ammonites and conquered them. That year the Ammonites paid him a hundred talents^a of silver, ten thousand cors^b of wheat and ten thousand cors^c of barley. The Ammonites brought him the same amount also in the second and third years.

⁶Jotham grew powerful because he walked steadfastly before the LORD his God.

⁷The other events in Jotham's reign, including all his wars and the other things he did, are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah. ⁸He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem sixteen years. ⁹Jotham rested with his ancestors and was buried in the City of David. And Ahaz his son succeeded him as king.

2 Chronicles 28

Ahaz King of Judah

¹Ahaz was twenty years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem sixteen years. Unlike David his father, he did not do what was right in the eyes of the LORD. ²He followed the ways of the kings of Israel and also made idols for worshiping the Baals. ³He burned sacrifices in the Valley of Ben Hinnom and sacrificed his children in the fire, engaging in the detestable practices of the nations the LORD had driven out before the Israelites. ⁴He offered sacrifices and burned incense at the high places, on the hilltops and under every spreading tree.

He was also given into the hands of the king of Israel, who inflicted heavy casualties on him. ⁶In one day Pekah son of Remaliah killed a hundred and twenty thousand soldiers in Judah—because Judah had forsaken the LORD, the God of their ancestors. ⁷Zikri, an Ephraimite warrior, killed Maaseiah the king's son, Azrikam the officer in charge of the palace, and Elkanah, second to the king. ⁸The men of Israel took captive from their fellow Israelites who were from Judah two hundred thousand wives, sons and daughters. They also took a great deal of plunder, which they carried back to Samaria.

⁹But a prophet of the LORD named Oded was there, and he went out to meet the army when it returned to Samaria. He said to them, "Because the LORD, the God of your ancestors, was angry with Judah, he gave them into your hand. But you have slaughtered them in a rage that reaches to heaven. ¹⁰And now you intend to make the men and women of Judah and Jerusalem your slaves. But aren't you also guilty of sins against the LORD your God? ¹¹Now listen to me! Send back your fellow Israelites you have taken as prisoners, for the LORD's fierce anger rests on you."

¹²Then some of the leaders in Ephraim—Azariah son of Jehohanan, Berekiah son of Meshillemoth, Jehizkiah son of Shallum, and Amasa son of Hadlai—confronted those who were arriving from the war. ¹³"You must not bring those prisoners here," they said, "or we will be guilty before the LORD. Do you intend to add to our sin and guilt? For our guilt is already great, and his fierce anger rests on Israel."

¹⁴So the soldiers gave up the prisoners and plunder in the presence of the officials and all the assembly. ¹⁵The men designated by name took the prisoners, and from the plunder they clothed all who were naked. They provided them with clothes and sandals, food and drink, and healing balm. All those who were weak they put on donkeys. So they took them back to their fellow Israelites at Jericho, the City of Palms, and returned to Samaria.

¹⁶At that time King Ahaz sent to the kings^a of Assyria for help. ¹⁷The Edomites had again come and attacked Judah and carried away prisoners, ¹⁸while the Philistines had raided towns in the foothills and in the Negev of Judah. They captured and occupied Beth Shemesh, Aijalon and Gederoth, as well as Soko, Timnah and Gimzo, with their surrounding villages. ¹⁹The LORD had humbled Judah because of Ahaz king of Israel,^b for he had promoted wickedness in Judah and had been most unfaithful to the LORD. ²⁰Tiglath-Pileser^c king of Assyria came to him, but he gave him trouble instead of help. ²¹Ahaz took some of the things from the temple of the LORD and from the royal palace and from the officials and presented them to the king of Assyria, but that did not help him.

²²In his time of trouble King Ahaz became even more unfaithful to the LORD. ²³He offered sacrifices to the gods of Damascus, who had defeated him; for he thought, “Since the gods of the kings of Aram have helped them, I will sacrifice to them so they will help me.” But they were his downfall and the downfall of all Israel.

²⁴Ahaz gathered together the furnishings from the temple of God and cut them in pieces. He shut the doors of the LORD’s temple and set up altars at every street corner in Jerusalem. ²⁵In every town in Judah he built high places to burn sacrifices to other gods and aroused the anger of the LORD, the God of his ancestors.

²⁶The other events of his reign and all his ways, from beginning to end, are written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. ²⁷Ahaz rested with his ancestors and was buried in the city of Jerusalem, but he was not placed in the tombs of the kings of Israel. And Hezekiah his son succeeded him as king.

2 Chronicles 29

Hezekiah Purifies the Temple

¹Hezekiah was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem twenty-nine years. His mother's name was Abijah daughter of Zechariah. ²He did what was right in the eyes of the LORD, just as his father David had done. The Law of the Picture: Leaders Are Examples, Not Exceptions

³In the first month of the first year of his reign, he opened the doors of the temple of the LORD and repaired them. ⁴He brought in the priests and the Levites, assembled them in the square on the east side ⁵and said: "Listen to me, Levites! Consecrate yourselves now and consecrate the temple of the LORD, the God of your ancestors. Remove all defilement from the sanctuary. ⁶Our parents were unfaithful; they did evil in the eyes of the LORD our God and forsook him. They turned their faces away from the LORD's dwelling place and turned their backs on him. ⁷They also shut the doors of the portico and put out the lamps. They did not burn incense or present any burnt offerings at the sanctuary to the God of Israel. ⁸Therefore, the anger of the LORD has fallen on Judah and Jerusalem; he has made them an object of dread and horror and scorn, as you can see with your own eyes. ⁹This is why our fathers have fallen by the sword and why our sons and daughters and our wives are in captivity. ¹⁰Now I intend to make a covenant with the LORD, the God of Israel, so that his fierce anger will turn away from us. ¹¹My sons, do not be negligent now, for the LORD has chosen you to stand before him and serve him, to minister before him and to burn incense."

¹²Then these Levites set to work:

from the Kohathites,

Mahath son of Amasai and Joel son of Azariah;

from the Merarites,

Kish son of Abdi and Azariah son of Jehallelel;

from the Gershonites,

Joah son of Zimmah and Eden son of Joah;

¹³from the descendants of Elizaphan,

Shimri and Jeiel;

from the descendants of Asaph,

Zechariah and Mattaniah;

¹⁴from the descendants of Heman,

Jehiel and Shimei;

from the descendants of Jeduthun,

Shemaiah and Uzziel.

¹⁸Then they went in to King Hezekiah and reported: "We have purified the entire temple of the LORD, the altar of burnt offering with all its utensils, and the table for setting out the consecrated bread, with all its articles. ¹⁹We have prepared and consecrated all the articles that King Ahaz removed in his unfaithfulness while he was king. They are now in front of the LORD's altar."

²⁵He stationed the Levites in the temple of the LORD with cymbals, harps and lyres in the way prescribed by David and Gad the king's seer and Nathan the prophet; this was commanded by the LORD through his prophets. ²⁶So the Levites stood ready with David's instruments, and the priests with their trumpets.

²⁷Hezekiah gave the order to sacrifice the burnt offering on the altar. As the offering began, singing to the LORD began also, accompanied by trumpets and the instruments of David king of Israel. ²⁸The whole assembly bowed in worship, while the musicians played and the trumpets sounded. All this continued until the sacrifice of the burnt offering was completed.

²⁹When the offerings were finished, the king and everyone present with him knelt down and worshiped. ³⁰King Hezekiah and his officials ordered the Levites to praise the LORD with the words of David and of Asaph the seer. So they sang praises with gladness and bowed down and worshiped.

³¹Then Hezekiah said, “You have now dedicated yourselves to the LORD. Come and bring sacrifices and thank offerings to the temple of the LORD.” So the assembly brought sacrifices and thank offerings, and all whose hearts were willing brought burnt offerings.

³²The number of burnt offerings the assembly brought was seventy bulls, a hundred rams and two hundred male lambs—all of them for burnt offerings to the LORD. ³³The animals consecrated as sacrifices amounted to six hundred bulls and three thousand sheep and goats. ³⁴The priests, however, were too few to skin all the burnt offerings; so their relatives the Levites helped them until the task was finished and until other priests had been consecrated, for the Levites had been more conscientious in consecrating themselves than the priests had been. ³⁵There were burnt offerings in abundance, together with the fat of the fellowship offerings and the drink offerings that accompanied the burnt offerings.

So the service of the temple of the LORD was reestablished. ³⁶Hezekiah and all the people rejoiced at what God had brought about for his people, because it was done so quickly.

2 Chronicles 30

Hezekiah Celebrates the Passover

¹Hezekiah sent word to all Israel and Judah and also wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasseh, inviting them to come to the temple of the LORD in Jerusalem and celebrate the Passover to the LORD, the God of Israel. ²The king and his officials and the whole assembly in Jerusalem decided to celebrate the Passover in the second month. ³They had not been able to celebrate it at the regular time because not enough priests had consecrated themselves and the people had not assembled in Jerusalem. ⁴The plan seemed right both to the king and to the whole assembly. ⁵They decided to send a proclamation throughout Israel, from Beersheba to Dan, calling the people to come to Jerusalem and celebrate the Passover to the LORD, the God of Israel. It had not been celebrated in large numbers according to what was written.

“People of Israel, return to the LORD, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel, that he may return to you who are left, who have escaped from the hand of the kings of Assyria. ⁷Do not be like your parents and your fellow Israelites, who were unfaithful to the LORD, the God of their ancestors, so that he made them an object of horror, as you see. ⁸Do not be stiff-necked, as your ancestors were; submit to the LORD. Come to his sanctuary, which he has consecrated forever. Serve the LORD your God, so that his fierce anger will turn away from you. ⁹If you return to the LORD, then your fellow Israelites and your children will be shown compassion by their captors and will return to this land, for the LORD your God is gracious and compassionate. He will not turn his face from you if you return to him.”

¹⁰The couriers went from town to town in Ephraim and Manasseh, as far as Zebulun, but people scorned and ridiculed them. ¹¹Nevertheless, some from Asher, Manasseh and Zebulun humbled themselves and went to Jerusalem. ¹²Also in Judah the hand of God was on the people to give them unity of mind to carry out what the king and his officials had ordered, following the word of the LORD.

¹³A very large crowd of people assembled in Jerusalem to celebrate the Festival of Unleavened Bread in the second month. ¹⁴They removed the altars in Jerusalem and cleared away the incense altars and threw them into the Kidron Valley.

¹⁵They slaughtered the Passover lamb on the fourteenth day of the second month. The priests and the Levites were ashamed and consecrated themselves and brought burnt offerings to the temple of the LORD. ¹⁶Then they took up their regular positions as prescribed in the Law of Moses the man of God. The priests splashed against the altar the blood handed to them by the Levites. ¹⁷Since many in the crowd had not consecrated themselves, the Levites had to kill the Passover lambs for all those who were not ceremonially clean and could not consecrate their lambs^a to the LORD. ¹⁸Although most of the many people who came from Ephraim, Manasseh, Issachar and Zebulun had not purified themselves, yet they ate the Passover, contrary to what was written. But Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, “May the LORD, who is good, pardon everyone ¹⁹who sets their heart on seeking God—the LORD, the God of their ancestors—even if they are not clean according to the rules of the sanctuary.” ²⁰And the LORD heard Hezekiah and healed the people.

²¹The Israelites who were present in Jerusalem celebrated the Festival of Unleavened Bread for seven days with great rejoicing, while the Levites and priests praised the LORD every day with resounding instruments dedicated to the LORD.^b

²²Hezekiah spoke encouragingly to all the Levites, who showed good understanding of the service of the LORD. For the seven days they ate their assigned portion and offered fellowship offerings and praised^c the LORD, the God of their ancestors.

²³The whole assembly then agreed to celebrate the festival seven more days; so for another seven days they celebrated joyfully. ²⁴Hezekiah king of Judah provided a thousand bulls and seven thousand sheep and goats for the assembly, and the officials provided them with a thousand bulls and ten thousand sheep and goats. A great number of priests consecrated themselves. ²⁵The entire assembly of Judah rejoiced, along with the priests and Levites and all who had assembled from Israel, including the foreigners who had come from Israel and also those who resided in Judah. ²⁶There was great joy in Jerusalem, for since the days of Solomon son of David king of Israel there had been nothing like this in Jerusalem. ²⁷The priests and the Levites stood to bless the people, and God heard them, for their prayer reached heaven, his holy dwelling place.

¹When all this had ended, the Israelites who were there went out to the towns of Judah, smashed the sacred stones and cut down the Asherah poles. They destroyed the high places and the altars throughout Judah and Benjamin and in Ephraim and Manasseh. After they had destroyed all of them, the Israelites returned to their own towns and to their own property.

Contributions for Worship

²Hezekiah assigned the priests and Levites to divisions—each of them according to their duties as priests or Levites—to offer burnt offerings and fellowship offerings, to minister, to give thanks and to sing praises at the gates of the LORD’s dwelling. ³The king contributed from his own possessions for the morning and evening burnt offerings and for the burnt offerings on the Sabbaths, at the New Moons and at the appointed festivals as written in the Law of the LORD. ⁴He ordered the people living in Jerusalem to give the portion due the priests and Levites so they could devote themselves to the Law of the LORD. ⁵As soon as the order went out, the Israelites generously gave the firstfruits of their grain, new wine, olive oil and honey and all that the fields produced. They brought a great amount, a tithe of everything. ⁶The people of Israel and Judah who lived in the towns of Judah also brought a tithe of their herds and flocks and a tithe of the holy things dedicated to the LORD their God, and they piled them in heaps. ⁷They began doing this in the third month and finished in the seventh month. ⁸When Hezekiah and his officials came and saw the heaps, they praised the LORD and blessed his people Israel.

¹⁴Kore son of Imnah the Levite, keeper of the East Gate, was in charge of the freewill offerings given to God, distributing the contributions made to the LORD and also the consecrated gifts. ¹⁵Eden, Miniamin, Jeshua, Shemaiah, Amariah and Shekaniah assisted him faithfully in the towns of the priests, distributing to their fellow priests according to their divisions, old and young alike.

¹⁶In addition, they distributed to the males three years old or more whose names were in the genealogical records—all who would enter the temple of the LORD to perform the daily duties of their various tasks, according to their responsibilities and their divisions. ¹⁷And they distributed to the priests enrolled by their families in the genealogical records and likewise to the Levites twenty years old or more, according to their responsibilities and their divisions. ¹⁸They included all the little ones, the wives, and the sons and daughters of the whole community listed in these genealogical records. For they were faithful in consecrating themselves.

¹⁹As for the priests, the descendants of Aaron, who lived on the farmlands around their towns or in any other towns, men were designated by name to distribute portions to every male among them and to all who were recorded in the genealogies of the Levites.

²⁰This is what Hezekiah did throughout Judah, doing what was good and right and faithful before the LORD his God. ²¹In everything that he undertook in the service of God's temple and in obedience to the law and the commands, he sought his God and worked wholeheartedly. And so he prospered.

2 Chronicles 32

Sennacherib Threatens Jerusalem

⁹Later, when Sennacherib king of Assyria and all his forces were laying siege to Lachish, he sent his officers to Jerusalem with this message for Hezekiah king of Judah and for all the people of Judah who were there:

¹³“Do you not know what I and my predecessors have done to all the peoples of the other lands? Were the gods of those nations ever able to deliver their land from my hand? ¹⁴Who of all the gods of these nations that my predecessors destroyed has been able to save his people from me? How then can your god deliver you from my hand? ¹⁵Now do not let Hezekiah deceive you and mislead you like this. Do not believe him, for no god of any nation or kingdom has been able to deliver his people from my hand or the hand of my predecessors. How much less will your god deliver you from my hand!”

¹⁶Sennacherib’s officers spoke further against the LORD God and against his servant Hezekiah. ¹⁷The king also wrote letters ridiculing the LORD, the God of Israel, and saying this against him: “Just as the gods of the peoples of the other lands did not rescue their people from my hand, so the god of Hezekiah will not rescue his people from my hand.” ¹⁸Then they called out in Hebrew to the people of Jerusalem who were on the wall, to terrify them and make them afraid in order to capture the city. ¹⁹They spoke about the God of Jerusalem as they did about the gods of the other peoples of the world—the work of human hands.

²⁰King Hezekiah and the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz cried out in prayer to heaven about this. ²¹And the LORD sent an angel, who annihilated all the fighting men and the commanders and officers in the camp of the Assyrian king. So he withdrew to his own land in disgrace. And when he went into the temple of his god, some of his sons, his own flesh and blood, cut him down with the sword.

²²So the LORD saved Hezekiah and the people of Jerusalem from the hand of Sennacherib king of Assyria and from the hand of all others. He took care of them^c on every side. ²³Many brought offerings to Jerusalem for the LORD and valuable gifts for Hezekiah king of Judah. From then on he was highly regarded by all the nations.

Hezekiah’s Pride, Success and Death

²⁴In those days Hezekiah became ill and was at the point of death. He prayed to the LORD, who answered him and gave him a miraculous sign. ²⁵But Hezekiah’s heart was proud and he did not respond to the kindness shown him; therefore the LORD’s wrath was on him and on Judah and Jerusalem. ²⁶Then Hezekiah repented of the pride of his heart, as did the people of Jerusalem; therefore the LORD’s wrath did not come on them during the days of Hezekiah.

²⁷Hezekiah had very great wealth and honor, and he made treasuries for his silver and gold and for his precious stones, spices, shields and all kinds of valuables. ²⁸He also made buildings to store the harvest of grain, new wine and olive oil; and he made stalls for various kinds of cattle, and pens for the flocks. ²⁹He built villages and acquired great numbers of flocks and herds, for God had given him very great riches.

³⁰It was Hezekiah who blocked the upper outlet of the Gihon spring and channeled the water down to the west side of the City of David. He succeeded in everything he undertook. ³¹But when envoys were sent by the rulers of Babylon to ask him about the miraculous sign that had occurred in the land, God left him to test him and to know everything that was in his heart.

³²The other events of Hezekiah's reign and his acts of devotion are written in the vision of the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. ³³Hezekiah rested with his ancestors and was buried on the hill where the tombs of David's descendants are. All Judah and the people of Jerusalem honored him when he died. And Manasseh his son succeeded him as king.

2 Chronicles 33

Manasseh King of Judah

¹Manasseh was twelve years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem fifty-five years. ²He did evil in the eyes of the LORD, following the detestable practices of the nations the LORD had driven out before the Israelites. ³He rebuilt the high places his father Hezekiah had demolished; he also erected altars to the Baals and made Asherah poles. He bowed down to all the starry hosts and worshiped them. ⁴He built altars in the temple of the LORD, of which the LORD had said, “My Name will remain in Jerusalem forever.” ⁵In both courts of the temple of the LORD, he built altars to all the starry hosts. ⁶He sacrificed his children in the fire in the Valley of Ben Hinnom, practiced divination and witchcraft, sought omens, and consulted mediums and spiritists. He did much evil in the eyes of the LORD, arousing his anger.

⁷He took the image he had made and put it in God’s temple, of which God had said to David and to his son Solomon, “In this temple and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, I will put my Name forever. ⁸I will not again make the feet of the Israelites leave the land I assigned to your ancestors, if only they will be careful to do everything I commanded them concerning all the laws, decrees and regulations given through Moses.” ⁹But Manasseh led Judah and the people of Jerusalem astray, so that they did more evil than the nations the LORD had destroyed before the Israelites.

¹⁴Afterward he rebuilt the outer wall of the City of David, west of the Gihon spring in the valley, as far as the entrance of the Fish Gate and encircling the hill of Ophel; he also made it much higher. He stationed military commanders in all the fortified cities in Judah.

¹⁵He got rid of the foreign gods and removed the image from the temple of the LORD, as well as all the altars he had built on the temple hill and in Jerusalem; and he threw them out of the city. ¹⁶Then he restored the altar of the LORD and sacrificed fellowship offerings and thank offerings on it, and told Judah to serve the LORD, the God of Israel. ¹⁷The people, however, continued to sacrifice at the high places, but only to the LORD their God.

¹⁸The other events of Manasseh's reign, including his prayer to his God and the words the seers spoke to him in the name of the LORD, the God of Israel, are written in the annals of the kings of Israel.^a ¹⁹His prayer and how God was moved by his entreaty, as well as all his sins and unfaithfulness, and the sites where he built high places and set up Asherah poles and idols before he humbled himself—all these are written in the records of the seers.^b ²⁰Manasseh rested with his ancestors and was buried in his palace. And Amon his son succeeded him as king.

Amon King of Judah

²¹Amon was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem two years. ²²He did evil in the eyes of the LORD, as his father Manasseh had done. Amon worshiped and offered sacrifices to all the idols Manasseh had made. ²³But unlike his father Manasseh, he did not humble himself before the LORD; Amon increased his guilt.

²⁴Amon's officials conspired against him and assassinated him in his palace. ²⁵Then the people of the land killed all who had plotted against King Amon, and they made Josiah his son king in his place.

2 Chronicles 34

Josiah's Reforms

¹Josiah was eight years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem thirty-one years. ²He did what was right in the eyes of the LORD and followed the ways of his father David, not turning aside to the right or to the left.

³In the eighth year of his reign, while he was still young, he began to seek the God of his father David. In his twelfth year he began to purge Judah and Jerusalem of high places, Asherah poles and idols. ⁴Under his direction the altars of the Baals were torn down; he cut to pieces the incense altars that were above them, and smashed the Asherah poles and the idols. These he broke to pieces and scattered over the graves of those who had sacrificed to them. ⁵He burned the bones of the priests on their altars, and so he purged Judah and Jerusalem. ⁶In the towns of Manasseh, Ephraim and Simeon, as far as Naphtali, and in the ruins around them, ⁷he tore down the altars and the Asherah poles and crushed the idols to powder and cut to pieces all the incense altars throughout Israel. Then he went back to Jerusalem.

⁸In the eighteenth year of Josiah's reign, to purify the land and the temple, he sent Shaphan son of Azaliah and Maaseiah the ruler of the city, with Joah son of Joahaz, the recorder, to repair the temple of the LORD his God.

⁹They went to Hilkiah the high priest and gave him the money that had been brought into the temple of God, which the Levites who were the gatekeepers had collected from the people of Manasseh, Ephraim and the entire remnant of Israel and from all the people of Judah and Benjamin and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

¹⁰Then they entrusted it to the men appointed to supervise the work on the LORD's temple. These men paid the workers who repaired and restored the temple. ¹¹They also gave money to the carpenters and builders to purchase dressed stone, and timber for joists and beams for the buildings that the kings of Judah had allowed to fall into ruin.

¹²The workers labored faithfully. Over them to direct them were Jahath and Obadiah, Levites descended from Merari, and Zechariah and Meshullam, descended from Kohath. The Levites—all who were skilled in playing musical instruments—¹³had charge of the laborers and supervised all the workers from job to job. Some of the Levites were secretaries, scribes and gatekeepers.

The Book of the Law Found

¹⁴While they were bringing out the money that had been taken into the temple of the LORD, Hilkiah the priest found the Book of the Law of the LORD that had been given through Moses. ¹⁵Hilkiah said to Shaphan the secretary, “I have found the Book of the Law in the temple of the LORD.” He gave it to Shaphan.

¹⁶Then Shaphan took the book to the king and reported to him: “Your officials are doing everything that has been committed to them. ¹⁷They have paid out the money that was in the temple of the LORD and have entrusted it to the supervisors and workers.” ¹⁸Then Shaphan the secretary informed the king, “Hilkiah the priest has given me a book.” And Shaphan read from it in the presence of the king.

²²Hilkiah and those the king had sent with him^b went to speak to the prophet Huldah, who was the wife of Shallum son of Tokhath,^c the son of Hasrah,^d keeper of the wardrobe. She lived in Jerusalem, in the New Quarter.

²³She said to them, “This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: Tell the man who sent you to me, ²⁴‘This is what the LORD says: I am going to bring disaster on this place and its people—all the curses written in the book that has been read in the presence of the king of Judah. ²⁵Because they have forsaken me and burned incense to other gods and aroused my anger by all that their hands have made,^e my anger will be poured out on this place and will not be quenched.’ ²⁶Tell the king of Judah, who sent you to inquire of the LORD, ‘This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says concerning the words you heard: ²⁷Because your heart was responsive and you humbled yourself before God when you heard what he spoke against this place and its people, and because you humbled yourself before me and tore your robes and wept in my presence, I have heard you, declares the LORD. ²⁸Now I will gather you to your ancestors, and you will be buried in peace. Your eyes will not see all the disaster I am going to bring on this place and on those who live here.’ ”

So they took her answer back to the king.

²⁹Then the king called together all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem. ³⁰He went up to the temple of the LORD with the people of Judah, the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the priests and the Levites—all the people from the least to the greatest. He read in their hearing all the words of the Book of the Covenant, which had been found in the temple of the LORD. ³¹The king stood by his pillar and renewed the covenant in the presence of the LORD—to follow the LORD and keep his commands, statutes and decrees with all his heart and all his soul, and to obey the words of the covenant written in this book.

³²Then he had everyone in Jerusalem and Benjamin pledge themselves to it; the people of Jerusalem did this in accordance with the covenant of God, the God of their ancestors.

³³Josiah removed all the detestable idols from all the territory belonging to the Israelites, and he had all who were present in Israel serve the LORD their God. As long as he lived, they did not fail to follow the LORD, the God of their ancestors.

2 Chronicles 35

Josiah Celebrates the Passover

¹Josiah celebrated the Passover to the LORD in Jerusalem, and the Passover lamb was slaughtered on the fourteenth day of the first month. ²He appointed the priests to their duties and encouraged them in the service of the LORD's temple. ³He said to the Levites, who instructed all Israel and who had been consecrated to the LORD: "Put the sacred ark in the temple that Solomon son of David king of Israel built. It is not to be carried about on your shoulders. Now serve the LORD your God and his people Israel. ⁴Prepare yourselves by families in your divisions, according to the instructions written by David king of Israel and by his son Solomon.

⁸His officials also contributed voluntarily to the people and the priests and Levites. Hilkiah, Zechariah and Jehiel, the officials in charge of God's temple, gave the priests twenty-six hundred Passover offerings and three hundred cattle. ⁹Also Konaniah along with Shemaiah and Nethanel, his brothers, and Hashabiah, Jeiel and Jozabad, the leaders of the Levites, provided five thousand Passover offerings and five hundred head of cattle for the Levites.

¹⁰The service was arranged and the priests stood in their places with the Levites in their divisions as the king had ordered. ¹¹The Passover lambs were slaughtered, and the priests splashed against the altar the blood handed to them, while the Levites skinned the animals. ¹²They set aside the burnt offerings to give them to the subdivisions of the families of the people to offer to the LORD, as it is written in the Book of Moses. They did the same with the cattle. ¹³They roasted the Passover animals over the fire as prescribed, and boiled the holy offerings in pots, caldrons and pans and served them quickly to all the people. ¹⁴After this, they made preparations for themselves and for the priests, because the priests, the descendants of Aaron, were sacrificing the burnt offerings and the fat portions until nightfall. So the Levites made preparations for themselves and for the Aaronic priests.

¹⁶So at that time the entire service of the LORD was carried out for the celebration of the Passover and the offering of burnt offerings on the altar of the LORD, as King Josiah had ordered. ¹⁷The Israelites who were present celebrated the Passover at that time and observed the Festival of Unleavened Bread for seven days. ¹⁸The Passover had not been observed like this in Israel since the days of the prophet Samuel; and none of the kings of Israel had ever celebrated such a Passover as did Josiah, with the priests, the Levites and all Judah and Israel who were there with the people of Jerusalem. ¹⁹This Passover was celebrated in the eighteenth year of Josiah's reign.

The Death of Josiah

²⁰After all this, when Josiah had set the temple in order, Necho king of Egypt went up to fight at Carchemish on the Euphrates, and Josiah marched out to meet him in battle. ²¹But Necho sent messengers to him, saying, “What quarrel is there, king of Judah, between you and me? It is not you I am attacking at this time, but the house with which I am at war. God has told me to hurry; so stop opposing God, who is with me, or he will destroy you.”

²²Josiah, however, would not turn away from him, but disguised himself to engage him in battle. He would not listen to what Necho had said at God’s command but went to fight him on the plain of Megiddo.

²³Archers shot King Josiah, and he told his officers, “Take me away; I am badly wounded.” ²⁴So they took him out of his chariot, put him in his other chariot and brought him to Jerusalem, where he died. He was buried in the tombs of his ancestors, and all Judah and Jerusalem mourned for him.

²⁵Jeremiah composed laments for Josiah, and to this day all the male and female singers commemorate Josiah in the laments. These became a tradition in Israel and are written in the Laments.

²⁶The other events of Josiah’s reign and his acts of devotion in accordance with what is written in the Law of the LORD— ²⁷all the events, from beginning to end, are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah.

2 Chronicles 36

¹And the people of the land took Jehoahaz son of Josiah and made him king in Jerusalem in place of his father.

Jehoahaz King of Judah

²Jehoahaz^a was twenty-three years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem three months. ³The king of Egypt dethroned him in Jerusalem and imposed on Judah a levy of a hundred talents^b of silver and a talent^c of gold. ⁴The king of Egypt made Eliakim, a brother of Jehoahaz, king over Judah and Jerusalem and changed Eliakim's name to Jehoiakim. But Necho took Eliakim's brother Jehoahaz and carried him off to Egypt.

Jehoiakim King of Judah

⁵Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem eleven years. He did evil in the eyes of the LORD his God. ⁶Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon attacked him and bound him with bronze shackles to take him to Babylon. ⁷Nebuchadnezzar also took to Babylon articles from the temple of the LORD and put them in his temple^d there.

⁸The other events of Jehoiakim's reign, the detestable things he did and all that was found against him, are written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah. And Jehoiachin his son succeeded him as king.

Jehoiachin King of Judah

⁹Jehoiachin was eighteen^e years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem three months and ten days. He did evil in the eyes of the LORD. ¹⁰In the spring, King Nebuchadnezzar sent for him and brought him to Babylon, together with articles of value from the temple of the LORD, and he made Jehoiachin's uncle,^f Zedekiah, king over Judah and Jerusalem.

Zedekiah King of Judah

¹¹Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem eleven years. ¹²He did evil in the eyes of the LORD his God and did not humble himself before Jeremiah the prophet, who spoke the word of the LORD. ¹³He also rebelled against King Nebuchadnezzar, who had made him take an oath in God's name. He became stiff-necked and hardened his heart and would not turn to the LORD, the God of Israel. ¹⁴Furthermore, all the leaders of the priests and the people became more and more unfaithful, following all the detestable practices of the nations and defiling the temple of the LORD, which he had consecrated in Jerusalem.

The Fall of Jerusalem

¹⁵The LORD, the God of their ancestors, sent word to them through his messengers again and again, because he had pity on his people and on his dwelling place. ¹⁶But they mocked God's messengers, despised his words and scoffed at his prophets until the wrath of the LORD was aroused against his people and there was no remedy. ¹⁷He brought up against them the king of the Babylonians,^g who killed their young men with the sword in the sanctuary, and did not spare young men or young women, the elderly or the infirm. God gave them all into the hands of Nebuchadnezzar. ¹⁸He carried to Babylon all the articles from the temple of God, both large and small, and the treasures of the LORD's temple and the treasures of the king and his officials. ¹⁹They set fire to God's temple and broke down the wall of Jerusalem; they burned all the palaces and destroyed everything of value there.

²⁰He carried into exile to Babylon the remnant, who escaped from the sword, and they became servants to him and his successors until the kingdom of Persia came to power. ²¹The land enjoyed its sabbath rests; all the time of its desolation it rested, until the seventy years were completed in fulfillment of the word of the LORD spoken by Jeremiah.

²²In the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, in order to fulfill the word of the LORD spoken by Jeremiah, the LORD moved the heart of Cyrus king of Persia to make a proclamation throughout his realm and also to put it in writing:

²³"This is what Cyrus king of Persia says:

“ ‘The LORD, the God of heaven, has given me all the kingdoms of the earth and he has appointed me to build a temple for him at Jerusalem in Judah. Any of his people among you may go up, and may the LORD their God be with them.’ ”

The Law of Priorities: Solomon Gets It All

2 Chronicles 1:3–12

Every leader must establish a list of priorities, then learn to put first things first. Second Chronicles begins with a lesson in priorities.

When Solomon became king of Israel, he was given the opportunity to ask God for anything. Instead of requesting riches or fame, he asked for wisdom to lead his people well. Good answer! God responded by rewarding him not only with the thing he asked for, but also with all the benefits he didn't request.

This incident illustrates how effective prioritizing often works. When you put first things first, you frequently gain the time for nonessentials. Solomon narrowed his wedge, and got it all. No doubt, King Solomon faced the same options we have today:

1. Easy Things First: He could've chosen to focus on the easy tasks ahead of him.
2. Fun Things First: He could've chosen to focus on riches or fame.
3. Urgent Things First: He could've asked for help in building the temple.
4. Hard Things First: He could've sought favor with those who didn't like him.
5. First Things First: Instead, he chose to seek wisdom so he could glorify God.

The Law of Navigation: Solomon Commits Himself to Excellence

2 Chronicles 2:1—6:42

Solomon saw to it that excellence controlled both the design and construction of the temple. He committed himself to excellence every step of the way, including hidden areas. If you were to ask him, "Why bother with the details of an area that no one would ever see? Who would know whether it was done right or not?" he would respond, "I would know and God would know."

Leaders who model a commitment to excellence reap great rewards, and their people tend to emulate that same concern. Look at how Solomon's commitment to excellence shows up:

Chapter	Subject	Commitment to Excellence
2	Preparation of temple	He offers sacrifices daily consecrating the work.
3	Design and dimensions	He specifies exact sizes and decorations in rooms.
4	Furnishings	He furnishes it with extravagant accessories.
5	The ark	He takes great care transporting the ark.
6	The dedication	He models godly motives for building a temple.

Solomon: Blessed by God to Bless the Nations

2 Chronicles 9:1–23

Before he careened off course in his later years, Solomon began to fulfill God's dream of blessing the nations through the nation of Israel. When leaders from the surrounding countries heard of his great wisdom, they hopped aboard their camels and made the long trek to Jerusalem to see whether the reports could be trusted. The Queen of Sheba spoke for these wide-eyed visitors when she said, "Praise be to the LORD your God, who has delighted in you and placed you on his throne as king to rule for the LORD your God" (2Ch 9:8).

After the queen saw Solomon's splendor, he sent her away with much more than she brought (9:12). So she returned to her own land, blessed by God. Many other interested leaders visited Solomon after she left (9:23).

Centuries later, the Lord Jesus Christ would tell his followers that what they had received freely, they should freely give (Mt 10:8). Solomon had asked for godly wisdom that he might rule in a way pleasing to God. The Lord freely gave him that wisdom, so he freely shared it with others—in his words, in his music, and in his writings.

Effective, godly leadership means giving what you have so that God may be glorified in all you do. What you have freely received, freely give—and so bless others.

Rehoboam Violates the Law of Intuition and Pays

2 Chronicles 10:1–17

Rehoboam, the successor to Solomon, knew little about good leadership. Instead of sizing up his situation and culture, he went on a power trip. He failed to discern, listen or follow wise counsel from those who could help him most—and lost more than half of the kingdom.

Rehoboam and the Law of the Inner Circle

2 Chronicles 10:6–8

Be careful what kind of inner circle you choose! King Rehoboam had the benefit of his father's inner circle, men who gave him wise counsel. But the foolish young king rejected their advice and instead looked for advice that agreed with his own opinion. Horrible move! He should have gone with a core team who possessed the qualities of a solid inner circle:

1. Experience: People who have been down the road of life and understand it.
2. Heart for God: People who place God first and uphold his values.
3. Objectivity: People who see the pros and cons of the issues.
4. Love for people: People who love others and value them more than things.
5. Complementary gifts: People who bring diverse gifts to the relationship.
6. Loyalty to the leader: People who truly love and are concerned for the leader.

21 Qualities

LISTENING | Rehoboam Fails to Listen to the Right People

2 Chronicles 10:15

KING REHOBAM'S dysfunctional leadership split the nation of Israel in two. His hunger for power, unreasonable demands, poor decision making and lack of compassion for those who worked under him all conspired to doom his leadership. But probably the root of his problem can be found in 2 Chronicles 10:15: "So the king did not listen to the people . . ."

Listening is one of the 21 Indispensable Qualities of a Leader. Leaders must listen for two reasons:

1. to connect with others, and
2. to learn from others.

President Woodrow Wilson said, "The ear of the leader must ring with the voices of the people." What's more, a good leader encourages followers to tell him what he needs to know, not what he wants to hear. Sometimes 50 percent of your leadership involves simple listening. So why did Rehoboam fail at this simple task?

1. Narrow Vision

The people promised to serve him if he lightened their load; he didn't see it.

2. Poor Decision-Making Skills

He wavered on what to do about their request and told them to come back later.

3. Self-Centered Focus

He rejected wise counsel after deciding it didn't match his desires.

4. Demanding and Impatient Style

He promised to make life tougher, not easier, for his people.

We learn from King Rehoboam the difference between "hearing" and "listening." Hearing is a function of the ears; the king heard all the spoken words. Listening, however, is a function of the will; leaders listen to connect and to learn. Rehoboam failed to do both, as he refused to listen to history, his followers, the wise counsel of his staff, and to God.

Certainly we cannot listen to everyone—far too many opposing voices and views cry out for that. So to whom should leaders be listening? Listen especially well to the following:

1. Your Followers

Good leaders take the time to get a feel for each team member as a person.

2. Your Customers

Good leaders make it a priority to keep in contact with those they serve.

3. Your Competitors

Good leaders don't imitate the competition, but they listen in order to learn from the encounter.

4. Your Mentors

No leader can afford to be without a mentor's insight.

5. Your Inner Circle

Leaders must listen to those closest to them to confirm the pulse of the organization.

Vision: Abijah Learns the Right Vision, Gets the Right Results

2 Chronicles 13:1–18

An unusual king named Abijah reminds us that the right vision at the right time brings the right results.

Abijah followed Rehoboam as king of Judah. He tried to warn the leaders of Israel (the northern kingdom) against their folly in rebelling against the Lord. He cast the vision, reminded them of their heritage and encouraged them to follow it. "God is with us," he said. "He is our leader. His priests with their trumpets will sound the battle cry against you. People of Israel, do not fight against the LORD, the God of your ancestors, for you will not succeed" (2Ch 13:12).

When king Jeroboam refused to listen, God honored Abijah and delivered him from Jeroboam's ambush. That day 500,000 enemy soldiers fell on the battlefield. Abijah's vision led to his victory. Consider this:

- The wrong vision at the wrong time = Disaster
- The wrong vision at the right time = Mistake
- The right vision at the wrong time = Blunder
- The right vision at the right time = Success

Asa: The Difficulty of Finishing Well

2 Chronicles 15:1—16:13

King Asa is one of many Old Testament kings who failed to finish well. At the beginning of his time of leadership he discovered this timeless principle: The Lord is with you when you are with him (2Ch 15:2). Immediately after the king learned this truth from the prophet Azariah, he initiated sweeping national reforms. After several years, however, he returned to his old leadership patterns and relied on men instead of God (16:7–12). When God’s prophet warned him against this pattern, he grew angry and imprisoned him. He also “brutally oppressed some of the people” (16:10). Asa eventually died, a hollow leader who failed to finish well.

Asa stands with the majority who fail to finish well. Often, the pattern of failure stems from secret sin in the leader’s life. Look at how this worked with David and Solomon:

David

1. Anointed king
2. Mighty warrior
3. Musician of the Lord
4. Faithful, loyal man
5. Great leader who made preparations for the temple

Tragic Ending

1. Disloyal to his men
2. Committed adultery
3. Committed murder
4. Tried to cover his sins
5. Brought judgment on family

Solomon

1. Anointed king
2. Humble person of prayer
3. Temple builder
4. Greatest wealth and wisdom
5. Authored proverbs and songs

Tragic Ending

1. Turned his heart from God
2. Became idol worshiper
3. Bought into vain philosophy
4. Selfishly sinned against the Lord
5. Sought to kill Jeroboam

Compromise: Sometimes There’s No Room for Tolerance

2 Chronicles 18:1–31

There are times when tolerance cannot be tolerated. King Jehoshaphat formed an alliance with King Ahab of Israel to fight a common enemy, failing to understand that when you partner with an immoral or deceitful leader, you are asking for trouble. Moral failure impacts every part of leadership.

Jehoshaphat: Finished Poorly by Forming Destructive Alliances

2 Chronicles 20:1–37

King Jehoshaphat of Judah handled a major national crisis the way any great leader should: by leading his people to God in prayer.

Judah faced almost certain defeat. A great army of Moabites, Ammonites and others stood poised to attack. The badly outnumbered forces of Judah stared destruction in the face and trembled over their fate. In his most desperate hour, the king called his people from all over Judah to pray in Jerusalem for national deliverance. “We have no power to face this vast army that is attacking us,” he admitted to God. “We do not know what to do, but our eyes are on you” (2Ch 20:12).

The Lord answered Jehoshaphat’s prayers and miraculously delivered his people from death—and he did so without one soldier of Judah marching off to battle.

Sadly, the king did not spend all his years on the throne expressing such great faith. Late in his reign, Jehoshaphat allowed pagan influences to corrupt his people. He also made an unwise alliance with King Ahaziah of Israel, a wicked man who worshiped Baal (20:33, 35).

Jehoshaphat somehow forgot that God calls leaders not only to begin a race, but to finish it. That is the only way to stand in the winner’s circle at heaven’s reward ceremonies.

RESPONSIBILITY | Leaders Cannot Give It Away

2 Chronicles 20:1–25

A LEADER can delegate anything except responsibility. Leaders simply cannot give it away. They can model it; they can teach it; they can share it. But in the words of President Harry Truman, the buck stops with the leader.

Responsibility—“the ability to meet obligations; the act of being accountable; a duty of trust”—is one of the 21 Indispensable Qualities of a Leader. It’s the ability to make and keep commitments.

When Jehoshaphat became king of Judah, he assumed a trust. Like all kings, he was to lead the people, protect the people, and manage the resources of the nation. Second Chronicles 20 records his greatest challenge to that point in his leadership. An army from three countries laid plans to attack Judah. Reports of their activity frightened the king (2Ch 20:3). No doubt, he faced the same options we all face in a crisis: give up, back up, or stand up. At such times we find out the quality of our leadership:

1. The dropouts: leaders who give up and fail to take responsibility.
2. The cop-outs: leaders who make excuses for why they aren't responsible.
3. The hold-outs: leaders who waiver too long to take responsibility.
4. The all-outs: leaders who own the responsibility and take action.

What Steps Did Jehoshaphat Take?

Second Chronicles 20 provides us with a beautiful story of a human leader who did what was right. Consider the appropriate steps he took:

1. He fought his fear (vv. 2–3).
Jehoshaphat was terrified, but he didn't let it paralyze him. He stayed calm enough to think.
2. He sought the Lord (vv. 3, 6–13).
Before he did anything else, he sought perspective by praying and seeking wisdom from God.
3. He brought the synergy (vv. 3–4).
He didn't act alone, but gathered the people to inform them of the issue.
4. He caught the vision (vv. 14–17).
He listened to the voice of the Lord until he knew what to do.
5. He bought the idea (vv. 18–19).
He bowed his head and began to embrace the steps he and his nation had to take.
6. He taught the plan (vv. 20–23).
He assembled the key players and gave them instructions on what each had to do.
7. He got the victory (vv. 24–25).
He followed through with precision and succeeded, just as God predicted.

Servanthood: Leaders Serve Their People and Their Purpose

2 Chronicles 22:1–9

What impact can godless character have on leaders and nations? We find out in the life of King Ahaziah.

The young king and several other political and military leaders lost their lives and their positions through a self-centered pursuit of power. This chapter is a negative example of a positive truth, the Law of Addition: Leaders are to add value, not take it away. These leaders forgot that they must serve their people and their purpose. Leaders are not given authority to better themselves, to enlarge their income or social status, or to improve their standard of living. They are first and always servants of others.

This biblical idea appears throughout the Scripture, but finds special emphasis in the Gospels through the teaching of Jesus Christ. Consider what our Lord teaches us about servant leadership:

Human Economy

1. Pursuit of power and prestige
2. Improve wealth and status of the leader
3. See others as enemies and competitors
4. Motive is to remove or kill opposition
5. The result: the leader is glorified

God's Economy

1. Pursuit of love and service to others
2. Improve the welfare of the people
3. See others as brothers who complement
4. Motive is to meet needs and grow the cause
5. The result: God is glorified

Athaliah: Pursuing Power Rather Than Love

2 Chronicles 22:10—23:15

Some leaders step into positions of power out of love and a sense of mission. Others seek leadership merely to gain power over others and to revel in a smug feeling of superiority. Normally it doesn't take long to determine which sort of leader you've got.

It took no time at all to decide in the case of Athaliah.

As soon as she heard that her son, King Ahaziah, had been killed by Jehu, "she proceeded to destroy the whole royal family of the house of Judah" (2Ch 22:10)—including all her grandsons. She missed only one, Joash, who escaped her murderous rampage only when a godly young woman named Jehosheba hid him in the house of God for six years. Athaliah did not care in the slightest that God had promised his people that the Messiah would come through the royal line of David.

This is a picture of a leader so thirsty for power that she would do anything to attain and hold her illegitimate title—including murdering her own kin. Athaliah ruled over Judah for seven years. In the end, the people violently removed her from power (23:12–15).

Queen Athaliah is an extreme example of a leader motivated not by love, but by power, prestige and position. It never takes long to spot the difference.

Motives: Why You Do Determines What You Do

2 Chronicles 24:4–18

As a young man, Joash committed himself to restoring the temple. He remained true as long as the high priest Jehoiada was alive. When Jehoiada died, however, the king abandoned the temple and worshiped idols. Why we do something ultimately determines what we do.

Uzziah: Built His Military, Later His Own Power

2 Chronicles 26:1–23

The ancient kings of Israel and Judah died centuries ago, yet like all leaders, the choices they made nearly always reflected their true character. Uzziah's reign mirrored that of Asa, Josiah and Amaziah—it began very strong and ended in disgrace.

In the early years, Uzziah displayed strong, godly leadership skills. The Lord blessed him with military success. During this time, his inner circle included a godly spiritual counselor, Zechariah, who exerted significant influence for good. Uzziah sought after God, and the Lord prospered him.

As Uzziah's kingdom and wealth increased, however, he lost focus. His priorities shifted to personal success and fame rather than the things that delighted God's heart. His eyes drifted from God, and sin blinded his actions.

Like many highly successful leaders, Uzziah developed an attitude of superiority. He exhibited an astonishing lack of discernment when he usurped the priestly role by offering incense in the temple. A raw desire for power consumed his soul, and the king intentionally stepped out of his God-ordained role. As a result, Uzziah left a legacy of disgrace. The Word of God says of him: "King Uzziah had leprosy until the day he died. He lived in a separate house—leprous, and banned from the temple of the LORD" (2Ch 26:21). A sad ending to a promising start.

The Law of the Picture: Leaders Are Examples, Not Exceptions

2 Chronicles 29:1–36

Far too often, leaders drift. Once they get some experience under their belt and a track record of accomplishments, they often abandon the lifestyle that helped them reach the top. They chafe under the very rules that they established or endorsed. They continue to call the people to follow them, but they see themselves as exceptions to the rules, not examples of keeping the rules.

Sadly, leaders like these forget the Law of the Picture: People do what people see. If they want to succeed, leaders must incarnate the life they desire in their followers.

Hezekiah teaches us this principle. He inherited an unholy mess left by his father, King Ahaz. He repaired the temple, restored legitimate worship, removed the idols, repented for the people, and required a change in the land. Once the population saw his example of worship, they followed suit.

Second Chronicles 29 ends with these wonderful words: "Hezekiah and all the people rejoiced at what God had brought about for his people, because it was done so quickly" (v. 36). These events took place so quickly not only because of a sovereign God who replaced Ahaz with the king's godly son, but because Hezekiah modeled the life he expected of others.

Commitment: Hezekiah Has What It Takes

2 Chronicles 31:20–21

The Bible describes King Hezekiah as a leader who did “what was good and right and faithful before the LORD his God. In everything that he undertook in the service of God’s temple and in obedience to the law and the commands, he sought his God and worked wholeheartedly. And so he prospered” (2Ch 31:20–21).

Hezekiah paid the price to get the job done. But what is the price of commitment?

1. Change of lifestyle: Hezekiah couldn’t live the way his father lived.
2. Loneliness: Hezekiah stepped out in obedience, alone at first.
3. Faith in God: Hezekiah believed that God would bless his efforts.
4. Criticism: Hezekiah weathered the harsh questions of an older generation.
5. Hard work and money: The king gave up time, energy, and budget to reach his goal.
6. Daily discipline: Hezekiah had to instill a daily regimen to bring about reform.
7. Constant pressure: The king endured the pressure of potential failure and misunderstanding.

Josiah: Personal Repentance Precedes Public Reform

2 Chronicles 34:3–33

As the leader goes, so go the people. Over and over in the history of Israel, we see that pattern repeated—for both evil and good.

When young King Josiah heard the words of God’s long-forgotten law, sorrow gripped his heart (2Ch 34:8, 15, 19–21). He tore his clothes in repentance and directed several godly men to petition the Lord to see what he needed to do.

For years already Josiah had busied himself doing everything he could to purify the kingdom from idolatry. He had ordered images of Baal, altars to false gods, and other religious shrines destroyed. He even burned the bones of deceased pagan priests over their altars. And then he turned his attention toward purifying and renovating the temple.

God saw the repentant heart of Judah’s king and told Josiah that he would withhold his wrath against the people until after Josiah had died. The genuine repentance of this godly leader led to changes in behavior among the people of Judah. They, too, renewed their covenant with the God of their ancestors. And for the rest of Josiah’s life, the people stayed devoted to the Lord and his law.

Such is the power of a leader modeling godliness. As the leader goes, so go the people—for good or for evil.

21 Laws

JOSIAH AND THE LAW OF VICTORY

Leaders Find a Way for the Team to Win

2 Chronicles 34:3—35:19

HAVE YOU ever thought about what separates the leaders who achieve victory from those who suffer defeat? What does it take to be a winner? Victorious leaders share an inability to accept defeat. The alternative to winning seems totally unacceptable to them, so they figure out what must be done to achieve victory, and then they go after it with everything at their disposal.

Leaders who practice the Law of Victory believe that anything less than success is unacceptable. And they have no Plan B. That keeps them fighting.

• • • • •

Winning is an inside job. The team that achieves victory is the one that first wins its internal battles. And the first one to face and win these internal battles is the leader.

Achieving a Personal Victory

How does a leader seek victory over self? Consider how Josiah conquered himself:

1. He remained open and teachable. Leaders who remain willing to learn and open to change put themselves in a position to win. Josiah demonstrated that kind of openness and teachability. As a 16-year-old, instead of trying to convince everyone that he knew it all, he humbled himself. He departed from the ways of his arrogant father and sought God.

2. He removed obstacles carried forward from the past. All leaders have to deal with baggage. One way or another, a leader has to win battles involving past problems. For Josiah, a major battle involved idol worship, a problem since the time of King Solomon. He courageously swept the country clean of idols. As you seek victory in your organization, you must face and overcome problems from the past. They may be ineffective traditions, incompetent players who need to be released, errors in judgment, or unrepented-of sins. Whatever they are, you must find the courage to face and resolve them.

3. He realized what he needed to give and gave it. Victory always carries a personal cost. For Josiah, that meant repairing the temple and reinstating the Passover. Out of his own holdings, he gave 30,000 lambs and young goats and 3,000 cattle to be sacrificed (2Ch 35:7, 18).

4. He recognized the key to victory. Every leader must find the key to victory. For Josiah, that key was repentance. After the Book of the Law was discovered and read, he genuinely repented of his own sins and of those of his people, then prompted his countrymen to follow his lead. Every leadership situation contains a key to victory. If you are the leader, you must find that key and turn it.

5. He retained a personal commitment to succeed. People never become more committed than their leader. Josiah's personal commitment inspired the people to be faithful despite their evil desires and history (2Ch 34:31). If members of an organization discover they have greater commitment than their leaders, they will find another organization with another leader.

Helping Others Break Through for Victory

If you're fighting the necessary inside battles, you are putting yourself in the best place to lead your team to victory. But that may not be enough. For your organization to reach the next level, your people need their own breakthroughs. Here's a good way to help them achieve their own triumphs:

1. Understand breakthrough timing. There are three prime times for leading people to a breakthrough. People are ripe for a change when . . .

- they hurt enough that they need a breakthrough.
- they learn enough that they want a breakthrough.
- they receive enough that they are able to break through.

Provide your people with learning opportunities, give them resources and encouragement, and pay attention to where they are mentally, spiritually, and emotionally. Then, when they're ready, give a little nudge to help them over the hump.

2. Pray for a breakthrough. The best thing you can do for your people is to pray for them. The eminent evangelist John Wesley observed, "God does nothing but in answer to prayer." Ask God for a breakthrough. Then ask God to help you do your part, to reveal to the people their part, and to fulfill His part.

3. Become a breakthrough person. If you show what it means to be a breakthrough person, your people will value breakthroughs. Most breakthrough people exhibit these qualities.

- Vulnerability: They realize they aren't perfect, they can't do it all, and they need God to make up the difference.
- Humility: They're not out to prove anything and they don't care who gets the credit. They're glad to share the spotlight with others.
- Transparency: They live their lives as open books. They admit where they're coming short as well as where God is working in their lives.

4. Find breakthrough leaders. Gathering strong leaders adept at breakthroughs can make a difference in your organization. It's like having a team of breakthrough catalysts working alongside you.

If you want a winning team, you must have winning players. The best way to do that is to create breakthroughs. If you can become a breakthrough person who leads a team of breakthrough leaders who oversee an organization filled with breakthrough people, then victory becomes almost inevitable.

Introduction to

Ezra

The Jews Return from Babylonian Captivity to Israel

The scribe Ezra and the cupbearer-turned-building-contractor Nehemiah both led the Jews in their return from Babylonian captivity to Israel. Their leadership roles complemented one another.

Nehemiah restored the people's hope as he enabled them to rebuild the Jerusalem wall in record time. Ezra restored their faith as he enabled them to become "people of the Book" once more. Ezra helped supervise the reconstruction of the Jerusalem temple in anticipation of the restoration of Israel's true worship.

While Zerubbabel led the first group of Jews back to Jerusalem to rebuild the temple, Ezra led a second group. God had commissioned him to rebuild the temple worship. Both men had to endure tremendous discouragement, yet overcame long odds to reach their goals. Both displayed tenacious leadership.

Like some other Old Testament leaders, Ezra might be considered a "teaching leader" who led mostly with his word gifts. He organized and directed and provided vision for the people. He shepherded those who were prone to wander. But more than anything, he used his teaching gift to lead the people back to where they belonged spiritually.

Ezra not only spoke, he wrote. Many believe that he wrote four biblical books: 1 and 2 Chronicles, Ezra and Nehemiah. He also delivered sermons that communicated God's dream of gathering his people to himself again in the Holy City.

His leadership skills appear throughout this book. Perhaps we could best describe him in four words:

1. Pioneer: Ezra blazed the trail and helped the Jews restart their temple worship.
2. Model: Ezra committed himself first to study God's Word, then to practice it, then to communicate it to the rest of Israel.
3. Catalyst: Ezra's courage and decisiveness in the face of opposition prompted the Jews to finish the work they had started.
4. Teacher: Ezra put into understandable words the very thoughts of God.

God's Role in Ezra

The book of Ezra records the fulfillment of God's promise through Jeremiah to bring the Israelites back to their land after 70 years of captivity.

God provided direction to a variety of leaders. First, he led the leaders of Persia. God softened the hearts of Cyrus, Darius and Artaxerxes to let the Jews return to Jerusalem and rebuild their lives, both physically and spiritually. Second, he directed Ezra, Zerubbabel and Nehemiah as they led the Jews in their return to faith in God. More than any other man, Ezra shaped the returning Jews into the spiritual leaders God intended for them to be. Through the protection of the three Persian kings and the leadership of such great and godly Jews as Zerubbabel, Joshua, Haggai, Zechariah and Ezra, the people completed the second temple, and true worship at last returned to Jerusalem.

Lessons in Leadership

- God's leadership may seem subtle or absent, but he steadily finishes the work he starts.
- Both courage and fear are contagious.
- In times of conflict, leaders must act decisively.
- If workers are to give their perspiration, leaders must give them inspiration.
- Most people need a catalyst before they'll do anything risky.
- Incarnational leadership studies the truth, practices the truth, then teaches the truth.

Cyrus Helps the Exiles to Return

¹In the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, in order to fulfill the word of the LORD spoken by Jeremiah, the LORD moved the heart of Cyrus king of Persia to make a proclamation throughout his realm and also to put it in writing: The Law of Connection: Cyrus Rules People by Relating to Them

²“This is what Cyrus king of Persia says: “ ‘The LORD, the God of heaven, has given me all the kingdoms of the earth and he has appointed me to build a temple for him at Jerusalem in Judah. ³Any of his people among you may go up to Jerusalem in Judah and build the temple of the LORD, the God of Israel, the God who is in Jerusalem, and may their God be with them. ⁴And in any locality where survivors may now be living, the people are to provide them with silver and gold, with goods and livestock, and with freewill offerings for the temple of God in Jerusalem.’ ”

⁵Then the family heads of Judah and Benjamin, and the priests and Levites—everyone whose heart God had moved—prepared to go up and build the house of the LORD in Jerusalem. ⁶All their neighbors assisted them with articles of silver and gold, with goods and livestock, and with valuable gifts, in addition to all the freewill offerings.

⁷Moreover, King Cyrus brought out the articles belonging to the temple of the LORD, which Nebuchadnezzar had carried away from Jerusalem and had placed in the temple of his god. ^a ⁸Cyrus king of Persia had them brought by Mithredath the treasurer, who counted them out to Sheshbazzar the prince of Judah.

⁹This was the inventory:

gold dishes	30
silver dishes	1,000
silver pans ^b	29
¹⁰ gold bowls	30
matching silver bowls	410
other articles	1,000

¹¹In all, there were 5,400 articles of gold and of silver. Sheshbazzar brought all these along with the exiles when they came up from Babylon to Jerusalem.

⁶²These searched for their family records, but they could not find them and so were excluded from the priesthood as unclean. ⁶³The governor ordered them not to eat any of the most sacred food until there was a priest ministering with the Urim and Thummim.

⁶⁴The whole company numbered 42,360, ⁶⁵besides their 7,337 male and female slaves; and they also had 200 male and female singers.

⁶⁶They had 736 horses, 245 mules, ⁶⁷435 camels and 6,720 donkeys.

⁶⁸When they arrived at the house of the LORD in Jerusalem, some of the heads of the families gave freewill offerings toward the rebuilding of the house of God on its site. ⁶⁹According to their ability they gave to the treasury for this work 61,000 darics^b of gold, 5,000 minas^c of silver and 100 priestly garments.

⁷⁰The priests, the Levites, the musicians, the gatekeepers and the temple servants settled in their own towns, along with some of the other people, and the rest of the Israelites settled in their towns.

Ezra 3

Rebuilding the Altar

¹When the seventh month came and the Israelites had settled in their towns, the people assembled together as one in Jerusalem. ²Then Joshua son of Jozadak and his fellow priests and Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel and his associates began to build the altar of the God of Israel to sacrifice burnt offerings on it, in accordance with what is written in the Law of Moses the man of God. ³Despite their fear of the peoples around them, they built the altar on its foundation and sacrificed burnt offerings on it to the LORD, both the morning and evening sacrifices. ⁴Then in accordance with what is written, they celebrated the Festival of Tabernacles with the required number of burnt offerings prescribed for each day. ⁵After that, they presented the regular burnt offerings, the New Moon sacrifices and the sacrifices for all the appointed sacred festivals of the LORD, as well as those brought as freewill offerings to the LORD. ⁶On the first day of the seventh month they began to offer burnt offerings to the LORD, though the foundation of the LORD's temple had not yet been laid.

Rebuilding the Temple

⁷Then they gave money to the masons and carpenters, and gave food and drink and olive oil to the people of Sidon and Tyre, so that they would bring cedar logs by sea from Lebanon to Joppa, as authorized by Cyrus king of Persia.

Courage: People Need Permission to Take Risks

⁸In the second month of the second year after their arrival at the house of God in Jerusalem, Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel, Joshua son of Jozadak and the rest of the people (the priests and the Levites and all who had returned from the captivity to Jerusalem) began the work. They appointed Levites twenty years old and older to supervise the building of the house of the LORD. ⁹Joshua and his sons and brothers and Kadmiel and his sons (descendants of Hodaviah^a) and the sons of Henadad and their sons and brothers—all Levites—joined together in supervising those working on the house of God.

¹⁰When the builders laid the foundation of the temple of the LORD, the priests in their vestments and with trumpets, and the Levites (the sons of Asaph) with cymbals, took their places to praise the LORD, as prescribed by David king of Israel. ¹¹With praise and thanksgiving they sang to the LORD:

“He is good;
his love toward Israel endures forever.”

And all the people gave a great shout of praise to the LORD, because the foundation of the house of the LORD was laid. ¹²But many of the older priests and Levites and family heads, who had seen the former temple, wept aloud when they saw the foundation of this temple being laid, while many others shouted for joy. ¹³No one could distinguish the sound of the shouts of joy from the sound of weeping, because the people made so much noise. And the sound was heard far away.

Opposition to the Rebuilding

¹When the enemies of Judah and Benjamin heard that the exiles were building a temple for the LORD, the God of Israel, ²they came to Zerubbabel and to the heads of the families and said, “Let us help you build because, like you, we seek your God and have been sacrificing to him since the time of Esarhaddon king of Assyria, who brought us here.” Discernment: Zerubbabel Reads the People, Then Acts

³But Zerubbabel, Joshua and the rest of the heads of the families of Israel answered, “You have no part with us in building a temple to our God. We alone will build it for the LORD, the God of Israel, as King Cyrus, the king of Persia, commanded us.”

⁴Then the peoples around them set out to discourage the people of Judah and make them afraid to go on building.^a ⁵They bribed officials to work against them and frustrate their plans during the entire reign of Cyrus king of Persia and down to the reign of Darius king of Persia.

Later Opposition Under Xerxes and Artaxerxes

⁶At the beginning of the reign of Xerxes,^b they lodged an accusation against the people of Judah and Jerusalem.

⁷And in the days of Artaxerxes king of Persia, Bishlam, Mithredath, Tabeel and the rest of his associates wrote a letter to Artaxerxes. The letter was written in Aramaic script and in the Aramaic language.^{c,d}

⁸Rehum the commanding officer and Shimshai the secretary wrote a letter against Jerusalem to Artaxerxes the king as follows:

⁹Rehum the commanding officer and Shimshai the secretary, together with the rest of their associates—the judges, officials and administrators over the people from Persia, Uruk and Babylon, the Elamites of Susa, ¹⁰and the other people whom the great and honorable Ashurbanipal deported and settled in the city of Samaria and elsewhere in Trans-Euphrates.

¹¹(This is a copy of the letter they sent him.)

To King Artaxerxes,

From your servants in Trans-Euphrates:

¹²The king should know that the people who came up to us from you have gone to Jerusalem and are rebuilding that rebellious and wicked city. They are restoring the walls and repairing the foundations.

¹³Furthermore, the king should know that if this city is built and its walls are restored, no more taxes, tribute or duty will be paid, and eventually the royal revenues will suffer.^e ¹⁴Now since we are under obligation to the palace and it is not proper for us to see the king dishonored, we are sending this message to inform the king, ¹⁵so that a search may be made in the archives of your predecessors. In these records you will find that this city is a rebellious city, troublesome to kings and provinces, a place with a long history of sedition. That is why this city was destroyed. ¹⁶We inform the king that if this city is built and its walls are restored, you will be left with nothing in Trans-Euphrates.

To Rehum the commanding officer, Shimshai the secretary and the rest of their associates living in Samaria and elsewhere in Trans-Euphrates: Greetings.

¹⁸The letter you sent us has been read and translated in my presence. ¹⁹I issued an order and a search was made, and it was found that this city has a long history of revolt against kings and has been a place of rebellion and sedition. ²⁰Jerusalem has had powerful kings ruling over the whole of Trans-Euphrates, and taxes, tribute and duty were paid to them. ²¹Now issue an order to these men to stop work, so that this city will not be rebuilt until I so order. ²²Be careful not to neglect this matter. Why let this threat grow, to the detriment of the royal interests?

²³As soon as the copy of the letter of King Artaxerxes was read to Rehum and Shimshai the secretary and their associates, they went immediately to the Jews in Jerusalem and compelled them by force to stop.

²⁴Thus the work on the house of God in Jerusalem came to a standstill until the second year of the reign of Darius king of Persia.

Ezra 5

Tattenai's Letter to Darius

¹Now Haggai the prophet and Zechariah the prophet, a descendant of Iddo, prophesied to the Jews in Judah and Jerusalem in the name of the God of Israel, who was over them. ²Then Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel and Joshua son of Jozadak set to work to rebuild the house of God in Jerusalem. And the prophets of God were with them, supporting them.

³At that time Tattenai, governor of Trans-Euphrates, and Shethar-Bozenai and their associates went to them and asked, "Who authorized you to rebuild this temple and to finish it?" ⁴They^a also asked, "What are the names of those who are constructing this building?" ⁵But the eye of their God was watching over the elders of the Jews, and they were not stopped until a report could go to Darius and his written reply be received.

⁶This is a copy of the letter that Tattenai, governor of Trans-Euphrates, and Shethar-Bozenai and their associates, the officials of Trans-Euphrates, sent to King Darius. ⁷The report they sent him read as follows:

To King Darius:

Cordial greetings.

⁸The king should know that we went to the district of Judah, to the temple of the great God. The people are building it with large stones and placing the timbers in the walls. The work is being carried on with diligence and is making rapid progress under their direction.

⁹We questioned the elders and asked them, "Who authorized you to rebuild this temple and to finish it?" ¹⁰We also asked them their names, so that we could write down the names of their leaders for your information.

¹¹This is the answer they gave us: "We are the servants of the God of heaven and earth, and we are rebuilding the temple that was built many years ago, one that a great king of Israel built and finished. ¹²But because our ancestors angered the God of heaven, he gave them into the hands of Nebuchadnezzar the Chaldean, king of Babylon, who destroyed this temple and deported the people to Babylon.

¹³“However, in the first year of Cyrus king of Babylon, King Cyrus issued a decree to rebuild this house of God. ¹⁴He even removed from the temple^b of Babylon the gold and silver articles of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the temple in Jerusalem and brought to the temple^c in Babylon. Then King Cyrus gave them to a man named Sheshbazzar, whom he had appointed governor, ¹⁵and he told him, ‘Take these articles and go and deposit them in the temple in Jerusalem. And rebuild the house of God on its site.’

¹⁶“So this Sheshbazzar came and laid the foundations of the house of God in Jerusalem. From that day to the present it has been under construction but is not yet finished.”

¹⁷Now if it pleases the king, let a search be made in the royal archives of Babylon to see if King Cyrus did in fact issue a decree to rebuild this house of God in Jerusalem. Then let the king send us his decision in this matter.

Ezra 6

The Decree of Darius

¹King Darius then issued an order, and they searched in the archives stored in the treasury at Babylon. ²A scroll was found in the citadel of Ecbatana in the province of Media, and this was written on it:

Memorandum:

³In the first year of King Cyrus, the king issued a decree concerning the temple of God in Jerusalem: Let the temple be rebuilt as a place to present sacrifices, and let its foundations be laid. It is to be sixty cubits^a high and sixty cubits wide, ⁴with three courses of large stones and one of timbers. The costs are to be paid by the royal treasury. ⁵Also, the gold and silver articles of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took from the temple in Jerusalem and brought to Babylon, are to be returned to their places in the temple in Jerusalem; they are to be deposited in the house of God.

⁶Now then, Tattenai, governor of Trans-Euphrates, and Shethar-Bozenai and you other officials of that province, stay away from there. ⁷Do not interfere with the work on this temple of God. Let the governor of the Jews and the Jewish elders rebuild this house of God on its site.

⁸Moreover, I hereby decree what you are to do for these elders of the Jews in the construction of this house of God: Their expenses are to be fully paid out of the royal treasury, from the revenues of Trans-Euphrates, so that the work will not stop. ⁹Whatever is needed—young bulls, rams, male lambs for burnt offerings to the God of heaven, and wheat, salt, wine and olive oil, as requested by the priests in Jerusalem—must be given them daily without fail, ¹⁰so that they may offer sacrifices pleasing to the God of heaven and pray for the well-being of the king and his sons.

¹¹Furthermore, I decree that if anyone defies this edict, a beam is to be pulled from their house and they are to be impaled on it. And for this crime their house is to be made a pile of rubble. ¹²May God, who has caused his Name to dwell there, overthrow any king or people who lifts a hand to change this decree or to destroy this temple in Jerusalem.

I Darius have decreed it. Let it be carried out with diligence.

Completion and Dedication of the Temple

¹³Then, because of the decree King Darius had sent, Tattenai, governor of Trans-Euphrates, and Shethar-Bozenai and their associates carried it out with diligence. ¹⁴So the elders of the Jews continued to build and prosper under the preaching of Haggai the prophet and Zechariah, a descendant of Iddo. They finished building the temple according to the command of the God of Israel and the decrees of Cyrus, Darius and Artaxerxes, kings of Persia. ¹⁵The temple was completed on the third day of the month Adar, in the sixth year of the reign of King Darius. Zechariah Learns Motivation Comes Before Mobilization

¹⁶Then the people of Israel—the priests, the Levites and the rest of the exiles—celebrated the dedication of the house of God with joy. ¹⁷For the dedication of this house of God they offered a hundred bulls, two hundred rams, four hundred male lambs and, as a sin offering^b for all Israel, twelve male goats, one for each of the tribes of Israel. ¹⁸And they installed the priests in their divisions and the Levites in their groups for the service of God at Jerusalem, according to what is written in the Book of Moses.

The Passover

¹⁹On the fourteenth day of the first month, the exiles celebrated the Passover.

²⁰The priests and Levites had purified themselves and were all ceremonially clean. The Levites slaughtered the Passover lamb for all the exiles, for their relatives the priests and for themselves. ²¹So the Israelites who had returned from the exile ate it, together with all who had separated themselves from the unclean practices of their Gentile neighbors in order to seek the LORD, the God of Israel. ²²For seven days they celebrated with joy the Festival of Unleavened Bread, because the LORD had filled them with joy by changing the attitude of the king of Assyria so that he assisted them in the work on the house of God, the God of Israel.

Ezra Comes to Jerusalem

¹After these things, during the reign of Artaxerxes king of Persia, Ezra son of Seraiah, the son of Azariah, the son of Hilkiah, ²the son of Shallum, the son of Zadok, the son of Ahitub, ³the son of Amariah, the son of Azariah, the son of Meraioth, ⁴the son of Zerahiah, the son of Uzzi, the son of Bukki, ⁵the son of Abishua, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the chief priest— ⁶this Ezra came up from Babylon. He was a teacher well versed in the Law of Moses, which the LORD, the God of Israel, had given. The king had granted him everything he asked, for the hand of the LORD his God was on him. ⁷Some of the Israelites, including priests, Levites, musicians, gatekeepers and temple servants, also came up to Jerusalem in the seventh year of King Artaxerxes. PROFILE in Leadership: Ezra: Many Years of Doing the Right Thing

⁸Ezra arrived in Jerusalem in the fifth month of the seventh year of the king. ⁹He had begun his journey from Babylon on the first day of the first month, and he arrived in Jerusalem on the first day of the fifth month, for the gracious hand of his God was on him. ¹⁰For Ezra had devoted himself to the study and observance of the Law of the LORD, and to teaching its decrees and laws in Israel. Ezra: Being Before Doing

King Artaxerxes' Letter to Ezra

¹¹This is a copy of the letter King Artaxerxes had given to Ezra the priest, a teacher of the Law, a man learned in matters concerning the commands and decrees of the LORD for Israel:

¹²Artaxerxes, king of kings,

To Ezra the priest, teacher of the Law of the God of heaven:

Greetings.

¹³Now I decree that any of the Israelites in my kingdom, including priests and Levites, who volunteer to go to Jerusalem with you, may go. ¹⁴You are sent by the king and his seven advisers to inquire about Judah and Jerusalem with regard to the Law of your God, which is in your hand.

¹⁵Moreover, you are to take with you the silver and gold that the king and his advisers have freely given to the God of Israel, whose dwelling is in Jerusalem, ¹⁶together with all the silver and gold you may obtain from the province of Babylon, as well as the freewill offerings of the people and priests for the temple of their God in Jerusalem. ¹⁷With this money be sure to buy bulls, rams and male lambs, together with their grain offerings and drink offerings, and sacrifice them on the altar of the temple of your God in Jerusalem.

¹⁸You and your fellow Israelites may then do whatever seems best with the rest of the silver and gold, in accordance with the will of your God. ¹⁹Deliver to the God of Jerusalem all the articles entrusted to you for worship in the temple of your God. ²⁰And anything else needed for the temple of your God that you are responsible to supply, you may provide from the royal treasury.

²⁵And you, Ezra, in accordance with the wisdom of your God, which you possess, appoint magistrates and judges to administer justice to all the people of Trans-Euphrates—all who know the laws of your God. And you are to teach any who do not know them. ²⁶Whoever does not obey the law of your God and the law of the king must surely be punished by death, banishment, confiscation of property, or imprisonment.^e ²⁷Praise be to the LORD, the God of our ancestors, who has put it into the king's heart to bring honor to the house of the LORD in Jerusalem in this way ²⁸and who has extended his good favor to me before the king and his advisers and all the king's powerful officials. Because the hand of the LORD my God was on me, I took courage and gathered leaders from Israel to go up with me.

Ezra 8

¹These are the family heads and those registered with them who came up with me from Babylon during the reign of King Artaxerxes:

descendants of Parosh, Zechariah, and with him were registered 150 men; ⁴of men; ¹⁴of the descendants of Bigvai, Uthai and Zakkur, and with them 70 men.

The Return to Jerusalem

¹⁵I assembled them at the canal that flows toward Ahava, and we camped there three days. When I checked among the people and the priests, I found no Levites there. ¹⁶So I summoned Eliezer, Ariel, Shemaiah, Elnathan, Jarib, Elnathan, Nathan, Zechariah and Meshullam, who were leaders, and Joiarib and Elnathan, who were men of learning, ¹⁷and I ordered them to go to Iddo, the leader in Kasiphia. I told them what to say to Iddo and his fellow Levites, the temple servants in Kasiphia, so that they might bring attendants to us for the house of our God. ¹⁸Because the gracious hand of our God was on us, they brought us Sherebiah, a capable man, from the descendants of Mahli son of Levi, the son of Israel, and Sherebiah's sons and brothers, 18 in all; ¹⁹and Hashabiah, together with Jeshaiiah from the descendants of Merari, and his brothers and nephews, 20 in all. ²⁰They also brought 220 of the temple servants—a body that David and the officials had established to assist the Levites. All were registered by name.

²⁴Then I set apart twelve of the leading priests, namely, Sherebiah, Hashabiah and ten of their brothers, ²⁵and I weighed out to them the offering of silver and gold and the articles that the king, his advisers, his officials and all Israel present there had donated for the house of our God. ²⁶I weighed out to them 650 talents^c of silver, silver articles weighing 100 talents,^d 100 talents^e of gold, ²⁷20 bowls of gold valued at 1,000 darics,^f and two fine articles of polished bronze, as precious as gold.

²⁸I said to them, "You as well as these articles are consecrated to the LORD. The silver and gold are a freewill offering to the LORD, the God of your ancestors. ²⁹Guard them carefully until you weigh them out in the chambers of the house of the LORD in Jerusalem before the leading priests and the Levites and the family heads of Israel." ³⁰Then the priests and Levites received the silver and gold and sacred articles that had been weighed out to be taken to the house of our God in Jerusalem.

³¹On the twelfth day of the first month we set out from the Ahava Canal to go to Jerusalem. The hand of our God was on us, and he protected us from enemies and bandits along the way. ³²So we arrived in Jerusalem, where we rested three days.

³⁵Then the exiles who had returned from captivity sacrificed burnt offerings to the God of Israel: twelve bulls for all Israel, ninety-six rams, seventy-seven male lambs and, as a sin offering,^g twelve male goats. All this was a burnt offering to the LORD. ³⁶They also delivered the king's orders to the royal satraps and to the governors of Trans-Euphrates, who then gave assistance to the people and to the house of God.

Ezra's Prayer About Intermarriage

¹After these things had been done, the leaders came to me and said, “The people of Israel, including the priests and the Levites, have not kept themselves separate from the neighboring peoples with their detestable practices, like those of the Canaanites, Hittites, Perizzites, Jebusites, Ammonites, Moabites, Egyptians and Amorites. ²They have taken some of their daughters as wives for themselves and their sons, and have mingled the holy race with the peoples around them. And the leaders and officials have led the way in this unfaithfulness.” Ezra Shows Us the Law of the Picture

³When I heard this, I tore my tunic and cloak, pulled hair from my head and beard and sat down appalled. ⁴Then everyone who trembled at the words of the God of Israel gathered around me because of this unfaithfulness of the exiles. And I sat there appalled until the evening sacrifice.

⁵Then, at the evening sacrifice, I rose from my self-abasement, with my tunic and cloak torn, and fell on my knees with my hands spread out to the LORD my God ⁶and prayed:

“I am too ashamed and disgraced, my God, to lift up my face to you, because our sins are higher than our heads and our guilt has reached to the heavens. ⁷From the days of our ancestors until now, our guilt has been great. Because of our sins, we and our kings and our priests have been subjected to the sword and captivity, to pillage and humiliation at the hand of foreign kings, as it is today.

⁸“But now, for a brief moment, the LORD our God has been gracious in leaving us a remnant and giving us a firm place^a in his sanctuary, and so our God gives light to our eyes and a little relief in our bondage. ⁹Though we are slaves, our God has not forsaken us in our bondage. He has shown us kindness in the sight of the kings of Persia: He has granted us new life to rebuild the house of our God and repair its ruins, and he has given us a wall of protection in Judah and Jerusalem.

¹⁰“But now, our God, what can we say after this? For we have forsaken the commands ¹¹you gave through your servants the prophets when you said: ‘The land you are entering to possess is a land polluted by the corruption of its peoples. By their detestable practices they have filled it with their impurity from one end to the other. ¹²Therefore, do not give your daughters in marriage to their sons or take their daughters for your sons. Do not seek a treaty of friendship with them at any time, that you may be strong and eat the good things of the land and leave it to your children as an everlasting inheritance.'

¹³"What has happened to us is a result of our evil deeds and our great guilt, and yet, our God, you have punished us less than our sins deserved and have given us a remnant like this. ¹⁴Shall we then break your commands again and intermarry with the peoples who commit such detestable practices? Would you not be angry enough with us to destroy us, leaving us no remnant or survivor? ¹⁵LORD, the God of Israel, you are righteous! We are left this day as a remnant. Here we are before you in our guilt, though because of it not one of us can stand in your presence."

The People's Confession of Sin

¹While Ezra was praying and confessing, weeping and throwing himself down before the house of God, a large crowd of Israelites—men, women and children—gathered around him. They too wept bitterly. ²Then Shekaniah son of Jehiel, one of the descendants of Elam, said to Ezra, “We have been unfaithful to our God by marrying foreign women from the peoples around us. But in spite of this, there is still hope for Israel. ³Now let us make a covenant before our God to send away all these women and their children, in accordance with the counsel of my lord and of those who fear the commands of our God. Let it be done according to the Law. ⁴Rise up; this matter is in your hands. We will support you, so take courage and do it.”

⁵So Ezra rose up and put the leading priests and Levites and all Israel under oath to do what had been suggested. And they took the oath. ⁶Then Ezra withdrew from before the house of God and went to the room of Jehohanan son of Eliashib. While he was there, he ate no food and drank no water, because he continued to mourn over the unfaithfulness of the exiles.

⁷A proclamation was then issued throughout Judah and Jerusalem for all the exiles to assemble in Jerusalem. ⁸Anyone who failed to appear within three days would forfeit all his property, in accordance with the decision of the officials and elders, and would himself be expelled from the assembly of the exiles.

⁹Within the three days, all the men of Judah and Benjamin had gathered in Jerusalem. And on the twentieth day of the ninth month, all the people were sitting in the square before the house of God, greatly distressed by the occasion and because of the rain. ¹⁰Then Ezra the priest stood up and said to them, “You have been unfaithful; you have married foreign women, adding to Israel’s guilt. ¹¹Now honor^a the LORD, the God of your ancestors, and do his will. Separate yourselves from the peoples around you and from your foreign wives.”

¹²The whole assembly responded with a loud voice: “You are right! We must do as you say. ¹³But there are many people here and it is the rainy season; so we cannot stand outside. Besides, this matter cannot be taken care of in a day or two, because we have sinned greatly in this thing. ¹⁴Let our officials act for the whole assembly. Then let everyone in our towns who has married a foreign woman come at a set time, along with the elders and judges of each town, until the fierce anger of our God in this matter is turned away from us.” ¹⁵Only Jonathan son of Asahel and Jahzeiah son of Tikvah, supported by Meshullam and Shabbethai the Levite, opposed this.

¹⁶So the exiles did as was proposed. Ezra the priest selected men who were family heads, one from each family division, and all of them designated by name. On the first day of the tenth month they sat down to investigate the cases, ¹⁷and by the first day of the first month they finished dealing with all the men who had married foreign women.

The Law of Connection: Cyrus Rules People by Relating to Them

Ezra 1:1–7

Unlike King Rehoboam, the Persian king Cyrus was able to connect with God's people. He first displayed mercy and then identified with the values and heart of his people. This allowed him to strengthen his reign.

What enabled King Cyrus to connect with the people? Ezra tells us he practiced . . .

1. Humility: He realized his power came from God and should honor God (v. 2).
2. Responsibility: He felt strongly he should build a place of worship for the Jews (v. 2).
3. Empowerment: He allowed those who had a heart to build to fulfill their call (v. 3).
4. Resources: He issued a decree to support the builders (v. 4).
5. Stewardship: He managed people's gifts, enabling them to play to their strengths (v. 5).
6. Priorities: He valued what was most important to the people (v. 7).

It was no accident that Cyrus arose to help Israel. Many years before these events transpired, God predicted through the prophet Isaiah that Cyrus would "subdue nations before him and strip kings of their armor." He declared, "For the sake of Jacob my servant, of Israel my chosen, I summon you by name, and bestow on you a title of honor, though you do not acknowledge me. I am the LORD, and there is no other; apart from me there is no God" (Isa 45:1, 4–5).

Most people need permission to take a risk. By issuing his proclamation, King Cyrus modeled another leadership principle.

Cyrus issued a decree to all the Jews that they could return to their homeland and begin life again there. You might think that every Jew would jump at this opportunity to leave a land of captivity and go home, but out of a population of hundreds of thousands of Jews (in 538 B.C.), only 49,897 responded to the offer. The ones who did return gave up a life of comfort and familiarity to pursue a life of rebuilding.

A risk like this is tough for most people. Usually, a leader must step forward and give men and women permission to take a risk, step out, and make sacrifices. Most people generally take the path of least resistance and migrate toward comfort zones. This is why leaders must both model courage and call forth courage from others.

Discernment: Zerubbabel Reads the People, Then Acts

Ezra 4:1–3

Leaders must practice discernment. Relationships can get messy; people often harbor personal agendas and attempt to mask their true motives or to make them sound more noble than they really are.

Such was the case when a group of outsiders approached Zerubbabel and offered to help. “Let us help you build because, like you, we seek your God and have been sacrificing to him since the time of Esarhaddon king of Assyria, who brought us here,” they said (Ezr 4:2). Zerubbabel sized them up and read the situation perfectly. He quickly recognized these folks had really arrived only to discourage and poison the minds of the builders. His relational discernment kept these negative influences from infiltrating the flock.

Leaders must read the people, then lead the people. They must understand the timing, the people, the situation and the priorities, then act accordingly. Their action depends upon how they read these factors. Discernment always precedes decision. Analysis always precedes action.

Zechariah Learns Motivation Comes Before Mobilization

Ezra 6:14

Opposition and conflict delayed temple construction for 14 years. Only the leadership of Haggai and Zechariah motivated the people to finish what they had begun. Leaders make sure the team follows through on what it begins. Through the influence of these two prophets, construction was completed in 516 B.C.

PROFILE in Leadership

Ezra: Many Years of Doing the Right Thing

Ezra 7:6–10

Even at a young age, Ezra diligently studied and learned to become a scholar. He won the respect of many, including the political leader of the land of his exile, King Artaxerxes. Although Ezra’s passion and vision centered on Jerusalem, he clearly kept himself busy doing God’s work while in exile. He established his connections and influence over time—a necessary step if the dream of restoring Jerusalem were to be fulfilled.

As a result of many years of consistently doing the right thing, the king finally trusted Ezra with great power and resources, acknowledging his character qualities in writing. He provided all that Ezra needed to get the job done.

Ezra led many Israelites back to Jerusalem during this time of restoration. As a spiritual leader, Ezra had prepared, studied, and connected with many ordinary Jews, and his pronounced influence prompted many to follow him to Jerusalem. Ezra did not utilize his power, intellect and influence for personal gain, but rather to restore Jerusalem.

When Ezra arrived in Jerusalem and found that a remnant of Jews had disobeyed God and polluted the bloodlines of his people, he did not shrink from making the tough call (Ezr 9; 10). Throughout his life, Ezra exercised the very best leadership qualities with both passion and zeal, which God utilized to fulfill his call.

Go to the Profiles in Leadership Index.

Ezra: Being Before Doing

Ezra 7:10

On the basis of King Artaxerxes' decree, Ezra traveled from Babylon to Jerusalem (Ezr 7:1–10). As a priest, he felt committed to establishing spiritual priorities among the people, especially as it pertained to their new temple. One verse reflects the heart of a leader fully committed to his God: “For Ezra had devoted himself to the study and observance of the Law of the LORD, and to teaching its decrees and laws in Israel” (7:10). Do you see the order of priorities in his leadership?

1. Learn it: Ezra studied and discovered the truth himself.
2. Live it: Ezra practiced and applied what he had learned.
3. Loan it: Ezra passed on to others what he had already embraced.

Successful leaders must learn to follow Ezra's model. Dwight L. Moody suggested the greatest tragedy of his day was that Christian leaders attempted to traffic in un-lived truth. It is our tragedy as well. We cannot give away what we don't incarnate. We must import truth before we export truth. God wants to construct our “being” before our “doing.”

Ezra Shows Us the Law of the Picture

Ezra 9:1—10:44

Like all great leaders, we see Ezra demonstrating the number one management principle in the world, the Law of the Picture: People do what people see. When Ezra heard of the sin and compromise of the Israelites, he mourned and fasted. He then took logical steps to bring about change. The steps he took are transferable, and led to the repentance of a nation. Ponder the sequence of events in this example of pure leadership:

1. He felt genuine remorse over national sin (10:6).
2. He issued a proclamation for the Jews to gather in Jerusalem (10:7).
3. He spoke clearly and directly concerning the issue (10:10).
4. He challenged the people to repent and change (10:11).
5. He accepted a plan for leaders to meet with the transgressors (10:13–17).
6. He started with the leaders who failed, then moved to the people (10:18–24).
7. He brought about public repentance and reformation (10:25–44).

Introduction to Nehemiah

In a Nutshell—a Classic Case Study in Leadership

The man saw a need, rose up, captured a vision, laid a plan, and mobilized others to join him in his cause. In a nutshell, that's the story of Nehemiah, a classic case study in leadership.

In fact, one distinctive of Nehemiah is that no overt miracles occur in the book. Nobody is healed or raised from the dead. God simply answers prayer by providing a leader with favor, strength and wisdom. Then the work of God is fleshed out in the day-to-day grind of committed workers under one man's gifted leadership—ordinary people enjoying God's blessing as they follow a gifted leader. If you want a study in the fundamentals of leadership, this book is a good place to begin.

A contemporary of Ezra, Nehemiah served as cupbearer for King Artaxerxes. He instinctively understood the laws of navigation, connection, timing, buy-in, priorities, the “big mo,” and victory; you see them all in action in these few chapters.

One day Nehemiah heard that the walls surrounding Jerusalem lay in ruins, a disgrace to the Hebrews. Other nations mocked them. This terrible news burdened Nehemiah, and he knew something had to be done. Once he decided to take on the rebuilding project, the walls that for years had been nothing but rubble were completed in just 52 days.

Nehemiah stationed workers in logical positions, and they all labored successfully until they finished the work. Yet it took a coach for them to work as a team. Israel had never lacked for workers; what the nation needed was a leader to chart the course and set the people in motion. Zerubbabel had led the way to restore Jerusalem's temple; Ezra led the way to restore Jerusalem's worship. Now, a new leader was needed to restore Jerusalem's walls.

Under Nehemiah's leadership, the Jews received a permit for the rebuilding job, gathered the resources, identified workers' gifts, assigned positions, overcame criticism, and labored until the walls stood firm and tall once more. And it all happened in record time.

God's Role in Nehemiah

God works behind the scenes to set up Nehemiah's success. He influences the influencers.

When Nehemiah began to weep and pray over the disgrace of Jerusalem's ruins, God furnished him with the vision to rebuild the wall. Then God provided favor as Nehemiah sought permission from the king to leave his post and return to Jerusalem to inspect the city. Through the wealth of the Persian Empire, God even supplied the resources Nehemiah would need for rebuilding the wall.

While this book provides extremely pragmatic lessons in sound leadership principles, God remains clearly visible from the beginning. Before he did anything else, Nehemiah took time to pray. Each step of the way, Nehemiah sought the Lord for direction. As the walls rose, so did the hopes of the Jews living in Jerusalem. They saw the rebuilt walls as a symbol that God had not abandoned them and was ready to restore their lives.

Lessons in Leadership

- You cannot separate good leadership from clear vision.
- Lasting leaders feel the burden of a need before they receive the vision to meet it.
- Leaders act from a deep sense of responsibility.
- The greater the preparation, the easier the motivation.
- Leaders are more fulfilled by empowering others than by doing the work themselves.

Nehemiah's Prayer

¹The words of Nehemiah son of Hakaliah:

In the month of Kislev in the twentieth year, while I was in the citadel of Susa, ²Hanani, one of my brothers, came from Judah with some other men, and I questioned them about the Jewish remnant that had survived the exile, and also about Jerusalem. 21 Laws: Nehemiah and the Law of Navigation: Anyone Can Steer the Ship, but It Takes a Leader to Chart the Course

³They said to me, “Those who survived the exile and are back in the province are in great trouble and disgrace. The wall of Jerusalem is broken down, and its gates have been burned with fire.”

⁴When I heard these things, I sat down and wept. For some days I mourned and fasted and prayed before the God of heaven. ⁵Then I said:

“LORD, the God of heaven, the great and awesome God, who keeps his covenant of love with those who love him and keep his commandments, ⁶let your ear be attentive and your eyes open to hear the prayer your servant is praying before you day and night for your servants, the people of Israel. I confess the sins we Israelites, including myself and my father's family, have committed against you. ⁷We have acted very wickedly toward you. We have not obeyed the commands, decrees and laws you gave your servant Moses. Nehemiah Prays First! 21 Qualities: INITIATIVE: Nehemiah Takes the Lead

⁸“Remember the instruction you gave your servant Moses, saying, ‘If you are unfaithful, I will scatter you among the nations, ⁹but if you return to me and obey my commands, then even if your exiled people are at the farthest horizon, I will gather them from there and bring them to the place I have chosen as a dwelling for my Name.’

¹⁰“They are your servants and your people, whom you redeemed by your great strength and your mighty hand. ¹¹Lord, let your ear be attentive to the prayer of this your servant and to the prayer of your servants who delight in revering your name. Give your servant success today by granting him favor in the presence of this man.”

I was cupbearer to the king.

Nehemiah 2

Artaxerxes Sends Nehemiah to Jerusalem

¹In the month of Nisan in the twentieth year of King Artaxerxes, when wine was brought for him, I took the wine and gave it to the king. I had not been sad in his presence before, ²so the king asked me, “Why does your face look so sad when you are not ill? This can be nothing but sadness of heart.”

I was very much afraid, ³but I said to the king, “May the king live forever! Why should my face not look sad when the city where my ancestors are buried lies in ruins, and its gates have been destroyed by fire?”

The Law of Timing: Nehemiah Chose the

Moment to See the King PROFILE in Leadership: Nehemiah: Ask for Help

⁴The king said to me, “What is it you want?”

Then I prayed to the God of heaven, ⁵and I answered the king, “If it pleases the king and if your servant has found favor in his sight, let him send me to the city in Judah where my ancestors are buried so that I can rebuild it.”

The Law of Buy-In: Nehemiah Shares the Why Before the What

⁶Then the king, with the queen sitting beside him, asked me, “How long will your journey take, and when will you get back?” It pleased the king to send me; so I set a time.

⁷I also said to him, “If it pleases the king, may I have letters to the governors of Trans-Euphrates, so that they will provide me safe-conduct until I arrive in Judah? ⁸And may I have a letter to Asaph, keeper of the royal park, so he will give me timber to make beams for the gates of the citadel by the temple and for the city wall and for the residence I will occupy?” And because the gracious hand of my God was on me, the king granted my requests. ⁹So I went to the governors of Trans-Euphrates and gave them the king’s letters. The king had also sent army officers and cavalry with me.

¹⁰When Sanballat the Horonite and Tobiah the Ammonite official heard about this, they were very much disturbed that someone had come to promote the welfare of the Israelites.

Nehemiah Inspects Jerusalem’s Walls

¹¹I went to Jerusalem, and after staying there three days ¹²I set out during the night with a few others. I had not told anyone what my God had put in my heart to do for Jerusalem. There were no mounts with me except the one I was riding on.

¹³By night I went out through the Valley Gate toward the Jackal^a Well and the Dung Gate, examining the walls of Jerusalem, which had been broken down, and its gates, which had been destroyed by fire. ¹⁴Then I moved on toward the Fountain Gate and the King's Pool, but there was not enough room for my mount to get through; ¹⁵so I went up the valley by night, examining the wall. Finally, I turned back and reentered through the Valley Gate. ¹⁶The officials did not know where I had gone or what I was doing, because as yet I had said nothing to the Jews or the priests or nobles or officials or any others who would be doing the work.

¹⁷Then I said to them, "You see the trouble we are in: Jerusalem lies in ruins, and its gates have been burned with fire. Come, let us rebuild the wall of Jerusalem, and we will no longer be in disgrace." ¹⁸I also told them about the gracious hand of my God on me and what the king had said to me.

They replied, "Let us start rebuilding." So they began this good work. The Law of Connection: Nehemiah's Construction Follows Connection

¹⁹But when Sanballat the Horonite, Tobiah the Ammonite official and Geshem the Arab heard about it, they mocked and ridiculed us. "What is this you are doing?" they asked. "Are you rebelling against the king?"

²⁰I answered them by saying, "The God of heaven will give us success. We his servants will start rebuilding, but as for you, you have no share in Jerusalem or any claim or historic right to it."

Nehemiah 3

Builders of the Wall

¹Eliashib the high priest and his fellow priests went to work and rebuilt the Sheep Gate. They dedicated it and set its doors in place, building as far as the Tower of the Hundred, which they dedicated, and as far as the Tower of Hananel. ²The men of Jericho built the adjoining section, and Zakkur son of Imri built next to them. The Law of Priorities: Nehemiah Wisely Uses His Resources

³The Fish Gate was rebuilt by the sons of Hassenaah. They laid its beams and put its doors and bolts and bars in place. ⁴Meremoth son of Uriah, the son of Hakkoz, repaired the next section. Next to him Meshullam son of Berekiah, the son of Meshezabel, made repairs, and next to him Zadok son of Baana also made repairs. ⁵The next section was repaired by the men of Tekoa, but their nobles would not put their shoulders to the work under their supervisors.^a ⁶The Jeshanah^b Gate was repaired by Joiada son of Paseah and Meshullam son of Besodeiah. They laid its beams and put its doors with their bolts and bars in place. ⁷Next to them, repairs were made by men from Gibeon and Mizpah—Melatiah of Gibeon and Jadon of Meronoth—places under the authority of the governor of Trans-Euphrates. ⁸Uzziel son of Harhaiah, one of the goldsmiths, repaired the next section; and Hananiah, one of the perfume-makers, made repairs next to that. They restored Jerusalem as far as the Broad Wall. ⁹Rephaiah son of Hur, ruler of a half-district of Jerusalem, repaired the next section. ¹⁰Adjoining this, Jedaiah son of Harumaph made repairs opposite his house, and Hattush son of Hashabneiah made repairs next to him. ¹¹Malkijah son of Harim and Hasshub son of Pahath-Moab repaired another section and the Tower of the Ovens. ¹²Shallum son of Hallohesh, ruler of a half-district of Jerusalem, repaired the next section with the help of his daughters.

¹³The Valley Gate was repaired by Hanun and the residents of Zanoah. They rebuilt it and put its doors with their bolts and bars in place. They also repaired a thousand cubits^c of the wall as far as the Dung Gate.

¹⁴The Dung Gate was repaired by Malkijah son of Rekab, ruler of the district of Beth Hakkerem. He rebuilt it and put its doors with their bolts and bars in place.

¹⁵The Fountain Gate was repaired by Shallun son of Kol-Hozeh, ruler of the district of Mizpah. He rebuilt it, roofing it over and putting its doors and bolts and bars in place. He also repaired the wall of the Pool of Siloam,^d by the King's Garden, as far as the steps going down from the City of David. ¹⁶Beyond him, Nehemiah son of Azbuk, ruler of a half-district of Beth Zur, made repairs up to a point opposite the tombs^e of David, as far as the artificial pool and the House of the Heroes.

¹⁷Next to him, the repairs were made by the Levites under Rehum son of Bani. Beside him, Hashabiah, ruler of half the district of Keilah, carried out repairs for his district. ¹⁸Next to him, the repairs were made by their fellow Levites under Binnui^f son of Henadad, ruler of the other half-district of Keilah. ¹⁹Next to him, Ezer son of Jeshua, ruler of Mizpah, repaired another section, from a point facing the ascent to the armory as far as the angle of the wall. ²⁰Next to him, Baruch son of Zabbai zealously repaired another section, from the angle to the entrance of the house of Eliashib the high priest. ²¹Next to him, Meremoth son of Uriah, the son of Hakkoz, repaired another section, from the entrance of Eliashib's house to the end of it.

²²The repairs next to him were made by the priests from the surrounding region. ²³Beyond them, Benjamin and Hasshub made repairs in front of their house; and next to them, Azariah son of Maaseiah, the son of Ananiah, made repairs beside his house. ²⁴Next to him, Binnui son of Henadad repaired another section, from Azariah's house to the angle and the corner, ²⁵and Palal son of Uzai worked opposite the angle and the tower projecting from the upper palace near the court of the guard. Next to him, Pedaiah son of Parosh ²⁶and the temple servants living on the hill of Ophel made repairs up to a point opposite the Water Gate toward the east and the projecting tower. ²⁷Next to them, the men of Tekoa repaired another section, from the great projecting tower to the wall of Ophel.

²⁸Above the Horse Gate, the priests made repairs, each in front of his own house. ²⁹Next to them, Zadok son of Immer made repairs opposite his house. Next to him, Shemaiah son of Shekariah, the guard at the East Gate, made repairs. ³⁰Next to him, Hananiah son of Shelemiah, and Hanun, the sixth son of Zalaph, repaired another section. Next to them, Meshullam son of Berekiah made repairs opposite his living quarters. ³¹Next to him, Malkijah, one of the goldsmiths, made repairs as far as the house of the temple servants and the merchants, opposite the Inspection Gate, and as far as the room above the corner; ³²and between the room above the corner and the Sheep Gate the goldsmiths and merchants made repairs.

Nehemiah 4^a

Opposition to the Rebuilding

¹When Sanballat heard that we were rebuilding the wall, he became angry and was greatly incensed. He ridiculed the Jews, ²and in the presence of his associates and the army of Samaria, he said, “What are those feeble Jews doing? Will they restore their wall? Will they offer sacrifices? Will they finish in a day? Can they bring the stones back to life from those heaps of rubble—burned as they are?”

Commitment: How to Beat Your Problems PROFILE in Leadership: Sanballat: The Great Distracter

³Tobiah the Ammonite, who was at his side, said, “What they are building—even a fox climbing up on it would break down their wall of stones!”

⁶So we rebuilt the wall till all of it reached half its height, for the people worked with all their heart.

⁷But when Sanballat, Tobiah, the Arabs, the Ammonites and the people of Ashdod heard that the repairs to Jerusalem’s walls had gone ahead and that the gaps were being closed, they were very angry. ⁸They all plotted together to come and fight against Jerusalem and stir up trouble against it. ⁹But we prayed to our God and posted a guard day and night to meet this threat. The Law of the Big Mo: Nehemiah’s Best Friend

¹⁰Meanwhile, the people in Judah said, “The strength of the laborers is giving out, and there is so much rubble that we cannot rebuild the wall.”

¹¹Also our enemies said, “Before they know it or see us, we will be right there among them and will kill them and put an end to the work.”

¹²Then the Jews who lived near them came and told us ten times over, “Wherever you turn, they will attack us.”

¹³Therefore I stationed some of the people behind the lowest points of the wall at the exposed places, posting them by families, with their swords, spears and bows. ¹⁴After I looked things over, I stood up and said to the nobles, the officials and the rest of the people, “Don’t be afraid of them. Remember the Lord, who is great and awesome, and fight for your families, your sons and your daughters, your wives and your homes.”

¹⁵When our enemies heard that we were aware of their plot and that God had frustrated it, we all returned to the wall, each to our own work.

¹⁶From that day on, half of my men did the work, while the other half were equipped with spears, shields, bows and armor. The officers posted themselves behind all the people of Judah ¹⁷who were building the wall. Those who carried materials did their work with one hand and held a weapon in the other, ¹⁸and each of the builders wore his sword at his side as he worked. But the man who sounded the trumpet stayed with me.

²¹So we continued the work with half the men holding spears, from the first light of dawn till the stars came out. ²²At that time I also said to the people, “Have every man and his helper stay inside Jerusalem at night, so they can serve us as guards by night and as workers by day.” ²³Neither I nor my brothers nor my men nor the guards with me took off our clothes; each had his weapon, even when he went for water.^c

Nehemiah Helps the Poor

¹Now the men and their wives raised a great outcry against their fellow Jews.

²Some were saying, “We and our sons and daughters are numerous; in order for us to eat and stay alive, we must get grain.”

³Others were saying, “We are mortgaging our fields, our vineyards and our homes to get grain during the famine.”

⁴Still others were saying, “We have had to borrow money to pay the king’s tax on our fields and vineyards. ⁵Although we are of the same flesh and blood as our fellow Jews and though our children are as good as theirs, yet we have to subject our sons and daughters to slavery. Some of our daughters have already been enslaved, but we are powerless, because our fields and our vineyards belong to others.”

⁶When I heard their outcry and these charges, I was very angry. ⁷I pondered them in my mind and then accused the nobles and officials. I told them, “You are charging your own people interest!” So I called together a large meeting to deal with them ⁸and said: “As far as possible, we have bought back our fellow Jews who were sold to the Gentiles. Now you are selling your own people, only for them to be sold back to us!” They kept quiet, because they could find nothing to say.

⁹So I continued, “What you are doing is not right. Shouldn’t you walk in the fear of our God to avoid the reproach of our Gentile enemies? ¹⁰I and my brothers and my men are also lending the people money and grain. But let us stop charging interest! ¹¹Give back to them immediately their fields, vineyards, olive groves and houses, and also the interest you are charging them—one percent of the money, grain, new wine and olive oil.”

¹²“We will give it back,” they said. “And we will not demand anything more from them. We will do as you say.”

Then I summoned the priests and made the nobles and officials take an oath to do what they had promised. ¹³I also shook out the folds of my robe and said, “In this way may God shake out of their house and possessions anyone who does not keep this promise. So may such a person be shaken out and emptied!”

At this the whole assembly said, “Amen,” and praised the LORD. And the people did as they had promised.

¹⁴Moreover, from the twentieth year of King Artaxerxes, when I was appointed to be their governor in the land of Judah, until his thirty-second year—twelve years—neither I nor my brothers ate the food allotted to the governor.

¹⁵But the earlier governors—those preceding me—placed a heavy burden on the people and took forty shekels^a of silver from them in addition to food and wine. Their assistants also lorded it over the people. But out of reverence for God I did not act like that. ¹⁶Instead, I devoted myself to the work on this wall. All my men were assembled there for the work; we^b did not acquire any land. The Law of Victory: Nehemiah Finishes the Wall in Record Time

¹⁷Furthermore, a hundred and fifty Jews and officials ate at my table, as well as those who came to us from the surrounding nations. ¹⁸Each day one ox, six choice sheep and some poultry were prepared for me, and every ten days an abundant supply of wine of all kinds. In spite of all this, I never demanded the food allotted to the governor, because the demands were heavy on these people.

¹⁹Remember me with favor, my God, for all I have done for these people.

Nehemiah 6

Further Opposition to the Rebuilding

¹When word came to Sanballat, Tobiah, Geshem the Arab and the rest of our enemies that I had rebuilt the wall and not a gap was left in it—though up to that time I had not set the doors in the gates— ²Sanballat and Geshem sent me this message: “Come, let us meet together in one of the villages^a on the plain of Ono.”

But they were scheming to harm me; ³so I sent messengers to them with this reply: “I am carrying on a great project and cannot go down. Why should the work stop while I leave it and go down to you?” ⁴Four times they sent me the same message, and each time I gave them the same answer.

⁵Then, the fifth time, Sanballat sent his aide to me with the same message, and in his hand was an unsealed letter ⁶in which was written:

“It is reported among the nations—and Geshem^b says it is true—that you and the Jews are plotting to revolt, and therefore you are building the wall. Moreover, according to these reports you are about to become their king ⁷and have even appointed prophets to make this proclamation about you in Jerusalem: ‘There is a king in Judah!’ Now this report will get back to the king; so come, let us meet together.”

⁸I sent him this reply: “Nothing like what you are saying is happening; you are just making it up out of your head.”

⁹They were all trying to frighten us, thinking, “Their hands will get too weak for the work, and it will not be completed.”

But I prayed, “Now strengthen my hands.”

¹⁰One day I went to the house of Shemaiah son of Delaiah, the son of Mehetabel, who was shut in at his home. He said, “Let us meet in the house of God, inside the temple, and let us close the temple doors, because men are coming to kill you—by night they are coming to kill you.”

¹¹But I said, “Should a man like me run away? Or should someone like me go into the temple to save his life? I will not go!” ¹²I realized that God had not sent him, but that he had prophesied against me because Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him. ¹³He had been hired to intimidate me so that I would commit a sin by doing this, and then they would give me a bad name to discredit me.

¹⁴Remember Tobiah and Sanballat, my God, because of what they have done; remember also the prophet Noadiah and how she and the rest of the prophets have been trying to intimidate me. ¹⁵So the wall was completed on the twenty-fifth of Elul, in fifty-two days. Commitment: Four Characteristics of Those Who Complete a Task

Opposition to the Completed Wall

¹⁶When all our enemies heard about this, all the surrounding nations were afraid and lost their self-confidence, because they realized that this work had been done with the help of our God.

¹⁷Also, in those days the nobles of Judah were sending many letters to Tobiah, and replies from Tobiah kept coming to them. ¹⁸For many in Judah were under oath to him, since he was son-in-law to Shekariah son of Arah, and his son Jehohanan had married the daughter of Meshullam son of Berekiah. ¹⁹Moreover, they kept reporting to me his good deeds and then telling him what I said. And Tobiah sent letters to intimidate me.

Nehemiah 7

¹After the wall had been rebuilt and I had set the doors in place, the gatekeepers, the musicians and the Levites were appointed. ²I put in charge of Jerusalem my brother Hanani, along with Hananiah the commander of the citadel, because he was a man of integrity and feared God more than most people do. ³I said to them, “The gates of Jerusalem are not to be opened until the sun is hot. While the gatekeepers are still on duty, have them shut the doors and bar them. Also appoint residents of Jerusalem as guards, some at their posts and some near their own houses.” Changing with the Times The 17 Laws of Teamwork in Action

The List of the Exiles Who Returned

⁴Now the city was large and spacious, but there were few people in it, and the houses had not yet been rebuilt. ⁵So my God put it into my heart to assemble the nobles, the officials and the common people for registration by families. I found the genealogical record of those who had been the first to return. This is what I found written there:

⁶⁶The whole company numbered 42,360, ⁶⁷besides their 7,337 male and female slaves; and they also had 245 male and female singers. ⁶⁸There were 736 horses, 245 mules,^a ⁶⁹435 camels and 6,720 donkeys.

⁷³The priests, the Levites, the gatekeepers, the musicians and the temple servants, along with certain of the people and the rest of the Israelites, settled in their own towns.

Ezra Reads the Law

When the seventh month came and the Israelites had settled in their towns,

Nehemiah 8

¹all the people came together as one in the square before the Water Gate. They told Ezra the teacher of the Law to bring out the Book of the Law of Moses, which the LORD had commanded for Israel.

²So on the first day of the seventh month Ezra the priest brought the Law before the assembly, which was made up of men and women and all who were able to understand. ³He read it aloud from daybreak till noon as he faced the square before the Water Gate in the presence of the men, women and others who could understand. And all the people listened attentively to the Book of the Law.

⁵Ezra opened the book. All the people could see him because he was standing above them; and as he opened it, the people all stood up. ⁶Ezra praised the LORD, the great God; and all the people lifted their hands and responded, “Amen! Amen!” Then they bowed down and worshiped the LORD with their faces to the ground.

⁷The Levites—Jeshua, Bani, Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan and Pelaiah—instructed the people in the Law while the people were standing there. ⁸They read from the Book of the Law of God, making it clear^a and giving the meaning so that the people understood what was being read. The Practical Leader

⁹Then Nehemiah the governor, Ezra the priest and teacher of the Law, and the Levites who were instructing the people said to them all, “This day is holy to the LORD your God. Do not mourn or weep.” For all the people had been weeping as they listened to the words of the Law.

¹⁰Nehemiah said, “Go and enjoy choice food and sweet drinks, and send some to those who have nothing prepared. This day is holy to our Lord. Do not grieve, for the joy of the LORD is your strength.”

¹¹The Levites calmed all the people, saying, “Be still, for this is a holy day. Do not grieve.”

¹²Then all the people went away to eat and drink, to send portions of food and to celebrate with great joy, because they now understood the words that had been made known to them.

¹³On the second day of the month, the heads of all the families, along with the priests and the Levites, gathered around Ezra the teacher to give attention to the words of the Law. ¹⁴They found written in the Law, which the LORD had commanded through Moses, that the Israelites were to live in temporary shelters during the festival of the seventh month ¹⁵and that they should proclaim this word and spread it throughout their towns and in Jerusalem: “Go out into the hill country and bring back branches from olive and wild olive trees, and from myrtles, palms and shade trees, to make temporary shelters”—as it is written.^b

¹⁶So the people went out and brought back branches and built themselves temporary shelters on their own roofs, in their courtyards, in the courts of the house of God and in the square by the Water Gate and the one by the Gate of Ephraim. ¹⁷The whole company that had returned from exile built temporary shelters and lived in them. From the days of Joshua son of Nun until that day, the Israelites had not celebrated it like this. And their joy was very great.

¹⁸Day after day, from the first day to the last, Ezra read from the Book of the Law of God. They celebrated the festival for seven days, and on the eighth day, in accordance with the regulation, there was an assembly.

Nehemiah 9

The Israelites Confess Their Sins

¹On the twenty-fourth day of the same month, the Israelites gathered together, fasting and wearing sackcloth and putting dust on their heads. ²Those of Israelite descent had separated themselves from all foreigners. They stood in their places and confessed their sins and the sins of their ancestors. ³They stood where they were and read from the Book of the Law of the LORD their God for a quarter of the day, and spent another quarter in confession and in worshipping the LORD their God. ⁴Standing on the stairs of the Levites were Jeshua, Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani and Kenani. They cried out with loud voices to the LORD their God. ⁵And the Levites—Jeshua, Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabneiah, Sherebiah, Hodiah, Shebaniah and Pethahiah—said: “Stand up and praise the LORD your God, who is from everlasting to everlasting.^a”

“Blessed be your glorious name, and may it be exalted above all blessing and praise. ⁶You alone are the LORD. You made the heavens, even the highest heavens, and all their starry host, the earth and all that is on it, the seas and all that is in them. You give life to everything, and the multitudes of heaven worship you.

⁷“You are the LORD God, who chose Abram and brought him out of Ur of the Chaldeans and named him Abraham. ⁸You found his heart faithful to you, and you made a covenant with him to give to his descendants the land of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Jebusites and Girgashites. You have kept your promise because you are righteous.

¹³“You came down on Mount Sinai; you spoke to them from heaven. You gave them regulations and laws that are just and right, and decrees and commands that are good. ¹⁴You made known to them your holy Sabbath and gave them commands, decrees and laws through your servant Moses. ¹⁵In their hunger you gave them bread from heaven and in their thirst you brought them water from the rock; you told them to go in and take possession of the land you had sworn with uplifted hand to give them.

¹⁶“But they, our ancestors, became arrogant and stiff-necked, and they did not obey your commands. ¹⁷They refused to listen and failed to remember the miracles you performed among them. They became stiff-necked and in their rebellion appointed a leader in order to return to their slavery. But you are a forgiving God, gracious and compassionate, slow to anger and abounding in love. Therefore you did not desert them, ¹⁸even when they cast for themselves an image of a calf and said, ‘This is your god, who brought you up out of Egypt,’ or when they committed awful blasphemies.

²²“You gave them kingdoms and nations, allotting to them even the remotest frontiers. They took over the country of Sihon^c king of Heshbon and the country of Og king of Bashan. ²³You made their children as numerous as the stars in the sky, and you brought them into the land that you told their parents to enter and possess. ²⁴Their children went in and took possession of the land. You subdued before them the Canaanites, who lived in the land; you gave the Canaanites into their hands, along with their kings and the peoples of the land, to deal with them as they pleased. ²⁵They captured fortified cities and fertile land; they took possession of houses filled with all kinds of good things, wells already dug, vineyards, olive groves and fruit trees in abundance. They ate to the full and were well-nourished; they reveled in your great goodness.

them in order to turn them back to you; they committed awful blasphemies. ²⁷So you delivered them into the hands of their enemies, who oppressed them. But when they were oppressed they cried out to you. From heaven you heard them, and in your great compassion you gave them deliverers, who rescued them from the hand of their enemies.

²⁸“But as soon as they were at rest, they again did what was evil in your sight. Then you abandoned them to the hand of their enemies so that they ruled over them. And when they cried out to you again, you heard from heaven, and in your compassion you delivered them time after time.

²⁹“You warned them in order to turn them back to your law, but they became arrogant and disobeyed your commands. They sinned against your ordinances, of which you said, ‘The person who obeys them will live by them.’ Stubbornly they turned their backs on you, became stiff-necked and refused to listen. ³⁰For many years you were patient with them. By your Spirit you warned them through your prophets. Yet they paid no attention, so you gave them into the hands of the neighboring peoples. ³¹But in your great mercy you did not put an end to them or abandon them, for you are a gracious and merciful God.

³²“Now therefore, our God, the great God, mighty and awesome, who keeps his covenant of love, do not let all this hardship seem trifling in your eyes—the hardship that has come on us, on our kings and leaders, on our priests and prophets, on our ancestors and all your people, from the days of the kings of Assyria until today. ³³In all that has happened to us, you have remained righteous; you have acted faithfully, while we acted wickedly. ³⁴Our kings, our leaders, our priests and our ancestors did not follow your law; they did not pay attention to your commands or the statutes you warned them to keep. ³⁵Even while they were in their kingdom, enjoying your great goodness to them in the spacious and fertile land you gave them, they did not serve you or turn from their evil ways.

³⁶“But see, we are slaves today, slaves in the land you gave our ancestors so they could eat its fruit and the other good things it produces. ³⁷Because of our sins, its abundant harvest goes to the kings you have placed over us. They rule over our bodies and our cattle as they please. We are in great distress.

The Agreement of the People

³⁸“In view of all this, we are making a binding agreement, putting it in writing, and our leaders, our Levites and our priests are affixing their seals to it.”^d

³¹“When the neighboring peoples bring merchandise or grain to sell on the Sabbath, we will not buy from them on the Sabbath or on any holy day. Every seventh year we will forgo working the land and will cancel all debts.

³⁴“We—the priests, the Levites and the people—have cast lots to determine when each of our families is to bring to the house of our God at set times each year a contribution of wood to burn on the altar of the LORD our God, as it is written in the Law.

³⁵“We also assume responsibility for bringing to the house of the LORD each year the firstfruits of our crops and of every fruit tree.

³⁶“As it is also written in the Law, we will bring the firstborn of our sons and of our cattle, of our herds and of our flocks to the house of our God, to the priests ministering there.

³⁷“Moreover, we will bring to the storerooms of the house of our

God, to the priests, the first of our ground meal, of our grain offerings, of the fruit of all our trees and of our new wine and olive oil. And we will bring a tithe of our crops to the Levites, for it is the Levites who collect the tithes in all the towns where we work. ³⁸A priest descended from Aaron is to accompany the Levites when they receive the tithes, and the Levites are to bring a tenth of the tithes up to the house of our God, to the storerooms of the treasury. ³⁹The people of Israel, including the Levites, are to bring their contributions of grain, new wine and olive oil to the storerooms, where the articles for the sanctuary and for the ministering priests, the gatekeepers and the musicians are also kept.

Nehemiah 11

The New Residents of Jerusalem

¹Now the leaders of the people settled in Jerusalem. The rest of the people cast lots to bring one out of every ten of them to live in Jerusalem, the holy city, while the remaining nine were to stay in their own towns. ²The people commended all who volunteered to live in Jerusalem.

Athaiah son of Uzziah, the son of Zechariah, the son of Amariah, the son of Shephatiah, the son of Mahalalel, a descendant of Perez; ⁵and Maaseiah son of Baruch, the son of Kol-Hozeh, the son of Hazaiah, the son of Adaiah, the son of Joiarib, the son of Zechariah, a descendant of Shelah. ⁶The descendants of Perez who lived in Jerusalem totaled 468 men of standing.

⁷From the descendants of Benjamin:

Sallu son of Meshullam, the son of Joed, the son of Pedaiah, the son of Kolaiah, the son of Maaseiah, the son of Ithiel, the son of Jeshaiah, ⁸and his followers, Gabbai and Sallai—928 men. ⁹Joel son of Zikri was their chief officer, and Judah son of Hassenuah was over the New Quarter of the city.

¹⁰From the priests:

Jedaiah; the son of Joiarib; Jakin; ¹¹Seraiah son of Hilkiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, the official in charge of the house of God, ¹²and their associates, who carried on work for the temple—822 men; Adaiah son of Jeroham, the son of Pelaliah, the son of Amzi, the son of Zechariah, the son of Pashhur, the son of Malkijah, ¹³and his associates, who were heads of families—242 men; Amashsai son of Azarel, the son of Ahzai, the son of Meshillemoth, the son of Immer, ¹⁴and his^a associates, who were men of standing—128. Their chief officer was Zabdiel son of

¹⁵From the Levites:

Shemaiah son of Hasshub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Bunni; ¹⁶Shabbethai and Jozabad, two of the heads of the Levites, who had charge of the outside work of the house of God; ¹⁷Mattaniah son of Mika, the son of Zabdi, the son of Asaph, the director who led in thanksgiving and prayer; Bakbukiah, second among his associates; and Abda son of Shammua, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun. ¹⁸The Levites in the holy city totaled 284.

¹⁹The gatekeepers:

Akkub, Talmon and their associates, who kept watch at the gates—172 men.

²⁰The rest of the Israelites, with the priests and Levites, were in all the towns of Judah, each on their ancestral property.

²¹The temple servants lived on the hill of Ophel, and Ziha and Gishpa were in charge of them.

²²The chief officer of the Levites in Jerusalem was Uzzi son of Bani, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Mika. Uzzi was one of Asaph's descendants, who were the musicians responsible for the service of the house of God. ²³The musicians were under the king's orders, which regulated their daily activity.

²⁴Pethahiah son of Meshezabel, one of the descendants of Zerah son of Judah, was the king's agent in all affairs relating to the people.

²⁵As for the villages with their fields, some of the people of Judah lived in Kiriath Arba and its surrounding settlements, in Dibon and its settlements, in Jekabzeel and its villages, ²⁶in Jeshua, in Moladah, in Beth Pelet, ²⁷in Hazar Shual, in Beersheba and its settlements, ²⁸in Ziklag, in Mekonah and its settlements, ²⁹in En Rimmon, in Zorah, in Jarmuth, ³⁰Zanoah, Adullam and their villages, in Lachish and its fields, and in Azekah and its settlements. So they were living all the way from Beersheba to the Valley of Hinnom.

³¹The descendants of the Benjamites from Geba lived in Mikdash, Aija, Bethel and its settlements, ³²in Anathoth, Nob and Ananiah, ³³in Hazor, Ramah and Gittaim, ³⁴in Hadid, Zeboim and Neballat, ³⁵in Lod and Ono, and in Ge Harashim.

³⁶Some of the divisions of the Levites of Judah settled in Benjamin.

Nehemiah 12

Priests and Levites

¹These were the priests and Levites who returned with Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel and with Joshua:

Seraiah, Jeremiah, Ezra,

²Amariah, Malluk, Hattush,

³Shekaniah, Rehum, Meremoth,

⁴Iddo, Ginnethon, ^a Abijah, ⁵Mijamin, ^b Moadiah, Bilgah, ⁶Shemaiah, Joiarib, Jedaiah, ⁷Sallu, Amok, Hilkiah and Jedaiah.

These were the leaders of the priests and their associates in the days of Joshua.

⁸The Levites were Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah, and also Mattaniah, who, together with his associates, was in charge of the songs of thanksgiving. ⁹Bakbukiah and Unni, their associates, stood opposite them in the services.

¹⁰Joshua was the father of Joiakim, Joiakim the father of Eliashib, Eliashib the father of Joiada, ¹¹Joiada the father of Jonathan, and Jonathan the father of Jaddua.

¹²In the days of Joiakim, these were the heads of the priestly families:

of Seraiah's family, Meraiah;

of Jeremiah's, Hananiah;

¹³of Ezra's, Meshullam;

of Amariah's, Jehohanan;

¹⁴of Malluk's, Jonathan;

of Shekaniah's, ^c Joseph;

¹⁵of Harim's, Adna;

of Meremoth's, ^d Helkai;

¹⁶of Iddo's, Zechariah;

of Ginnethon's, Meshullam;

¹⁷of Abijah's, Zikri;

of Miniamin's and of Moadiah's, Piltai;

¹⁸of Bilgah's, Shammua;

of Shemaiah's, Jehonathan;

¹⁹of Joiarib's, Mattenai;

of Jedaiah's, Uzzi;

²⁰of Sallu's, Kallai;

of Amok's, Eber; ²¹of Hilkiah's, Hashabiah; of Jedaiah's, Nethanel.

²²The family heads of the Levites in the days of Eliashib, Joiada, Johanan and Jaddua, as well as those of the priests, were recorded in the reign of Darius the Persian. ²³The family heads among the descendants of Levi up to the time of Johanan son of Eliashib were recorded in the book of the annals. ²⁴And the leaders of the Levites were Hashabiah, Sherebiah, Jeshua son of Kadmiel, and their associates, who stood opposite them to give praise and thanksgiving, one section responding to the other, as prescribed by David the man of God.

²⁵Mattaniah, Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon and Akkub were gatekeepers who guarded the storerooms at the gates. ²⁶They served in the days of Joiakim son of Joshua, the son of Jozadak, and in the days of Nehemiah the governor and of Ezra the priest, the teacher of the Law.

Dedication of the Wall of Jerusalem

²⁷At the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem, the Levites were sought out from where they lived and were brought to Jerusalem to celebrate joyfully the dedication with songs of thanksgiving and with the music of cymbals, harps and lyres. ²⁸The musicians also were brought together from the region around Jerusalem—from the villages of the Netophathites, ²⁹from Beth Gilgal, and from the area of Geba and Azmaveth, for the musicians had built villages for themselves around Jerusalem. ³⁰When the priests and Levites had purified themselves ceremonially, they purified the people, the gates and the wall.

³¹I had the leaders of Judah go up on top of^e the wall. I also assigned two large choirs to give thanks. One was to proceed on top of^f the wall to the right, toward the Dung Gate. ³²Hoshaiah and half the leaders of Judah followed them, ³³along with Azariah, Ezra, Meshullam, ³⁴Judah, Benjamin, Shemaiah, Jeremiah, ³⁵as well as some priests with trumpets, and also Zechariah son of Jonathan, the son of Shemaiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Micaiah, the son of Zakkur, the son of Asaph, ³⁶and his associates—Shemaiah, Azarel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethanel, Judah and Hanani—with musical instruments prescribed by David the man of God. Ezra the teacher of the Law led the procession. ³⁷At the Fountain Gate they continued directly up the steps of the City of David on the ascent to the wall and passed above the site of David's palace to the Water Gate on the east.

⁴⁴At that time men were appointed to be in charge of the storerooms for the contributions, firstfruits and tithes. From the fields around the towns they were to bring into the storerooms the portions required by the Law for the priests and the Levites, for Judah was pleased with the ministering priests and Levites. ⁴⁵They performed the service of their God and the service of purification, as did also the musicians and gatekeepers, according to the commands of David and his son Solomon. ⁴⁶For long ago, in the days of David and Asaph, there had been directors for the musicians and for the songs of praise and thanksgiving to God. ⁴⁷So in the days of Zerubbabel and of Nehemiah, all Israel contributed the daily portions for the musicians and the gatekeepers. They also set aside the portion for the other Levites, and the Levites set aside the portion for the descendants of Aaron.

Nehemiah's Final Reforms

¹On that day the Book of Moses was read aloud in the hearing of the people and there it was found written that no Ammonite or Moabite should ever be admitted into the assembly of God, ²because they had not met the Israelites with food and water but had hired Balaam to call a curse down on them. (Our God, however, turned the curse into a blessing.) ³When the people heard this law, they excluded from Israel all who were of foreign descent. The Law of Legacy: There Is No Success Without a Successor

⁶But while all this was going on, I was not in Jerusalem, for in the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes king of Babylon I had returned to the king. Some time later I asked his permission ⁷and came back to Jerusalem. Here I learned about the evil thing Eliashib had done in providing Tobiah a room in the courts of the house of God. ⁸I was greatly displeased and threw all Tobiah's household goods out of the room. ⁹I gave orders to purify the rooms, and then I put back into them the equipment of the house of God, with the grain offerings and the incense.

¹⁰I also learned that the portions assigned to the Levites had not been given to them, and that all the Levites and musicians responsible for the service had gone back to their own fields. ¹¹So I rebuked the officials and asked them, "Why is the house of God neglected?" Then I called them together and stationed them at their posts.

¹²All Judah brought the tithes of grain, new wine and olive oil into the storerooms. ¹³I put Shelemiah the priest, Zadok the scribe, and a Levite named Pedaiah in charge of the storerooms and made Hanan son of Zakkur, the son of Mattaniah, their assistant, because they were considered trustworthy. They were made responsible for distributing the supplies to their fellow Levites. The Law of Empowerment: Nehemiah Develops Others to Carry On ¹⁴Remember me for this, my God, and do not blot out what I have so faithfully done for the house of my God and its services.

¹⁵In those days I saw people in Judah treading winepresses on the Sabbath and bringing in grain and loading it on donkeys, together with wine, grapes, figs and all other kinds of loads. And they were bringing all this into Jerusalem on the Sabbath. Therefore I warned them against selling food on that day. ¹⁶People from Tyre who lived in Jerusalem were bringing in fish and all kinds of merchandise and selling them in Jerusalem on the Sabbath to the people of Judah. ¹⁷I rebuked the nobles of Judah and said to them, “What is this wicked thing you are doing—desecrating the Sabbath day? ¹⁸Didn’t your ancestors do the same things, so that our God brought all this calamity on us and on this city? Now you are stirring up more wrath against Israel by desecrating the Sabbath.”

¹⁹When evening shadows fell on the gates of Jerusalem before the Sabbath, I ordered the doors to be shut and not opened until the Sabbath was over. I stationed some of my own men at the gates so that no load could be brought in on the Sabbath day. ²⁰Once or twice the merchants and sellers of all kinds of goods spent the night outside Jerusalem. ²¹But I warned them and said, “Why do you spend the night by the wall? If you do this again, I will arrest you.” From that time on they no longer came on the Sabbath. ²²Then I commanded the Levites to purify themselves and go and guard the gates in order to keep the Sabbath day holy.

Remember me for this also, my God, and show mercy to me according to your great love.

²³Moreover, in those days I saw men of Judah who had married women from Ashdod, Ammon and Moab. ²⁴Half of their children spoke the language of Ashdod or the language of one of the other peoples, and did not know how to speak the language of Judah. ²⁵I rebuked them and called curses down on them. I beat some of the men and pulled out their hair. I made them take an oath in God’s name and said: “You are not to give your daughters in marriage to their sons, nor are you to take their daughters in marriage for your sons or for yourselves. ²⁶Was it not because of marriages like these that Solomon king of Israel sinned? Among the many nations there was no king like him. He was loved by his God, and God made him king over all Israel, but even he was led into sin by foreign women. ²⁷Must we hear now that you too are doing all this terrible wickedness and are being unfaithful to our God by marrying foreign women?”

²⁸One of the sons of Joiada son of Eliashib the high priest was son-in-law to Sanballat the Horonite. And I drove him away from me.

²⁹Remember them, my God, because they defiled the priestly office and the covenant of the priesthood and of the Levites.

³⁰So I purified the priests and the Levites of everything foreign, and assigned them duties, each to his own task. ³¹I also made provision for contributions of wood at designated times, and for the firstfruits.

Remember me with favor, my God.

21 Laws

NEHEMIAH AND THE LAW OF NAVIGATION

Anyone Can Steer the Ship, but It Takes a Leader to Chart the Course

Nehemiah 1:1—3:32

LEADERS WHO navigate do even more than control the direction in which they and their people travel. They see the whole trip in their minds before they leave the dock. They have a vision for their destination, they understand what it will take to get there, they know who they'll need on the team to be successful, and they recognize the obstacles long before they appear on the horizon.

Sometimes it's difficult balancing optimism and realism, intuition and planning, faith and fact. But that's what it takes to be effective as a navigating leader.

Above everything else, the secret to the Law of Navigation is preparation. When you prepare well, you convey confidence and trust to the people. It's not the size of the project that determines its acceptance, support and success. It's the size of the leader. Leaders who are good navigators are capable of taking their people just about anywhere.

It seems remarkable, but Nehemiah could see both the problem and the solution even though he had never visited Jerusalem. That's an incredible characteristic of all great leaders: They have uncommon vision. And that's why they can navigate groups of people.

A leader sees . . .

- Farther than others see. Nehemiah was able to see the problem even though he lived hundreds of miles away from Jerusalem. And he could picture the solution in his head.
- More than others see. Nehemiah knew that the wall could and should be rebuilt, and he knew what it would take to do it. Before he left Shushan, he asked the king to provide him with letters allowing him to gather materials and granting him safe passage to Judah.
- Before others see. None of Jerusalem's neighbors wanted to see the Jews rebuild their wall, and several enemy leaders conspired against Nehemiah and the people. But Nehemiah saw the danger and planned accordingly; he refused to give in to enemy plots. And when the people sensed danger, he formulated strategies to defend the city and keep the people working at the same time.

The Jews needed only 52 days to rebuild a city wall that had lain in ruins for more than 120 years. And they were able to do it because they had a great leader to navigate for them.

Nehemiah knew his purpose, made his plans, and led the people through the process. His is truly one of the most remarkable stories of leadership ever recorded.

Nehemiah's Navigation

Before the building process could begin, Nehemiah spent time getting himself and his people ready.

1. He identified with the problem (1:2–4). Nehemiah first inquired about the status of the Jews and the wall around Jerusalem. When he heard that the wall remained a rubble and that God's name was being mocked, he wept. The people's problem became his problem and his burden to bear.

2. He spent time in prayer (1:4–11). Almost immediately Nehemiah went to his knees to pray. He confessed his wrongdoing and that of the people and he interceded for them. Then he asked for God’s favor. No doubt he got the vision and plan to rebuild the wall during his time of connection with God.

3. He approached the key influencers (2:1–9). In any leadership endeavor, key people of influence can make or break the whole undertaking. In this case, it was the Persian king Artaxerxes. From him, Nehemiah received not only permission to rebuild the wall, but also resources and support. Nehemiah undoubtedly also selected and approached other key people to take with him.

4. He assessed the situation (2:11–15). When he finally arrived in Jerusalem, Nehemiah surveyed firsthand the challenge facing him. He did it quietly, at night, personally assessing the damage and planning the project without interference or unwanted advice.

5. He met with the people and cast the vision (2:16–17). We don’t know exactly how Nehemiah approached the people or with whom he met first, but we do know he spoke with the Jews, the priests, the nobles, the officials, and the people who did the work. He described his vision for rebuilding the wall and the spiritual ramifications of the project.

6. He encouraged them with past successes (2:18). With a task as daunting as the rebuilding of the wall, Nehemiah knew he needed to encourage the people. So he “told them about the gracious hand of [his] God . . . and what the king had said to [him]” (2:18).

7. He received buy-in from the people (2:18). Two short sentences record the turning point for the whole rebuilding process: “They replied, ‘Let us start rebuilding.’ So they began this good work” (2:18). The people had bought in. They dedicated themselves to Nehemiah’s leadership and vision.

8. He organized the people and got them working (3:1–32). The people didn’t work haphazardly. Nehemiah organized them by family and set them to work according to planned priorities, beginning with the city’s gates.

Nehemiah put a lot of work into realizing his vision. Without his great leadership and careful planning, the wall may never have been built.

Nehemiah Prays First!

Nehemiah 1:4

When Nehemiah heard that the walls of Jerusalem lay in ruins, that its charred gates sat rotting, and that the Jewish survivors lived in distress and reproach, he did what every great leader must do: He fasted and prayed.

Something powerful happens when a leader prays and stands in the gap for his people. Intercession must always be a primary role for a leader. The apostle Peter once declared his top two leadership priorities: prayer and the ministry of God’s Word (Ac 6:4). A leader’s prayer accomplishes four things:

1. Prayer internalizes the burden, deepening our ownership of a need.
2. Prayer insists that we quiet our hearts and wait, slowing us down to receive from God.

3. Prayer infuses the vision, enabling us to see what God wants to do.
4. Prayer initiates the vision's fulfillment, acting as a catalyst for us to act.

21 Qualities

INITIATIVE | Nehemiah Takes the Lead

Nehemiah 1:4—2:8

NEHEMIAH MIGHT have served as the poster boy for the philosophy, “You never have to recover from a good start.” He powerfully illustrates the role of initiative in a leader's life.

This godly leader took initiative in praying for Jerusalem's problem, in planning the rebuilding project, in persuading the people to act, and in pursuing the product they all wanted. And he did it in that order. His initiative showed great insight.

Nehemiah couldn't imagine sitting still when he heard the walls of Jerusalem lay in shambles. He had to act. Of all the things a leader should fear, complacency ought to head the list.

But what enables good leaders to initiate? Nehemiah demonstrates that leaders know something in their heart or in their gut that prompts them to move. They don't know everything, but they know enough to act. Nehemiah had insight into the following areas:

1. He knew how long the project would take (2:6).
Nehemiah gave King Artaxerxes a definite time period for his absence.
2. He knew how to get there (2:7).
Nehemiah asked for letters of permission to pass through the provinces beyond the river to Judah.
3. He knew what he would need to get the job done (2:8).
Nehemiah requested timbers from Asaph to make beams and gates for the wall.
4. He knew that God's hand was upon him (2:8).
Nehemiah got all that he requested because the hand of God rested on him.

Qualities of Initiators

Nehemiah displayed the qualities that make for initiative in leaders:

1. They know what they want.
Desire is the starting point of all achievement. Nehemiah knew that he wanted that wall up.
2. They push themselves to act.
At first, Nehemiah acted alone. He pushed to get the facts that would move others.
3. They take more risks.
Nehemiah took some major risks as he got permission to go, to get wood, and to survey the job.
4. They make more mistakes.
Nehemiah wasn't afraid to mobilize men who weren't professional contractors or soldiers to build and fight.
5. They go with their gut.
What Nehemiah lacked in experience, he made up for with the passion of his heart.

The Law of Timing: Nehemiah Chose the Moment to See the King

Nehemiah 2:1–5

Good leaders understand that timing is everything. Nehemiah spoke to the king about Jerusalem, but not until four months after he first heard about its broken wall. He began praying about the ruined wall in December, but not until April did he approach the king about rebuilding them. What was he waiting on?

No one knows for sure, but Nehemiah might well have been waiting on . . .

1. His ownership of the burden and vision.
2. A foundation of prayer to be laid.
3. His own readiness with a plan.
4. The king's mental and emotional mood.
5. The season when he could move quickly.
6. A trust to deepen between him and the king.

Nehemiah 2:5–17

Nehemiah takes three days to size things up in Jerusalem before he speaks to the Jews, the officials, the priests and the nobles. When he does speak, he practices the Law of Buy-In. He knows his countrymen would have to buy in to him before they would buy in to his plan.

Notice how this man declares the why before he explains the what. He provides the following reasons to get his colleagues to buy in to his vision for rebuilding the wall:

1. He had committed himself to oversee the project (2:5).
2. Asaph had approved timber for the beams and gates (2:8).
3. The situation was a reproach to Israel (2:17).
4. The ruined walls could not protect any of them (2:17).
5. God's hand was on him and had given him favor (2:18).
6. King Artaxerxes had given him permission to come and rebuild (2:18).

The Law of Connection: Nehemiah's Construction Follows Connection

Nehemiah 2:17–18

Nehemiah connected with the hearts of his volunteers before asking them to sacrifice their time and energy. He appealed to their sense of dignity, identity and responsibility. The wall went up in record time because he won the hearts of the builders prior to winning the hands of the builders.

PROFILE in Leadership

Nehemiah: Ask for Help

Nehemiah 2–3

The rebuilding of the walls of Jerusalem is not the story of a single successful person. The walls were rebuilt because a leader rallied many people to work together. Nehemiah asked for help, first from the king and then from the people of Jerusalem. Together they rebuilt the wall in a remarkable fifty-two days.

Nehemiah reminds us that leaders always enlist the help of others to accomplish a vision. Use these prompts to remind you when it's time to ask for help:

- When the problem is bigger than you.
- When the problem becomes personal.
- When you have shared the problem with God.
- When you are willing to do your part.
- When you sense God's approval for the vision.
- When others oppose you.

Leaders don't always need a miracle to do something miraculous. They just need to get people working together. Don't let insecurity, ego, or fear make you try to go it alone. That's not what leadership is all about. In God's kingdom, people are ready to help you at the right time in the right way. You just need to ask.

The Law of Priorities: Nehemiah Wisely Uses His Resources

Nehemiah 3:1–32

Thomas Jefferson once said, “No duty the executive has to perform is so trying as to put the right man in the right place.” Shortly after his arrival in Jerusalem, we see Nehemiah busily at work putting the right men in the right places.

The text lists specific men as the builders of specific gates. Why? Nehemiah has placed them in stations according to their natural gifts and interests and has them build the portion of the wall right in front of their homes. Talk about self-motivation!

Nehemiah recognized the principles that make organizations progress:

1. Motivation without organization equals frustration.
2. The strongest organizations are the simplest.
3. Leaders love everybody, but move with the movers.
4. Good organizations establish clear lines of authority.
5. People do what you inspect, not what you expect.
6. Leaders provide a supportive climate of trust and teamwork.
7. Successful organizations recognize and reward effort.

PROFILE in Leadership

Sanballat: The Great Distracter

Nehemiah 4:1–23; 6:1–19

Nehemiah had to contend with the same kind of pest that plagues most true leaders today: distracters who torment and do everything possible to interfere in the work of the kingdom. Sanballat played this distracting role in the life of Nehemiah.

Soon after the wall around Jerusalem started going up, word reached Sanballat of the construction. He knew that the repair of the wall and the restoration of Jerusalem would bring a major shift in commerce and political power. Sanballat liked the status quo and had a vested interest in Jerusalem remaining in disrepair, so he set about his distracting work.

Sanballat first tried to stop the work by mocking and ridiculing the Jews. When that didn’t work, this evil but resourceful leader adjusted his strategies. He shifted his tactics to fear, entrapment and political maneuvering.

The contrast between Nehemiah and Sanballat could hardly be more pronounced. Nehemiah’s leadership and character countered every assault of Sanballat and provided the impetus for his godly vision to be completed.

Contemporary leaders can learn several valuable lessons from studying Sanballat’s assaults, threats and schemes:

- Expect distracters.
- Don’t give them the time of day.
- Trust God to protect you and your reputation.
- Keep your hands to the plow and don’t look back.

Commitment: How to Beat Your Problems

Nehemiah 4:1—5:13

One of the great tests of leadership is how you handle opposition. Nehemiah faced the usual tactics of the opposition: ridicule (Ne 4:1–3); resistance (4:7–8); and rumor (4:11–12). Nehemiah modeled the right response to all three of these challenges. He . . .

1. Relied on God (4:4–5).
2. Respected the opposition (4:9).
3. Reinforced his weak points (4:13).
4. Reassured the people (4:14).
5. Refused to quit (4:15).
6. Renewed the people's strength continually (4:16–23).

While Nehemiah 4 concerns problems from without, chapter 5 deals with problems from within—disputes about food, property and taxes.

Persistence is the ultimate gauge of our leadership; the secret is to outlast our critics. Nehemiah taught us this lesson by staying committed to his ultimate calling.

The Law of the Big Mo: Nehemiah's Best Friend

Nehemiah 4:9–20

Momentum is a leader's best friend. When leaders lack momentum, they appear worse than they really are. When they have momentum, they appear better than they really are.

Nehemiah saw his momentum grind to a halt when opponents ridiculed and mocked the wall rebuilding project. Workers became discouraged. After prayer and a word of encouragement from their leader, the work continued, and momentum kicked in once more. Nehemiah regained momentum by these actions:

1. He prayed for the work and the workers (4:9–10).
2. He created a plan to address the problems (4:12–13).
3. He called for the best out of his workers (4:14).
4. He reminded them of God's help in their divine mission (4:14).
5. He provided a new strategy for victory (4:16).
6. He furnished new tools (weapons) for the workers (4:16–17).
7. He rallied the people to support each other (4:19–20).

The Law of Victory: Nehemiah Finishes the Wall in Record Time

Nehemiah 5:14—6:9

Nehemiah did nearly everything right as a leader. He never distanced himself from his people by eating from the governor's allowance; he didn't levy heavy taxes; he stayed committed to hands-on construction; and he refused to buy real estate, unlike previous governors (Ne 5:14–19).

As the wall neared completion, Sanballat and Tobiah invited Nehemiah to come down from his work for a chat. He responded, "I am carrying on a great project and cannot go down. Why should the work stop while I leave it and go down to you?" (Ne 6:3). Before long the wall was completed, finished in record time. We can learn at least four significant leadership lessons from studying Nehemiah's leadership:

1. The quickest way to stop a great work is to stop a great leader.
2. Problems and projects seem to go together.
3. The tide turns once the project is successful.
4. A successful project will bring glory to God.

Commitment: Four Characteristics of Those Who Complete a Task

Nehemiah 6:15–16

Commitment comes before anything else in a leader's life. Because Nehemiah had it and drew it out of others, the people finished the wall in 52 days, despite many adversities. Their great accomplishment so thrilled Nehemiah that he wrote, "When all our enemies heard about this, all the surrounding nations were afraid and lost their self-confidence, because they realized that this work had been done with the help of our God" (Ne 6:16).

Leaders who complete a task possess at least four characteristics:

1. A compelling purpose: They make a great commitment to a great cause.
2. A clear perspective: They don't let fear cloud their view of the future.
3. A continual prayer: They pray about everything and gain God's favor.
4. A courageous persistence: They move ahead despite the odds.

Changing with the Times

Nehemiah 7:1–2

Two emotions usually follow a great achievement: first, a sigh of relief and celebration; and second, a sense of . . . now what?

How we handle achievement tells us a lot about our character. The period following a success can become a dangerous time. Sometimes we feel tempted toward complacency, especially if we lack another goal. We can become satisfied and let down our guard. Momentum leaks.

The moment of victory is a crucial time for any organization. The leader must be able to change—or face a transitional problem. The transitional problem occurs when the leader does not know how to grow with the organization. Nehemiah’s life illustrates the problem:

Two Types of Leadership Seasons

1. Catalyst: Gets it going

2. Designer: Thinks it up

3. Motivator: Encourages

4. Entrepreneur: Relies on self

1. Consolidator: Keeps it going

2. Developer: Follows it up

3. Manager: Organizes

4. Executive: Relies on others

The Practical Leader

Nehemiah 8:8

Nehemiah and Ezra both wanted the rebuilt wall to symbolize rebuilt spiritual lives. "They read from the Book of the Law of God, making it clear and giving the meaning so that the people understood what was being read" (Ne 8:8). These leaders wanted their people to understand and apply what they heard.

PROFILE in Leadership

Nehemiah: Committed to the Way of God

Nehemiah 10:1–29

Nehemiah and the rest of Israel's leaders well understood the gravity of entering into covenants, making promises, and signing contracts. So can there be any doubt that a reverent hush fell over them when they determined together to sign a covenant with the true and living God?

After Nehemiah had led his countrymen through a time of confession and repentance, the governor decided it was time to commit themselves to obey the laws and commands that God had given Israel so long before. It was time to commit their hearts to the Lord himself.

Nehemiah made sure the people did not sign this agreement lightly. Following the example of Moses centuries earlier, he urged the people to swear an oath to God, accepting both blessings for obedience and curses for rebellion. They promised to faithfully adhere to every word of God's Law and not deviate from it in any way (Ne 10:29).

As governor and top leader of his people, Nehemiah signed the document first. In doing so, he showed his commitment to sticking with the agreement and set an example for the rest of the leadership and the nation. As always, he acted as a "leader's leader."

When leaders step forward the way Nehemiah did, they make possible a climate for renewal and revival. Even today we rightly look to him as an example of true leadership.

The Law of Legacy: There Is No Success Without a Successor

Nehemiah 13:1–31

Even after Nehemiah returned to King Artaxerxes, he felt the necessity to follow up on the work in Jerusalem. When he returned to visit the walled city, he learned the people already had compromised God's statutes—and he knew he had to do something to ensure the success of the last several months of labor.

Nehemiah learned that when the leader is away, the people tend to stray. Consider the following problems he encountered:

1. Compromising companionship (vv. 1–9)
2. Financial fiasco (vv. 10–14)
3. Secularized Sabbath (vv. 15–22)
4. Domestic disobedience (vv. 23–31)

When Nehemiah failed to develop a strong inner circle and reproduce his vision in a team of leaders, everyone drifted. He witnessed firsthand the second law of thermodynamics: Things don't wind up; they wind down, unless energy is applied. A sound legacy develops only when a team has been trained and positioned to carry on.

The Law of Empowerment: Nehemiah Develops Others to Carry On

Nehemiah 13:13

Once the work was finished, Nehemiah chose to return to King Artaxerxes. But he recognized that he must appoint and equip others to lead the Jews in Jerusalem. Nehemiah wasn't satisfied with a one-time victory. For the work to go on, he knew he had to empower others to lead. He had to give his power away. And he did. Once he did, he felt his work was done and he could return to the king as he had promised.

As Nehemiah draws to a close, we observe numerous lessons throughout the story. It is one grand narrative on leadership. Consider the following list called "Ten Things I Know About Leadership." Not surprisingly, Nehemiah models every one of these truths:

1. Leadership is influence (2:5-8, 16-18).
2. Everything rises and falls on leadership (4:9-15).
3. Leadership must be in the hands of few, ministry in the hands of many (5:1-7).
4. Leadership takes responsibility for every area of the task (6:1-14).
5. The most important ingredient in leadership is credibility/integrity (5:14-19).
6. Leaders possess tremendous faith in people (3:1-32).
7. Leadership can be taught (4:21-23).
8. Great leaders are effective communicators of vision (2:17-18).
9. Problem solving is the quickest way to gain leadership (4:7-23).
10. Great leadership is always assisted by other people (3:1-32; 13:13).

Introduction to

Esther

The Story of a Woman—Beautiful Inside and Out While leadership principles can be found throughout the Scriptures, they are not taught systematically—just as no single doctrine is taught systematically through the 66 books of the Bible. Instead, God chooses to teach these principles experientially, through the lives of ordinary persons in history. That is precisely how leadership shows up in the book of Esther.

If you look closely, you can spot a divine pattern. God always takes the initiative in executing his plan. Then he looks for a person who will submit to him, makes that individual aware of a need, and the need quickly becomes the personal burden of the person God has chosen. Ultimately, the individual embraces God's plan and feels morally compelled to act on it. The vision becomes his or her possession. Finally, the person calls others to join the cause, often at great personal risk.

The book of Esther tells the story of a woman who is beautiful both inside and out. Mordecai, an older cousin, takes her under his wing in her early years; in a sense, he becomes her mentor. As a gorgeous young Jewish woman, Esther is chosen to replace Queen Vashti as the consort of King Xerxes. She marries into the royal family and over the years deepens her influence.

Somewhere in the midst of her reign, a man named Haman feels snubbed by Mordecai and responds by making plans to exterminate the Jewish people. When Mordecai learns of the plot, he returns to his protégée, Queen Esther, and tries to convince her that she must stop this genocidal plan. After a moment of indecision, she agrees to take the enormous risk. Her courageous initiative, quick wit, charm and poise in this desperate moment testify to the Jews that God will always raise up sufficient leadership for each crisis that emerges.

Esther joined the company of such illustrious deliverers as Joseph, who kept his people alive during the famine in Egypt; Moses, who led Israel out of slavery; Samson and David, who delivered the Hebrews from the Philistines; and Gideon, who delivered the people from the hand of the Midianites.

Esther tells the story of an ordinary person who fulfills an extraordinary leadership challenge in an unlikely context. She is a Jew in a foreign land and a woman in a male-dominated world—a minority within a minority. But God raised her up at exactly the right time.

God's Role in Esther

Esther is one of only two books in Scripture where the name of God does not appear even once (the Song of Songs is the other). Why this amazing omission? Some have conjectured that the writer simply could not risk open worship of God. Whatever the reason, it doesn't really matter. While we may not see God's face anywhere in the book, we see his hand everywhere.

God's work can be clearly seen through his inner prompting of three leaders: Mordecai, King Xerxes and Esther. In this great book, God's providence and Esther's preparation meet. We see this in Mordecai's phrase: "And who knows but that you have come to your royal position for such a time as this?" (4:14).

The word "providence" comes from two root words: pro, meaning "before," and video, meaning "to see." God sees beforehand and orchestrates events to accomplish his purposes. First, God took Queen Vashti off the throne. Then, he gave the throne to Esther. Finally, he put the right people in the right places.

Lessons in Leadership

- The first step a leader takes may be alone and at great risk.
- God is at work behind the scenes whenever you act on his Word.
- Every leader needs mentors.
- Great leaders act on behalf of their people and serve them.
- Timing is everything.

Esther 1

Queen Vashti Deposed

¹This is what happened during the time of Xerxes,^a the Xerxes who ruled over 127 provinces stretching from India to Cush^b: ²At that time King Xerxes reigned from his royal throne in the citadel of Susa, ³and in the third year of his reign he gave a banquet for all his nobles and officials. The military leaders of Persia and Media, the princes, and the nobles of the provinces were present.

⁴For a full 180 days he displayed the vast wealth of his kingdom and the splendor and glory of his majesty. ⁵When these days were over, the king gave a banquet, lasting seven days, in the enclosed garden of the king's palace, for all the people from the least to the greatest who were in the citadel of Susa. ⁶The garden had hangings of white and blue linen, fastened with cords of white linen and purple material to silver rings on marble pillars. There were couches of gold and silver on a mosaic pavement of porphyry, marble, mother-of-pearl and other costly stones. ⁷Wine was served in goblets of gold, each one different from the other, and the royal wine was abundant, in keeping with the king's liberality. ⁸By the king's command each guest was allowed to drink with no restrictions, for the king instructed all the wine stewards to serve each man what he wished.

⁹Queen Vashti also gave a banquet for the women in the royal palace of King Xerxes.

¹⁰On the seventh day, when King Xerxes was in high spirits from wine, he commanded the seven eunuchs who served him—Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, Abagtha, Zethar and Karkas— ¹¹to bring before him Queen Vashti, wearing her royal crown, in order to display her beauty to the people and nobles, for she was lovely to look at. ¹²But when the attendants delivered the king's command, Queen Vashti refused to come. Then the king became furious and burned with anger. The Law of Influence

¹³Since it was customary for the king to consult experts in matters of law and justice, he spoke with the wise men who understood the times ¹⁴and were closest to the king—Karshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena and Memukan, the seven nobles of Persia and Media who had special access to the king and were highest in the kingdom.

¹⁵“According to law, what must be done to Queen Vashti?” he asked. “She has not obeyed the command of King Xerxes that the eunuchs have taken to her.”

¹⁶Then Memukan replied in the presence of the king and the nobles, “Queen

Vashti has done wrong, not only against the king but also against all the nobles and the peoples of all the provinces of King Xerxes. ¹⁷For the queen's conduct will become known to all the women, and so they will despise their husbands and say, 'King Xerxes commanded Queen Vashti to be brought before him, but she would not come.' ¹⁸This very day the Persian and Median women of the nobility who have heard about the queen's conduct will respond to all the king's nobles in the same way. There will be no end of disrespect and discord.

¹⁹"Therefore, if it pleases the king, let him issue a royal decree and let it be written in the laws of Persia and Media, which cannot be repealed, that Vashti is never again to enter the presence of King Xerxes. Also let the king give her royal position to someone else who is better than she. ²⁰Then when the king's edict is proclaimed throughout all his vast realm, all the women will respect their husbands, from the least to the greatest."

²¹The king and his nobles were pleased with this advice, so the king did as Memukan proposed. ²²He sent dispatches to all parts of the kingdom, to each province in its own script and to each people in their own language, proclaiming that every man should be ruler over his own household, using his native tongue.

Esther 2

Esther Made Queen

⁵Now there was in the citadel of Susa a Jew of the tribe of Benjamin, named Mordecai son of Jair, the son of Shimei, the son of Kish, ⁶who had been carried into exile from Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, among those taken captive with Jehoiachin^a king of Judah. ⁷Mordecai had a cousin named Hadassah, whom he had brought up because she had neither father nor mother. This young woman, who was also known as Esther, had a lovely figure and was beautiful. Mordecai had taken her as his own daughter when her father and mother died.

⁸When the king's order and edict had been proclaimed, many young women were brought to the citadel of Susa and put under the care of Hegai. Esther also was taken to the king's palace and entrusted to Hegai, who had charge of the harem. ⁹She pleased him and won his favor. Immediately he provided her with her beauty treatments and special food. He assigned to her seven female attendants selected from the king's palace and moved her and her attendants into the best place in the harem.

¹⁰Esther had not revealed her nationality and family background, because Mordecai had forbidden her to do so. ¹¹Every day he walked back and forth near the courtyard of the harem to find out how Esther was and what was happening to her.

¹²Before a young woman's turn came to go in to King Xerxes, she had to complete twelve months of beauty treatments prescribed for the women, six months with oil of myrrh and six with perfumes and cosmetics. ¹³And this is how she would go to the king: Anything she wanted was given her to take with her from the harem to the king's palace. ¹⁴In the evening she would go there and in the morning return to another part of the harem to the care of Shaashgaz, the king's eunuch who was in charge of the concubines. She would not return to the king unless he was pleased with her and summoned her by name.

¹⁷Now the king was attracted to Esther more than to any of the other women, and she won his favor and approval more than any of the other virgins. So he set a royal crown on her head and made her queen instead of Vashti. ¹⁸And the king gave a great banquet, Esther's banquet, for all his nobles and officials. He proclaimed a holiday throughout the provinces and distributed gifts with royal liberality.

Mordecai Uncovers a Conspiracy

¹⁹When the virgins were assembled a second time, Mordecai was sitting at the king's gate. ²⁰But Esther had kept secret her family background and nationality just as Mordecai had told her to do, for she continued to follow Mordecai's instructions as she had done when he was bringing her up. The Law of Respect: Esther Stays Accountable to Mordecai

²¹During the time Mordecai was sitting at the king's gate, Bigthana^b and Teresh, two of the king's officers who guarded the doorway, became angry and conspired to assassinate King Xerxes. ²²But Mordecai found out about the plot and told Queen Esther, who in turn reported it to the king, giving credit to Mordecai. ²³And when the report was investigated and found to be true, the two officials were impaled on poles. All this was recorded in the book of the annals in the presence of the king.

Esther 3

Haman's Plot to Destroy the Jews

¹After these events, King Xerxes honored Haman son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, elevating him and giving him a seat of honor higher than that of all the other nobles. ²All the royal officials at the king's gate knelt down and paid honor to Haman, for the king had commanded this concerning him. But Mordecai would not kneel down or pay him honor. PROFILE in Leadership: Mordecai: Refusing the Smallest Compromise

³Then the royal officials at the king's gate asked Mordecai, "Why do you disobey the king's command?" ⁴Day after day they spoke to him but he refused to comply. Therefore they told Haman about it to see whether Mordecai's behavior would be tolerated, for he had told them he was a Jew.

⁵When Haman saw that Mordecai would not kneel down or pay him honor, he was enraged. ⁶Yet having learned who Mordecai's people were, he scorned the idea of killing only Mordecai. Instead Haman looked for a way to destroy all Mordecai's people, the Jews, throughout the whole kingdom of Xerxes.

⁸Then Haman said to King Xerxes, "There is a certain people dispersed among the peoples in all the provinces of your kingdom who keep themselves separate. Their customs are different from those of all other people, and they do not obey the king's laws; it is not in the king's best interest to tolerate them. ⁹If it pleases the king, let a decree be issued to destroy them, and I will give ten thousand talents^b of silver to the king's administrators for the royal treasury."

¹⁰So the king took his signet ring from his finger and gave it to Haman son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, the enemy of the Jews. ¹¹"Keep the money," the king said to Haman, "and do with the people as you please."

¹²Then on the thirteenth day of the first month the royal secretaries were summoned. They wrote out in the script of each province and in the language of each people all Haman's orders to the king's satraps, the governors of the various provinces and the nobles of the various peoples. These were written in the name of King Xerxes himself and sealed with his own ring. ¹³Dispatches were sent by couriers to all the king's provinces with the order to destroy, kill and annihilate all the Jews—young and old, women and children—on a single day, the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, the month of Adar, and to plunder their goods. ¹⁴A copy of the text of the edict was to be issued as law in every province and made known to the people of every nationality so they would be ready for that day.

¹⁵The couriers went out, spurred on by the king's command, and the edict was issued in the citadel of Susa. The king and Haman sat down to drink, but the city of Susa was bewildered.

Esther 4

Mordecai Persuades Esther to Help

¹When Mordecai learned of all that had been done, he tore his clothes, put on sackcloth and ashes, and went out into the city, wailing loudly and bitterly. ²But he went only as far as the king's gate, because no one clothed in sackcloth was allowed to enter it. ³In every province to which the edict and order of the king came, there was great mourning among the Jews, with fasting, weeping and wailing. Many lay in sackcloth and ashes.

⁹Hathak went back and reported to Esther what Mordecai had said. ¹⁰Then she instructed him to say to Mordecai, ¹¹"All the king's officials and the people of the royal provinces know that for any man or woman who approaches the king in the inner court without being summoned the king has but one law: that they be put to death unless the king extends the gold scepter to them and spares their lives. But thirty days have passed since I was called to go to the king." The Law of Sacrifice: Esther Is Willing to Give Her Life for the People

¹²When Esther's words were reported to Mordecai, ¹³he sent back this answer: "Do not think that because you are in the king's house you alone of all the Jews will escape. ¹⁴For if you remain silent at this time, relief and deliverance for the Jews will arise from another place, but you and your father's family will perish. And who knows but that you have come to your royal position for such a time as this?"

¹⁵Then Esther sent this reply to Mordecai: ¹⁶"Go, gather together all the Jews who are in Susa, and fast for me. Do not eat or drink for three days, night or day. I and my attendants will fast as you do. When this is done, I will go to the king, even though it is against the law. And if I perish, I perish.”

¹⁷So Mordecai went away and carried out all of Esther’s instructions.

Esther 5

Esther's Request to the King

¹On the third day Esther put on her royal robes and stood in the inner court of the palace, in front of the king's hall. The king was sitting on his royal throne in the hall, facing the entrance. ²When he saw Queen Esther standing in the court, he was pleased with her and held out to her the gold scepter that was in his hand. So Esther approached and touched the tip of the scepter.

³Then the king asked, "What is it, Queen Esther? What is your request? Even up to half the kingdom, it will be given you."

⁴"If it pleases the king," replied Esther, "let the king, together with Haman, come today to a banquet I have prepared for him."

So the king and Haman went to the banquet Esther had prepared. ⁶As they were drinking wine, the king again asked Esther, "Now what is your petition? It will be given you. And what is your request? Even up to half the kingdom, it will be granted."

⁷Esther replied, "My petition and my request is this: ⁸If the king regards me with favor and if it pleases the king to grant my petition and fulfill my request, let the king and Haman come tomorrow to the banquet I will prepare for them. Then I will answer the king's question."

Haman's Rage Against Mordecai

⁹Haman went out that day happy and in high spirits. But when he saw Mordecai at the king's gate and observed that he neither rose nor showed fear in his presence, he was filled with rage against Mordecai. ¹⁰Nevertheless, Haman restrained himself and went home.

Calling together his friends and Zeresh, his wife, ¹¹Haman boasted to them about his vast wealth, his many sons, and all the ways the king had honored him and how he had elevated him above the other nobles and officials. ¹²"And that's not all," Haman added. "I'm the only person Queen Esther invited to accompany the king to the banquet she gave. And she has invited me along with the king tomorrow. ¹³But all this gives me no satisfaction as long as I see that Jew

¹⁴His wife Zeresh and all his friends said to him, “Have a pole set up, reaching to a height of fifty cubits,^a and ask the king in the morning to have Mordecai impaled on it. Then go with the king to the banquet and enjoy yourself.” This suggestion delighted Haman, and he had the pole set up.

Esther 6

Mordecai Honored

¹That night the king could not sleep; so he ordered the book of the chronicles, the record of his reign, to be brought in and read to him. ²It was found recorded there that Mordecai had exposed Bigthana and Teresh, two of the king's officers who guarded the doorway, who had conspired to assassinate King Xerxes.

³"What honor and recognition has Mordecai received for this?" the king asked.

"Nothing has been done for him," his attendants answered.

⁴The king said, "Who is in the court?" Now Haman had just entered the outer court of the palace to speak to the king about impaling Mordecai on the pole he had set up for him.

⁵His attendants answered, "Haman is standing in the court."

"Bring him in," the king ordered.

⁶When Haman entered, the king asked him, "What should be done for the man the king delights to honor?"

Now Haman thought to himself, "Who is there that the king would rather honor than me?" ⁷So he answered the king, "For the man the king delights to honor, ⁸have them bring a royal robe the king has worn and a horse the king has ridden, one with a royal crest placed on its head. ⁹Then let the robe and horse be entrusted to one of the king's most noble princes. Let them robe the man the king delights to honor, and lead him on the horse through the city streets, proclaiming before him, 'This is what is done for the man the king delights to honor!'"

¹¹So Haman got the robe and the horse. He robed Mordecai, and led him on horseback through the city streets, proclaiming before him, "This is what is done for the man the king delights to honor!"

¹²Afterward Mordecai returned to the king's gate. But Haman rushed home, with his head covered in grief, ¹³and told Zeresh his wife and all his friends everything that had happened to him.

His advisers and his wife Zeresh said to him, "Since Mordecai, before whom your downfall has started, is of Jewish origin, you cannot stand against him—you will surely come to ruin!” ¹⁴While they were still talking with him, the king’s eunuchs arrived and hurried Haman away to the banquet Esther had prepared.

Esther 7

Haman Impaled

¹So the king and Haman went to Queen Esther's banquet, ²and as they were drinking wine on the second day, the king again asked, "Queen Esther, what is your petition? It will be given you. What is your request? Even up to half the kingdom, it will be granted." The Law of Solid Ground: God, Esther and Haman

³Then Queen Esther answered, "If I have found favor with you, Your Majesty, and if it pleases you, grant me my life—this is my petition. And spare my people—this is my request. ⁴For I and my people have been sold to be destroyed, killed and annihilated. If we had merely been sold as male and female slaves, I would have kept quiet, because no such distress would justify disturbing the king.^a"

⁵King Xerxes asked Queen Esther, "Who is he? Where is he—the man who has dared to do such a thing?"

⁶Esther said, "An adversary and enemy! This vile Haman!"

Then Haman was terrified before the king and queen. ⁷The king got up in a rage, left his wine and went out into the palace garden. But Haman, realizing that the king had already decided his fate, stayed behind to beg Queen Esther for his life.

⁸Just as the king returned from the palace garden to the banquet hall, Haman was falling on the couch where Esther was reclining.

The king exclaimed, "Will he even molest the queen while she is with me in the house?"

As soon as the word left the king's mouth, they covered Haman's face. ⁹Then Harbona, one of the eunuchs attending the king, said, "A pole reaching to a height of fifty cubits^b stands by Haman's house. He had it set up for Mordecai, who spoke up to help the king."

The king said, "Impale him on it!" ¹⁰So they impaled Haman on the pole he had set up for Mordecai. Then the king's fury subsided.

Esther 8

The King's Edict in Behalf of the Jews

¹That same day King Xerxes gave Queen Esther the estate of Haman, the enemy of the Jews. And Mordecai came into the presence of the king, for Esther had told how he was related to her. ²The king took off his signet ring, which he had reclaimed from Haman, and presented it to Mordecai. And Esther appointed him over Haman's estate. The Law of Solid Ground: Mordecai Gets a Reward

⁵"If it pleases the king," she said, "and if he regards me with favor and thinks it the right thing to do, and if he is pleased with me, let an order be written overruling the dispatches that Haman son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, devised and wrote to destroy the Jews in all the king's provinces. ⁶For how can I bear to see disaster fall on my people? How can I bear to see the destruction of my family?"

⁹At once the royal secretaries were summoned—on the twenty-third day of the third month, the month of Sivan. They wrote out all Mordecai's orders to the Jews, and to the satraps, governors and nobles of the 127 provinces stretching from India to Cush.^a These orders were written in the script of each province and the language of each people and also to the Jews in their own script and language. ¹⁰Mordecai wrote in the name of King Xerxes, sealed the dispatches with the king's signet ring, and sent them by mounted couriers, who rode fast horses especially bred for the king.

¹¹The king's edict granted the Jews in every city the right to assemble and protect themselves; to destroy, kill and annihilate the armed men of any nationality or province who might attack them and their women and children,^b and to plunder the property of their enemies. ¹²The day appointed for the Jews to do this in all the provinces of King Xerxes was the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, the month of Adar. ¹³A copy of the text of the edict was to be issued as law in every province and made known to the people of every nationality so that the Jews would be ready on that day to avenge themselves on their enemies.

¹⁴The couriers, riding the royal horses, went out, spurred on by the king's command, and the edict was issued in the citadel of Susa.

The Triumph of the Jews

¹⁵When Mordecai left the king's presence, he was wearing royal garments of blue and white, a large crown of gold and a purple robe of fine linen. And the city of Susa held a joyous celebration. ¹⁶For the Jews it was a time of happiness and joy, gladness and honor. ¹⁷In every province and in every city to which the edict of the king came, there was joy and gladness among the Jews, with feasting and celebrating. And many people of other nationalities became Jews because fear of the Jews had seized them.

¹On the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, the month of Adar, the edict commanded by the king was to be carried out. On this day the enemies of the Jews had hoped to overpower them, but now the tables were turned and the Jews got the upper hand over those who hated them. ²The Jews assembled in their cities in all the provinces of King Xerxes to attack those determined to destroy them. No one could stand against them, because the people of all the other nationalities were afraid of them. ³And all the nobles of the provinces, the satraps, the governors and the king's administrators helped the Jews, because fear of Mordecai had seized them. ⁴Mordecai was prominent in the palace; his reputation spread throughout the provinces, and he became more and more powerful.

⁵The Jews struck down all their enemies with the sword, killing and destroying them, and they did what they pleased to those who hated them. ⁶In the citadel of Susa, the Jews killed and destroyed five hundred men. ⁷They also killed Parshandatha, Dalphon, Aspatha, ⁸Poratha, Adalia, Aridatha, ⁹Parmashta, Arisai, Aridai and Vaizatha, ¹⁰the ten sons of Haman son of Hammedatha, the enemy of the Jews. But they did not lay their hands on the plunder.

¹¹The number of those killed in the citadel of Susa was reported to the king that same day. ¹²The king said to Queen Esther, "The Jews have killed and destroyed five hundred men and the ten sons of Haman in the citadel of Susa. What have they done in the rest of the king's provinces? Now what is your petition? It will be given you. What is your request? It will also be granted."

¹⁴So the king commanded that this be done. An edict was issued in Susa, and they impaled the ten sons of Haman. ¹⁵The Jews in Susa came together on the fourteenth day of the month of Adar, and they put to death in Susa three hundred men, but they did not lay their hands on the plunder.

¹⁶Meanwhile, the remainder of the Jews who were in the king's provinces also assembled to protect themselves and get relief from their enemies. They killed seventy-five thousand of them but did not lay their hands on the plunder. ¹⁷This happened on the thirteenth day of the month of Adar, and on the fourteenth they rested and made it a day of feasting and joy.

¹⁸The Jews in Susa, however, had assembled on the thirteenth and fourteenth, and then on the fifteenth they rested and made it a day of feasting and joy.

¹⁹That is why rural Jews—those living in villages—observe the fourteenth of the month of Adar as a day of joy and feasting, a day for giving presents to each other.

Purim Established

²⁰Mordecai recorded these events, and he sent letters to all the Jews throughout the provinces of King Xerxes, near and far, ²¹to have them celebrate annually the fourteenth and fifteenth days of the month of Adar ²²as the time when the Jews got relief from their enemies, and as the month when their sorrow was turned into joy and their mourning into a day of celebration. He wrote them to observe the days as days of feasting and joy and giving presents of food to one another and gifts to the poor.

²³So the Jews agreed to continue the celebration they had begun, doing what Mordecai had written to them. ²⁴For Haman son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, the enemy of all the Jews, had plotted against the Jews to destroy them and had cast the pur (that is, the lot) for their ruin and destruction. ²⁵But when the plot came to the king's attention,^a he issued written orders that the evil scheme Haman had devised against the Jews should come back onto his own head, and that he and his sons should be impaled on poles. ²⁶(Therefore these days were called Purim, from the word pur.) Because of everything written in this letter and because of what they had seen and what had happened to them, ²⁷the Jews took it on themselves to establish the custom that they and their descendants and all who join them should without fail observe these two days every year, in the way prescribed and at the time appointed. ²⁸These days should be remembered and observed in every generation by every family, and in every province and in every city. And these days of Purim should never fail to be celebrated by the Jews—nor should the memory of these days die out among their descendants.

²⁹So Queen Esther, daughter of Abihail, along with Mordecai the Jew, wrote with full authority to confirm this second letter concerning Purim. ³⁰And Mordecai sent letters to all the Jews in the 127 provinces of Xerxes' kingdom—words of goodwill and assurance— ³¹to establish these days of Purim at their designated times, as Mordecai the Jew and Queen Esther had decreed for them, and as they had established for themselves and their descendants in regard to their times of fasting and lamentation. ³²Esther's decree confirmed these regulations about Purim, and it was written down in the records.

The Greatness of Mordecai

¹King Xerxes imposed tribute throughout the empire, to its distant shores. ²And all his acts of power and might, together with a full account of the greatness of Mordecai, whom the king had promoted, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Media and Persia? ³Mordecai the Jew was second in rank to King Xerxes, preeminent among the Jews, and held in high esteem by his many fellow Jews, because he worked for the good of his people and spoke up for the welfare of all the Jews.

The Law of Influence

Esther 1:12

When Queen Vashti refused to be put on display, King Xerxes grew angry. At the counsel of his advisors, he removed her from office, opening the door for Esther to take her spot. Esther serves as a marvelous illustration of how God uses one person's influence to accomplish his plans!

PROFILE in Leadership

Esther: Protector of the Messianic Line

By risking her life after rising to prominence, Esther, the captive Jewish orphan, protected the lineage of the coming Messiah. Her gift of intuition and exquisite sense of timing energized her leadership. Through the whole ordeal she remained humbly committed to her people and used her influence to save them all.

Through her kindness and gracious spirit, Esther found favor with the eunuch in charge of the candidates for queen. He rewarded her with a position of prominence and high visibility. During this time, Esther remained close to her foster father, Mordecai. She maintained a teachable spirit and did not lose sight of her origins. Thanks to these godly qualities, Mordecai was able to guide Esther through many potential land mines.

One sees the true nature of Esther's heart following her selection as queen. Here was a former peasant girl who easily could have gotten caught up in the pageantry and fame of royalty. Instead, Esther constantly reminded herself that she had received a God-given status for a reason. Her servant heart enabled her to risk her life for others. She had earned the trust of the king, used her intuition well, and really did come to the kingdom "for such a time as this" (Est 4:14).

The Law of Respect: Esther Stays Accountable to Mordecai

Esther 2:20–22

Esther was a beautiful young Jew being reared by her older cousin, Mordecai, in the days of the Persian captivity. When Esther found favor with the king and was chosen to become his next queen, the choice surprised both her and Mordecai. She would now hold a significant place of influence in the empire, even as a Jewish captive!

Because she had learned well the Law of Respect, she remained accountable to Mordecai's leadership and mentoring even after she moved into the palace. She listened and followed his counsel about concealing her identity as a Jew. His advice paid off, and the king selected her to be the queen of Persia.

What allowed Mordecai to continue to be a persuasive mentor in Esther's life, even though she became rich, famous, and influential? We see four reasons in chapter two:

1. Relationship: He had raised her and known her for years.
2. Wisdom: He intuitively knew what she should do when campaigning to be queen.
3. Concern: Every day he paced in front of Esther's court out of love and concern.
4. Courage: He informed Esther when he discovered a plot against the king.

PROFILE in Leadership

Mordecai: Refusing the Smallest Compromise

Esther 3:1–6

Being God's kind of leader means refusing even the smallest compromise in what you believe. Mordecai was that kind of leader.

Mordecai wasn't going to bend—not one bit—when Haman, the newly appointed prime minister of Persia, demanded a show of reverence bordering on worship (Est 3:2). When the palace officials asked Mordecai why he refused to reverence the prime minister, he told them he was a Jew. And what difference did that make? The Lord Himself had said, “You shall have no other gods before me . . . You shall not bow down to them or worship them” (Ex 20:3, 5). Day after day these men tried to “talk some sense” into Mordecai; didn't Haman have the authority to execute him for his insolence?

Haman, in his arrogance and pride, decided not to challenge Mordecai directly, but to wipe out his whole race. In a plot eerily similar to the one carried out many centuries later in Nazi Germany, Haman decreed that Mordecai's people, the Jews, should be exterminated.

Mordecai, of course, paled at the news. Still, he held steadfastly to his refusal to dishonor his God by bowing before a mere man. In the end, through a twist utterly characteristic of the Lord, God honored Mordecai and exalted him before the very people who had begged him to compromise his principles.

21 Laws

ESTHER AND THE LAW OF TIMING

When to Lead Is as Important as What to Do and Where to Go

Esther 4:6–17

WHEN THE RIGHT leader and the right moment come together, incredible things happen. Winston Churchill described it like this: “There comes a special moment in everyone’s life, a moment for which that person was born. That special opportunity, when he seizes it, will fulfill his mission—a mission for which he is uniquely qualified. In that moment he finds greatness. It is his finest hour.”

Reading a situation and knowing what to do are not enough to make you succeed in leadership. Only the right action at the right time will bring success. Anything else exacts a high price.

To be an effective leader, you must overcome whatever keeps you from moving forward. Like Esther, you must learn that if you don’t seize the moment . . .

1. Your fate will be like that of the rest of the crowd. Sometimes it’s easy to buy in to the notion that we are special and won’t have to take the risks of earlier generations. But that is a myth. If we don’t take risks, we can never expect to rise to the occasion. Mordecai reminded Esther that even though she was queen, she would fare no better than the rest of the Jews if she didn’t talk to the king.

2. God will replace you with someone else. Mordecai motivated Esther by reminding her that God would accomplish his purposes even if she sat on the sidelines. It’s not necessarily the giftedness of the leader that prompts God’s blessing; it’s more often the leader’s willingness to move when and where he indicates.

3. You could lose more than an opportunity. Mordecai reminded Esther that if she sat back and did nothing, she could lose more than a chance to do the right thing—she could lose her life. Although doing the right thing at the right time can seem risky, in the long run, leaders incur a greater risk by not taking action.

4. You could miss out on your mission in life. Mordecai speculated that if Esther failed to act on behalf of her people, she might miss out on God’s purpose for her life. You will never accomplish your mission by remaining idle. What paralyzes you? Fear? Image? Regardless of what keeps you from pursuing an opportunity, you will succeed only by making one timely decision after another. There is no such thing as zero risk in leadership. But when you determine to seize a ripe opportunity despite the risk, you build momentum.

The Test of Timing

Make sure that each decision you make stands the test of timing. To help determine if it's the right time to seize an opportunity, consider the following:

1. The Needs Around You. When you keep a finger on the pulse of your people's basic needs, you will always find opportune times to lead.

Esther understood the needs of her people. She understood not only what they needed, but also what they needed from her. Get in touch with your people's needs. Then make a point to continually ask: What is their mood? What do they desire to accomplish? What do they need from me, their leader?

2. The Opportunities Before You. You find ripe opportunities only by looking for them. Early in Esther's leadership, Mordecai did much of the "spotting." He let her know each time he discerned a small window of opportunity. Esther learned from Mordecai's insight, and later discerned the opportune time to inform the king of Mordecai's actions. When you take the time to spot golden opportunities, they start to stick out.

3. The Influencers Behind You. Esther came to value Mordecai's opinion so much that she made sure he remained by her side throughout her reign. Before you make an important decision, ask your key influencers what they are feeling. Do they see the same opportunity you do? Are they discerning the same timing? When trying to discern the right time to take action, you must get feedback from your key people.

4. The Successes Under You. Experience provides practical advice, so take a minute to recall your successes. Have you done anything like this before? Is it reasonable to expect the same outcome from this decision?

Mordecai had to convince Esther about the right time to approach the king. Success in that incident gave her confidence for the future. Before long, Esther had gained so much influence with the king that he was asking her for advice.

5. The Courage Within You. Leadership requires courage—the courage to risk, to reach, and to put yourself on the line to seize an opportunity. The word courage comes from a French word that means "heart." Taking advantage of an opportunity at the right time requires heart.

Esther demonstrated tremendous courage, time after time. It took great heart to stand before the king. Fear tried to get her to back down—and fear will also try to get the better of you. But good leaders understand that ripe opportunities never come without fear. So they move forward despite a moment of hesitation.

The Law of Sacrifice: Esther Is Willing to Give Her Life for the People

Esther 4:11–16

After Mordecai confronts Esther about risking her life for her people, she makes a commitment to approach the king uninvited—even though such an appearance invited death (Est 4:11). Esther says simply, “I will go to the king, even though it is against the law. And if I perish, I perish” (4:16). She took the step; she informed the king; she changed his mind; she saved the day.

Such is the life of a leader who practices the Law of Sacrifice. A leader must be willing to give up to go up.

Of course, leaders do this only when their cause becomes more important than their life. Jesus called his staff to deny themselves, take up their cross, and follow him (Mt 16:24). He told them that those who saved their lives would lose them. Esther put the cause of her people above her instinct for self-preservation—and not only lived, but enabled many others to live as well.

The Law of Solid Ground: God, Esther and Haman

Esther 7:1–10

God, Esther and Haman each play a leading role in the book of Esther. God is the Leader in control; Esther is the leader under control; and Haman is the leader out of control. Consider each one.

God: The Leader in Control

1. He took Queen Vashti off the throne.
2. He gave Esther the throne.
3. He used Mordecai to supply information.
4. He put everyone in place before the crisis.

Esther: The Leader Under Control

1. Her position didn't steal her compassion.
2. She felt limited in what she could do.
3. She knew her place in the organization.
4. She felt the need to fast and pray.
5. She depended on the prayers of others.
6. She was willing to take a risk and obey.
7. She didn't take advantage of generosity.
8. She recognized the importance of timing.

Haman: The Leader Out of Control

1. He misunderstood the times.
2. He lost joy over little problems.
3. He needed friends to build his self-image.
4. His greed and ambition made him unhappy.
5. He listened to the wrong people.
6. He thought too highly of himself.
7. He set himself up for a fall.

8. He reaped what he sowed.

The Law of Solid Ground: Mordecai Gets a Reward

Esther 8:1–2

Twice Mordecai protected the king from destructive leaders, and twice he was rewarded. He reaped the benefits of a track record that showed him to be a leader who could be trusted. He demonstrates that a leader cannot be successful unless other people want him to be.

Introduction to

Job

Reputation for Integrity Makes a Strong Leader

Job's 42 chapters describe one man's hellish loss of nearly everything he holds dear, including his ten children. The book begins by describing Job as blameless and upright, a man who shuns evil. His reputation for integrity makes him a strong leader within his family and community. He has amassed a considerable fortune and demonstrates great wisdom in his business and community affairs. It would be difficult to imagine a better leadership model than Job—discerning, industrious, devoted to God and family, successful, and well-thought-of by his colleagues.

And that is exactly what makes his story so troubling. In no time at all, he loses it all. Through no fault of his own, he must deal with tragedy in its deepest forms. Yet how he deals with it provides a beautiful case study in character, integrity, credibility, patience and poise.

First, Job maintains perspective. Immediately after hearing the first round of tragic news, he falls to the ground and worships (1:20). He knows that unless he consciously remains subject to God's authority, he will react with bitterness and rancor. He maintains a big-picture perspective.

Next, Job does some soul searching. He looks within and asks whether anything needs correction—something only a secure person can do.

Third, Job begins to ask questions of God and others. Yet even in his complaints, he never abandons his commitment to God or his core values.

Finally, Job determines to continue trusting the process. At one point he declares, "Though he slay me, yet will I hope in him" (13:15). Job decides to await God's response; he will continue to rely on divine insight.

Yet that is not the end of his sad story. To compound his dilemma, four "friends" approach Job to offer their counsel. They offer several explanations for why all of this is happening, centering around the theme, "You must have sinned."

The majority of the book features three cycles of debate between Eliphaz, Bildad, Zophar (and Elihu) on one side, and Job on the other. After Job's "friends" present their futile arguments, God steps in with a series of probing questions. Job realizes his presumption and sincerely repents. He acknowledges that God is God and that he has no right to second-guess the Omniscient One.

Then, as a leader who always takes the “high road,” Job prays for his four friends that God would show them mercy for their foolish words.

God’s Role in Job

God plays the part of the CEO who finds himself needing to cast the vision to those who have lost sight of it. In the same way that a supervisor must repeatedly communicate the “big picture” to employees who see things only from their departmental perspective, God shows up at the end of the book to correct all five speakers. He asks, “Where were you when I laid the earth’s foundation?” (38:4). God plays the leader’s role, providing perspective for the characters in the story.

Job 1

Prologue

¹In the land of Uz there lived a man whose name was Job. This man was blameless and upright; he feared God and shunned evil. ²He had seven sons and three daughters, ³and he owned seven thousand sheep, three thousand camels, five hundred yoke of oxen and five hundred donkeys, and had a large number of servants. He was the greatest man among all the people of the East. Self-Discipline: Job Maintains Perspective

⁴His sons used to hold feasts in their homes on their birthdays, and they would invite their three sisters to eat and drink with them. ⁵When a period of feasting had run its course, Job would make arrangements for them to be purified. Early in the morning he would sacrifice a burnt offering for each of them, thinking, “Perhaps my children have sinned and cursed God in their hearts.” This was Job’s regular custom.

⁶One day the angels^a came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan^b also came with them. ⁷The LORD said to Satan, “Where have you come from?”

⁸Then the LORD said to Satan, “Have you considered my servant Job? There is no one on earth like him; he is blameless and upright, a man who fears God and shuns evil.”

⁹“Does Job fear God for nothing?” Satan replied. ¹⁰“Have you not put a hedge around him and his household and everything he has? You have blessed the work of his hands, so that his flocks and herds are spread throughout the land. ¹¹But now stretch out your hand and strike everything he has, and he will surely curse you to your face.”

¹²The LORD said to Satan, “Very well, then, everything he has is in your power, but on the man himself do not lay a finger.”

Then Satan went out from the presence of the LORD.

¹³One day when Job’s sons and daughters were feasting and drinking wine at the oldest brother’s house, ¹⁴a messenger came to Job and said, “The oxen were plowing and the donkeys were grazing nearby, ¹⁵and the Sabeans attacked and made off with them. They put the servants to the sword, and I am the only one who has escaped to tell you!”

¹⁶While he was still speaking, another messenger came and said, “The fire of God fell from the heavens and burned up the sheep and the servants, and I am the only one who has escaped to tell you!”

¹⁷While he was still speaking, another messenger came and said, “The Chaldeans formed three raiding parties and swept down on your camels and made off with them. They put the servants to the sword, and I am the only one who has escaped to tell you!”

¹⁸While he was still speaking, yet another messenger came and said, “Your sons and daughters were feasting and drinking wine at the oldest brother’s house, ¹⁹when suddenly a mighty wind swept in from the desert and struck the four corners of the house. It collapsed on them and they are dead, and I am the only one who has escaped to tell you!”

²⁰At this, Job got up and tore his robe and shaved his head. Then he fell to the ground in worship ²¹and said:

“Naked I came from my mother’s womb, and naked I will depart.^c

The LORD gave and the LORD has taken away; may the name of the LORD be praised.”

²²In all this, Job did not sin by charging God with wrongdoing.

Job 2

¹On another day the angels^a came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan also came with them to present himself before him. ²And the LORD said to Satan, “Where have you come from?”

³Then the LORD said to Satan, “Have you considered my servant Job? There is no one on earth like him; he is blameless and upright, a man who fears God and shuns evil. And he still maintains his integrity, though you incited me against him to ruin him without any reason.”

⁶The LORD said to Satan, “Very well, then, he is in your hands; but you must spare his life.”

⁷So Satan went out from the presence of the LORD and afflicted Job with painful sores from the soles of his feet to the crown of his head. ⁸Then Job took a piece of broken pottery and scraped himself with it as he sat among the ashes.

⁹His wife said to him, “Are you still maintaining your integrity? Curse God and die!”

¹⁰He replied, “You are talking like a foolish^b woman. Shall we accept good from God, and not trouble?”

In all this, Job did not sin in what he said.

¹¹When Job’s three friends, Eliphaz the Temanite, Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar the Naamathite, heard about all the troubles that had come upon him, they set out from their homes and met together by agreement to go and sympathize with him and comfort him. ¹²When they saw him from a distance, they could hardly recognize him; they began to weep aloud, and they tore their robes and sprinkled dust on their heads. ¹³Then they sat on the ground with him for seven days and seven nights. No one said a word to him, because they saw how great his suffering was. Listening: To Connect with Job, His Friends Listen for a Week

Job 3

Job Speaks

¹After this, Job opened his mouth and cursed the day of his birth. ²He said:

³“May the day of my birth perish, and the night that said, ‘A boy is conceived!’

⁴That day—may it turn to darkness; may God above not care about it;
may no light shine on it.

⁵May gloom and utter darkness claim it once more; may a cloud settle over it;
may blackness overwhelm it.

⁶That night—may thick darkness seize it; may it not be included among the days of the year
nor be entered in any of the months.

⁷May that night be barren;
may no shout of joy be heard in it.

⁸May those who curse days^a curse that day, those who are ready to rouse Leviathan.

⁹May its morning stars become dark; may it wait for daylight in vain and not see the first rays of dawn,

¹⁰for it did not shut the doors of the womb on me to hide trouble from my eyes.

¹¹“Why did I not perish at birth, and die as I came from the womb?

¹²Why were there knees to receive me and breasts that I might be nursed?

¹³For now I would be lying down in peace; I would be asleep and at rest

¹⁴with kings and rulers of the earth, who built for themselves places now lying in ruins,

¹⁵with princes who had gold, who filled their houses with silver.

¹⁶Or why was I not hidden away in the ground like a stillborn child, like an infant who never saw the light of day?

¹⁷There the wicked cease from turmoil, and there the weary are at rest.

¹⁸Captives also enjoy their ease; they no longer hear the slave driver’s shout.

¹⁹The small and the great are there, and the slaves are freed from their owners.

²⁰“Why is light given to those in misery, and life to the bitter of soul,

²¹to those who long for death that does not come, who search for it more than for hidden treasure,

²²who are filled with gladness and rejoice when they reach the grave?

²³Why is life given to a man whose way is hidden, whom God has hedged in?

²⁴For sighing has become my daily food; my groans pour out like water.

²⁵What I feared has come upon me; what I dreaded has happened to me.

²⁶I have no peace, no quietness; I have no rest, but only turmoil.”

Job 4

Eliphaz

¹Then Eliphaz the Temanite replied:

²“If someone ventures a word with you, will you be impatient?

But who can keep from speaking?

³Think how you have instructed many, how you have strengthened feeble hands.

⁴Your words have supported those who stumbled; you have strengthened faltering knees.

⁵But now trouble comes to you, and you are discouraged; it strikes you, and you are dismayed.

⁶Should not your piety be your confidence and your blameless ways your hope?

⁷“Consider now: Who, being innocent, has ever perished?

Where were the upright ever destroyed?

⁸As I have observed, those who plow evil and those who sow trouble reap it.

⁹At the breath of God they perish; at the blast of his anger they are no more.

¹⁰The lions may roar and growl, yet the teeth of the great lions are broken.

¹¹The lion perishes for lack of prey, and the cubs of the lioness are scattered.

¹²“A word was secretly brought to me, my ears caught a whisper of it.

¹³Amid disquieting dreams in the night, when deep sleep falls on people,

¹⁴fear and trembling seized me and made all my bones shake.

¹⁵A spirit glided past my face, and the hair on my body stood on end.

¹⁶It stopped,
but I could not tell what it was.

A form stood before my eyes,
and I heard a hushed voice:

¹⁷‘Can a mortal be more righteous than God?

Can even a strong man be more pure than his Maker?

¹⁸If God places no trust in his servants, if he charges his angels with error,

¹⁹how much more those who live in houses of clay, whose foundations are in the dust,

who are crushed more readily than a moth!

²⁰Between dawn and dusk they are broken to pieces; unnoticed, they perish forever.

²¹Are not the cords of their tent pulled up, so that they die without wisdom?’

Job 5

- ¹“Call if you will, but who will answer you?
To which of the holy ones will you turn?
- ²Resentment kills a fool,
and envy slays the simple.
- ³I myself have seen a fool taking root, but suddenly his house was cursed.
- ⁴His children are far from safety, crushed in court without a defender.
- ⁵The hungry consume his harvest, taking it even from among thorns, and the thirsty pant after his wealth.
- ⁶For hardship does not spring from the soil, nor does trouble sprout from the ground.
- ⁷Yet man is born to trouble
as surely as sparks fly upward.
- ⁸“But if I were you, I would appeal to God; I would lay my cause before him.
- ⁹He performs wonders that cannot be fathomed, miracles that cannot be counted.
- ¹⁰He provides rain for the earth; he sends water on the countryside.
- ¹¹The lowly he sets on high,
and those who mourn are lifted to safety.
- ¹²He thwarts the plans of the crafty, so that their hands achieve no success.
- ¹³He catches the wise in their craftiness, and the schemes of the wily are swept away.
- ¹⁴Darkness comes upon them in the daytime; at noon they grope as in the night.
- ¹⁵He saves the needy from the sword in their mouth; he saves them from the clutches of the powerful.
- ¹⁶So the poor have hope,
and injustice shuts its mouth.
- ¹⁷“Blessed is the one whom God corrects; so do not despise the discipline of the Almighty.^a
- ¹⁸For he wounds, but he also binds up; he injures, but his hands also heal.

- ¹⁹From six calamities he will rescue you; in seven no harm will touch you.
- ²⁰In famine he will deliver you from death, and in battle from the stroke of the sword.
- ²¹You will be protected from the lash of the tongue, and need not fear when destruction comes.
- ²²You will laugh at destruction and famine, and need not fear the wild animals.
- ²³For you will have a covenant with the stones of the field, and the wild animals will be at peace with you.
- ²⁴You will know that your tent is secure; you will take stock of your property and find nothing missing.
- ²⁵You will know that your children will be many, and your descendants like the grass of the earth.
- ²⁶You will come to the grave in full vigor, like sheaves gathered in season.
- ²⁷“We have examined this, and it is true.
So hear it and apply it to yourself.”

Job 6

Job

¹Then Job replied: Integrity: Job Challenges His Friends to Identify His Flaws

²“If only my anguish could be weighed and all my misery be placed on the scales!

³It would surely outweigh the sand of the seas— no wonder my words have been impetuous.

⁴The arrows of the Almighty are in me, my spirit drinks in their poison; God’s terrors are marshaled against me.

⁵Does a wild donkey bray when it has grass, or an ox bellow when it has fodder?

⁶Is tasteless food eaten without salt, or is there flavor in the sap of the mallow^a?

⁷I refuse to touch it;
such food makes me ill.

⁸“Oh, that I might have my request, that God would grant what I hope for,

⁹that God would be willing to crush me, to let loose his hand and cut off my life!

¹⁰Then I would still have this consolation— my joy in unrelenting pain— that I had not denied the words of the Holy One.

¹¹“What strength do I have, that I should still hope?
What prospects, that I should be patient?

¹²Do I have the strength of stone?
Is my flesh bronze?

¹³Do I have any power to help myself, now that success has been driven from me?

¹⁴“Anyone who withholds kindness from a friend forsakes the fear of the Almighty.

¹⁵But my brothers are as undependable as intermittent streams, as the streams that overflow

¹⁶when darkened by thawing ice and swollen with melting snow,

¹⁷but that stop flowing in the dry season, and in the heat vanish from their channels.

¹⁸Caravans turn aside from their routes; they go off into the wasteland and perish.

¹⁹The caravans of Tema look for water, the traveling merchants of Sheba look in hope.

²⁰They are distressed, because they had been confident; they arrive there, only to be disappointed.

²¹Now you too have proved to be of no help; you see something dreadful and are afraid.

²²Have I ever said, 'Give something on my behalf, pay a ransom for me from your wealth, ²³deliver me from the hand of the enemy, rescue me from the clutches of the ruthless'?

²⁴"Teach me, and I will be quiet; show me where I have been wrong.

²⁵How painful are honest words!

But what do your arguments prove?

²⁶Do you mean to correct what I say, and treat my desperate words as wind?

²⁷You would even cast lots for the fatherless and barter away your friend.

²⁸"But now be so kind as to look at me.

Would I lie to your face?

²⁹Relent, do not be unjust;

reconsider, for my integrity is at stake.^b

³⁰Is there any wickedness on my lips?

Can my mouth not discern malice?

Job 7

- ¹“Do not mortals have hard service on earth?
Are not their days like those of hired laborers?
²Like a slave longing for the evening shadows, or a hired laborer waiting to be paid, ³so I have been allotted months of futility, and nights of misery have been assigned to me.
⁴When I lie down I think, ‘How long before I get up?’
The night drags on, and I toss and turn until dawn.
⁵My body is clothed with worms and scabs, my skin is broken and festering.
- ⁶“My days are swifter than a weaver’s shuttle, and they come to an end without hope.
⁷Remember, O God, that my life is but a breath; my eyes will never see happiness again.
⁸The eye that now sees me will see me no longer; you will look for me, but I will be no more.
⁹As a cloud vanishes and is gone, so one who goes down to the grave does not return.
¹⁰He will never come to his house again; his place will know him no more.
- ¹¹“Therefore I will not keep silent; I will speak out in the anguish of my spirit,
I will complain in the bitterness of my soul.
¹²Am I the sea, or the monster of the deep, that you put me under guard?
¹³When I think my bed will comfort me and my couch will ease my complaint, ¹⁴even then you frighten me with dreams and terrify me with visions, ¹⁵so that I prefer strangling and death, rather than this body of mine.
¹⁶I despise my life; I would not live forever.
Let me alone; my days have no meaning.
- ¹⁷“What is mankind that you make so much of them, that you give them so much attention,

¹⁸that you examine them every morning and test them every moment?

¹⁹Will you never look away from me, or let me alone even for an instant?

²⁰If I have sinned, what have I done to you, you who see everything we do?

Why have you made me your target?

Have I become a burden to you?^a ²¹Why do you not pardon my offenses and forgive my sins?

For I will soon lie down in the dust;

you will search for me, but I will be no more.”

Job 8

Bildad

¹Then Bildad the Shuhite replied:

²“How long will you say such things?
Your words are a blustering wind.

³Does God pervert justice?
Does the Almighty pervert what is right?

⁴When your children sinned against him, he gave them over to the penalty of their sin.

⁵But if you will seek God earnestly and plead with the Almighty, ⁶if you are pure and upright, even now he will rouse himself on your behalf and restore you to your prosperous state.

⁷Your beginnings will seem humble, so prosperous will your future be.

⁸“Ask the former generation and find out what their ancestors learned,

⁹for we were born only yesterday and know nothing, and our days on earth are but a shadow.

¹⁰Will they not instruct you and tell you?
Will they not bring forth words from their understanding?

¹¹Can papyrus grow tall where there is no marsh?
Can reeds thrive without water?

¹²While still growing and uncut, they wither more quickly than grass.

¹³Such is the destiny of all who forget God; so perishes the hope of the godless.

¹⁴What they trust in is fragile^a; what they rely on is a spider’s web.

¹⁵They lean on the web, but it gives way; they cling to it, but it does not hold.

¹⁶They are like a well-watered plant in the sunshine, spreading its shoots over the garden;

¹⁷it entwines its roots around a pile of rocks and looks for a place among the stones.

¹⁸But when it is torn from its spot, that place disowns it and says, ‘I never saw
you.’

¹⁹Surely its life withers away, and^b from the soil other plants grow.

²⁰“Surely God does not reject one who is blameless or strengthen the hands of evildoers.

²¹He will yet fill your mouth with laughter and your lips with shouts of joy.

²²Your enemies will be clothed in shame, and the tents of the wicked will be no more.”

Job 9

Job

¹Then Job replied:

²“Indeed, I know that this is true.

But how can mere mortals prove their innocence before God?

³Though they wished to dispute with him, they could not answer him one time out of a thousand.

⁴His wisdom is profound, his power is vast.

Who has resisted him and come out unscathed?

⁵He moves mountains without their knowing it and overturns them in his anger.

⁶He shakes the earth from its place and makes its pillars tremble.

⁷He speaks to the sun and it does not shine; he seals off the light of the stars.

⁸He alone stretches out the heavens and treads on the waves of the sea.

⁹He is the Maker of the Bear^a and Orion, the Pleiades and the constellations of the south.

¹⁰He performs wonders that cannot be fathomed, miracles that cannot be counted.

¹¹When he passes me, I cannot see him; when he goes by, I cannot perceive him.

¹²If he snatches away, who can stop him?

Who can say to him, ‘What are you doing?’

¹³God does not restrain his anger; even the cohorts of Rahab cowered at his feet.

¹⁴“How then can I dispute with him?

How can I find words to argue with him?

¹⁵Though I were innocent, I could not answer him; I could only plead with my Judge for mercy.

¹⁶Even if I summoned him and he responded, I do not believe he would give me a hearing.

¹⁷He would crush me with a storm and multiply my wounds for no reason.

¹⁸He would not let me catch my breath but would overwhelm me with misery.

¹⁹If it is a matter of strength, he is mighty!

And if it is a matter of justice, who can challenge him^b?

²⁰Even if I were innocent, my mouth would condemn me; if I were blameless, it would pronounce me guilty.

²¹“Although I am blameless,
I have no concern for myself;
I despise my own life.

²²It is all the same; that is why I say, ‘He destroys both the blameless and the wicked.’

²³When a scourge brings sudden death, he mocks the despair of the innocent.

²⁴When a land falls into the hands of the wicked, he blindfolds its judges.
If it is not he, then who is it?

²⁵“My days are swifter than a runner; they fly away without a glimpse of joy.

²⁶They skim past like boats of papyrus, like eagles swooping down on their prey.

²⁷If I say, ‘I will forget my complaint, I will change my expression, and smile,’ ²⁸I still dread all my sufferings, for I know you will not hold me innocent.

²⁹Since I am already found guilty, why should I struggle in vain?

³⁰Even if I washed myself with soap and my hands with cleansing powder, ³¹you would plunge me into a slime pit so that even my clothes would detest me.

³²“He is not a mere mortal like me that I might answer him, that we might confront each other in court.

³³If only there were someone to mediate between us, someone to bring us together, ³⁴someone to remove God’s rod from me, so that his terror would frighten me no more.

³⁵Then I would speak up without fear of him, but as it now stands with me, I cannot.

Job 10

- ¹“I loathe my very life;
therefore I will give free rein to my complaint and speak out in the bitterness of my soul.
- ²I say to God: Do not declare me guilty, but tell me what charges you have against me.
- ³Does it please you to oppress me, to spurn the work of your hands, while you smile on the plans of the wicked?
- ⁴Do you have eyes of flesh?
Do you see as a mortal sees?
- ⁵Are your days like those of a mortal or your years like those of a strong man,
- ⁶that you must search out my faults and probe after my sin— ⁷though you know that I am not guilty and that no one can rescue me from your hand?
- ⁸“Your hands shaped me and made me.
Will you now turn and destroy me?
- ⁹Remember that you molded me like clay.
Will you now turn me to dust again?
- ¹⁰Did you not pour me out like milk and curdle me like cheese, ¹¹clothe me with skin and flesh and knit me together with bones and sinews?
- ¹²You gave me life and showed me kindness, and in your providence watched over my spirit.
- ¹³“But this is what you concealed in your heart, and I know that this was in your mind:
- ¹⁴If I sinned, you would be watching me and would not let my offense go unpunished.
- ¹⁵If I am guilty—woe to me!
Even if I am innocent, I cannot lift my head,
for I am full of shame and drowned in^a my affliction.

- ¹⁶If I hold my head high, you stalk me like a lion and again display your awesome power against me.
- ¹⁷You bring new witnesses against me and increase your anger toward me; your forces come against me wave upon wave.
- ¹⁸“Why then did you bring me out of the womb?
I wish I had died before any eye saw me.
- ¹⁹If only I had never come into being, or had been carried straight from the womb to the grave!
- ²⁰Are not my few days almost over?
Turn away from me so I can have a moment’s joy
- ²¹before I go to the place of no return, to the land of gloom and utter darkness,
- ²²to the land of deepest night, of utter darkness and disorder, where even the light is like darkness.”

Job 11

Zophar

¹Then Zophar the Naamathite replied:

²“Are all these words to go unanswered?

Is this talker to be vindicated?

³Will your idle talk reduce others to silence?

Will no one rebuke you when you mock?

⁴You say to God, ‘My beliefs are flawless and I am pure in your sight.’

⁵Oh, how I wish that God would speak, that he would open his lips against you ⁶and disclose to you the secrets of wisdom, for true wisdom has two sides.

Know this: God has even forgotten some of your sin.

⁷“Can you fathom the mysteries of God?

Can you probe the limits of the Almighty?

⁸They are higher than the heavens above—what can you do?

They are deeper than the depths below—what can you know?

⁹Their measure is longer than the earth and wider than the sea.

¹⁰“If he comes along and confines you in prison and convenes a court, who can oppose him?

¹¹Surely he recognizes deceivers; and when he sees evil, does he not take note?

¹²But the witless can no more become wise than a wild donkey’s colt can be born human.^a

¹³“Yet if you devote your heart to him and stretch out your hands to him,

¹⁴if you put away the sin that is in your hand and allow no evil to dwell in your tent, ¹⁵then, free of fault, you will lift up your face; you will stand firm and without fear.

¹⁶You will surely forget your trouble, recalling it only as waters gone by.

¹⁷Life will be brighter than noonday, and darkness will become like morning.

¹⁸You will be secure, because there is hope; you will look about you and take your rest in safety.

¹⁹You will lie down, with no one to make you afraid, and many will court your favor.

²⁰But the eyes of the wicked will fail, and escape will elude them;
their hope will become a driving gear.”

their hope will become a dying gasp.

Job 12

Job

¹Then Job replied:

²“Doubtless you are the only people who matter, and wisdom will die with you!

³But I have a mind as well as you; I am not inferior to you.
Who does not know all these things?

⁴“I have become a laughingstock to my friends, though I called on God and he answered— a mere laughingstock, though righteous and blameless!

⁵Those who are at ease have contempt for misfortune as the fate of those whose feet are slipping.

⁶The tents of marauders are undisturbed, and those who provoke God are secure— those God has in his hand.^a

⁷“But ask the animals, and they will teach you, or the birds in the sky, and they will tell you;

⁸or speak to the earth, and it will teach you, or let the fish in the sea inform you.

⁹Which of all these does not know that the hand of the LORD has done this?

¹⁰In his hand is the life of every creature and the breath of all mankind.

¹¹Does not the ear test words
as the tongue tastes food?

¹²Is not wisdom found among the aged?
Does not long life bring understanding?

¹³“To God belong wisdom and power; counsel and understanding are his.

¹⁴What he tears down cannot be rebuilt; those he imprisons cannot be released.

¹⁵If he holds back the waters, there is drought; if he lets them loose, they devastate the land.

¹⁶To him belong strength and insight; both deceived and deceiver are his.

¹⁷He leads rulers away stripped and makes fools of judges.

¹⁸He takes off the shackles put on by kings and ties a loincloth^b around their waist.

¹⁹He leads priests away stripped and overthrows officials long established.

²⁰He silences the lips of trusted advisers and takes away the discernment of elders.

²¹He pours contempt on nobles and disarms the mighty.

²²He reveals the deep things of darkness and brings utter darkness into the light.

²³He makes nations great, and destroys them; he enlarges nations, and disperses them.

²⁴He deprives the leaders of the earth of their reason; he makes them wander in a trackless waste.

²⁵They grope in darkness with no light; he makes them stagger like drunkards.

Job 13

- ¹“My eyes have seen all this,
my ears have heard and understood it.
- ²What you know, I also know;
I am not inferior to you.
- ³But I desire to speak to the Almighty and to argue my case with God.
- ⁴You, however, smear me with lies; you are worthless physicians, all of
you!
- ⁵If only you would be altogether silent!
For you, that would be wisdom.
- ⁶Hear now my argument;
listen to the pleas of my lips.
- ⁷Will you speak wickedly on God’s behalf?
Will you speak deceitfully for him?
- ⁸Will you show him partiality?
Will you argue the case for God?
- ⁹Would it turn out well if he examined you?
Could you deceive him as you might deceive a mortal?
- ¹⁰He would surely call you to account if you secretly showed partiality.
- ¹¹Would not his splendor terrify you?
Would not the dread of him fall on you?
- ¹²Your maxims are proverbs of ashes; your defenses are defenses of clay.
- ¹³“Keep silent and let me speak; then let come to me what may.
- ¹⁴Why do I put myself in jeopardy and take my life in my hands?
- ¹⁵Though he slay me, yet will I hope in him; I will surely^a defend my ways to his face. Commitment: Job Stays Steady at All Costs
- ¹⁶Indeed, this will turn out for my deliverance, for no godless person would dare come before him!
- ¹⁷Listen carefully to what I say; let my words ring in your ears.
- ¹⁸Now that I have prepared my case, I know I will be vindicated.
- ¹⁹Can anyone bring charges against me?
If so, I will be silent and die.

²⁰“Only grant me these two things, God, and then I will not hide from you:

PROFILE in Leadership: Job: Puzzled, Not Unbelieving

²¹Withdraw your hand far from me, and stop frightening me with your terrors.

²²Then summon me and I will answer, or let me speak, and you reply to me.

²³How many wrongs and sins have I committed?

Show me my offense and my sin.

²⁴Why do you hide your face and consider me your enemy?

²⁵Will you torment a windblown leaf?

Will you chase after dry chaff?

²⁶For you write down bitter things against me and make me reap the sins of my youth.

²⁷You fasten my feet in shackles; you keep close watch on all my paths by putting marks on the soles of my feet.

²⁸“So man wastes away like something rotten, like a garment eaten by moths.

Job 14

- ¹“Mortals, born of woman, are of few days and full of trouble.
- ²They spring up like flowers and wither away; like fleeting shadows, they do not endure.
- ³Do you fix your eye on them?
Will you bring them^a before you for judgment?
- ⁴Who can bring what is pure from the impure?
No one!
- ⁵A person’s days are determined; you have decreed the number of his months
and have set limits he cannot exceed.
- ⁶So look away from him and let him alone, till he has put in his time like a hired laborer.
- ⁷“At least there is hope for a tree: If it is cut down, it will sprout again, and its new shoots will not fail.
- ⁸Its roots may grow old in the ground and its stump die in the soil, ⁹yet at the scent of water it will bud and put forth shoots like a plant.
- ¹⁰But a man dies and is laid low; he breathes his last and is no more.
- ¹¹As the water of a lake dries up or a riverbed becomes parched and dry, ¹²so he lies down and does not rise; till the heavens are no more, people will not awake or be roused from their sleep.
- ¹³“If only you would hide me in the grave and conceal me till your anger has passed!
If only you would set me a time and then remember me!
- ¹⁴If someone dies, will they live again?
All the days of my hard service
I will wait for my renewal^b to come.
- ¹⁵You will call and I will answer you; you will long for the creature your hands have made.

¹⁶Surely then you will count my steps but not keep track of my sin.

¹⁷My offenses will be sealed up in a bag; you will cover over my sin.

¹⁸“But as a mountain erodes and crumbles and as a rock is moved from its place,

¹⁹as water wears away stones and torrents wash away the soil, so you destroy a person’s hope.

²⁰You overpower them once for all, and they are gone; you change their countenance and send them away.

²¹If their children are honored, they do not know it; if their offspring are brought low, they do not see it.

²²They feel but the pain of their own bodies and mourn only for themselves.”

Job 15

Eliphaz

¹Then Eliphaz the Temanite replied:

²“Would a wise person answer with empty notions or fill their belly with the hot east wind?

³Would they argue with useless words, with speeches that have no value?

⁴But you even undermine piety and hinder devotion to God.

⁵Your sin prompts your mouth;
you adopt the tongue of the crafty.

⁶Your own mouth condemns you, not mine; your own lips testify against you.

⁷“Are you the first man ever born?
Were you brought forth before the hills?

⁸Do you listen in on God’s council?
Do you have a monopoly on wisdom?

⁹What do you know that we do not know?
What insights do you have that we do not have?

¹⁰The gray-haired and the aged are on our side, men even older than your father.

¹¹Are God’s consolations not enough for you, words spoken gently to you?

¹²Why has your heart carried you away, and why do your eyes flash, ¹³so that you vent your rage against God and pour out such words from your mouth?

¹⁴“What are mortals, that they could be pure, or those born of woman, that they could be righteous?

¹⁵If God places no trust in his holy ones, if even the heavens are not pure in his eyes, ¹⁶how much less mortals, who are vile and corrupt, who drink up evil like water!

¹⁷“Listen to me and I will explain to you; let me tell you what I have seen, ¹⁸what the wise have declared, hiding nothing received from their ancestors

¹⁹(to whom alone the land was given when no foreigners moved among them):

²⁰All his days the wicked man suffers torment, the ruthless man through all the years stored up for him.

- ²¹Terrifying sounds fill his ears; when all seems well, marauders attack him.
- ²²He despairs of escaping the realm of darkness; he is marked for the sword.
- ²³He wanders about for food like a vulture; he knows the day of darkness is at hand.
- ²⁴Distress and anguish fill him with terror; troubles overwhelm him, like a king poised to attack,
- ²⁵because he shakes his fist at God and vaunts himself against the Almighty,
- ²⁶defiantly charging against him with a thick, strong shield.
- ²⁷“Though his face is covered with fat and his waist bulges with flesh,
- ²⁸he will inhabit ruined towns and houses where no one lives, houses crumbling to rubble.
- ²⁹He will no longer be rich and his wealth will not endure, nor will his possessions spread over the land.
- ³⁰He will not escape the darkness; a flame will wither his shoots, and the breath of God’s mouth will carry him away.
- ³¹Let him not deceive himself by trusting what is worthless, for he will get nothing in return.
- ³²Before his time he will wither, and his branches will not flourish.
- ³³He will be like a vine stripped of its unripe grapes, like an olive tree shedding its blossoms.
- ³⁴For the company of the godless will be barren, and fire will consume the tents of those who love bribes.
- ³⁵They conceive trouble and give birth to evil; their womb fashions deceit.”

Job 16

Job

¹Then Job replied:

²“I have heard many things like these; you are miserable comforters, all of you!
Job's Friends Fail at the Law of Connection

³Will your long-winded speeches never end?
What ails you that you keep on arguing?

⁴I also could speak like you,
if you were in my place;
I could make fine speeches against you and shake my head at you.

⁵But my mouth would encourage you; comfort from my lips would bring you relief.

⁶“Yet if I speak, my pain is not relieved; and if I refrain, it does not go away.

⁷Surely, God, you have worn me out; you have devastated my entire household.

⁸You have shriveled me up—and it has become a witness; my gauntness rises up and testifies against me.

⁹God assails me and tears me in his anger and gnashes his teeth at me;
my opponent fastens on me his piercing eyes.

¹⁰People open their mouths to jeer at me; they strike my cheek in scorn and unite together against me.

¹¹God has turned me over to the ungodly and thrown me into the clutches of the wicked.

¹²All was well with me, but he shattered me; he seized me by the neck and crushed me.

He has made me his target;

¹³his archers surround me.

Without pity, he pierces my kidneys and spills my gall on the ground.

¹⁴Again and again he bursts upon me; he rushes at me like a warrior.

¹⁵“I have sewed sackcloth over my skin and buried my brow in the dust.

¹⁶My face is red with weeping, dark shadows ring my eyes.

sun shading my eyes,

¹⁷yet my hands have been free of violence and my prayer is pure.

¹⁸“Earth, do not cover my blood; may my cry never be laid to rest!

¹⁹Even now my witness is in heaven; my advocate is on high.

²⁰My intercessor is my friend^a as my eyes pour out tears to God;

²¹on behalf of a man he pleads with God as one pleads for a friend.

²²“Only a few years will pass before I take the path of no return.

Job 17

- ¹My spirit is broken,
my days are cut short,
the grave awaits me.
- ²Surely mockers surround me;
my eyes must dwell on their hostility.
- ³“Give me, O God, the pledge you demand.
Who else will put up security for me?
- ⁴You have closed their minds to understanding; therefore you will not let them triumph.
- ⁵If anyone denounces their friends for reward, the eyes of their children will fail.
- ⁶“God has made me a byword to everyone, a man in whose face people spit.
- ⁷My eyes have grown dim with grief; my whole frame is but a shadow.
- ⁸The upright are appalled at this; the innocent are aroused against the ungodly.
- ⁹Nevertheless, the righteous will hold to their ways, and those with clean hands will grow stronger.
- ¹⁰“But come on, all of you, try again!
I will not find a wise man among you.
- ¹¹My days have passed, my plans are shattered.
Yet the desires of my heart
- ¹²turn night into day;
in the face of the darkness light is near.
- ¹³If the only home I hope for is the grave, if I spread out my bed in the realm of darkness,
- ¹⁴if I say to corruption, ‘You are my father,’ and to the worm, ‘My mother’ or ‘My sister,’
- ¹⁵where then is my hope—who can see any hope for me?
- ¹⁶Will it go down to the gates of death?
Will we descend together into the dust?”

will we descend together into the dust!

Job 18

Bildad

¹Then Bildad the Shuhite replied:

²“When will you end these speeches?
Be sensible, and then we can talk.

³Why are we regarded as cattle and considered stupid in your sight?

⁴You who tear yourself to pieces in your anger, is the earth to be abandoned for your sake?
Or must the rocks be moved from their place?

⁵“The lamp of a wicked man is snuffed out; the flame of his fire stops burning.

⁶The light in his tent becomes dark; the lamp beside him goes out.

⁷The vigor of his step is weakened; his own schemes throw him down.

⁸His feet thrust him into a net; he wanders into its mesh.

⁹A trap seizes him by the heel; a snare holds him fast.

¹⁰A noose is hidden for him on the ground; a trap lies in his path.

¹¹Terrors startle him on every side and dog his every step.

¹²Calamity is hungry for him;
disaster is ready for him when he falls.

¹³It eats away parts of his skin; death's firstborn devours his limbs.

¹⁴He is torn from the security of his tent and marched off to the king of terrors.

¹⁵Fire resides^a in his tent; burning sulfur is scattered over his dwelling.

¹⁶His roots dry up below and his branches wither above.

¹⁷The memory of him perishes from the earth; he has no name in the land.

¹⁸He is driven from light into the realm of darkness and is banished from the world.

¹⁹He has no offspring or descendants among his people, no survivor where once he lived.

²⁰People of the west are appalled at his fate; those of the east are seized with horror.

²¹Surely such is the dwelling of an evil man; such is the place of one who does not know God.”

Job 19

Job

¹Then Job replied:

²“How long will you torment me and crush me with words?

³Ten times now you have reproached me; shamelessly you attack me.

⁴If it is true that I have gone astray, my error remains my concern alone.

⁵If indeed you would exalt yourselves above me and use my humiliation against me,

⁶then know that God has wronged me and drawn his net around me.

⁷“Though I cry, ‘Violence!’ I get no response; though I call for help, there is no justice.

⁸He has blocked my way so I cannot pass; he has shrouded my paths in darkness.

⁹He has stripped me of my honor and removed the crown from my head.

¹⁰He tears me down on every side till I am gone; he uproots my hope like a tree.

¹¹His anger burns against me;
he counts me among his enemies.

¹²His troops advance in force;
they build a siege ramp against me and encamp around my tent.

¹³“He has alienated my family from me; my acquaintances are completely estranged from me.

¹⁴My relatives have gone away;
my closest friends have forgotten me.

¹⁵My guests and my female servants count me a foreigner; they look on me as on a stranger.

¹⁶I summon my servant, but he does not answer, though I beg him with my own mouth.

¹⁷My breath is offensive to my wife; I am loathsome to my own family.

¹⁸Even the little boys scorn me; when I appear, they ridicule me.

¹⁹All my intimate friends detest me; those I love have turned against me.

²⁰I am nothing but skin and bones; I have escaped only by the skin of my teeth.^a

²¹“Have pity on me, my friends, have pity, for the hand of God has struck me.

²²Why do you pursue me as God does?
Will you never get enough of my flesh?

²³“Oh, that my words were recorded, that they were written on a scroll, ²⁴that they were inscribed with an iron tool on^b lead, or engraved in rock forever!

²⁵I know that my redeemer^c lives, and that in the end he will stand on the earth.^d Vision: Job's Perspective Separates Him from the Others

²⁶And after my skin has been destroyed, yet^e in^f my flesh I will see God; ²⁷I myself will see him with my own eyes—I, and not another.
How my heart yearns within me!

²⁸“If you say, ‘How we will hound him, since the root of the trouble lies in him,^g’

²⁹you should fear the sword yourselves; for wrath will bring punishment by the sword, and then you will know that there is judgment.^h”

Job 20

Zophar

¹Then Zophar the Naamathite replied:

²“My troubled thoughts prompt me to answer because I am greatly disturbed.

³I hear a rebuke that dishonors me, and my understanding inspires me to reply.

⁴“Surely you know how it has been from of old, ever since mankind^a was placed on the earth, ⁵that the mirth of the wicked is brief, the joy of the godless lasts but a moment.

⁶Though the pride of the godless person reaches to the heavens and his head touches the clouds, ⁷he will perish forever, like his own dung; those who have seen him will say, ‘Where is he?’

⁸Like a dream he flies away, no more to be found, banished like a vision of the night.

⁹The eye that saw him will not see him again; his place will look on him no more.

¹⁰His children must make amends to the poor; his own hands must give back his wealth.

¹¹The youthful vigor that fills his bones will lie with him in the dust.

¹²“Though evil is sweet in his mouth and he hides it under his tongue,

¹³though he cannot bear to let it go and lets it linger in his mouth, ¹⁴yet his food will turn sour in his stomach; it will become the venom of serpents within him.

¹⁵He will spit out the riches he swallowed; God will make his stomach vomit them up.

¹⁶He will suck the poison of serpents; the fangs of an adder will kill him.

¹⁷He will not enjoy the streams, the rivers flowing with honey and cream.

¹⁸What he toiled for he must give back uneaten; he will not enjoy the profit from his trading.

¹⁹For he has oppressed the poor and left them destitute; he has seized houses he did not build.

²⁰“Surely he will have no respite from his craving; he cannot save himself by his treasure.

- ²¹Nothing is left for him to devour; his prosperity will not endure.
- ²²In the midst of his plenty, distress will overtake him; the full force of misery will come upon him.
- ²³When he has filled his belly, God will vent his burning anger against him and rain down his blows on him.
- ²⁴Though he flees from an iron weapon, a bronze-tipped arrow pierces him.
- ²⁵He pulls it out of his back,
the gleaming point out of his liver.
Terrors will come over him;
²⁶total darkness lies in wait for his treasures.
A fire unfanned will consume him and devour what is left in his tent.
- ²⁷The heavens will expose his guilt; the earth will rise up against him.
- ²⁸A flood will carry off his house, rushing waters^b on the day of God's wrath.
- ²⁹Such is the fate God allots the wicked, the heritage appointed for them by God."

Job 21

Job

¹Then Job replied:

²“Listen carefully to my words; let this be the consolation you give me.

³Bear with me while I speak, and after I have spoken, mock on.

⁴“Is my complaint directed to a human being?
Why should I not be impatient?

⁵Look at me and be appalled;
clap your hand over your mouth.

⁶When I think about this, I am terrified; trembling seizes my body.

⁷Why do the wicked live on, growing old and increasing in power?

⁸They see their children established around them, their offspring before their eyes.

⁹Their homes are safe and free from fear; the rod of God is not on them.

¹⁰Their bulls never fail to breed; their cows calve and do not miscarry.

¹¹They send forth their children as a flock; their little ones dance about.

¹²They sing to the music of timbrel and lyre; they make merry to the sound of the pipe.

¹³They spend their years in prosperity and go down to the grave in peace.^a ¹⁴Yet they say to God, ‘Leave us alone!

We have no desire to know your ways.

¹⁵Who is the Almighty, that we should serve him?
What would we gain by praying to him?’

¹⁶But their prosperity is not in their own hands, so I stand aloof from the plans of the wicked.

¹⁷“Yet how often is the lamp of the wicked snuffed out?
How often does calamity come upon them,
the fate God allots in his anger?

¹⁸How often are they like straw before the wind, like chaff swept away by a gale?

¹⁹It is said, ‘God stores up the punishment of the wicked for their children.’
Let him repay the wicked, so that they themselves will experience it!

²⁰Let their own eyes see their destruction; let them drink the cup of the wrath of the Almighty.

²¹For what do they care about the families they leave behind when their allotted months come to an end?

²²“Can anyone teach knowledge to God, since he judges even the highest?

²³One person dies in full vigor, completely secure and at ease,

²⁴well nourished in body,^b bones rich with marrow.

²⁵Another dies in bitterness of soul, never having enjoyed anything good.

²⁶Side by side they lie in the dust, and worms cover them both.

²⁷“I know full well what you are thinking, the schemes by which you would wrong me.

²⁸You say, ‘Where now is the house of the great, the tents where the wicked lived?’

²⁹Have you never questioned those who travel?

Have you paid no regard to their accounts—

³⁰that the wicked are spared from the day of calamity, that they are delivered from^c the day of wrath?

³¹Who denounces their conduct to their face?

Who repays them for what they have done?

³²They are carried to the grave, and watch is kept over their tombs.

³³The soil in the valley is sweet to them; everyone follows after them, and a countless throng goes^d before them.

³⁴“So how can you console me with your nonsense?

Nothing is left of your answers but falsehood!”

Job 22

Eliphaz

¹Then Eliphaz the Temanite replied:

²“Can a man be of benefit to God?

Can even a wise person benefit him?

³What pleasure would it give the Almighty if you were righteous?

What would he gain if your ways were blameless?

⁴“Is it for your piety that he rebukes you and brings charges against you?

⁵Is not your wickedness great?

Are not your sins endless?

⁶You demanded security from your relatives for no reason; you stripped people of their clothing, leaving them naked.

⁷You gave no water to the weary and you withheld food from the hungry, ⁸though you were a powerful man, owning land— an honored man, living on it.

⁹And you sent widows away empty-handed and broke the strength of the fatherless.

¹⁰That is why snares are all around you, why sudden peril terrifies you, ¹¹why it is so dark you cannot see, and why a flood of water covers you.

¹²“Is not God in the heights of heaven?

And see how lofty are the highest stars!

¹³Yet you say, ‘What does God know?

Does he judge through such darkness?

¹⁴Thick clouds veil him, so he does not see us as he goes about in the vaulted heavens.’

¹⁵Will you keep to the old path that the wicked have trod?

¹⁶They were carried off before their time, their foundations washed away by a flood.

¹⁷They said to God, ‘Leave us alone!

What can the Almighty do to us?’

¹⁸Yet it was he who filled their houses with good things, so I stand aloof from the plans of the wicked.

¹⁹The righteous see their ruin and rejoice; the innocent mock them, saying,

²⁰‘Surely our foes are destroyed, and fire devours their wealth.’

- ²¹“Submit to God and be at peace with him; in this way prosperity will come to you.
- ²²Accept instruction from his mouth and lay up his words in your heart.
- ²³If you return to the Almighty, you will be restored: If you remove wickedness far from your tent
- ²⁴and assign your nuggets to the dust, your gold of Ophir to the rocks in the ravines,
- ²⁵then the Almighty will be your gold, the choicest silver for you.
- ²⁶Surely then you will find delight in the Almighty and will lift up your face to God.
- ²⁷You will pray to him, and he will hear you, and you will fulfill your vows.
- ²⁸What you decide on will be done, and light will shine on your ways.
- ²⁹When people are brought low and you say, ‘Lift them up!’ then he will save the downcast.
- ³⁰He will deliver even one who is not innocent, who will be delivered through the cleanness of your hands.”

Job 23

Job

¹Then Job replied:

²“Even today my complaint is bitter; his hand^a is heavy in spite of^b my groaning.

³If only I knew where to find him; if only I could go to his dwelling!

⁴I would state my case before him and fill my mouth with arguments.

⁵I would find out what he would answer me, and consider what he would say to me.

⁶Would he vigorously oppose me?

No, he would not press charges against me.

⁷There the upright can establish their innocence before him, and there I would be delivered forever from my judge.

⁸“But if I go to the east, he is not there; if I go to the west, I do not find him.

⁹When he is at work in the north, I do not see him; when he turns to the south, I catch no glimpse of him.

¹⁰But he knows the way that I take; when he has tested me, I will come forth as gold.

¹¹My feet have closely followed his steps; I have kept to his way without turning aside.

¹²I have not departed from the commands of his lips; I have treasured the words of his mouth more than my daily bread.

¹³“But he stands alone, and who can oppose him?

He does whatever he pleases.

¹⁴He carries out his decree against me, and many such plans he still has in store.

¹⁵That is why I am terrified before him; when I think of all this, I fear him.

¹⁶God has made my heart faint;
the Almighty has terrified me.

¹⁷Yet I am not silenced by the darkness, by the thick darkness that covers my face.

Job 24

- ¹“Why does the Almighty not set times for judgment?
Why must those who know him look in vain for such days?
- ²There are those who move boundary stones; they pasture flocks they have stolen.
- ³They drive away the orphan’s donkey and take the widow’s ox in pledge.
- ⁴They thrust the needy from the path and force all the poor of the land into hiding.
- ⁵Like wild donkeys in the desert, the poor go about their labor of foraging food;
the wasteland provides food for their children.
- ⁶They gather fodder in the fields and glean in the vineyards of the wicked.
- ⁷Lacking clothes, they spend the night naked; they have nothing to cover themselves in the cold.
- ⁸They are drenched by mountain rains and hug the rocks for lack of shelter.
- ⁹The fatherless child is snatched from the breast; the infant of the poor is seized for a debt.
- ¹⁰Lacking clothes, they go about naked; they carry the sheaves, but still go hungry.
- ¹¹They crush olives among the terraces^a; they tread the winepresses, yet suffer thirst.
- ¹²The groans of the dying rise from the city, and the souls of the wounded cry out for help.
But God charges no one with wrongdoing.
- ¹³“There are those who rebel against the light, who do not know its ways or stay in its paths.
- ¹⁴When daylight is gone, the murderer rises up, kills the poor and needy, and in the night steals forth like a thief.
- ¹⁵The eye of the adulterer watches for dusk; he thinks, ‘No eye will see me,’ and he keeps his face concealed.
- ¹⁶In the dark, thieves break into houses, but by day they shut themselves in; they want nothing to do with the light.

- ¹⁷For all of them, midnight is their morning; they make friends with the terrors of darkness.
- ¹⁸“Yet they are foam on the surface of the water; their portion of the land is cursed,
so that no one goes to the vineyards.
- ¹⁹As heat and drought snatch away the melted snow, so the grave snatches away those who have sinned.
- ²⁰The womb forgets them,
the worm feasts on them;
the wicked are no longer remembered
but are broken like a tree.
- ²¹They prey on the barren and childless woman, and to the widow they show no kindness.
- ²²But God drags away the mighty by his power; though they become established, they have no assurance of life.
- ²³He may let them rest in a feeling of security, but his eyes are on their ways.
- ²⁴For a little while they are exalted, and then they are gone; they are brought low and gathered up like all others;
they are cut off like heads of grain.
- ²⁵“If this is not so, who can prove me false and reduce my words to nothing?” PROFILE in Leadership: Job's Friends: Misguided Companions Who Meant Well

Job 25

Bildad

¹Then Bildad the Shuhite replied:

²“Dominion and awe belong to God; he establishes order in the heights of heaven.

³Can his forces be numbered?

On whom does his light not rise?

⁴How then can a mortal be righteous before God?

How can one born of woman be pure?

⁵If even the moon is not bright and the stars are not pure in his eyes,

⁶how much less a mortal, who is but a maggot— a human being, who is only a worm!”

Job 26

Job

¹Then Job replied:

²“How you have helped the powerless!
How you have saved the arm that is feeble!

³What advice you have offered to one without wisdom!
And what great insight you have displayed!

⁴Who has helped you utter these words?
And whose spirit spoke from your mouth?

⁵“The dead are in deep anguish, those beneath the waters and all that live in them.

⁶The realm of the dead is naked before God; Destruction^a lies uncovered.

⁷He spreads out the northern skies over empty space; he suspends the earth over nothing.

⁸He wraps up the waters in his clouds, yet the clouds do not burst under their weight.

⁹He covers the face of the full moon, spreading his clouds over it.

¹⁰He marks out the horizon on the face of the waters for a boundary between light and darkness.

¹¹The pillars of the heavens quake, aghast at his rebuke.

¹²By his power he churned up the sea; by his wisdom he cut Rahab to pieces.

¹³By his breath the skies became fair; his hand pierced the gliding serpent.

¹⁴And these are but the outer fringe of his works; how faint the whisper we hear of him!

Who then can understand the thunder of his power?”

Job 27

Job's Final Word to His Friends

¹And Job continued his discourse:

²“As surely as God lives, who has denied me justice, the Almighty, who has made my life bitter,

³as long as I have life within me, the breath of God in my nostrils, ⁴my lips will not say anything wicked, and my tongue will not utter lies.

⁵I will never admit you are in the right; till I die, I will not deny my integrity.

⁶I will maintain my innocence and never let go of it; my conscience will not reproach me as long as I live.

⁷“May my enemy be like the wicked, my adversary like the unjust!

⁸For what hope have the godless when they are cut off, when God takes away their life?

⁹Does God listen to their cry when distress comes upon them?

¹⁰Will they find delight in the Almighty?
Will they call on God at all times?

¹¹“I will teach you about the power of God; the ways of the Almighty I will not conceal.

¹²You have all seen this yourselves.
Why then this meaningless talk?

¹³“Here is the fate God allots to the wicked, the heritage a ruthless man receives from the Almighty:

¹⁴However many his children, their fate is the sword; his offspring will never have enough to eat.

¹⁵The plague will bury those who survive him, and their widows will not weep for them.

¹⁶Though he heaps up silver like dust and clothes like piles of clay, ¹⁷what he lays up the righteous will wear, and the innocent will divide his silver.

¹⁸The house he builds is like a moth's cocoon, like a hut made by a watchman.

¹⁹He lies down wealthy, but will do so no more; when he opens his eyes, all is gone.

²⁰Terrors overtake him like a flood; a tempest snatches him away in the night.

²¹The east wind carries him off, and he is gone; it sweeps him out of his place.

²²It hurls itself against him without mercy as he flees headlong from its power.

²³It claps its hands in derision and hisses him out of his place.”

Job 28

Interlude: Where Wisdom Is Found

- ¹There is a mine for silver and a place where gold is refined.
- ²Iron is taken from the earth, and copper is smelted from ore.
- ³Mortals put an end to the darkness; they search out the farthest recesses for ore in the blackest darkness.
- ⁴Far from human dwellings they cut a shaft, in places untouched by human feet;
far from other people they dangle and sway.
- ⁵The earth, from which food comes, is transformed below as by fire;
- ⁶lapis lazuli comes from its rocks, and its dust contains nuggets of gold.
- ⁷No bird of prey knows that hidden path, no falcon's eye has seen it.
- ⁸Proud beasts do not set foot on it, and no lion prowls there.
- ⁹People assault the flinty rock with their hands and lay bare the roots of the mountains.
- ¹⁰They tunnel through the rock; their eyes see all its treasures.
- ¹¹They search^a the sources of the rivers and bring hidden things to light.
- ¹²But where can wisdom be found?
Where does understanding dwell?
- ¹³No mortal comprehends its worth; it cannot be found in the land of the living.
- ¹⁴The deep says, "It is not in me"; the sea says, "It is not with me."
- ¹⁵It cannot be bought with the finest gold, nor can its price be weighed out in silver.
- ¹⁶It cannot be bought with the gold of Ophir, with precious onyx or lapis lazuli.
- ¹⁷Neither gold nor crystal can compare with it, nor can it be had for jewels of gold.
- ¹⁸Coral and jasper are not worthy of mention; the price of wisdom is beyond rubies.

¹⁹The topaz of Cush cannot compare with it; it cannot be bought with pure gold.

²⁰Where then does wisdom come from?

Where does understanding dwell?

²¹It is hidden from the eyes of every living thing, concealed even from the birds in the sky.

²²Destruction^b and Death say, “Only a rumor of it has reached our ears.”

²³God understands the way to it and he alone knows where it dwells, Wisdom: Job Recognizes His Source of Wisdom and Seeks It

²⁴for he views the ends of the earth and sees everything under the heavens.

²⁵When he established the force of the wind and measured out the waters,

²⁶when he made a decree for the rain and a path for the thunderstorm, ²⁷then he looked at wisdom and appraised it; he confirmed it and tested it.

²⁸And he said to the human race, “The fear of the Lord—that is wisdom, and to shun evil is understanding.”

Job 29

Job's Final Defense

¹Job continued his discourse:

²"How I long for the months gone by, for the days when God watched over me, ³when his lamp shone on my head and by his light I walked through darkness!

⁴Oh, for the days when I was in my prime, when God's intimate friendship blessed my house,

⁵when the Almighty was still with me and my children were around me, ⁶when my path was drenched with cream and the rock poured out for me streams of olive oil.

⁷"When I went to the gate of the city and took my seat in the public square,

⁸the young men saw me and stepped aside and the old men rose to their feet;

⁹the chief men refrained from speaking and covered their mouths with their hands;

¹⁰the voices of the nobles were hushed, and their tongues stuck to the roof of their mouths.

¹¹Whoever heard me spoke well of me, and those who saw me commended me, ¹²because I rescued the poor who cried for help, and the fatherless who had none to assist them.

¹³The one who was dying blessed me; I made the widow's heart sing.

¹⁴I put on righteousness as my clothing; justice was my robe and my turban.

¹⁵I was eyes to the blind and feet to the lame.

¹⁶I was a father to the needy;
I took up the case of the stranger.

¹⁷I broke the fangs of the wicked and snatched the victims from their teeth.

¹⁸“I thought, ‘I will die in my own house, my days as numerous as the grains of sand.

¹⁹My roots will reach to the water, and the dew will lie all night on my branches.

²⁰My glory will not fade;
the bow will be ever new in my hand.’

²¹“People listened to me expectantly, waiting in silence for my counsel.

²²After I had spoken, they spoke no more; my words fell gently on their ears.

²³They waited for me as for showers and drank in my words as the spring rain.

²⁴When I smiled at them, they scarcely believed it; the light of my face was precious to them.^a

²⁵I chose the way for them and sat as their chief; I dwelt as a king among his troops;

I was like one who comforts mourners.

Job 30

- ¹“But now they mock me,
men younger than I,
whose fathers I would have disdained to put with my sheep dogs.
- ²Of what use was the strength of their hands to me, since their vigor had gone from them?
- ³Haggard from want and hunger,
they roamed^a the parched land in desolate wastelands at night.
- ⁴In the brush they gathered salt herbs, and their food^b was the root of the broom bush.
- ⁵They were banished from human society, shouted at as if they were thieves.
- ⁶They were forced to live in the dry stream beds, among the rocks and in holes in the ground.
- ⁷They brayed among the bushes and huddled in the undergrowth.
- ⁸A base and nameless brood,
they were driven out of the land.
- ⁹“And now those young men mock me in song; I have become a byword among them.
- ¹⁰They detest me and keep their distance; they do not hesitate to spit in my face.
- ¹¹Now that God has unstrung my bow and afflicted me, they throw off restraint in my presence.
- ¹²On my right the tribe^c attacks; they lay snares for my feet, they build their siege ramps against me.
- ¹³They break up my road;
they succeed in destroying me.
‘No one can help him,’ they say.
- ¹⁴They advance as through a gaping breach; amid the ruins they come rolling in.
- ¹⁵Terrors overwhelm me;

my dignity is driven away as by the wind,
my safety vanishes like a cloud.

¹⁶“And now my life ebbs away;
days of suffering grip me.

¹⁷Night pierces my bones;
my gnawing pains never rest.

¹⁸In his great power God becomes like clothing to me^d; he binds me like the neck of my garment.

¹⁹He throws me into the mud, and I am reduced to dust and ashes.

²⁰“I cry out to you, God, but you do not answer; I stand up, but you merely look at me.

²¹You turn on me ruthlessly;
with the might of your hand you attack me.

²²You snatch me up and drive me before the wind; you toss me about in the storm.

²³I know you will bring me down to death, to the place appointed for all the living.

²⁴“Surely no one lays a hand on a broken man when he cries for help in his distress.

²⁵Have I not wept for those in trouble?
Has not my soul grieved for the poor?

²⁶Yet when I hoped for good, evil came; when I looked for light, then came darkness.

²⁷The churning inside me never stops; days of suffering confront me.

²⁸I go about blackened, but not by the sun; I stand up in the assembly and cry for help.

²⁹I have become a brother of jackals, a companion of owls.

³⁰My skin grows black and peels; my body burns with fever.

³¹My lyre is tuned to mourning, and my pipe to the sound of wailing.

Job 31

¹“I made a covenant with my eyes not to look lustfully at a young woman.

Character and Consistency: Job Affirms His Promise

²For what is our lot from God above, our heritage from the Almighty on high?

³Is it not ruin for the wicked, disaster for those who do wrong?

⁴Does he not see my ways and count my every step?

⁵“If I have walked with falsehood or my foot has hurried after deceit— ⁶let
God weigh me in honest scales and he will know that I am blameless— ⁷if my steps have turned from the path, if my heart has been led by my eyes,
or if my hands have been defiled,

⁸then may others eat what I have sown, and may my crops be uprooted.

⁹“If my heart has been enticed by a woman, or if I have lurked at my neighbor’s door,

¹⁰then may my wife grind another man’s grain, and may other men sleep with her.

¹¹For that would have been wicked, a sin to be judged.

¹²It is a fire that burns to Destruction^a; it would have uprooted my harvest.

¹³“If I have denied justice to any of my servants, whether male or female,
when they had a grievance against me,

¹⁴what will I do when God confronts me?
What will I answer when called to account?

¹⁵Did not he who made me in the womb make them?
Did not the same one form us both within our mothers?

¹⁶“If I have denied the desires of the poor or let the eyes of the widow grow weary,

¹⁷if I have kept my bread to myself, not sharing it with the fatherless—¹⁸but from my youth I reared them as a father would, and from my birth I guided the widow— ¹⁹if I have seen anyone perishing for lack of clothing, or the needy without garments, ²⁰and their hearts did not bless me for warming them with the fleece from my sheep,

²¹if I have raised my hand against the fatherless, knowing that I had influence in court, ²²then let my arm fall from the shoulder, let it be broken off at the joint.
²³For I dreaded destruction from God, and for fear of his splendor I could not do such things.

²⁴“If I have put my trust in gold or said to pure gold, ‘You are my security,’ ²⁵if I have rejoiced over my great wealth, the fortune my hands had gained,
²⁶if I have regarded the sun in its radiance or the moon moving in splendor, ²⁷so that my heart was secretly enticed and my hand offered them a kiss of homage, ²⁸then these also would be sins to be judged, for I would have been unfaithful to God on high.

²⁹“If I have rejoiced at my enemy’s misfortune or gloated over the trouble that came to him— ³⁰I have not allowed my mouth to sin by invoking a curse against their life— ³¹if those of my household have never said, ‘Who has not been filled with Job’s meat?’— ³²but no stranger had to spend the night in the street, for my door was always open to the traveler— ³³if I have concealed my sin as people do,^b
by hiding my guilt in my heart ³⁴because I so feared the crowd and so dreaded the contempt of the clans that I kept silent and would not go outside—

³⁵(“Oh, that I had someone to hear me!
I sign now my defense—let the Almighty answer me;
let my accuser put his indictment in writing.
³⁶Surely I would wear it on my shoulder, I would put it on like a crown.
³⁷I would give him an account of my every step; I would present it to him as to a ruler.)— ³⁸“if my land cries out against me and all its furrows are wet with tears,

³⁹if I have devoured its yield without payment or broken the spirit of its tenants,

⁴⁰then let briers come up instead of wheat and stinkweed instead of barley.”

The words of Job are ended.

Job 32

Elihu

¹So these three men stopped answering Job, because he was righteous in his own eyes. ²But Elihu son of Barakel the Buzite, of the family of Ram, became very angry with Job for justifying himself rather than God. ³He was also angry with the three friends, because they had found no way to refute Job, and yet had condemned him.^a ⁴Now Elihu had waited before speaking to Job because they were older than he. ⁵But when he saw that the three men had nothing more to say, his anger was aroused.

⁶So Elihu son of Barakel the Buzite said:

“I am young in years,
and you are old;
that is why I was fearful,
not daring to tell you what I know.

⁷I thought, ‘Age should speak;
advanced years should teach wisdom.’

⁸But it is the spirit^b in a person, the breath of the Almighty, that gives them understanding.

⁹It is not only the old^c who are wise, not only the aged who understand what is right.

¹⁰“Therefore I say: Listen to me; I too will tell you what I know.

¹¹I waited while you spoke,
I listened to your reasoning;
while you were searching for words,
¹²I gave you my full attention.
But not one of you has proved Job wrong;
none of you has answered his arguments.

¹³Do not say, ‘We have found wisdom; let God, not a man, refute him.’

¹⁴But Job has not marshaled his words against me, and I will not answer him with your arguments.

¹⁵“They are dismayed and have no more to say; words have failed them.

¹⁶Must I wait, now that they are silent, now that they stand there with no reply?

¹⁷I too will have my say;
I too will tell what I know.

I TOO WILL TELL WHAT I KNOW.

¹⁸For I am full of words, and the spirit within me compels me;

¹⁹inside I am like bottled-up wine, like new wineskins ready to burst.

²⁰I must speak and find relief; I must open my lips and reply.

²¹I will show no partiality,

nor will I flatter anyone;

²²for if I were skilled in flattery, my Maker would soon take me away.

Job 33

- ¹“But now, Job, listen to my words; pay attention to everything I say.
²I am about to open my mouth;
 my words are on the tip of my tongue.
³My words come from an upright heart; my lips sincerely speak what I know.
⁴The Spirit of God has made me; the breath of the Almighty gives me life.
⁵Answer me then, if you can;
 stand up and argue your case before me.
⁶I am the same as you in God’s sight; I too am a piece of clay.
⁷No fear of me should alarm you, nor should my hand be heavy on you.
- ⁸“But you have said in my hearing— I heard the very words—
⁹‘I am pure, I have done no wrong; I am clean and free from sin.
¹⁰Yet God has found fault with me; he considers me his enemy.
¹¹He fastens my feet in shackles; he keeps close watch on all my paths.’
- ¹²“But I tell you, in this you are not right, for God is greater than any mortal.
¹³Why do you complain to him that he responds to no one’s words^a?
¹⁴For God does speak—now one way, now another— though no one perceives it.
¹⁵In a dream, in a vision of the night, when deep sleep falls on people as they slumber in their beds, ¹⁶he may speak in their ears and terrify them with warnings, ¹⁷to turn them from wrongdoing and keep them from pride, ¹⁸to preserve them from the pit, their lives from perishing by the sword.^b
- ¹⁹“Or someone may be chastened on a bed of pain with constant distress in their bones,
²⁰so that their body finds food repulsive and their soul loathes the choicest meal.

²¹Their flesh wastes away to nothing, and their bones, once hidden, now stick out.

²²They draw near to the pit, and their life to the messengers of death.^c

²³Yet if there is an angel at their side, a messenger, one out of a thousand, sent to tell them how to be upright,

²⁴and he is gracious to that person and says to God, ‘Spare them from going down to the pit;

I have found a ransom for them—

²⁵let their flesh be renewed like a child’s; let them be restored as in the days of their youth’— ²⁶then that person can pray to God and find favor with him, they will see God’s face and shout for joy;
he will restore them to full well-being.

²⁷And they will go to others and say, ‘I have sinned, I have perverted what is right,
but I did not get what I deserved.

²⁸God has delivered me from going down to the pit, and I shall live to enjoy the light of life.’

²⁹“God does all these things to a person— twice, even three times—

³⁰to turn them back from the pit, that the light of life may shine on them.

³¹“Pay attention, Job, and listen to me; be silent, and I will speak.

³²If you have anything to say, answer me; speak up, for I want to vindicate
you.

³³But if not, then listen to me; be silent, and I will teach you wisdom.”

Job 34

¹Then Elihu said:

²“Hear my words, you wise men; listen to me, you men of learning.

³For the ear tests words
as the tongue tastes food.

⁴Let us discern for ourselves what is right; let us learn together what is good.

⁵“Job says, ‘I am innocent, but God denies me justice.

⁶Although I am right,
I am considered a liar;
although I am guiltless,
his arrow inflicts an incurable wound.’

⁷Is there anyone like Job, who drinks scorn like water?

⁸He keeps company with evildoers; he associates with the wicked.

⁹For he says, ‘There is no profit in trying to please God.’

¹⁰“So listen to me, you men of understanding.
Far be it from God to do evil,
from the Almighty to do wrong.

¹¹He repays everyone for what they have done; he brings on them what their conduct deserves.

¹²It is unthinkable that God would do wrong, that the Almighty would pervert justice.

¹³Who appointed him over the earth?
Who put him in charge of the whole world?

¹⁴If it were his intention and he withdrew his spirit^a and breath, ¹⁵all humanity would perish together and mankind would return to the dust.

¹⁶“If you have understanding, hear this; listen to what I say.

- ¹⁷Can someone who hates justice govern?
Will you condemn the just and mighty One?
- ¹⁸Is he not the One who says to kings, 'You are worthless,' and to nobles, 'You are wicked,'
- ¹⁹who shows no partiality to princes and does not favor the rich over the poor,
for they are all the work of his hands?
- ²⁰They die in an instant, in the middle of the night; the people are shaken and they pass away;
the mighty are removed without human hand.
- ²¹"His eyes are on the ways of mortals; he sees their every step.
- ²²There is no deep shadow, no utter darkness, where evildoers can hide.
- ²³God has no need to examine people further, that they should come before him for judgment.
- ²⁴Without inquiry he shatters the mighty and sets up others in their place.
- ²⁵Because he takes note of their deeds, he overthrows them in the night and they are crushed.
- ²⁶He punishes them for their wickedness where everyone can see them,
- ²⁷because they turned from following him and had no regard for any of his ways.
- ²⁸They caused the cry of the poor to come before him, so that he heard the cry of the needy.
- ²⁹But if he remains silent, who can condemn him?
If he hides his face, who can see him?
Yet he is over individual and nation alike, ³⁰to keep the godless from ruling, from laying snares for the people.
- ³¹"Suppose someone says to God, 'I am guilty but will offend no more.
- ³²Teach me what I cannot see;
if I have done wrong, I will not do so again.'
- ³³Should God then reward you on your terms, when you refuse to repent?
You must decide, not I;
so tell me what you know.
- ³⁴"Men of understanding declare, wise men who hear me say to me,
- ³⁵'Job speaks without knowledge; his words lack insight.'

³⁶Oh, that Job might be tested to the utmost for answering like a wicked man!

³⁷To his sin he adds rebellion; scornfully he claps his hands among us and multiplies his words against God.”

Job 35

¹Then Elihu said:

²“Do you think this is just?
You say, ‘I am in the right, not God.’

³Yet you ask him, ‘What profit is it to me,^a and what do I gain by not sinning?’

⁴“I would like to reply to you and to your friends with you.

⁵Look up at the heavens and see; gaze at the clouds so high above you.

⁶If you sin, how does that affect him?

If your sins are many, what does that do to him?

⁷If you are righteous, what do you give to him, or what does he receive from your hand?

⁸Your wickedness only affects humans like yourself, and your righteousness only other people.

⁹“People cry out under a load of oppression; they plead for relief from the arm of the powerful.

¹⁰But no one says, ‘Where is God my Maker, who gives songs in the night,

¹¹who teaches us more than he teaches^b the beasts of the earth and makes us wiser than^c the birds in the sky?’

¹²He does not answer when people cry out because of the arrogance of the wicked.

¹³Indeed, God does not listen to their empty plea; the Almighty pays no attention to it.

¹⁴How much less, then, will he listen when you say that you do not see him, that your case is before him
and you must wait for him,

¹⁵and further, that his anger never punishes and he does not take the least notice of wickedness.^d

¹⁶So Job opens his mouth with empty talk; without knowledge he multiplies words.”

¹Elihu continued:

²“Bear with me a little longer and I will show you that there is more to be said in God’s behalf.

³I get my knowledge from afar;
I will ascribe justice to my Maker.

⁴Be assured that my words are not false; one who has perfect knowledge is with you.

⁵“God is mighty, but despises no one; he is mighty, and firm in his purpose.

⁶He does not keep the wicked alive but gives the afflicted their rights.

⁷He does not take his eyes off the righteous; he enthrones them with kings and exalts them forever.

⁸But if people are bound in chains, held fast by cords of affliction, ⁹he tells them what they have done— that they have sinned arrogantly.

¹⁰He makes them listen to correction and commands them to repent of their evil.

¹¹If they obey and serve him, they will spend the rest of their days in prosperity and their years in contentment.

¹²But if they do not listen, they will perish by the sword^a and die without knowledge.

¹³“The godless in heart harbor resentment; even when he fetters them, they do not cry for help.

¹⁴They die in their youth, among male prostitutes of the shrines.

¹⁵But those who suffer he delivers in their suffering; he speaks to them in their affliction.

¹⁶“He is wooing you from the jaws of distress to a spacious place free from restriction, to the comfort of your table laden with choice food

to the comfort of your table laden with choice food.

¹⁷But now you are laden with the judgment due the wicked; judgment and justice have taken hold of you.

¹⁸Be careful that no one entices you by riches; do not let a large bribe turn you aside.

¹⁹Would your wealth or even all your mighty efforts sustain you so you would not be in distress?

²⁰Do not long for the night, to drag people away from their homes.^b

²¹Beware of turning to evil, which you seem to prefer to affliction.

²²“God is exalted in his power.
Who is a teacher like him?

²³Who has prescribed his ways for him, or said to him, ‘You have done wrong’?

²⁴Remember to extol his work, which people have praised in song.

²⁵All humanity has seen it;
mortals gaze on it from afar.

²⁶How great is God—beyond our understanding!
The number of his years is past finding out.

²⁷“He draws up the drops of water, which distill as rain to the streams^c; ²⁸the clouds pour down their moisture and abundant showers fall on mankind.

²⁹Who can understand how he spreads out the clouds, how he thunders from his pavilion?

³⁰See how he scatters his lightning about him, bathing the depths of the sea.

³¹This is the way he governs^d the nations and provides food in abundance.

³²He fills his hands with lightning and commands it to strike its mark.

³³His thunder announces the coming storm; even the cattle make known its approach.^e

Job 37

- ¹“At this my heart pounds and leaps from its place.
- ²Listen! Listen to the roar of his voice, to the rumbling that comes from his mouth.
- ³He unleashes his lightning beneath the whole heaven and sends it to the ends of the earth.
- ⁴After that comes the sound of his roar; he thunders with his majestic voice.
When his voice resounds,
he holds nothing back.
- ⁵God’s voice thunders in marvelous ways; he does great things beyond our understanding.
- ⁶He says to the snow, ‘Fall on the earth,’ and to the rain shower, ‘Be a mighty downpour.’
- ⁷So that everyone he has made may know his work, he stops all people from their labor.^a
- ⁸The animals take cover;
they remain in their dens.
- ⁹The tempest comes out from its chamber, the cold from the driving winds.
- ¹⁰The breath of God produces ice, and the broad waters become frozen.
- ¹¹He loads the clouds with moisture; he scatters his lightning through them.
- ¹²At his direction they swirl around over the face of the whole earth to do whatever he commands them.
- ¹³He brings the clouds to punish people, or to water his earth and show his love.
- ¹⁴“Listen to this, Job;
stop and consider God’s wonders.
- ¹⁵Do you know how God controls the clouds and makes his lightning flash?
- ¹⁶Do you know how the clouds hang poised, those wonders of him who has perfect knowledge?
- ¹⁷You who swelter in your clothes when the land lies hushed under the south wind,
- ¹⁸can you join him in spreading out the skies, hard as a mirror of cast bronze?

¹⁹“Tell us what we should say to him; we cannot draw up our case because of our darkness.

²⁰Should he be told that I want to speak?
Would anyone ask to be swallowed up?

²¹Now no one can look at the sun, bright as it is in the skies after the wind has swept them clean.

²²Out of the north he comes in golden splendor; God comes in awesome majesty.

²³The Almighty is beyond our reach and exalted in power; in his justice and great righteousness, he does not oppress.

²⁴Therefore, people revere him, for does he not have regard for all the wise in heart?^b”

Job 38

The LORD Speaks

¹Then the LORD spoke to Job out of the storm. He said: God Rebukes Men for Questioning His Justice

²“Who is this that obscures my plans with words without knowledge?

³Brace yourself like a man;
I will question you,
and you shall answer me.

⁴“Where were you when I laid the earth’s foundation?
Tell me, if you understand.

⁵Who marked off its dimensions? Surely you know!
Who stretched a measuring line across it?

⁶On what were its footings set, or who laid its cornerstone— ⁷while the morning stars sang together and all the angels^a shouted for joy?

⁸“Who shut up the sea behind doors when it burst forth from the womb,

⁹when I made the clouds its garment and wrapped it in thick darkness,

¹⁰when I fixed limits for it and set its doors and bars in place,

¹¹when I said, ‘This far you may come and no farther; here is where your proud waves halt’?

¹²“Have you ever given orders to the morning, or shown the dawn its place, ¹³that it might take the earth by the edges and shake the wicked out of it?

¹⁴The earth takes shape like clay under a seal; its features stand out like those of a garment.

¹⁵The wicked are denied their light, and their upraised arm is broken.

¹⁶“Have you journeyed to the springs of the sea or walked in the recesses of the deep?

¹⁷Have the gates of death been shown to you?
Have you seen the gates of the deepest darkness?

¹⁸Have you comprehended the vast expanses of the earth?
Tell me, if you know all this.

¹⁹“What is the way to the abode of light?
And where does darkness reside?

²⁰Can you take them to their places?
Do you know the paths to their dwellings?

²¹Surely you know, for you were already born!
You have lived so many years!

²²“Have you entered the storehouses of the snow or seen the storehouses of the hail,

²³which I reserve for times of trouble, for days of war and battle?

²⁴What is the way to the place where the lightning is dispersed, or the place where the east winds are scattered over the earth?

²⁵Who cuts a channel for the torrents of rain, and a path for the thunderstorm,

²⁶to water a land where no one lives, an uninhabited desert,

²⁷to satisfy a desolate wasteland and make it sprout with grass?

²⁸Does the rain have a father?

Who fathers the drops of dew?

²⁹From whose womb comes the ice?

Who gives birth to the frost from the heavens

³⁰when the waters become hard as stone, when the surface of the deep is frozen?

³¹“Can you bind the chains^b of the Pleiades?

Can you loosen Orion’s belt?

³²Can you bring forth the constellations in their seasons^c or lead out the Bear^d with its cubs?

³³Do you know the laws of the heavens?

Can you set up God’s^e dominion over the earth?

³⁴“Can you raise your voice to the clouds and cover yourself with a flood of water?

³⁵Do you send the lightning bolts on their way?

Do they report to you, ‘Here we are’?

³⁶Who gives the ibis wisdom^f or gives the rooster understanding?^g

³⁷Who has the wisdom to count the clouds?
Who can tip over the water jars of the heavens

³⁸when the dust becomes hard and the clods of earth stick together?

³⁹“Do you hunt the prey for the lioness and satisfy the hunger of the lions ⁴⁰when they crouch in their dens or lie in wait in a thicket?

⁴¹Who provides food for the raven when its young cry out to God and wander about for lack of food?

Job 39

- ¹“Do you know when the mountain goats give birth?
Do you watch when the doe bears her fawn?
- ²Do you count the months till they bear?
Do you know the time they give birth?
- ³They crouch down and bring forth their young; their labor pains are ended.
- ⁴Their young thrive and grow strong in the wilds; they leave and do not return.
- ⁵“Who let the wild donkey go free?
Who untied its ropes?
- ⁶I gave it the wasteland as its home, the salt flats as its habitat.
- ⁷It laughs at the commotion in the town; it does not hear a driver’s shout.
- ⁸It ranges the hills for its pasture and searches for any green thing.
- ⁹“Will the wild ox consent to serve you?
Will it stay by your manger at night?
- ¹⁰Can you hold it to the furrow with a harness?
Will it till the valleys behind you?
- ¹¹Will you rely on it for its great strength?
Will you leave your heavy work to it?
- ¹²Can you trust it to haul in your grain and bring it to your threshing floor?
- ¹³“The wings of the ostrich flap joyfully, though they cannot compare with the wings and feathers of the stork.
- ¹⁴She lays her eggs on the ground and lets them warm in the sand,
- ¹⁵unmindful that a foot may crush them, that some wild animal may trample them.
- ¹⁶She treats her young harshly, as if they were not hers; she cares not that her labor was in vain,
- ¹⁷for God did not endow her with wisdom or give her a share of good sense.
- ¹⁸Yet when she spreads her feathers to run, she laughs at horse and rider.
- ¹⁹“Do you give the horse its strength or clothe its neck with a flowing mane?

²⁰Do you make it leap like a locust, striking terror with its proud snorting?

²¹It paws fiercely, rejoicing in its strength, and charges into the fray.

²²It laughs at fear, afraid of nothing; it does not shy away from the sword.

²³The quiver rattles against its side, along with the flashing spear and lance.

²⁴In frenzied excitement it eats up the ground; it cannot stand still when the trumpet sounds.

²⁵At the blast of the trumpet it snorts, 'Aha!'

It catches the scent of battle from afar,
the shout of commanders and the battle cry.

²⁶"Does the hawk take flight by your wisdom and spread its wings toward the south?

²⁷Does the eagle soar at your command and build its nest on high?

²⁸It dwells on a cliff and stays there at night; a rocky crag is its stronghold.

²⁹From there it looks for food; its eyes detect it from afar.

³⁰Its young ones feast on blood, and where the slain are, there it is."

Job 40

¹The LORD said to Job:

²“Will the one who contends with the Almighty correct him?
Let him who accuses God answer him!”

³Then Job answered the LORD: Humility: Like All Good Leaders, Job Acknowledges His Weakness

⁴“I am unworthy—how can I reply to you?
I put my hand over my mouth.

⁵I spoke once, but I have no answer— twice, but I will say no more.”

⁶Then the LORD spoke to Job out of the storm:

⁷“Brace yourself like a man;
I will question you,
and you shall answer me.

⁸“Would you discredit my justice?
Would you condemn me to justify yourself?

⁹Do you have an arm like God’s, and can your voice thunder like his?

¹⁰Then adorn yourself with glory and splendor, and clothe yourself in honor and majesty.

¹¹Unleash the fury of your wrath, look at all who are proud and bring them low,

¹²look at all who are proud and humble them, crush the wicked where they stand.

¹³Bury them all in the dust together; shroud their faces in the grave.

¹⁴Then I myself will admit to you that your own right hand can save you.

¹⁵“Look at Behemoth, which I made along with you and which feeds on grass like an ox.

¹⁶What strength it has in its loins, what power in the muscles of its belly!

¹⁷Its tail sways like a cedar;
the sinews of its thighs are close-knit.

¹⁸Its bones are tubes of bronze, its limbs like rods of iron.

¹⁹It ranks first among the works of God, yet its Maker can approach it with his sword.

²⁰The hills bring it their produce, and all the wild animals play nearby.

²¹Under the lotus plants it lies, hidden among the reeds in the marsh.

²²The lotuses conceal it in their shadow; the poplars by the stream surround it.

²³A raging river does not alarm it; it is secure, though the Jordan should surge against its mouth.

²⁴Can anyone capture it by the eyes, or trap it and pierce its nose?

Job 41^a

¹“Can you pull in Leviathan with a fishhook or tie down its tongue with a rope?

²Can you put a cord through its nose or pierce its jaw with a hook?

³Will it keep begging you for mercy?
Will it speak to you with gentle words?

⁴Will it make an agreement with you for you to take it as your slave for life?

⁵Can you make a pet of it like a bird or put it on a leash for the young women in your house?

⁶Will traders barter for it?
Will they divide it up among the merchants?

⁷Can you fill its hide with harpoons or its head with fishing spears?

⁸If you lay a hand on it,
you will remember the struggle and never do it again!

⁹Any hope of subduing it is false; the mere sight of it is overpowering.

¹⁰No one is fierce enough to rouse it.
Who then is able to stand against me?

¹¹Who has a claim against me that I must pay?
Everything under heaven belongs to me.

¹²“I will not fail to speak of Leviathan’s limbs, its strength and its graceful form.

¹³Who can strip off its outer coat?
Who can penetrate its double coat of armor^b?

¹⁴Who dares open the doors of its mouth, ringed about with fearsome teeth?

¹⁵Its back has^c rows of shields tightly sealed together;

¹⁶each is so close to the next that no air can pass between.

¹⁷They are joined fast to one another; they cling together and cannot be parted.

¹⁸Its snorting throws out flashes of light; its eyes are like the rays of dawn.

¹⁹Flames stream from its mouth; sparks of fire shoot out.

- ²⁰Smoke pours from its nostrils as from a boiling pot over burning reeds.
²¹Its breath sets coals ablaze, and flames dart from its mouth.
²²Strength resides in its neck; dismay goes before it.
²³The folds of its flesh are tightly joined; they are firm and immovable.
²⁴Its chest is hard as rock, hard as a lower millstone.
²⁵When it rises up, the mighty are terrified; they retreat before its thrashing.
²⁶The sword that reaches it has no effect, nor does the spear or the dart or the javelin.
²⁷Iron it treats like straw

Job 42

Job

¹Then Job replied to the LORD:

²“I know that you can do all things; no purpose of yours can be thwarted.

³You asked, ‘Who is this that obscures my plans without knowledge?’

Surely I spoke of things I did not understand, things too wonderful for me to know.

⁴“You said, ‘Listen now, and I will speak; I will question you,
and you shall answer me.’

⁵My ears had heard of you but now my eyes have seen you.

⁶Therefore I despise myself and repent in dust and ashes.”

Epilogue

⁷After the LORD had said these things to Job, he said to Eliphaz the Temanite, “I am angry with you and your two friends, because you have not spoken the truth about me, as my servant Job has. ⁸So now take seven bulls and seven rams and go to my servant Job and sacrifice a burnt offering for yourselves. My servant Job will pray for you, and I will accept his prayer and not deal with you according to your folly. You have not spoken the truth about me, as my servant Job has.” ⁹So Eliphaz the Temanite, Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar the Naamathite did what the LORD told them; and the LORD accepted Job’s prayer.

¹⁰After Job had prayed for his friends, the LORD restored his fortunes and gave him twice as much as he had before. ¹¹All his brothers and sisters and everyone who had known him before came and ate with him in his house. They comforted and consoled him over all the trouble the LORD had brought on him, and each one gave him a piece of silver^a and a gold ring. Relationships: Job Takes the High Road

¹²The LORD blessed the latter part of Job’s life more than the former part. He had fourteen thousand sheep, six thousand camels, a thousand yoke of oxen and a thousand donkeys. ¹³And he also had seven sons and three daughters. ¹⁴The first daughter he named Jemimah, the second Keziah and the third Keren-Happuch. ¹⁵Nowhere in all the land were there found women as beautiful as Job’s daughters, and their father granted them an inheritance along with their brothers.

¹⁶After this, Job lived a hundred and forty years; he saw his children and their children to the fourth generation. ¹⁷And so Job died, an old man and full of years.

Self-Discipline: Job Maintains Perspective

Job 1:1–22

All hell broke loose. The man lost almost everything: His livestock, his land, his home, and even his children.

Job was a disciplined person, however. He lived his life from his character, not his emotions. Consequently, Job maintained perspective when terrible tragedy struck him: “At this, Job got up, tore his robe, and shaved his head. Then he fell to the ground in worship” (Job 1:20). The Scripture later tells us that in all the crises he faced, Job never sinned against God with his words (2:10). He maintained his sense of integrity all the way through his ordeal.

Wow! What discipline! Job modeled a valuable leadership posture for us. Note the sequence of remarkable events in his life:

1. Worship: Job worshiped and articulated God’s sovereignty in his life.
2. Perspective: Worship enabled Job to capture God’s perspective and power.
3. Humility: Perspective allowed Job to see his limited knowledge.
4. Teachability: Humility caused Job to hunger and seek God’s insight.
5. Victory: Teachability ultimately led Job to gain victory over his losses.

Listening: To Connect with Job, His Friends Listen for a Week

Job 2:11–13

When Job’s friends hear about his catastrophe, they want to help. By this time, boils have broken out all over Job’s body, and his friends don’t even recognize him. They feel his pain and are horrified to see a friend in such need. Mercifully, they keep their mouths shut for one whole week (if only they had continued their silence!). They sit with their friend and listen.

Somehow these friends realized an important truth: People don’t lose intimacy when they stop talking, but when they stop listening. Leaders seldom realize how much their listening empowers the other person. Because they are leaders, the sheer act of listening speaks volumes that even a great speech can’t communicate. Listening . . .

- Communicates the value of the other person and his or her thoughts.
- Communicates love and understanding and care for their needs.
- Communicates a desire to grow, learn, and remain teachable.

Integrity: Job Challenges His Friends to Identify His Flaws

Job 6:1—7:21

All of Job's friends posed a theory about his troubles, but Job simply asked them to survey his life and point out any place where he lacked integrity. He felt so certain of the blamelessness of his heart that he invited the scrutiny of his peers. Only a leader with strong character and a strong sense of security can do that!

C. S. Lewis calls this quality, "Leaders with chests." Lewis likened the properly ordered soul to the human body: the head (reason) must rule the belly (the sensual appetites) through the chest (character and spirit). The chest is the indispensable liaison between reason and the appetites. Without a strong "chest," men would succumb to excuses, relativism and compromise. Lewis called those with no character or integrity, "men without chests."

What enabled Job to possess such integrity as a leader?

1. Strong Security: He felt emotionally secure enough to take criticism.
2. Clear Conscience: He kept a clear and sensitive conscience regarding sin.
3. Pure Motives: He refused to entertain self-indulgent motives.
4. Solid Character: He was committed to doing the right thing at any cost.

Commitment: Job Stays Steady at All Costs

Job 13:15

The statement confounds nominal Christians, yet it is exactly the kind of affirmation that God uses to build his kingdom in the darkest places on earth. "Though he slay me," Job says, "yet will I hope in him" (Job 13:15).

Statements like this shake the very gates of hell. What can stop a leader who has made this kind of commitment? Not pain. Not death. Not hardship.

Why has terrorism, for instance, become such an international problem? Because terrorists already have given up their lives for their cause. They will drive a truck full of explosives into enemy headquarters because they no longer hold their lives dear.

This is where Job finally ended up—willing to give up his life for God. Only in that position do we find complete liberation—free from any temptation, threat, bribe, sin, or enticement. When we can say, with the apostle Paul, that we have already died (Gal 2:20), then we will have reached the place where God can really use us.

PROFILE in Leadership

Job: Puzzled, Not Unbelieving

Job 13:20—14:22

God doesn't mind questions; it's doubt that he hates.

For many wearying hours, the three friends of Job—Eliphaz, Bildad and Zophar—accused Job of all kinds of evil. They spoke the kind of foolish words that the healthy and ill-informed often speak to those in pain.

O, how Job wanted to take his case to the Lord himself! “Why did I not perish at birth?” he asked the Lord. “Will you never look away from me, or let me alone even for an instant?” (Job 3:11; 7:19).

Job's words reflect the kind of torment we would expect from a godly man in deep pain. But God says nothing. Only at the end of the book does God at last break his silence. And while he answers not one of Job's questions, neither does he chastise him for asking them. God rebukes Job for only one thing: doubting his righteous character (40:8).

Leaders must never be afraid to ask hard questions of God, but neither must they demand that he answer. And no matter how dark our circumstances may grow, we must resist the temptation to doubt God's holy nature. When we, like Job, through trembling lips confess the awesome majesty of God, we may at last be ready for the awesome blessing of God.

Job's Friends Fail at the Law of Connection

Eliphaz, Bildad and Zophar accused Job of acting foolishly, of speaking wrongly, of leading wickedly. But they never got their message across for two reasons: First, they didn't have all the facts; and second, they didn't practice the Law of Connection.

Many leaders are tempted to make the same mistakes. We voice our opinions even though we remain ignorant of important information and lack any heart connection to our audience. Job called his friends, “miserable comforters.” Every good communicator seeks first to understand before being understood. Note how they differ from public speakers:

Public Speaker

1. Seeks to be understood and liked

2. Asks: What do I have?

3. Focuses on techniques

Communicator

1. Seeks to understand and connect

2. Asks: What do they need?

3. Focuses on atmosphere

4. Is self-conscious

4. Is audience-oriented

5. Wants to complete the speech

5. Wants to complete the people

6. Content-oriented

6. Change-oriented

Vision: Job's Perspective Separates Him from the Others

Job 19:25–27

The first difference separating leaders from followers is perspective. Both can have character and integrity; both can love others; both can obey God. But leaders think differently than followers.

Job and his friends held profoundly different perspectives. Throughout the book, Job maintains an eternal perspective. “I know that my redeemer lives, and that in the end he will stand on the earth,” he says (Job 19:25). In the following two verses he continues to cast vision for the reality of life beyond the grave. Unlike his wife, who told him to curse God and die; unlike his friends, who told him none of this would have happened had he just lived better—Job saw beyond the superficial to the eternal. What enabled Job to see what God saw?

1. He renewed his perspective: He clung to the justice and character of God.
2. He released his past: He was willing to let go of what he had lost.
3. He remembered his purpose: He realized that he existed only to glorify God.

PROFILE in Leadership

Job's Friends: Misguided Companions Who Meant Well

Job 24:25

At a time when Job most needed the love and encouragement of his friends, he received only their condemnation, torment and wrath. Eliphaz argued from experience, Bildad from tradition and Zophar from legalism, and as is often the case, many of their arguments contained elements of truth. These three friends could have become major obstacles—lids—in Job’s life. And yet he did not allow that to happen.

Job’s friends believed he must have behaved treacherously to meet with such awful tragedy. Would God treat a good friend like this? They accused him of many specific sins, adding their names to a long list of amateur theologians who assume that people in pain have done something to deserve their suffering. While that may indeed be the case (see Jn 5:14), it is not universally so.

False accusation can debilitate the falsely accused. At the most vulnerable time of his life, Job’s friends continued to slander him—yet he continued to depend on God. He fought hard against depression and discouragement. In the midst of great pain and loss, Job demonstrated solid character and great strength; nothing was able to destroy his faith in God. In the end, truth prevailed and God blessed Job greatly. Job’s story reminds us that all leaders must filter the counsel of their inner circle through the truth of God’s Word.

Wisdom: Job Recognizes His Source of Wisdom and Seeks It

Job 28:23–28

Despite his confusion and pain, Job makes it clear that he looks to God alone for wisdom. He understands that he cannot lead himself, much less his family, without God as his never-ending source of perspective and understanding. Job has heard from his friends and knows their theories ring hollow. The best they can muster is the wisdom of men; Job will not be satisfied until he has the wisdom of God.

The third chapter of James distinguishes between these two radically different sources of wisdom:

Wisdom from Below

1. Works temporarily in a few situations

2. Seems logical for the moment

3. Limited in scope

Wisdom from Above

1. Is universal and timeless, yet eternally relevant

2. Often seems illogical or even backwards

3. Always big picture and unlimited in scope

4. Competitive: it is win/lose

4. Complementary: it is win/win

Character and Consistency: Job Affirms His Promise

Job 31:1–40

One of the beautiful facets of the book of Job is that it displays how a man can be very human, and yet very heavenly at the same time.

Job feels all the emotions of a man who has endured great loss. He becomes angry, depressed, and anxious, and declares his feelings openly. At the same time, he never drifts from his strong character; he remains consistent through everything. The moment it appears he will curse God and give up on him, he affirms his promise to be faithful even when he doesn't understand what is happening. Job pledges to maintain his integrity despite his circumstances.

Such a commitment is a crucial key to leadership. Here's why:

1. Leaders must be visionary, but they cannot see everything in the future.
2. Instead of pretending to be in control, leaders must model being under control.
3. Leaders must model humanity and identify with the limitations of followers.
4. Leaders must model an anchored life, living from character, not emotions.
5. While leaders don't know what tomorrow holds, they do know who holds tomorrow.

God Rebukes Men for Questioning His Justice

Job 38:1–7

When God finally enters the scene in Job 38, he brings justice and perspective with him. He rebukes Eliphaz, Bildad and Zophar for projecting their opinions as though they represented the mind of God (a danger every spiritual leader faces!). Before God is finished, he poses his own question: Where were you when I created the world?

Many leaders feel a great temptation to pretend they know everything that's coming down the pike. They feel an unreasonable need to project self-confidence, not realizing that people soon recognize their pretension. Leaders often fail to understand that people do not need a leader to have every answer.

Consider this: Individuals can live without certainty from a leader, but not without clarity. Leaders must be genuine with their people. Unless a word has come to us directly from the mouth of the Lord, we cannot know what is coming in the future. Don't speak with certainty on an issue of which you are unsure! Yet when you do speak, speak with clarity, even if your words paint only a small part of the whole picture. Your people do not need certainty on every issue, but they do need clarity on every issue. It is clarity that helps organizations to progress.

Humility: Like All Good Leaders, Job Acknowledges His Weakness

Job 40:3–5; 42:1–6

When God confronts Job with his power and majesty, Job responds with absolute humility (Job 40:3–5). The chastened man doesn't try to defend himself or rationalize his feelings. He confesses his humanity, then shuts his mouth.

And still God is not finished with his awesome lesson.

Even after Job acknowledges his insignificance and presumption, God delivers a second speech, graphically describing his power to control everything. He glories in the might of Behemoth and the ferocity of Leviathan, and asks Job if he dare go near either one. This time Job responds with deep repentance (42:1–6), clearly marking the difference between his friends and him.

Good leaders feel secure enough to repent when wrong. They don't have to project their self-worth, defend their every move, or make excuses for their failures. In the end, God rebuked Job's friends and rewarded Job—but not until the end.

Relationships: Job Takes the High Road

Job 42:10

After enduring nearly 40 chapters of criticism and condemnation from Eliphaz, Bildad and Zophar, Job has the opportunity to get even. God announces his displeasure with them, apparently giving Job a wonderful chance to say, "I told you so." Instead, Job prays for his foolish friends.

Like all great leaders, Job refused to take vengeance or hold grudges. Instead, he took the high road. He forgave his friends, interceded for them, and sent them on their way. Remind yourself of the differences between the low road and the high road:

Low Road

1. Revenge and retaliation when wronged

High Road

1. Unconditional love and forgiveness

2. Plays the same game as others

3. Guided by emotions; is up and down

4. Reactive: lives no better than anyone else

2. Refuses to play games; lives by principles

3. Guided by character and values

4. Proactive: lives above merely human standards

Introduction to
Psalms

Poetic Words Reflect Human Emotions

Bible readers through the ages have flocked to the book of Psalms. Its poetic words reflect the entire range of human emotions. The various writers of the psalms aim to express their deepest feelings and longings—as well as the truth of God’s wisdom.

These ancient Hebrew songs contribute to our understanding of leadership in both definitive and dynamic ways. They are definitive because they contain God’s thoughts and values; they help leaders to understand how God thinks, what he values, and how he might respond to a leader’s circumstances. They are dynamic because they explore the ups and downs of a leader’s humanity. David, who wrote the majority of the psalms, expressed every emotion he felt as a leader, from the joy of God’s victories, to deep contrition for his sin and shortcomings, anger over national injustice and lack of vision, and sadness over his weakness and lack of understanding.

Several writers contributed over many years to the collection we know as the Psalms. David, Asaph, the sons of Korah, Solomon, Moses, Heman, Ethan and a handful of anonymous authors all made unique contributions to this amazing “hymnal of Israel.” We learn at least two great leadership lessons from them:

1. Leaders remain human.
2. Leadership is relationships.

Leadership always concerns more than cold, sterile strategy or achievement of goals. It demands that leaders shepherd others, exhort them, and build internal motivation in the hearts of their followers. David, especially, speaks continually about his relationships—both his vertical relationship with God and his horizontal relationships with people. The people loved him because of his competency and compassion.

God’s Role in Psalms

Can anyone doubt that Psalm 23 would win a contest for “Most Popular Psalm”? It portrays the Lord not as the omnipotent Creator, not as the brilliant Strategist or the mighty Captain, but as a loving Shepherd who leads and guides his people with a rod and a staff.

David worked as a shepherd in his youth and later, as king, tapped the lessons he had learned in the fields. The psalms picture the intimate nature of God’s relationship to his people.

Lessons in Leadership

- Leaders never lose their humanity; they hurt when their people hurt.
- Leaders must be guided by principles and values worth dying for.
- Leaders gain credibility through their own vulnerability and transparency.
- Leaders take refuge in the Lord and allow him to fight battles through them.
- Leaders must be honest about their emotions.
- Leaders recognize that the good in their lives comes from above.
- A leader's highest aim should be to honor and glorify God.
- The primary difference between a follower and a leader is perspective.

BOOK I

Psalms 1—41

Psalm 1

- ¹Blessed is the one who does not walk in step with the wicked or stand in the way that sinners take or sit in the company of mockers, The Law of the Inner Circle: Be Careful Where You Get Your Counsel
- ²but whose delight is in the law of the LORD, and who meditates on his law day and night.
- ³That person is like a tree planted by streams of water, which yields its fruit in season and whose leaf does not wither—whatever they do prospers.
- ⁴Not so the wicked!

They are like chaff
that the wind blows away.

⁵Therefore the wicked will not stand in the judgment, nor sinners in the assembly of the righteous.

⁶For the LORD watches over the way of the righteous, but the way of the wicked leads to destruction.

Psalm 2

¹Why do the nations conspire^a and the peoples plot in vain?

²The kings of the earth rise up and the rulers band together against the LORD and against his anointed, saying, ³“Let us break their chains and throw off their shackles.”

⁴The One enthroned in heaven laughs;
the Lord scoffs at them.

⁵He rebukes them in his anger and terrifies them in his wrath, saying,

⁶“I have installed my king on Zion, my holy mountain.”

⁷I will proclaim the LORD’s decree:

He said to me, “You are my son;
today I have become your father.

⁸Ask me,
and I will make the nations your inheritance,
the ends of the earth your possession.

⁹You will break them with a rod of iron^b; you will dash them to pieces like pottery.”

¹⁰Therefore, you kings, be wise;
be warned, you rulers of the earth.

¹¹Serve the LORD with fear and celebrate his rule with trembling.

¹²Kiss his son, or he will be angry and your way will lead to your destruction, for his wrath can flare up in a moment.
Blessed are all who take refuge in him.

Psalm 3^a

A psalm of David. When he fled from his son Absalom.

¹LORD, how many are my foes!
How many rise up against me!

²Many are saying of me,
“God will not deliver him.”^b

³But you, LORD, are a shield around me, my glory, the One who lifts my head high.

⁴I call out to the LORD, and he answers me from his holy mountain.

⁵I lie down and sleep;
I wake again, because the LORD sustains me.

⁶I will not fear though tens of thousands assail me on every side.

⁷Arise, LORD!
Deliver me, my God!
Strike all my enemies on the jaw;
break the teeth of the wicked.

⁸From the LORD comes deliverance.
May your blessing be on your people.

Psalm 4^a

For the director of music. With stringed instruments. A psalm of David.

- ¹Answer me when I call to you,
my righteous God.
Give me relief from my distress;
have mercy on me and hear my prayer.
- ²How long will you people turn my glory into shame?
How long will you love delusions and seek false gods?^{b?c}
- ³Know that the LORD has set apart his faithful servant for himself; the LORD hears when I call to him.
- ⁴Tremble and^d do not sin; when you are on your beds,
search your hearts and be silent.
- ⁵Offer the sacrifices of the righteous and trust in the LORD.
- ⁶Many, LORD, are asking, “Who will bring us prosperity?” Let the light of your face shine on us.
- ⁷Fill my heart with joy
when their grain and new wine abound.
- ⁸In peace I will lie down and sleep,
for you alone, LORD,
make me dwell in safety.

Psalm 5^a

For the director of music. For pipes. A psalm of David.

¹Listen to my words, LORD, consider my lament.

²Hear my cry for help,
my King and my God,
for to you I pray.

³In the morning, LORD, you hear my voice; in the morning I lay my requests before you and wait expectantly.

⁴For you are not a God who is pleased with wickedness; with you, evil people are not welcome.

⁵The arrogant cannot stand in your presence.
You hate all who do wrong;
⁶you destroy those who tell lies.

The bloodthirsty and deceitful
you, LORD, detest.

⁷But I, by your great love,
can come into your house;

in reverence I bow down toward your holy temple.

⁸Lead me, LORD, in your righteousness because of my enemies— make your way straight before me.

⁹Not a word from their mouth can be trusted; their heart is filled with malice.

Their throat is an open grave;
with their tongues they tell lies.

¹⁰Declare them guilty, O God!
Let their intrigues be their downfall.
Banish them for their many sins,
for they have rebelled against you.

¹¹But let all who take refuge in you be glad; let them ever sing for joy.
Spread your protection over them,
that those who love your name may rejoice in you.

¹²Surely, LORD, you bless the righteous; you surround them with your favor as with a shield.

Psalm 6^a

For the director of music. With stringed instruments. According to sheminith.^b A psalm of David.

¹LORD, do not rebuke me in your anger or discipline me in your wrath. The

Leader's Humanity: Don't Hide It

²Have mercy on me, LORD, for I am faint; heal me, LORD, for my bones are in agony.

³My soul is in deep anguish.

How long, LORD, how long?

⁴Turn, LORD, and deliver me; save me because of your unfailing love.

⁵Among the dead no one proclaims your name.

Who praises you from the grave?

⁶I am worn out from my groaning.

All night long I flood my bed with weeping and drench my couch with tears.

⁷My eyes grow weak with sorrow;
they fail because of all my foes.

⁸Away from me, all you who do evil,
for the LORD has heard my weeping.

⁹The LORD has heard my cry for mercy; the LORD accepts my prayer.

¹⁰All my enemies will be overwhelmed with shame and anguish; they will turn back and suddenly be put to shame.

Psalm 7^a

A shiggaion^b of David, which he sang to the LORD concerning Cush, a Benjamite.

¹LORD my God, I take refuge in you; save and deliver me from all who pursue me, ²or they will tear me apart like a lion and rip me to pieces with no one to rescue me.

³LORD my God, if I have done this and there is guilt on my hands— ⁴if I have repaid my ally with evil or without cause have robbed my foe—

⁵then let my enemy pursue and overtake me; let him trample my life to the ground and make me sleep in the dust.^c

⁶Arise, LORD, in your anger; rise up against the rage of my enemies. Awake, my God; decree justice.

⁷Let the assembled peoples gather around you, while you sit enthroned over them on high.

⁸Let the LORD judge the peoples.

Vindicate me, LORD, according to my righteousness, according to my integrity, O Most High.

⁹Bring to an end the violence of the wicked and make the righteous secure — you, the righteous God who probes minds and hearts.

¹⁰My shield^d is God Most High, who saves the upright in heart.

¹¹God is a righteous judge, a God who displays his wrath every day.

¹²If he does not relent, he^e will sharpen his sword; he will bend and string his bow.

¹³He has prepared his deadly weapons; he makes ready his flaming arrows.

¹⁴Whoever is pregnant with evil conceives trouble and gives birth to disillusionment.

¹⁵Whoever digs a hole and scoops it out falls into the pit they have made.

¹⁶The trouble they cause recoils on them; their violence comes down on their own heads.

¹⁷I will give thanks to the LORD because of his righteousness; I will sing the praises of the name of the LORD Most High.

Psalm 8^a

For the director of music. According to gittith.^b A psalm of David.

¹LORD, our Lord, how majestic is your name in all the earth!

You have set your glory
in the heavens.

²Through the praise of children and infants you have established a stronghold against your enemies, to silence the foe and the avenger.

³When I consider your heavens,
the work of your fingers,
the moon and the stars, which you have set in place, Identity: A Balanced Perspective of God's Role and the Leader's Role

⁴what is mankind that you are mindful of them, human beings that you care for them?^c

⁵You have made them^d a little lower than the angels^e and crowned them^f with glory and honor.

⁶You made them rulers over the works of your hands; you put everything under their^g feet: ⁷all flocks and herds, and the animals of the wild,

⁸the birds in the sky,
and the fish in the sea,
all that swim the paths of the seas.

⁹LORD, our Lord, how majestic is your name in all the earth!

Psalm 9^{a,b}

For the director of music. To the tune of “The Death of the Son.” A psalm of David.

¹I will give thanks to you, LORD, with all my heart; I will tell of all your wonderful deeds.

²I will be glad and rejoice in you;
I will sing the praises of your name, O Most High.

³My enemies turn back;
they stumble and perish before you.

⁴For you have upheld my right and my cause, sitting enthroned as the righteous judge.

⁵You have rebuked the nations and destroyed the wicked; you have blotted out their name for ever and ever.

⁶Endless ruin has overtaken my enemies, you have uprooted their cities;
even the memory of them has perished.

⁷The LORD reigns forever; he has established his throne for judgment.

⁸He rules the world in righteousness and judges the peoples with equity.

⁹The LORD is a refuge for the oppressed, a stronghold in times of trouble.

¹⁰Those who know your name trust in you, for you, LORD, have never forsaken those who seek you.

¹¹Sing the praises of the LORD, enthroned in Zion; proclaim among the nations what he has done.

¹²For he who avenges blood remembers;
he does not ignore the cries of the afflicted.

¹³LORD, see how my enemies persecute me!
Have mercy and lift me up from the gates of death,

¹⁴that I may declare your praises in the gates of Daughter Zion, and there rejoice in your salvation.

¹⁵The nations have fallen into the pit they have dug; their feet are caught in the net they have hidden.

¹⁶The LORD is known by his acts of justice; the wicked are ensnared by the work of their hands.^c

¹⁷The wicked go down to the realm of the dead, all the nations that forget God.

¹⁸But God will never forget the needy; the hope of the afflicted will never perish.

¹⁹Arise, LORD, do not let mortals triumph; let the nations be judged in your presence.

²⁰Strike them with terror, LORD; let the nations know they are only mortal.

Psalm 10^a

- ¹Why, LORD, do you stand far off?
Why do you hide yourself in times of trouble?
- ²In his arrogance the wicked man hunts down the weak, who are caught in the schemes he devises.
- ³He boasts about the cravings of his heart; he blesses the greedy and reviles the LORD.
- ⁴In his pride the wicked man does not seek him; in all his thoughts there is no room for God.
- ⁵His ways are always prosperous;
your laws are rejected by^b him; he sneers at all his enemies.
- ⁶He says to himself, “Nothing will ever shake me.”
He swears, “No one will ever do me harm.”
- ⁷His mouth is full of lies and threats; trouble and evil are under his tongue.
- ⁸He lies in wait near the villages;
from ambush he murders the innocent.
His eyes watch in secret for his victims;
⁹like a lion in cover he lies in wait.
He lies in wait to catch the helpless;
he catches the helpless and drags them off in his net.
- ¹⁰His victims are crushed, they collapse; they fall under his strength.
- ¹¹He says to himself, “God will never notice; he covers his face and never sees.”
- ¹²Arise, LORD! Lift up your hand, O God.
Do not forget the helpless.
- ¹³Why does the wicked man revile God?
Why does he say to himself,
“He won’t call me to account”?
- ¹⁴But you, God, see the trouble of the afflicted; you consider their grief and take it in hand.
The victims commit themselves to you;
you are the helper of the fatherless.

¹⁵Break the arm of the wicked man;
call the evildoer to account for his wickedness that would not otherwise be found out.

¹⁶The LORD is King for ever and ever; the nations will perish from his land.

¹⁷You, LORD, hear the desire of the afflicted; you encourage them, and you listen to their cry,

¹⁸defending the fatherless and the oppressed, so that mere earthly mortals will never again strike terror.

Psalm 11

For the director of music. Of David.

¹In the LORD I take refuge.

How then can you say to me:

“Flee like a bird to your mountain.

²For look, the wicked bend their bows; they set their arrows against the strings

to shoot from the shadows
at the upright in heart.

³When the foundations are being destroyed, what can the righteous do?"

⁴The LORD is in his holy temple; the LORD is on his heavenly throne.
He observes everyone on earth;
his eyes examine them.

⁵The LORD examines the righteous, but the wicked, those who love violence,
he hates with a passion.

⁶On the wicked he will rain fiery coals and burning sulfur;
a scorching wind will be their lot.

⁷For the LORD is righteous, he loves justice;
the upright will see his face.

Psalm 12^a

For the director of music. According to sheminith.^b A psalm of David.

¹Help, LORD, for no one is faithful anymore; those who are loyal have vanished from the human race.

²Everyone lies to their neighbor;

they flatter with their lips
but harbor deception in their hearts.

³May the LORD silence all flattering lips and every boastful tongue—⁴those who say,
“By our tongues we will prevail;
our own lips will defend us—who is lord over us?”

⁵“Because the poor are plundered and the needy groan, I will now arise,”
says the LORD.
“I will protect them from those who malign them.”

⁶And the words of the LORD are flawless, like silver purified in a crucible, like gold^c refined seven times.

⁷You, LORD, will keep the needy safe and will protect us forever from the wicked,

⁸who freely strut about when what is vile is honored by the human race.

Psalm 13^a

For the director of music. A psalm of David.

- ¹How long, LORD? Will you forget me forever?
How long will you hide your face from me?
- ²How long must I wrestle with my thoughts and day after day have sorrow in my heart?
How long will my enemy triumph over me?
- ³Look on me and answer, LORD my God.
Give light to my eyes, or I will sleep in death,
- ⁴and my enemy will say, “I have overcome him,”
and my foes will rejoice when I fall.
- ⁵But I trust in your unfailing love;
my heart rejoices in your salvation.
- ⁶I will sing the LORD’s praise, for he has been good to me.

Psalm 14

For the director of music. Of David.

¹The fool^a says in his heart, “There is no God.”

They are corrupt, their deeds are vile;
there is no one who does good.

²The LORD looks down from heaven on all mankind to see if there are any who understand,
any who seek God.

³All have turned away, all have become corrupt; there is no one who does good,
not even one.

⁴Do all these evildoers know nothing?

They devour my people as though eating bread;
they never call on the LORD.

⁵But there they are, overwhelmed with dread, for God is present in the company of the righteous.

⁶You evildoers frustrate the plans of the poor, but the LORD is their refuge.

⁷Oh, that salvation for Israel would come out of Zion!
When the LORD restores his people, let Jacob rejoice and Israel be glad!

Psalm 15

A psalm of David.

¹LORD, who may dwell in your sacred tent?
Who may live on your holy mountain? Value-Driven Leadership

²The one whose walk is blameless, who does what is righteous,
who speaks the truth from their heart;

³whose tongue utters no slander, who does no wrong to a neighbor,
and casts no slur on others;

⁴who despises a vile person
but honors those who fear the LORD;
who keeps an oath even when it hurts,
and does not change their mind;

⁵who lends money to the poor without interest; who does not accept a bribe against the innocent.

Whoever does these things will never be shaken.

Psalm 16

A miktam^a of David.

¹Keep me safe, my God,
for in you I take refuge.

²I say to the LORD, “You are my Lord; apart from you I have no good thing.”

³I say of the holy people who are in the land, “They are the noble ones in whom is all my delight.”

⁴Those who run after other gods will suffer more and more.
I will not pour out libations of blood to such gods or take up their names on my lips.

⁵LORD, you alone are my portion and my cup; you make my lot secure.

⁶The boundary lines have fallen for me in pleasant places; surely I have a delightful inheritance.

⁷I will praise the LORD, who counsels me; even at night my heart instructs me.

⁸I keep my eyes always on the LORD.
With him at my right hand, I will not be shaken.

⁹Therefore my heart is glad and my tongue rejoices; my body also will rest secure, ¹⁰because you will not abandon me to the realm of the dead, nor will you let your faithful^b one see decay.

¹¹You make known to me the path of life; you will fill me with joy in your presence, with eternal pleasures at your right hand.

Psalm 17

A prayer of David.

- ¹Hear me, LORD, my plea is just; listen to my cry.
Hear my prayer—
it does not rise from deceitful lips.
- ²Let my vindication come from you;
may your eyes see what is right.
- ³Though you probe my heart,
though you examine me at night and test me,
you will find that I have planned no evil;
my mouth has not transgressed.
- ⁴Though people tried to bribe me,
I have kept myself from the ways of the violent through what your lips have commanded.
- ⁵My steps have held to your paths;
my feet have not stumbled.
- ⁶I call on you, my God, for you will answer me; turn your ear to me and hear my prayer.
- ⁷Show me the wonders of your great love, you who save by your right hand those who take refuge in you from their foes.
- ⁸Keep me as the apple of your eye;
hide me in the shadow of your wings
- ⁹from the wicked who are out to destroy me, from my mortal enemies who surround me.
- ¹⁰They close up their callous hearts, and their mouths speak with arrogance.
- ¹¹They have tracked me down, they now surround me, with eyes alert, to throw me to the ground.
- ¹²They are like a lion hungry for prey, like a fierce lion crouching in cover.
- ¹³Rise up, LORD, confront them, bring them down; with your sword rescue me from the wicked.

¹⁴By your hand save me from such people, LORD, from those of this world whose reward is in this life.

May what you have stored up for the wicked fill their bellies;
may their children gorge themselves on it,
and may there be leftovers for their little ones.

¹⁵As for me, I will be vindicated and will see your face; when I awake, I will be satisfied with seeing your likeness.

Psalm 18^a

For the director of music. Of David the servant of the LORD. He sang to the LORD the words of this song when the LORD delivered him from the hand of all his enemies and from the hand of Saul. He said:

¹I love you, LORD, my strength. God: An Absolute Leader in a Relative World

²The LORD is my rock, my fortress and my deliverer; my God is my rock, in whom I take refuge, my shield^b and the horn^c of my salvation, my stronghold.

³I called to the LORD, who is worthy of praise, and I have been saved from my enemies.

⁴The cords of death entangled me;
the torrents of destruction overwhelmed me.

⁵The cords of the grave coiled around me; the snares of death confronted me.

⁶In my distress I called to the LORD; I cried to my God for help.
From his temple he heard my voice;
my cry came before him, into his ears.

⁷The earth trembled and quaked, and the foundations of the mountains shook;
they trembled because he was angry.

⁸Smoke rose from his nostrils;
consuming fire came from his mouth,
burning coals blazed out of it.

⁹He parted the heavens and came down;
dark clouds were under his feet.

¹⁰He mounted the cherubim and flew;
he soared on the wings of the wind.

¹¹He made darkness his covering, his canopy around him— the dark rain clouds of the sky.

¹²Out of the brightness of his presence clouds advanced, with hailstones and bolts of lightning.

¹³The LORD thundered from heaven; the voice of the Most High resounded.^d

¹⁴He shot his arrows and scattered the enemy, with great bolts of lightning he routed them.

¹⁵The valleys of the sea were exposed and the foundations of the earth laid bare at your rebuke, LORD,
at the blast of breath from your nostrils.

¹⁶He reached down from on high and took hold of me; he drew me out of deep waters.

¹⁷He rescued me from my powerful enemy, from my foes, who were too strong for me.

¹⁸They confronted me in the day of my disaster, but the LORD was my support.

¹⁹He brought me out into a spacious place; he rescued me because he delighted in me.

²⁰The LORD has dealt with me according to my righteousness; according to the cleanness of my hands he has rewarded me.

²¹For I have kept the ways of the LORD; I am not guilty of turning from my God.

²²All his laws are before me;
I have not turned away from his decrees.

²³I have been blameless before him and have kept myself from sin.

²⁴The LORD has rewarded me according to my righteousness, according to the cleanness of my hands in his sight.

²⁵To the faithful you show yourself faithful, to the blameless you show yourself blameless,

²⁶to the pure you show yourself pure, but to the devious you show yourself shrewd.

²⁷You save the humble
but bring low those whose eyes are haughty.

²⁸You, LORD, keep my lamp burning; my God turns my darkness into light.

²⁹With your help I can advance against a troop^e; with my God I can scale a wall.

³⁰As for God, his way is perfect:
The LORD's word is flawless;
he shields all who take refuge in him.

³¹For who is God besides the LORD?
And who is the Rock except our God?

And who is the Rock except our God?

³²It is God who arms me with strength and keeps my way secure.

³³He makes my feet like the feet of a deer; he causes me to stand on the heights.

³⁴He trains my hands for battle;
my arms can bend a bow of bronze.

³⁵You make your saving help my shield, and your right hand sustains me;
your help has made me great.

³⁶You provide a broad path for my feet, so that my ankles do not give way.

³⁷I pursued my enemies and overtook them; I did not turn back till they were destroyed.

³⁸I crushed them so that they could not rise; they fell beneath my feet.

³⁹You armed me with strength for battle; you humbled my adversaries before me.

⁴⁰You made my enemies turn their backs in flight, and I destroyed my foes.

⁴¹They cried for help, but there was no one to save them— to the LORD, but he did not answer.

⁴²I beat them as fine as windblown dust; I trampled them^f like mud in the streets.

⁴³You have delivered me from the attacks of the people; you have made me the head of nations.

People I did not know now serve me, ⁴⁴foreigners cower before me;
as soon as they hear of me, they obey me.

⁴⁵They all lose heart;
they come trembling from their strongholds.

⁴⁶The LORD lives! Praise be to my Rock!
Exalted be God my Savior!

⁴⁷He is the God who avenges me,
who subdues nations under me, ⁴⁸who saves me from my enemies.

You exalted me above my foes;
from a violent man you rescued me.

⁴⁹Therefore I will praise you, LORD, among the nations; I will sing the praises of your name.

⁵⁰He gives his king great victories;
he shows unfailing love to his anointed,
to David and to his descendants forever.

Psalm 19^a

For the director of music. A psalm of David.

¹The heavens declare the glory of God; the skies proclaim the work of his hands. Leaders Communicate

²Day after day they pour forth speech; night after night they reveal knowledge.

³They have no speech, they use no words; no sound is heard from them.

⁴Yet their voice^b goes out into all the earth, their words to the ends of the world.

In the heavens God has pitched a tent for the sun.

⁵It is like a bridegroom coming out of his chamber, like a champion rejoicing to run his course.

⁶It rises at one end of the heavens and makes its circuit to the other;
nothing is deprived of its warmth.

⁷The law of the LORD is perfect, refreshing the soul.
The statutes of the LORD are trustworthy, making wise the simple.

⁸The precepts of the LORD are right, giving joy to the heart.
The commands of the LORD are radiant, giving light to the eyes.

⁹The fear of the LORD is pure, enduring forever.
The decrees of the LORD are firm,
and all of them are righteous.

¹⁰They are more precious than gold,
than much pure gold;
they are sweeter than honey,
than honey from the honeycomb.

¹¹By them your servant is warned;
in keeping them there is great reward.

¹²But who can discern their own errors?
Forgive my hidden faults.

¹³Keep your servant also from willful sins; may they not rule over me.
Then I will be blameless, innocent of great transgression.

¹⁴May these words of my mouth and this meditation of my heart be pleasing in your sight,
LORD, my Rock and my Redeemer.

Psalm 20^a

For the director of music. A psalm of David.

¹May the LORD answer you when you are in distress; may the name of the God of Jacob protect you.

²May he send you help from the sanctuary and grant you support from Zion.

³May he remember all your sacrifices and accept your burnt offerings.^b

⁴May he give you the desire of your heart and make all your plans succeed.

⁵May we shout for joy over your victory and lift up our banners in the name of our God.

May the LORD grant all your requests.

⁶Now this I know:

The LORD gives victory to his anointed.

He answers him from his heavenly sanctuary with the victorious power of his right hand.

⁷Some trust in chariots and some in horses, but we trust in the name of the LORD our God.

⁸They are brought to their knees and fall, but we rise up and stand firm.

⁹LORD, give victory to the king!
Answer us when we call!

Psalm 21^a

For the director of music. A psalm of David.

- ¹The king rejoices in your strength, LORD.
How great is his joy in the victories you give!
- ²You have granted him his heart's desire and have not withheld the request of his lips.^b
- ³You came to greet him with rich blessings and placed a crown of pure gold on his head.
- ⁴He asked you for life, and you gave it to him— length of days, for ever and ever.
- ⁵Through the victories you gave, his glory is great; you have bestowed on him splendor and majesty.
- ⁶Surely you have granted him unending blessings and made him glad with the joy of your presence.
- ⁷For the king trusts in the LORD; through the unfailing love of the Most High
he will not be shaken.
- ⁸Your hand will lay hold on all your enemies; your right hand will seize your foes.
- ⁹When you appear for battle,
you will burn them up as in a blazing furnace.
The LORD will swallow them up in his wrath, and his fire will consume them.
- ¹⁰You will destroy their descendants from the earth, their posterity from mankind.
- ¹¹Though they plot evil against you and devise wicked schemes, they cannot succeed.
- ¹²You will make them turn their backs
when you aim at them with drawn bow.
- ¹³Be exalted in your strength, LORD; we will sing and praise your might.

Psalm 22^a

For the director of music. To the tune of “The Doe of the Morning.” A psalm of David.

- ¹My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?
Why are you so far from saving me, so far from my cries of anguish?
- ²My God, I cry out by day, but you do not answer, by night, but I find no rest.^b
- ³Yet you are enthroned as the Holy One; you are the one Israel praises.^c
- ⁴In you our ancestors put their trust; they trusted and you delivered them.
- ⁵To you they cried out and were saved; in you they trusted and were not put to shame.
- ⁶But I am a worm and not a man,
scorned by everyone, despised by the people.
- ⁷All who see me mock me;
they hurl insults, shaking their heads.
- ⁸“He trusts in the LORD,” they say, “let the LORD rescue him.
Let him deliver him,
since he delights in him.”
- ⁹Yet you brought me out of the womb;
you made me trust in you, even at my mother’s breast.
- ¹⁰From birth I was cast on you;
from my mother’s womb you have been my God.
- ¹¹Do not be far from me, for trouble is near and there is no one to help.

¹²Many bulls surround me;
strong bulls of Bashan encircle me.

¹³Roaring lions that tear their prey open their mouths wide against me.

¹⁴I am poured out like water, and all my bones are out of joint.
My heart has turned to wax;
it has melted within me.

¹⁵My mouth^d is dried up like a potsherd, and my tongue sticks to the roof of my mouth;
you lay me in the dust of death.

¹⁶Dogs surround me,
a pack of villains encircles me;
they pierce^e my hands and my feet.

¹⁷All my bones are on display;
people stare and gloat over me.

¹⁸They divide my clothes among them and cast lots for my garment.

¹⁹But you, LORD, do not be far from me.
You are my strength; come quickly to help me.

²⁰Deliver me from the sword,
my precious life from the power of the dogs.

²¹Rescue me from the mouth of the lions; save me from the horns of the wild oxen.

²²I will declare your name to my people; in the assembly I will praise you.

²³You who fear the LORD, praise him!
All you descendants of Jacob, honor him!
Revere him, all you descendants of Israel!

²⁴For he has not despised or scorned the suffering of the afflicted one;
he has not hidden his face from him

but has listened to his cry for help.

²⁵From you comes the theme of my praise in the great assembly; before those who fear you^f I will fulfill my vows.

²⁶The poor will eat and be satisfied;
those who seek the LORD will praise him—
may your hearts live forever!

²⁷All the ends of the earth will remember and turn to the LORD, and all the families of the nations will bow down before him,

²⁸for dominion belongs to the LORD and he rules over the nations.

²⁹All the rich of the earth will feast and worship; all who go down to the dust will kneel before him— those who cannot keep themselves alive.

³⁰Posterity will serve him;
future generations will be told about the Lord.

³¹They will proclaim his righteousness, declaring to a people yet unborn:
He has done it!

Psalm 23

A psalm of David.

¹The LORD is my shepherd, I lack nothing. The Leader and Stress The Leader as a Shepherd

²He makes me lie down in green pastures, he leads me beside quiet waters, ³he refreshes my soul.

He guides me along the right paths for his name's sake.

⁴Even though I walk through the darkest valley,^a

I will fear no evil,
for you are with me;
your rod and your staff,
they comfort me.

⁵You prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies.

You anoint my head with oil;
my cup overflows.

⁶Surely your goodness and love will follow me all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house of the LORD
forever.

Psalm 24

Of David. A psalm.

¹The earth is the LORD's, and everything in it, the world, and all who live in it;

²for he founded it on the seas and established it on the waters.

³Who may ascend the mountain of the LORD?
Who may stand in his holy place?

⁴The one who has clean hands and a pure heart, who does not trust in an idol or swear by a false god.^a

⁵They will receive blessing from the LORD and vindication from God their Savior.

⁶Such is the generation of those who seek him, who seek your face, God of Jacob.^{b,c}

⁷Lift up your heads, you gates;
be lifted up, you ancient doors,
that the King of glory may come in.

⁸Who is this King of glory?
The LORD strong and mighty,
the LORD mighty in battle.

⁹Lift up your heads, you gates;
lift them up, you ancient doors,
that the King of glory may come in.

¹⁰Who is he, this King of glory?
The LORD Almighty—
he is the King of glory.

Psalm 25^a

Of David.

¹In you, LORD my God, I put my trust.

²I trust in you;
do not let me be put to shame,
nor let my enemies triumph over me.

³No one who hopes in you will ever be put to shame, but shame will come on those who are treacherous without cause.

⁴Show me your ways, LORD, teach me your paths.

⁵Guide me in your truth and teach me,
for you are God my Savior,
and my hope is in you all day long.

⁶Remember, LORD, your great mercy and love, for they are from of old.

⁷Do not remember the sins of my youth and my rebellious ways;
according to your love remember me,
for you, LORD, are good.

⁸Good and upright is the LORD; therefore he instructs sinners in his ways.

⁹He guides the humble in what is right and teaches them his way.

¹⁰All the ways of the LORD are loving and faithful toward those who keep the demands of his covenant.

¹¹For the sake of your name, LORD, forgive my iniquity, though it is great.

¹²Who, then, are those who fear the LORD?
He will instruct them in the ways they should choose.^b

¹³They will spend their days in prosperity, and their descendants will inherit the land.

¹⁴The LORD confides in those who fear him; he makes his covenant known to them.

¹⁵My eyes are ever on the LORD, for only he will release my feet from the snare.

¹⁶Turn to me and be gracious to me, for I am lonely and afflicted.

¹⁷Relieve the troubles of my heart and free me from my anguish.

¹⁸Look on my affliction and my distress and take away all my sins.

¹⁹See how numerous are my enemies and how fiercely they hate me!

²⁰Guard my life and rescue me;
do not let me be put to shame,
for I take refuge in you.

²¹May integrity and uprightness protect me, because my hope, LORD, ^c is in you.

²²Deliver Israel, O God, from all their troubles!

Psalm 26

Of David.

- ¹Vindicate me, LORD, for I have led a blameless life;
I have trusted in the LORD and have not faltered.
- ²Test me, LORD, and try me, examine my heart and my mind;
³for I have always been mindful of your unfailing love and have lived in reliance on your faithfulness.
- ⁴I do not sit with the deceitful,
nor do I associate with hypocrites.
- ⁵I abhor the assembly of evildoers and refuse to sit with the wicked.
- ⁶I wash my hands in innocence,
and go about your altar, LORD,
- ⁷proclaiming aloud your praise and telling of all your wonderful deeds.
- ⁸LORD, I love the house where you live, the place where your glory dwells.
- ⁹Do not take away my soul along with sinners, my life with those who are bloodthirsty,
- ¹⁰in whose hands are wicked schemes,
whose right hands are full of bribes.
- ¹¹I lead a blameless life;
deliver me and be merciful to me.
- ¹²My feet stand on level ground;
in the great congregation I will praise the LORD.

Psalm 27

Of David.

¹The LORD is my light and my salvation— whom shall I fear?
The LORD is the stronghold of my life—
of whom shall I be afraid?

²When the wicked advance against me to devour^a me, it is my enemies and my foes who will stumble and fall.

³Though an army besiege me,
my heart will not fear;
though war break out against me,
even then I will be confident.

⁴One thing I ask from the LORD, this only do I seek:
that I may dwell in the house of the LORD
all the days of my life, to gaze on the beauty of the LORD and to seek him in his temple.

⁵For in the day of trouble
he will keep me safe in his dwelling;
he will hide me in the shelter of his sacred tent and set me high upon a rock.

⁶Then my head will be exalted above the enemies who surround me;
at his sacred tent I will sacrifice with shouts of joy;
I will sing and make music to the LORD.

⁷Hear my voice when I call, LORD; be merciful to me and answer me.

⁸My heart says of you, “Seek his face!”
Your face, LORD, I will seek.

⁹Do not hide your face from me,
do not turn your servant away in anger;
you have been my helper.

Do not reject me or forsake me,
God my Savior.

¹⁰Though my father and mother forsake me, the LORD will receive me.

¹¹Teach me your way, LORD; lead me in a straight path because of my oppressors.

¹²Do not turn me over to the desire of my foes, for false witnesses rise up against me,
spouting malicious accusations.

¹³I remain confident of this:
I will see the goodness of the LORD
in the land of the living.

¹⁴Wait for the LORD; be strong and take heart and wait for the LORD.

Psalm 28

Of David.

- ¹To you, LORD, I call; you are my Rock,
do not turn a deaf ear to me.
For if you remain silent,
I will be like those who go down to the pit.
- ²Hear my cry for mercy
as I call to you for help,
as I lift up my hands toward your Most Holy Place.
- ³Do not drag me away with the wicked, with those who do evil,
who speak cordially with their neighbors but harbor malice in their hearts.
- ⁴Repay them for their deeds
and for their evil work;
repay them for what their hands have done and bring back on them what they deserve.
- ⁵Because they have no regard for the deeds of the LORD and what his hands have done,

he will tear them down and never build them up again.

⁶Praise be to the LORD, for he has heard my cry for mercy.

⁷The LORD is my strength and my shield; my heart trusts in him, and he helps me.

My heart leaps for joy,
and with my song I praise him.

⁸The LORD is the strength of his people, a fortress of salvation for his anointed one.

⁹Save your people and bless your inheritance; be their shepherd and carry them forever.

Psalm 29

A psalm of David.

- ¹Ascribe to the LORD, you heavenly beings, ascribe to the LORD glory and strength.
- ²Ascribe to the LORD the glory due his name; worship the LORD in the splendor of his^a holiness.
- ³The voice of the LORD is over the waters; the God of glory thunders, the LORD thunders over the mighty waters.
- ⁴The voice of the LORD is powerful; the voice of the LORD is majestic.
- ⁵The voice of the LORD breaks the cedars; the LORD breaks in pieces the cedars of Lebanon.
- ⁶He makes Lebanon leap like a calf, Sirion^b like a young wild ox.
- ⁷The voice of the LORD strikes with flashes of lightning.
- ⁸The voice of the LORD shakes the desert; the LORD shakes the Desert of Kadesh.
- ⁹The voice of the LORD twists the oaks^c and strips the forests bare.
And in his temple all cry, “Glory!”
- ¹⁰The LORD sits enthroned over the flood; the LORD is enthroned as King forever.
- ¹¹The LORD gives strength to his people; the LORD blesses his people with peace.

Psalm 30^a

A psalm. A song. For the dedication of the temple.^b Of David.

- ¹I will exalt you, LORD, for you lifted me out of the depths and did not let my enemies gloat over me.
- ²LORD my God, I called to you for help, and you healed me.
- ³You, LORD, brought me up from the realm of the dead; you spared me from going down to the pit.
- ⁴Sing the praises of the LORD, you his faithful people; praise his holy name.
- ⁵For his anger lasts only a moment,
but his favor lasts a lifetime;
weeping may stay for the night,
but rejoicing comes in the morning.
- ⁶When I felt secure, I said,
“I will never be shaken.”
- ⁷LORD, when you favored me, you made my royal mountain^c stand firm;
but when you hid your face,
I was dismayed.
- ⁸To you, LORD, I called; to the Lord I cried for mercy:
- ⁹“What is gained if I am silenced,
if I go down to the pit?
Will the dust praise you?
Will it proclaim your faithfulness?
- ¹⁰Hear, LORD, and be merciful to me; LORD, be my help.”
- ¹¹You turned my wailing into dancing; you removed my sackcloth and clothed me with joy,
- ¹²that my heart may sing your praises and not be silent.
LORD my God, I will praise you forever.

Psalm 31^a

For the director of music. A psalm of David.

- ¹In you, LORD, I have taken refuge; let me never be put to shame;
deliver me in your righteousness.
- ²Turn your ear to me,
come quickly to my rescue;
be my rock of refuge,
a strong fortress to save me.
- ³Since you are my rock and my fortress, for the sake of your name lead and guide me.
- ⁴Keep me free from the trap that is set for me, for you are my refuge.
- ⁵Into your hands I commit my spirit;
deliver me, LORD, my faithful God.
- ⁶I hate those who cling to worthless idols; as for me, I trust in the LORD.
- ⁷I will be glad and rejoice in your love, for you saw my affliction and knew the anguish of my soul.
- ⁸You have not given me into the hands of the enemy but have set my feet in a spacious place.
- ⁹Be merciful to me, LORD, for I am in distress; my eyes grow weak with sorrow,
my soul and body with grief.
- ¹⁰My life is consumed by anguish and my years by groaning;
my strength fails because of my affliction,^b and my bones grow weak.
- ¹¹Because of all my enemies,
I am the utter contempt of my neighbors and an object of dread to my closest friends—those who see me on the street flee from me.
- ¹²I am forgotten as though I were dead; I have become like broken pottery.
- ¹³For I hear many whispering,
“Terror on every side!”

They conspire against me and plot to take my life.

¹⁴But I trust in you, LORD; I say, “You are my God.”

¹⁵My times are in your hands;
deliver me from the hands of my enemies,
from those who pursue me.

¹⁶Let your face shine on your servant; save me in your unfailing love.

¹⁷Let me not be put to shame, LORD, for I have cried out to you;
but let the wicked be put to shame and be silent in the realm of the dead.

¹⁸Let their lying lips be silenced, for with pride and contempt

they speak arrogantly against the righteous.

¹⁹How abundant are the good things that you have stored up for those who fear you, that you bestow in the sight of all,
on those who take refuge in you.

²⁰In the shelter of your presence you hide them from all human intrigues;
you keep them safe in your dwelling from accusing tongues.

²¹Praise be to the LORD, for he showed me the wonders of his love when I was in a city under siege.

²²In my alarm I said,
“I am cut off from your sight!”
Yet you heard my cry for mercy
when I called to you for help.

²³Love the LORD, all his faithful people!
The LORD preserves those who are true to him, but the proud he pays back in full.

²⁴Be strong and take heart,
all you who hope in the LORD.

Psalm 32

Of David. A maskil.^a

¹Blessed is the one whose transgressions are forgiven, whose sins are covered.

²Blessed is the one whose sin the LORD does not count against them and in whose spirit is no deceit.

³When I kept silent,

my bones wasted away
through my groaning all day long.
⁴For day and night
your hand was heavy on me;

my strength was sapped
as in the heat of summer.^b

⁵Then I acknowledged my sin to you and did not cover up my iniquity.
I said, "I will confess my transgressions to the LORD."

And you forgave
the guilt of my sin.

⁶Therefore let all the faithful pray to you while you may be found;
surely the rising of the mighty waters will not reach them.

⁷You are my hiding place;
you will protect me from trouble and surround me with songs of deliverance.

⁸I will instruct you and teach you in the way you should go; I will counsel you with my loving eye on you. Guidance: Leaders Are Not Perfect, but Whole

⁹Do not be like the horse or the mule, which have no understanding but must be controlled by bit and bridle or they will not come to you.

¹⁰Many are the woes of the wicked, but the LORD's unfailing love surrounds the one who trusts in him.

¹¹Rejoice in the LORD and be glad, you righteous; sing, all you who are upright in heart!

Psalm 33

¹Sing joyfully to the LORD, you righteous; it is fitting for the upright to praise him.

²Praise the LORD with the harp; make music to him on the ten-stringed lyre.

³Sing to him a new song;
play skillfully, and shout for joy.

⁴For the word of the LORD is right and true; he is faithful in all he does.

⁵The LORD loves righteousness and justice; the earth is full of his unfailing love.

⁶By the word of the LORD the heavens were made, their starry host by the breath of his mouth.

⁷He gathers the waters of the sea into jars^a; he puts the deep into storehouses.

⁸Let all the earth fear the LORD; let all the people of the world revere him.

⁹For he spoke, and it came to be;
he commanded, and it stood firm.

¹⁰The LORD foils the plans of the nations; he thwarts the purposes of the peoples.

¹¹But the plans of the LORD stand firm forever, the purposes of his heart through all generations.

¹²Blessed is the nation whose God is the LORD, the people he chose for his inheritance.

¹³From heaven the LORD looks down and sees all mankind;

¹⁴from his dwelling place he watches
all who live on earth—

¹⁵he who forms the hearts of all, who considers everything they do.

¹⁶No king is saved by the size of his army; no warrior escapes by his great strength.

¹⁷A horse is a vain hope for deliverance; despite all its great strength it cannot save.

¹⁸But the eyes of the LORD are on those who fear him, on those whose hope is in his unfailing love,

¹⁹to deliver them from death and keep them alive in famine.

²⁰We wait in hope for the LORD; he is our help and our shield.

²¹In him our hearts rejoice, for we trust in his holy name.

²²May your unfailing love be with us, LORD, even as we put our hope in you.

Psalm 34^{a,b}

Of David. When he pretended to be insane before Abimelek, who drove him away, and he left.

¹I will extol the LORD at all times; his praise will always be on my lips.

²I will glory in the LORD; let the afflicted hear and rejoice.

³Glorify the LORD with me; let us exalt his name together.

⁴I sought the LORD, and he answered me; he delivered me from all my fears.

⁵Those who look to him are radiant;
their faces are never covered with shame.

⁶This poor man called, and the LORD heard him; he saved him out of all his troubles.

⁷The angel of the LORD encamps around those who fear him, and he delivers them.

⁸Taste and see that the LORD is good; blessed is the one who takes refuge in him.

⁹Fear the LORD, you his holy people, for those who fear him lack nothing.

¹⁰The lions may grow weak and hungry,
but those who seek the LORD lack no good thing.

¹¹Come, my children, listen to me;
I will teach you the fear of the LORD.

¹²Whoever of you loves life and desires to see many good days,

¹³keep your tongue from evil and your lips from telling lies.

¹⁴Turn from evil and do good;
seek peace and pursue it.

¹⁵The eyes of the LORD are on the righteous, and his ears are attentive to their cry;

¹⁶but the face of the LORD is against those who do evil, to blot out their name from the earth.

¹⁷The righteous cry out, and the LORD hears them; he delivers them from all their troubles.

¹⁸The LORD is close to the brokenhearted and saves those who are crushed in spirit.

¹⁹The righteous person may have many troubles, but the LORD delivers him from them all;

²⁰he protects all his bones, not one of them will be broken.

²¹Evil will slay the wicked;
the foes of the righteous will be condemned.

²²The LORD will rescue his servants; no one who takes refuge in him will be condemned.

Psalm 35

Of David.

¹Contend, LORD, with those who contend with me; fight against those who fight against me.

²Take up shield and armor;
arise and come to my aid.

³Brandish spear and javelin^a against those who pursue me.
Say to me,
“I am your salvation.”

⁴May those who seek my life be disgraced and put to shame;
may those who plot my ruin be turned back in dismay.

⁵May they be like chaff before the wind, with the angel of the LORD driving them away;

⁶may their path be dark and slippery,
with the angel of the LORD pursuing them.

⁷Since they hid their net for me without cause and without cause dug a pit for me,

⁸may ruin overtake them by surprise—may the net they hid entangle them, may they fall into the pit, to their ruin.

⁹Then my soul will rejoice in the LORD and delight in his salvation.

¹⁰My whole being will exclaim,
“Who is like you, LORD?
You rescue the poor from those too strong for them,
the poor and needy from those who rob them.”

¹¹Ruthless witnesses come forward;
they question me on things I know nothing about.

- ¹²They repay me evil for good and leave me like one bereaved.
- ¹³Yet when they were ill, I put on sackcloth and humbled myself with fasting.
When my prayers returned to me unanswered, ¹⁴I went about mourning
as though for my friend or brother.
I bowed my head in grief
as though weeping for my mother.
- ¹⁵But when I stumbled, they gathered in glee; assailants gathered against me without my knowledge.
They slandered me without ceasing.
- ¹⁶Like the ungodly they maliciously mocked;^b
they gnashed their teeth at me.
- ¹⁷How long, Lord, will you look on?
Rescue me from their ravages,
my precious life from these lions.
- ¹⁸I will give you thanks in the great assembly; among the throngs I will praise you.
- ¹⁹Do not let those gloat over me who are my enemies without cause;
do not let those who hate me without reason maliciously wink the eye.
- ²⁰They do not speak peaceably,

but devise false accusations against those who live quietly in the land.

²¹They sneer at me and say, “Aha! Aha!
With our own eyes we have seen it.”

²²LORD, you have seen this; do not be silent.
Do not be far from me, Lord.

²³Awake, and rise to my defense!
Contend for me, my God and Lord.

²⁴Vindicate me in your righteousness, LORD my God; do not let them gloat over me.

²⁵Do not let them think, “Aha, just what we wanted!”
or say, “We have swallowed him up.”

²⁶May all who gloat over my distress be put to shame and confusion;
may all who exalt themselves over me be clothed with shame and disgrace.

²⁷May those who delight in my vindication shout for joy and gladness;
may they always say, “The LORD be exalted, who delights in the well-being of his servant.”

²⁸My tongue will proclaim your righteousness, your praises all day long.

Psalm 36^a

For the director of music. Of David the servant of the LORD.

¹I have a message from God in my heart concerning the sinfulness of the wicked:^b

There is no fear of God before their eyes.

²In their own eyes they flatter themselves too much to detect or hate their sin.

³The words of their mouths are wicked and deceitful; they fail to act wisely or do good.

⁴Even on their beds they plot evil;
they commit themselves to a sinful course and do not reject what is wrong.

⁵Your love, LORD, reaches to the heavens, your faithfulness to the skies.

⁶Your righteousness is like the highest mountains, your justice like the great deep.

You, LORD, preserve both people and animals.

⁷How priceless is your unfailing love, O God!
People take refuge in the shadow of your wings.

⁸They feast on the abundance of your house; you give them drink from your river of delights.

⁹For with you is the fountain of life; in your light we see light.

¹⁰Continue your love to those who know you, your righteousness to the upright in heart.

¹¹May the foot of the proud not come against me, nor the hand of the wicked drive me away.

¹²See how the evildoers lie fallen—thrown down, not able to rise!

Psalm 37^a

Of David.

- ¹Do not fret because of those who are evil or be envious of those who do wrong; The Law of Intuition: David Makes Decisions Wisely
- ²for like the grass they will soon wither, like green plants they will soon die away.
- ³Trust in the LORD and do good; dwell in the land and enjoy safe pasture. The Law of Intentionality
- ⁴Take delight in the LORD, and he will give you the desires of your heart.
- ⁵Commit your way to the LORD; trust in him and he will do this:
- ⁶He will make your righteous reward shine like the dawn, your vindication like the noonday sun.
- ⁷Be still before the LORD and wait patiently for him;
do not fret when people succeed in their ways,
when they carry out their wicked schemes.
- ⁸Refrain from anger and turn from wrath; do not fret—it leads only to evil.
- ⁹For those who are evil will be destroyed, but those who hope in the LORD will inherit the land.
- ¹⁰A little while, and the wicked will be no more; though you look for them, they will not be found.
- ¹¹But the meek will inherit the land and enjoy peace and prosperity.
- ¹²The wicked plot against the righteous and gnash their teeth at them;
- ¹³but the Lord laughs at the wicked,
for he knows their day is coming.
- ¹⁴The wicked draw the sword

- and bend the bow
to bring down the poor and needy, to slay those whose ways are upright.
- ¹⁵But their swords will pierce their own hearts, and their bows will be broken.
- ¹⁶Better the little that the righteous have than the wealth of many wicked;
¹⁷for the power of the wicked will be broken, but the LORD upholds the righteous.
- ¹⁸The blameless spend their days under the LORD's care, and their inheritance will endure forever.
- ¹⁹In times of disaster they will not wither; in days of famine they will enjoy plenty.
- ²⁰But the wicked will perish:
Though the LORD's enemies are like the flowers of the field, they will be consumed, they will go up in smoke.
- ²¹The wicked borrow and do not repay, but the righteous give generously;
²²those the LORD blesses will inherit the land, but those he curses will be destroyed.
- ²³The LORD makes firm the steps of the one who delights in him;
²⁴though he may stumble, he will not fall, for the LORD upholds him with his hand.
- ²⁵I was young and now I am old, yet I have never seen the righteous forsaken or their children begging bread.
- ²⁶They are always generous and lend freely; their children will be a blessing.^b
- ²⁷Turn from evil and do good;
then you will dwell in the land forever.
- ²⁸For the LORD loves the just and will not forsake his faithful ones.

Wrongdoers will be completely destroyed^c; the offspring of the wicked will perish.

²⁹The righteous will inherit the land and dwell in it forever.

³⁰The mouths of the righteous utter wisdom, and their tongues speak what is just.

³¹The law of their God is in their hearts; their feet do not slip.

³²The wicked lie in wait for the righteous, intent on putting them to death;

³³but the LORD will not leave them in the power of the wicked or let them be condemned when brought to trial.

³⁴Hope in the LORD and keep his way.

He will exalt you to inherit the land;
when the wicked are destroyed, you will see it.

³⁵I have seen a wicked and ruthless man flourishing like a luxuriant native tree, ³⁶but he soon passed away and was no more; though I looked for him, he could not be found.

³⁷Consider the blameless, observe the upright; a future awaits those who seek peace.^d

³⁸But all sinners will be destroyed;
there will be no future^e for the wicked.

³⁹The salvation of the righteous comes from the LORD; he is their stronghold in time of trouble.

⁴⁰The LORD helps them and delivers them; he delivers them from the wicked and saves them, because they take refuge in him.

Psalm 38^a

A psalm of David. A petition.

- ¹LORD, do not rebuke me in your anger or discipline me in your wrath.
²Your arrows have pierced me,
and your hand has come down on me.
³Because of your wrath there is no health in my body; there is no soundness in my bones because of my sin.
⁴My guilt has overwhelmed me like a burden too heavy to bear.
- ⁵My wounds fester and are loathsome
because of my sinful folly.
⁶I am bowed down and brought very low; all day long I go about mourning.
⁷My back is filled with searing pain;
there is no health in my body.
⁸I am feeble and utterly crushed;
I groan in anguish of heart.
- ⁹All my longings lie open before you, Lord; my sighing is not hidden from
you.
¹⁰My heart pounds, my strength fails me; even the light has gone from my eyes.
¹¹My friends and companions avoid me because of my wounds; my neighbors stay far away.
¹²Those who want to kill me set their traps, those who would harm me talk of my ruin;
all day long they scheme and lie.
- ¹³I am like the deaf, who cannot hear, like the mute, who cannot speak;
¹⁴I have become like one who does not hear, whose mouth can offer no reply.
¹⁵LORD, I wait for you; you will answer, Lord my God.
¹⁶For I said, "Do not let them gloat or exalt themselves over me when my feet slip."

¹⁷For I am about to fall, and my pain is ever with me.

¹⁸I confess my iniquity;
I am troubled by my sin.

¹⁹Many have become my enemies without cause^b; those who hate me without reason are numerous.

²⁰Those who repay my good with evil lodge accusations against me, though I seek only to do what is good.

²¹LORD, do not forsake me; do not be far from me, my God.

²²Come quickly to help me,
my Lord and my Savior.

Psalm 39^a

For the director of music. For Jeduthun. A psalm of David.

- ¹I said, “I will watch my ways and keep my tongue from sin;
I will put a muzzle on my mouth
while in the presence of the wicked.”
- ²So I remained utterly silent,
not even saying anything good.
But my anguish increased;
³my heart grew hot within me.
While I meditated, the fire burned;
then I spoke with my tongue:
- ⁴“Show me, LORD, my life’s end and the number of my days;
let me know how fleeting my life is. The Law of Timing: Leaders Value Time, They Don’t Kill It
- ⁵You have made my days a mere handbreadth; the span of my years is as nothing before you.
Everyone is but a breath,
even those who seem secure.^b
- ⁶“Surely everyone goes around like a mere phantom; in vain they rush about, heaping up wealth without knowing whose it will finally be.
- ⁷“But now, Lord, what do I look for?
My hope is in you.
- ⁸Save me from all my transgressions;
do not make me the scorn of fools.
- ⁹I was silent; I would not open my mouth, for you are the one who has done this.
- ¹⁰Remove your scourge from me;
I am overcome by the blow of your hand.
- ¹¹When you rebuke and discipline anyone for their sin, you consume their wealth like a moth— surely everyone is but a breath.

¹²“Hear my prayer, LORD, listen to my cry for help;
do not be deaf to my weeping.

I dwell with you as a foreigner,
a stranger, as all my ancestors were.

¹³Look away from me, that I may enjoy life again before I depart and am no more.”

Psalm 40^a

For the director of music. Of David. A psalm.

¹I waited patiently for the LORD; he turned to me and heard my cry. PROFILE
in Leadership: David: Trusting in God Alone

²He lifted me out of the slimy pit, out of the mud and mire;
he set my feet on a rock and gave me a firm place to stand.

³He put a new song in my mouth,
a hymn of praise to our God.
Many will see and fear the LORD and put their trust in him.

⁴Blessed is the one who trusts in the LORD,
who does not look to the proud,
to those who turn aside to false gods.^b

⁵Many, LORD my God, are the wonders you have done, the things you planned for us.
None can compare with you;
were I to speak and tell of your deeds,
they would be too many to declare.

⁶Sacrifice and offering you did not desire— but my ears you have opened^c — burnt offerings and sin offerings^d you did not require.

⁷Then I said, “Here I am, I have come— it is written about me in the scroll.”^e

⁸I desire to do your will, my God;
your law is within my heart.”

⁹I proclaim your saving acts in the great assembly; I do not seal my lips, LORD,
as you know.

¹⁰I do not hide your righteousness in my heart; I speak of your faithfulness and your saving help.
I do not conceal your love and your faithfulness

from the great assembly.

¹¹Do not withhold your mercy from me, LORD; may your love and faithfulness always protect me.

¹²For troubles without number surround me; my sins have overtaken me, and I cannot see.

They are more than the hairs of my head, and my heart fails within me.

¹³Be pleased to save me, LORD; come quickly, LORD, to help me.

¹⁴May all who want to take my life
be put to shame and confusion;
may all who desire my ruin
be turned back in disgrace.

¹⁵May those who say to me, “Aha! Aha!”
be appalled at their own shame.

¹⁶But may all who seek you rejoice and be glad in you;
may those who long for your saving help always say,
“The LORD is great!”

¹⁷But as for me, I am poor and needy; may the Lord think of me.
You are my help and my deliverer;
you are my God, do not delay.

Psalm 41^a

For the director of music. A psalm of David.

¹Blessed are those who have regard for the weak; the LORD delivers them in times of trouble.

²The LORD protects and preserves them— they are counted among the blessed in the land—he does not give them over to the desire of their foes.

³The LORD sustains them on their sickbed and restores them from their bed of illness.

⁴I said, “Have mercy on me, LORD; heal me, for I have sinned against
you.”

⁵My enemies say of me in malice,
“When will he die and his name perish?”

⁶When one of them comes to see me, he speaks falsely, while his heart gathers slander;
then he goes out and spreads it around.

⁷All my enemies whisper together against me; they imagine the worst for me, saying,

⁸“A vile disease has afflicted him;
he will never get up from the place where he lies.”

⁹Even my close friend, someone I trusted,
one who shared my bread,
has turned^b against me.

¹⁰But may you have mercy on me, LORD; raise me up, that I may repay them.

¹¹I know that you are pleased with me, for my enemy does not triumph over
me.

¹²Because of my integrity you uphold me and set me in your presence forever.

¹³Praise be to the LORD, the God of Israel, from everlasting to everlasting.
Amen and Amen.

BOOK II

Psalms 42—72

Psalm 42^{a,b}

For the director of music. A maskil^c of the Sons of Korah.

¹As the deer pants for streams of water, so my soul pants for you, my God.

The Law of the Picture: Leaders Can't Lead Further Than Their Own Life

²My soul thirsts for God, for the living God.

When can I go and meet with God?

³My tears have been my food

day and night,

while people say to me all day long,

“Where is your God?”

⁴These things I remember as I pour out my soul:

how I used to go to the house of God

under the protection of the Mighty One^d with shouts of joy and praise

among the festive throng.

⁵Why, my soul, are you downcast?

Why so disturbed within me?

Put your hope in God,

for I will yet praise him,

my Savior and my God.

⁶My soul is downcast within me;

therefore I will remember you from the land of the Jordan,
the heights of Hermon—from Mount Mizar.
⁷Deep calls to deep in the roar of your waterfalls;

all your waves and breakers have swept over me.

⁸By day the LORD directs his love, at night his song is with me— a prayer to the God of my life.

⁹I say to God my Rock,
“Why have you forgotten me?
Why must I go about mourning,
oppressed by the enemy?”

¹⁰My bones suffer mortal agony
as my foes taunt me, saying to me all day long,
“Where is your God?”

¹¹Why, my soul, are you downcast?
Why so disturbed within me?
Put your hope in God,
for I will yet praise him,
my Savior and my God.

Psalm 43^a

¹Vindicate me, my God,

and plead my cause against an unfaithful nation.
Rescue me from those who are deceitful and wicked.

²You are God my stronghold.
Why have you rejected me?
Why must I go about mourning,
oppressed by the enemy?

³Send me your light and your faithful care, let them lead me;
let them bring me to your holy mountain,
to the place where you dwell.

⁴Then I will go to the altar of God,
to God, my joy and my delight.
I will praise you with the lyre,
O God, my God.

⁵Why, my soul, are you downcast?
Why so disturbed within me?
Put your hope in God,
for I will yet praise him,
my Savior and my God.

Psalm 44^a

For the director of music. Of the Sons of Korah. A maskil.^b

¹We have heard it with our ears, O God; our ancestors have told us what you did in their days,
in days long ago.

²With your hand you drove out the nations and planted our ancestors;

you crushed the peoples and made our ancestors flourish.

³It was not by their sword that they won the land, nor did their arm bring them victory;
it was your right hand, your arm,
and the light of your face, for you loved them.

⁴You are my King and my God, who decrees^c victories for Jacob.

⁵Through you we push back our enemies; through your name we trample our foes.

⁶I put no trust in my bow,
my sword does not bring me victory;

⁷but you give us victory over our enemies, you put our adversaries to shame.

⁸In God we make our boast all day long, and we will praise your name forever.^d

⁹But now you have rejected and humbled us; you no longer go out with our armies.

¹⁰You made us retreat before the enemy, and our adversaries have plundered us.

¹¹You gave us up to be devoured like sheep and have scattered us among the nations.

¹²You sold your people for a pittance, gaining nothing from their sale.

¹³You have made us a reproach to our neighbors, the scorn and derision of those around us.

¹⁴You have made us a byword among the nations; the peoples shake their heads at us.

¹⁵I live in disgrace all day long,
and my face is covered with shame

¹⁶at the taunts of those who reproach and revile me, because of the enemy, who is bent on revenge.

¹⁷All this came upon us,
though we had not forgotten you;

we had not been false to your covenant.

¹⁸Our hearts had not turned back;
our feet had not strayed from your path.

¹⁹But you crushed us and made us a haunt for jackals; you covered us over with deep darkness.

²⁰If we had forgotten the name of our God or spread out our hands to a foreign god,

²¹would not God have discovered it, since he knows the secrets of the heart?

²²Yet for your sake we face death all day long; we are considered as sheep to be slaughtered.

²³Awake, Lord! Why do you sleep?
Rouse yourself! Do not reject us forever.

²⁴Why do you hide your face and forget our misery and oppression?

²⁵We are brought down to the dust;
our bodies cling to the ground.

²⁶Rise up and help us;
rescue us because of your unfailing love.

Psalm 45^a

For the director of music. To the tune of “Lilies.” Of the Sons of Korah. A maskil.^b A wedding song.

- ¹My heart is stirred by a noble theme as I recite my verses for the king;
my tongue is the pen of a skillful writer.
- ²You are the most excellent of men and your lips have been anointed with grace, since God has blessed you forever.
- ³Gird your sword on your side, you mighty one; clothe yourself with splendor and majesty.
- ⁴In your majesty ride forth victoriously in the cause of truth, humility and justice;
let your right hand achieve awesome deeds.
- ⁵Let your sharp arrows pierce the hearts of the king’s enemies; let the nations fall beneath your feet.
- ⁶Your throne, O God,^c will last for ever and ever; a scepter of justice will be the scepter of your kingdom.
- ⁷You love righteousness and hate wickedness; therefore God, your God, has set you above your companions by anointing you with the oil of joy.
- ⁸All your robes are fragrant with myrrh and aloes and cassia; from palaces adorned with ivory
the music of the strings makes you glad.
- ⁹Daughters of kings are among your honored women; at your right hand is the royal bride in gold of Ophir.
- ¹⁰Listen, daughter, and pay careful attention: Forget your people and your father’s house.
- ¹¹Let the king be enthralled by your beauty; honor him, for he is your lord.
- ¹²The city of Tyre will come with a gift,^d people of wealth will seek your favor.
- ¹³All glorious is the princess within her chamber; her gown is interwoven with gold.

¹⁴In embroidered garments she is led to the king; her virgin companions follow her— those brought to be with her.

¹⁵Led in with joy and gladness, they enter the palace of the king.

¹⁶Your sons will take the place of your fathers; you will make them princes throughout the land.

¹⁷I will perpetuate your memory through all generations; therefore the nations will praise you for ever and ever.

Psalm 46^a

For the director of music. Of the Sons of Korah. According to alamoth.^b A song.

- ¹God is our refuge and strength, an ever-present help in trouble.
- ²Therefore we will not fear, though the earth give way and the mountains fall into the heart of the sea,
- ³though its waters roar and foam and the mountains quake with their surging.^c
- ⁴There is a river whose streams make glad the city of God, the holy place where the Most High dwells.
- ⁵God is within her, she will not fall; God will help her at break of day.
- ⁶Nations are in uproar, kingdoms fall; he lifts his voice, the earth melts.
- ⁷The LORD Almighty is with us; the God of Jacob is our fortress.
- ⁸Come and see what the LORD has done, the desolations he has brought on the earth.
- ⁹He makes wars cease
to the ends of the earth.
He breaks the bow and shatters the spear;
he burns the shields^d with fire.
- ¹⁰He says, "Be still, and know that I am God; I will be exalted among the nations,
I will be exalted in the earth."
- ¹¹The LORD Almighty is with us; the God of Jacob is our fortress.

Psalm 47^a

For the director of music. Of the Sons of Korah. A psalm.

¹Clap your hands, all you nations;
shout to God with cries of joy.

²For the LORD Most High is awesome, the great King over all the earth.

³He subdued nations under us, peoples under our feet.

⁴He chose our inheritance for us, the pride of Jacob, whom he loved.^b

⁵God has ascended amid shouts of joy, the LORD amid the sounding of trumpets.

⁶Sing praises to God, sing praises;
sing praises to our King, sing praises.

⁷For God is the King of all the earth; sing to him a psalm of praise.

⁸God reigns over the nations;
God is seated on his holy throne.

⁹The nobles of the nations assemble as the people of the God of Abraham, for the kings^c of the earth belong to God; he is greatly exalted.

Psalm 48^a

A song. A psalm of the Sons of Korah.

¹Great is the LORD, and most worthy of praise, in the city of our God, his holy mountain.

²Beautiful in its loftiness,
the joy of the whole earth,
like the heights of Zaphon^b is Mount Zion, the city of the Great King.

³God is in her citadels;
he has shown himself to be her fortress.

⁴When the kings joined forces,
when they advanced together,

⁵they saw her and were astounded;
they fled in terror.

⁶Trembling seized them there,
pain like that of a woman in labor.

⁷You destroyed them like ships of Tarshish shattered by an east wind.

⁸As we have heard,

so we have seen in the city of the LORD Almighty,
in the city of our God:

God makes her secure forever.^c

⁹Within your temple, O God,
we meditate on your unfailing love.

¹⁰Like your name, O God, your praise reaches to the ends of the earth;
your right hand is filled with righteousness.

¹¹Mount Zion rejoices, the villages of Judah are glad because of your judgments.

¹²Walk about Zion, go around her,
count her towers,

¹³consider well her ramparts, view her citadels,
that you may tell of them
to the next generation.

¹⁴For this God is our God for ever and ever; he will be our guide even to the end.

Psalm 49^a

For the director of music. Of the Sons of Korah. A psalm.

- ¹Hear this, all you peoples;
listen, all who live in this world, ²both low and high,
rich and poor alike:
³My mouth will speak words of wisdom;
the meditation of my heart will give you understanding.
⁴I will turn my ear to a proverb;
with the harp I will expound my riddle:
- ⁵Why should I fear when evil days come, when wicked deceivers surround me— ⁶those who trust in their wealth and boast of their great riches?
⁷No one can redeem the life of another or give to God a ransom for them—⁸the ransom for a life is costly, no payment is ever enough—⁹so that they should live on forever and not see decay.
- ¹⁰For all can see that the wise die,
that the foolish and the senseless also perish, leaving their wealth to others.
- ¹¹Their tombs will remain their houses^b forever, their dwellings for endless generations,
though they had^c named lands after themselves.
- ¹²People, despite their wealth, do not endure; they are like the beasts that perish. The Law of Priorities: When Activity Becomes Achievement
- ¹³This is the fate of those who trust in themselves, and of their followers, who approve their sayings.^d
- ¹⁴They are like sheep and are destined to die; death will be their shepherd (but the upright will prevail over them in the morning).
Their forms will decay in the grave,

far from their princely mansions.

¹⁵But God will redeem me from the realm of the dead; he will surely take me to himself.

¹⁶Do not be overawed when others grow rich, when the splendor of their houses increases;

¹⁷for they will take nothing with them when they die, their splendor will not descend with them.

¹⁸Though while they live they count themselves blessed— and people praise you when you prosper—

¹⁹they will join those who have gone before them, who will never again see the light of life.

²⁰People who have wealth but lack understanding are like the beasts that perish.

Psalm 50

A psalm of Asaph.

- ¹The Mighty One, God, the LORD, speaks and summons the earth from the rising of the sun to where it sets.
- ²From Zion, perfect in beauty,
God shines forth.
- ³Our God comes
and will not be silent;
a fire devours before him,
and around him a tempest rages.
- ⁴He summons the heavens above,
and the earth, that he may judge his people:
- ⁵“Gather to me this consecrated people, who made a covenant with me by sacrifice.”
- ⁶And the heavens proclaim his righteousness, for he is a God of justice. ^{a,b}
- ⁷“Listen, my people, and I will speak; I will testify against you, Israel:
I am God, your God.
- ⁸I bring no charges against you concerning your sacrifices or concerning your burnt offerings, which are ever before me.
- ⁹I have no need of a bull from your stall or of goats from your pens, ¹⁰for every animal of the forest is mine, and the cattle on a thousand hills.
- ¹¹I know every bird in the mountains, and the insects in the fields are mine.
- ¹²If I were hungry I would not tell you, for the world is mine, and all that is in it.
- ¹³Do I eat the flesh of bulls or drink the blood of goats?
- ¹⁴“Sacrifice thank offerings to God, fulfill your vows to the Most High,
- ¹⁵and call on me in the day of trouble; I will deliver you, and you will honor
me.”

¹⁶But to the wicked person, God says:

“What right have you to recite my laws or take my covenant on your lips?

¹⁷You hate my instruction and cast my words behind you.

¹⁸When you see a thief, you join with him; you throw in your lot with adulterers.

¹⁹You use your mouth for evil and harness your tongue to deceit.

²⁰You sit and testify against your brother and slander your own mother’s son.

²¹When you did these things and I kept silent, you thought I was exactly^c like you.

But I now arraign you and set my accusations before you.

²²“Consider this, you who forget God, or I will tear you to pieces, with no one to rescue you:

²³Those who sacrifice thank offerings honor me, and to the blameless^d I will show my salvation.”

Psalm 51^a

For the director of music. A psalm of David. When the prophet Nathan came to him after David had committed adultery with Bathsheba.

¹Have mercy on me, O God,
according to your unfailing love;

- according to your great compassion blot out my transgressions.
- ²Wash away all my iniquity and cleanse me from my sin.
- ³For I know my transgressions, and my sin is always before me. The Law of Solid Ground: David Faces His Sin, Remains King
- ⁴Against you, you only, have I sinned and done what is evil in your sight;
so you are right in your verdict and justified when you judge.
- ⁵Surely I was sinful at birth, sinful from the time my mother conceived me.
- ⁶Yet you desired faithfulness even in the womb; you taught me wisdom in that secret place.
- ⁷Cleanse me with hyssop, and I will be clean; wash me, and I will be whiter than snow.
- ⁸Let me hear joy and gladness;
let the bones you have crushed rejoice.
- ⁹Hide your face from my sins and blot out all my iniquity.
- ¹⁰Create in me a pure heart, O God,
and renew a steadfast spirit within me.
- ¹¹Do not cast me from your presence or take your Holy Spirit from me.
- ¹²Restore to me the joy of your salvation and grant me a willing spirit, to sustain me.
- ¹³Then I will teach transgressors your ways, so that sinners will turn back to
you.
- ¹⁴Deliver me from the guilt of bloodshed, O God, you who are God my Savior,
and my tongue will sing of your righteousness.
- ¹⁵Open my lips, Lord,
and my mouth will declare your praise.

¹⁶You do not delight in sacrifice, or I would bring it; you do not take pleasure in burnt offerings.

¹⁷My sacrifice, O God, is^b a broken spirit; a broken and contrite heart you, God, will not despise.

¹⁸May it please you to prosper Zion, to build up the walls of Jerusalem.

¹⁹Then you will delight in the sacrifices of the righteous, in burnt offerings offered whole;
then bulls will be offered on your altar.

Psalm 52^a

For the director of music. A maskil^b of David. When Doeg the Edomite had gone to Saul and told him:
“David has gone to the house of Ahimelek.”

¹Why do you boast of evil, you mighty hero?
Why do you boast all day long,
you who are a disgrace in the eyes of God?

²You who practice deceit,
your tongue plots destruction;
it is like a sharpened razor.

³You love evil rather than good, falsehood rather than speaking the truth.^c

⁴You love every harmful word, you deceitful tongue!

⁵Surely God will bring you down to everlasting ruin: He will snatch you up and pluck you from your tent;
he will uproot you from the land of the living.

⁶The righteous will see and fear;
they will laugh at you, saying,

⁷“Here now is the man who did not make God his stronghold but trusted in his great wealth and grew strong by destroying others!”

⁸But I am like an olive tree flourishing in the house of God;
I trust in God’s unfailing love
for ever and ever.

⁹For what you have done I will always praise you in the presence of your faithful people.
And I will hope in your name, for your name is good.

Psalm 53^a

For the director of music. According to mahalath.^b A maskil^c of David.

¹The fool says in his heart,
“There is no God.”
They are corrupt, and their ways are vile;
there is no one who does good.

²God looks down from heaven on all mankind

to see if there are any who understand,
any who seek God.

³Everyone has turned away, all have become corrupt; there is no one who does good,
not even one.

⁴Do all these evildoers know nothing?

They devour my people as though eating bread;
they never call on God.

⁵But there they are, overwhelmed with dread, where there was nothing to dread.

God scattered the bones of those who attacked you;
you put them to shame, for God despised them.

⁶Oh, that salvation for Israel would come out of Zion!
When God restores his people,
let Jacob rejoice and Israel be glad!

Psalm 54^a

For the director of music. With stringed instruments. A maskil^b of David. When the Ziphites had gone to Saul and said, “Is not David hiding among us?”

¹Save me, O God, by your name;
vindicate me by your might.

²Hear my prayer, O God;
listen to the words of my mouth.

³Arrogant foes are attacking me;
ruthless people are trying to kill me—people without regard for God.^c

⁴Surely God is my help;
the Lord is the one who sustains me.

⁵Let evil recoil on those who slander me; in your faithfulness destroy them.

⁶I will sacrifice a freewill offering to you; I will praise your name, LORD, for it is good.

⁷You have delivered me from all my troubles, and my eyes have looked in triumph on my foes.

Psalm 55^a

For the director of music. With stringed instruments. A maskil^b of David.

- ¹Listen to my prayer, O God,
do not ignore my plea;
²hear me and answer me.
My thoughts trouble me and I am distraught ³because of what my enemy is saying, because of the threats of the wicked;
for they bring down suffering on me and assail me in their anger.
- ⁴My heart is in anguish within me;
the terrors of death have fallen on me.
⁵Fear and trembling have beset me;
horror has overwhelmed me.
⁶I said, “Oh, that I had the wings of a dove!
I would fly away and be at rest.
⁷I would flee far away and stay in the desert;^c ⁸I would hurry to my place of shelter, far from the tempest and storm.”
- ⁹Lord, confuse the wicked, confound their words, for I see violence and strife in the city.
¹⁰Day and night they prowl about on its walls; malice and abuse are within it.
¹¹Destructive forces are at work in the city; threats and lies never leave its streets.
- ¹²If an enemy were insulting me,
I could endure it;
if a foe were rising against me,
I could hide.
¹³But it is you, a man like myself,
my companion, my close friend,

¹⁴with whom I once enjoyed sweet fellowship at the house of God, as we walked about among the worshipers.

¹⁵Let death take my enemies by surprise; let them go down alive to the realm of the dead,
for evil finds lodging among them.

¹⁶As for me, I call to God, and the LORD saves me.

¹⁷Evening, morning and noon
I cry out in distress, and he hears my voice.

¹⁸He rescues me unharmed from the battle waged against me, even though many oppose me.

¹⁹God, who is enthroned from of old, who does not change—
he will hear them and humble them, because they have no fear of God.

²⁰My companion attacks his friends;
he violates his covenant.

²¹His talk is smooth as butter,
yet war is in his heart;
his words are more soothing than oil,
yet they are drawn swords.

²²Cast your cares on the LORD and he will sustain you;

he will never let
the righteous be shaken.

²³But you, God, will bring down the wicked into the pit of decay;

the bloodthirsty and deceitful
will not live out half their days.

But as for me, I trust in you.

Psalm 56^a

For the director of music. To the tune of “A Dove on Distant Oaks.” Of David. A miktam.^b When the Philistines had seized him in Gath.

- ¹Be merciful to me, my God,
for my enemies are in hot pursuit;
all day long they press their attack.
- ²My adversaries pursue me all day long; in their pride many are attacking me.
- ³When I am afraid, I put my trust in you.
⁴In God, whose word I praise—
in God I trust and am not afraid.
What can mere mortals do to me?
- ⁵All day long they twist my words;
all their schemes are for my ruin.
- ⁶They conspire, they lurk,
they watch my steps,
hoping to take my life.
- ⁷Because of their wickedness do not^c let them escape; in your anger, God, bring the nations down.
- ⁸Record my misery;
list my tears on your scroll^d— are they not in your record?
- ⁹Then my enemies will turn back when I call for help.
By this I will know that God is for me.
- ¹⁰In God, whose word I praise,
in the LORD, whose word I praise—
- ¹¹in God I trust and am not afraid.
What can man do to me?
- ¹²I am under vows to you, my God;
I will present my thank offerings to you.

~~I will present my thank offerings to you.~~
¹³For you have delivered me from death and my feet from stumbling, that I may walk before God
in the light of life.

Psalm 57^a

For the director of music. To the tune of “Do Not Destroy.” Of David. A mikdam.^b When he had fled from Saul into the cave.

¹Have mercy on me, my God, have mercy on me, for in you I take refuge.
I will take refuge in the shadow of your wings until the disaster has passed. Leaders Practice Telling Themselves the Truth

²I cry out to God Most High,
to God, who vindicates me.

³He sends from heaven and saves me, rebuking those who hotly pursue me—^c
God sends forth his love and his faithfulness.

⁴I am in the midst of lions;
I am forced to dwell among ravenous beasts—men whose teeth are spears and arrows, whose tongues are sharp swords.

⁵Be exalted, O God, above the heavens; let your glory be over all the earth.

⁶They spread a net for my feet—
I was bowed down in distress.
They dug a pit in my path—
but they have fallen into it themselves.

⁷My heart, O God, is steadfast, my heart is steadfast;
I will sing and make music.

⁸Awake, my soul!
Awake, harp and lyre!
I will awaken the dawn.

⁹I will praise you, Lord, among the nations; I will sing of you among the peoples.

¹⁰For great is your love, reaching to the heavens; your faithfulness reaches to the skies.

¹¹Be exalted, O God, above the heavens; let your glory be over all the earth.

Psalm 58^a

For the director of music. To the tune of “Do Not Destroy.” Of David. A miktam.^b

- ¹Do you rulers indeed speak justly?
Do you judge people with equity?
- ²No, in your heart you devise injustice, and your hands mete out violence on the earth.
- ³Even from birth the wicked go astray; from the womb they are wayward, spreading lies.
- ⁴Their venom is like the venom of a snake, like that of a cobra that has stopped its ears,
- ⁵that will not heed the tune of the charmer, however skillful the enchanter may be.
- ⁶Break the teeth in their mouths, O God; LORD, tear out the fangs of those lions!
- ⁷Let them vanish like water that flows away; when they draw the bow, let their arrows fall short.
- ⁸May they be like a slug that melts away as it moves along, like a stillborn child that never sees the sun.
- ⁹Before your pots can feel the heat of the thorns— whether they be green or dry—the wicked will be swept away.^c
- ¹⁰The righteous will be glad when they are avenged, when they dip their feet in the blood of the wicked.
- ¹¹Then people will say, “Surely the righteous still are rewarded; surely there is a God who judges the earth.”

Psalm 59^a

For the director of music. To the tune of “Do Not Destroy.” Of David. A mikdam.^b When Saul had sent men to watch David’s house in order to kill him.

¹Deliver me from my enemies, O God;
be my fortress against those who are attacking me.

²Deliver me from evildoers and save me from those who are after my blood.

³See how they lie in wait for me!

Fierce men conspire against me for no offense or sin of mine, LORD.

⁴I have done no wrong, yet they are ready to attack me.
Arise to help me; look on my plight!

⁵You, LORD God Almighty, you who are the God of Israel, rouse yourself to punish all the nations;
show no mercy to wicked traitors.^c

⁶They return at evening,
snarling like dogs,
and prowl about the city.

⁷See what they spew from their mouths— the words from their lips are sharp as swords,
and they think, “Who can hear us?”

⁸But you laugh at them, LORD; you scoff at all those nations.

⁹You are my strength, I watch for you; you, God, are my fortress, ¹⁰my God on whom I can rely.

God will go before me
and will let me gloat over those who slander me.

¹¹But do not kill them, Lord our shield,^d or my people will forget.

In your might uproot them and bring them down.

¹²For the sins of their mouths,
for the words of their lips,
let them be caught in their pride.

For the curses and lies they utter, ¹³consume them in your wrath, consume them till they are no more.

Then it will be known to the ends of the earth that God rules over Jacob.

¹⁴They return at evening,
snarling like dogs,
and prowl about the city.

¹⁵They wander about for food and howl if not satisfied.

¹⁶But I will sing of your strength, in the morning I will sing of your love;
for you are my fortress,
my refuge in times of trouble.

¹⁷You are my strength, I sing praise to you; you, God, are my fortress, my God on whom I can rely.

Psalm 60^a

For the director of music. To the tune of “The Lily of the Covenant.” A mikdam^b of David. For teaching.
When he fought Aram Naharaim^c and Aram Zobah,^d and when Joab returned and struck down twelve thousand Edomites in the Valley of Salt.

¹You have rejected us, God, and burst upon us; you have been angry—now restore us!

²You have shaken the land and torn it open; mend its fractures, for it is quaking.

³You have shown your people desperate times; you have given us wine that makes us stagger.

⁴But for those who fear you, you have raised a banner to be unfurled against the bow.^e

⁵Save us and help us with your right hand, that those you love may be delivered.

⁶God has spoken from his sanctuary:
“In triumph I will parcel out Shechem and measure off the Valley of Sukkoth.

⁷Gilead is mine, and Manasseh is mine; Ephraim is my helmet, Judah is my scepter.

⁸Moab is my washbasin,
on Edom I toss my sandal;
over Philistia I shout in triumph.”

⁹Who will bring me to the fortified city?
Who will lead me to Edom?

¹⁰Is it not you, God, you who have now rejected us and no longer go out with our armies?

¹¹Give us aid against the enemy,
for human help is worthless.

¹²With God we will gain the victory, and he will trample down our enemies.

Psalm 61^a

For the director of music. With stringed instruments. Of David.

¹Hear my cry, O God;
listen to my prayer.

²From the ends of the earth I call to you, I call as my heart grows faint;
lead me to the rock that is higher than I.

³For you have been my refuge,
a strong tower against the foe.

⁴I long to dwell in your tent forever and take refuge in the shelter of your wings.^b

⁵For you, God, have heard my vows;
you have given me the heritage of those who fear your name.

⁶Increase the days of the king's life, his years for many generations.

⁷May he be enthroned in God's presence forever; appoint your love and faithfulness to protect him.

⁸Then I will ever sing in praise of your name and fulfill my vows day after day.

Psalm 62^a

For the director of music. For Jeduthun. A psalm of David.

- ¹Truly my soul finds rest in God;
my salvation comes from him.
- ²Truly he is my rock and my salvation; he is my fortress, I will never be shaken.
- ³How long will you assault me?
Would all of you throw me down—
this leaning wall, this tottering fence?
- ⁴Surely they intend to topple me from my lofty place;
they take delight in lies.
With their mouths they bless,
but in their hearts they curse.^b
- ⁵Yes, my soul, find rest in God;
my hope comes from him.
- ⁶Truly he is my rock and my salvation; he is my fortress, I will not be shaken.
- ⁷My salvation and my honor depend on God^c; he is my mighty rock, my refuge.
- ⁸Trust in him at all times, you people; pour out your hearts to him, for God is our refuge.
- ⁹Surely the lowborn are but a breath, the highborn are but a lie.
If weighed on a balance, they are nothing;
together they are only a breath.
- ¹⁰Do not trust in extortion or put vain hope in stolen goods;
though your riches increase,
do not set your heart on them.
- ¹¹One thing God has spoken,
two things I have heard.

two things I have heard.

“Power belongs to you, God,

¹²and with you, Lord, is unfailing love”; and, “You reward everyone according to what they have done.”

Psalm 63^a

A psalm of David. When he was in the Desert of Judah.

- ¹You, God, are my God,
earnestly I seek you;
I thirst for you,
my whole being longs for you,
in a dry and parched land
where there is no water.
- ²I have seen you in the sanctuary and beheld your power and your glory.
- ³Because your love is better than life, my lips will glorify you.
- ⁴I will praise you as long as I live, and in your name I will lift up my hands.
- ⁵I will be fully satisfied as with the richest of foods; with singing lips my mouth will praise you.
- ⁶On my bed I remember you;
I think of you through the watches of the night.
- ⁷Because you are my help,
I sing in the shadow of your wings.
- ⁸I cling to you;
your right hand upholds me.
- ⁹Those who want to kill me will be destroyed; they will go down to the depths of the earth.
- ¹⁰They will be given over to the sword and become food for jackals.
- ¹¹But the king will rejoice in God;
all who swear by God will glory in him,
while the mouths of liars will be silenced.

Psalm 64^a

For the director of music. A psalm of David.

¹Hear me, my God, as I voice my complaint; protect my life from the threat of the enemy.

²Hide me from the conspiracy of the wicked, from the plots of evildoers.

³They sharpen their tongues like swords and aim cruel words like deadly arrows.

⁴They shoot from ambush at the innocent; they shoot suddenly, without fear.

⁵They encourage each other in evil plans, they talk about hiding their snares;
they say, “Who will see it^b?”

⁶They plot injustice and say,
“We have devised a perfect plan!”
Surely the human mind and heart are cunning.

⁷But God will shoot them with his arrows; they will suddenly be struck down.

⁸He will turn their own tongues against them and bring them to ruin;
all who see them will shake their heads in scorn.

⁹All people will fear;
they will proclaim the works of God and ponder what he has done.

¹⁰The righteous will rejoice in the LORD and take refuge in him;
all the upright in heart will glory in him!

Psalm 65^a

For the director of music. A psalm of David. A song.

¹Praise awaits^b you, our God, in Zion; to you our vows will be fulfilled.

²You who answer prayer, to you all people will come.

³When we were overwhelmed by sins, you forgave^c our transgressions.

⁴Blessed are those you choose and bring near to live in your courts!
We are filled with the good things of your house,
of your holy temple.

⁵You answer us with awesome and righteous deeds, God our Savior, the hope of all the ends of the earth and of the farthest seas,

⁶who formed the mountains by your power, having armed yourself with strength,

⁷who stilled the roaring of the seas,
the roaring of their waves,
and the turmoil of the nations.

⁸The whole earth is filled with awe at your wonders; where morning dawns, where evening fades,
you call forth songs of joy.

⁹You care for the land and water it;
you enrich it abundantly.
The streams of God are filled with water to provide the people with grain, for so you have ordained it.^d

¹⁰You drench its furrows and level its ridges; you soften it with showers and bless its crops.

¹¹You crown the year with your bounty, and your carts overflow with abundance.

¹²The grasslands of the wilderness overflow; the hills are clothed with gladness.

¹³The meadows are covered with flocks and the valleys are mantled with grain;
they shout for joy and sing.

Psalm 66

For the director of music. A song. A psalm.

¹Shout for joy to God, all the earth!

²Sing the glory of his name;
make his praise glorious.

³Say to God, “How awesome are your deeds!

So great is your power that your enemies cringe before you.

⁴All the earth bows down to you;
they sing praise to you,
they sing the praises of your name.”^a ⁵Come and see what God has done, his awesome deeds for mankind!

⁶He turned the sea into dry land, they passed through the waters on foot—
come, let us rejoice in him.

⁷He rules forever by his power, his eyes watch the nations—
let not the rebellious rise up against him.

⁸Praise our God, all peoples,
let the sound of his praise be heard;

⁹he has preserved our lives and kept our feet from slipping.

¹⁰For you, God, tested us;
you refined us like silver.

¹¹You brought us into prison and laid burdens on our backs.

¹²You let people ride over our heads;
we went through fire and water,
but you brought us to a place of abundance.

¹³I will come to your temple with burnt offerings and fulfill my vows to you— ¹⁴vows my lips promised and my mouth spoke when I was in trouble.

¹⁵I will sacrifice fat animals to you and an offering of rams;
I will offer bulls and goats.

¹⁶Come and hear, all you who fear God; let me tell you what he has done for me.

- ¹⁷I cried out to him with my mouth;
his praise was on my tongue.
- ¹⁸If I had cherished sin in my heart,
the Lord would not have listened;
- ¹⁹but God has surely listened and has heard my prayer.
- ²⁰Praise be to God,
who has not rejected my prayer or withheld his love from me!

Psalm 67^a

For the director of music. With stringed instruments. A psalm. A song.

¹May God be gracious to us and bless us and make his face shine on us—^b

The Law of Intuition: Vision for the World Drives God's Leaders

²so that your ways may be known on earth, your salvation among all nations.

³May the peoples praise you, God;
may all the peoples praise you.

⁴May the nations be glad and sing for joy, for you rule the peoples with equity and guide the nations of the earth.

⁵May the peoples praise you, God;
may all the peoples praise you.

⁶The land yields its harvest;
God, our God, blesses us.

⁷May God bless us still,
so that all the ends of the earth will fear him.

Psalm 68^a

For the director of music. Of David. A psalm. A song.

¹May God arise, may his enemies be scattered; may his foes flee before him.

²May you blow them away like smoke—as wax melts before the fire, may the wicked perish before God.

³But may the righteous be glad and rejoice before God;
may they be happy and joyful.

⁴Sing to God, sing in praise of his name, extol him who rides on the clouds^b; rejoice before him—his name is the LORD.

⁵A father to the fatherless, a defender of widows, is God in his holy dwelling.

⁶God sets the lonely in families,^c he leads out the prisoners with singing;
but the rebellious live in a sun-scorched land.

⁷When you, God, went out before your people, when you marched through the wilderness,^d

⁸the earth shook, the heavens poured down rain, before God, the One of Sinai, before God, the God of Israel.

⁹You gave abundant showers, O God;
you refreshed your weary inheritance.

¹⁰Your people settled in it, and from your bounty, God, you provided for the poor.

¹¹The Lord announces the word, and the women who proclaim it are a mighty throng:

¹²“Kings and armies flee in haste;
the women at home divide the plunder.

¹³Even while you sleep among the sheep pens,^e

the wings of my dove are sheathed with silver, its feathers with shining gold.”

¹⁴When the Almighty^f scattered the kings in the land, it was like snow fallen on Mount Zalmon.

¹⁵Mount Bashan, majestic mountain,
Mount Bashan, rugged mountain,

¹⁶why gaze in envy, you rugged mountain, at the mountain where God chooses to reign,
where the LORD himself will dwell forever?

¹⁷The chariots of God are tens of thousands and thousands of thousands;
the Lord has come from Sinai into his sanctuary.^g

¹⁸When you ascended on high,
you took many captives;
you received gifts from people, even from^h the rebellious— that you,ⁱ LORD God, might dwell there.

¹⁹Praise be to the Lord, to God our Savior, who daily bears our burdens.

²⁰Our God is a God who saves;
from the Sovereign LORD comes escape from death.

²¹Surely God will crush the heads of his enemies, the hairy crowns of those who go on in their sins.

²²The Lord says, “I will bring them from Bashan; I will bring them from the depths of the sea,

²³that your feet may wade in the blood of your foes, while the tongues of your dogs have their share.”

²⁴Your procession, God, has come into view, the procession of my God and King into the sanctuary.

²⁵In front are the singers, after them the musicians; with them are the young women playing the timbrels.

²⁶Praise God in the great congregation; praise the LORD in the assembly of Israel.

²⁷There is the little tribe of Benjamin, leading them, there the great throng of Judah’s princes,
and there the princes of Zebulun and of Naphtali.

²⁸Summon your power, Godⁱ; show us your strength, our God, as you have done before.

²⁹Because of your temple at Jerusalem kings will bring you gifts.

³⁰Rebuke the beast among the reeds,
the herd of bulls among the calves of the nations.
Humbled, may the beast bring bars of silver.
Scatter the nations who delight in war.

³¹Envoys will come from Egypt;
Cush^k will submit herself to God.

³²Sing to God, you kingdoms of the earth, sing praise to the Lord, ³³to him who rides across the highest heavens, the ancient heavens, who thunders with mighty voice.

³⁴Proclaim the power of God, whose majesty is over Israel,
whose power is in the heavens.

³⁵You, God, are awesome in your sanctuary; the God of Israel gives power and strength to his people.

Praise be to God!

Psalm 69^a

For the director of music. To the tune of “Lilies.” Of David.

¹Save me, O God,
for the waters have come up to my neck.

²I sink in the miry depths,
where there is no foothold.
I have come into the deep waters;
the floods engulf me.

³I am worn out calling for help;
my throat is parched.
My eyes fail,
looking for my God.

⁴Those who hate me without reason outnumber the hairs of my head;
many are my enemies without cause,
those who seek to destroy me.

I am forced to restore what I did not steal.

⁵You, God, know my folly;
my guilt is not hidden from you.

⁶Lord, the LORD Almighty, may those who hope in you not be disgraced because of me;
God of Israel,

may those who seek you
not be put to shame because of me.

⁷For I endure scorn for your sake, and shame covers my face.

⁸I am a foreigner to my own family,
a stranger to my own mother's children;

⁹for zeal for your house consumes me, and the insults of those who insult you fall on me.

¹⁰When I weep and fast,
I must endure scorn;

¹¹when I put on sackcloth, people make sport of me.

¹²Those who sit at the gate mock me,
and I am the song of the drunkards.

¹³But I pray to you, LORD, in the time of your favor;
in your great love, O God, answer me with your sure salvation.

¹⁴Rescue me from the mire,
do not let me sink;
deliver me from those who hate me,
from the deep waters.

¹⁵Do not let the floodwaters engulf me or the depths swallow me up or the pit close its mouth over me.

¹⁶Answer me, LORD, out of the goodness of your love; in your great mercy turn to me.

¹⁷Do not hide your face from your servant; answer me quickly, for I am in trouble.

¹⁸Come near and rescue me;
deliver me because of my foes.

¹⁹You know how I am scorned, disgraced and shamed; all my enemies are before you.

²⁰Scorn has broken my heart and has left me helpless;
I looked for sympathy, but there was none.

for comforters, but I found none.

²¹They put gall in my food and gave me vinegar for my thirst.

²²May the table set before them become a snare; may it become retribution and^b a trap.

²³May their eyes be darkened so they cannot see, and their backs be bent
forever.

²⁴Pour out your wrath on them;
let your fierce anger overtake them.

²⁵May their place be deserted;
let there be no one to dwell in their tents.

²⁶For they persecute those you wound and talk about the pain of those you hurt.

²⁷Charge them with crime upon crime;
do not let them share in your salvation.

²⁸May they be blotted out of the book of life and not be listed with the righteous.

²⁹But as for me, afflicted and in pain— may your salvation, God, protect
me.

³⁰I will praise God's name in song and glorify him with thanksgiving.

³¹This will please the LORD more than an ox, more than a bull with its horns and hooves.

³²The poor will see and be glad—you who seek God, may your hearts live!

³³The LORD hears the needy and does not despise his captive people.

³⁴Let heaven and earth praise him,
the seas and all that move in them,

³⁵for God will save Zion and rebuild the cities of Judah.

Then people will settle there and possess it;

³⁶the children of his servants will inherit it, and those who love his name will dwell there.

Psalm 70^a

For the director of music. Of David. A petition.

¹Hasten, O God, to save me;
come quickly, LORD, to help me.

²May those who want to take my life
be put to shame and confusion;
may all who desire my ruin
be turned back in disgrace.

³May those who say to me, “Aha! Aha!”
turn back because of their shame.

⁴But may all who seek you
rejoice and be glad in you;
may those who long for your saving help always say,
“The LORD is great!”

⁵But as for me, I am poor and needy;
come quickly to me, O God.
You are my help and my deliverer;
LORD, do not delay.

Psalm 71

- ¹In you, LORD, I have taken refuge; let me never be put to shame.
- ²In your righteousness, rescue me and deliver me; turn your ear to me and save me.
- ³Be my rock of refuge,
to which I can always go;
give the command to save me,
for you are my rock and my fortress.
- ⁴Deliver me, my God, from the hand of the wicked, from the grasp of those who are evil and cruel.
- ⁵For you have been my hope, Sovereign LORD, my confidence since my youth.
- ⁶From birth I have relied on you;
you brought me forth from my mother's womb.
I will ever praise you.
- ⁷I have become a sign to many;
you are my strong refuge.
- ⁸My mouth is filled with your praise, declaring your splendor all day long.
- ⁹Do not cast me away when I am old;
do not forsake me when my strength is gone.
- ¹⁰For my enemies speak against me;
those who wait to kill me conspire together.
- ¹¹They say, "God has forsaken him;
pursue him and seize him,
for no one will rescue him."
- ¹²Do not be far from me, my God;
come quickly, God, to help me.
- ¹³May my accusers perish in shame;
may those who want to harm me be covered with scorn and disgrace.

- ¹⁴As for me, I will always have hope; I will praise you more and more.
- ¹⁵My mouth will tell of your righteous deeds, of your saving acts all day long— though I know not how to relate them all.
- ¹⁶I will come and proclaim your mighty acts, Sovereign LORD; I will proclaim your righteous deeds, yours alone.
- ¹⁷Since my youth, God, you have taught me, and to this day I declare your marvelous deeds.
- ¹⁸Even when I am old and gray,
do not forsake me, my God,
till I declare your power to the next generation,
your mighty acts to all who are to come.
- ¹⁹Your righteousness, God, reaches to the heavens, you who have done great things.
Who is like you, God?
- ²⁰Though you have made me see troubles, many and bitter,
you will restore my life again;
from the depths of the earth
you will again bring me up.
- ²¹You will increase my honor and comfort me once more.
- ²²I will praise you with the harp
for your faithfulness, my God;
I will sing praise to you with the lyre,
Holy One of Israel.
- ²³My lips will shout for joy
when I sing praise to you—
I whom you have delivered.
- ²⁴My tongue will tell of your righteous acts all day long,
for those who wanted to harm me have been put to shame and confusion.

Psalm 72

Of Solomon.

- ¹Endow the king with your justice, O God, the royal son with your righteousness.
- ²May he judge your people in righteousness, your afflicted ones with justice.
- ³May the mountains bring prosperity to the people, the hills the fruit of righteousness.
- ⁴May he defend the afflicted among the people and save the children of the needy;
may he crush the oppressor.
- ⁵May he endure^a as long as the sun, as long as the moon, through all generations.
- ⁶May he be like rain falling on a mown field, like showers watering the earth.
- ⁷In his days may the righteous flourish and prosperity abound till the moon is no more.
- ⁸May he rule from sea to sea and from the River^b to the ends of the earth.
- ⁹May the desert tribes bow before him and his enemies lick the dust.
- ¹⁰May the kings of Tarshish and of distant shores bring tribute to him.
May the kings of Sheba and Seba present him gifts.
- ¹¹May all kings bow down to him and all nations serve him.
- ¹²For he will deliver the needy who cry out, the afflicted who have no one to help.
- ¹³He will take pity on the weak and the needy and save the needy from death.
- ¹⁴He will rescue them from oppression and violence, for precious is their blood in his sight.
- ¹⁵Long may he live!

- May gold from Sheba be given him.
May people ever pray for him and bless him all day long.
- ¹⁶May grain abound throughout the land; on the tops of the hills may it sway.
May the crops flourish like Lebanon and thrive^c like the grass of the field.
- ¹⁷May his name endure forever; may it continue as long as the sun.

Then all nations will be blessed through him,^d and they will call him blessed.
- ¹⁸Praise be to the LORD God, the God of Israel, who alone does marvelous deeds.
- ¹⁹Praise be to his glorious name forever; may the whole earth be filled with his glory.
- Amen and Amen.
- ²⁰This concludes the prayers of David son of Jesse.

BOOK III

Psalms 73—89

Psalm 73

A psalm of Asaph.

¹Surely God is good to Israel, to those who are pure in heart. Vision: The Difference Between Followers and Leaders

²But as for me, my feet had almost slipped; I had nearly lost my foothold.

³For I envied the arrogant when I saw the prosperity of the wicked.

⁴They have no struggles;
their bodies are healthy and strong.^a

⁵They are free from common human burdens; they are not plagued by human ills.

⁶Therefore pride is their necklace; they clothe themselves with violence.

⁷From their callous hearts comes iniquity^b; their evil imaginations have no limits.

⁸They scoff, and speak with malice; with arrogance they threaten oppression.

⁹Their mouths lay claim to heaven, and their tongues take possession of the earth.

¹⁰Therefore their people turn to them and drink up waters in abundance.^c ¹¹They say, “How would God know?

Does the Most High know anything?”

¹²This is what the wicked are like— always free of care, they go on amassing wealth.

¹³Surely in vain I have kept my heart pure and have washed my hands in innocence.

¹⁴All day long I have been afflicted, and every morning brings new punishments.

¹⁵If I had spoken out like that, I would have betrayed your children.

¹⁶When I tried to understand all this, it troubled me deeply ¹⁷till I entered the sanctuary of God; then I understood their final destiny.

¹⁸Surely you place them on slippery ground; you cast them down to ruin.

¹⁹How suddenly are they destroyed, completely swept away by terrors!

²⁰They are like a dream when one awakes; when you arise, Lord, you will despise them as fantasies.

²¹When my heart was grieved and my spirit embittered,

²²I was senseless and ignorant; I was a brute beast before you.

²³Yet I am always with you;
you hold me by my right hand.

²⁴You guide me with your counsel, and afterward you will take me into glory.

²⁵Whom have I in heaven but you?
And earth has nothing I desire besides you.

²⁶My flesh and my heart may fail, but God is the strength of my heart and my portion forever.

²⁷Those who are far from you will perish; you destroy all who are unfaithful to you.

²⁸But as for me, it is good to be near God.
I have made the Sovereign LORD my refuge;
I will tell of all your deeds.

Psalm 74

A maskil^a of Asaph.

- ¹O God, why have you rejected us forever?
Why does your anger smolder against the sheep of your pasture?
- ²Remember the nation you purchased long ago, the people of your inheritance, whom you redeemed— Mount Zion, where you dwelt.
- ³Turn your steps toward these everlasting ruins, all this destruction the enemy has brought on the sanctuary.
- ⁴Your foes roared in the place where you met with us; they set up their standards as signs.
- ⁵They behaved like men wielding axes to cut through a thicket of trees.
- ⁶They smashed all the carved paneling with their axes and hatchets.
- ⁷They burned your sanctuary to the ground; they defiled the dwelling place of your Name.
- ⁸They said in their hearts, “We will crush them completely!”
They burned every place where God was worshiped in the land.
- ⁹We are given no signs from God; no prophets are left,
and none of us knows how long this will be.
- ¹⁰How long will the enemy mock you, God?
Will the foe revile your name forever?
- ¹¹Why do you hold back your hand, your right hand?
Take it from the folds of your garment and destroy them!
- ¹²But God is my King from long ago; he brings salvation on the earth.
- ¹³It was you who split open the sea by your power; you broke the heads of the monster in the waters.
- ¹⁴It was you who crushed the heads of Leviathan and gave it as food to the creatures of the desert.
- ¹⁵It was you who opened up springs and streams; you dried up the ever-flowing rivers.

- ¹⁶The day is yours, and yours also the night; you established the sun and moon.
- ¹⁷It was you who set all the boundaries of the earth; you made both summer and winter.
- ¹⁸Remember how the enemy has mocked you, LORD, how foolish people have reviled your name.
- ¹⁹Do not hand over the life of your dove to wild beasts; do not forget the lives of your afflicted people forever.
- ²⁰Have regard for your covenant, because haunts of violence fill the dark places of the land.
- ²¹Do not let the oppressed retreat in disgrace; may the poor and needy praise your name.
- ²²Rise up, O God, and defend your cause; remember how fools mock you all day long.
- ²³Do not ignore the clamor of your adversaries, the uproar of your enemies, which rises continually.

Psalm 75^a

For the director of music. To the tune of “Do Not Destroy.” A psalm of Asaph. A song.

- ¹We praise you, God,
we praise you, for your Name is near;
people tell of your wonderful deeds.
- ²You say, “I choose the appointed time; it is I who judge with equity.
³When the earth and all its people quake, it is I who hold its pillars firm.^b ⁴To the arrogant I say, ‘Boast no more,’
and to the wicked, ‘Do not lift up your horns.’^c ⁵Do not lift your horns against heaven; do not speak so defiantly.’ ”
- ⁶No one from the east or the west or from the desert can exalt themselves.
⁷It is God who judges:
He brings one down, he exalts another.
- ⁸In the hand of the LORD is a cup full of foaming wine mixed with spices;
he pours it out, and all the wicked of the earth drink it down to its very dregs.
- ⁹As for me, I will declare this forever; I will sing praise to the God of Jacob, ¹⁰who says, “I will cut off the horns of all the wicked, but the horns of the righteous will be lifted up.”

Psalm 76^a

For the director of music. With stringed instruments. A psalm of Asaph. A song.

- ¹God is renowned in Judah;
in Israel his name is great.
- ²His tent is in Salem,
his dwelling place in Zion.
- ³There he broke the flashing arrows, the shields and the swords, the weapons of war.^b
- ⁴You are radiant with light, more majestic than mountains rich with game.
- ⁵The valiant lie plundered, they sleep their last sleep;
not one of the warriors can lift his hands.
- ⁶At your rebuke, God of Jacob, both horse and chariot lie still.
- ⁷It is you alone who are to be feared.
Who can stand before you when you are angry?
- ⁸From heaven you pronounced judgment, and the land feared and was quiet
— ⁹when you, God, rose up to judge, to save all the afflicted of the land.
- ¹⁰Surely your wrath against mankind brings you praise, and the survivors of your wrath are restrained.^c
- ¹¹Make vows to the LORD your God and fulfill them; let all the neighboring lands
bring gifts to the One to be feared.
- ¹²He breaks the spirit of rulers; he is feared by the kings of the earth.

Psalm 77^a

For the director of music. For Jeduthun. Of Asaph. A psalm.

- ¹I cried out to God for help; I cried out to God to hear me.
- ²When I was in distress, I sought the Lord; at night I stretched out untiring hands, and I would not be comforted.
- ³I remembered you, God, and I groaned; I meditated, and my spirit grew faint.^b
- ⁴You kept my eyes from closing; I was too troubled to speak.
- ⁵I thought about the former days, the years of long ago;
- ⁶I remembered my songs in the night.
My heart meditated and my spirit asked:
- ⁷“Will the Lord reject forever?
Will he never show his favor again?
- ⁸Has his unfailing love vanished forever?
Has his promise failed for all time?
- ⁹Has God forgotten to be merciful?
Has he in anger withheld his compassion?”
- ¹⁰Then I thought, “To this I will appeal: the years when the Most High stretched out his right hand.
- ¹¹I will remember the deeds of the LORD; yes, I will remember your miracles of long ago.
- ¹²I will consider all your works and meditate on all your mighty deeds.”
- ¹³Your ways, God, are holy.
What god is as great as our God?
- ¹⁴You are the God who performs miracles; you display your power among the peoples.
- ¹⁵With your mighty arm you redeemed your people, the descendants of Jacob and Joseph.

- ¹⁶The waters saw you, God,
the waters saw you and writhed;
the very depths were convulsed.
- ¹⁷The clouds poured down water, the heavens resounded with thunder;
your arrows flashed back and forth.
- ¹⁸Your thunder was heard in the whirlwind, your lightning lit up the world;
the earth trembled and quaked.
- ¹⁹Your path led through the sea, your way through the mighty waters, though your footprints were not seen.
- ²⁰You led your people like a flock by the hand of Moses and Aaron.

Psalm 78

A maskil^a of Asaph.

- ¹My people, hear my teaching; listen to the words of my mouth.
²I will open my mouth with a parable; I will utter hidden things, things from of old— ³things we have heard and known, things our ancestors have told us.
⁴We will not hide them from their descendants; we will tell the next generation
the praiseworthy deeds of the LORD,
his power, and the wonders he has done.
⁵He decreed statutes for Jacob and established the law in Israel, which he commanded our ancestors
to teach their children, ⁶so the next generation would know them, even the children yet to be born,
and they in turn would tell their children.
⁷Then they would put their trust in God and would not forget his deeds but would keep his commands.
⁸They would not be like their ancestors— a stubborn and rebellious generation,
whose hearts were not loyal to God,
whose spirits were not faithful to him.

⁹The men of Ephraim, though armed with bows, turned back on the day of battle;
¹⁰they did not keep God's covenant and refused to live by his law.
¹¹They forgot what he had done, the wonders he had shown them.
¹²He did miracles in the sight of their ancestors in the land of Egypt, in the region of Zoan.
¹³He divided the sea and led them through; he made the water stand up like a wall.
¹⁴He guided them with the cloud by day and with light from the fire all night.
¹⁵He split the rocks in the wilderness and gave them water as abundant as the seas;

¹⁶he brought streams out of a rocky crag and made water flow down like rivers.

¹⁷But they continued to sin against him, rebelling in the wilderness against the Most High.

¹⁸They willfully put God to the test by demanding the food they craved.

¹⁹They spoke against God;
they said, “Can God really spread a table in the wilderness?

²⁰True, he struck the rock,
and water gushed out,
streams flowed abundantly,
but can he also give us bread?
Can he supply meat for his people?”

²¹When the LORD heard them, he was furious; his fire broke out against Jacob, and his wrath rose against Israel,

²²for they did not believe in God or trust in his deliverance.

²³Yet he gave a command to the skies above and opened the doors of the heavens;

²⁴he rained down manna for the people to eat, he gave them the grain of heaven.

²⁵Human beings ate the bread of angels; he sent them all the food they could eat.

²⁶He let loose the east wind from the heavens and by his power made the south wind blow.

²⁷He rained meat down on them like dust, birds like sand on the seashore.

²⁸He made them come down inside their camp, all around their tents.

²⁹They ate till they were gorged— he had given them what they craved.

³⁰But before they turned from what they craved, even while the food was still in their mouths, ³¹God’s anger rose against them; he put to death the sturdiest among them, cutting down the young men of Israel.

³²In spite of all this, they kept on sinning; in spite of his wonders, they did not believe.

- ³³So he ended their days in futility and their years in terror.
- ³⁴Whenever God slew them, they would seek him; they eagerly turned to him again.
- ³⁵They remembered that God was their Rock, that God Most High was their Redeemer.
- ³⁶But then they would flatter him with their mouths, lying to him with their tongues;
- ³⁷their hearts were not loyal to him, they were not faithful to his covenant.
- ³⁸Yet he was merciful;
he forgave their iniquities and did not destroy them.
Time after time he restrained his anger and did not stir up his full wrath.
- ³⁹He remembered that they were but flesh, a passing breeze that does not return.
- ⁴⁰How often they rebelled against him in the wilderness and grieved him in the wasteland!
- ⁴¹Again and again they put God to the test; they vexed the Holy One of Israel.
- ⁴²They did not remember his power—the day he redeemed them from the oppressor,
- ⁴³the day he displayed his signs in Egypt, his wonders in the region of Zoan.
- ⁴⁴He turned their river into blood; they could not drink from their streams.
- ⁴⁵He sent swarms of flies that devoured them, and frogs that devastated them.
- ⁴⁶He gave their crops to the grasshopper, their produce to the locust.
- ⁴⁷He destroyed their vines with hail and their sycamore-figs with sleet.
- ⁴⁸He gave over their cattle to the hail, their livestock to bolts of lightning.
- ⁴⁹He unleashed against them his hot anger, his wrath, indignation and hostility—a band of destroying angels.
- ⁵⁰He prepared a path for his anger; he did not spare them from death but gave them over to the plague.
- ⁵¹He struck down all the firstborn of Egypt, the firstfruits of manhood in the tents of Ham.

⁵²But he brought his people out like a flock; he led them like sheep through the wilderness.

⁵³He guided them safely, so they were unafraid; but the sea engulfed their enemies.

⁵⁴And so he brought them to the border of his holy land, to the hill country his right hand had taken.

⁵⁵He drove out nations before them and allotted their lands to them as an inheritance;
he settled the tribes of Israel in their homes.

⁵⁶But they put God to the test and rebelled against the Most High;
they did not keep his statutes.

⁵⁷Like their ancestors they were disloyal and faithless, as unreliable as a faulty bow.

⁵⁸They angered him with their high places; they aroused his jealousy with their idols.

⁵⁹When God heard them, he was furious; he rejected Israel completely.

⁶⁰He abandoned the tabernacle of Shiloh, the tent he had set up among humans.

⁶¹He sent the ark of his might into captivity, his splendor into the hands of the enemy.

⁶²He gave his people over to the sword; he was furious with his inheritance.

⁶³Fire consumed their young men, and their young women had no wedding songs;

⁶⁴their priests were put to the sword, and their widows could not weep.

⁶⁵Then the Lord awoke as from sleep, as a warrior wakes from the stupor of wine.

⁶⁶He beat back his enemies;
he put them to everlasting shame.

⁶⁷Then he rejected the tents of Joseph, he did not choose the tribe of Ephraim;

⁶⁸but he chose the tribe of Judah, Mount Zion, which he loved.

⁶⁹He built his sanctuary like the heights, like the earth that he established forever.

⁷⁰He chose David his servant and took him from the sheep pens;

⁷¹from tending the sheep he brought him to be the shepherd of his people Jacob,
of Israel his inheritance.

⁷²And David shepherded them with integrity of heart; with skillful hands he led them. Skill and Competence: Eleven Keys to Excellence

Psalm 79

A psalm of Asaph.

¹O God, the nations have invaded your inheritance; they have defiled your holy temple,
they have reduced Jerusalem to rubble.
²They have left the dead bodies of your servants as food for the birds of the sky,
the flesh of your own people for the animals of the wild.
³They have poured out blood like water all around Jerusalem, and there is no one to bury the dead.
⁴We are objects of contempt to our neighbors, of scorn and derision to those around us.

⁵How long, LORD? Will you be angry forever?
How long will your jealousy burn like fire?
⁶Pour out your wrath on the nations that do not acknowledge you, on the kingdoms
that do not call on your name;
⁷for they have devoured Jacob and devastated his homeland.

⁸Do not hold against us the sins of past generations; may your mercy come quickly to meet us,
for we are in desperate need.

⁹Help us, God our Savior,
for the glory of your name;
deliver us and forgive our sins
for your name's sake.

¹⁰Why should the nations say, "Where is their God?"

Before our eyes, make known among the nations that you avenge the outpoured blood of your servants.

¹¹May the groans of the prisoners come before you; with your strong arm preserve those condemned to die.

¹²Pay back into the laps of our neighbors seven times the contempt they have hurled at you, Lord.

¹³Then we your people, the sheep of your pasture, will praise you forever; from generation to generation
we will proclaim your praise.

Psalm 80^a

For the director of music. To the tune of “The Lilies of the Covenant.” Of Asaph. A psalm.

- ¹Hear us, Shepherd of Israel, you who lead Joseph like a flock.
You who sit enthroned between the cherubim, shine forth ²before Ephraim, Benjamin and Manasseh.
Awaken your might;
come and save us.
- ³Restore us, O God;
make your face shine on us,
that we may be saved.
- ⁴How long, LORD God Almighty, will your anger smolder against the prayers of your people?
- ⁵You have fed them with the bread of tears; you have made them drink tears by the bowlful.
- ⁶You have made us an object of derision^b to our neighbors, and our enemies mock us.
- ⁷Restore us, God Almighty;
make your face shine on us,
that we may be saved.
- ⁸You transplanted a vine from Egypt; you drove out the nations and planted
it.
- ⁹You cleared the ground for it, and it took root and filled the land.
- ¹⁰The mountains were covered with its shade, the mighty cedars with its branches.
- ¹¹Its branches reached as far as the Sea,^c its shoots as far as the River.^d
- ¹²Why have you broken down its walls so that all who pass by pick its grapes?
- ¹³Boars from the forest ravage it, and insects from the fields feed on it.

¹⁴Return to us, God Almighty!

Look down from heaven and see!

Watch over this vine,

¹⁵the root your right hand has planted, the son^e you have raised up for yourself.

¹⁶Your vine is cut down, it is burned with fire; at your rebuke your people perish.

¹⁷Let your hand rest on the man at your right hand, the son of man you have raised up for yourself.

¹⁸Then we will not turn away from you; revive us, and we will call on your name.

¹⁹Restore us, LORD God Almighty; make your face shine on us, that we may be saved.

Psalm 81^a

For the director of music. According to gittith.^b Of Asaph.

¹Sing for joy to God our strength; shout aloud to the God of Jacob!

²Begin the music, strike the timbrel, play the melodious harp and lyre.

³Sound the ram's horn at the New Moon, and when the moon is full, on the day of our festival;

⁴this is a decree for Israel, an ordinance of the God of Jacob.

⁵When God went out against Egypt, he established it as a statute for Joseph.

I heard an unknown voice say:

⁶"I removed the burden from their shoulders; their hands were set free from the basket.

⁷In your distress you called and I rescued you, I answered you out of a thundercloud;

I tested you at the waters of Meribah.^c

⁸Hear me, my people, and I will warn you— if you would only listen to me, Israel!

⁹You shall have no foreign god among you; you shall not worship any god other than me.

¹⁰I am the LORD your God, who brought you up out of Egypt.
Open wide your mouth and I will fill it.

¹¹"But my people would not listen to me; Israel would not submit to me.

¹²So I gave them over to their stubborn hearts to follow their own devices.

¹³"If my people would only listen to me, if Israel would only follow my ways, ¹⁴how quickly I would subdue their enemies and turn my hand against their foes!

¹⁵Those who hate the LORD would cringe before him, and their punishment would last forever.

¹⁶But you would be fed with the finest of wheat; with honey from the rock I would satisfy you.”

Psalm 82

A psalm of Asaph.

¹God presides in the great assembly; he renders judgment among the “gods”: The Law of Influence: Measuring Your Leadership

²“How long will you^a defend the unjust and show partiality to the wicked?^b

³Defend the weak and the fatherless; uphold the cause of the poor and the oppressed.

⁴Rescue the weak and the needy; deliver them from the hand of the wicked.

⁵“The ‘gods’ know nothing, they understand nothing.
They walk about in darkness;
all the foundations of the earth are shaken.

⁶“I said, ‘You are “gods”;
you are all sons of the Most High.’

⁷But you will die like mere mortals; you will fall like every other ruler.”

⁸Rise up, O God, judge the earth, for all the nations are your inheritance.

Psalm 83^a

A song. A psalm of Asaph.

- ¹O God, do not remain silent; do not turn a deaf ear,
do not stand aloof, O God.
- ²See how your enemies growl,
how your foes rear their heads.
- ³With cunning they conspire against your people; they plot against those you cherish.
- ⁴“Come,” they say, “let us destroy them as a nation, so that Israel’s name is remembered no more.”
- ⁵With one mind they plot together; they form an alliance against you— ⁶the tents of Edom and the Ishmaelites, of Moab and the Hagrites,
- ⁷Byblos, Ammon and Amalek, Philistia, with the people of Tyre.
- ⁸Even Assyria has joined them to reinforce Lot’s descendants.^b
- ⁹Do to them as you did to Midian, as you did to Sisera and Jabin at the river Kishon,
- ¹⁰who perished at Endor
and became like dung on the ground.
- ¹¹Make their nobles like Oreb and Zeeb, all their princes like Zebah and Zalmunna,
- ¹²who said, “Let us take possession of the pasturelands of God.”
- ¹³Make them like tumbleweed, my God, like chaff before the wind.
- ¹⁴As fire consumes the forest or a flame sets the mountains ablaze,
- ¹⁵so pursue them with your tempest and terrify them with your storm.
- ¹⁶Cover their faces with shame, LORD, so that they will seek your name.
- ¹⁷May they ever be ashamed and dismayed; may they perish in disgrace.
- ¹⁸Let them know that you, whose name is the LORD— that you alone are the Most High over all the earth.

Psalm 84^a

For the director of music. According to gittith.^b Of the Sons of Korah. A psalm.

- ¹How lovely is your dwelling place, LORD Almighty!
- ²My soul yearns, even faints, for the courts of the LORD;
my heart and my flesh cry out for the living God.
- ³Even the sparrow has found a home, and the swallow a nest for herself, where she may have her young—
a place near your altar,
LORD Almighty, my King and my God.
- ⁴Blessed are those who dwell in your house; they are ever praising you.^c
- ⁵Blessed are those whose strength is in you, whose hearts are set on pilgrimage.
- ⁶As they pass through the Valley of Baka, they make it a place of springs;
the autumn rains also cover it with pools.^d
- ⁷They go from strength to strength, till each appears before God in Zion.
- ⁸Hear my prayer, LORD God Almighty; listen to me, God of Jacob.
- ⁹Look on our shield,^e O God; look with favor on your anointed one.
- ¹⁰Better is one day in your courts than a thousand elsewhere;
I would rather be a doorkeeper in the house of my God than dwell in the tents of the wicked.
- ¹¹For the LORD God is a sun and shield; the LORD bestows favor and honor;
no good thing does he withhold from those whose walk is blameless.
- ¹²LORD Almighty, blessed is the one who trusts in you.

Psalm 85^a

For the director of music. Of the Sons of Korah. A psalm.

¹You, LORD, showed favor to your land; you restored the fortunes of Jacob.

²You forgave the iniquity of your people and covered all their sins.^b

³You set aside all your wrath and turned from your fierce anger.

⁴Restore us again, God our Savior, and put away your displeasure toward us.

⁵Will you be angry with us forever?

Will you prolong your anger through all generations?

⁶Will you not revive us again, that your people may rejoice in you?

⁷Show us your unfailing love, LORD, and grant us your salvation.

⁸I will listen to what God the LORD says; he promises peace to his people, his faithful servants— but let them not turn to folly.

⁹Surely his salvation is near those who fear him, that his glory may dwell in our land.

¹⁰Love and faithfulness meet together; righteousness and peace kiss each other.

¹¹Faithfulness springs forth from the earth, and righteousness looks down from heaven.

¹²The LORD will indeed give what is good, and our land will yield its harvest.

¹³Righteousness goes before him and prepares the way for his steps.

Psalm 86

A prayer of David.

¹Hear me, LORD, and answer me, for I am poor and needy.

²Guard my life, for I am faithful to you; save your servant who trusts in you.

You are my God; ³have mercy on me, Lord, for I call to you all day long.

⁴Bring joy to your servant, Lord, for I put my trust in you.

⁵You, Lord, are forgiving and good, abounding in love to all who call to you.

⁶Hear my prayer, LORD; listen to my cry for mercy.

⁷When I am in distress, I call to you, because you answer me.

⁸Among the gods there is none like you, Lord; no deeds can compare with yours.

⁹All the nations you have made will come and worship before you, Lord; they will bring glory to your name.

¹⁰For you are great and do marvelous deeds; you alone are God.

¹¹Teach me your way, LORD, that I may rely on your faithfulness;
give me an undivided heart,
that I may fear your name.

¹²I will praise you, Lord my God, with all my heart; I will glorify your name forever.

¹³For great is your love toward me; you have delivered me from the depths, from the realm of the dead.

¹⁴Arrogant foes are attacking me, O God; ruthless people are trying to kill me— they have no regard for you.

¹⁵But you, Lord, are a compassionate and gracious God, slow to anger, abounding in love and faithfulness.

¹⁶Turn to me and have mercy on me; show your strength in behalf of your servant;
save me, because I serve you just as my mother did.

¹⁷Give me a sign of your goodness, that my enemies may see it and be put
to shame,
for you, LORD, have helped me and comforted me.

Psalm 87

Of the Sons of Korah. A psalm. A song.

¹He has founded his city on the holy mountain.

²The LORD loves the gates of Zion more than all the other dwellings of Jacob.

³Glorious things are said of you, city of God:^a

⁴“I will record Rahab^b and Babylon among those who acknowledge me—Philistia too, and Tyre, along with Cush^c— and will say, ‘This one was born in Zion.’ ”^d

⁵Indeed, of Zion it will be said, “This one and that one were born in her, and the Most High himself will establish her.”

⁶The LORD will write in the register of the peoples: “This one was born in Zion.”

⁷As they make music they will sing, “All my fountains are in you.”

Psalm 88^a

A song. A psalm of the Sons of Korah. For the director of music. According to mahalath leannoth.^b A maskil^c of Heman the Ezrahite.

¹LORD, you are the God who saves me; day and night I cry out to you.

²May my prayer come before you; turn your ear to my cry.

³I am overwhelmed with troubles and my life draws near to death.

⁴I am counted among those who go down to the pit; I am like one without strength.

⁵I am set apart with the dead, like the slain who lie in the grave, whom you remember no more,
who are cut off from your care.

⁶You have put me in the lowest pit, in the darkest depths.

⁷Your wrath lies heavily on me; you have overwhelmed me with all your waves.^d

⁸You have taken from me my closest friends and have made me repulsive to them.

I am confined and cannot escape;

⁹my eyes are dim with grief.

I call to you, LORD, every day;

I spread out my hands to you.

¹⁰Do you show your wonders to the dead?
Do their spirits rise up and praise you?

¹¹Is your love declared in the grave, your faithfulness in Destruction^e?

¹²Are your wonders known in the place of darkness, or your righteous deeds in the land of oblivion?

¹³But I cry to you for help, LORD; in the morning my prayer comes before you.

¹⁴Why, LORD, do you reject me and hide your face from me?

¹⁵From my youth I have suffered and been close to death; I have borne your terrors and am in despair.

¹⁶Your wrath has swept over me; your terrors have destroyed me.

¹⁷All day long they surround me like a flood; they have completely engulfed me.

¹⁸You have taken from me friend and neighbor— darkness is my closest friend.

Psalm 89^a

A maskil^b of Ethan the Ezrahite.

- ¹I will sing of the LORD's great love forever; with my mouth I will make your faithfulness known through all generations.
- ²I will declare that your love stands firm forever, that you have established your faithfulness in heaven itself.
- ³You said, "I have made a covenant with my chosen one, I have sworn to David my servant,
- ⁴"I will establish your line forever and make your throne firm through all generations.' "^c
- ⁵The heavens praise your wonders, LORD, your faithfulness too, in the assembly of the holy ones.
- ⁶For who in the skies above can compare with the LORD?
Who is like the LORD among the heavenly beings?
- ⁷In the council of the holy ones God is greatly feared; he is more awesome than all who surround him.
- ⁸Who is like you, LORD God Almighty?
You, LORD, are mighty, and your faithfulness surrounds you.
- ⁹You rule over the surging sea; when its waves mount up, you still them.
- ¹⁰You crushed Rahab like one of the slain; with your strong arm you scattered your enemies.
- ¹¹The heavens are yours, and yours also the earth; you founded the world and all that is in it.
- ¹²You created the north and the south; Tabor and Hermon sing for joy at your name.
- ¹³Your arm is endowed with power; your hand is strong, your right hand exalted.
- ¹⁴Righteousness and justice are the foundation of your throne; love and faithfulness go before you.

¹⁵Blessed are those who have learned to acclaim you, who walk in the light of your presence, LORD.

¹⁶They rejoice in your name all day long; they celebrate your righteousness.

¹⁷For you are their glory and strength, and by your favor you exalt our horn.^d

¹⁸Indeed, our shield^e belongs to the LORD, our king to the Holy One of Israel.

¹⁹Once you spoke in a vision, to your faithful people you said:

“I have bestowed strength on a warrior;

I have raised up a young man from among the people. The Fruit That Comes from God's Anointing ²⁰I have found David my servant; with my sacred oil I have anointed him.

²¹My hand will sustain him;
surely my arm will strengthen him.

²²The enemy will not get the better of him; the wicked will not oppress him.

²³I will crush his foes before him and strike down his adversaries.

²⁴My faithful love will be with him, and through my name his horn^f will be exalted.

²⁵I will set his hand over the sea, his right hand over the rivers.

²⁶He will call out to me, ‘You are my Father, my God, the Rock my Savior.’

²⁷And I will appoint him to be my firstborn, the most exalted of the kings of the earth.

²⁸I will maintain my love to him forever, and my covenant with him will never fail.

²⁹I will establish his line forever, his throne as long as the heavens endure.

³⁰“If his sons forsake my law and do not follow my statutes,

³¹if they violate my decrees and fail to keep my commands,

³²I will punish their sin with the rod, their iniquity with flogging;

³³but I will not take my love from him, nor will I ever betray my faithfulness.

³⁴I will not violate my covenant or alter what my lips have uttered.

³⁵Once for all, I have sworn by my holiness— and I will not lie to David—

³⁶that his line will continue forever and his throne endure before me like the sun;

³⁷it will be established forever like the moon, the faithful witness in the sky.”

³⁸But you have rejected, you have spurned, you have been very angry with your anointed one.

³⁹You have renounced the covenant with your servant and have defiled his crown in the dust.

⁴⁰You have broken through all his walls and reduced his strongholds to ruins.

⁴¹All who pass by have plundered him; he has become the scorn of his neighbors.

⁴²You have exalted the right hand of his foes; you have made all his enemies rejoice.

⁴³Indeed, you have turned back the edge of his sword and have not supported him in battle.

⁴⁴You have put an end to his splendor and cast his throne to the ground.

⁴⁵You have cut short the days of his youth; you have covered him with a mantle of shame.

⁴⁶How long, LORD? Will you hide yourself forever?
How long will your wrath burn like fire?

⁴⁷Remember how fleeting is my life.
For what futility you have created all humanity!

⁴⁸Who can live and not see death, or who can escape the power of the grave?

⁴⁹Lord, where is your former great love, which in your faithfulness you swore to David?

⁵⁰Remember, Lord, how your servant has^g been mocked, how I bear in my heart the taunts of all the nations, ⁵¹the taunts with which your enemies, LORD, have mocked, with which they have mocked every step of your anointed one.

⁵²Praise be to the LORD forever!

Amen and Amen.

BOOK IV

Psalms 90—106

Psalm 90

A prayer of Moses the man of God.

- ¹Lord, you have been our dwelling place throughout all generations.
²Before the mountains were born or you brought forth the whole world, from everlasting to everlasting you are God.
- ³You turn people back to dust, saying, “Return to dust, you mortals.” ⁴A thousand years in your sight are like a day that has just gone by, or like a watch in the night.
- ⁵Yet you sweep people away in the sleep of death— they are like the new grass of the morning:
⁶In the morning it springs up new, but by evening it is dry and withered.
- ⁷We are consumed by your anger and terrified by your indignation.
⁸You have set our iniquities before you, our secret sins in the light of your presence.
- ⁹All our days pass away under your wrath; we finish our years with a moan.
¹⁰Our days may come to seventy years, or eighty, if our strength endures;
yet the best of them are but trouble and sorrow,
for they quickly pass, and we fly away.
- ¹¹If only we knew the power of your anger!
Your wrath is as great as the fear that is your due.
- ¹²Teach us to number our days, that we may gain a heart of wisdom. Leaders Manage Their Time and Do More with Less
- ¹³Relent, LORD! How long will it be?
Have compassion on your servants.
- ¹⁴Satisfy us in the morning with your unfailing love, that we may sing for joy and be glad all our days.

¹⁵Make us glad for as many days as you have afflicted us, for as many years as we have seen trouble.

¹⁶May your deeds be shown to your servants, your splendor to their children.

¹⁷May the favor^a of the Lord our God rest on us; establish the work of our hands for us— yes, establish the work of our hands.

Psalm 91

¹Whoever dwells in the shelter of the Most High will rest in the shadow of the Almighty.^a The Leader's Refuge

²I will say of the LORD, "He is my refuge and my fortress, my God, in whom I trust."

³Surely he will save you from the fowler's snare and from the deadly pestilence.

⁴He will cover you with his feathers, and under his wings you will find refuge;
his faithfulness will be your shield and rampart.

⁵You will not fear the terror of night, nor the arrow that flies by day, ⁶nor the pestilence that stalks in the darkness, nor the plague that destroys at midday.

⁷A thousand may fall at your side, ten thousand at your right hand, but it will not come near you.

⁸You will only observe with your eyes and see the punishment of the wicked.

⁹If you say, "The LORD is my refuge," and you make the Most High your dwelling,

¹⁰no harm will overtake you,
no disaster will come near your tent.

¹¹For he will command his angels concerning you to guard you in all your ways;

¹²they will lift you up in their hands, so that you will not strike your foot against a stone.

¹³You will tread on the lion and the cobra; you will trample the great lion and the serpent.

¹⁴"Because he^b loves me," says the LORD, "I will rescue him; I will protect him, for he acknowledges my name.

¹⁵He will call on me, and I will answer him; I will be with him in trouble,
I will deliver him and honor him

I will deliver him and honor him.

¹⁶With long life I will satisfy him and show him my salvation.”

Psalm 92^a

A psalm. A song. For the Sabbath day.

- ¹It is good to praise the LORD and make music to your name, O Most High, ²proclaiming your love in the morning and your faithfulness at night, ³to the music of the ten-stringed lyre and the melody of the harp.
- ⁴For you make me glad by your deeds, LORD; I sing for joy at what your hands have done.
- ⁵How great are your works, LORD, how profound your thoughts!
⁶Senseless people do not know, fools do not understand, ⁷that though the wicked spring up like grass and all evildoers flourish, they will be destroyed forever.
- ⁸But you, LORD, are forever exalted.
- ⁹For surely your enemies, LORD, surely your enemies will perish;
all evildoers will be scattered.
- ¹⁰You have exalted my horn^b like that of a wild ox; fine oils have been poured on me.
- ¹¹My eyes have seen the defeat of my adversaries; my ears have heard the rout of my wicked foes.
- ¹²The righteous will flourish like a palm tree, they will grow like a cedar of Lebanon;
¹³planted in the house of the LORD, they will flourish in the courts of our God.
- ¹⁴They will still bear fruit in old age, they will stay fresh and green, ¹⁵proclaiming, "The LORD is upright; he is my Rock, and there is no wickedness in him."

Psalm 93

¹The LORD reigns, he is robed in majesty; the LORD is robed in majesty and armed with strength; indeed, the world is established, firm and secure.

²Your throne was established long ago; you are from all eternity.

³The seas have lifted up, LORD, the seas have lifted up their voice;
the seas have lifted up their pounding waves.

⁴Mightier than the thunder of the great waters, mightier than the breakers of the sea— the LORD on high is mighty.

⁵Your statutes, LORD, stand firm; holiness adorns your house for endless days.

Psalm 94

¹The LORD is a God who avenges.

O God who avenges, shine forth.

²Rise up, Judge of the earth; pay back to the proud what they deserve.

³How long, LORD, will the wicked, how long will the wicked be jubilant?

⁴They pour out arrogant words; all the evildoers are full of boasting.

⁵They crush your people, LORD; they oppress your inheritance.

⁶They slay the widow and the foreigner; they murder the fatherless.

⁷They say, "The LORD does not see; the God of Jacob takes no notice."

⁸Take notice, you senseless ones among the people; you fools, when will you become wise?

⁹Does he who fashioned the ear not hear?

Does he who formed the eye not see?

¹⁰Does he who disciplines nations not punish?

Does he who teaches mankind lack knowledge?

¹¹The LORD knows all human plans; he knows that they are futile.

¹²Blessed is the one you discipline, LORD, the one you teach from your law;

¹³you grant them relief from days of trouble, till a pit is dug for the wicked.

¹⁴For the LORD will not reject his people; he will never forsake his inheritance.

¹⁵Judgment will again be founded on righteousness, and all the upright in heart will follow it.

¹⁶Who will rise up for me against the wicked?

Who will take a stand for me against evildoers?

¹⁷Unless the LORD had given me help, I would soon have dwelt in the silence of death.

¹⁸When I said, "My foot is slipping," your unfailing love, LORD, supported me.

¹⁹When anxiety was great within me, your consolation brought me joy.

²⁰Can a corrupt throne be allied with you— a throne that brings on misery by its decrees?

²¹The wicked band together against the righteous and condemn the innocent to death.

²²But the LORD has become my fortress, and my God the rock in whom I take refuge.

²³He will repay them for their sins and destroy them for their wickedness;
the LORD our God will destroy them.

Psalm 95

¹Come, let us sing for joy to the LORD; let us shout aloud to the Rock of our salvation.

²Let us come before him with thanksgiving and extol him with music and song.

³For the LORD is the great God, the great King above all gods.

⁴In his hand are the depths of the earth, and the mountain peaks belong to him.

⁵The sea is his, for he made it, and his hands formed the dry land.

⁶Come, let us bow down in worship, let us kneel before the LORD our Maker;

⁷for he is our God and we are the people of his pasture,
the flock under his care.

Today, if only you would hear his voice,

⁸“Do not harden your hearts as you did at Meribah,^a as you did that day at Massah^b in the wilderness, ⁹where your ancestors tested me; they tried me, though they had seen what I did.

¹⁰For forty years I was angry with that generation; I said, ‘They are a people whose hearts go astray, and they have not known my ways.’

¹¹So I declared on oath in my anger, ‘They shall never enter my rest.’ ”

Psalm 96

¹Sing to the LORD a new song; sing to the LORD, all the earth.

²Sing to the LORD, praise his name; proclaim his salvation day after day.

³Declare his glory among the nations, his marvelous deeds among all peoples.

⁴For great is the LORD and most worthy of praise; he is to be feared above all gods.

⁵For all the gods of the nations are idols, but the LORD made the heavens.

⁶Splendor and majesty are before him; strength and glory are in his sanctuary.

⁷Ascribe to the LORD, all you families of nations, ascribe to the LORD glory and strength.

⁸Ascribe to the LORD the glory due his name; bring an offering and come into his courts.

⁹Worship the LORD in the splendor of his^a holiness; tremble before him, all the earth.

¹⁰Say among the nations, "The LORD reigns."
The world is firmly established, it cannot be moved;
he will judge the peoples with equity.

¹¹Let the heavens rejoice, let the earth be glad; let the sea resound, and all that is in it.

¹²Let the fields be jubilant, and everything in them; let all the trees of the forest sing for joy.

¹³Let all creation rejoice before the LORD, for he comes, he comes to judge the earth.

He will judge the world in righteousness and the peoples in his faithfulness.

Psalm 97

- ¹The LORD reigns, let the earth be glad; let the distant shores rejoice.
- ²Clouds and thick darkness surround him; righteousness and justice are the foundation of his throne.
- ³Fire goes before him and consumes his foes on every side.
- ⁴His lightning lights up the world; the earth sees and trembles.
- ⁵The mountains melt like wax before the LORD, before the Lord of all the earth.
- ⁶The heavens proclaim his righteousness, and all peoples see his glory.
- ⁷All who worship images are put to shame, those who boast in idols—worship him, all you gods!
- ⁸Zion hears and rejoices and the villages of Judah are glad because of your judgments, LORD.
- ⁹For you, LORD, are the Most High over all the earth; you are exalted far above all gods.
- ¹⁰Let those who love the LORD hate evil, for he guards the lives of his faithful ones
and delivers them from the hand of the wicked.
- ¹¹Light shines^a on the righteous and joy on the upright in heart.
- ¹²Rejoice in the LORD, you who are righteous, and praise his holy name.

Psalm 98

A psalm.

- ¹Sing to the LORD a new song, for he has done marvelous things;
his right hand and his holy arm have worked salvation for him.
- ²The LORD has made his salvation known and revealed his righteousness to the nations.
- ³He has remembered his love and his faithfulness to Israel;
all the ends of the earth have seen
the salvation of our God.
- ⁴Shout for joy to the LORD, all the earth, burst into jubilant song with music;
- ⁵make music to the LORD with the harp, with the harp and the sound of singing,
- ⁶with trumpets and the blast of the ram's horn— shout for joy before the LORD, the King.
- ⁷Let the sea resound, and everything in it, the world, and all who live in it.
- ⁸Let the rivers clap their hands, let the mountains sing together for joy;
- ⁹let them sing before the LORD, for he comes to judge the earth.
He will judge the world in righteousness
and the peoples with equity.

Psalm 99

¹The LORD reigns, let the nations tremble;
he sits enthroned between the cherubim,
let the earth shake.

²Great is the LORD in Zion; he is exalted over all the nations.

³Let them praise your great and awesome name— he is holy.

⁴The King is mighty, he loves justice— you have established equity;
in Jacob you have done
what is just and right.

⁵Exalt the LORD our God and worship at his footstool;
he is holy.

⁶Moses and Aaron were among his priests, Samuel was among those who called on his name;
they called on the LORD and he answered them.

⁷He spoke to them from the pillar of cloud; they kept his statutes and the decrees he gave them.

⁸LORD our God, you answered them;
you were to Israel a forgiving God, though you punished their misdeeds.^a ⁹Exalt the LORD our God and worship at his holy mountain, for the LORD our God is holy.

Psalm 100

A psalm. For giving grateful praise.

¹Shout for joy to the LORD, all the earth.

²Worship the LORD with gladness; come before him with joyful songs.

³Know that the LORD is God.

It is he who made us, and we are his^a; we are his people, the sheep of his pasture.

⁴Enter his gates with thanksgiving and his courts with praise;
give thanks to him and praise his name.

⁵For the LORD is good and his love endures forever; his faithfulness continues through all generations.

Psalm 101

Of David. A psalm.

¹I will sing of your love and justice; to you, LORD, I will sing praise.

²I will be careful to lead a blameless life— when will you come to me?

I will conduct the affairs of my house with a blameless heart.

³I will not look with approval on anything that is vile.

I hate what faithless people do;
I will have no part in it.

⁴The perverse of heart shall be far from me; I will have nothing to do with what is evil.

⁵Whoever slanders their neighbor in secret, I will put to silence;
whoever has haughty eyes and a proud heart,
I will not tolerate.

⁶My eyes will be on the faithful in the land, that they may dwell with me;
the one whose walk is blameless will minister to me.

⁷No one who practices deceit will dwell in my house;
no one who speaks falsely will stand in my presence.

⁸Every morning I will put to silence all the wicked in the land;
I will cut off every evildoer
from the city of the LORD.

Psalm 102^a

A prayer of an afflicted person who has grown weak and pours out a lament before the LORD.

- ¹Hear my prayer, LORD; let my cry for help come to you.
²Do not hide your face from me when I am in distress.
 Turn your ear to me;
 when I call, answer me quickly.
- ³For my days vanish like smoke; my bones burn like glowing embers.
⁴My heart is blighted and withered like grass; I forget to eat my food.
⁵In my distress I groan aloud and am reduced to skin and bones.
⁶I am like a desert owl,
 like an owl among the ruins.
⁷I lie awake; I have become like a bird alone on a roof.
⁸All day long my enemies taunt me; those who rail against me use my name as a curse.
⁹For I eat ashes as my food and mingle my drink with tears ¹⁰because of your great wrath, for you have taken me up and thrown me aside.
¹¹My days are like the evening shadow; I wither away like grass.
¹²But you, LORD, sit enthroned forever; your renown endures through all generations.
¹³You will arise and have compassion on Zion, for it is time to show favor to her;
 the appointed time has come.
¹⁴For her stones are dear to your servants; her very dust moves them to pity.
¹⁵The nations will fear the name of the LORD, all the kings of the earth will revere your glory.
¹⁶For the LORD will rebuild Zion and appear in his glory.
¹⁷He will respond to the prayer of the destitute; he will not despise their plea.

¹⁸Let this be written for a future generation, that a people not yet created may praise the LORD: ¹⁹“The LORD looked down from his sanctuary on high, from heaven he viewed the earth, ²⁰to hear the groans of the prisoners and release those condemned to death.”
²¹So the name of the LORD will be declared in Zion and his praise in Jerusalem
²²when the peoples and the kingdoms assemble to worship the LORD.

²³In the course of my life^b he broke my strength; he cut short my days.
²⁴So I said:
“Do not take me away, my God, in the midst of my days;
your years go on through all generations.

²⁵In the beginning you laid the foundations of the earth, and the heavens are the work of your hands.

²⁶They will perish, but you remain; they will all wear out like a garment.
Like clothing you will change them and they will be discarded.

²⁷But you remain the same,
and your years will never end.

²⁸The children of your servants will live in your presence; their descendants will be established before you.”

Psalm 103

Of David.

¹Praise the LORD, my soul; all my inmost being, praise his holy name. How God Raises a Leader

²Praise the LORD, my soul, and forget not all his benefits— ³who forgives all your sins
and heals all your diseases,

⁴who redeems your life from the pit and crowns you with love and compassion,

⁵who satisfies your desires with good things so that your youth is renewed like the eagle's.

⁶The LORD works righteousness and justice for all the oppressed.

⁷He made known his ways to Moses, his deeds to the people of Israel:

⁸The LORD is compassionate and gracious, slow to anger, abounding in love.

⁹He will not always accuse,
nor will he harbor his anger forever;

¹⁰he does not treat us as our sins deserve or repay us according to our iniquities.

¹¹For as high as the heavens are above the earth, so great is his love for those who fear him;

¹²as far as the east is from the west, so far has he removed our transgressions from us.

¹³As a father has compassion on his children, so the LORD has compassion on those who fear him; Natural Leadership vs. Spiritual Leadership

¹⁴for he knows how we are formed, he remembers that we are dust.

¹⁵The life of mortals is like grass, they flourish like a flower of the field;

¹⁶the wind blows over it and it is gone, and its place remembers it no more.

¹⁷But from everlasting to everlasting the LORD's love is with those who fear him, and his righteousness with their children's children—

¹⁸with those who keep his covenant and remember to obey his precepts.

¹⁹The LORD has established his throne in heaven, and his kingdom rules over all.

²⁰Praise the LORD, you his angels, you mighty ones who do his bidding, who obey his word.

²¹Praise the LORD, all his heavenly hosts, you his servants who do his will.

²²Praise the LORD, all his works everywhere in his dominion.

Praise the LORD, my soul.

Psalm 104

¹Praise the LORD, my soul.

LORD my God, you are very great;
you are clothed with splendor and majesty. Leaders Are Stewards, Not Owners

²The LORD wraps himself in light as with a garment; he stretches out the heavens like a tent

³and lays the beams of his upper chambers on their waters.

He makes the clouds his chariot and rides on the wings of the wind.

⁴He makes winds his messengers,^a flames of fire his servants.

⁵He set the earth on its foundations; it can never be moved.

⁶You covered it with the watery depths as with a garment; the waters stood above the mountains.

⁷But at your rebuke the waters fled, at the sound of your thunder they took to flight;

⁸they flowed over the mountains, they went down into the valleys, to the place you assigned for them.

⁹You set a boundary they cannot cross; never again will they cover the earth.

¹⁰He makes springs pour water into the ravines; it flows between the mountains.

¹¹They give water to all the beasts of the field; the wild donkeys quench their thirst.

¹²The birds of the sky nest by the waters; they sing among the branches.

¹³He waters the mountains from his upper chambers; the land is satisfied by the fruit of his work.

¹⁴He makes grass grow for the cattle, and plants for people to cultivate—bringing forth food from the earth:

¹⁵wine that gladdens human hearts, oil to make their faces shine,
and bread that sustains their hearts

and bread that sustains their hearts.

- ¹⁶The trees of the LORD are well watered, the cedars of Lebanon that he planted.
- ¹⁷There the birds make their nests; the stork has its home in the junipers.
- ¹⁸The high mountains belong to the wild goats; the crags are a refuge for the hyrax.
- ¹⁹He made the moon to mark the seasons, and the sun knows when to go down.
- ²⁰You bring darkness, it becomes night, and all the beasts of the forest prowl.
- ²¹The lions roar for their prey and seek their food from God.
- ²²The sun rises, and they steal away; they return and lie down in their dens.
- ²³Then people go out to their work, to their labor until evening.
- ²⁴How many are your works, LORD!
In wisdom you made them all;
the earth is full of your creatures.
- ²⁵There is the sea, vast and spacious, teeming with creatures beyond number— living things both large and small.
- ²⁶There the ships go to and fro, and Leviathan, which you formed to frolic there.
- ²⁷All creatures look to you to give them their food at the proper time.
- ²⁸When you give it to them,
they gather it up;
when you open your hand,
they are satisfied with good things.
- ²⁹When you hide your face,
they are terrified;
when you take away their breath,
they die and return to the dust.
- ³⁰When you send your Spirit,
they are created,
and you renew the face of the ground.
- ³¹May the glory of the LORD endure forever; may the LORD rejoice in his works— ³²he who looks at the earth, and it trembles, who touches the mountains, and they smoke.

³³I will sing to the LORD all my life; I will sing praise to my God as long as I live.

³⁴May my meditation be pleasing to him, as I rejoice in the LORD.

³⁵But may sinners vanish from the earth and the wicked be no more.

Praise the LORD, my soul.

Praise the LORD. ^b

Psalm 105

¹Give praise to the LORD, proclaim his name; make known among the nations what he has done.

²Sing to him, sing praise to him; tell of all his wonderful acts.

³Glory in his holy name;
let the hearts of those who seek the LORD rejoice.

⁴Look to the LORD and his strength; seek his face always.

⁵Remember the wonders he has done, his miracles, and the judgments he pronounced, ⁶you his servants, the descendants of Abraham, his chosen ones, the children of Jacob.

⁷He is the LORD our God; his judgments are in all the earth.

⁸He remembers his covenant forever, the promise he made, for a thousand generations, ⁹the covenant he made with Abraham, the oath he swore to Isaac.

¹⁰He confirmed it to Jacob as a decree, to Israel as an everlasting covenant:

¹¹“To you I will give the land of Canaan as the portion you will inherit.”

¹²When they were but few in number, few indeed, and strangers in it, ¹³they wandered from nation to nation, from one kingdom to another.

¹⁴He allowed no one to oppress them; for their sake he rebuked kings:

¹⁵“Do not touch my anointed ones; do my prophets no harm.”

¹⁶He called down famine on the land and destroyed all their supplies of food;

¹⁷and he sent a man before them— Joseph, sold as a slave.

¹⁸They bruised his feet with shackles, his neck was put in irons,

¹⁹till what he foretold came to pass, till the word of the LORD proved him true.

²⁰The king sent and released him, the ruler of peoples set him free.

²¹He made him master of his household, ruler over all he possessed,

- ²²to instruct his princes as he pleased and teach his elders wisdom.
- ²³Then Israel entered Egypt; Jacob resided as a foreigner in the land of Ham.
- ²⁴The LORD made his people very fruitful; he made them too numerous for their foes,
- ²⁵whose hearts he turned to hate his people, to conspire against his servants.
- ²⁶He sent Moses his servant, and Aaron, whom he had chosen.
- ²⁷They performed his signs among them, his wonders in the land of Ham.
- ²⁸He sent darkness and made the land dark— for had they not rebelled against his words?
- ²⁹He turned their waters into blood, causing their fish to die.
- ³⁰Their land teemed with frogs, which went up into the bedrooms of their rulers.
- ³¹He spoke, and there came swarms of flies, and gnats throughout their country.
- ³²He turned their rain into hail, with lightning throughout their land;
- ³³he struck down their vines and fig trees and shattered the trees of their country.
- ³⁴He spoke, and the locusts came, grasshoppers without number;
- ³⁵they ate up every green thing in their land, ate up the produce of their soil.
- ³⁶Then he struck down all the firstborn in their land, the firstfruits of all their manhood.
- ³⁷He brought out Israel, laden with silver and gold, and from among their tribes no one faltered.
- ³⁸Egypt was glad when they left, because dread of Israel had fallen on them.
- ³⁹He spread out a cloud as a covering, and a fire to give light at night.
- ⁴⁰They asked, and he brought them quail; he fed them well with the bread of heaven.
- ⁴¹He opened the rock, and water gushed out; it flowed like a river in the desert.
- ⁴²For he remembered his holy promise given to his servant Abraham.

⁴³He brought out his people with rejoicing, his chosen ones with shouts of joy;

⁴⁴he gave them the lands of the nations, and they fell heir to what others had toiled for— ⁴⁵that they might keep his precepts and observe his laws.

Praise the LORD. ^a

Psalm 106

¹Praise the LORD.^a

Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good;
his love endures forever.

²Who can proclaim the mighty acts of the LORD or fully declare his praise?

³Blessed are those who act justly, who always do what is right.

⁴Remember me, LORD, when you show favor to your people, come to my aid when you save them,

⁵that I may enjoy the prosperity of your chosen ones, that I may share in the joy of your nation and join your inheritance in giving praise.

⁶We have sinned, even as our ancestors did; we have done wrong and acted wickedly.

⁷When our ancestors were in Egypt, they gave no thought to your miracles;
they did not remember your many kindnesses, and they rebelled by the sea, the Red Sea.^b

⁸Yet he saved them for his name's sake, to make his mighty power known.

⁹He rebuked the Red Sea, and it dried up; he led them through the depths as through a desert.

¹⁰He saved them from the hand of the foe; from the hand of the enemy he redeemed them.

¹¹The waters covered their adversaries; not one of them survived.

¹²Then they believed his promises and sang his praise.

¹³But they soon forgot what he had done and did not wait for his plan to unfold.

¹⁴In the desert they gave in to their craving; in the wilderness they put God to the test.

¹⁵So he gave them what they asked for, but sent a wasting disease among them.

¹⁶In the camp they grew envious of Moses and of Aaron, who was consecrated to the LORD.

¹⁷The earth opened up and swallowed Dathan; it buried the company of Abiram.

¹⁸Fire blazed among their followers; a flame consumed the wicked.

¹⁹At Horeb they made a calf and worshiped an idol cast from metal.

²⁰They exchanged their glorious God for an image of a bull, which eats grass.

²¹They forgot the God who saved them, who had done great things in Egypt,

²²miracles in the land of Ham and awesome deeds by the Red Sea.

²³So he said he would destroy them— had not Moses, his chosen one, stood in the breach before him to keep his wrath from destroying them.

²⁴Then they despised the pleasant land; they did not believe his promise.

²⁵They grumbled in their tents and did not obey the LORD.

²⁶So he swore to them with uplifted hand that he would make them fall in the wilderness,

²⁷make their descendants fall among the nations and scatter them throughout the lands.

²⁸They yoked themselves to the Baal of Peor and ate sacrifices offered to lifeless gods;

²⁹they aroused the LORD's anger by their wicked deeds, and a plague broke out among them.

³⁰But Phinehas stood up and intervened, and the plague was checked.

³¹This was credited to him as righteousness for endless generations to come.

³²By the waters of Meribah they angered the LORD, and trouble came to Moses because of them;

³³for they rebelled against the Spirit of God, and rash words came from Moses' lips.^c

- ³⁴They did not destroy the peoples as the LORD had commanded them, ³⁵but they mingled with the nations and adopted their customs.
³⁶They worshiped their idols, which became a snare to them.
³⁷They sacrificed their sons and their daughters to false gods.
³⁸They shed innocent blood,
the blood of their sons and daughters,
whom they sacrificed to the idols of Canaan,
and the land was desecrated by their blood.
³⁹They defiled themselves by what they did; by their deeds they prostituted themselves.
- ⁴⁰Therefore the LORD was angry with his people and abhorred his inheritance.
⁴¹He gave them into the hands of the nations, and their foes ruled over them.
⁴²Their enemies oppressed them and subjected them to their power.
⁴³Many times he delivered them, but they were bent on rebellion and they wasted away in their sin.
⁴⁴Yet he took note of their distress when he heard their cry; ⁴⁵for their sake he remembered his covenant and out of his great love he relented.
⁴⁶He caused all who held them captive to show them mercy.
- ⁴⁷Save us, LORD our God, and gather us from the nations,
that we may give thanks to your holy name
and glory in your praise.
- ⁴⁸Praise be to the LORD, the God of Israel, from everlasting to everlasting.

Let all the people say, "Amen!"

Praise the LORD.

BOOK V

Psalms 107—150

Psalm 107

¹Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good; his love endures forever.

²Let the redeemed of the LORD tell their story— those he redeemed from the hand of the foe,

³those he gathered from the lands, from east and west, from north and south.^a

⁴Some wandered in desert wastelands, finding no way to a city where they could settle.

⁵They were hungry and thirsty, and their lives ebbed away.

⁶Then they cried out to the LORD in their trouble, and he delivered them from their distress.

⁷He led them by a straight way to a city where they could settle.

⁸Let them give thanks to the LORD for his unfailing love and his wonderful deeds for mankind,

⁹for he satisfies the thirsty and fills the hungry with good things.

¹⁰Some sat in darkness, in utter darkness, prisoners suffering in iron chains, ¹¹because they rebelled against God's commands and despised the plans of the Most High.

¹²So he subjected them to bitter labor; they stumbled, and there was no one to help.

¹³Then they cried to the LORD in their trouble, and he saved them from their distress.

¹⁴He brought them out of darkness, the utter darkness, and broke away their chains.

¹⁵Let them give thanks to the LORD for his unfailing love and his wonderful deeds for mankind,

¹⁶for he breaks down gates of bronze and cuts through bars of iron.

- ¹⁷Some became fools through their rebellious ways and suffered affliction because of their iniquities.
- ¹⁸They loathed all food and drew near the gates of death.
- ¹⁹Then they cried to the LORD in their trouble, and he saved them from their distress.
- ²⁰He sent out his word and healed them; he rescued them from the grave.
- ²¹Let them give thanks to the LORD for his unfailing love and his wonderful deeds for mankind.
- ²²Let them sacrifice thank offerings and tell of his works with songs of joy.
- ²³Some went out on the sea in ships; they were merchants on the mighty waters.
- ²⁴They saw the works of the LORD, his wonderful deeds in the deep.
- ²⁵For he spoke and stirred up a tempest that lifted high the waves.
- ²⁶They mounted up to the heavens and went down to the depths; in their peril their courage melted away.
- ²⁷They reeled and staggered like drunkards; they were at their wits' end.
- ²⁸Then they cried out to the LORD in their trouble, and he brought them out of their distress.
- ²⁹He stilled the storm to a whisper; the waves of the sea^b were hushed.
- ³⁰They were glad when it grew calm, and he guided them to their desired haven.
- ³¹Let them give thanks to the LORD for his unfailing love and his wonderful deeds for mankind.
- ³²Let them exalt him in the assembly of the people and praise him in the council of the elders.
- ³³He turned rivers into a desert, flowing springs into thirsty ground,
- ³⁴and fruitful land into a salt waste, because of the wickedness of those who lived there.
- ³⁵He turned the desert into pools of water and the parched ground into flowing springs;
- ³⁶there he brought the hungry to live, and they founded a city where they could settle.
- ³⁷They sowed fields and planted vineyards that yielded a fruitful harvest;

³⁸he blessed them, and their numbers greatly increased, and he did not let their herds diminish.

³⁹Then their numbers decreased, and they were humbled by oppression, calamity and sorrow;

⁴⁰he who pours contempt on nobles made them wander in a trackless waste.

⁴¹But he lifted the needy out of their affliction and increased their families like flocks.

⁴²The upright see and rejoice, but all the wicked shut their mouths.

⁴³Let the one who is wise heed these things and ponder the loving deeds of the LORD.

Psalm 108^a

A song. A psalm of David.

¹My heart, O God, is steadfast; I will sing and make music with all my soul.

²Awake, harp and lyre!

I will awaken the dawn.

³I will praise you, LORD, among the nations; I will sing of you among the peoples.

⁴For great is your love, higher than the heavens; your faithfulness reaches to the skies.

⁵Be exalted, O God, above the heavens; let your glory be over all the earth.

⁶Save us and help us with your right hand, that those you love may be delivered.

⁷God has spoken from his sanctuary: “In triumph I will parcel out Shechem and measure off the Valley of Sukkoth.

⁸Gilead is mine, Manasseh is mine; Ephraim is my helmet, Judah is my scepter.

⁹Moab is my washbasin,
on Edom I toss my sandal;
over Philistia I shout in triumph.”

¹⁰Who will bring me to the fortified city?
Who will lead me to Edom?

¹¹Is it not you, God, you who have rejected us and no longer go out with our armies?

¹²Give us aid against the enemy, for human help is worthless.

¹³With God we will gain the victory, and he will trample down our enemies.

Psalm 109

For the director of music. Of David. A psalm.

- ¹My God, whom I praise,
do not remain silent, ²for people who are wicked and deceitful have opened their mouths against
me;
they have spoken against me with lying tongues.
³With words of hatred they surround me; they attack me without cause.
⁴In return for my friendship they accuse me, but I am a man of prayer.
⁵They repay me evil for good, and hatred for my friendship.
- ⁶Appoint someone evil to oppose my enemy; let an accuser stand at his right hand.
⁷When he is tried, let him be found guilty, and may his prayers condemn
him.
⁸May his days be few;
may another take his place of leadership.
⁹May his children be fatherless and his wife a widow.
¹⁰May his children be wandering beggars; may they be driven^a from their ruined homes.
¹¹May a creditor seize all he has; may strangers plunder the fruits of his labor.
¹²May no one extend kindness to him or take pity on his fatherless children.
¹³May his descendants be cut off, their names blotted out from the next generation.
¹⁴May the iniquity of his fathers be remembered before the LORD; may the sin of his mother never be blotted out.
¹⁵May their sins always remain before the LORD, that he may blot out their name from the earth.
- ¹⁶For he never thought of doing a kindness, but hounded to death the poor and the needy and the brokenhearted.
¹⁷He loved to pronounce a curse— may it come back on him.
He found no pleasure in blessing—

- He found no pleasure in blessing may it be far from him.
- ¹⁸He wore cursing as his garment; it entered into his body like water, into his bones like oil.
- ¹⁹May it be like a cloak wrapped about him, like a belt tied forever around him.
- ²⁰May this be the LORD's payment to my accusers, to those who speak evil of me.
- ²¹But you, Sovereign LORD, help me for your name's sake;
out of the goodness of your love, deliver me.
- ²²For I am poor and needy, and my heart is wounded within me.
- ²³I fade away like an evening shadow; I am shaken off like a locust.
- ²⁴My knees give way from fasting; my body is thin and gaunt.
- ²⁵I am an object of scorn to my accusers; when they see me, they shake their heads.
- ²⁶Help me, LORD my God; save me according to your unfailing love.
- ²⁷Let them know that it is your hand, that you, LORD, have done it.
- ²⁸While they curse, may you bless; may those who attack me be put to shame,
but may your servant rejoice.
- ²⁹May my accusers be clothed with disgrace and wrapped in shame as in a cloak.
- ³⁰With my mouth I will greatly extol the LORD; in the great throng of worshipers I will praise him.
- ³¹For he stands at the right hand of the needy, to save their lives from those who would condemn them.

Psalm 110

Of David. A psalm.

¹The LORD says to my lord:^a “Sit at my right hand until I make your enemies

a footstool for your feet.”

²The LORD will extend your mighty scepter from Zion, saying, “Rule in the midst of your enemies!”

³Your troops will be willing on your day of battle.
Arrayed in holy splendor,
your young men will come to you like dew from the morning’s womb.^b

⁴The LORD has sworn and will not change his mind:
“You are a priest forever,
in the order of Melchizedek.”

⁵The Lord is at your right hand^c; he will crush kings on the day of his wrath.

⁶He will judge the nations, heaping up the dead and crushing the rulers of the whole earth.

⁷He will drink from a brook along the way,^d and so he will lift his head high.

Psalm 111^a

¹Praise the LORD.^b

I will extol the LORD with all my heart in the council of the upright and in the assembly.

²Great are the works of the LORD; they are pondered by all who delight in them.

³Glorious and majestic are his deeds, and his righteousness endures forever.

⁴He has caused his wonders to be remembered; the LORD is gracious and compassionate.

⁵He provides food for those who fear him; he remembers his covenant forever.

⁶He has shown his people the power of his works, giving them the lands of other nations.

⁷The works of his hands are faithful and just; all his precepts are trustworthy.

⁸They are established for ever and ever, enacted in faithfulness and uprightness.

⁹He provided redemption for his people; he ordained his covenant forever — holy and awesome is his name.

¹⁰The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom; all who follow his precepts have good understanding.
To him belongs eternal praise.

Psalm 112^a

¹Praise the LORD.^b

Blessed are those who fear the LORD, who find great delight in his commands.

²Their children will be mighty in the land; the generation of the upright will be blessed.

³Wealth and riches are in their houses, and their righteousness endures forever.

⁴Even in darkness light dawns for the upright, for those who are gracious and compassionate and righteous.

⁵Good will come to those who are generous and lend freely, who conduct their affairs with justice.

⁶Surely the righteous will never be shaken; they will be remembered forever.

⁷They will have no fear of bad news; their hearts are steadfast, trusting in the LORD.

⁸Their hearts are secure, they will have no fear; in the end they will look in triumph on their foes.

⁹They have freely scattered their gifts to the poor, their righteousness endures forever;
their horn^c will be lifted high in honor.

¹⁰The wicked will see and be vexed, they will gnash their teeth and waste away;
the longings of the wicked will come to nothing.

Psalm 113

¹Praise the LORD.^a

Praise the LORD, you his servants;
praise the name of the LORD.

²Let the name of the LORD be praised, both now and forevermore.

³From the rising of the sun to the place where it sets, the name of the LORD is to be praised.

⁴The LORD is exalted over all the nations, his glory above the heavens.

⁵Who is like the LORD our God, the One who sits enthroned on high,

⁶who stoops down to look on the heavens and the earth?

⁷He raises the poor from the dust and lifts the needy from the ash heap;

⁸he seats them with princes, with the princes of his people.

⁹He settles the childless woman in her home as a happy mother of children.

Praise the LORD.

Psalm 114

¹When Israel came out of Egypt, Jacob from a people of foreign tongue, ²Judah became God's sanctuary, Israel his dominion.

³The sea looked and fled,
the Jordan turned back;
⁴the mountains leaped like rams, the hills like lambs.

⁵Why was it, sea, that you fled?
Why, Jordan, did you turn back?
⁶Why, mountains, did you leap like rams, you hills, like lambs?

⁷Tremble, earth, at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Jacob,
⁸who turned the rock into a pool, the hard rock into springs of water.

Psalm 115

¹Not to us, LORD, not to us but to your name be the glory, because of your love and faithfulness.

²Why do the nations say,
“Where is their God?”

³Our God is in heaven;
he does whatever pleases him.

⁴But their idols are silver and gold, made by human hands.

⁵They have mouths, but cannot speak, eyes, but cannot see.

⁶They have ears, but cannot hear, noses, but cannot smell.

⁷They have hands, but cannot feel, feet, but cannot walk, nor can they utter a sound with their throats.

⁸Those who make them will be like them, and so will all who trust in them.

⁹All you Israelites, trust in the LORD— he is their help and shield.

¹⁰House of Aaron, trust in the LORD— he is their help and shield.

¹¹You who fear him, trust in the LORD— he is their help and shield.

¹²The LORD remembers us and will bless us: He will bless his people Israel,
he will bless the house of Aaron,

¹³he will bless those who fear the LORD— small and great alike.

¹⁴May the LORD cause you to flourish, both you and your children.

¹⁵May you be blessed by the LORD, the Maker of heaven and earth.

¹⁶The highest heavens belong to the LORD, but the earth he has given to mankind.

¹⁷It is not the dead who praise the LORD, those who go down to the place of silence;

¹⁸it is we who extol the LORD, both now and forevermore.

Praise the LORD.^a

Psalm 116

- ¹I love the LORD, for he heard my voice; he heard my cry for mercy.
²Because he turned his ear to me, I will call on him as long as I live.
- ³The cords of death entangled me, the anguish of the grave came over me;
I was overcome by distress and sorrow.
⁴Then I called on the name of the LORD: "LORD, save me!"
- ⁵The LORD is gracious and righteous; our God is full of compassion.
⁶The LORD protects the unwary; when I was brought low, he saved me.
- ⁷Return to your rest, my soul, for the LORD has been good to you.
- ⁸For you, LORD, have delivered me from death, my eyes from tears,
my feet from stumbling, ⁹that I may walk before the LORD
in the land of the living.
- ¹⁰I trusted in the LORD when I said, "I am greatly afflicted"; ¹¹in my alarm I said,
"Everyone is a liar."
- ¹²What shall I return to the LORD for all his goodness to me?
- ¹³I will lift up the cup of salvation and call on the name of the LORD.
¹⁴I will fulfill my vows to the LORD
in the presence of all his people.
- ¹⁵Precious in the sight of the LORD is the death of his faithful servants.
¹⁶Truly I am your servant, LORD; I serve you just as my mother did;
you have freed me from my chains.
- ¹⁷I will sacrifice a thank offering to you and call on the name of the LORD.

¹⁸I will fulfill my vows to the LORD
in the presence of all his people,

¹⁹in the courts of the house of the LORD— in your midst, Jerusalem.

Praise the LORD.^a

Psalm 117

¹Praise the LORD, all you nations; extol him, all you peoples.

²For great is his love toward us, and the faithfulness of the LORD endures forever.

Praise the LORD.^a

Psalm 118

¹Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good; his love endures forever.

²Let Israel say:

³Let the house of Aaron say:

⁴Let those who fear the LORD say: “His love endures forever.”

⁵When hard pressed, I cried to the LORD; he brought me into a spacious place.

⁶The LORD is with me; I will not be afraid.

What can mere mortals do to me?

⁷The LORD is with me; he is my helper.

I look in triumph on my enemies.

⁸It is better to take refuge in the LORD
than to trust in humans.

⁹It is better to take refuge in the LORD than to trust in princes.

¹⁰All the nations surrounded me, but in the name of the LORD I cut them down.

¹¹They surrounded me on every side, but in the name of the LORD I cut them down.

¹²They swarmed around me like bees, but they were consumed as quickly as burning thorns;
in the name of the LORD I cut them down.

¹³I was pushed back and about to fall, but the LORD helped me.

¹⁴The LORD is my strength and my defense^a; he has become my salvation.

¹⁵Shouts of joy and victory
resound in the tents of the righteous:

“The LORD’s right hand has done mighty things!

¹⁶The LORD’s right hand is lifted high; the LORD’s right hand has done mighty things!”

¹⁷I will not die but live, and will proclaim what the LORD has done.

¹⁸The LORD has chastened me severely, but he has not given me over to death.

¹⁹Open for me the gates of the righteous; I will enter and give thanks to the LORD.

²⁰This is the gate of the LORD through which the righteous may enter.

²¹I will give you thanks, for you answered me; you have become my salvation.

²²The stone the builders rejected has become the cornerstone;

²³the LORD has done this, and it is marvelous in our eyes.

²⁴The LORD has done it this very day; let us rejoice today and be glad.

²⁵LORD, save us!

LORD, grant us success!

²⁶Blessed is he who comes in the name of the LORD.

From the house of the LORD we bless you.^b

²⁷The LORD is God, and he has made his light shine on us.

With boughs in hand, join in the festal procession up^c to the horns of the altar.

²⁸You are my God, and I will praise you; you are my God, and I will exalt you.

²⁹Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good; his love endures forever.

Psalm 126

A song of ascents.

¹When the LORD restored the fortunes of^a Zion, we were like those who dreamed.^b ²Our mouths were filled with laughter, our tongues with songs of joy.

Then it was said among the nations,
“The LORD has done great things for them.”

³The LORD has done great things for us, and we are filled with joy.

⁴Restore our fortunes,^c LORD, like streams in the Negev.

⁵Those who sow with tears will reap with songs of joy.

⁶Those who go out weeping, carrying seed to sow,
will return with songs of joy,
carrying sheaves with them.

Psalm 127

A song of ascents. Of Solomon.

¹Unless the LORD builds the house, the builders labor in vain.
Unless the LORD watches over the city, the guards stand watch in vain. Security Is Found in the Lord, Not in Followers

²In vain you rise early and stay up late,
toiling for food to eat—
for he grants sleep to^a those he loves.

³Children are a heritage from the LORD, offspring a reward from him.

⁴Like arrows in the hands of a warrior are children born in one's youth.

⁵Blessed is the man whose quiver is full of them.
They will not be put to shame
when they contend with their opponents in court.

Psalm 128

A song of ascents.

- ¹Blessed are all who fear the LORD, who walk in obedience to him.
- ²You will eat the fruit of your labor; blessings and prosperity will be yours.
- ³Your wife will be like a fruitful vine within your house;
your children will be like olive shoots around your table.
- ⁴Yes, this will be the blessing for the man who fears the LORD.
- ⁵May the LORD bless you from Zion; may you see the prosperity of Jerusalem
all the days of your life.
- ⁶May you live to see your children's children— peace be on Israel.

Psalm 129

A song of ascents.

¹“They have greatly oppressed me from my youth,”
let Israel say;

²“they have greatly oppressed me from my youth, but they have not gained the victory over me.

³Plowmen have plowed my back and made their furrows long.

⁴But the LORD is righteous; he has cut me free from the cords of the wicked.”

⁵May all who hate Zion be turned back in shame.

⁶May they be like grass on the roof, which withers before it can grow;

⁷a reaper cannot fill his hands with it, nor one who gathers fill his arms.

⁸May those who pass by not say to them, “The blessing of the LORD be on
you;
we bless you in the name of the LORD.”

Psalm 130

A song of ascents.

¹Out of the depths I cry to you, LORD; ²Lord, hear my voice.
Let your ears be attentive to my cry for mercy.

³If you, LORD, kept a record of sins, Lord, who could stand?
⁴But with you there is forgiveness, so that we can, with reverence, serve
you.

⁵I wait for the LORD, my whole being waits, and in his word I put my hope.

⁶I wait for the Lord
more than watchmen wait for the morning,
more than watchmen wait for the morning.

⁷Israel, put your hope in the LORD, for with the LORD is unfailing love and with him is full redemption.

⁸He himself will redeem Israel from all their sins.

Psalm 131

A song of ascents. Of David.

¹My heart is not proud, LORD, my eyes are not haughty;

I do not concern myself with great matters or things too wonderful for me. Balancing Childlike and Childish Styles

²But I have calmed and quieted myself, I am like a weaned child with its mother;

like a weaned child I am content.

³Israel, put your hope in the LORD

both now and forevermore.

Psalm 132

A song of ascents.

- ¹LORD, remember David and all his self-denial.
- ²He swore an oath to the LORD, he made a vow to the Mighty One of Jacob:
- ³“I will not enter my house or go to my bed,
- ⁴I will allow no sleep to my eyes or slumber to my eyelids,
- ⁵till I find a place for the LORD, a dwelling for the Mighty One of Jacob.”
- ⁶We heard it in Ephrathah,
we came upon it in the fields of Jaar:^a
- ⁷“Let us go to his dwelling place, let us worship at his footstool, saying,
- ⁸‘Arise, LORD, and come to your resting place, you and the ark of your might.
- ⁹May your priests be clothed with your righteousness; may your faithful people sing for joy.’ ”
- ¹⁰For the sake of your servant David, do not reject your anointed one.
- ¹¹The LORD swore an oath to David, a sure oath he will not revoke:
“One of your own descendants
I will place on your throne.
- ¹²If your sons keep my covenant and the statutes I teach them, then their sons will sit on your throne for ever and ever.”
- ¹³For the LORD has chosen Zion, he has desired it for his dwelling, saying,
- ¹⁴“This is my resting place for ever and ever; here I will sit enthroned, for I have desired it.
- ¹⁵I will bless her with abundant provisions; her poor I will satisfy with food.
- ¹⁶I will clothe her priests with salvation, and her faithful people will ever sing for joy.

¹⁷“Here I will make a horn^b grow for David and set up a lamp for my anointed one.

¹⁸I will clothe his enemies with shame, but his head will be adorned with a radiant crown.”

Psalm 133

A song of ascents. Of David.

¹How good and pleasant it is when God's people live together in unity!

²It is like precious oil poured on the head, running down on the beard, running down on Aaron's beard, down on the collar of his robe.

³It is as if the dew of Hermon were falling on Mount Zion.
For there the LORD bestows his blessing, even life forevermore.

Psalm 134

A song of ascents.

¹Praise the LORD, all you servants of the LORD who minister by night in the house of the LORD.

²Lift up your hands in the sanctuary and praise the LORD.

³May the LORD bless you from Zion, he who is the Maker of heaven and earth.

Psalm 135

¹Praise the LORD.^a

Praise the name of the LORD;

praise him, you servants of the LORD, ²you who minister in the house of the LORD, in the courts of the house of our God.

³Praise the LORD, for the LORD is good; sing praise to his name, for that is pleasant.

⁴For the LORD has chosen Jacob to be his own, Israel to be his treasured possession.

⁵I know that the LORD is great, that our Lord is greater than all gods.

⁶The LORD does whatever pleases him, in the heavens and on the earth, in the seas and all their depths.

⁷He makes clouds rise from the ends of the earth; he sends lightning with the rain and brings out the wind from his storehouses.

⁸He struck down the firstborn of Egypt, the firstborn of people and animals.

⁹He sent his signs and wonders into your midst, Egypt, against Pharaoh and all his servants.

¹⁰He struck down many nations and killed mighty kings— ¹¹Sihon king of the Amorites, Og king of Bashan, and all the kings of Canaan—

¹²and he gave their land as an inheritance, an inheritance to his people Israel.

¹³Your name, LORD, endures forever, your renown, LORD, through all generations.

¹⁴For the LORD will vindicate his people and have compassion on his servants.

¹⁵The idols of the nations are silver and gold, made by human hands.

¹⁶They have mouths, but cannot speak, eyes, but cannot see.

¹⁷They have ears, but cannot hear, nor is there breath in their mouths.
¹⁸Those who make them will be like them, and so will all who trust in them.

¹⁹All you Israelites, praise the LORD; house of Aaron, praise the LORD;
²⁰house of Levi, praise the LORD; you who fear him, praise the LORD.

²¹Praise be to the LORD from Zion, to him who dwells in Jerusalem.

Praise the LORD.

Psalm 136

¹Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good.

His love endures forever.

²Give thanks to the God of gods.

His love endures forever.

³Give thanks to the Lord of lords: His love endures forever.

⁴to him who alone does great wonders, His love endures forever.

⁵who by his understanding made the heavens, His love endures forever.

⁶who spread out the earth upon the waters, His love endures forever.

⁷who made the great lights— His love endures forever.

⁸the sun to govern the day, His love endures forever.

⁹the moon and stars to govern the night; His love endures forever.

¹⁰to him who struck down the firstborn of Egypt His love endures forever.

¹¹and brought Israel out from among them His love endures forever.

¹²with a mighty hand and outstretched arm; His love endures forever.

¹³to him who divided the Red Sea^a asunder His love endures forever.

¹⁴and brought Israel through the midst of it, His love endures forever.

¹⁵but swept Pharaoh and his army into the Red Sea; His love endures forever.

¹⁶to him who led his people through the wilderness; His love endures forever.

¹⁷to him who struck down great kings, His love endures forever.

¹⁸and killed mighty kings— His love endures forever.

¹⁹Sihon king of the Amorites His love endures forever.

²⁰and Og king of Bashan— His love endures forever.

²¹and gave their land as an inheritance, His love endures forever.

²²an inheritance to his servant Israel.

His love endures forever.

²³He remembered us in our low estate His love endures forever.

²⁴and freed us from our enemies.

His love endures forever.

²⁵He gives food to every creature.

His love endures forever.

²⁶Give thanks to the God of heaven.

His love endures forever.

Psalm 137

¹By the rivers of Babylon we sat and wept when we remembered Zion. Three

Questions for Christian Leaders

²There on the poplars we hung our harps,

³for there our captors asked us for songs, our tormentors demanded songs of joy;

they said, “Sing us one of the songs of Zion!”

⁴How can we sing the songs of the LORD
while in a foreign land?

⁵If I forget you, Jerusalem, may my right hand forget its skill.

⁶May my tongue cling to the roof of my mouth if I do not remember you, if I do not consider Jerusalem
my highest joy.

⁷Remember, LORD, what the Edomites did on the day Jerusalem fell.

“Tear it down,” they cried,

“tear it down to its foundations!”

⁸Daughter Babylon, doomed to destruction, happy is the one who repays
you

according to what you have done to us.

⁹Happy is the one who seizes your infants and dashes them against the rocks.

Psalm 138

Of David.

¹I will praise you, LORD, with all my heart; before the “gods” I will sing your praise.

²I will bow down toward your holy temple and will praise your name for your unfailing love and your faithfulness, for you have so exalted your solemn decree that it surpasses your fame.

³When I called, you answered me; you greatly emboldened me.

⁴May all the kings of the earth praise you, LORD, when they hear what you have decreed.

⁵May they sing of the ways of the LORD, for the glory of the LORD is great.

⁶Though the LORD is exalted, he looks kindly on the lowly; though lofty,
he sees them from afar.

⁷Though I walk in the midst of trouble, you preserve my life.
You stretch out your hand against the anger of my foes;
with your right hand you save me.

⁸The LORD will vindicate me; your love, LORD, endures forever— do not abandon the works of your hands.

Psalm 139

For the director of music. Of David. A psalm.

- ¹You have searched me, LORD, and you know me. A Leader's Relationship with God Shapes His or Her Perspective
- ²You know when I sit and when I rise; you perceive my thoughts from afar.
- ³You discern my going out and my lying down; you are familiar with all my ways.
- ⁴Before a word is on my tongue you, LORD, know it completely.
- ⁵You hem me in behind and before, and you lay your hand upon me.
- ⁶Such knowledge is too wonderful for me, too lofty for me to attain.
- ⁷Where can I go from your Spirit?
Where can I flee from your presence?
- ⁸If I go up to the heavens, you are there; if I make my bed in the depths, you are there.
- ⁹If I rise on the wings of the dawn, if I settle on the far side of the sea,
- ¹⁰even there your hand will guide me, your right hand will hold me fast.
- ¹¹If I say, "Surely the darkness will hide me and the light become night around me,"
- ¹²even the darkness will not be dark to you; the night will shine like the day, for darkness is as light to you.
- ¹³For you created my inmost being; you knit me together in my mother's womb.
- ¹⁴I praise you because I am fearfully and wonderfully made; your works are wonderful,
I know that full well.
- ¹⁵My frame was not hidden from you when I was made in the secret place, when I was woven together in the depths of the earth.
- ¹⁶Your eyes saw my unformed body; all the days ordained for me were written in your book before one of them came to be.

¹⁷How precious to me are your thoughts, ^a God!
How vast is the sum of them!

¹⁸Were I to count them, they would outnumber the grains of sand— when I awake, I am still with you.

¹⁹If only you, God, would slay the wicked!
Away from me, you who are bloodthirsty!

²⁰They speak of you with evil intent; your adversaries misuse your name.

²¹Do I not hate those who hate you, LORD, and abhor those who are in rebellion against you?

²²I have nothing but hatred for them; I count them my enemies.

²³Search me, God, and know my heart; test me and know my anxious thoughts.

²⁴See if there is any offensive way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting.

Psalm 140^a

For the director of music. A psalm of David.

¹Rescue me, LORD, from evildoers; protect me from the violent,
²who devise evil plans in their hearts and stir up war every day.
³They make their tongues as sharp as a serpent's; the poison of vipers is on their lips.^b

⁴Keep me safe, LORD, from the hands of the wicked; protect me from the violent,
who devise ways to trip my feet.
⁵The arrogant have hidden a snare for me; they have spread out the cords of their net
and have set traps for me along my path.

⁶I say to the LORD, "You are my God."
Hear, LORD, my cry for mercy.
⁷Sovereign LORD, my strong deliverer, you shield my head in the day of battle.
⁸Do not grant the wicked their desires, LORD; do not let their plans succeed.

⁹Those who surround me proudly rear their heads; may the mischief of their lips engulf them.
¹⁰May burning coals fall on them; may they be thrown into the fire, into miry pits, never to rise.
¹¹May slanderers not be established in the land; may disaster hunt down the violent.

¹²I know that the LORD secures justice for the poor and upholds the cause of the needy.
¹³Surely the righteous will praise your name, and the upright will live in your presence.

Psalm 141

A psalm of David.

- ¹I call to you, LORD, come quickly to me; hear me when I call to you.
- ²May my prayer be set before you like incense; may the lifting up of my hands be like the evening sacrifice.
- ³Set a guard over my mouth, LORD; keep watch over the door of my lips.
- ⁴Do not let my heart be drawn to what is evil so that I take part in wicked deeds along with those who are evildoers;
do not let me eat their delicacies.
- ⁵Let a righteous man strike me—that is a kindness; let him rebuke me—that is oil on my head.
My head will not refuse it, for my prayer will still be against the deeds of evildoers.
- ⁶Their rulers will be thrown down from the cliffs, and the wicked will learn that my words were well spoken.
- ⁷They will say, “As one plows and breaks up the earth, so our bones have been scattered at the mouth of the grave.”
- ⁸But my eyes are fixed on you, Sovereign LORD; in you I take refuge—do not give me over to death.
- ⁹Keep me safe from the traps set by evildoers, from the snares they have laid for me.
- ¹⁰Let the wicked fall into their own nets, while I pass by in safety.

Psalm 142^a

A maskil^b of David. When he was in the cave. A prayer.

¹I cry aloud to the LORD; I lift up my voice to the LORD for mercy.

²I pour out before him my complaint; before him I tell my trouble.

³When my spirit grows faint within me, it is you who watch over my way.
In the path where I walk people have hidden a snare for me.

⁴Look and see, there is no one at my right hand; no one is concerned for me.
I have no refuge;
no one cares for my life.

⁵I cry to you, LORD; I say, “You are my refuge, my portion in the land of the living.”

⁶Listen to my cry, for I am in desperate need;
rescue me from those who pursue me,
for they are too strong for me.

⁷Set me free from my prison, that I may praise your name.
Then the righteous will gather about me because of your goodness to me.

Psalm 143

A psalm of David.

¹LORD, hear my prayer, listen to my cry for mercy;

in your faithfulness and righteousness come to my relief.

²Do not bring your servant into judgment, for no one living is righteous before you.

³The enemy pursues me, he crushes me to the ground;
he makes me dwell in the darkness like those long dead.

⁴So my spirit grows faint within me; my heart within me is dismayed.

⁵I remember the days of long ago; I meditate on all your works and consider what your hands have done.

⁶I spread out my hands to you; I thirst for you like a parched land. ^a ⁷Answer me quickly, LORD; my spirit fails.

Do not hide your face from me or I will be like those who go down to the pit.

⁸Let the morning bring me word of your unfailing love, for I have put my trust in you.

Show me the way I should go,
for to you I entrust my life.

⁹Rescue me from my enemies, LORD, for I hide myself in you.

¹⁰Teach me to do your will, for you are my God;

may your good Spirit lead me on level ground.

¹¹For your name's sake, LORD, preserve my life; in your righteousness, bring me out of trouble.

¹²In your unfailing love, silence my enemies; destroy all my foes, for I am your servant.

Psalm 144

Of David.

¹Praise be to the LORD my Rock, who trains my hands for war, my fingers for battle.

²He is my loving God and my fortress, my stronghold and my deliverer, my shield, in whom I take refuge, who subdues peoples^a under me.

³LORD, what are human beings that you care for them, mere mortals that you think of them?

⁴They are like a breath; their days are like a fleeting shadow.

⁵Part your heavens, LORD, and come down; touch the mountains, so that they smoke.

⁶Send forth lightning and scatter the enemy; shoot your arrows and rout them.

⁷Reach down your hand from on high; deliver me and rescue me from the mighty waters,

from the hands of foreigners
⁸whose mouths are full of lies, whose right hands are deceitful.
⁹I will sing a new song to you, my God; on the ten-stringed lyre I will make music to you,
¹⁰to the One who gives victory to kings, who delivers his servant David.

From the deadly sword ¹¹deliver me; rescue me from the hands of foreigners whose mouths are full of lies, whose right hands are deceitful.

¹²Then our sons in their youth will be like well-nurtured plants, and our daughters will be like pillars carved to adorn a palace.

¹³Our barns will be filled with every kind of provision.

Our sheep will increase by thousands,
by tens of thousands in our fields;

¹⁴our oxen will draw heavy loads.^b

There will be no breaching of walls,
no going into captivity,
no cry of distress in our streets.

¹⁵Blessed is the people of whom this is true; blessed is the people whose God is the LORD.

Psalm 145^a

A psalm of praise. Of David.

¹I will exalt you, my God the King; I will praise your name for ever and ever.

²Every day I will praise you and extol your name for ever and ever.

³Great is the LORD and most worthy of praise; his greatness no one can fathom.

⁴One generation commends your works to another; they tell of your mighty acts.

⁵They speak of the glorious splendor of your majesty— and I will meditate on your wonderful works.^b

⁶They tell of the power of your awesome works— and I will proclaim your great deeds.

⁷They celebrate your abundant goodness and joyfully sing of your righteousness.

⁸The LORD is gracious and compassionate, slow to anger and rich in love.
Commitment Comes Before Provision

⁹The LORD is good to all; he has compassion on all he has made.

¹⁰All your works praise you, LORD; your faithful people extol you.

¹¹They tell of the glory of your kingdom and speak of your might,

¹²so that all people may know of your mighty acts and the glorious splendor of your kingdom.

¹³Your kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and your dominion endures through all generations.

The LORD is trustworthy in all he promises and faithful in all he does.^c ¹⁴The LORD upholds all who fall and lifts up all who are bowed down.

¹⁵The eyes of all look to you, and you give them their food at the proper time.

¹⁶You open your hand and satisfy the desires of every living thing.

¹⁷The LORD is righteous in all his ways and faithful in all he does.

¹⁸The LORD is near to all who call on him, to all who call on him in truth.

¹⁹He fulfills the desires of those who fear him; he hears their cry and saves them.

²⁰The LORD watches over all who love him, but all the wicked he will destroy.

²¹My mouth will speak in praise of the LORD.

Let every creature praise his holy name for ever and ever.

Psalm 146

¹Praise the LORD.^a

Praise the LORD, my soul.

²I will praise the LORD all my life; I will sing praise to my God as long as I live.

³Do not put your trust in princes, in human beings, who cannot save.

⁴When their spirit departs, they return to the ground; on that very day their plans come to nothing.

⁵Blessed are those whose help is the God of Jacob, whose hope is in the LORD their God.

⁶He is the Maker of heaven and earth, the sea, and everything in them— he remains faithful forever.

⁷He upholds the cause of the oppressed and gives food to the hungry.
The LORD sets prisoners free,

⁸the LORD gives sight to the blind, the LORD lifts up those who are bowed down, the LORD loves the righteous.

⁹The LORD watches over the foreigner and sustains the fatherless and the widow, but he frustrates the ways of the wicked.

¹⁰The LORD reigns forever, your God, O Zion, for all generations.

Praise the LORD.

Psalm 147

¹Praise the LORD.^a

How good it is to sing praises to our God, how pleasant and fitting to praise him!

²The LORD builds up Jerusalem; he gathers the exiles of Israel.

³He heals the brokenhearted and binds up their wounds.

⁴He determines the number of the stars and calls them each by name.

⁵Great is our Lord and mighty in power; his understanding has no limit.

⁶The LORD sustains the humble but casts the wicked to the ground.

⁷Sing to the LORD with grateful praise; make music to our God on the harp.

⁸He covers the sky with clouds; he supplies the earth with rain and makes grass grow on the hills.

⁹He provides food for the cattle and for the young ravens when they call.

¹⁰His pleasure is not in the strength of the horse, nor his delight in the legs of the warrior;

¹¹the LORD delights in those who fear him, who put their hope in his unfailing love.

¹²Extol the LORD, Jerusalem; praise your God, Zion.

¹³He strengthens the bars of your gates and blesses your people within you.

¹⁴He grants peace to your borders and satisfies you with the finest of wheat.

¹⁵He sends his command to the earth; his word runs swiftly.

¹⁶He spreads the snow like wool and scatters the frost like ashes.

¹⁷He hurls down his hail like pebbles.

Who can withstand his icy blast?

¹⁸He sends his word and melts them; he stirs up his breezes, and the waters flow.

¹⁹He has revealed his word to Jacob, his laws and decrees to Israel.

²⁰He has done this for no other nation; they do not know his laws.^b

Praise the LORD.

Psalm 148

¹Praise the LORD.^a

Praise the LORD from the heavens; praise him in the heights above.

²Praise him, all his angels; praise him, all his heavenly hosts.

³Praise him, sun and moon; praise him, all you shining stars.

⁴Praise him, you highest heavens and you waters above the skies.

⁵Let them praise the name of the LORD, for at his command they were created, ⁶and he established them for ever and ever— he issued a decree that will never pass away.

⁷Praise the LORD from the earth, you great sea creatures and all ocean depths, ⁸lightning and hail, snow and clouds, stormy winds that do his bidding,

⁹you mountains and all hills, fruit trees and all cedars,

¹⁰wild animals and all cattle, small creatures and flying birds,

¹¹kings of the earth and all nations, you princes and all rulers on earth,

¹²young men and women, old men and children.

¹³Let them praise the name of the LORD, for his name alone is exalted; his splendor is above the earth and the heavens.

¹⁴And he has raised up for his people a horn,^b
the praise of all his faithful servants, of Israel, the people close to his heart.

Praise the LORD.

Psalm 149

¹Praise the LORD.^a

Sing to the LORD a new song, his praise in the assembly of his faithful people.

²Let Israel rejoice in their Maker; let the people of Zion be glad in their King.

³Let them praise his name with dancing and make music to him with timbrel and harp.

⁴For the LORD takes delight in his people; he crowns the humble with victory.

⁵Let his faithful people rejoice in this honor and sing for joy on their beds.

⁶May the praise of God be in their mouths and a double-edged sword in their hands,

⁷to inflict vengeance on the nations and punishment on the peoples,

⁸to bind their kings with fetters, their nobles with shackles of iron, ⁹to carry out the sentence written against them— this is the glory of all his faithful people.

Praise the LORD.

Psalm 150

¹Praise the LORD.^a

Praise God in his sanctuary;
praise him in his mighty heavens.

²Praise him for his acts of power; praise him for his surpassing greatness.

³Praise him with the sounding of the trumpet, praise him with the harp and lyre, ⁴praise him with timbrel and dancing, praise him with the strings and pipe, ⁵praise him with the clash of cymbals, praise him with resounding cymbals.

⁶Let everything that has breath praise the LORD.

Praise the LORD.

The Law of the Inner Circle: Be Careful Where You Get Your Counsel

Psalm 1:1–3

The brilliant first psalm contrasts the righteous and the wicked. Leaders, take note, for the difference between the two seems to be where they get their counsel! Observe how a foolish leader can be led astray by a corrupt inner circle:

1. The leader begins to browse for the wrong counsel (v. 1).
2. The leader begins to listen to the wrong voices (v. 1).
3. The leader joins the wrong inner circle (v. 1).

Psalm 1:2 tells us that a wise leader meditates on God's Word day and night. To meditate means to examine, to experience, and to evaluate. Note the results of receiving counsel from the right inner circle:

1. Stability (v. 3)
2. Inward nourishment and refreshment (v. 3)
3. Fruitfulness and productivity (v. 3)
4. Strength and durability (v. 3)
5. Success (v. 3)

The Leader's Humanity: Don't Hide It

Psalm 6:1–10

David was a “man after [God's] own heart” (Ac 13:22), but he never hesitated to reveal his emotions or his weakness. Even as king of Israel, he declared his fears, his anxieties and his ambitions. Good leaders know how to balance transparency with being an example. Good leaders feel secure enough to be vulnerable.

Identity: A Balanced Perspective of God's Role and the Leader's Role

Psalm 8:3–9

Have you ever asked, “When does a leader's confidence become arrogance? How self-assured should I be as a leader? What does humility look like in a leader's life?”

Psalm 8 answers those questions. This passage shows leaders how to balance their identity with their self-esteem. Consider how David perceives his identity and maintains both confidence and humility:

1. David sees clearly his own weakness and humanity (vv. 3–4).

David begins by asking a question: “Why does God even give any thought to me?” he realizes that in the sweep of the galaxy, man accounts for only a very small part. Remembering this helps us to remain humble.

2. David sees his God-given position and privileges (vv. 5–8).

David knows that God has made humankind a little lower than himself. The Lord put men and women in charge of the whole earth and gave them authority over creation.

3. David sees a balance by giving all the glory to God (v. 9).

David closes the psalm the way he began. He magnifies the Lord and gives him the credit for the good that has come from his life and leadership.

Value-Driven Leadership

Psalm 15:1–5

What qualities should every leader possess? Psalm 15 furnishes us with a list of many of the necessary traits.

David describes a righteous man who walks in integrity and gains not only the respect of others, but also an audience with God (Ps 15:1–2). He demonstrates why predetermined values and ethics, not expediency, must drive our leadership. How does David picture a godly leader? The leader . . .

- possesses integrity (v. 2)
- does what is right (v. 2)
- is honest and trustworthy (v. 2)
- does not gossip (v. 3)
- does not listen to gossip (v. 3)
- does no harm to others (v. 3)
- speaks out against wrong (v. 4)
- honors others who walk in truth (v. 4)

God: An Absolute Leader in a Relative World

Psalm 18:1–34

God is an absolute in a relative world. So how can leaders learn to rely on him? Psalm 18 gives some answers.

David not only models what it means to be a leader, but also how to lean completely on the God who transcends the universe and judges it. Human leaders can find refuge in God's absolute leadership for two reasons:

1. The Lord is a mighty Protector.
2. The Lord is an effective Equipper.

Psalm 18:1–29 describes the tangible benefits of living according to this truth. When leaders adopt it, they can perform beyond their abilities. Why? Because God enables them to do so. The psalmist declares that God “teaches” or “trains” their hands for battle (18:34). Leaders are to emulate both roles, in addition to several others pictured throughout the psalms:

1. The leader as a king (20:9)
2. The leader as a shepherd (23:1)
3. The leader as a guide/counselor (48:14)
4. The leader as a disciplinarian (50:16–21)
5. The leader as a provider (72:6)
6. The leader as a creator/innovator (95:5)
7. The leader as a worker/producer (107:37)

Leaders Communicate

Psalm 19:1–14

God is not only the Ultimate Leader, but the Ultimate Communicator. The creation declares God's power and glory (Ps 19:1–6). The Law declares God's wisdom and will (19:7–14). God precisely reveals his message to his followers through both. Three simple verses (19:7–9) declare the results of this ultimate communication:

God's Revelation

1. His Law
2. Testimony
3. Statutes
4. Commandments
5. Fear and reverence
6. Judgments

Description

1. Perfect
2. Sure
3. Right
4. Pure
5. Clean
6. True

The Results

1. Restores the soul
2. Makes us wise
3. Gives joy to the heart
4. Enlightens our perception
5. Endures forever
6. Completely right

The Leader and Stress

Psalm 23:1–6

Have you discovered the difference between problems and facts? Problems are things we can do something about; we can solve problems. Facts are things we can do nothing about; therefore we do well not to worry about them. We apply energy only to those things we can change. We can feel peace and act with poise, because we no longer beat our heads against an unbreakable wall.

Psalm 23 reminds us of what God alone can control and what we can control. It distinguishes between problems and facts. It defines God as . . .

- our possession (v. 1)
- our provision (v. 1)
- our peace (v. 2)
- our pardon (v. 3)
- our partner (v. 4)
- our preparation (v. 5)
- our praise (v. 5)
- our paradise (v. 6)

The Leader as a Shepherd

No psalm has gained more admirers than Psalm 23. In it, we learn not only about God's nature, but also about his leadership. David describes the Lord as a Shepherd, no doubt seeing him this way because of his own leadership bias. David also had been a model shepherd.

Both Old and New Testaments use the term "shepherd" to illustrate leadership. The word communicates the love, nurture, intimacy and spiritual care a godly leader provides. It involves both the rod (correction) and the staff (direction). Psalm 23 describes the Ultimate Shepherd performing several functions. The Shepherd . . .

- provides (v. 1)
- gives rest (v. 2)
- confidently leads (v. 3)
- renews and restores (v. 3)
- guides and directs (v. 3)
- protects (v. 4)
- corrects and comforts (v. 4)

- feeds and anoints (v. 5)
- loves (v. 6)
- furnishes permanent shelter (v. 6)

Guidance: Leaders Are Not Perfect, but Whole

Psalm 32:8

God does not expect leaders to be perfect, but to be whole. Have you appreciated the enormous difference? To have integrity means to be whole, as in a whole number (an “integer”). Despite his or her human frailties, a leader can effectively guide those who follow.

Psalm 32:8 reminds us that leaders must closely observe the flock for its needs and problems. God expects spiritual leaders to serve as guides. A guide gets a person or group safely to a planned destination. The Hebrew word for “guide” gives us several clues as to what God expects from those he uses as leaders:

1. A guide is a spiritual head who unites and directs people in their walk with God.
2. A guide takes people on the straight path that leads to fellowship with God.
3. A guide gives accurate and godly counsel to those who need it.
4. A guide leads with gentleness and trustworthiness, making others feel safe.
5. A guide bases his or her direction on the Spirit and the Word of God.

The Law of Intuition: David Makes Decisions Wisely

Is one of these gaps stopping you from growing spiritually?

Go to the Index of Leadership Articles.

The Law of Intentionality

Psalm 37:3–9

Do you ever feel as though you need a therapist? If so, then Psalm 37 is for you.

David writes as a counselor, providing wise steps to take as you face crises and decisions. Whenever you feel the pressure of competition in the market, the compulsion to perform, or to compare your lot with other leaders, pause and remember these words. David brings eternal perspective and long-term vision that prevents mistakes in short-term decisions:

1. Trust in the Lord and do good; do what is right despite what others do (v. 3).
2. Cultivate faithfulness and don't move too quickly; don't rush anything (v. 3).
3. Prioritize God and his values; he will reward and satisfy you in the end (v. 4).
4. Commit your plans to him and trust him; the results are in his hand (v. 5).
5. Be quiet and patient; perspective comes when we grow still and think (v. 7).
6. Don't fret or compare; such anxiety always gives bad motivation (v. 7).
7. Refuse to get angry at competition; anger does not bring the results you desire (v. 8).
8. Put your hope in the Lord; ultimately, he will guide and use your decision (v. 9).

The Law of Timing: Leaders Value Time, They Don't Kill It

Psalm 39:4–5

Like Moses in Psalm 90, David shows his mindfulness of his brief time on earth. He asks God to help him number his days (Ps 39:4–5), which ought to be the prayer of every leader. Wise leaders work to redeem the time they have (Eph 5:16–17).

Management expert Peter Drucker identified this leadership principle: He said that good leaders need to regard first of all not their task, but their time.

A leader needs to wonder if the task is worth the time investment. What would happen if the leader wasn't the one doing it? Would there be someone else who could do it just as well, and for whom the task would be time better spent?

A good leader knows that time is like gold, and good “spending habits” are essential. It's just that in this case the units are minutes, not dollars.

If you don't know where your time goes—that's a danger signal. If you can save small bits of time and consolidate them into a chunk of time that can be spent on something worthwhile—that's like “found money.”

If leaders can number their minutes and hours, “numbering their days” will be easier.

PROFILE in Leadership

David: Trusting in God Alone

Psalm 40:1–17

King David knew something about suffering, particularly suffering caused by his own actions. But he also knew to whom he could turn during those times of trouble. This “man after [God’s] own heart” (Ac 13:22) made it a point to seek the Lord in difficult days and to make the news of God’s goodness known to everyone who would listen.

David knew that God would always remain faithful to himself and to his holy nature—even when David acted unfaithfully. David knew that at just the right time, God would deliver him from despair. He knew the freedom and security that come from trusting in God alone as his deliverer.

What great comfort and joy come to us when we understand that God is rich in grace and mercy, that he not only forgives, but restores and redeems! The Lord lifts us up from our personal pits of despair and puts us in right standing with him.

David was far from a perfect man, but he understood something all godly leaders must grasp: When times of trouble arrive—even trouble we bring on ourselves—we must turn to God and wait patiently for his help. He’ll never fail us. Remember these truths about the God you serve, then proclaim them to everyone who will hear.

The Law of the Picture: Leaders Can’t Lead Further Than Their Own Life

Psalm 42:1–11

In Psalm 42, we see a leader who is dry and thirsty. This leader is experiencing a wilderness period, as every leader does at some point. Nothing seems to be exciting or motivating. In verses 2–4, the writer seems to be saying, “I used to lead the people in a parade to God, and now I can’t even find him myself!” Fortunately, this leader recaptures his perspective in verse 5. He begins to tell himself the truth. In the final verse, he concludes that God will prevail.

What I love about this psalm is its humanity. This leader realizes that he cannot lead people any further than where he himself stands. He refuses to fake it. He doesn’t want to pretend all is well. So before he attempts to lead anyone again, he cries out to God for renewal. Leaders who understand the Law of the Picture are like that:

1. They are honest with themselves about their state.
2. They cry out to God for renewal.
3. They refuse to fake it; they want to model the truth for others.
4. They tell themselves the truth about the future.

The Law of Priorities: When Activity Becomes Achievement

Psalm 49:12–17

God encourages us to fix our eyes on the things that endure. In light of eternity, leaders cannot become consumed with the temporary. Leaders cannot allow the pursuit of wealth or power to move them (Ps 49:12–13). Only a vision that outlives them, a vision connected to eternity, will fulfill a godly leader.

In other words, we must build a legacy. What are we going to leave behind when we die? Psalm 49:17 reminds us we will take nothing with us, no matter how rich we become. So what will we leave behind that counts?

A huge difference exists between a legacy and an inheritance. Anyone can leave an inheritance. An inheritance is something you leave to your family or loved ones, and it also fades. A legacy is something you leave in your family and loved ones. Consider the differences between the two:

Inheritance

1. Something tangible you give to others
2. Temporarily brings them happiness
3. Eventually fades as it is spent
4. Your activity may or may not pay off

Legacy

1. Something tangible you place in others
2. Permanently transforms them
3. Lives on long after you die
4. Your activity becomes achievement

The Law of Solid Ground: David Faces His Sin, Remains King

Psalm 51:3–4

David wrote Psalm 51 shortly after he committed adultery with Bathsheba (2Sa 11:1–12:15). When Nathan confronted him about his sin, the king fell to the floor and wept in bitter repentance. He publicly sought restoration as a king and as a spiritual man, as this great psalm demonstrates. Because of his repentant heart, God allowed him to remain in office until he died.

Why, then, are some leaders removed from office when they fail morally? Why could David remain king? The answer may lie in the Law of Solid Ground. David practiced this law and maintained his trust in God. Those who do not repent after some failure—or who do so only for public show—often lose their positions. Some sins no doubt disqualify leaders from continuing in leadership, but more fail in leadership from their deceptions than from their mistakes. History teaches that the public usually forgives a leader who owns up to his mistakes, but refuses to forgive those who remain unrepentant.

Mistakes don't have to prove fatal; we all make them. But when a leader deceives the people and loses their trust, they will no longer follow him or her.

Leaders Practice Telling Themselves the Truth

Psalm 57:1–11

Psalm 57 gives us a beautiful picture of a leader in touch with his humanity. David composed it as he fled from Saul in the mountains and caves of Israel. The psalm expresses anxiety and fear, yet it ends with triumph: “Be exalted, O God, above the heavens; let your glory be over all the earth” (Ps 57:11).

Author Philip Yancey suggests that David wrote and sang the psalms as therapy for himself. Somehow, telling himself the truth enabled him to rise above his fear and see a transcendent God who remained in control.

Fortunately, few of us live with such danger. Like David, however, we all have times when nerves fail and fear creeps in. We feel surrounded by adversaries. Telling ourselves the truth, as David did, will heal and comfort us, as it did him. The truth of Psalm 57 can serve as our counselor. Successful leaders tell themselves the truth and gain perspective in the midst of volatile emotions.

The Law of Intuition: Vision for the World Drives God’s Leaders

Psalm 67:1–7

God’s blessings follow leaders who adopt his vision for the nations of the world.

Psalm 67 contains both the “top line” and the “bottom line” of the covenant God invites us to enter. The top line represents God’s blessings for his people; the bottom line represents the natural response to that blessing. When God blesses us, we are to turn around and bless all the unblessed nations of the earth.

Psalm 67:1 asks God to be gracious, to bless, and to make his face to shine upon his people (the top line of the covenant). Verse 2 says, “That your ways may be known on earth, your salvation among all nations” (the bottom line of the covenant). The last two verses of the psalm reiterate the top and bottom lines.

God blesses his people so that they can bless those who have yet to be blessed. Godly leaders feel driven by this vision. Maintenance is not the goal. Getting blessed is not the goal. The top line represents only half of the deal; the goal is to participate in the bottom line. World conquest motivates God’s heart, and he accomplishes this mission through leaders who cast vision for participating in bottom-line living.

Vision: The Difference Between Followers and Leaders

Psalm 73:1–17

Skill and Competence: Eleven Keys to Excellence

Psalm 78:72

David's leadership succeeded through a two-sided coin: His hands and his heart, or outward skill and inward integrity. Every great spiritual leader must have this combination. David's excellent leadership combined both heart and art. To have one without the other leads to failure.

Consider the following list of 11 keys to excellence, aimed at helping us to develop our leadership skills today. Leaders must . . .

- first value excellence
- not settle for average
- pay attention to detail
- remain committed to what really matters
- display integrity and sound ethics
- show genuine respect for others
- go the second mile
- demonstrate consistency
- never stop improving
- always give 100%
- make excellence a lifestyle

The Law of Influence: Measuring Your Leadership

Psalm 82:1–8

Many passages in Scripture declare God to be the Ultimate Judge (Ps. 7:8; 9:8; 10:18; 26:1; Pr 31:9; Isa 1:17; etc.). A judge brings justice to bear, punishing the criminal and rewarding the righteous.

But before the final day of judgment, God uses his leaders to vindicate his people and urge the wicked to repent. God has entrusted his leaders with the gospel of Jesus Christ, through which men can be delivered from final judgment. Listen to the Lord's promise to his people: "I will restore your leaders as in days of old" (Isa 1:26). Spiritual leaders are to take this task seriously and to use their influence to promote justice. This differentiates true judges from false judges:

True Judges

1. Chosen and appointed by God (Dt 16:18)
2. Responsible for certain areas (2Ch 19:5)
3. Righteous and trustworthy (Dt 16:18)

False Judges

1. Rule by their own power (Jer 5:30–31)
2. Lead others astray (Mic 3:5)
3. Irresponsible, selfish (Mic 3:1–2)

The Fruit That Comes from God's Anointing

Psalm 89:19–29

All leaders should seek the anointing of God. They need to be empowered by the hand of God, and show evidence of this by leading in a way far superior to what they could have achieved on their own.

What does God promise leaders anointed by his Spirit?

1. God's help (v. 19)
2. Being called God's servant (v. 20)
3. God's strength (v. 21)
4. God's hand with them (v. 21)
5. Freedom from affliction (v. 22)
6. Freedom from deception (v. 22)
7. Victory over the enemy (v. 23)
8. God's faithfulness and kindness (v. 24)
9. Influence in the world (v. 25)
10. God's saving power (v. 26)
11. A Father-son relationship (v. 26)
12. Exaltation and authority (vv. 27–29)
13. Partaking of the covenant (v. 28)
14. Promise of descendants (v. 29)

Leaders Manage Their Time and Do More with Less

Psalm 90:12, 17

Moses had seen a generation squander 40 years in the wilderness. He believed that if leaders could only gain a keen sense of the swift passage of time, and if they would work for something significant, they could die with a great sense of satisfaction. Leaders don't kill time, they execute it.

The Leader's Refuge

Psalm 91:1–16

We discover one of the most comforting chapters in the Bible in Psalm 91. It describes the security believers can enjoy through faith in God. Leaders can especially benefit from this set of promises. Study them and enjoy them:

Promise

1. God's presence (vv. 1–2)
2. God's protection (vv. 3–4)
3. God's peace (vv. 5–6)
4. God's perspective (vv. 7–10)
5. God's provision (vv. 11–13)
6. God's power (vv. 14–16)

Leader's Benefit

1. It doesn't have to be lonely at the top.
2. As you take initiative and risks, God keeps you safe.
3. You don't have to feel insecure in unknown territory.
4. God gives an eternal view of life that keeps you steady.
5. Regardless of your needs, God meets them.
6. In adversity, God delivers and helps you reach your goal.

How God Raises a Leader

Psalm 103:1–5

The benefits of trusting the Lord listed in this text correspond to the stages God uses in building someone into a healthy, spiritual leader. The psalmist lists the benefits in this order:

1. God pardons (v. 3)—Leaders must put their past shame or blame behind them.
2. God heals (v. 3)—They must become healthy and be liberated from old wounds.
3. God redeems (v. 4)—They see their abilities and personality redeemed.
4. God crowns (v. 4)—They are crowned with gifts and a place to serve.
5. God satisfies (v. 5)—They feel satisfied and fulfilled as they live out their role.

Natural Leadership vs. Spiritual Leadership

Psalm 103:13–18

Good leaders remember where they came from and who their source is—a memory that separates spiritual leaders from natural leaders.

God leads his people more like a parent than a boss. He maintains a vision of the big picture and sticks with the right priorities. While natural leaders display obvious leadership abilities, they often drift from this style of leadership. They tend to lean more on their gifts than on God. Consider the differences between the two types of leaders:

Natural Leader

1. Self-confident
2. Knows men
3. Makes own decisions
4. Ambitious
5. Originates own methods
6. Enjoys commanding others
7. Motivated by self-interest
8. Independent
9. Gets power through personality
10. Cowboy driving the herd

Spiritual Leader

1. Confident in God (Ps 56:9; 118:6)
2. Knows God (Jn 10:14)
3. Seeks to find God's will (Ro 12:2; Eph 5:17)
4. Self-sacrificing (Mt 20:25–28; Lk 9:23)
5. Finds and follows God's methods (Ps 40:8; 143:10)
6. Servant of all (Mk 10:42–45)
7. Motivated by love for God and man (1Jn 4:7–21)
8. God-dependent (Isa 42:1; Jn 15:5)
9. Empowered by the Holy Spirit (Ac 1:8)
10. Shepherd leading the flock (1Pe 5:2–3)

Leaders Are Stewards, Not Owners

Psalm 104:1–5

The earth belongs to the Lord, not to humankind. Therefore, leaders should never act as if they own the place. While we can feel confident of our mission, we must remember we are stewards, not owners. We simply manage what he has established, based on his values and vision.

Leaders Cannot Show the Way Until They Know the Way

Psalm 119:1–176

The longest psalm in the Bible is a song about the priority of the Word of God. For 176 verses, Psalm 119 holds high the words and wisdom of God and convinces us to treasure it more than anything else in life.

Why is this challenge so crucial for us? Leaders in our world face two realities:

1. Change happens faster than ever, so leaders must remain adaptable.
2. We need timeless values more than ever, so leaders must remain principle-driven.

Psalm 119 provides a roadmap for getting the wisdom, values and principles we need to lead effectively. Consider what Psalm 119 teaches about adopting God's Word as our source for leadership principles. Our leadership will . . .

- be blessed (vv. 1–2)
- remain pure and ethical (vv. 9–11)
- be strengthened and revitalized (vv. 28, 149, 154–159)
- insightfully answer criticism (v. 42)
- enjoy liberty (v. 45)
- gain wise counsel when needed (v. 66)
- remain steady even when afflicted (vv. 67–72, 92)
- display more insight than our teachers (vv. 99–100)
- be enlightened and intuitive (vv. 105, 130)
- have a reliable guide even for new issues (vv. 129, 160)
- enjoy inward peace and poise (v. 165)
- get divine help (vv. 173–175)

Security Is Found in the Lord, Not in Followers

Psalm 127:1 says it all. Unless God remains at the center of your efforts, you labor in vain.

Whether we lead in the military, in construction, or sit behind a desk, we cannot fight, build, or plan well enough to gain anything permanent. Smart leaders not only include God in their strategy, they place him at its center. He alone can provide leaders with security; we cannot get it from followers. Consider the following list of rules regarding security and people:

1. People cannot provide permanent security for a leader.
2. Leaders should never put their emotional health in the hands of someone else.
3. Spiritual and emotional health requires the truth.
4. Leaders must remember that hurting people naturally hurt people.
5. Trouble arises when leaders depend on people to do what only God can do.

Balancing Childlike and Childish Styles

Psalm 131:1–3

The Christian leader is mature enough to not act childish, yet remains trusting enough to stay childlike. David describes himself as a “weaned child” (Ps 131:2)—not a helpless baby, but neither a self-sufficient maverick. He must trust his mother for help and strength. This illustrates the balance of spiritual maturity.

Three Questions for Christian Leaders

Psalm 137:1–6

Three great issues erupt from the lyrics of this psalm: the writer dreams, the writer cries, and the writer sings.

No wonder the people wept—the Jews had been taken from Israel against their will and exiled to Babylon. No wonder they sang—they could not forget Zion, the land of their birth. No wonder they dreamed—they hoped and prayed for the day of their return home.

These issues pose great questions for every leader:

1. What do you dream about?

The psalmist remembered Zion; he longed to live again in his homeland. What are the dreams of your heart? What would you do if you had no fear of failure?

2. What do you cry about?

The psalmist cried about living in Babylon; he wept over the captivity of his people. What makes you cry? What burdens drive you to become passionate?

3. What do you sing about?

The psalmist sang about the blessings of God; he sang his remembrances of God’s justice. What do you sing about? What causes you to rejoice or express joy?

A Leader’s Relationship with God Shapes His or Her Perspective

Psalm 139:1–24

Talk about seeing the big picture! In this psalm David explores the depths of God’s omniscience, omnipotence and omnipresence.

David’s dynamic and intimate relationship with God shapes his perspective on life. The king of Israel knew he wasn't alone. He rejoiced that he could draw upon God's infinite wisdom, that he could never run from God or his justice, and that he could count on God's power whenever he needed it. The leader of Israel had a Leader himself, named Yahweh. Ponder the benefits of an intimate relationship with God as Leader:

1. God knows our every thought, every word and every move (vv. 1–6).
2. God directs us, no matter where we go (vv. 7–10).
3. God knows no hopeless or helpless situations (vv. 11–12).
4. God formed every complex detail of our bodies, minds and spirits (vv. 13–16).
5. God constantly thinks of us and is concerned with the details of our lives (vv. 17–18).
6. God searches our hearts and will purify our motives (vv. 23–24).

Commitment Comes Before Provision

Psalm 145:8–20

If Psalm 145 communicates just one message, it is that God deserves our unconditional commitment. David praises God for his goodness and his provisions. But he also makes it clear that leaders must walk in reckless abandon to the ways of God.

Once leaders make a commitment, they find that God provides the people, resources and strategy necessary to fulfill their dream. In one sense, God enters a partnership with his leaders and promises to fulfill his role as we fulfill ours:

God's Role: Provision (vv. 8–17)

1. He is gracious and merciful.
2. His acts are mighty.
3. His kingdom is everlasting.
4. His dominion endures through all generations.
5. He satisfies our desires.
6. He is righteous and kind in all his ways.

Our Role: Commitment (vv. 18–20)

1. To those who call upon him.
2. To those who fear him.
3. To those who love him.

Introduction to Proverbs

Principles for Guiding One's Life

A vast amount of leadership wisdom lies within the 31 chapters of Proverbs. Its excellent principles for guiding one's life come to us in the form of poetry, like the Psalms. But where Psalms portrays the relationships and emotions of a leader, Proverbs displays the principles, values and intellect of a leader. The Law of Navigation, the Law of Solid Ground and the Law of Intuition surface repeatedly in this book.

Proverbs is all about the mind of a leader, how a leader thinks. Who would dispute that leaders think differently from followers? Good leaders see things before followers do; they see beyond what followers do; and they see bigger than followers do. While followers may barely feel able to see and plan beyond next week, leaders must think, envision, and plan well into the future.

Fuller Seminary professor Bobby Clinton has said, "The primary difference between a follower and a leader is perspective. The primary difference between a leader and an effective leader is better perspective." Both leaders and followers can have strong character. Both can possess warm relational skills. Both can even have a strong personality and a strong will. What separates them is how they think and perceive reality.

Because the Scripture teaches that we were all made to rule (Ge 1:26–28), everyone possesses the capacity to raise their level of leadership ability. Each of us can improve the way we influence others. We must, however, begin with our perspective—and that is what makes the book of Proverbs so profound. It is a book about improving the way we think and therefore act. It is a book about raising the "lid" on our leadership ability—first by the way we lead our own lives, then by the way we lead others.

In this book you will encounter wisdom principles that appear so simple, yet are tremendously deep and profound. Soak in every verse through the eyes of a leader. The wisdom lies in front of every one of us, "she raises her voice in the public square," longing to be noticed (1:20–23). Embrace the disciplines and the character that Solomon suggests, and you will be on your way to transforming your leadership.

God's Role in Proverbs

God is the ultimate source of wisdom and of life itself. He mentors leaders who seek wisdom for their decision making. Proverbs paints a picture of wisdom as a person calling out for listeners, but finding few. God is also the divine Parent disciplining his children. He furnishes words of correction and guidance, again beseeching us to listen. Finally, this book presents God as the divine Preacher or Teacher. He contrasts the diligent and the sluggard, the good and the wicked, the wise and the foolish. The axioms flow off his tongue, teaching the student how the Master thinks and acts.

Proverbs 1

Purpose and Theme

¹The proverbs of Solomon son of David, king of Israel:

²for gaining wisdom and instruction; for understanding words of insight;

³for receiving instruction in prudent behavior, doing what is right and just and fair;

⁴for giving prudence to those who are simple,^a knowledge and discretion to the young—

⁵let the wise listen and add to their learning, and let the discerning get guidance
— ⁶for understanding proverbs and parables, the sayings and riddles of the wise.^b

⁷The fear of the LORD is the beginning of knowledge, but fools^c despise wisdom and instruction. Decision Making: The Fast Way to Gain Leadership

Prologue: Exhortations to Embrace Wisdom

Warning Against the Invitation of Sinful Men

⁸Listen, my son, to your father's instruction and do not forsake your mother's teaching.

⁹They are a garland to grace your head and a chain to adorn your neck.

¹⁰My son, if sinful men entice you, do not give in to them.

¹¹If they say, "Come along with us; let's lie in wait for innocent blood, let's ambush some harmless soul;

¹²let's swallow them alive, like the grave, and whole, like those who go down to the pit;

¹³we will get all sorts of valuable things and fill our houses with plunder;

¹⁴cast lots with us;
we will all share the loot"—

¹⁵my son, do not go along with them, do not set foot on their paths;

¹⁶for their feet rush into evil, they are swift to shed blood.

¹⁷How useless to spread a net where every bird can see it!

- ¹⁸These men lie in wait for their own blood; they ambush only themselves!
¹⁹Such are the paths of all who go after ill-gotten gain; it takes away the life of those who get it.

Wisdom's Rebuke

- ²⁰Out in the open wisdom calls aloud, she raises her voice in the public square;
²¹on top of the wall^d she cries out, at the city gate she makes her speech:
- ²²“How long will you who are simple love your simple ways?
How long will mockers delight in mockery and fools hate knowledge?
²³Repent at my rebuke!
Then I will pour out my thoughts to you,
I will make known to you my teachings.
- ²⁴But since you refuse to listen when I call and no one pays attention when I stretch out my hand,
²⁵since you disregard all my advice and do not accept my rebuke, ²⁶I in turn will laugh when disaster strikes you; I will mock when calamity overtakes you— ²⁷when calamity overtakes you like a storm, when disaster sweeps over you like a whirlwind,
when distress and trouble overwhelm you.
- ²⁸“Then they will call to me but I will not answer; they will look for me but will not find me,
²⁹since they hated knowledge and did not choose to fear the LORD.
³⁰Since they would not accept my advice and spurned my rebuke, ³¹they will eat the fruit of their ways and be filled with the fruit of their schemes.
- ³²For the waywardness of the simple will kill them, and the complacency of fools will destroy them; ³³but whoever listens to me will live in safety and be at ease, without fear of harm.”

Proverbs 2

Moral Benefits of Wisdom

¹My son, if you accept my words and store up my commands within you,

Desire: What Separates Leaders from Followers

²turning your ear to wisdom and applying your heart to understanding—

³indeed, if you call out for insight and cry aloud for understanding,

⁴and if you look for it as for silver and search for it as for hidden treasure,

⁵then you will understand the fear of the LORD and find the knowledge of God.

⁶For the LORD gives wisdom; from his mouth come knowledge and understanding.

⁷He holds success in store for the upright, he is a shield to those whose walk is blameless, ⁸for he guards the course of the just and protects the way of his faithful ones.

⁹Then you will understand what is right and just and fair—every good path.

¹⁰For wisdom will enter your heart, and knowledge will be pleasant to your soul.

¹¹Discretion will protect you, and understanding will guard you.

¹²Wisdom will save you from the ways of wicked men, from men whose words are perverse, ¹³who have left the straight paths to walk in dark ways,

¹⁴who delight in doing wrong and rejoice in the perverseness of evil,

¹⁵whose paths are crooked and who are devious in their ways.

¹⁶Wisdom will save you also from the adulterous woman, from the wayward woman with her seductive words,

¹⁷who has left the partner of her youth and ignored the covenant she made before God.^a ¹⁸Surely her house leads down to death and her paths to the spirits of the dead.

¹⁹None who go to her return or attain the paths of life.

²⁰Thus you will walk in the ways of the good and keep to the paths of the righteous.

²¹For the upright will live in the land, and the blameless will remain in it;

²²but the wicked will be cut off from the land, and the unfaithful will be torn from it.

Proverbs 3

Wisdom Bestows Well-Being

¹My son, do not forget my teaching, but keep my commands in your heart, ²for they will prolong your life many years and bring you peace and prosperity.

³Let love and faithfulness never leave you; bind them around your neck, write them on the tablet of your heart.

⁴Then you will win favor and a good name in the sight of God and man.

⁵Trust in the LORD with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; The Irony of Spiritual Leadership: Get Understanding but Don't Lean On It

⁶in all your ways submit to him, and he will make your paths straight.^a ⁷Do not be wise in your own eyes; fear the LORD and shun evil.

⁸This will bring health to your body and nourishment to your bones.

⁹Honor the LORD with your wealth, with the firstfruits of all your crops;

¹⁰then your barns will be filled to overflowing, and your vats will brim over with new wine.

¹¹My son, do not despise the LORD's discipline, and do not resent his rebuke,

¹²because the LORD disciplines those he loves, as a father the son he delights in.^b

¹³Blessed are those who find wisdom, those who gain understanding,

¹⁴for she is more profitable than silver and yields better returns than gold.

¹⁵She is more precious than rubies; nothing you desire can compare with her.

¹⁷Her ways are pleasant ways, and all her paths are peace.

¹⁸She is a tree of life to those who take hold of her; those who hold her fast will be blessed.

- ¹⁹By wisdom the LORD laid the earth's foundations, by understanding he set the heavens in place;
²⁰by his knowledge the watery depths were divided, and the clouds let drop the dew.
- ²¹My son, do not let wisdom and understanding out of your sight, preserve sound judgment and discretion;
²²they will be life for you, an ornament to grace your neck.
²³Then you will go on your way in safety, and your foot will not stumble.
²⁴When you lie down, you will not be afraid; when you lie down, your sleep will be sweet.
²⁵Have no fear of sudden disaster or of the ruin that overtakes the wicked, ²⁶for the LORD will be at your side and will keep your foot from being snared.
- ²⁷Do not withhold good from those to whom it is due, when it is in your power to act.
²⁸Do not say to your neighbor, "Come back tomorrow and I'll give it to you"—when you already have it with you.
²⁹Do not plot harm against your neighbor, who lives trustfully near you.
³⁰Do not accuse anyone for no reason—when they have done you no harm.
- ³¹Do not envy the violent or choose any of their ways.
- ³²For the LORD detests the perverse but takes the upright into his confidence.
- ³³The LORD's curse is on the house of the wicked, but he blesses the home of the righteous.
- ³⁴He mocks proud mockers
but shows favor to the humble and oppressed.
- ³⁵The wise inherit honor,
but fools get only shame.

Proverbs 4

Get Wisdom at Any Cost

- ¹Listen, my sons, to a father's instruction; pay attention and gain understanding.
- ²I give you sound learning, so do not forsake my teaching.
- ³For I too was a son to my father, still tender, and cherished by my mother.
- ⁴Then he taught me, and he said to me, "Take hold of my words with all your heart;
keep my commands, and you will live.
- ⁵Get wisdom, get understanding; do not forget my words or turn away from them.
- ⁶Do not forsake wisdom, and she will protect you; love her, and she will watch over you.
- ⁷The beginning of wisdom is this: Get^a wisdom.
Though it cost all you have,^b get understanding.
- ⁸Cherish her, and she will exalt you; embrace her, and she will honor you.
- ⁹She will give you a garland to grace your head and present you with a glorious crown."
- ¹⁰Listen, my son, accept what I say, and the years of your life will be many.
- ¹¹I instruct you in the way of wisdom and lead you along straight paths.
- ¹²When you walk, your steps will not be hampered; when you run, you will not stumble.
- ¹³Hold on to instruction, do not let it go; guard it well, for it is your life.
- ¹⁴Do not set foot on the path of the wicked or walk in the way of evildoers.
- ¹⁵Avoid it, do not travel on it; turn from it and go on your way.
- ¹⁶For they cannot rest until they do evil; they are robbed of sleep till they make someone stumble.
- ¹⁷They eat the bread of wickedness and drink the wine of violence.
- ¹⁸The path of the righteous is like the morning sun, shining ever brighter till the full light of day.
- ¹⁹But the way of the wicked is like deep darkness; they do not know what makes them stumble.
- ²⁰My son, pay attention to what I say; turn your ear to my words. Principle-Centered Leadership

- ²¹Do not let them out of your sight, keep them within your heart;
²²for they are life to those who find them and health to one's whole body.
²³Above all else, guard your heart, for everything you do flows from it.
²⁴Keep your mouth free of perversity; keep corrupt talk far from your lips.
²⁵Let your eyes look straight ahead; fix your gaze directly before you.
²⁶Give careful thought to the^c paths for your feet and be steadfast in all your ways.
²⁷Do not turn to the right or the left; keep your foot from evil.

Proverbs 5

Warning Against Adultery

¹My son, pay attention to my wisdom, turn your ear to my words of insight, ²that you may maintain discretion and your lips may preserve knowledge.

³For the lips of the adulterous woman drip honey, and her speech is smoother than oil; PROFILE in Leadership: Solomon: It Is More Blessed to Follow Good Advice
Than to Give It Moral Failure: Disciplines Prevent Nightmares

⁴but in the end she is bitter as gall, sharp as a double-edged sword.

⁵Her feet go down to death; her steps lead straight to the grave.

⁶She gives no thought to the way of life; her paths wander aimlessly, but she does not know it.

⁷Now then, my sons, listen to me; do not turn aside from what I say.

⁸Keep to a path far from her, do not go near the door of her house,

⁹lest you lose your honor to others and your dignity^a to one who is cruel, ¹⁰lest strangers feast on your wealth and your toil enrich the house of another.

¹¹At the end of your life you will groan, when your flesh and body are spent.

¹²You will say, “How I hated discipline!
How my heart spurned correction!

¹³I would not obey my teachers or turn my ear to my instructors.

¹⁴And I was soon in serious trouble in the assembly of God’s people.”

¹⁵Drink water from your own cistern, running water from your own well.

¹⁶Should your springs overflow in the streets, your streams of water in the public squares?

¹⁷Let them be yours alone, never to be shared with strangers.

¹⁸May your fountain be blessed, and may you rejoice in the wife of your youth.

¹⁹A loving doe, a graceful deer— may her breasts satisfy you always, may you ever be intoxicated with her love.

²⁰Why, my son, be intoxicated with another man’s wife?
Why embrace the bosom of a wayward woman?

²¹For your ways are in full view of the LORD, and he examines all your paths.

²²The evil deeds of the wicked ensnare them; the cords of their sins hold them fast.

²³For lack of discipline they will die, led astray by their own great folly.

Proverbs 6

Warnings Against Folly

¹My son, if you have put up security for your neighbor, if you have shaken hands in pledge for a stranger, ²you have been trapped by what you said, ensnared by the words of your mouth.

³So do this, my son, to free yourself, since you have fallen into your neighbor's hands:

Go—to the point of exhaustion—^a and give your neighbor no rest!

⁴Allow no sleep to your eyes, no slumber to your eyelids.

⁵Free yourself, like a gazelle from the hand of the hunter, like a bird from the snare of the fowler.

⁶Go to the ant, you sluggard; consider its ways and be wise! Leadership Lessons from

the Ant PROFILE in Leadership: The Sluggard: Worthless to the Kingdom

⁷It has no commander,
no overseer or ruler,

⁸yet it stores its provisions in summer and gathers its food at harvest.

⁹How long will you lie there, you sluggard?
When will you get up from your sleep?

¹⁰A little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to rest— ¹¹and poverty will come on you like a thief and scarcity like an armed man.

¹²A troublemaker and a villain, who goes about with a corrupt mouth,

¹³who winks maliciously with his eye, signals with his feet and motions with his fingers,

¹⁴who plots evil with deceit in his heart— he always stirs up conflict.

¹⁵Therefore disaster will overtake him in an instant; he will suddenly be destroyed—without remedy.

¹⁶There are six things the LORD hates, seven that are detestable to him:

¹⁷haughty eyes,
a lying tongue,
hands that shed innocent blood,

¹⁸a heart that devises wicked schemes, feet that are quick to rush into evil,

¹⁹a false witness who pours out lies and a person who stirs up conflict in the community.

Warning Against Adultery

²⁰My son, keep your father's command and do not forsake your mother's teaching.

²¹Bind them always on your heart; fasten them around your neck.

²²When you walk, they will guide you; when you sleep, they will watch over you;

when you awake, they will speak to you.

²³For this command is a lamp, this teaching is a light,

- and correction and instruction
are the way to life,
- ²⁴keeping you from your neighbor's wife, from the smooth talk of a wayward woman.
- ²⁵Do not lust in your heart after her beauty or let her captivate you with her eyes.
- ²⁶For a prostitute can be had for a loaf of bread, but another man's wife preys on your very life.
- ²⁷Can a man scoop fire into his lap without his clothes being burned?
- ²⁸Can a man walk on hot coals without his feet being scorched?
- ²⁹So is he who sleeps with another man's wife; no one who touches her will go unpunished.
- ³⁰People do not despise a thief if he steals to satisfy his hunger when he is starving.
- ³¹Yet if he is caught, he must pay sevenfold, though it costs him all the wealth of his house.
- ³²But a man who commits adultery has no sense; whoever does so destroys himself.
- ³³Blows and disgrace are his lot, and his shame will never be wiped away.
- ³⁴For jealousy arouses a husband's fury, and he will show no mercy when he takes revenge.
- ³⁵He will not accept any compensation; he will refuse a bribe, however great it is.

Proverbs 7

Warning Against the Adulterous Woman

- ¹My son, keep my words and store up my commands within you.
- ²Keep my commands and you will live; guard my teachings as the apple of your eye.
- ³Bind them on your fingers; write them on the tablet of your heart.
- ⁴Say to wisdom, "You are my sister," and to insight, "You are my relative."
- ⁵They will keep you from the adulterous woman, from the wayward woman with her seductive words.
- ⁶At the window of my house I looked down through the lattice.
- ⁷I saw among the simple,
I noticed among the young men,
a youth who had no sense.
- ⁸He was going down the street near her corner, walking along in the direction of her house
- ⁹at twilight, as the day was fading, as the dark of night set in.
- ¹⁰Then out came a woman to meet him, dressed like a prostitute and with crafty intent.
- ¹¹(She is unruly and defiant, her feet never stay at home; ¹²now in the street, now in the squares, at every corner she lurks.)
- ¹³She took hold of him and kissed him and with a brazen face she said:
- ¹⁴"Today I fulfilled my vows, and I have food from my fellowship offering at home.
- ¹⁵So I came out to meet you; I looked for you and have found you!
- ¹⁶I have covered my bed with colored linens from Egypt.
- ¹⁷I have perfumed my bed with myrrh, aloes and cinnamon.
- ¹⁸Come, let's drink deeply of love till morning; let's enjoy ourselves with love!
- ¹⁹My husband is not at home; he has gone on a long journey.
- ²⁰He took his purse filled with money and will not be home till full moon."

²¹With persuasive words she led him astray; she seduced him with her smooth talk.

²²All at once he followed her like an ox going to the slaughter, like a deer^a stepping into a noose^b

²³till an arrow pierces his liver, like a bird darting into a snare, little knowing it will cost him his life.

²⁴Now then, my sons, listen to me; pay attention to what I say.

²⁵Do not let your heart turn to her ways or stray into her paths.

²⁶Many are the victims she has brought down; her slain are a mighty throng.

²⁷Her house is a highway to the grave, leading down to the chambers of death.

Proverbs 8

Wisdom's Call

¹Does not wisdom call out?

Does not understanding raise her voice?

²At the highest point along the way, where the paths meet, she takes her stand;

³beside the gate leading into the city, at the entrance, she cries aloud:

⁴“To you, O people, I call out; I raise my voice to all mankind.

⁵You who are simple, gain prudence; you who are foolish, set your hearts on it.^a ⁶Listen, for I have trustworthy things to say; I open my lips to speak what is right.

⁷My mouth speaks what is true, for my lips detest wickedness.

⁸All the words of my mouth are just; none of them is crooked or perverse.

⁹To the discerning all of them are right; they are upright to those who have found knowledge.

¹⁰Choose my instruction instead of silver, knowledge rather than choice gold, ¹¹for wisdom is more precious than rubies, and nothing you desire can compare with her.

¹²“I, wisdom, dwell together with prudence; I possess knowledge and discretion.

¹³To fear the LORD is to hate evil; I hate pride and arrogance, evil behavior and perverse speech.

¹⁴Counsel and sound judgment are mine; I have insight, I have power.

¹⁵By me kings reign and rulers issue decrees that are just; The Law of Intuition: Wisdom Makes the Difference

¹⁶by me princes govern, and nobles—all who rule on earth.^b

¹⁷I love those who love me, and those who seek me find me.

¹⁸With me are riches and honor, enduring wealth and prosperity.

¹⁹My fruit is better than fine gold; what I yield surpasses choice silver.
²⁰I walk in the way of righteousness, along the paths of justice, ²¹bestowing a rich inheritance on those who love me and making their treasuries full.

²²“The LORD brought me forth as the first of his works,^{c,d} before his deeds of old;
²³I was formed long ages ago, at the very beginning, when the world came to be.
²⁴When there were no watery depths, I was given birth, when there were no springs overflowing with water; ²⁵before the mountains were settled in place, before the hills, I was given birth,
²⁶before he made the world or its fields or any of the dust of the earth.
²⁷I was there when he set the heavens in place, when he marked out the horizon on the face of the deep, ²⁸when he established the clouds above and fixed securely the fountains of
the deep,
²⁹when he gave the sea its boundary so the waters would not overstep his command,
and when he marked out the foundations of the earth.
³⁰Then I was constantly^e at his side.
I was filled with delight day after day, rejoicing always in his presence, ³¹rejoicing in his whole world and delighting in mankind.

³²“Now then, my children, listen to me; blessed are those who keep my ways.
³³Listen to my instruction and be wise; do not disregard it.
³⁴Blessed are those who listen to me, watching daily at my doors, waiting at my doorway.
³⁵For those who find me find life and receive favor from the LORD.
³⁶But those who fail to find me harm themselves; all who hate me love death.”

Proverbs 9

Invitations of Wisdom and Folly

¹Wisdom has built her house; she has set up^a its seven pillars.

²She has prepared her meat and mixed her wine; she has also set her table.

³She has sent out her servants, and she calls from the highest point of the city,

⁴“Let all who are simple come to my house!”

To those who have no sense she says,

⁵“Come, eat my food and drink the wine I have mixed.

⁶Leave your simple ways and you will live; walk in the way of insight.”

⁷Whoever corrects a mocker invites insults; whoever rebukes the wicked incurs abuse.

⁸Do not rebuke mockers or they will hate you; rebuke the wise and they will love you.

⁹Instruct the wise and they will be wiser still; teach the righteous and they will add to their learning.

¹⁰The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom, and knowledge of the Holy One is understanding.

¹¹For through wisdom^b your days will be many, and years will be added to your life.

¹²If you are wise, your wisdom will reward you; if you are a mocker, you alone will suffer.

¹³Folly is an unruly woman; she is simple and knows nothing.

¹⁴She sits at the door of her house, on a seat at the highest point of the city,

¹⁵calling out to those who pass by, who go straight on their way,

¹⁶“Let all who are simple come to my house!”

To those who have no sense she says,

¹⁷“Stolen water is sweet; food eaten in secret is delicious!”

¹⁸But little do they know that the dead are there, that her guests are deep in the realm of the dead.

Proverbs 10

Proverbs of Solomon

¹The proverbs of Solomon:

²⁸The prospect of the righteous is joy, but the hopes of the wicked come to nothing.

²⁰The LORD detests those whose hearts are perverse, but he delights in those whose ways are blameless.

²¹Be sure of this: The wicked will not go unpunished, but those who are righteous will go free.

²²Like a gold ring in a pig's snout is a beautiful woman who shows no discretion.

²³The desire of the righteous ends only in good, but the hope of the wicked only in wrath.

Sayings of Agur

¹The sayings of Agur son of Jakeh—an inspired utterance.

This man's utterance to Ithiel:

"I am weary, God,
but I can prevail.^a

²Surely I am only a brute, not a man; I do not have human understanding.

³I have not learned wisdom, nor have I attained to the knowledge of the Holy One.

⁴Who has gone up to heaven and come down?

Whose hands have gathered up the wind?

Who has wrapped up the waters in a cloak?

Who has established all the ends of the earth?

What is his name, and what is the name of his son?

Surely you know!

⁵"Every word of God is flawless; he is a shield to those who take refuge in
him.

⁶Do not add to his words,
or he will rebuke you and prove you a liar.

⁷"Two things I ask of you, LORD; do not refuse me before I die:

⁸Keep falsehood and lies far from me; give me neither poverty nor riches, but give me only my daily bread.

⁹Otherwise, I may have too much and disown you and say, 'Who is the LORD?'

Or I may become poor and steal, and so dishonor the name of my God.

¹⁰"Do not slander a servant to their master, or they will curse you, and you will pay for it.

¹¹"There are those who curse their fathers and do not bless their mothers;

¹²those who are pure in their own eyes and yet are not cleansed of their filth;

¹³those whose eyes are ever so haughty, whose glances are so disdainful;

¹⁴those whose teeth are swords and whose jaws are set with knives to devour the poor from the earth and the needy from among mankind.

¹⁵“The leech has two daughters.
‘Give! Give!’ they cry.

“There are three things that are never satisfied, four that never say, ‘Enough!’:

¹⁶the grave, the barren womb, land, which is never satisfied with water, and fire, which never says, ‘Enough!’

¹⁷“The eye that mocks a father, that scorns an aged mother, will be pecked out by the ravens of the valley,
will be eaten by the vultures.

¹⁸“There are three things that are too amazing for me, four that I do not understand:

¹⁹the way of an eagle in the sky, the way of a snake on a rock,
the way of a ship on the high seas,
and the way of a man with a young woman.

²⁰“This is the way of an adulterous woman: She eats and wipes her mouth and says, ‘I’ve done nothing wrong.’

²¹“Under three things the earth trembles, under four it cannot bear up:

²²a servant who becomes king, a godless fool who gets plenty to eat, ²³a contemptible woman who gets married, and a servant who displaces her mistress.

²⁴“Four things on earth are small, yet they are extremely wise:

²⁵Ants are creatures of little strength, yet they store up their food in the summer;

²⁶hyraxes are creatures of little power, yet they make their home in the crag;

²⁷locusts have no king,
yet they advance together in ranks;

²⁸a lizard can be caught with the hand, yet it is found in kings' palaces.

³⁰a lion, mighty among beasts, who retreats before nothing;

³¹a strutting rooster, a he-goat, and a king secure against revolt.^b

³²“If you play the fool and exalt yourself, or if you plan evil, clap your hand over your mouth!

³³For as churning cream produces butter, and as twisting the nose produces blood, so stirring up anger produces strife.”

Sayings of King Lemuel

¹The sayings of King Lemuel—an inspired utterance his mother taught him.

²Listen, my son! Listen, son of my womb!
Listen, my son, the answer to my prayers!

³Do not spend your strength^a on women, your vigor on those who ruin kings.

⁴It is not for kings, Lemuel— it is not for kings to drink wine, not for rulers to crave beer,

⁵lest they drink and forget what has been decreed, and deprive all the oppressed of their rights.

⁶Let beer be for those who are perishing, wine for those who are in anguish!

⁷Let them drink and forget their poverty and remember their misery no more.

⁸Speak up for those who cannot speak for themselves, for the rights of all who are destitute.

⁹Speak up and judge fairly; defend the rights of the poor and needy.

¹²She brings him good, not harm, all the days of her life.

¹³She selects wool and flax and works with eager hands.

¹⁷She sets about her work vigorously; her arms are strong for her tasks.

- ¹⁸She sees that her trading is profitable, and her lamp does not go out at night.

- ²⁸Her children arise and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praises her:
- ²⁹“Many women do noble things, but you surpass them all.”
- ³⁰Charm is deceptive, and beauty is fleeting; but a woman who fears the LORD is to be praised.
- ³¹Honor her for all that her hands have done, and let her works bring her praise at the city gate.

Decision Making: The Fast Way to Gain Leadership

Proverbs 1:7–33

Wisdom can be a leader's best friend, especially in times of decision. Suppose you find yourself in a large committee meeting in which a crucial decision must be made. The committee reaches an impasse and everything stops. Who will become the most influential person in that room? Answer: the one with the wisdom to draw a conclusion that not only works, but which receives the blessing of that committee.

Proverbs 1 describes wisdom as a woman crying out in the streets (v. 20). What a beautiful picture! Wisdom does not hide herself, but shouts publicly! We must go out and find her and build a friendship with her. What can we learn about decision making from Proverbs 1?

1. The foundation for every decision is to honor and revere God (v. 7).
2. We must build off our heritage and conscience: what values are we to embrace? (vv. 8–9).
3. We must avoid the counsel of the ungodly (vv. 10–19).
4. We must pursue wisdom. What are the facts? What are the options? (vv. 20–23).
5. We must move toward inward peace (vv. 32–33).

Desire: What Separates Leaders from Followers

Proverbs 2:1–4

Good leaders seem to know what steps to take into a bright future. But what enables them to know what to do? How do they differ from followers? Proverbs 2 tells us the key difference may be desire. We all must answer three great questions in life:

1. What do we want?
2. Why do we want it?
3. How badly do we want it?

Consider the phrases Proverbs 2 uses to talk about the passionate search for wisdom:

- receive my words (v. 1)
- treasure my commands (v. 1)
- incline your ear to wisdom (v. 2)
- apply your heart to understanding (v. 2)
- cry out for discernment (v. 3)
- lift up your voice for understanding (v. 3)
- seek her as silver (v. 4)
- search for her as for hidden treasure (v. 4)

Good leaders hunt for wisdom as though it were diamonds and rubies. So—what are you searching for?

The Irony of Spiritual Leadership: Get Understanding but Don't Lean On It

Proverbs 3:5–6

Proverbs 2 and 3 poses an apparent paradox in spiritual leadership. We are to get wisdom and understanding (2:1–5), yet we are not to lean on it apart from the Lord (3:5–6). Even good wisdom divorced from God can become a snare. So how are godly leaders to think?

1. Godly leaders think big: They realize God's vision is usually bigger than theirs.
2. Godly leaders think other people: They always include others in the mix.
3. Godly leaders think continually: They're not satisfied with today's answers.
4. Godly leaders think bottom line: They want to see results and fruit.
5. Godly leaders think continual growth: They want to keep improving.
6. Godly leaders think without lines: They let God outside of the box.
7. Godly leaders think victory: They want to see God's rule come to earth.
8. Godly leaders think intuitively: They have a sense of what will work.
9. Godly leaders think servanthood: They want to serve and add value to people.
10. Godly leaders think quickly: They evaluate quickly and see possible answers.

Principle-Centered Leadership

Proverbs 4:20–27

Leaders who last do not merely react to their culture; they base their leadership on timeless and universal principles. They remain relevant because they marry cultural context to timeless truth. Proverbs 4 encourages leaders to become principle centered. Verses 20–27 teach us that God's principles give us three crucial tools:

1. They are a guide; they help us stay on the right path.
2. They are a guard; they keep our hearts and bodies protected.
3. They are a gauge; they enable us to evaluate where we are.

These principles build our character, direct our decisions, and correct our lifestyles. Every leader ought to consume God's Word, then put the truths he or she discovers in the form of principles that can guide, guard and gauge his or her life.

PROFILE in Leadership

Solomon: It Is More Blessed to Follow Good Advice Than to Give It

Proverbs 5:3–21

It doesn't take a leader very long to realize that it's easier to give good advice than to follow it. Solomon proves the point.

This wisest of kings didn't hold back when it came to warning his people against adultery. He tells us repeatedly and with great conviction that only fools fall into adultery. Perhaps he spoke so forcefully after pondering the fate of his own father, David, who brought on himself no end of trouble through his illicit affair with Bathsheba (2Sa 12:10). Solomon therefore counseled other men to stay at home and find contentment with "the wife of your youth" (Pr 5:18). The king knew very well the spiritual issues at stake in marriage, for he declares, "Your ways are in full view of the LORD, and he examines all your paths" (5:21).

And yet, somehow, this same leader failed to heed God's explicit warning against kings taking many wives (Dt 17:17). Solomon blatantly disobeyed this command and married seven hundred women. The result? "His wives turned his heart after other gods, and his heart was not fully devoted to the LORD his God" (1Ki 11:4).

Wise leaders not only give good advice; they heed it. How different the fortunes of Israel might have turned out had Solomon acted on the wisdom he so forcefully expressed to others!

Moral Failure: Disciplines Prevent Nightmares

Proverbs 5:3–23

How many leaders have ruined their lives and damaged the lives of others through immorality? Character has become a crucial issue today precisely because of the myriad leaders in the political, business, and religious worlds who have fallen morally. No doubt spiritual warfare has played a big role in the tens of thousands of leaders who have failed. They fall partly because the enemy has targeted leaders for attack.

Leaders need to remember that they influence many others beyond themselves; they never fall in a vacuum. They also need to realize that replacing fallen leaders is a slow and difficult process.

So how can we guard against falling? First, we must take care not to emphasize the gifts of a leader over his or her character. We have an unhealthy tendency to see and reward the gift more than the character, but both are to be developed. We must strike the following balance if we are to finish well:

WHAT I AM

Humble

WHAT I DO

Rely on God

THE RESULT

God's Power

Visionary

Set Goals

High Morale

Convictional

Do Right

Credibility

Leadership Lessons from the Ant

Proverbs 6:6–8

Do you want to make a difference? Then pay attention to the metaphor of the ant.

It's amazing that one of the smallest of God's creatures can become one of his greatest teachers. The lessons the ant teaches us can be summarized this way:

A—Attitude of Initiative

Ants don't need a commander to tell them to get started.

N—Nature of Integrity

Ants work faithfully and need no outside accountability to keep them doing right.

T—Thirst for Industry

Ants work hard and will replace their anthill when it gets ruined.

S—Source of Insight

Ants store provisions in summer.

If we consider and learn from the ways of the ant, we can grow wise.

PROFILE in Leadership

The Sluggard: Worthless to the Kingdom

Proverbs 6:6, 9–11

King Solomon had plenty to say about the “ sluggard,” or the habitually lazy person. He contrasts the sluggard with the ant, who works diligently during the summer to gather enough food for the winter. In Proverbs 20:4, Solomon describes the sluggard as one who refuses to work hard during the growing season and so has nothing at harvest time. The sluggard makes only one commitment: to his leisure. He’ll try any excuse to shy away from honest labor, even excusing himself through irrational claims of danger (Pr 22:13).

The sluggard in the physical sense does nothing for the world around him; he leaves it unchanged, except for pillaging some of its resources. The sluggard in the spiritual sense is little different; he leaves the world no better than he found it, and perhaps a little poorer. When leaders become lazy and lose their diligence in doing good for God, they become spiritual sluggards and worthless to the kingdom (Mt 5:13).

Wise leaders know their time is limited. They know they have no way to retrieve misused or wasted time. Jesus stressed this when he said, “As long as it is day, we must do the works of him who sent me. Night is coming, when no one can work” (Jn 9:4). Leaders in the body of Christ must remain diligent in doing good and in encouraging others to do likewise.

The Law of Intuition: Wisdom Makes the Difference

Proverbs 8:15–16

Leadership begins with our thoughts even before our actions. When our mind and our attitudes are right, we position ourselves to lead well. Wisdom desires to be the best friend of any leader. Wise leaders also have discernment in relationships, a hatred for what is wrong, and influence.

The Law of Influence: Leaders Must Have a Skillful Tongue

Proverbs 10:6–32

A number of verses in Proverbs speak of the tongue and how to use it as a positive influence. Leaders who use words skillfully increase their influence. Leaders who understand the power of their words accomplish the following:

1. They proclaim justice and are blessed (v. 6).
2. They speak hope for the future, becoming a fountain of life to others (v. 11).
3. They speak forth wisdom and save others from ruin (vv. 13–14).
4. They know when silence is more powerful than words (v. 19).
5. Their words feed and nourish many others (v. 21).
6. They express what is right and nurture the right in the hearts of those who follow (vv. 31–32).

The Law of the Inner Circle: Your Advisors Will Make or Break You

Proverbs 11:14

Every leader ought to build an inner circle that adds value to him or her and to the leadership of the organization. But choose well, for the members of this inner circle will become your closest confidantes; your inner circle will make you or break you.

Proverbs 11:14 says, “For lack of guidance a nation falls, but victory is won through many advisers.” So who belongs in this inner circle? Strive for the following:

1. Creative people
2. Loyal people
3. People who share your vision
4. Wise and intelligent people
5. People with complementary gifts
6. People with influence
7. People of faith
8. People of integrity

Effective Leadership Invites Partnerships

Proverbs 13:20

You become like those with whom you partner. Choose your partners for many of the same reasons a leader chooses his or her inner circle. Choose those who add value to you and can benefit from you. Both leaders and organizations should see improvement for having entered into partnership.

Master Communication and You Manage Conflict

Proverbs 15:1–7

God rightly expects leaders to manage conflict within their organizations. But how can you best accomplish this?

A good place to start is Proverbs 15:1—yet while we often quote this verse, we seldom practice it. Sometimes only the leaders are given liberty to express anger, and sooner or later this kind of unhealthy environment comes back to haunt them. Leaders must create safe places for communication. Master communication and you manage conflict. Look at the first seven verses of Proverbs 15 and note its counsel about managing conflict:

1. Remain calm and gentle when confronting conflict, and your example will become contagious (v. 1).
2. Speak wisely, making sure your information is truthful and accurate (v. 2).
3. Remember, God is the ultimate Judge and will execute justice (v. 3).
4. Use your words to foster healing; fix the problem, not the blame (v. 4).
5. Stay teachable; be open to correction and quick to apologize when wrong (v. 5).
6. Add value to everyone who contacts you, even when you disagree (v. 6).
7. Speak words that spread knowledge and understanding (v. 7).

The Law of Navigation

Proverbs 16:1–3

Effective leaders practice the Law of Navigation. Proverbs 16 opens with these words: “To humans belong the plans of the heart, but from the LORD comes the proper answer of the tongue. All a person's ways seem pure to them, but motives are weighed by the LORD. Commit to the LORD whatever you do, and he will establish your plans" (vv. 1–3).

These verses teach us to:

- check the source of our wisdom
- check our motives
- check the outcome we are pursuing

Consider five key words to understanding how God helps leaders to navigate their way through life:

1. Process: God's plan usually unfolds over time. What is he revealing progressively?
2. Purpose: God wants to accomplish his purposes. Why were you created?
3. Potential: God will use your gifts and passion. Does this goal fit who you are?
4. Prioritize: God will ask you to adjust your time and energy. What steps must you take?
5. Proceed: God will eventually require you to act. When should you start?

It's Not About Position, but Empowerment

Proverbs 17:2

Our influence has less to do with our position or title than it does with the life we live. It's not about position, but production. It is not the education we get, but the empowerment we give, that makes a difference to others.

The key word is credibility. We gain credibility when our life matches our talk and when both add value to others. In the words of Proverbs 17:2, it's better to be a wise slave than a foolish son. Answer the following vital questions:

1. Consistency: Are you the same person no matter who's with you?
2. Choices: Do you make decisions based on how they benefit you or others?
3. Credit: Are you quick to recognize others for their efforts when you succeed?
4. Character: Do you work harder at your image or your integrity?
5. Credibility: Have you recognized that credibility is a victory, not a gift?

The Law of Influence: The Evolution of Leadership

Proverbs 18:21

Few muscles in a body wield more power than the little one inside the mouth. The Bible says, "The tongue has the power of life and death, and those who love it will eat its fruit" (Pr 18:21). Leaders who understand this greatly increase their influence.

Our understanding of leadership has evolved over the last five or six decades. The way people expect leaders to lead has changed. Many have said our culture has witnessed four styles of leadership since 1950:

1. The Military Commander: Leaders came out of the army and expected unquestioning obedience from subordinates. Many of our presidents had military backgrounds.
2. The Chief Executive Officer: Most leaders migrated to a different style driven by vision and shared by everyone. Yet it was still top down and possibly very narrow in scope.
3. The Coach: Leaders moved toward a coach model where they saw employees as players on a team. This produced even better results, but still limited the possibilities to the vision of the coach.
4. The Poet and Gardener: Today, leaders see the need to express the heart of the team, as a poet gives words to the heart of readers. They develop players using encouragement and direction. They recognize the power of words and use them wisely.

Leaders Know the Difference

Proverbs 21:1

Leaders can and should make their plans, but they must never forget that it is God who controls the future. “In the LORD’s hand the king’s heart is a stream of water that he channels toward all who please him,” says Proverbs 21:1. Successful leaders remember this and therefore know the difference between being in charge and being in control.

We kid ourselves if we think we are in control. We may have charge of a group, but the best we can do is remain under control. God is the Ultimate Leader, and he is forever in control. It has been rightly said: “We don’t know what the future holds, but we do know the One who holds the future.”

Leading Our Children

Proverbs 22:6

God calls parents to lead their children. He tells them that if they start off a child in the way they should go, when they are old they will not turn from it (Pr 22:6). And just how does a parent become a good leader for a child? Partly by focusing on three key words:

1. Modeling: Abraham Lincoln said, “There is but one way to train up a child in the way he should go, and that is to travel it yourself.” A good example is worth a thousand sermons. What you do has more impact on your child than all the lectures you could ever give.
2. Management: Good management is the ability to discern the uniqueness of a child and teach him or her accordingly. We are to train up a child in the way he should go. This may mean we will have to adapt our style, depending on the child's temperament and wiring.

3. Memories: Parents should create memories. Why? Because memories are more important than things. Note that the verse says, "When they are old, they will not turn . . ." This implies that the child retains some memories of his early experiences and embraces them later in life.

Vision: Hope for a Preferred Future

Proverbs 23:7–19

Leaders understand the importance of their minds to the future of their organizations. Consider some of the timeless principles offered in Proverbs 23 about our minds and a godly vision for tomorrow:

1. Your thoughts determine your character (v. 7).
2. Be careful of your thoughts; they may break into words at any time (v. 7).
3. Don't waste your thoughts on those who don't hunger for them (v. 9).
4. The first person you lead is you, and the first organ you master is your mind (v. 12).
5. Don't let your mind drift away from God's truth and into vain envy (v. 17).
6. Stay confident that your vision will come to pass (v. 18).
7. Discipline your thoughts to remain steadfast in what you know is right (v. 19).

Situational Leaders: Read the Need, Then Lead

Proverbs 25:21–22

Leaders need to respond to individuals based on their needs rather than their faults. Proverbs 25:21–22 encourages us to see what others need—even our enemies—and respond accordingly.

Good leaders do this well. They don't lead out of a predetermined package of behaviors, but size up every situation and discern what must happen to reach the desired goal. Like a quarterback who reads the defense, then calls an audible from the line of scrimmage, good leaders remain flexible and may change their response, based not on what a person deserves, but on what they need to succeed. Good leaders follow this path in difficult situations:

1. They need: They aren't afraid to admit they need to listen and get understanding.
2. They read: They evaluate what has happened and what steps are best to take.
3. They feed: They communicate what they've observed to key players.
4. They heed: They act on the basis of their discovery, even if it means change.
5. They lead: They provide direction to those involved.

The Law of Addition: When People Are Esteemed, Relationships Are Redeemed

Proverbs 27:1–21

Leaders understand that people represent an organization's most appreciable asset. No resource is more valuable than people. Therefore, people skills represent a leader's most important attribute. Wise leaders practice the Law of Addition: Leaders add value to an organization by serving their people.

This text presents some fundamentals on relationships. It teaches that if people are esteemed, relationships are redeemed. Leaders can learn at least the following principles from this chapter:

1. Don't brag (vv. 1–2)—Leaders understand how little they get from self-promotion.
2. Don't envy (v. 4)—Leaders sabotage themselves if their motive is to keep up with others.
3. Be forthright (vv. 5–6)—Leaders don't fear confrontation, but speak the truth in love.
4. Don't forsake your roots (v. 8)—Leaders understand the power of relational heritage.
5. Stay close (vv. 9–10)—Leaders work at maintaining relationships and meeting needs.
6. Add value (v. 17)—Leaders sharpen those with whom they come in contact.
7. Don't be moved by flattery (v. 21)—Stay humble or you will stumble.

The Law of the Picture: The Leader Causes People to Thrive or Groan

Proverbs 29:2–18

People reflect their leader. We cannot expect followers to grow beyond their leader. We cannot expect followers to turn out fundamentally different from their leader. People feel attracted to leaders like them; they also reflect those who lead them. Consider what Proverbs 29 tells us about the influence of good and bad leaders:

1. Attitudes (v. 2)
When good leaders rule, people rejoice; when the wicked reign, people groan.
2. Stability (v. 4)
When moral leaders rule, they establish justice; compromising leaders tear things down.
3. Compassion (v. 7)
Good leaders express concern for the poor; bad leaders reflect no compassion for anyone.
4. Honesty (v. 12)
When leaders pay attention to lies, their staff begins to esteem the same deceptions.
5. Vision (v. 18)
Solid vision keeps everyone on track; chaos reigns wherever the vision lapses.

A Woman of Influence

Proverbs 31:10–31

Proverbs 31 no doubt gets more airtime on Mother's Day than any other passage of Scripture. The majority of the proverb describes a virtuous woman who leads her home with integrity, discipline, and giftedness. This wife and mother is a leader not because she tries to be one, but because of who she is.

Her Assets

1. She is trustworthy (v. 11).
2. She is a positive influence (v. 12).
3. She is a hard worker (vv. 13–14, 19, 24–27).
4. She is a planner (vv. 21–22).
5. She is protective (v. 27).

Her Achievements

Her Attitudes

1. Delightful (v. 13)
2. Healthy (v. 18)
3. Compassionate (v. 20)
4. Unselfish (v. 20)
5. Public (v. 25)

Her Applause

1. From her family (v. 28)
2. From her husband (vv. 28–29)

Introduction to
Ecclesiastes

Unique Message for Leaders

Ecclesiastes, like the book of Job, presents one of the greatest challenges to understanding in the Bible. Ancient Hebrews used to debate its meaning and whether it should even be included in the canon of Scripture. Fortunately for us, by divine providence, Ecclesiastes did make it into the Bible with its unique message for leaders.

The central themes of the book focus on the meaning of life, motives for behavior, and where God fits into our personal mission—paramount issues for every leader.

Our leadership must be about something much bigger than us. If our leadership advances merely our own “kingdom,” only increases the profits of our company, or only benefits ourselves—we have failed the higher call of leadership. All leadership must bring honor to God, serve and benefit others, and utilize the gifts of each team member to their fullest potential.

The tone of this book displays an overriding pessimism, as expressed through the words “under the sun” or “under the heavens.” The writer explores life almost devoid of a divine perspective, lived from a selfish, humanistic worldview. He generally leaves God out of his deliberations, leaving himself with human reason alone and resulting in superficial and shallow leadership.

A second theme of the book deals with our motives. Why we do something ultimately determines what we do. The author shows from personal experience that all earthly goals and blessings, when pursued as an end in themselves, lead to dissatisfaction and emptiness.

Finally, the book answers the question, Where does God fit into our personal mission? All good leaders operate from a personal and corporate mission statement. Vision drives them. In chapter two alone, this book questions the materialistic mission of building buildings, making money, controlling workers, and pursuing pleasure. Of course, there’s nothing wrong with buildings, money, or workers—as long as they serve only as a means to an eternal end, not an end in themselves.

Instead, leaders ought to wrestle with how they might change eternity through their leadership. After reading this book, leaders should ask themselves: “Who am I? Why am I attempting to lead others? Where am I trying to go? What values guide my life?” The final chapter reminds us that a day of reckoning awaits when God will bring all these issues to light.

God’s Role in Ecclesiastes

God's Role in Ecclesiastes

Leaders cannot find genuine fulfillment outside of linking their lives to God's purposes for the world. As "the Teacher" explores various avenues for satisfaction—power, possessions, prestige, pleasure—he finds them hollow. God moves him along the path of discovery until he finds no real meaning to life "under the heavens," but only in relationship to God and his eternal purposes. God provides all meaning and fulfillment in this life. The author could not find anything of value apart from a life lived in obedience to God's calling.

Lessons in Leadership

- No real meaning exists apart from linking our lives to God's purpose.
- Humanism and materialism provide incomplete counsel for decision making.
- Possessions, people, pleasure, prestige and power make great servants but poor masters.
- Timing is key: When to lead is as important as what to do and where to go.
- People are motivated by a variety of incentives.
- Divine wisdom provides direction, protection, correction and resolution.
- Leaders must invest themselves generously, knowing the payoff comes later.

WISE WORDS for Leaders on How to Finish Well (12:1–14)

Ecclesiastes 1

Everything Is Meaningless

¹The words of the Teacher,^a son of David, king in Jerusalem:

²“Meaningless! Meaningless!”

says the Teacher.

“Utterly meaningless!

Everything is meaningless.”

³What do people gain from all their labors at which they toil under the sun? Vision:

If Life Has No Meaning, Leadership Has No Mission

⁴Generations come and generations go, but the earth remains forever.

⁵The sun rises and the sun sets, and hurries back to where it rises.

⁶The wind blows to the south and turns to the north;

round and round it goes,

ever returning on its course.

⁷All streams flow into the sea, yet the sea is never full.

To the place the streams come from,

there they return again.

⁸All things are wearisome, more than one can say.

The eye never has enough of seeing,

nor the ear its fill of hearing.

⁹What has been will be again, what has been done will be done again;

there is nothing new under the sun.

¹⁰Is there anything of which one can say, “Look! This is something new”?

It was here already, long ago;

it was here before our time.

¹¹No one remembers the former generations, and even those yet to come will not be remembered by those who follow them.

Wisdom Is Meaningless

¹²I, the Teacher, was king over Israel in Jerusalem. ¹³I applied my mind to study and to explore by wisdom all that is done under the heavens. What a heavy burden God has laid on mankind! ¹⁴I have seen all the things that are done under the sun; all of them are meaningless, a chasing after the wind.

¹⁵What is crooked cannot be straightened; what is lacking cannot be counted.

¹⁶I said to myself, "Look, I have increased in wisdom more than anyone who has ruled over Jerusalem before me; I have experienced much of wisdom and knowledge." ¹⁷Then I applied myself to the understanding of wisdom, and also of madness and folly, but I learned that this, too, is a chasing after the wind.

¹⁸For with much wisdom comes much sorrow; the more knowledge, the more grief.

Ecclesiastes 2

Pleasures Are Meaningless

¹I said to myself, “Come now, I will test you with pleasure to find out what is good.” But that also proved to be meaningless. ²“Laughter,” I said, “is madness. And what does pleasure accomplish?” ³I tried cheering myself with wine, and embracing folly—my mind still guiding me with wisdom. I wanted to see what was good for people to do under the heavens during the few days of their lives. ²¹

Qualities: FOCUS: The Danger of Too Many Pursuits The Law of Priorities and the Law of Sacrifice: Things Don't Make a Leader

⁴I undertook great projects: I built houses for myself and planted vineyards. ⁵I made gardens and parks and planted all kinds of fruit trees in them. ⁶I made reservoirs to water groves of flourishing trees. ⁷I bought male and female slaves and had other slaves who were born in my house. I also owned more herds and flocks than anyone in Jerusalem before me. ⁸I amassed silver and gold for myself, and the treasure of kings and provinces. I acquired male and female singers, and a harem^a as well—the delights of a man's heart. ⁹I became greater by far than anyone in Jerusalem before me. In all this my wisdom stayed with me.

¹⁰I denied myself nothing my eyes desired; I refused my heart no pleasure.
My heart took delight in all my labor,
and this was the reward for all my toil.

¹¹Yet when I surveyed all that my hands had done and what I had toiled to achieve, everything was meaningless, a chasing after the wind; nothing was gained under the sun.

Wisdom and Folly Are Meaningless

¹²Then I turned my thoughts to consider wisdom, and also madness and folly.

What more can the king's successor do than what has already been done?

¹³I saw that wisdom is better than folly, just as light is better than darkness.

¹⁴The wise have eyes in their heads, while the fool walks in the darkness;

but I came to realize that the same fate overtakes them both.

¹⁵Then I said to myself,

“The fate of the fool will overtake me also.
What then do I gain by being wise?”

I said to myself,
“This too is meaningless.”

¹⁶For the wise, like the fool, will not be long remembered; the days have already come when both have been forgotten.
Like the fool, the wise too must die!

Toil Is Meaningless

¹⁷So I hated life, because the work that is done under the sun was grievous to me. All of it is meaningless, a chasing after the wind. ¹⁸I hated all the things I had toiled for under the sun, because I must leave them to the one who comes after me. ¹⁹And who knows whether that person will be wise or foolish? Yet they will have control over all the fruit of my toil into which I have poured my effort and skill under the sun. This too is meaningless. ²⁰So my heart began to despair over all my toilsome labor under the sun. ²¹For a person may labor with wisdom, knowledge and skill, and then they must leave all they own to another who has not toiled for it. This too is meaningless and a great misfortune. ²²What do people get for all the toil and anxious striving with which they labor under the sun? ²³All their days their work is grief and pain; even at night their minds do not rest. This too is meaningless.

²⁴A person can do nothing better than to eat and drink and find satisfaction in their own toil. This too, I see, is from the hand of God, ²⁵for without him, who can eat or find enjoyment? ²⁶To the person who pleases him, God gives wisdom, knowledge and happiness, but to the sinner he gives the task of gathering and storing up wealth to hand it over to the one who pleases God. This too is meaningless, a chasing after the wind.

Ecclesiastes 3

A Time for Everything

¹There is a time for everything, and a season for every activity under the heavens: The Law of Timing: There's a Season for Everything

²a time to be born and a time to die, a time to plant and a time to uproot, ³a time to kill and a time to heal, a time to tear down and a time to build,

⁴a time to weep and a time to laugh, a time to mourn and a time to dance,

⁵a time to scatter stones and a time to gather them, a time to embrace and a time to refrain from embracing, ⁶a time to search and a time to give up, a time to keep and a time to throw away,

⁷a time to tear and a time to mend, a time to be silent and a time to speak,

⁸a time to love and a time to hate, a time for war and a time for peace.

⁹What do workers gain from their toil? ¹⁰I have seen the burden God has laid on the human race. ¹¹He has made everything beautiful in its time. He has also set eternity in the human heart; yet^a no one can fathom what God has done from beginning to end. ¹²I know that there is nothing better for people than to be happy and to do good while they live. ¹³That each of them may eat and drink, and find satisfaction in all their toil—this is the gift of God. ¹⁴I know that everything God does will endure forever; nothing can be added to it and nothing taken from it. God does it so that people will fear him.

¹⁵Whatever is has already been, and what will be has been before; and God will call the past to account.^b

¹⁶And I saw something else under the sun:

In the place of judgment—wickedness was there, in the place of justice—wickedness was there.

¹⁷I said to myself,

“God will bring into judgment
both the righteous and the wicked

both the righteous and the wicked,
for there will be a time for every activity,
a time to judge every deed.”

¹⁸I also said to myself, “As for humans, God tests them so that they may see that they are like the animals. ¹⁹Surely the fate of human beings is like that of the animals; the same fate awaits them both: As one dies, so dies the other. All have the same breath^c; humans have no advantage over animals. Everything is meaningless. ²⁰All go to the same place; all come from dust, and to dust all return. ²¹Who knows if the human spirit rises upward and if the spirit of the animal goes down into the earth?”

²²So I saw that there is nothing better for a person than to enjoy their work, because that is their lot. For who can bring them to see what will happen after them?

Ecclesiastes 4

Oppression, Toil, Friendlessness

¹Again I looked and saw all the oppression that was taking place under the sun:

I saw the tears of the oppressed— and they have no comforter; power was on the side of their oppressors—and they have no comforter. Motivational Needs: What Every Leader Needs to Know

²And I declared that the dead, who had already died, are happier than the living,
who are still alive.

³But better than both is the one who has never been born, who has not seen the evil that is done under the sun.

⁴And I saw that all toil and all achievement spring from one person's envy of another. This too is meaningless, a chasing after the wind.

⁵Fools fold their hands and ruin themselves.

⁶Better one handful with tranquillity than two handfuls with toil and chasing after the wind.

⁷Again I saw something meaningless under the sun:

⁸There was a man all alone; he had neither son nor brother.

There was no end to his toil,
yet his eyes were not content with his wealth.

“For whom am I toiling,” he asked,
“and why am I depriving myself of enjoyment?”

This too is meaningless—
a miserable business!

⁹Two are better than one, because they have a good return for their labor: The Rewards of Partnership

¹⁰If either of them falls down, one can help the other up.

But pity anyone who falls and has no one to help them up.

¹¹Also, if two lie down together, they will keep warm.

But how can one keep warm alone?

¹²Though one may be overpowered, two can defend themselves.

A cord of three strands is not quickly broken.

Advancement Is Meaningless

¹³Better a poor but wise youth than an old but foolish king who no longer knows how to heed a warning. ¹⁴The youth may have come from prison to the kingship, or he may have been born in poverty within his kingdom. ¹⁵I saw that all who lived and walked under the sun followed the youth, the king's successor. ¹⁶There was no end to all the people who were before them. But those who came later were not pleased with the successor. This too is meaningless, a chasing after the wind.

Ecclesiastes 5^a

Fulfill Your Vow to God

¹Guard your steps when you go to the house of God. Go near to listen rather than to offer the sacrifice of fools, who do not know that they do wrong.

²Do not be quick with your mouth, do not be hasty in your heart to utter anything before God.

God is in heaven
and you are on earth,
so let your words be few. Leadership Pitfalls

³A dream comes when there are many cares, and many words mark the speech of a fool.

⁴When you make a vow to God, do not delay to fulfill it. He has no pleasure in fools; fulfill your vow. ⁵It is better not to make a vow than to make one and not fulfill it. ⁶Do not let your mouth lead you into sin. And do not protest to the temple messenger, "My vow was a mistake." Why should God be angry at what you say and destroy the work of your hands? ⁷Much dreaming and many words are meaningless. Therefore fear God.

Riches Are Meaningless

⁸If you see the poor oppressed in a district, and justice and rights denied, do not be surprised at such things; for one official is eyed by a higher one, and over them both are others higher still. ⁹The increase from the land is taken by all; the king himself profits from the fields.

¹⁰Whoever loves money never has enough; whoever loves wealth is never satisfied with their income.
This too is meaningless.

¹¹As goods increase, so do those who consume them.
And what benefit are they to the owners except to feast their eyes on them?

¹²The sleep of a laborer is sweet, whether they eat little or much, but as for the rich, their abundance permits them no sleep.

¹³I have seen a grievous evil under the sun:

wealth hoarded to the harm of its owners,

¹⁴or wealth lost through some misfortune, so that when they have children there is nothing left for them to inherit.

¹⁵Everyone comes naked from their mother's womb, and as everyone comes, so they depart.

They take nothing from their toil that they can carry in their hands.

¹⁶This too is a grievous evil:

As everyone comes, so they depart,
and what do they gain,
since they toil for the wind?

¹⁷All their days they eat in darkness, with great frustration, affliction and anger.

¹⁸This is what I have observed to be good: that it is appropriate for a person to eat, to drink and to find satisfaction in their toilsome labor under the sun during the few days of life God has given them—for this is their lot. ¹⁹Moreover, when God gives someone wealth and possessions, and the ability to enjoy them, to accept their lot and be happy in their toil—this is a gift of God. ²⁰They seldom reflect on the days of their life, because God keeps them occupied with gladness of heart.

Ecclesiastes 6

¹I have seen another evil under the sun, and it weighs heavily on mankind: ²God gives some people wealth, possessions and honor, so that they lack nothing their hearts desire, but God does not grant them the ability to enjoy them, and strangers enjoy them instead. This is meaningless, a grievous evil.

³A man may have a hundred children and live many years; yet no matter how long he lives, if he cannot enjoy his prosperity and does not receive proper burial, I say that a stillborn child is better off than he. ⁴It comes without meaning, it departs in darkness, and in darkness its name is shrouded. ⁵Though it never saw the sun or knew anything, it has more rest than does that man— ⁶even if he lives a thousand years twice over but fails to enjoy his prosperity. Do not all go to the same place?

⁷Everyone's toil is for their mouth, yet their appetite is never satisfied.

⁸What advantage have the wise over fools?

What do the poor gain
by knowing how to conduct themselves before others?
⁹Better what the eye sees than the roving of the appetite.
This too is meaningless,
a chasing after the wind.

¹⁰Whatever exists has already been named, and what humanity is has been known;

no one can contend with someone who is stronger.

¹¹The more the words, the less the meaning,
and how does that profit anyone?

¹²For who knows what is good for a person in life, during the few and meaningless days they pass through like a shadow? Who can tell them what will happen under the sun after they are gone?

Ecclesiastes 7

Wisdom

- ¹A good name is better than fine perfume, and the day of death better than the day of birth.
- ²It is better to go to a house of mourning than to go to a house of feasting, for death is the destiny of everyone; the living should take this to heart.
- ³Frustration is better than laughter, because a sad face is good for the heart.
- ⁴The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning, but the heart of fools is in the house of pleasure.
- ⁵It is better to heed the rebuke of a wise person than to listen to the song of fools.
- ⁶Like the crackling of thorns under the pot, so is the laughter of fools. This too is meaningless.
- ⁷Extortion turns a wise person into a fool, and a bribe corrupts the heart.
- ⁸The end of a matter is better than its beginning, and patience is better than pride.
- ⁹Do not be quickly provoked in your spirit, for anger resides in the lap of fools.
- ¹⁰Do not say, "Why were the old days better than these?" For it is not wise to ask such questions.
- ¹¹Wisdom, like an inheritance, is a good thing and benefits those who see the sun.
- ¹²Wisdom is a shelter as money is a shelter, but the advantage of knowledge is this: Wisdom preserves those who have it.
- ¹³Consider what God has done:

Who can straighten
what he has made crooked?

¹⁴When times are good, be happy; but when times are bad, consider this:

God has made the one
as well as the other.
Therefore, no one can discover anything about their future.

¹⁵In this meaningless life of mine I have seen both of these:

the righteous perishing in their righteousness,
and the wicked living long in their wickedness.

¹⁶Do not be overrighteous, neither be overwise— why destroy yourself?

¹⁷Do not be overwicked, and do not be a fool— why die before your time?

¹⁸It is good to grasp the one and not let go of the other.

Whoever fears God will avoid all extremes.^a ¹⁹Wisdom makes one wise person more powerful than ten rulers in a city.

²⁰Indeed, there is no one on earth who is righteous, no one who does what is right and never sins.

²¹Do not pay attention to every word people say, or you may hear your servant cursing you— ²²for you know in your heart that many times you yourself have cursed others.

²³All this I tested by wisdom and I said,

“I am determined to be wise”— but this was beyond me.

²⁴Whatever exists is far off and most profound— who can discover it?

²⁵So I turned my mind to understand, to investigate and to search out wisdom and the scheme of things and to understand the stupidity of wickedness and the madness of folly.

²⁶I find more bitter than death the woman who is a snare, whose heart is a trap

and whose hands are chains.
The man who pleases God will escape her,
but the sinner she will ensnare.

²⁷“Look,” says the Teacher,^b “this is what I have discovered:

“Adding one thing to another to discover the scheme of things—²⁸while I was still searching but not finding— I found one upright man among a thousand,
but not one upright woman among them all.

²⁹This only have I found: God created mankind upright, but they have gone in search of many schemes.”

Ecclesiastes 8

¹Who is like the wise?

Who knows the explanation of things?

A person's wisdom brightens their face and changes its hard appearance. Servanthood: The Quality of a Leader Who Lasts

Obey the King

²Obey the king's command, I say, because you took an oath before God. ³Do not be in a hurry to leave the king's presence. Do not stand up for a bad cause, for he will do whatever he pleases. ⁴Since a king's word is supreme, who can say to him, "What are you doing?"

⁵Whoever obeys his command will come to no harm, and the wise heart will know the proper time and procedure.

⁶For there is a proper time and procedure for every matter, though a person may be weighed down by misery.

⁷Since no one knows the future, who can tell someone else what is to come?

⁸As no one has power over the wind to contain it, so^a no one has power over the time of their death.

As no one is discharged in time of war,
so wickedness will not release those who practice it.

⁹All this I saw, as I applied my mind to everything done under the sun. There is a time when a man lords it over others to his own^b hurt. ¹⁰Then too, I saw the wicked buried—those who used to come and go from the holy place and receive praise^c in the city where they did this. This too is meaningless.

¹¹When the sentence for a crime is not quickly carried out, people's hearts are filled with schemes to do wrong. ¹²Although a wicked person who commits a hundred crimes may live a long time, I know that it will go better with those who fear God, who are reverent before him. ¹³Yet because the wicked do not fear God, it will not go well with them, and their days will not lengthen like a shadow.

¹⁴There is something else meaningless that occurs on earth: the righteous who get what the wicked deserve, and the wicked who get what the righteous deserve. This too, I say, is meaningless. ¹⁵So I commend the enjoyment of life, because there is nothing better for a person under the sun than to eat and drink and be glad. Then joy will accompany them in their toil all the days of the life God has given them under the sun.

¹⁶When I applied my mind to know wisdom and to observe the labor that is done on earth—people getting no sleep day or night—¹⁷then I saw all that God has done. No one can comprehend what goes on under the sun. Despite all their efforts to search it out, no one can discover its meaning. Even if the wise claim they know, they cannot really comprehend it.

Ecclesiastes 9

A Common Destiny for All

¹So I reflected on all this and concluded that the righteous and the wise and what they do are in God's hands, but no one knows whether love or hate awaits them.

²All share a common destiny—the righteous and the wicked, the good and the bad,^a the clean and the unclean, those who offer sacrifices and those who do not.

As it is with the good,
so with the sinful;
as it is with those who take oaths,
so with those who are afraid to take them.

³This is the evil in everything that happens under the sun: The same destiny overtakes all. The hearts of people, moreover, are full of evil and there is madness in their hearts while they live, and afterward they join the dead.

⁴Anyone who is among the living has hope^b—even a live dog is better off than a dead lion!

⁵For the living know that they will die, but the dead know nothing;
they have no further reward,
and even their name is forgotten.

⁶Their love, their hate and their jealousy have long since vanished; never again will they have a part in anything that happens under the sun.

⁷Go, eat your food with gladness, and drink your wine with a joyful heart, for God has already approved what you do. ⁸Always be clothed in white, and always anoint your head with oil. ⁹Enjoy life with your wife, whom you love, all the days of this meaningless life that God has given you under the sun—all your meaningless days. For this is your lot in life and in your toilsome labor under the sun. ¹⁰Whatever your hand finds to do, do it with all your might, for in the realm of the dead, where you are going, there is neither working nor planning nor knowledge nor wisdom. The Law of Legacy: Your Work and Your Job

¹¹I have seen something else under the sun:

The race is not to the swift or the battle to the strong, nor does food come to the wise or wealth to the brilliant or favor to the learned;

but time and chance happen to them all.

¹²Moreover, no one knows when their hour will come:

As fish are caught in a cruel net,
or birds are taken in a snare,
so people are trapped by evil times that fall unexpectedly upon them.

Wisdom Better Than Folly

¹³I also saw under the sun this example of wisdom that greatly impressed me:

¹⁷The quiet words of the wise are more to be heeded than the shouts of a ruler of fools.

¹⁸Wisdom is better than weapons of war, but one sinner destroys much good.

Ecclesiastes 10

¹As dead flies give perfume a bad smell, so a little folly outweighs wisdom and honor.

²The heart of the wise inclines to the right, but the heart of the fool to the left.

³Even as fools walk along the road, they lack sense and show everyone how stupid they are.

⁴If a ruler's anger rises against you, do not leave your post; calmness can lay great offenses to rest.

⁵There is an evil I have seen under the sun, the sort of error that arises from a ruler:

⁶Fools are put in many high positions, while the rich occupy the low ones.

⁷I have seen slaves on horseback, while princes go on foot like slaves.

⁸Whoever digs a pit may fall into it; whoever breaks through a wall may be bitten by a snake.

⁹Whoever quarries stones may be injured by them; whoever splits logs may be endangered by them.

¹⁰If the ax is dull and its edge unsharpened, more strength is needed,
but skill will bring success.

¹¹If a snake bites before it is charmed, the charmer receives no fee.

¹²Words from the mouth of the wise are gracious, but fools are consumed by their own lips.

¹³At the beginning their words are folly; at the end they are wicked madness— ¹⁴and fools multiply words.

No one knows what is coming—who can tell someone else what will happen after them?

¹⁵The toil of fools wearies them; they do not know the way to town.

¹⁶Woe to the land whose king was a servant^a and whose princes feast in the morning.

¹⁷Blessed is the land whose king is of noble birth and whose princes eat at a proper time— for strength and not for drunkenness.

¹⁸Through laziness, the rafters sag; because of idle hands, the house leaks.

¹⁹A feast is made for laughter, wine makes life merry, and money is the answer for everything.

²⁰Do not revile the king even in your thoughts, or curse the rich in your bedroom,
because a bird in the sky may carry your words,
and a bird on the wing may report what you say.

Ecclesiastes 11

Invest in Many Ventures

¹Ship your grain across the sea; after many days you may receive a return.

Generosity: Leaders Give Before They Receive

²Invest in seven ventures, yes, in eight; you do not know what disaster may come upon the land.

³If clouds are full of water, they pour rain on the earth.

Whether a tree falls to the south or to the north,
in the place where it falls, there it will lie.

⁴Whoever watches the wind will not plant; whoever looks at the clouds will not reap.

⁵As you do not know the path of the wind, or how the body is formed^a in a mother's womb, so you cannot understand the work of God, the Maker of all things.

⁶Sow your seed in the morning, and at evening let your hands not be idle, for you do not know which will succeed, whether this or that, or whether both will do equally well.

Remember Your Creator While Young

⁷Light is sweet, and it pleases the eyes to see the sun.

⁸However many years anyone may live, let them enjoy them all.

But let them remember the days of darkness, for there will be many.

Everything to come is meaningless.

⁹You who are young, be happy while you are young, and let your heart give you joy in the days of your youth.

Follow the ways of your heart and whatever your eyes see,
but know that for all these things
God will bring you into judgment.

¹⁰So then, banish anxiety from your heart and cast off the troubles of your body,
for youth and vigor are meaningless.

Ecclesiastes 12

- ¹Remember your Creator in the days of your youth, before the days of trouble come and the years approach when you will say, “I find no pleasure in them”— Wise Words for Leaders on How to Finish Well
- ²before the sun and the light and the moon and the stars grow dark, and the clouds return after the rain;
- ³when the keepers of the house tremble, and the strong men stoop, when the grinders cease because they are few,
and those looking through the windows grow dim;
- ⁴when the doors to the street are closed and the sound of grinding fades;
when people rise up at the sound of birds,
but all their songs grow faint;
- ⁵when people are afraid of heights and of dangers in the streets;

when the almond tree blossoms and the grasshopper drags itself along and desire no longer is stirred.
Then people go to their eternal home and mourners go about the streets.

⁶Remember him—before the silver cord is severed, and the golden bowl is broken;
before the pitcher is shattered at the spring,
and the wheel broken at the well, ⁷and the dust returns to the ground it came from, and the spirit returns to God who gave it.

⁸“Meaningless! Meaningless!” says the Teacher.^a “Everything is meaningless!”

The Conclusion of the Matter

⁹Not only was the Teacher wise, but he also imparted knowledge to the people. He pondered and searched out and set in order many proverbs. ¹⁰The Teacher searched to find just the right words, and what he wrote was upright and true.

¹¹The words of the wise are like goads, their collected sayings like firmly embedded nails—given by one shepherd.^b ¹²Be warned, my son, of anything in addition to them.

Of making many books there is no end, and much study wearies the body.

¹³Now all has been heard; here is the conclusion of the matter:

Fear God and keep his commandments,
for this is the duty of all mankind.

¹⁴For God will bring every deed into judgment, including every hidden thing, whether it is good or evil.

Vision: If Life Has No Meaning, Leadership Has No Mission

Ecclesiastes 1:3–11

“Life is meaningless,” writes Solomon. Imagine the wisest, richest, most powerful man in his time, proclaiming everything worthless! Solomon’s name means “peace,” but he enjoyed none of it while writing most of this book. He grew deflated, depressed, and disillusioned about life “under the sun.” Here we see a leader who lost the air in his sails because he abandoned his true mission. He teaches us . . .

1. There is no profit (vv. 3–4).

Life without God is an exercise in futility. Generations come and go; all we do is move things around.

2. There is no purpose (vv. 5–7).

The sun rises only to set again, endlessly repeating a meaningless cycle. Wind blows, river flows, all in monotony.

3. There is no progress (vv. 8–11).

There is no satisfaction; there’s nothing new under the sun, nor pleasant remembrance of earlier life.

Leadership without an eternal perspective falls into the trap of meaninglessness. Leadership must work toward significant, meaningful goals. We are forced to conclude that:

1. If nothing worthwhile exists under the sun, our only hope must lie above it.
2. If the man with everything investigated every visible delight and still wound up unsatisfied, then what satisfies must be invisible.
3. If the wisest man on earth finds no answers under heaven, then we must look to heaven itself for those answers.

21 Qualities

FOCUS | The Danger of Too Many Pursuits

Ecclesiastes 2:1–11

WE CAN LEARN from Solomon’s costly mistakes. The King of Israel desperately pursued several unrelated goals in a vain attempt to satisfy himself. Ecclesiastes 2:1–11 provides a good example of a leader who didn’t know how to get what he wanted.

By the time Solomon wrote these words, he had reached a high level of success—but still felt empty. He couldn’t put his finger on why fulfillment continued to escape him. Because he lacked focus, he searched high and low, experimenting with all kinds of goals, yet never achieved satisfaction. Sadly, he attempted to solve an inward problem with an outward solution.

The old axiom remains true: If you chase two rabbits, both will escape. This was certainly true of Solomon’s futile attempts to reach his varied goals. (He pursued eight goals in Ecclesiastes 2 alone!) So, what can we learn from this leader about focus?

1. He pursued too many things in too short a time.
2. He pursued the wrong goals to reach his desired outcome.
3. His self-serving goals were all wrong.
4. He despaired because he never identified what he really wanted.

A Checklist for Making Decisions

Solomon eventually did narrow his focus, but it took him a lifetime and an entire book to do so (see Ecc 12). He finally determined what really mattered and what he really wanted.

How about you? Have you figured out your focus? How do you make major decisions? Do you have a way of determining your focus, based on what really matters or what really counts? Consider the following checklist as you make decisions about where to invest your time and energy. When faced with a decision, ask yourself:

1. Is this consistent with my priorities?
2. Is this within my area of competence?
3. Can someone else do it better?
4. What do my trusted friends say?
5. Do I have the time?

When you say “yes” to an opportunity, get ready to focus. Make to-do lists. Set your priorities. Avoid clutter. Pursue excellence, but avoid perfectionism. Question everything. Work to prevent procrastination. Control interruptions and distractions. Use the calendar. Narrow your wedge—don’t try to do everything. That means you’ll have to say no to some good things. And how can you say no gracefully?

1. Say no to the proposition, not to the person.
2. Respond in terms that convey the best interests of the person who’s requesting your involvement.
3. Defer creatively; suggest an alternative.

The Law of Priorities and the Law of Sacrifice: Things Don’t Make a Leader

Ecclesiastes 2:1–26

Solomon attempted to find satisfaction in accumulating things: houses, gardens, vineyards, flocks, slaves, etc. He found all of it empty.

Many leaders succumb to the same temptation. They begin well, but once they reach their first level of goals—if they don’t continue to stretch—they shrink. Their shrinking often takes the form of accumulating. Their success gains them a nice discretionary income. So they spend and gain. Spend and gain. Spend and gain. But none of this fills the void inside.

All leaders have two major voids:

1. The God-sized vacuum inside their heart; only the Lord can fill it.

2. The life-sized vacuum inside their heart; only their life mission can fulfill it.

To reach these goals, leaders must give up the pursuit of lesser things. C. S. Lewis wrote, “Indeed, if we consider the unblushing promises of reward . . . promised in the Gospels, it would seem that our Lord finds our desires, not too strong, but too weak. We are halfhearted creatures, fooling about with drink and sex and ambition when infinite joy is offered us, like an ignorant child who wants to go on making mud pies in a slum because he cannot imagine what is meant by an offer of a holiday at the sea. We are far too easily pleased.”

The Law of Timing: There’s a Season for Everything

Ecclesiastes 3:1–8

Solomon knew quite a bit about the Law of Timing. He tells us there exists an appointed time for everything under heaven. Then he lists several examples: birth, death, planting, reaping, weeping, laughing, etc.

We don’t control the timing of most events; the best we can do is to recognize the timing. Ecclesiastes 3 teaches leaders several important lessons:

1. It is our responsibility to recognize God’s timing, not to change it.
2. It is our responsibility to accept and cooperate with God’s timing.
3. Our alignment with God’s timing makes a great difference.
4. God has made everything appropriate in its time.
5. God has put eternity in our hearts, so we must trust God to communicate his timing.
6. We can do nothing better during our lifetime than to rejoice and do good.

Motivational Needs: What Every Leader Needs to Know

Ecclesiastes 4:1–8

While Ecclesiastes 4 seems to continue the theme of futility, it actually attempts to address the issue of motivation. Solomon says that he observes people in a variety of contexts, and nothing seems to satisfy them.

Where do people search for satisfaction? What do they seek in life? Note Solomon’s observations about what motivates most men and women:

1. Comfort and fulfillment (vv. 1–3)
2. Competition and triumph (vv. 4–6)
3. Consumption and greed (vv. 7–8)

As leaders, we must understand people’s motivational needs. A scholar named David McClellan identified three main motivations, or “drivers,” that people exhibit in their work. According to McClellan, each person generally has a primary driver, and perhaps another driver as their backup.

One driver is achievement. Achievers like to perform, to finish a task. Getting across the goal line is what satisfies them.

Another driver is affiliation. Affiliators put emphasis on belonging to a group and relating well to others. They're "people people," and they want everybody to be happy.

The third driver is influence. Influencers seek to have power over whatever situation they're in. They like things their way. Status is important to them. For them, the name of the game is control.

To work well with others, it helps to know what motivations "make them tick."

The Rewards of Partnership

Ecclesiastes 4:9–12

Most leaders recognize they need partnerships to reach big goals. Note the rewards of a healthy partnership:

1. Partners accomplish more (v. 9).
2. Partners complement each other (v. 10).
3. Partners supply support and warmth for each other (v. 11).
4. Partners give strength to each other (v. 12).

Leadership Pitfalls

Ecclesiastes 5:2–7

Do you ever make promises to God? Scripture advises caution before we commit something to God—good advice for any decision a leader must make. Solomon describes three major pitfalls lying in wait for careless leaders:

1. Hasty Speech (vv. 2–3) Leaders must listen as much as they speak. It takes more than words to fulfill dreams.
2. Empty Promises (vv. 4–5) Leaders tend to say what others want to hear. Don't promise what you can't deliver.
3. Lame Excuses (vv. 6–7) Leaders diminish their influence when they try to reverse a mistake with a lame excuse.

Servanthood: The Quality of a Leader Who Lasts

Ecclesiastes 8:1–9

Solomon reminds us about our relationship to leaders above us. We are to submit to them, not because the person deserves it, but because the office deserves it and God decrees it.

And what about leaders in authority? Solomon also issues a warning. When leaders try to exercise authority without a servant's heart, they eventually hurt themselves. Leaders add value by serving others.

Role of the Follower

Role of the Leader

1. Submit to God-given authority.	1. Exercise authority with wisdom and caution.
2. Trust God to accomplish his purpose.	2. Recognize that no human controls all of life.
3. Don't quit or become divisive.	3. Lead others by serving not bossing them.

The Law of Legacy: Your Work and Your Job

Ecclesiastes 9:7–18

Everyone on earth has a work to do, and it may be different from one's job. A job may be the task we get paid for at the moment, but a work is the task God gives us for our lives. Jobs come and go but the work remains. Your present job may be preparation for your ultimate work. This passage gives us direction for leaving the right legacy to those who come behind us.

- Work joyfully, since approval comes from God (vv. 7–9).
- Work energetically, even if the results seem uncertain (vv. 10–12).
- Work wisely, with the benefit of God's perspective (vv. 13–18).

Generosity: Leaders Give Before They Receive

Ecclesiastes 11:1–9

Solomon knew a thing or two about wise investing. He counsels leaders to be generous, giving before they receive. And why should leaders initiate giving? Because they know they will eventually receive a hefty return. Wise leaders embrace the following truths about generosity:

1. Givers go first (v. 1).
2. Givers receive a return (v. 1).
3. The return may not be immediate (v. 1).
4. Giving does not keep us from misfortune (vv. 2–3).
5. If you do not give, you cannot expect a return (v. 4).
6. The return will be in proportion to your giving (v. 6).
7. The motive for giving is love for God (v. 9).

Wise Words for Leaders on How to Finish Well

Ecclesiastes 12:1–14

Amazing how God can bring sunshine out of the cloudiest day, isn't it? So it is with the book of Ecclesiastes. An otherwise pessimistic and discouraging book ends, by God's grace, on a significant "up" note.

Chapter 12 concludes Solomon's meditation with some wise words that should direct every leader. They sound like the lecture of an experienced mentor attempting to counsel an emerging leader, trying to keep him or her from making some of the same mistakes he made. Consider Solomon's wisdom in this grand finale:

1. Don't lose sight of the big picture, especially when you are young (vv. 1–4).
2. Do what is right before it is too late to correct yourself (vv. 5–8).
3. Use your words like tools to shepherd and add value to others (v. 11).
4. Don't try to master everything in life, just what is important (v. 12).
5. Trust and obey God, because he is the ultimate Judge (vv. 13–14).

Introduction to Song of Songs

God's Love for His People

The Song of Songs stands alone among 1,005 songs that Solomon wrote (1Ki 4:32). It is called the Song of Songs because many consider it the best of his songs, the most excellent composition he ever wrote. Pious Jews read it every year on the eighth day of the Passover.

The Song proclaims a husband's love for his wife and illustrates God's love for his people, the love that Christ has for the church, his bride. It describes how a lover cherishes his beloved and how he enjoys the way she completes him.

The song implies that leaders must learn to love the people God has placed within their sphere of influence. We cannot separate leadership from relationship. This book vividly portrays the mutual love both parties have for each other, a love that drives them to appreciate each other and serve each other extravagantly. This kind of love prompts the spiritual leader and the follower to "go the extra mile" and do more than the expected. The book frequently exhibits the "and then some" principle—the lover relishes his beloved, cares for her, provides for her . . . and then some. Healthy, intimate relationships create this kind of generous attitude.

Far too often, leaders believe their position forces them to remain distant from their people. They imagine they must remain aloof, even a bit mysterious, living at a level unattainable by others. This is not a biblical idea. This song reveals a transparent and vulnerable spiritual leader who speaks intimately of both his strengths and his needs. He feels secure enough to quit hiding behind smokescreens, as leaders today often do. What kind of smokescreens trouble us? Consider two: "I just cannot open up with my people." "I don't have time to build relationships—I'm too busy trying to reach my goals." The lover in this song is honest enough to quit believing the kind of lies we often believe today. He wouldn't think of saying, "If my people are going to submit to me as a leader, I cannot let them get too close to me," or, "If I become vulnerable, my people won't respect me."

The Song of Songs may give you a whole new perspective on the love a spiritual leader can have for his people. You can also apply these principles to the expressive, vulnerable relationships you find in your church, office, or neighborhood.

God's Role in Song of Songs

Scholars have interpreted this book in four primary ways:

1. Allegory. This view sees the book expressing the love of God for his chosen people. Each part of the song contains some symbolic meaning.
2. Dramatic narrative. The song expresses Solomon's own love affair with a Shulamite woman, whom he takes as wife to his palace in Jerusalem.
3. Extended parable. This view sees the song not as an allegory seeking meaning in every verse, but as a parable of Christ and his church.
4. Literal. This view sees Solomon celebrating the virtues of human love.

However you view the book, think of God's role as the Ultimate Leader whose love for his people motivates him to lead and to act on their behalf.

Song of Songs 1

¹Solomon's Song of Songs.

She^a The Passionate, Consuming Love of God

²Let him kiss me with the kisses of his mouth— for your love is more delightful than wine.

³Pleasing is the fragrance of your perfumes; your name is like perfume poured out.

No wonder the young women love you!

⁴Take me away with you—let us hurry!
Let the king bring me into his chambers.

Friends

We rejoice and delight in you^b; we will praise your love more than wine.

She

How right they are to adore you!

⁵Dark am I, yet lovely, daughters of Jerusalem, dark like the tents of Kedar,
like the tent curtains of Solomon.^c

⁶Do not stare at me because I am dark, because I am darkened by the sun.
My mother's sons were angry with me and made me take care of the vineyards;
my own vineyard I had to neglect.

⁷Tell me, you whom I love, where you graze your flock and where you rest your sheep at midday.
Why should I be like a veiled woman beside the flocks of your friends?

Friends

⁸If you do not know, most beautiful of women, follow the tracks of the sheep

and graze your young goats
by the tents of the shepherds.

He

⁹I liken you, my darling, to a mare among Pharaoh's chariot horses.

¹⁰Your cheeks are beautiful with earrings, your neck with strings of jewels.

Affirmation: Leaders Identify and Affirm Qualities in Others

¹¹We will make you earrings of gold, studded with silver.

She

¹²While the king was at his table, my perfume spread its fragrance.

¹³My beloved is to me a sachet of myrrh resting between my breasts.

¹⁴My beloved is to me a cluster of henna blossoms from the vineyards of En Gedi.

He

¹⁵How beautiful you are, my darling!

Oh, how beautiful!

Your eyes are doves.

She

¹⁶How handsome you are, my beloved!

Oh, how charming!

And our bed is verdant.

He

¹⁷The beams of our house are cedars; our rafters are firs.

Song of Songs 2

She^a

¹I am a rose^b of Sharon, a lily of the valleys.

He

²Like a lily among thorns is my darling among the young women.

She

³Like an apple^c tree among the trees of the forest is my beloved among the young men.

I delight to sit in his shade, and his fruit is sweet to my taste.

⁴Let him lead me to the banquet hall, and let his banner over me be love.

⁵Strengthen me with raisins, refresh me with apples, for I am faint with love.

⁶His left arm is under my head, and his right arm embraces me.

⁷Daughters of Jerusalem, I charge you by the gazelles and by the does of the field: Do not arouse or awaken love until it so desires.

⁸Listen! My beloved!

Look! Here he comes,
leaping across the mountains,
bounding over the hills.

⁹My beloved is like a gazelle or a young stag.

Look! There he stands behind our wall, gazing through the windows,
peering through the lattice.

¹⁰My beloved spoke and said to me, "Arise, my darling,
my beautiful one, come with me.

¹¹See! The winter is past; the rains are over and gone.

¹²Flowers appear on the earth; the season of singing has come,

the cooing of doves
is heard in our land.

¹³The fig tree forms its early fruit; the blossoming vines spread their fragrance.

Arise, come, my darling;
my beautiful one, come with me.”

He

¹⁴My dove in the clefts of the rock, in the hiding places on the mountainside,
show me your face,
 let me hear your voice;
for your voice is sweet,
 and your face is lovely.

¹⁵Catch for us the foxes, the little foxes that ruin the vineyards, our vineyards that are in bloom. Catching the Little Foxes

She

¹⁶My beloved is mine and I am his; he browses among the lilies.

¹⁷Until the day breaks and the shadows flee, turn, my beloved,

and be like a gazelle

or like a young stag
on the rugged hills.^d

Song of Songs 3

- ¹All night long on my bed I looked for the one my heart loves;
I looked for him but did not find him.
- ²I will get up now and go about the city, through its streets and squares;
I will search for the one my heart loves.
So I looked for him but did not find him.
- ³The watchmen found me as they made their rounds in the city.
“Have you seen the one my heart loves?”
- ⁴Scarcely had I passed them when I found the one my heart loves.
I held him and would not let him go till I had brought him to my mother’s house, to the room of the one who conceived me.
- ⁵Daughters of Jerusalem, I charge you by the gazelles and by the does of the field: Do not arouse or awaken love until it so desires.
- ⁶Who is this coming up from the wilderness like a column of smoke, perfumed with myrrh and incense made from all the spices of the merchant?

⁷Look! It is Solomon's carriage, escorted by sixty warriors, the noblest of Israel,

⁸all of them wearing the sword, all experienced in battle, each with his sword at his side, prepared for the terrors of the night.

⁹King Solomon made for himself the carriage; he made it of wood from Lebanon.

¹⁰Its posts he made of silver, its base of gold.
Its seat was upholstered with purple, its interior inlaid with love.

Daughters of Jerusalem, ¹¹come out, and look, you daughters of Zion.
Look^a on King Solomon wearing a crown, the crown with which his mother crowned him on the day of his wedding, the day his heart rejoiced.

Song of Songs 4

He

¹How beautiful you are, my darling!

Oh, how beautiful!

Your eyes behind your veil are doves.

Your hair is like a flock of goats descending from the hills of Gilead. Leaders Honor Their Teams: Put 10s on Their

Foreheads Leaders Bless People

²Your teeth are like a flock of sheep just shorn, coming up from the washing.

Each has its twin;

not one of them is alone.

³Your lips are like a scarlet ribbon; your mouth is lovely.

- Your temples behind your veil are like the halves of a pomegranate.
- ⁴Your neck is like the tower of David, built with courses of stone^a; on it hang a thousand shields,
all of them shields of warriors.
- ⁵Your breasts are like two fawns, like twin fawns of a gazelle that browse among the lilies.
- ⁶Until the day breaks and the shadows flee,
I will go to the mountain of myrrh and to the hill of incense.
- ⁷You are altogether beautiful, my darling; there is no flaw in you.
- ⁸Come with me from Lebanon, my bride, come with me from Lebanon.
Descend from the crest of Amana, from the top of Senir, the summit of Hermon, from the lions' dens and the mountain haunts of leopards.
- ⁹You have stolen my heart, my sister, my bride; you have stolen my heart with one glance of your eyes, with one jewel of your necklace.
- ¹⁰How delightful is your love, my sister, my bride!
How much more pleasing is your love than wine, and the fragrance of your perfume
more than any spice!
- ¹¹Your lips drop sweetness as the honeycomb, my bride; milk and honey are under your tongue.

The fragrance of your garments is like the fragrance of Lebanon.

¹²You are a garden locked up, my sister, my bride; you are a spring enclosed, a sealed fountain.

¹³Your plants are an orchard of pomegranates with choice fruits, with henna and nard,

¹⁴nard and saffron, calamus and cinnamon, with every kind of incense tree,

with myrrh and aloes
and all the finest spices.

¹⁵You are ^b a garden fountain, a well of flowing water streaming down from Lebanon.

She

¹⁶Awake, north wind, and come, south wind!
Blow on my garden,
that its fragrance may spread everywhere.
Let my beloved come into his garden and taste its choice fruits.

Song of Songs 5

He

¹I have come into my garden, my sister, my bride; I have gathered my myrrh with my spice.

I have eaten my honeycomb and my honey;

I have drunk my wine and my milk.

Friends

Eat, friends, and drink;
drink your fill of love. Leaders Practice Good People Skills

She

²I slept but my heart was awake.

Listen! My beloved is knocking:

“Open to me, my sister, my darling,
my dove, my flawless one.

My head is drenched with dew,
my hair with the dampness of the night.”

³I have taken off my robe— must I put it on again?

I have washed my feet—
must I soil them again?

⁴My beloved thrust his hand through the latch-opening; my heart began to pound for him.

⁵I arose to open for my beloved, and my hands dripped with myrrh, my fingers with flowing myrrh,
on the handles of the bolt.

⁶I opened for my beloved, but my beloved had left; he was gone.

My heart sank at his departure.^a

I looked for him but did not find him.

I called him but he did not answer.

⁷The watchmen found me as they made their rounds in the city.

They beat me, they bruised me;
they took away my cloak,
those watchmen of the walls!

⁸Daughters of Jerusalem, I charge you— if you find my beloved,
what will you tell him?

Tell him I am faint with love.

Friends

⁹How is your beloved better than others, most beautiful of women?

How is your beloved better than others,
that you so charge us?

She

¹⁰My beloved is radiant and ruddy, outstanding among ten thousand.

¹¹His head is purest gold; his hair is wavy and black as a raven.

¹²His eyes are like doves by the water streams, washed in milk,
mounted like jewels.

¹³His cheeks are like beds of spice yielding perfume.

His lips are like lilies dripping with myrrh.

¹⁴His arms are rods of gold set with topaz.

His body is like polished ivory decorated with lapis lazuli.

¹⁵His legs are pillars of marble set on bases of pure gold.

His appearance is like Lebanon, choice as its cedars.

¹⁶His mouth is sweetness itself; he is altogether lovely.

This is my beloved, this is my friend, daughters of Jerusalem.

Song of Songs 6

Friends

¹Where has your beloved gone, most beautiful of women?
Which way did your beloved turn,
that we may look for him with you?

She

²My beloved has gone down to his garden, to the beds of spices, to browse in the gardens and to gather lilies.

³I am my beloved's and my beloved is mine; he browses among the lilies.

He

⁴You are as beautiful as Tirzah, my darling, as lovely as Jerusalem, as majestic as troops with banners.

⁵Turn your eyes from me; they overwhelm me.
Your hair is like a flock of goats
descending from Gilead.

⁶Your teeth are like a flock of sheep coming up from the washing.
Each has its twin,
not one of them is missing.

⁷Your temples behind your veil are like the halves of a pomegranate.

⁸Sixty queens there may be, and eighty concubines, and virgins beyond number;

⁹but my dove, my perfect one, is unique, the only daughter of her mother, the favorite of the one who bore her.

The young women saw her and called her blessed; the queens and concubines praised her.

Friends

¹⁰Who is this that appears like the dawn, fair as the moon, bright as the sun, majestic as the stars in procession?

He

- ¹¹I went down to the grove of nut trees to look at the new growth in the valley, to see if the vines had budded or the pomegranates were in bloom.
- ¹²Before I realized it, my desire set me among the royal chariots of my people.^a

Friends

¹³Come back, come back, O Shulammite; come back, come back, that we may gaze on you!

He

Why would you gaze on the Shulammite as on the dance of Mahanaim?^b

Song of Songs 7^a

- ¹How beautiful your sandaled feet, O prince's daughter!
Your graceful legs are like jewels,
the work of an artist's hands.
- ²Your navel is a rounded goblet that never lacks blended wine.
Your waist is a mound of wheat encircled by lilies.
- ³Your breasts are like two fawns, like twin fawns of a gazelle.
- ⁴Your neck is like an ivory tower.
Your eyes are the pools of Heshbon
by the gate of Bath Rabbim.
Your nose is like the tower of Lebanon looking toward Damascus.
- ⁵Your head crowns you like Mount Carmel.
Your hair is like royal tapestry;
the king is held captive by its tresses.
- ⁶How beautiful you are and how pleasing, my love, with your delights!
- ⁷Your stature is like that of the palm, and your breasts like clusters of fruit.
- ⁸I said, "I will climb the palm tree; I will take hold of its fruit."
May your breasts be like clusters of grapes on the vine, the fragrance of your breath like apples,
- ⁹and your mouth like the best wine.

She

May the wine go straight to my beloved, flowing gently over lips and teeth.^b

¹⁰I belong to my beloved, and his desire is for me.

¹¹Come, my beloved, let us go to the countryside, let us spend the night in the villages.^c

¹²Let us go early to the vineyards to see if the vines have budded, if their blossoms have opened,
and if the pomegranates are in bloom—
there I will give you my love.

¹³The mandrakes send out their fragrance, and at our door is every delicacy, both new and old,
that I have stored up for you, my beloved.

Song of Songs 8

¹If only you were to me like a brother, who was nursed at my mother's breasts!

Then, if I found you outside,
I would kiss you,
and no one would despise me.

²I would lead you and bring you to my mother's house— she who has taught me.

I would give you spiced wine to drink,
the nectar of my pomegranates.

³His left arm is under my head and his right arm embraces me.

⁴Daughters of Jerusalem, I charge you: Do not arouse or awaken love until it so desires.

Friends

⁵Who is this coming up from the wilderness leaning on her beloved?

She

Under the apple tree I roused you;
there your mother conceived you,
there she who was in labor gave you birth.

⁶Place me like a seal over your heart, like a seal on your arm;
for love is as strong as death,
its jealousy^a unyielding as the grave.
It burns like blazing fire,
like a mighty flame.^b

⁷Many waters cannot quench love; rivers cannot sweep it away.

If one were to give all the wealth of one's house for love, it^c would be utterly scorned.

Friends

⁸We have a little sister, and her breasts are not yet grown.

What shall we do for our sister on the day she is spoken for?

⁹If she is a wall, we will build towers of silver on her.

If she is a door,
we will enclose her with panels of cedar.

She

¹⁰I am a wall, and my breasts are like towers.

Thus I have become in his eyes like one bringing contentment.

¹¹Solomon had a vineyard in Baal Hamon; he let out his vineyard to tenants.

Each was to bring for its fruit
a thousand shekels^d of silver.

¹²But my own vineyard is mine to give; the thousand shekels are for you,
Solomon, and two hundred^e are for those who tend its fruit.

He

¹³You who dwell in the gardens with friends in attendance, let me hear your voice!

She

¹⁴Come away, my beloved, and be like a gazelle

or like a young stag
on the spice-laden mountains.

The Passionate, Consuming Love of God

Song of Songs 1:1

Most of the time when we use words like “passion” and “love,” we speak of the affection between a man and a woman. But have you ever thought of God’s love in terms of passion?

In the Song of Songs, we see a beautiful picture of the tender devotion that God means to be shared between a husband and wife. But we also see a picture of the love God wants his people to share with Jesus Christ.

King Solomon understood that this love was unearned and unmerited, that in many ways God poured it out on his people despite themselves. This kind of love represents an actual communion between Christ and his church. On his part, it’s a love that gives all to those with nothing to give in exchange. On our part, it is the kind of love that inspires us to hunger for more of him, to thirst for him to shine out through us.

Godly leaders understand that the relationship between Christ and his people amounts to far more than some kind of religious arrangement or contractual agreement. Rather, it is a relationship of love, tenderness and passion, a relationship in which we, the bride, remain aware of our unworthiness of the bridegroom’s love—yet bask in its limitless depths.

Song of Songs 1:10–15

Leaders whom others love and loyally follow are usually those who express appreciation to their followers. They live the principle of affirmation.

The Song of Songs reveals a spiritual leader who identifies specific qualities he appreciates about his beloved, then expresses his appreciation. This marvelous love letter shows a spiritual leader communicating love and affirmation. The follower almost always reciprocates the sentiment. Notice what Solomon and all great leaders do to encourage those in their care:

1. Identify—Declare what it is you appreciate. Name it.
2. Specify—Be as specific as you can. No generalizations about their style!
3. Quantify—Express how they have made a measurable difference in your life.
4. Magnify—Encourage your followers liberally in public, before their peers.

Catching the Little Foxes

Song of Songs 2:15

It’s the “little foxes” that often ruin an organization—bad attitudes, lack of encouragement, no time off, impatient supervisors, or gossip. Leaders must listen for the sounds of little fox feet. Remember, it's better to build a fence at the top of the cliff than a hospital at the bottom.

Leaders Honor Their Teams: Put 10s on Their Foreheads

Song of Songs 4:1–16

Solomon spoke delightful words that honored and lifted up his bride. Many scholars believe this song is actually a metaphor for Christ's love for his people. The song also gives leaders a beautiful picture about how to communicate honor from the heart. How can we best communicate compliments to those we lead?

1. Make them sincere. Be genuine and authentic about what you say.
2. Make them specific. Get very pointed and detailed about what you say.
3. Make them public. Declare these honoring words in front of others.
4. Make them personal. Be personal about what you say.

Whenever I see my staff, I put an imaginary “10” on the forehead of each individual. This helps me treat each person like a 10, a high performer who makes a difference to me and the organization. Inevitably, they respond as if they are a 10!

If you don't already do this, why not start today? Put “10s” on the people you lead. Treat them based on their potential, not their performance. You'll be amazed how both will rise.

Leaders Bless People

Song of Songs 4:1–16

Good leaders give the “blessing” to those they lead. In the Hebrew culture, fathers or patriarchs usually gave the blessing to their sons; rabbis and other spiritual leaders also pronounced blessings. Gary Smalley and John Trent remind us that the blessing contains five key elements:

1. Affirming words: words that give hope and encouragement to the listener.
2. Meaningful touch: an embrace or a hand on a shoulder communicating care.
3. Expression of high value: a statement on the value that person adds to everyone.
4. Vision of a special future: provides word pictures that communicate potential.
5. Application of genuine commitment: do everything in your power to see that blessing comes to pass.

Leaders Practice Good People Skills

Song of Songs 5:1—6:13

The Song of Songs overflows with heart, describing a passionate relationship between two people who deeply love each other.

What can leaders learn from this book? Leaders must relate to their people from the soul, not merely by protocol. The best way to overcome problems is to involve your heart, not just your head.

Unfortunately, we're tempted toward another direction. When we fail at something, we tend to see why it happened and cut ourselves some slack; we may even make excuses for our mistakes. In other words, we deal with ourselves using our heart. Yet we often neglect the heart when dealing with others. We can be direct and even demanding. It really works best to switch the whole thing around. When dealing with yourself, use your head. When dealing with others, use your heart.

Introduction to Isaiah

Consistent Lifestyle . . . Uncompromising Convictions . . . Clear Vision We remember Isaiah as one of the greatest prophets in Jewish history and as one of the most powerful models in the Bible. The book that bears his name describes his consistent lifestyle, his uncompromising convictions, and his clear vision that drove him to continue speaking out despite the unfaithfulness of his people.

Isaiah's lifestyle reminds us that we cannot separate a leader's words and walk. A leader must first be an example to the people. People do what people see. Isaiah led with integrity. Integrity means "oneness," the quality of purity and consistency. When we speak of the integrity of Scripture, we mean that it proclaims one consistent message. This word describes Isaiah, a man of God full of consistency.

Isaiah's convictions teach us about avoiding ungodly compromise. He and his contemporary, the prophet Micah, both raised the bar for the people by holding to God's standards with unswerving determination. While leaders must remain flexible with their methods, they cannot compromise their convictions.

Finally, Isaiah furnishes a beautiful case study of a leader who led from vision. He describes a God-given vision that drives him to fulfill his calling as a leader. He clings to it despite rejection (6:9). Throughout the book he communicates his vision to the people and warns them to repent. Before he finishes, he has influenced King Hezekiah to bring about national reforms. Through his tenacious intercession with God, Sennacherib's entire army is destroyed (2Ki 19:36–37; 2Ch 32:20–23; Isa 37:36–38).

God's Role in Isaiah

As the One who inspired both Isaiah's ministry and his writings, God again reveals himself as the Leader of leaders. We see the Lord telling Isaiah what to say to the people and warning them of the impending judgment if they fail to repent. God also gives Isaiah visions about the future. While the first 39 chapters lay out some bleak moments, the remaining 27 provide strong hope. Isaiah predicts the coming Messiah as the Ultimate Leader for the people of Israel. The Messiah embodies all the positive qualities of an effective leader.

Leaders in Isaiah

Isaiah, King Hezekiah, the Messiah

Other People of Influence in Isaiah

Kings of Judah and Israel, leaders of Assyria, Babylon, Edom, Egypt, Tyre, Cush, Philistia, Moab, Damascus (Syria), Dedan and Kedar Lessons in Leadership

- Vision is born out of values and ethics—they must align.
- The measure of a person is what he or she does with power.
- Leaders create atmospheres and environments for growth and success.
- Ability, opportunity and desire make up the components of a call to lead.
- God reduces prideful leaders but resources humble leaders.
- Strategic planning that ignores God and the changing culture is doomed to fail.
- Insecure leaders inevitably destroy people; secure leaders develop people.
- The higher leaders climb, the fewer there are who can hold them accountable.
- God himself provides the ultimate model of servant leadership.

Isaiah 1

¹The vision concerning Judah and Jerusalem that Isaiah son of Amoz saw during the reigns of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah, kings of Judah.

A Rebellious Nation

²Hear me, you heavens! Listen, earth!

For the LORD has spoken:

“I reared children and brought them up,
but they have rebelled against me.

³The ox knows its master,
the donkey its owner’s manger,
but Israel does not know,
my people do not understand.”

⁴Woe to the sinful nation,
a people whose guilt is great,
a brood of evildoers, children given to corruption!
They have forsaken the LORD;
they have spurned the Holy One of Israel and turned their backs on him.

⁵Why should you be beaten anymore?
Why do you persist in rebellion?
Your whole head is injured,
your whole heart afflicted.

⁶From the sole of your foot to the top of your head there is no soundness—only wounds and welts and open sores,

not cleansed or bandaged or soothed with olive oil.

⁷Your country is desolate,
your cities burned with fire;
your fields are being stripped by foreigners right before you,
laid waste as when overthrown by strangers.

⁸Daughter Zion is left like a shelter in a vineyard, like a hut in a cucumber field,
like a city under siege.

⁹Unless the LORD Almighty had left us some survivors, we would have become like Sodom,
we would have been like Gomorrah.

¹⁰Hear the word of the LORD, you rulers of Sodom;
listen to the instruction of our God,
you people of Gomorrah! Growth Occurs When Vision and Values Match

¹¹“The multitude of your sacrifices—what are they to me?” says the LORD.
“I have more than enough of burnt offerings, of rams and the fat of fattened animals;

- I have no pleasure
in the blood of bulls and lambs and goats.
- ¹²When you come to appear before me,
who has asked this of you,
this trampling of my courts?
- ¹³Stop bringing meaningless offerings!
Your incense is detestable to me.
New Moons, Sabbaths and convocations—
I cannot bear your worthless assemblies.
- ¹⁴Your New Moon feasts and your appointed festivals I hate with all my being.
They have become a burden to me;
I am weary of bearing them.
- ¹⁵When you spread out your hands in prayer,
I hide my eyes from you;
even when you offer many prayers,
I am not listening.
- Your hands are full of blood!
- ¹⁶Wash and make yourselves clean.
Take your evil deeds out of my sight;
stop doing wrong.
- ¹⁷Learn to do right; seek justice.
Defend the oppressed.^a Take up the cause of the fatherless; plead the case of the widow.
- ¹⁸“Come now, let us settle the matter,”
says the LORD.
“Though your sins are like scarlet,
they shall be as white as snow;
though they are red as crimson,
they shall be like wool.
- ¹⁹If you are willing and obedient,
you will eat the good things of the land;
- ²⁰but if you resist and rebel,
you will be devoured by the sword.”

you will be devoured by the sword.

For the mouth of the LORD has spoken.

- ²¹See how the faithful city has become a prostitute!
She once was full of justice; righteousness used to dwell in her—
but now murderers!
- ²²Your silver has become dross,
your choice wine is diluted with water.
- ²³Your rulers are rebels, partners with thieves;

they all love bribes
and chase after gifts.
They do not defend the cause of the fatherless;
the widow's case does not come before them.

²⁴Therefore the Lord, the LORD Almighty, the Mighty One of Israel, declares:

“Ah! I will vent my wrath on my foes and avenge myself on my enemies.

²⁵I will turn my hand against you;^b
I will thoroughly purge away your dross and remove all your impurities.

²⁶I will restore your leaders as in days of old, your rulers as at the beginning.

Afterward you will be called the City of Righteousness,
the Faithful City.”

²⁷Zion will be delivered with justice, her penitent ones with righteousness.

²⁸But rebels and sinners will both be broken, and those who forsake the LORD will perish.

²⁹“You will be ashamed because of the sacred oaks in which you have delighted;
you will be disgraced because of the gardens that you have chosen.

³⁰You will be like an oak with fading leaves, like a garden without water.

³¹The mighty man will become tinder and his work a spark;
both will burn together,
with no one to quench the fire.”

Isaiah 2

The Mountain of the LORD

¹This is what Isaiah son of Amoz saw concerning Judah and Jerusalem: ²In the last days

the mountain of the LORD's temple will be established as the highest of the mountains;
it will be exalted above the hills,
and all nations will stream to it.

³Many peoples will come and say,

“Come, let us go up to the mountain of the LORD, to the temple of the God of Jacob.

He will teach us his ways,
so that we may walk in his paths.”

The law will go out from Zion,
the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.

⁴He will judge between the nations and will settle disputes for many peoples.

They will beat their swords into plowshares
and their spears into pruning hooks.

Nation will not take up sword against nation,
nor will they train for war anymore.

⁵Come, descendants of Jacob, let us walk in the light of the LORD.

The Day of the LORD

⁶You, LORD, have abandoned your people, the descendants of Jacob.

They are full of superstitions from the East;
they practice divination like the Philistines and embrace pagan customs.

⁷Their land is full of silver and gold;
there is no end to their treasures

there is no end to their treasures.

Their land is full of horses;
there is no end to their chariots.

⁸Their land is full of idols;
they bow down to the work of their hands,
to what their fingers have made.

⁹So people will be brought low and everyone humbled—
do not forgive them.^a

¹⁰Go into the rocks, hide in the ground
from the fearful presence of the LORD
and the splendor of his majesty!

¹¹The eyes of the arrogant will be humbled and human pride brought low;
the LORD alone will be exalted in that day.

¹²The LORD Almighty has a day in store for all the proud and lofty,

for all that is exalted (and they will be humbled),
¹³for all the cedars of Lebanon, tall and lofty, and all the oaks of Bashan, ¹⁴for all the towering mountains and all the high hills, ¹⁵for every lofty tower
and every fortified wall, ¹⁶for every trading ship^b and every stately vessel.
¹⁷The arrogance of man will be brought low and human pride humbled;
the LORD alone will be exalted in that day,
¹⁸and the idols will totally disappear.

¹⁹People will flee to caves in the rocks and to holes in the ground
from the fearful presence of the LORD
and the splendor of his majesty,
when he rises to shake the earth.

²⁰In that day people will throw away to the moles and bats their idols of silver and idols of gold, which they made to worship.

²¹They will flee to caverns in the rocks and to the overhanging crags

from the fearful presence of the LORD
and the splendor of his majesty,
when he rises to shake the earth.

²²Stop trusting in mere humans, who have but a breath in their nostrils.
Why hold them in esteem?

Isaiah 3

Judgment on Jerusalem and Judah

- ¹See now, the Lord,
the LORD Almighty,
is about to take from Jerusalem and Judah
both supply and support:
all supplies of food and all supplies of water, Judah's Lousy Leaders: Everything Rises and Falls on Leadership
- ²the hero and the warrior,
the judge and the prophet,
the diviner and the elder,
- ³the captain of fifty and the man of rank,
the counselor, skilled craftsman and clever enchanter.
- ⁴“I will make mere youths their officials;
children will rule over them.”
- ⁵People will oppress each other—man against man, neighbor against neighbor.
The young will rise up against the old,
the nobody against the honored.
- ⁶A man will seize one of his brothers in his father's house, and say, “You have a cloak, you be our leader;
take charge of this heap of ruins!”
- ⁷But in that day he will cry out,
“I have no remedy.
I have no food or clothing in my house;
do not make me the leader of the people.”
- ⁸Jerusalem staggers,
Judah is falling;
their words and deeds are against the LORD,
defying his glorious presence.
- ⁹The look on their faces testifies against them; they parade their sin like Sodom;
they do not hide it.
Woe to them!

They have brought disaster upon themselves.

¹⁰Tell the righteous it will be well with them, for they will enjoy the fruit of their deeds.

¹¹Woe to the wicked!
Disaster is upon them!

They will be paid back for what their hands have done.

¹²Youths oppress my people,
women rule over them.
My people, your guides lead you astray;
they turn you from the path.

¹³The LORD takes his place in court; he rises to judge the people.

¹⁴The LORD enters into judgment against the elders and leaders of his people:

“It is you who have ruined my vineyard;
the plunder from the poor is in your houses. The Law of Navigation: How Leaders Lead

¹⁵What do you mean by crushing my people and grinding the faces of the poor?”
declares the Lord, the LORD Almighty.

¹⁶The LORD says,
“The women of Zion are haughty, walking along with outstretched necks,
flirting with their eyes,
strutting along with swaying hips,
with ornaments jingling on their ankles.

¹⁷Therefore the Lord will bring sores on the heads of the women of Zion;
the LORD will make their scalps bald.”

¹⁸In that day the Lord will snatch away their finery: the bangles and headbands and crescent necklaces, ¹⁹the earrings and bracelets and veils, ²⁰the headdresses and anklets and sashes, the perfume bottles and charms, ²¹the signet rings and nose rings, ²²the fine robes and the capes and cloaks, the purses ²³and mirrors, and the linen garments and tiaras and shawls.

²⁴Instead of fragrance there will be a stench; instead of a sash, a rope;
instead of well-dressed hair, baldness;
instead of fine clothing, sackcloth;
instead of beauty, branding.

²⁵Your men will fall by the sword, your warriors in battle.

²⁶The gates of Zion will lament and mourn;
destitute, she will sit on the ground.

Isaiah 4

¹In that day seven women will take hold of one man and say, “We will eat our own food and provide our own clothes;
only let us be called by your name.
Take away our disgrace!”

The Branch of the LORD

²In that day the Branch of the LORD will be beautiful and glorious, and the fruit of the land will be the pride and glory of the survivors in Israel. ³Those who are left in Zion, who remain in Jerusalem, will be called holy, all who are recorded among the living in Jerusalem. ⁴The Lord will wash away the filth of the women of Zion; he will cleanse the bloodstains from Jerusalem by a spirit^a of judgment and a spirit^b of fire. ⁵Then the LORD will create over all of Mount Zion and over those who assemble there a cloud of smoke by day and a glow of flaming fire by night; over everything the glory^c will be a canopy. ⁶It will be a shelter and shade from the heat of the day, and a refuge and hiding place from the storm and rain. The Value of Vision

Isaiah 5

The Song of the Vineyard

¹I will sing for the one I love
a song about his vineyard:
My loved one had a vineyard on a fertile hillside.

²He dug it up and cleared it of stones and planted it with the choicest vines.
He built a watchtower in it and cut out a winepress as well.
Then he looked for a crop of good grapes,
but it yielded only bad fruit.

³“Now you dwellers in Jerusalem and people of Judah, judge between me and my vineyard.

⁴What more could have been done for my vineyard than I have done for it?
When I looked for good grapes,
why did it yield only bad?

⁵Now I will tell you what I am going to do to my vineyard:
I will take away its hedge,
and it will be destroyed;
I will break down its wall,
and it will be trampled.

⁶I will make it a wasteland, neither pruned nor cultivated,
and briers and thorns will grow there.

I will command the clouds not to rain on it.”

⁷The vineyard of the LORD Almighty is the nation of Israel, and the people of Judah are the vines he delighted in.

And he looked for justice, but saw bloodshed;
for righteousness, but heard cries of distress.

Woes and Judgments

⁸Woe to you who add house to house and join field to field

till no space is left and you live alone in the land.

⁹The LORD Almighty has declared in my hearing:

“Surely the great houses will become desolate,
the fine mansions left without occupants.

¹⁰A ten-acre vineyard will produce only a bath^a of wine; a homer^b of seed will yield only an ephah^c of grain.”

¹¹Woe to those who rise early in the morning to run after their drinks, who stay up late at night till they are inflamed with wine.

¹²They have harps and lyres at their banquets, pipes and timbrels and wine, but they have no regard for the deeds of the LORD,
no respect for the work of his hands.

¹³Therefore my people will go into exile for lack of understanding;
those of high rank will die of hunger and the common people will be parched with thirst.

¹⁴Therefore Death expands its jaws, opening wide its mouth;
into it will descend their nobles and masses with all their brawlers and revelers.

¹⁵So people will be brought low
and everyone humbled,
the eyes of the arrogant humbled.

¹⁶But the LORD Almighty will be exalted by his justice, and the holy God will be proved holy by his righteous acts.

¹⁷Then sheep will graze as in their own pasture; lambs will feed^d among the ruins of the rich.

¹⁸Woe to those who draw sin along with cords of deceit, and wickedness as with cart ropes,

¹⁹to those who say, “Let God hurry;

let him hasten his work
so we may see it.
The plan of the Holy One of Israel—let it approach, let it come into view, so we may know it.”

²⁰Woe to those who call evil good and good evil,

who put darkness for light and light for darkness,

who put bitter for sweet and sweet for bitter.

²¹Woe to those who are wise in their own eyes and clever in their own sight.

²²Woe to those who are heroes at drinking wine and champions at mixing drinks, ²³who acquit the guilty for a bribe,

but deny justice to the innocent.

²⁴Therefore, as tongues of fire lick up straw and as dry grass sinks down in the flames,

so their roots will decay
and their flowers blow away like dust;
for they have rejected the law of the LORD Almighty and spurned the word of the Holy One of Israel.

²⁵Therefore the LORD's anger burns against his people; his hand is raised and he strikes them down.

The mountains shake,
and the dead bodies are like refuse in the streets.

Yet for all this, his anger is not turned away,
his hand is still upraised.

²⁶He lifts up a banner for the distant nations, he whistles for those at the ends of the earth.

Here they come,
swiftly and speedily!

²⁷Not one of them grows tired or stumbles, not one slumbers or sleeps;
not a belt is loosened at the waist,
not a sandal strap is broken.

²⁸Their arrows are sharp,
all their bows are strung;
their horses' hooves seem like flint,
their chariot wheels like a whirlwind.

²⁹Their roar is like that of the lion,
they roar like young lions;
they growl as they seize their prey and carry it off with no one to rescue.

³⁰In that day they will roar over it like the roaring of the sea.
And if one looks at the land,
there is only darkness and distress;
even the sun will be darkened by clouds.

Isaiah 6

Isaiah's Commission

¹In the year that King Uzziah died, I saw the Lord, high and exalted, seated on a throne; and the train of his robe filled the temple. ²Above him were seraphim, each with six wings: With two wings they covered their faces, with two they covered their feet, and with two they were flying. ³And they were calling to one another:

“Holy, holy, holy is the LORD Almighty;
the whole earth is full of his glory.” The Call of a Leader Responding to a Divine Call ⁴At the sound of their voices the doorposts and thresholds shook and the temple was filled with smoke.

⁵“Woe to me!” I cried. “I am ruined! For I am a man of unclean lips, and I live among a people of unclean lips, and my eyes have seen the King, the LORD Almighty.”

⁶Then one of the seraphim flew to me with a live coal in his hand, which he had taken with tongs from the altar. ⁷With it he touched my mouth and said, “See, this has touched your lips; your guilt is taken away and your sin atoned for.”

⁸Then I heard the voice of the Lord saying, “Whom shall I send? And who will go for us?”

And I said, “Here am I. Send me!”

⁹He said, “Go and tell this people:

“ ‘Be ever hearing, but never understanding;
be ever seeing, but never perceiving.’

¹⁰Make the heart of this people calloused;

make their ears dull and close their eyes.^a Otherwise they might see with their eyes, hear with their ears,
understand with their hearts,
and turn and be healed.”

¹¹Then I said, “For how long, Lord?”

And he answered:

“Until the cities lie ruined and without inhabitant, until the houses are left deserted and the fields ruined and ravaged, ¹²until the LORD has sent everyone far away and the land is utterly forsaken.
¹³And though a tenth remains in the land,
it will again be laid waste.
But as the terebinth and oak leave stumps when they are cut down, so the holy seed will be the stump in the land.”

Isaiah 7

The Sign of Immanuel

¹When Ahaz son of Jotham, the son of Uzziah, was king of Judah, King Rezin of Aram and Pekah son of Remaliah king of Israel marched up to fight against Jerusalem, but they could not overpower it. The Law of Connection: The Call Pushes Leaders to Communicate

²Now the house of David was told, “Aram has allied itself with^a Ephraim”; so the hearts of Ahaz and his people were shaken, as the trees of the forest are shaken by the wind.

³Then the LORD said to Isaiah, “Go out, you and your son Shear-Jashub,^b to meet Ahaz at the end of the aqueduct of the Upper Pool, on the road to the Launderer’s Field. ⁴Say to him, ‘Be careful, keep calm and don’t be afraid. Do not lose heart because of these two smoldering stubs of firewood—because of the fierce anger of Rezin and Aram and of the son of Remaliah. ⁵Aram, Ephraim and Remaliah’s son have plotted your ruin, saying, ⁶“Let us invade Judah; let us tear it apart and divide it among ourselves, and make the son of Tabeel king over it.” ⁷Yet this is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“ ‘It will not take place,
it will not happen,

⁸for the head of Aram is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is only Rezin.

Within sixty-five years
Ephraim will be too shattered to be a people.

⁹The head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is only Remaliah’s son.

If you do not stand firm in your faith,
you will not stand at all.’ ”

¹⁰Again the LORD spoke to Ahaz, ¹¹“Ask the LORD your God for a sign, whether in the deepest depths or in the highest heights.”

¹²But Ahaz said, “I will not ask; I will not put the LORD to the test.”

¹³Then Isaiah said, “Hear now, you house of David! Is it not enough to try the patience of humans? Will you try the patience of my God also? ¹⁴Therefore the Lord himself will give you^c a sign: The virgin^d will conceive and give birth to a son, and^e will call him Immanuel.^f ¹⁵He will be eating curds and honey when he knows enough to reject the wrong and choose the right, ¹⁶for before the boy knows enough to reject the wrong and choose the right, the land of the two kings you dread will be laid waste. ¹⁷The LORD will bring on you and on your people and on the house of your father a time unlike any since Ephraim broke away from Judah—he will bring the king of Assyria.”

Assyria, the LORD’s Instrument

¹⁸In that day the LORD will whistle for flies from the Nile delta in Egypt and for bees from the land of Assyria. ¹⁹They will all come and settle in the steep ravines and in the crevices in the rocks, on all the thornbushes and at all the water holes. ²⁰In that day the Lord will use a razor hired from beyond the Euphrates River—the king of Assyria—to shave your head and private parts, and to cut off your beard also. ²¹In that day, a person will keep alive a young cow and two goats. ²²And because of the abundance of the milk they give, there will be curds to eat. All who remain in the land will eat curds and honey. ²³In that day, in every place where there were a thousand vines worth a thousand silver shekels,⁸ there will be only briers and thorns. ²⁴Hunters will go there with bow and arrow, for the land will be covered with briers and thorns. ²⁵As for all the hills once cultivated by the hoe, you will no longer go there for fear of the briers and thorns; they will become places where cattle are turned loose and where sheep run.

Isaiah 8

Isaiah and His Children as Signs

¹The LORD said to me, “Take a large scroll and write on it with an ordinary pen: Maher-Shalal-Hash-Baz.”^a ²So I called in Uriah the priest and Zechariah son of Jeberekiah as reliable witnesses for me. ³Then I made love to the prophetess, and she conceived and gave birth to a son. And the LORD said to me, “Name him Maher-Shalal-Hash-Baz. ⁴For before the boy knows how to say ‘My father’ or ‘My mother,’ the wealth of Damascus and the plunder of Samaria will be carried off by the king of Assyria.”

⁵The LORD spoke to me again:

⁶“Because this people has rejected the gently flowing waters of Shiloah and rejoices over Rezin

and the son of Remaliah, ⁷therefore the Lord is about to bring against them the mighty floodwaters of the Euphrates— the king of Assyria with all his pomp.
It will overflow all its channels,

run over all its banks 8and sweep on into Judah, swirling over it, passing through it and reaching up to the neck.
Its outspread wings will cover the breadth of your land, Immanuel^b!”

9Raise the war cry,^c you nations, and be shattered!
Listen, all you distant lands.
Prepare for battle, and be shattered!
Prepare for battle, and be shattered!

10Devise your strategy, but it will be thwarted; propose your plan, but it will not stand, for God is with us.^d

11This is what the LORD says to me with his strong hand upon me, warning me not to follow the way of this people:

12“Do not call conspiracy everything this people calls a conspiracy;
do not fear what they fear,
and do not dread it.

13The LORD Almighty is the one you are to regard as holy, he is the one you are to fear,
he is the one you are to dread.

14He will be a holy place;
for both Israel and Judah he will be a stone that causes people to stumble and a rock that makes them fall.
And for the people of Jerusalem he will be a trap and a snare.

15Many of them will stumble;
they will fall and be broken,
they will be snared and captured.”

16Bind up this testimony of warning and seal up God’s instruction among my disciples.

17I will wait for the LORD, who is hiding his face from the descendants of Jacob.

τ

I will put my trust in him.

¹⁸Here am I, and the children the LORD has given me. We are signs and symbols in Israel from the LORD Almighty, who dwells on Mount Zion.

The Darkness Turns to Light

¹⁹When someone tells you to consult mediums and spiritists, who whisper and mutter, should not a people inquire of their God? Why consult the dead on behalf of the living? ²⁰Consult God's instruction and the testimony of warning. If anyone does not speak according to this word, they have no light of dawn. ²¹Distressed and hungry, they will roam through the land; when they are famished, they will become enraged and, looking upward, will curse their king and their God. ²²Then they will look toward the earth and see only distress and darkness and fearful gloom, and they will be thrust into utter darkness.

Isaiah 9^a

¹Nevertheless, there will be no more gloom for those who were in distress. In the past he humbled the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, but in the future he will honor Galilee of the nations, by the Way of the Sea, beyond the Jordan—

²The people walking in darkness have seen a great light;
on those living in the land of deep darkness
a light has dawned.

³You have enlarged the nation and increased their joy;

they rejoice before you
as people rejoice at the harvest,

as warriors rejoice
when dividing the plunder.

⁴For as in the day of Midian's defeat,

you have shattered
the yoke that burdens them,
the bar across their shoulders,
the rod of their oppressor.

⁵Every warrior's boot used in battle and every garment rolled in blood will be destined for burning, will be fuel for the fire.

⁶For to us a child is born,
to us a son is given,
and the government will be on his shoulders.

And he will be called Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God,
Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace.

⁷Of the greatness of his government and peace there will be no end.
He will reign on David's throne and over his kingdom, establishing and upholding it with justice and righteousness from that time on and forever.

The zeal of the LORD Almighty
will accomplish this.

The LORD's Anger Against Israel

⁸The Lord has sent a message against Jacob;
it will fall on Israel.

⁹All the people will know it—Ephraim and the inhabitants of Samaria—

- who say with pride and arrogance of heart,
- ¹⁰“The bricks have fallen down,
but we will rebuild with dressed stone;
the fig trees have been felled,
but we will replace them with cedars.”
- ¹¹But the LORD has strengthened Rezin’s foes against them and has spurred their enemies on.
- ¹²Arameans from the east and Philistines from the west have devoured
Israel with open mouth.
- Yet for all this, his anger is not turned away,
his hand is still upraised.
- ¹³But the people have not returned to him who struck them, nor have they sought the LORD Almighty.
- ¹⁴So the LORD will cut off from Israel both head and tail, both palm branch and reed in a single day;
- ¹⁵the elders and dignitaries are the head,
the prophets who teach lies are the tail.
- ¹⁶Those who guide this people mislead them,
and those who are guided are led astray.
- ¹⁷Therefore the Lord will take no pleasure in the young men, nor will he pity the fatherless and widows, for everyone is ungodly and wicked,
every mouth speaks folly.
- Yet for all this, his anger is not turned away,
his hand is still upraised.
- ¹⁸Surely wickedness burns like a fire;
it consumes briars and thorns,
it sets the forest thickets ablaze,
so that it rolls upward in a column of smoke.
- ¹⁹By the wrath of the LORD Almighty the land will be scorched and the people will be fuel for the fire;
they will not spare one another.

²⁰On the right they will devour, but still be hungry;
on the left they will eat,
but not be satisfied.

Each will feed on the flesh of their own offspring^b: ²¹Manasseh will feed on Ephraim, and Ephraim on Manasseh; together they will turn against Judah.

Yet for all this, his anger is not turned away,
his hand is still upraised.

Isaiah 10

¹Woe to those who make unjust laws, to those who issue oppressive decrees, The Benefits of Humility, the Liabilities of Pride ²to deprive the poor of their rights and withhold justice from the oppressed of my people, making widows their prey

and robbing the fatherless.
³What will you do on the day of reckoning, when disaster comes from afar?
To whom will you run for help?
Where will you leave your riches?
⁴Nothing will remain but to cringe among the captives or fall among the slain.

Yet for all this, his anger is not turned away,
his hand is still upraised.

God's Judgment on Assyria

⁵“Woe to the Assyrian, the rod of my anger, in whose hand is the club of my wrath!
⁶I send him against a godless nation,
I dispatch him against a people who anger me,
to seize loot and snatch plunder,
and to trample them down like mud in the streets.
⁷But this is not what he intends,
this is not what he has in mind;
his purpose is to destroy,
to put an end to many nations.
⁸‘Are not my commanders all kings?’ he says.
⁹‘Has not Kalno fared like Carchemish?
Is not Hamath like Arpad, and Samaria like Damascus?
¹⁰As my hand seized the kingdoms of the idols, kingdoms whose images excelled those of Jerusalem and Samaria— ¹¹shall I not deal with Jerusalem and her images as I dealt with Samaria and her idols?’ ”
¹²When the Lord has finished all his work against Mount Zion and Jerusalem, he will say, “I will punish the king of Assyria for the willful pride of his heart and the haughty look in his eyes. ¹³For he says:
“ ‘By the strength of my hand I have done this,
and by my wisdom, because I have understanding.

I removed the boundaries of nations,
I plundered their treasures;
like a mighty one I subdued^a their kings.

¹⁴As one reaches into a nest,
so my hand reached for the wealth of the nations;
as people gather abandoned eggs,
so I gathered all the countries;
not one flapped a wing,
or opened its mouth to chirp.' ”

¹⁵Does the ax raise itself above the person who swings it, or the saw boast against the one who uses it?
As if a rod were to wield the person who lifts it up, or a club brandish the one who is not wood!

¹⁶Therefore, the Lord, the LORD Almighty, will send a wasting disease upon his sturdy warriors;
under his pomp a fire will be kindled like a blazing flame.

¹⁷The Light of Israel will become a fire, their Holy One a flame;
in a single day it will burn and consume his thorns and his briers.

¹⁸The splendor of his forests and fertile fields it will completely destroy, as when a sick person wastes away.

¹⁹And the remaining trees of his forests will be so few that a child could write them down.

The Remnant of Israel

²⁰In that day the remnant of Israel,
the survivors of Jacob,
will no longer rely on him who struck them down but will truly rely on the LORD,

the Holy One of Israel.

²¹A remnant will return, ^b a remnant of Jacob will return to the Mighty God.

²²Though your people be like the sand by the sea, Israel, only a remnant will return.

Destruction has been decreed, overwhelming and righteous.

²³The Lord, the LORD Almighty, will carry out the destruction decreed upon the whole land.

²⁴Therefore this is what the Lord, the LORD Almighty, says:

“My people who live in Zion, do not be afraid of the Assyrians, who beat you with a rod and lift up a club against you, as Egypt did.

²⁵Very soon my anger against you will end and my wrath will be directed to their destruction.”

²⁶The LORD Almighty will lash them with a whip, as when he struck down Midian at the rock of Oreb;
and he will raise his staff over the waters,
as he did in Egypt.

²⁷In that day their burden will be lifted from your shoulders, their yoke from your neck;

the yoke will be broken because you have grown so fat.^c

²⁸They enter Aiath;
they pass through Migron;
they store supplies at Mikmash.

²⁹They go over the pass, and say,
“We will camp overnight at Geba.”
Ramah trembles;
Gibeah of Saul flees.

³⁰Cry out, Daughter Gallim!
Listen, Laishah!
Poor Anathoth!

³¹Madmenah is in flight;
the people of Gebim take cover.

³²This day they will halt at Nob;

they will shake their fist at the mount of Daughter Zion, at the hill of Jerusalem.

³³See, the Lord, the LORD Almighty, will lop off the boughs with great power.
The lofty trees will be felled,
the tall ones will be brought low.

³⁴He will cut down the forest thickets with an ax; Lebanon will fall before the Mighty One.

Isaiah 11

The Branch From Jesse

¹A shoot will come up from the stump of Jesse; from his roots a Branch will bear fruit.

²The Spirit of the LORD will rest on him— the Spirit of wisdom and of understanding, the Spirit of counsel and of might,
the Spirit of the knowledge and fear of the LORD—

³and he will delight in the fear of the LORD.

He will not judge by what he sees with his eyes,
or decide by what he hears with his ears;

⁴but with righteousness he will judge the needy, with justice he will give decisions for the poor of the earth.

He will strike the earth with the rod of his mouth;
with the breath of his lips he will slay the wicked.

⁵Righteousness will be his belt and faithfulness the sash around his waist.

⁶The wolf will live with the lamb,
the leopard will lie down with the goat,
the calf and the lion and the yearling^a together; and a little child will lead them.

⁷The cow will feed with the bear, their young will lie down together,
and the lion will eat straw like the ox.

⁸The infant will play near the cobra's den, and the young child will put its hand into the viper's nest.

⁹They will neither harm nor destroy on all my holy mountain, for the earth will be filled with the knowledge of the LORD as the waters cover the sea.

¹⁰In that day the Root of Jesse will stand as a banner for the peoples; the nations will rally to him, and his resting place will be glorious. ¹¹In that day the Lord will reach out his hand a second time to reclaim the surviving remnant of his people from Assyria, from Lower Egypt, from Upper Egypt, from Cush,^b from Elam, from Babylonia,^c from Hamath and from the islands of the Mediterranean.

¹²He will raise a banner for the nations and gather the exiles of Israel;
he will assemble the scattered people of Judah from the four quarters of the earth.

¹³Ephraim's jealousy will vanish, and Judah's enemies^d will be destroyed; Ephraim will not be jealous of Judah,
nor Judah hostile toward Ephraim.

¹⁴They will swoop down on the slopes of Philistia to the west; together they will plunder the people to the east.
They will subdue Edom and Moab,
and the Ammonites will be subject to them.

¹⁵The LORD will dry up the gulf of the Egyptian sea; with a scorching wind he will sweep his hand over the Euphrates River.
He will break it up into seven streams
so that anyone can cross over in sandals.

¹⁶There will be a highway for the remnant of his people that is left from Assyria,

as there was for Israel
when they came up from Egypt.

Isaiah 12

Songs of Praise

¹In that day you will say:

“I will praise you, LORD.

Although you were angry with me,

your anger has turned away and you have comforted me.

²Surely God is my salvation;
I will trust and not be afraid.

The LORD, the LORD himself, is my strength and my defense^a; he has become my salvation.”

³With joy you will draw water from the wells of salvation.

⁴In that day you will say:

“Give praise to the LORD, proclaim his name;
make known among the nations what he has done,
and proclaim that his name is exalted.

⁵Sing to the LORD, for he has done glorious things; let this be known to all the world.

⁶Shout aloud and sing for joy, people of Zion, for great is the Holy One of Israel among you.”

Isaiah 13

A Prophecy Against Babylon

¹A prophecy against Babylon that Isaiah son of Amoz saw:

²Raise a banner on a bare hilltop, shout to them;

beckon to them
to enter the gates of the nobles.

³I have commanded those I prepared for battle; I have summoned my warriors to carry out my wrath— those who rejoice in my triumph.

⁴Listen, a noise on the mountains,
like that of a great multitude!
Listen, an uproar among the kingdoms,
like nations massing together!
The LORD Almighty is mustering an army for war.

⁵They come from faraway lands, from the ends of the heavens—
the LORD and the weapons of his wrath—to destroy the whole country.

⁶Wail, for the day of the LORD is near; it will come like destruction from the Almighty.^a

⁷Because of this, all hands will go limp, every heart will melt with fear.

⁸Terror will seize them,
pain and anguish will grip them;
they will writhe like a woman in labor.
They will look aghast at each other,
their faces aflame.

⁹See, the day of the LORD is coming —a cruel day, with wrath and fierce anger
— to make the land desolate and destroy the sinners within it.

¹⁰The stars of heaven and their constellations will not show their light.
The rising sun will be darkened and the moon will not give its light.

¹¹I will punish the world for its evil,
the wicked for their sins.
I will put an end to the arrogance of the haughty and will humble the pride of the ruthless.

¹²I will make people scarcer than pure gold, more rare than the gold of Ophir.

¹³Therefore I will make the heavens tremble; and the earth will shake from its place

at the wrath of the LORD Almighty, in the day of his burning anger.

¹⁴Like a hunted gazelle, like sheep without a shepherd,
they will all return to their own people,
they will flee to their native land.

¹⁵Whoever is captured will be thrust through; all who are caught will fall by the sword.

¹⁶Their infants will be dashed to pieces before their eyes; their houses will be looted and their wives violated.

¹⁷See, I will stir up against them the Medes, who do not care for silver and have no delight in gold.

¹⁸Their bows will strike down the young men; they will have no mercy on infants, nor will they look with compassion on children.

¹⁹Babylon, the jewel of kingdoms, the pride and glory of the Babylonians,^b will be overthrown by God like Sodom and Gomorrah.

²⁰She will never be inhabited or lived in through all generations;
there no nomads will pitch their tents,
there no shepherds will rest their flocks.

²¹But desert creatures will lie there, jackals will fill her houses;
there the owls will dwell,
and there the wild goats will leap about.

²²Hyenas will inhabit her strongholds, jackals her luxurious palaces.
Her time is at hand,
and her days will not be prolonged.

Isaiah 14

¹The LORD will have compassion on Jacob; once again he will choose Israel
and will settle them in their own land.

Foreigners will join them and unite with the descendants of Jacob.

²Nations will take them and bring them to their own place.
And Israel will take possession of the nations and make them male and female servants in the LORD's land.
They will make captives of their captors and rule over their oppressors.

³On the day the LORD gives you relief from your suffering and turmoil and from the harsh labor forced on you, ⁴you will take up this taunt against the king of Babylon:

How the oppressor has come to an end!

How his fury^a has ended! A Riches to Rags Story

⁵The LORD has broken the rod of the wicked, the scepter of the rulers, ⁶which in anger struck down peoples with unceasing blows,

and in fury subdued nations with relentless aggression.

⁷All the lands are at rest and at peace;
they break into singing.

⁸Even the junipers and the cedars of Lebanon gloat over you and say, “Now that you have been laid low,
no one comes to cut us down.”

⁹The realm of the dead below is all astir to meet you at your coming;
it rouses the spirits of the departed to greet you—
all those who were leaders in the world;
it makes them rise from their thrones—all those who were kings over the nations.

¹⁰They will all respond,
they will say to you,
“You also have become weak, as we are;
you have become like us.”

¹¹All your pomp has been brought down to the grave, along with the noise of your harps;
maggots are spread out beneath you and worms cover you.

¹²How you have fallen from heaven, morning star, son of the dawn!
You have been cast down to the earth,
you who once laid low the nations!

¹³You said in your heart,
“I will ascend to the heavens;

I will raise my throne
above the stars of God;
I will sit enthroned on the mount of assembly,
on the utmost heights of Mount Zaphon.^b

¹⁴I will ascend above the tops of the clouds; I will make myself like the Most High.”

¹⁵But you are brought down to the realm of the dead, to the depths of the pit.

¹⁶Those who see you stare at you,
they ponder your fate:
“Is this the man who shook the earth and made kingdoms tremble,

¹⁷the man who made the world a wilderness,

who overthrew its cities
and would not let his captives go home?”

¹⁸All the kings of the nations lie in state, each in his own tomb.

¹⁹But you are cast out of your tomb like a rejected branch;
you are covered with the slain,
with those pierced by the sword,
those who descend to the stones of the pit.
Like a corpse trampled underfoot, ²⁰you will not join them in burial, for you have destroyed your land and killed your people.

Let the offspring of the wicked never be mentioned again.

²¹Prepare a place to slaughter his children for the sins of their ancestors;
they are not to rise to inherit the land and cover the earth with their cities.

²²“I will rise up against them,”
declares the LORD Almighty.
“I will wipe out Babylon’s name and survivors, her offspring and descendants,”

declares the LORD.

²³“I will turn her into a place for owls and into swampland;
I will sweep her with the broom of destruction,”
declares the LORD Almighty.

²⁴The LORD Almighty has sworn,

“Surely, as I have planned, so it will be,
and as I have purposed, so it will happen.

²⁵I will crush the Assyrian in my land;
on my mountains I will trample him down.
His yoke will be taken from my people,
and his burden removed from their shoulders.”

²⁶This is the plan determined for the whole world; this is the hand stretched out over all nations.

²⁷For the LORD Almighty has purposed, and who can thwart him?
His hand is stretched out, and who can turn it back?

A Prophecy Against the Philistines

²⁸This prophecy came in the year King Ahaz died:

²⁹Do not rejoice, all you Philistines, that the rod that struck you is broken;
from the root of that snake will spring up a viper, its fruit will be a darting, venomous serpent.

³⁰The poorest of the poor will find pasture, and the needy will lie down in safety.
But your root I will destroy by famine;
it will slay your survivors.

³¹Wail, you gate! Howl, you city!
Melt away, all you Philistines!
A cloud of smoke comes from the north,
and there is not a straggler in its ranks.

³²What answer shall be given to the envoys of that nation?
“The LORD has established Zion, and in her his afflicted people will find refuge.”

Isaiah 15

A Prophecy Against Moab

¹A prophecy against Moab:

Ar in Moab is ruined,
destroyed in a night!
Kir in Moab is ruined,
destroyed in a night!

²Dibon goes up to its temple,
to its high places to weep;
Moab wails over Nebo and Medeba.

Every head is shaved
and every beard cut off.

³In the streets they wear sackcloth;
on the roofs and in the public squares they all wail,
prostrate with weeping.

⁴Heshbon and Elealeh cry out, their voices are heard all the way to Jahaz.
Therefore the armed men of Moab cry out,
and their hearts are faint.

⁵My heart cries out over Moab;
her fugitives flee as far as Zoar,
as far as Eglath Shelishiyah.
They go up the hill to Luhith, weeping as they go;

on the road to Horonaim
they lament their destruction.

Unlovely

PROFILE in Leadership: Isaiah: A Leader's Heart of Love for the ⁶The waters of Nimrim are dried up and the grass is withered;

the vegetation is gone and nothing green is left.

⁷So the wealth they have acquired and stored up they carry away over the Ravine of the Poplars.

⁸Their outcry echoes along the border of Moab; their wailing reaches as far as Eglaim,
their lamentation as far as Beer Elim.

⁹The waters of Dimon^a are full of blood, but I will bring still more upon Dimon^b— a lion upon the fugitives of Moab and upon those who remain in the land.

Isaiah 16

¹Send lambs as tribute to the ruler of the land, from Sela, across the desert,
to the mount of Daughter Zion.

²Like fluttering birds pushed from the nest,
so are the women of Moab
at the fords of the Arnon.

³“Make up your mind,” Moab says.
“Render a decision.
Make your shadow like night—
at high noon.
Hide the fugitives,
do not betray the refugees.

⁴Let the Moabite fugitives stay with you;
be their shelter from the destroyer.”

The oppressor will come to an end, and destruction will cease;
the aggressor will vanish from the land.

⁵In love a throne will be established;
in faithfulness a man will sit on it—one from the house^a of David— one who in judging seeks justice and speeds the cause of righteousness.

⁶We have heard of Moab’s pride—
how great is her arrogance!—
of her conceit, her pride and her insolence;
but her boasts are empty.

⁷Therefore the Moabites wail, they wail together for Moab.

Lament and grieve
for the raisin cakes of Kir Hareseth.
⁸The fields of Heshbon wither,
the vines of Sibmah also.

The rulers of the nations have trampled down the choicest vines, which once reached Jazer

and spread toward the desert.

Their shoots spread out and went as far as the sea.^b

⁹So I weep, as Jazer weeps, for the vines of Sibmah.

Heshbon and Elealeh,
I drench you with tears!

The shouts of joy over your ripened fruit and over your harvests have been stilled.

¹⁰Joy and gladness are taken away from the orchards; no one sings or shouts in the vineyards;
no one treads out wine at the presses,
for I have put an end to the shouting.

¹¹My heart laments for Moab like a harp, my inmost being for Kir Hareseth.

¹²When Moab appears at her high place,
she only wears herself out;
when she goes to her shrine to pray,
it is to no avail.

¹³This is the word the LORD has already spoken concerning Moab. ¹⁴But now the LORD says: "Within three years, as a servant bound by contract would count them, Moab's splendor and all her many people will be despised, and her survivors will be very few and feeble."

Isaiah 17

A Prophecy Against Damascus

¹A prophecy against Damascus:

“See, Damascus will no longer be a city but will become a heap of ruins.

²The cities of Aroer will be deserted and left to flocks, which will lie down, with no one to make them afraid.

³The fortified city will disappear from Ephraim, and royal power from Damascus;
the remnant of Aram will be like the glory of the Israelites,”

declares the LORD Almighty.

⁴“In that day the glory of Jacob will fade; the fat of his body will waste away.

⁵It will be as when reapers harvest the standing grain, gathering the grain in their arms— as when someone gleans heads of grain in the Valley of Rephaim.

⁶Yet some gleanings will remain,
as when an olive tree is beaten,
leaving two or three olives on the topmost branches,
four or five on the fruitful boughs,” declares the LORD, the God of Israel.

⁷In that day people will look to their Maker and turn their eyes to the Holy
One of Israel.

⁸They will not look to the altars,
the work of their hands,
and they will have no regard for the Asherah poles^a and the incense altars their fingers have made.

⁹In that day their strong cities, which they left because of the Israelites, will be like places abandoned to thickets and undergrowth. And all will be desolation.

¹⁰You have forgotten God your Savior;
you have not remembered the Rock, your fortress.
Therefore, though you set out the finest plants

- and plant imported vines, ¹¹though on the day you set them out, you make them grow, and on the morning when you plant them, you bring them to bud, yet the harvest will be as nothing in the day of disease and incurable pain.
- ¹²Woe to the many nations that rage—
they rage like the raging sea!
Woe to the peoples who roar—
they roar like the roaring of great waters!
- ¹³Although the peoples roar like the roar of surging waters, when he rebukes them they flee far away, driven before the wind like chaff on the hills,
like tumbleweed before a gale.
- ¹⁴In the evening, sudden terror!
Before the morning, they are gone!
This is the portion of those who loot us,
the lot of those who plunder us.

Isaiah 18

A Prophecy Against Cush

¹Woe to the land of whirring wings^a along the rivers of Cush,^b

²which sends envoys by sea in papyrus boats over the water.

Go, swift messengers,
to a people tall and smooth-skinned,
to a people feared far and wide,
an aggressive nation of strange speech,
whose land is divided by rivers.

³All you people of the world,
you who live on the earth,
when a banner is raised on the mountains,
you will see it,
and when a trumpet sounds,
you will hear it.

⁴This is what the LORD says to me: “I will remain quiet and will look on from my dwelling place, like shimmering heat in the sunshine,
like a cloud of dew in the heat of harvest.”

⁵For, before the harvest, when the blossom is gone and the flower becomes a ripening grape,
he will cut off the shoots with pruning knives,
and cut down and take away the spreading branches.

⁶They will all be left to the mountain birds of prey and to the wild animals;
the birds will feed on them all summer,
the wild animals all winter.

⁷At that time gifts will be brought to the LORD Almighty from a people tall and smooth-skinned, from a people feared far and wide,

an aggressive nation of strange speech,
whose land is divided by rivers—

the gifts will be brought to Mount Zion, the place of the Name of the LORD Almighty.

Isaiah 19

A Prophecy Against Egypt

¹A prophecy against Egypt:

See, the LORD rides on a swift cloud and is coming to Egypt.
The idols of Egypt tremble before him,
and the hearts of the Egyptians melt with fear.

²“I will stir up Egyptian against Egyptian— brother will fight against brother, neighbor against neighbor,
city against city,
kingdom against kingdom.

³The Egyptians will lose heart, and I will bring their plans to nothing;
they will consult the idols and the spirits of the dead,
the mediums and the spiritists.

⁴I will hand the Egyptians over to the power of a cruel master, and a fierce king will rule over them,”
declares the Lord, the LORD Almighty.

⁵The waters of the river will dry up, and the riverbed will be parched and dry.

⁶The canals will stink;
the streams of Egypt will dwindle and dry up.

The reeds and rushes will wither,

⁷also the plants along the Nile,
at the mouth of the river.

Every sown field along the Nile will become parched, will blow away and be no more.

⁸The fishermen will groan and lament, all who cast hooks into the Nile;
those who throw nets on the water will pine away.

⁹Those who work with combed flax will despair, the weavers of fine linen will lose hope.

¹⁰The workers in cloth will be dejected, and all the wage earners will be sick at heart.

¹¹The officials of Zoan are nothing but fools; the wise counselors of Pharaoh give senseless advice.
How can you say to Pharaoh,
“I am one of the wise men,
a disciple of the ancient kings”? Personal Qualifications of Leadership ¹²Where are your wise men now?

Let them show you and make known what the LORD Almighty has planned against Egypt.

¹³The officials of Zoan have become fools,
the leaders of Memphis are deceived;

the cornerstones of her peoples have led Egypt astray.

¹⁴The LORD has poured into them a spirit of dizziness;
they make Egypt stagger in all that she does,
as a drunkard staggers around in his vomit.

¹⁵There is nothing Egypt can do—head or tail, palm branch or reed.

¹⁶In that day the Egyptians will become weaklings. They will shudder with fear at the uplifted hand that the LORD Almighty raises against them. ¹⁷And the land of Judah will bring terror to the Egyptians; everyone to whom Judah is mentioned will be terrified, because of what the LORD Almighty is planning against them.

¹⁸In that day five cities in Egypt will speak the language of Canaan and swear allegiance to the LORD Almighty. One of them will be called the City of the Sun.^a ¹⁹In that day there will be an altar to the LORD in the heart of Egypt, and a monument to the LORD at its border. ²⁰It will be a sign and witness to the LORD Almighty in the land of Egypt. When they cry out to the LORD because of their oppressors, he will send them a savior and defender, and he will rescue them. ²¹So the LORD will make himself known to the Egyptians, and in that day they will acknowledge the LORD. They will worship with sacrifices and grain offerings; they will make vows to the LORD and keep them. ²²The LORD will strike Egypt with a plague; he will strike them and heal them. They will turn to the LORD, and he will respond to their pleas and heal them.

²³In that day there will be a highway from Egypt to Assyria. The Assyrians will go to Egypt and the Egyptians to Assyria. The Egyptians and Assyrians will worship together. ²⁴In that day Israel will be the third, along with Egypt and Assyria, a blessing^b on the earth. ²⁵The LORD Almighty will bless them, saying, “Blessed be Egypt my people, Assyria my handiwork, and Israel my inheritance.”

Isaiah 20

A Prophecy Against Egypt and Cush

¹In the year that the supreme commander, sent by Sargon king of Assyria, came to Ashdod and attacked and captured it— ²at that time the LORD spoke through Isaiah son of Amoz. He said to him, “Take off the sackcloth from your body and the sandals from your feet.” And he did so, going around stripped and barefoot.

³Then the LORD said, “Just as my servant Isaiah has gone stripped and barefoot for three years, as a sign and portent against Egypt and Cush,^a ⁴so the king of Assyria will lead away stripped and barefoot the Egyptian captives and Cushite exiles, young and old, with buttocks bared—to Egypt’s shame. ⁵Those who trusted in Cush and boasted in Egypt will be dismayed and put to shame. ⁶In that day the people who live on this coast will say, ‘See what has happened to those we relied on, those we fled to for help and deliverance from the king of Assyria! How then can we escape?’ ”

Isaiah 21

A Prophecy Against Babylon

¹A prophecy against the Desert by the Sea:

Like whirlwinds sweeping through the southland, an invader comes from the desert,
from a land of terror.

²A dire vision has been shown to me:
The traitor betrays, the looter takes loot.
Elam, attack! Media, lay siege!
I will bring to an end all the groaning she caused.

³At this my body is racked with pain,
pangs seize me, like those of a woman in labor;
I am staggered by what I hear,
I am bewildered by what I see.

⁴My heart falters,
fear makes me tremble;

the twilight I longed for has become a horror to me.

⁵They set the tables,
they spread the rugs,
they eat, they drink!
Get up, you officers,
oil the shields!

⁶This is what the Lord says to me:

“Go, post a lookout and have him report what he sees.

⁷When he sees chariots with teams of horses, riders on donkeys or riders on camels,

let him be alert,
fully alert.”

⁸And the lookout^a shouted,

“Day after day, my lord, I stand on the watchtower;
every night I stay at my post.

⁹Look, here comes a man in a chariot with a team of horses.

And he gives back the answer:

‘Babylon has fallen, has fallen!

All the images of its gods lie shattered on the ground!’ ”

¹⁰My people who are crushed on the threshing floor, I tell you what I have heard from the LORD Almighty, from the God of Israel.

A Prophecy Against Edom

¹¹A prophecy against Dumah^b:

Someone calls to me from Seir,

“Watchman, what is left of the night?

Watchman, what is left of the night?”

¹²The watchman replies,

“Morning is coming, but also the night.

If you would ask, then ask;
and come back yet again.”

A Prophecy Against Arabia

¹³A prophecy against Arabia:

You caravans of Dedanites, who camp in the thickets of Arabia, ¹⁴bring water for the thirsty;
you who live in Tema,
bring food for the fugitives.

¹⁵They flee from the sword,
from the drawn sword,

from the bent bow
and from the heat of battle.

¹⁶This is what the Lord says to me: “Within one year, as a servant bound by contract would count it, all the splendor of Kedar will come to an end. ¹⁷The survivors of the archers, the warriors of Kedar, will be few.” The LORD, the God of Israel, has spoken.

Isaiah 22

A Prophecy About Jerusalem

¹A prophecy against the Valley of Vision:

What troubles you now,
that you have all gone up on the roofs, ²you town so full of commotion,
you city of tumult and revelry?
Your slain were not killed by the sword,
nor did they die in battle.
³All your leaders have fled together;
they have been captured without using the bow.
All you who were caught were taken prisoner together,
having fled while the enemy was still far away.
⁴Therefore I said, "Turn away from me;
let me weep bitterly.
Do not try to console me
over the destruction of my people."

⁵The Lord, the LORD Almighty, has a day of tumult and trampling and terror
in the Valley of Vision,
a day of battering down walls and of crying out to the mountains.

⁶Elam takes up the quiver, with her charioteers and horses;
Kir uncovers the shield.

⁷Your choicest valleys are full of chariots, and horsemen are posted at the city gates.

⁸The Lord stripped away the defenses of Judah, and you looked in that day to the weapons in the Palace of the Forest.

⁹You saw that the walls of the City of David were broken through in many places;

you stored up water
in the Lower Pool.

¹⁰You counted the buildings in Jerusalem and tore down houses to strengthen the wall.

¹¹You built a reservoir between the two walls for the water of the Old Pool, but you did not look to the One who made it, or have regard for the One who planned it long ago.

¹²The Lord, the LORD Almighty, called you on that day to weep and to wail,
to tear out your hair and put on sackcloth.

¹³But see, there is joy and revelry, slaughtering of cattle and killing of sheep,
eating of meat and drinking of wine!
“Let us eat and drink,” you say,
“for tomorrow we die!”

¹⁴The LORD Almighty has revealed this in my hearing: “Till your dying day this sin will not be atoned for,” says the Lord, the LORD Almighty.

¹⁵This is what the Lord, the LORD Almighty, says:

“Go, say to this steward,
to Shebna the palace administrator:

¹⁶What are you doing here and who gave you permission to cut out a grave for yourself here,
hewing your grave on the height and chiseling your resting place in the rock?

¹⁷“Beware, the LORD is about to take firm hold of you and hurl you away, you mighty man.

¹⁸He will roll you up tightly like a ball and throw you into a large country.

There you will die and there the chariots you were so proud of will become a disgrace to your master's house.

¹⁹I will depose you from your office,
and you will be ousted from your position.

²⁰"In that day I will summon my servant, Eliakim son of Hilkiah. ²¹I will clothe him with your robe and fasten your sash around him and hand your authority over to him. He will be a father to those who live in Jerusalem and to the people of Judah. ²²I will place on his shoulder the key to the house of David; what he opens no one can shut, and what he shuts no one can open. ²³I will drive him like a peg into a firm place; he will become a seat^a of honor for the house of his father. ²⁴All the glory of his family will hang on him: its offspring and offshoots—all its lesser vessels, from the bowls to all the jars.

²⁵"In that day," declares the LORD Almighty, "the peg driven into the firm place will give way; it will be sheared off and will fall, and the load hanging on it will be cut down." The LORD has spoken.

Isaiah 23

A Prophecy Against Tyre

¹A prophecy against Tyre:

Wail, you ships of Tarshish!

For Tyre is destroyed and left without house or harbor.

From the land of Cyprus word has come to them. God's Providence: He Raises Up Leaders and Brings Them Down

²Be silent, you people of the island and you merchants of Sidon, whom the seafarers have enriched.

³On the great waters came the grain of the Shihor;
the harvest of the Nile^a was the revenue of Tyre, and she became the marketplace of the nations.

⁴Be ashamed, Sidon, and you fortress of the sea, for the sea has spoken:
“I have neither been in labor nor given birth;
I have neither reared sons nor brought up daughters.”

⁵When word comes to Egypt,
they will be in anguish at the report from Tyre.

⁶Cross over to Tarshish;
wail, you people of the island.

⁷Is this your city of revelry,
the old, old city,

- whose feet have taken her to settle in far-off lands?
- ⁸Who planned this against Tyre,
the bestower of crowns,
whose merchants are princes,
whose traders are renowned in the earth?
- ⁹The LORD Almighty planned it, to bring down her pride in all her splendor
and to humble all who are renowned on the earth.
- ¹⁰Till^b your land as they do along the Nile, Daughter Tarshish, for you no longer have a harbor.
- ¹¹The LORD has stretched out his hand over the sea and made its kingdoms tremble.
He has given an order concerning Phoenicia that her fortresses be destroyed.
- ¹²He said, “No more of your reveling, Virgin Daughter Sidon, now crushed!
- “Up, cross over to Cyprus;
even there you will find no rest.”
- ¹³Look at the land of the Babylonians,^c
this people that is now of no account!

The Assyrians have made it a place for desert creatures;
they raised up their siege towers,

they stripped its fortresses bare and turned it into a ruin.

¹⁴Wail, you ships of Tarshish;
your fortress is destroyed!

¹⁵At that time Tyre will be forgotten for seventy years, the span of a king's life. But at the end of these seventy years, it will happen to Tyre as in the song of the prostitute:

¹⁶“Take up a harp, walk through the city,
you forgotten prostitute;
play the harp well, sing many a song,
so that you will be remembered.”

¹⁷At the end of seventy years, the LORD will deal with Tyre. She will return to her lucrative prostitution and will ply her trade with all the kingdoms on the face of the earth. ¹⁸Yet her profit and her earnings will be set apart for the LORD; they will not be stored up or hoarded. Her profits will go to those who live before the LORD, for abundant food and fine clothes.

Isaiah 24

The LORD's Devastation of the Earth

¹See, the LORD is going to lay waste the earth and devastate it;

he will ruin its face and scatter its inhabitants—

²it will be the same for priest as for people,
for the master as for his servant,
for the mistress as for her servant,
for seller as for buyer,
for borrower as for lender,
for debtor as for creditor.

³The earth will be completely laid waste and totally plundered.

The LORD has spoken this word.

⁴The earth dries up and withers,
the world languishes and withers,
the heavens languish with the earth.

⁵The earth is defiled by its people;
they have disobeyed the laws,

- violated the statutes and broken the everlasting covenant.
- ⁶Therefore a curse consumes the earth;
its people must bear their guilt.
Therefore earth's inhabitants are burned up,
and very few are left.
- ⁷The new wine dries up and the vine withers; all the merry-makers groan.
- ⁸The joyful timbrels are stilled,
the noise of the revelers has stopped,
the joyful harp is silent.
- ⁹No longer do they drink wine with a song;
the beer is bitter to its drinkers.
- ¹⁰The ruined city lies desolate;
the entrance to every house is barred.
- ¹¹In the streets they cry out for wine;
all joy turns to gloom,
all joyful sounds are banished from the earth.
- ¹²The city is left in ruins,
its gate is battered to pieces.
- ¹³So will it be on the earth and among the nations,
as when an olive tree is beaten,
or as when gleanings are left after the grape harvest.
- ¹⁴They raise their voices, they shout for joy; from the west they acclaim the LORD's majesty.
- ¹⁵Therefore in the east give glory to the LORD; exalt the name of the LORD, the God of Israel, in the islands of the sea.
- ¹⁶From the ends of the earth we hear singing: "Glory to the Righteous One."

But I said, "I waste away, I waste away!
Woe to me!
The treacherous betray!
With treachery the treacherous betray!"

¹⁷Terror and pit and snare await you, people of the earth.

¹⁸Whoever flees at the sound of terror
will fall into a pit;
whoever climbs out of the pit
will be caught in a snare.

The floodgates of the heavens are opened,
the foundations of the earth shake.

¹⁹The earth is broken up,
the earth is split asunder,
the earth is violently shaken.

²⁰The earth reels like a drunkard,
it sways like a hut in the wind;
so heavy upon it is the guilt of its rebellion that it falls—never to rise again.

²¹In that day the LORD will punish the powers in the heavens above and the kings on the earth below.

²²They will be herded together like prisoners bound in a dungeon;
they will be shut up in prison and be punished^a after many days.

²³The moon will be dismayed,
the sun ashamed;
for the LORD Almighty will reign on Mount Zion and in Jerusalem, and before its elders—with great glory.

Isaiah 25

Praise to the LORD

¹LORD, you are my God; I will exalt you and praise your name, for in perfect faithfulness

you have done wonderful things, things planned long ago. Vision: Great Leaders Never Lose Sight of the Big Picture

²You have made the city a heap of rubble, the fortified town a ruin,
the foreigners' stronghold a city no more;
it will never be rebuilt.

³Therefore strong peoples will honor you;
cities of ruthless nations will revere you.

⁴You have been a refuge for the poor,
a refuge for the needy in their distress,

a shelter from the storm and a shade from the heat.
For the breath of the ruthless is like a storm driving against a wall ⁵and like the heat of the desert.
You silence the uproar of foreigners;
as heat is reduced by the shadow of a cloud,
so the song of the ruthless is stilled.

⁶On this mountain the LORD Almighty will prepare a feast of rich food for all peoples,
a banquet of aged wine—
the best of meats and the finest of wines.

⁷On this mountain he will destroy the shroud that enfolds all peoples,
the sheet that covers all nations;
⁸he will swallow up death forever.
The Sovereign LORD will wipe away the tears from all faces;
he will remove his people's disgrace
from all the earth.

The LORD has spoken.

⁹In that day they will say,
“Surely this is our God;
we trusted in him, and he saved us.
This is the LORD, we trusted in him;
let us rejoice and be glad in his salvation.”

¹⁰The hand of the LORD will rest on this mountain; but Moab will be trampled in their land
as straw is trampled down in the manure.

¹¹They will stretch out their hands in it,
as swimmers stretch out their hands to swim.
God will bring down their pride
despite the cleverness^a of their hands.

¹²He will bring down your high fortified walls and lay them low;
he will bring them down to the ground,
to the very dust.

Isaiah 26

A Song of Praise

¹In that day this song will be sung in the land of Judah:

We have a strong city;

God makes salvation its walls and ramparts.

²Open the gates that the righteous nation may enter,
the nation that keeps faith.

³You will keep in perfect peace
those whose minds are steadfast, because they trust in you. Leaders Manage Stress by Managing Perspective

⁴Trust in the LORD forever, for the LORD, the LORD himself, is the Rock eternal.

⁵He humbles those who dwell on high,
he lays the lofty city low;
he levels it to the ground and casts it down to the dust.

⁶Feet trample it down—
the feet of the oppressed,
the footsteps of the poor.

⁷The path of the righteous is level;
you, the Upright One, make the way of the righteous smooth.

⁸Yes, LORD, walking in the way of your laws,^a we wait for you;

your name and renown
are the desire of our hearts.

⁹My soul yearns for you in the night;
in the morning my spirit longs for you.
When your judgments come upon the earth,
the people of the world learn righteousness.

¹⁰But when grace is shown to the wicked,
they do not learn righteousness;
even in a land of uprightness they go on doing evil and do not regard the majesty of the LORD.

¹¹LORD, your hand is lifted high, but they do not see it.
Let them see your zeal for your people and be put to shame;
let the fire reserved for your enemies consume them.

¹²LORD, you establish peace for us; all that we have accomplished you have done for us.

¹³LORD our God, other lords besides you have ruled over us, but your name alone do we honor.

¹⁴They are now dead, they live no more;
their spirits do not rise.
You punished them and brought them to ruin;
you wiped out all memory of them.

¹⁵You have enlarged the nation, LORD; you have enlarged the nation.
You have gained glory for yourself;
you have extended all the borders of the land.

¹⁶LORD, they came to you in their distress; when you disciplined them, they could barely whisper a prayer.^b

¹⁷As a pregnant woman about to give birth writhes and cries out in her pain, so were we in your presence, LORD.

¹⁸We were with child, we writhed in labor,
but we gave birth to wind.
We have not brought salvation to the earth, and the people of the world have not come to life.

¹⁹But your dead will live, LORD; their bodies will rise— let those who dwell in the dust

wake up and shout for joy—
your dew is like the dew of the morning;
the earth will give birth to her dead.

²⁰Go, my people, enter your rooms and shut the doors behind you; hide yourselves for a little while until his wrath has passed by.

²¹See, the LORD is coming out of his dwelling to punish the people of the earth for their sins.
The earth will disclose the blood shed on it;
the earth will conceal its slain no longer.

Isaiah 27

Deliverance of Israel

¹In that day,

the LORD will punish with his sword—his fierce, great and powerful sword—Leviathan the gliding serpent, Leviathan the coiling serpent;
he will slay the monster of the sea.

²In that day—

“Sing about a fruitful vineyard:

³I, the LORD, watch over it; I water it continually.
I guard it day and night
so that no one may harm it.

⁴I am not angry.

If only there were briers and thorns confronting me!
I would march against them in battle;
I would set them all on fire.

⁵Or else let them come to me for refuge;
let them make peace with me,
yes, let them make peace with me.”

⁶In days to come Jacob will take root,

Israel will bud and blossom and fill all the world with fruit.

⁷Has the LORD struck her as he struck down those who struck her?

Has she been killed
as those were killed who killed her?

⁸By warfare^a and exile you contend with her— with his fierce blast he drives her out,
as on a day the east wind blows.

⁹By this, then, will Jacob's guilt be atoned for, and this will be the full fruit of the removal of his sin:

When he makes all the altar stones to be like limestone crushed to pieces, no Asherah poles^b or incense altars will be left standing.

¹⁰The fortified city stands desolate, an abandoned settlement, forsaken like the wilderness;
there the calves graze,
there they lie down;
they strip its branches bare.

¹¹When its twigs are dry, they are broken off and women come and make fires with them.

For this is a people without understanding;
so their Maker has no compassion on them,
and their Creator shows them no favor.

¹²In that day the LORD will thresh from the flowing Euphrates to the Wadi of Egypt, and you, Israel, will be gathered up one by one. ¹³And in that day a great trumpet will sound. Those who were perishing in Assyria and those who were exiled in Egypt will come and worship the LORD on the holy mountain in Jerusalem.

Isaiah 28

Woe to the Leaders of Ephraim and Judah

- ¹Woe to that wreath, the pride of Ephraim's drunkards, to the fading flower, his glorious beauty,
set on the head of a fertile valley—
to that city, the pride of those laid low by wine!
- ²See, the Lord has one who is powerful and strong.
Like a hailstorm and a destructive wind,
like a driving rain and a flooding downpour,
he will throw it forcefully to the ground.
- ³That wreath, the pride of Ephraim's drunkards, will be trampled underfoot.
- ⁴That fading flower, his glorious beauty,
set on the head of a fertile valley,
will be like figs ripe before harvest—
as soon as people see them and take them in hand, they swallow them.
- ⁵In that day the LORD Almighty will be a glorious crown, a beautiful wreath

for the remnant of his people.

⁶He will be a spirit of justice to the one who sits in judgment,

a source of strength to those who turn back the battle at the gate.

⁷And these also stagger from wine and reel from beer:
Priests and prophets stagger from beer and are befuddled with wine;
they reel from beer,
they stagger when seeing visions,
they stumble when rendering decisions.

⁸All the tables are covered with vomit and there is not a spot without filth.

⁹“Who is it he is trying to teach?
To whom is he explaining his message?
To children weaned from their milk,
to those just taken from the breast?

¹⁰For it is:
Do this, do that,
a rule for this, a rule for that^a; a little here, a little there.”

¹¹Very well then, with foreign lips and strange tongues God will speak to this people,

¹²to whom he said,
“This is the resting place, let the weary rest”;
and, “This is the place of repose”—
but they would not listen.

¹³So then, the word of the LORD to them will become: Do this, do that,
a rule for this, a rule for that;
a little here, a little there—
so that as they go they will fall backward;
they will be injured and snared and captured.

¹⁴Therefore hear the word of the LORD, you scoffers who rule this people in Jerusalem.

¹⁵You boast, “We have entered into a covenant with death, with the realm of the dead we have made an agreement.
When an overwhelming scourge sweeps by,

it cannot touch us,
for we have made a lie our refuge and falsehood^b our hiding place.”

¹⁶So this is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“See, I lay a stone in Zion, a tested stone,
a precious cornerstone for a sure foundation;
the one who relies on it will never be stricken with panic.

¹⁷I will make justice the measuring line and righteousness the plumb line;
hail will sweep away your refuge, the lie,
and water will overflow your hiding place.

¹⁸Your covenant with death will be annulled; your agreement with the realm of the dead will not stand.

When the overwhelming scourge sweeps by,
you will be beaten down by it.

¹⁹As often as it comes it will carry you away; morning after morning, by day and by night,
it will sweep through.”

The understanding of this message will bring sheer terror.

²⁰The bed is too short to stretch out on,
the blanket too narrow to wrap around you.

²¹The LORD will rise up as he did at Mount Perazim, he will rouse himself as in the Valley of Gibeon— to do his work, his strange work, and perform his task, his alien task.

²²Now stop your mocking, or your chains will become heavier;
the Lord, the LORD Almighty, has told me of the destruction decreed against the whole land.

²³Listen and hear my voice;
pay attention and hear what I say.

²⁴When a farmer plows for planting, does he plow continually?
Does he keep on breaking up and working the soil?

²⁵When he has leveled the surface,
does he not sow caraway and scatter cumin?
Does he not plant wheat in its place,^c barley in its plot,^d and spelt in its field?

²⁶His God instructs him and teaches him the right way.

²⁷Caraway is not threshed with a sledge,
nor is the wheel of a cart rolled over cumin;
caraway is beaten out with a rod,
and cumin with a stick.

²⁸Grain must be ground to make bread;
so one does not go on threshing it forever.
The wheels of a threshing cart may be rolled over it,
but one does not use horses to grind grain.

²⁹All this also comes from the LORD Almighty, whose plan is wonderful, whose wisdom is magnificent.

Isaiah 29

Woe to David's City

¹Woe to you, Ariel, Ariel,
the city where David settled!

- Add year to year
and let your cycle of festivals go on.
- ²Yet I will besiege Ariel;
she will mourn and lament,
she will be to me like an altar hearth.^a
- ³I will encamp against you on all sides;
I will encircle you with towers and set up my siege works against you.
- ⁴Brought low, you will speak from the ground; your speech will mumble out of the dust.
Your voice will come ghostlike from the earth;
out of the dust your speech will whisper.
- ⁵But your many enemies will become like fine dust, the ruthless hordes like blown chaff.
Suddenly, in an instant,
⁶the LORD Almighty will come with thunder and earthquake and great noise,
with windstorm and tempest and flames of a devouring fire.
- ⁷Then the hordes of all the nations that fight against Ariel, that attack her and her fortress and besiege her, will be as it is with a dream,
with a vision in the night—
- ⁸as when a hungry person dreams of eating,
but awakens hungry still;
as when a thirsty person dreams of drinking,
but awakens faint and thirsty still.
So will it be with the hordes of all the nations that fight against Mount Zion.
- ⁹Be stunned and amazed,
blind yourselves and be sightless;
be drunk, but not from wine,
stagger, but not from beer.
- ¹⁰The LORD has brought over you a deep sleep: He has sealed your eyes (the prophets);
he has covered your heads (the seers).

¹¹For you this whole vision is nothing but words sealed in a scroll. And if you give the scroll to someone who can read, and say, “Read this, please,” they will answer, “I can’t; it is sealed.” ¹²Or if you give the scroll to someone who cannot read, and say, “Read this, please,” they will answer, “I don’t know how to read.”

¹³The Lord says:

“These people come near to me with their mouth and honor me with their lips, but their hearts are far from me.

Their worship of me
is based on merely human rules they have been taught.^b

¹⁴Therefore once more I will astound these people with wonder upon wonder;
the wisdom of the wise will perish,
the intelligence of the intelligent will vanish.”

¹⁵Woe to those who go to great depths to hide their plans from the LORD, who do their work in darkness and think,
“Who sees us? Who will know?”

¹⁶You turn things upside down, as if the potter were thought to be like the clay!
Shall what is formed say to the one who formed it,
“You did not make me”?
Can the pot say to the potter,
“You know nothing”?

¹⁷In a very short time, will not Lebanon be turned into a fertile field and the fertile field seem like a forest?

¹⁸In that day the deaf will hear the words of the scroll, and out of gloom and darkness
the eyes of the blind will see.

¹⁹Once more the humble will rejoice in the LORD; the needy will rejoice in the Holy One of Israel.

²⁰The ruthless will vanish,
the mockers will disappear,
and all who have an eye for evil will be cut down—

²¹those who with a word make someone out to be guilty, who ensnare the defender in court
and with false testimony deprive the innocent of justice.

²²Therefore this is what the LORD, who redeemed Abraham, says to the descendants of Jacob:

“No longer will Jacob be ashamed;
no longer will their faces grow pale.

²³When they see among them their children,
the work of my hands,

they will keep my name holy;
they will acknowledge the holiness of the Holy One of Jacob, and will stand in awe of the God of Israel.

²⁴Those who are wayward in spirit will gain understanding; those who complain will accept instruction.”

Isaiah 30

Woe to the Obstinate Nation

- ¹“Woe to the obstinate children,”
declares the LORD,
“to those who carry out plans that are not mine, forming an alliance, but not by my Spirit, heaping sin upon sin; Strategic Planning: Where God Fits In
- ²who go down to Egypt
without consulting me;
who look for help to Pharaoh’s protection,
to Egypt’s shade for refuge.
- ³But Pharaoh’s protection will be to your shame, Egypt’s shade will bring you disgrace.
- ⁴Though they have officials in Zoan and their envoys have arrived in Hanes,
- ⁵everyone will be put to shame
because of a people useless to them, who bring neither help nor advantage,
but only shame and disgrace.”
- ⁶A prophecy concerning the animals of the Negev:
- Through a land of hardship and distress,
of lions and lionesses,
of adders and darting snakes,
the envoys carry their riches on donkeys’ backs,
their treasures on the humps of camels,
to that unprofitable nation,
⁷to Egypt, whose help is utterly useless.

Therefore I call her Rahab the Do-Nothing.

⁸Go now, write it on a tablet for them,
inscribe it on a scroll,
that for the days to come
it may be an everlasting witness.

⁹For these are rebellious people, deceitful children, children unwilling to listen to the LORD's instruction.

¹⁰They say to the seers,
"See no more visions!"
and to the prophets,
"Give us no more visions of what is right!
Tell us pleasant things, prophecy illusions.

¹¹Leave this way,
get off this path,

and stop confronting us with the Holy One of Israel!”

¹²Therefore this is what the Holy One of Israel says:

“Because you have rejected this message, relied on oppression

and depended on deceit, ¹³this sin will become for you like a high wall, cracked and bulging, that collapses suddenly, in an instant.
¹⁴It will break in pieces like pottery, shattered so mercilessly that among its pieces not a fragment will be found for taking coals from a hearth or scooping water out of a cistern.”

¹⁵This is what the Sovereign LORD, the Holy One of Israel, says:

“In repentance and rest is your salvation, in quietness and trust is your strength,
but you would have none of it.

¹⁶You said, ‘No, we will flee on horses.’

Therefore you will flee!

You said, ‘We will ride off on swift horses.’

Therefore your pursuers will be swift!

¹⁷A thousand will flee at the threat of one;

at the threat of five
you will all flee away,

till you are left like a flagstaff on a mountaintop, like a banner on a hill.”

¹⁸Yet the LORD longs to be gracious to you; therefore he will rise up to show you compassion.
For the LORD is a God of justice.
Blessed are all who wait for him!

¹⁹People of Zion, who live in Jerusalem, you will weep no more. How gracious he will be when you cry for help! As soon as he hears, he will answer you. ²⁰Although the Lord gives you the bread of adversity and the water of affliction, your teachers will be hidden no more; with your own eyes you will see them. ²¹Whether you turn to the right or to the left, your ears will hear a voice behind you, saying, “This is the way; walk in it.” ²²Then you will desecrate your idols overlaid with silver and your images covered with gold; you will throw them away like a menstrual cloth and say to them, “Away with you!”

²³He will also send you rain for the seed you sow in the ground, and the food that comes from the land will be rich and plentiful. In that day your cattle will graze in broad meadows. ²⁴The oxen and donkeys that work the soil will eat fodder and mash, spread out with fork and shovel. ²⁵In the day of great slaughter, when the towers fall, streams of water will flow on every high mountain and every lofty hill. ²⁶The moon will shine like the sun, and the sunlight will be seven times brighter, like the light of seven full days, when the LORD binds up the bruises of his people and heals the wounds he inflicted.

²⁷See, the Name of the LORD comes from afar, with burning anger and dense clouds of smoke;
his lips are full of wrath,
and his tongue is a consuming fire.

²⁸His breath is like a rushing torrent, rising up to the neck.
He shakes the nations in the sieve of destruction;
he places in the jaws of the peoples
a bit that leads them astray.

²⁹And you will sing
as on the night you celebrate a holy festival;

your hearts will rejoice
as when people playing pipes go up to the mountain of the LORD, to the Rock of Israel.

³⁰The LORD will cause people to hear his majestic voice and will make them see his arm coming down with raging anger and consuming fire, with cloudburst, thunderstorm and hail.

³¹The voice of the LORD will shatter Assyria; with his rod he will strike them down.

³²Every stroke the LORD lays on them with his punishing club will be to the music of timbrels and harps, as he fights them in battle with the blows of his arm.

³³Topheth has long been prepared;
it has been made ready for the king.
Its fire pit has been made deep and wide,
with an abundance of fire and wood;
the breath of the LORD,
like a stream of burning sulfur,
sets it ablaze.

Isaiah 31

Woe to Those Who Rely on Egypt

¹Woe to those who go down to Egypt for help, who rely on horses, who trust in the multitude of their chariots and in the great strength of their horsemen, but do not look to the Holy One of Israel,
or seek help from the LORD.

²Yet he too is wise and can bring disaster;
he does not take back his words.
He will rise up against that wicked nation, against those who help evildoers.

³But the Egyptians are mere mortals and not God; their horses are flesh and not spirit.
When the LORD stretches out his hand,
those who help will stumble,
those who are helped will fall;
all will perish together.

⁴This is what the LORD says to me:

“As a lion growls,
a great lion over its prey—and though a whole band of shepherds is called together against it, it is not frightened by their shouts or disturbed by their clamor—so the LORD Almighty will come down to do battle on Mount Zion and on its heights.

⁵Like birds hovering overhead,
the LORD Almighty will shield Jerusalem;
he will shield it and deliver it,
he will ‘pass over’ it and will rescue it.”

⁶Return, you Israelites, to the One you have so greatly revolted against. ⁷For in that day every one of you will reject the idols of silver and gold your sinful hands have made.

⁸“Assyria will fall by no human sword;
a sword, not of mortals, will devour them.

They will flee before the sword and their young men will be put to forced labor.

⁹Their stronghold will fall because of terror; at the sight of the battle standard their commanders will panic,”

declares the LORD,
whose fire is in Zion,
whose furnace is in Jerusalem.

Isaiah 32

The Kingdom of Righteousness

¹See, a king will reign in righteousness and rulers will rule with justice.

²Each one will be like a shelter from the wind and a refuge from the storm, like streams of water in the desert and the shadow of a great rock in a thirsty land.

³Then the eyes of those who see will no longer be closed, and the ears of those who hear will listen.

⁴The fearful heart will know and understand, and the stammering tongue will be fluent and clear.

⁵No longer will the fool be called noble nor the scoundrel be highly respected.

⁶For fools speak folly,
their hearts are bent on evil:

They practice ungodliness and spread error concerning the LORD;

the hungry they leave empty and from the thirsty they withhold water.
⁷Scoundrels use wicked methods,

they make up evil schemes to destroy the poor with lies, even when the plea of the needy is just.
⁸But the noble make noble plans, and by noble deeds they stand.

The Women of Jerusalem

- ⁹You women who are so complacent, rise up and listen to me;
 you daughters who feel secure,
 hear what I have to say!
- ¹⁰In little more than a year
 you who feel secure will tremble;
 the grape harvest will fail,
 and the harvest of fruit will not come.
- ¹¹Tremble, you complacent women;
 shudder, you daughters who feel secure!

Strip off your fine clothes and wrap yourselves in rags.

¹²Beat your breasts for the pleasant fields, for the fruitful vines ¹³and for the land of my people, a land overgrown with thorns and briers—yes, mourn for all houses of merriment and for this city of revelry.

¹⁴The fortress will be abandoned,
the noisy city deserted;
citadel and watchtower will become a wasteland forever,
the delight of donkeys, a pasture for flocks,

¹⁵till the Spirit is poured on us from on high, and the desert becomes a fertile field,
and the fertile field seems like a forest.

¹⁶The LORD's justice will dwell in the desert, his righteousness live in the fertile field.

¹⁷The fruit of that righteousness will be peace; its effect will be quietness and confidence forever.

¹⁸My people will live in peaceful dwelling places, in secure homes, in undisturbed places of rest.

¹⁹Though hail flattens the forest and the city is leveled completely,

²⁰how blessed you will be,
sowing your seed by every stream,
and letting your cattle and donkeys range free.

Isaiah 33

Distress and Help

¹Woe to you, destroyer,
 you who have not been destroyed!
Woe to you, betrayer,
 you who have not been betrayed!
When you stop destroying,
 you will be destroyed;
when you stop betraying,
 you will be betrayed.

²LORD, be gracious to us; we long for you.
 Be our strength every morning,
 our salvation in time of distress.

³At the uproar of your army, the peoples flee; when you rise up, the nations scatter.

⁴Your plunder, O nations, is harvested as by young locusts; like a swarm of locusts people pounce on it.

⁵The LORD is exalted, for he dwells on high; he will fill Zion with his justice and righteousness.

⁶He will be the sure foundation for your times, a rich store of salvation and wisdom and knowledge;
 the fear of the LORD is the key to this treasure.^a ⁷Look, their brave men cry aloud in the streets; the envoys of peace weep bitterly.

⁸The highways are deserted,
 no travelers are on the roads.
The treaty is broken,
 its witnesses^b are despised, no one is respected.

⁹The land dries up and wastes away,
 Lebanon is ashamed and withers;
Sharon is like the Arabah,
 and Bashan and Carmel drop their leaves.

¹⁰“Now will I arise,” says the LORD.
 “Now will I be exalted;
 now will I be lifted up

now will I be lifted up.

¹¹You conceive chaff,
you give birth to straw;
your breath is a fire that consumes you.

¹²The peoples will be burned to ashes;
like cut thornbushes they will be set ablaze.”

¹³You who are far away, hear what I have done; you who are near, acknowledge my power!

¹⁴The sinners in Zion are terrified;
trembling grips the godless:
“Who of us can dwell with the consuming fire?
Who of us can dwell with everlasting burning?”

The Law of Solid Ground: Leaders

Must Earn Trust

¹⁵Those who walk righteously and speak what is right,

- who reject gain from extortion and keep their hands from accepting bribes, who stop their ears against plots of murder and shut their eyes against contemplating evil—
- ¹⁶they are the ones who will dwell on the heights, whose refuge will be the mountain fortress.
Their bread will be supplied,
and water will not fail them.
- ¹⁷Your eyes will see the king in his beauty and view a land that stretches afar.
- ¹⁸In your thoughts you will ponder the former terror: “Where is that chief officer?
Where is the one who took the revenue?
Where is the officer in charge of the towers?”
- ¹⁹You will see those arrogant people no more, people whose speech is obscure,
whose language is strange and incomprehensible.
- ²⁰Look on Zion, the city of our festivals;
your eyes will see Jerusalem,
a peaceful abode, a tent that will not be moved;
its stakes will never be pulled up,
nor any of its ropes broken.
- ²¹There the LORD will be our Mighty One.
It will be like a place of broad rivers and streams.
No galley with oars will ride them,
no mighty ship will sail them.
- ²²For the LORD is our judge, the LORD is our lawgiver, the LORD is our king;
it is he who will save us.
- ²³Your rigging hangs loose:
The mast is not held secure,
the sail is not spread.
Then an abundance of spoils will be divided and even the lame will carry off plunder.

²⁴No one living in Zion will say, “I am ill”; and the sins of those who dwell there will be forgiven.

Isaiah 34

Judgment Against the Nations

- ¹Come near, you nations, and listen;
pay attention, you peoples!
Let the earth hear, and all that is in it,
the world, and all that comes out of it!
- ²The LORD is angry with all nations; his wrath is on all their armies.
He will totally destroy^a them, he will give them over to slaughter.
- ³Their slain will be thrown out, their dead bodies will stink;
the mountains will be soaked with their blood.
- ⁴All the stars in the sky will be dissolved and the heavens rolled up like a scroll;
all the starry host will fall like withered leaves from the vine, like shriveled figs from the fig tree.
- ⁵My sword has drunk its fill in the heavens; see, it descends in judgment on Edom,
the people I have totally destroyed.
- ⁶The sword of the LORD is bathed in blood, it is covered with fat— the blood of lambs and goats, fat from the kidneys of rams.
For the LORD has a sacrifice in Bozrah and a great slaughter in the land of Edom.
- ⁷And the wild oxen will fall with them,
the bull calves and the great bulls.
Their land will be drenched with blood, and the dust will be soaked with fat.
- ⁸For the LORD has a day of vengeance, a year of retribution, to uphold Zion's cause.
- ⁹Edom's streams will be turned into pitch,
her dust into burning sulfur;
her land will become blazing pitch!
- ¹⁰It will not be quenched night or day;
its smoke will rise forever.

^aFrom destruction to destruction, its will be destroyed.

From generation to generation it will lie desolate;
no one will ever pass through it again.

¹¹The desert owl^b and screech owl^c will possess it; the great owl^d and the raven will nest there.

God will stretch out over Edom

the measuring line of chaos and the plumb line of desolation.

¹²Her nobles will have nothing there to be called a kingdom, all her princes will vanish away.

¹³Thorns will overrun her citadels, nettles and brambles her strongholds.
She will become a haunt for jackals,
a home for owls.

¹⁴Desert creatures will meet with hyenas, and wild goats will bleat to each other;
there the night creatures will also lie down and find for themselves places of rest.

¹⁵The owl will nest there and lay eggs, she will hatch them, and care for her young under the shadow of her wings;
there also the falcons will gather,
each with its mate.

¹⁶Look in the scroll of the LORD and read:

None of these will be missing,
not one will lack her mate.
For it is his mouth that has given the order, and his Spirit will gather them together.

¹⁷He allots their portions;
his hand distributes them by measure.

They will possess it forever and dwell there from generation to generation.

Isaiah 35

Joy of the Redeemed

¹The desert and the parched land will be glad; the wilderness will rejoice and blossom.

Like the crocus, ²it will burst into bloom; it will rejoice greatly and shout for joy.

The glory of Lebanon will be given to it,
the splendor of Carmel and Sharon;
they will see the glory of the LORD,
the splendor of our God.

³Strengthen the feeble hands, steady the knees that give way;

⁴say to those with fearful hearts,
“Be strong, do not fear;
your God will come,
he will come with vengeance;

with divine retribution
he will come to save you.”

⁵Then will the eyes of the blind be opened and the ears of the deaf unstopped.

⁶Then will the lame leap like a deer,
and the mute tongue shout for joy.
Water will gush forth in the wilderness and streams in the desert.

⁷The burning sand will become a pool,
the thirsty ground bubbling springs.
In the haunts where jackals once lay,
grass and reeds and papyrus will grow.

⁸And a highway will be there;
it will be called the Way of Holiness;
it will be for those who walk on that Way.
The unclean will not journey on it;
wicked fools will not go about on it.

⁹No lion will be there,
nor any ravenous beast;
they will not be found there.
But only the redeemed will walk there,
¹⁰and those the LORD has rescued will return.

They will enter Zion with singing;
everlasting joy will crown their heads.
Gladness and joy will overtake them,
and sorrow and sighing will flee away.

Isaiah 36

Sennacherib Threatens Jerusalem

¹In the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah's reign, Sennacherib king of Assyria attacked all the fortified cities of Judah and captured them. ²Then the king of Assyria sent his field commander with a large army from Lachish to King Hezekiah at Jerusalem. When the commander stopped at the aqueduct of the Upper Pool, on the road to the Launderer's Field, ³Eliakim son of Hilkiyah the palace administrator, Shebna the secretary, and Joah son of Asaph the recorder went out to him.

⁴The field commander said to them, "Tell Hezekiah:

" 'This is what the great king, the king of Assyria, says: On what are you basing this confidence of yours? ⁵You say you have counsel and might for war—but you speak only empty words. On whom are you depending, that you rebel against me? ⁶Look, I know you are depending on Egypt, that splintered reed of a staff, which pierces the hand of anyone who leans on it! Such is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all who depend on him. ⁷But if you say to me, "We are depending on the LORD our God"—isn't he the one whose high places and altars Hezekiah removed, saying to Judah and Jerusalem, "You must worship before this altar"?"

⁸" 'Come now, make a bargain with my master, the king of Assyria: I will give you two thousand horses—if you can put riders on them! ⁹How then can you repulse one officer of the least of my master's officials, even though you are depending on Egypt for chariots and horsemen^a? ¹⁰Furthermore, have I come to attack and destroy this land without the LORD? The LORD himself told me to march against this country and destroy it.' "

¹¹Then Eliakim, Shebna and Joah said to the field commander, "Please speak to your servants in Aramaic, since we understand it. Don't speak to us in Hebrew in the hearing of the people on the wall."

¹²But the commander replied, "Was it only to your master and you that my master sent me to say these things, and not to the people sitting on the wall—who, like you, will have to eat their own excrement and drink their own urine?"

¹³Then the commander stood and called out in Hebrew, "Hear the words of the great king, the king of Assyria! ¹⁴This is what the king says: Do not let

Hezekiah deceive you. He cannot deliver you! ¹⁵Do not let Hezekiah persuade you to trust in the LORD when he says, ‘The LORD will surely deliver us; this city will not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria.’

¹⁸“Do not let Hezekiah mislead you when he says, ‘The LORD will deliver us.’ Have the gods of any nations ever delivered their lands from the hand of the king of Assyria? ¹⁹Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim? Have they rescued Samaria from my hand? ²⁰Who of all the gods of these countries have been able to save their lands from me? How then can the LORD deliver Jerusalem from my hand?”

²¹But the people remained silent and said nothing in reply, because the king had commanded, “Do not answer him.”

²²Then Eliakim son of Hilkiah the palace administrator, Shebna the secretary and Joah son of Asaph the recorder went to Hezekiah, with their clothes torn, and told him what the field commander had said.

Isaiah 37

Jerusalem's Deliverance Foretold

¹When King Hezekiah heard this, he tore his clothes and put on sackcloth and went into the temple of the LORD. ²He sent Eliakim the palace administrator, Shebna the secretary, and the leading priests, all wearing sackcloth, to the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz. ³They told him, “This is what Hezekiah says: This day is a day of distress and rebuke and disgrace, as when children come to the moment of birth and there is no strength to deliver them. ⁴It may be that the LORD your God will hear the words of the field commander, whom his master, the king of Assyria, has sent to ridicule the living God, and that he will rebuke him for the words the LORD your God has heard. Therefore pray for the remnant that still survives.”

The Law of Navigation: The Role of Planning and Praying

⁵When King Hezekiah's officials came to Isaiah, ⁶Isaiah said to them, “Tell your master, ‘This is what the LORD says: Do not be afraid of what you have heard—those words with which the underlings of the king of Assyria have blasphemed me. ⁷Listen! When he hears a certain report, I will make him want to return to his own country, and there I will have him cut down with the sword.’ ”

⁹Now Sennacherib received a report that Tirhakah, the king of Cush,^a was marching out to fight against him. When he heard it, he sent messengers to Hezekiah with this word: ¹⁰“Say to Hezekiah king of Judah: Do not let the god you depend on deceive you when he says, ‘Jerusalem will not be given into the hands of the king of Assyria.’ ¹¹Surely you have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all the countries, destroying them completely. And will you be delivered? ¹²Did the gods of the nations that were destroyed by my predecessors deliver them—the gods of Gozan, Harran, Rezeph and the people of Eden who were in Tel Assar? ¹³Where is the king of Hamath or the king of Arpad? Where are the kings of Lair, Sepharvaim, Hena and Ivvah?”

Hezekiah's Prayer

¹⁴Hezekiah received the letter from the messengers and read it. Then he went up to the temple of the LORD and spread it out before the LORD. ¹⁵And Hezekiah prayed to the LORD: ¹⁶“LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, enthroned between the cherubim, you alone are God over all the kingdoms of the earth. You have made heaven and earth. ¹⁷Give ear, LORD, and hear; open your eyes, LORD, and see; listen to all the words Sennacherib has sent to ridicule the living God.

¹⁸“It is true, LORD, that the Assyrian kings have laid waste all these peoples and their lands. ¹⁹They have thrown their gods into the fire and destroyed them, for they were not gods but only wood and stone, fashioned by human hands. ²⁰Now, LORD our God, deliver us from his hand, so that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that you, LORD, are the only God.^b”

Sennacherib’s Fall

²¹Then Isaiah son of Amoz sent a message to Hezekiah: “This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: Because you have prayed to me concerning Sennacherib king of Assyria, ²²this is the word the LORD has spoken against him:

“Virgin Daughter Zion
despises and mocks you.

Daughter Jerusalem
tosses her head as you flee.

²³Who is it you have ridiculed and blasphemed?
Against whom have you raised your voice and lifted your eyes in pride?
Against the Holy One of Israel!

²⁴By your messengers
you have ridiculed the Lord.
And you have said,
‘With my many chariots
I have ascended the heights of the mountains,
the utmost heights of Lebanon.
I have cut down its tallest cedars,
the choicest of its junipers.
I have reached its remotest heights,
the finest of its forests.

²⁵I have dug wells in foreign lands^c and drunk the water there.
With the soles of my feet
I have dried up all the streams of Egypt.’

²⁶“Have you not heard?
Long ago I ordained it.
In days of old I planned it;
now I have brought it to pass,
that you have turned fortified cities into piles of stone.

²⁷Their people, drained of power,
are dismayed and put to shame.
They are like plants in the field,
like tender green shoots,
like grass sprouting on the roof,
scorched^d before it grows up.

²⁸“But I know where you are and when you come and go and how you rage against me.

²⁹Because you rage against me
and because your insolence has reached my ears

and because your insolence has reached my ears,
I will put my hook in your nose
and my bit in your mouth, and I will make you return
by the way you came.

³⁰“This will be the sign for you, Hezekiah:

“This year you will eat what grows by itself,
and the second year what springs from that.
But in the third year sow and reap, plant vineyards and eat their fruit.

³¹Once more a remnant of the kingdom of Judah will take root below and bear fruit above.

³²For out of Jerusalem will come a remnant,
and out of Mount Zion a band of survivors.
The zeal of the LORD Almighty
will accomplish this.

³³“Therefore this is what the LORD says concerning the king of Assyria:

“He will not enter this city or shoot an arrow here.
He will not come before it with shield or build a siege ramp against it.

³⁴By the way that he came he will return;
he will not enter this city,”

declares the LORD.

³⁵“I will defend this city and save it, for my sake and for the sake of David my servant!”

³⁶Then the angel of the LORD went out and put to death a hundred and eighty-five thousand in the Assyrian camp. When the people got up the next morning—there were all the dead bodies! ³⁷So Sennacherib king of Assyria broke camp and withdrew. He returned to Nineveh and stayed there.

³⁸One day, while he was worshiping in the temple of his god Nisrok, his sons Adrammelek and Sharezer killed him with the sword, and they escaped to the land of Ararat. And Esarhaddon his son succeeded him as king.

Isaiah 38

Hezekiah's Illness

¹In those days Hezekiah became ill and was at the point of death. The prophet Isaiah son of Amoz went to him and said, "This is what the LORD says: Put your house in order, because you are going to die; you will not recover."

²Hezekiah turned his face to the wall and prayed to the LORD, ³"Remember, LORD, how I have walked before you faithfully and with wholehearted devotion and have done what is good in your eyes." And Hezekiah wept bitterly.

⁴Then the word of the LORD came to Isaiah: ⁵"Go and tell Hezekiah, 'This is what the LORD, the God of your father David, says: I have heard your prayer and seen your tears; I will add fifteen years to your life. ⁶And I will deliver you and this city from the hand of the king of Assyria. I will defend this city.

⁷" "This is the LORD's sign to you that the LORD will do what he has promised: ⁸I will make the shadow cast by the sun go back the ten steps it has gone down on the stairway of Ahaz.' " So the sunlight went back the ten steps it had gone down.

⁹A writing of Hezekiah king of Judah after his illness and recovery: PROFILE in Leadership: Hezekiah: The Art of Thanksgiving

¹⁰I said, "In the prime of my life must I go through the gates of death and be robbed of the rest of my years?"

¹¹I said, "I will not again see the LORD himself in the land of the living;
no longer will I look on my fellow man, or be with those who now dwell in this world.

¹²Like a shepherd's tent my house has been pulled down and taken from me.
Like a weaver I have rolled up my life,
and he has cut me off from the loom;
day and night you made an end of me.

¹³I waited patiently till dawn,
but like a lion he broke all my bones;
day and night you made an end of me.

¹⁴I cried like a swift or thrush,
I moaned like a mourning dove.
My eyes grew weak as I looked to the heavens.
I am being threatened; Lord, come to my aid!”

¹⁵But what can I say?
He has spoken to me, and he himself has done this.
I will walk humbly all my years because of this anguish of my soul.

¹⁶Lord, by such things people live;
and my spirit finds life in them too.

You restored me to health and let me live.

¹⁷Surely it was for my benefit that I suffered such anguish.

In your love you kept me from the pit of destruction;
you have put all my sins behind your back.

¹⁸For the grave cannot praise you,
death cannot sing your praise;
those who go down to the pit cannot hope for your faithfulness.

¹⁹The living, the living—they praise you,
as I am doing today;

parents tell their children about your faithfulness.

²⁰The LORD will save me, and we will sing with stringed instruments all the days of our lives in the temple of the LORD.

²¹Isaiah had said, “Prepare a poultice of figs and apply it to the boil, and he will recover.”

²²Hezekiah had asked, “What will be the sign that I will go up to the temple of the LORD?”

Isaiah 39

Envoys From Babylon

¹At that time Marduk-Baladan son of Baladan king of Babylon sent Hezekiah letters and a gift, because he had heard of his illness and recovery. ²Hezekiah received the envoys gladly and showed them what was in his storehouses—the silver, the gold, the spices, the fine olive oil—his entire armory and everything found among his treasures. There was nothing in his palace or in all his kingdom that Hezekiah did not show them.

³Then Isaiah the prophet went to King Hezekiah and asked, “What did those men say, and where did they come from?”

⁴The prophet asked, “What did they see in your palace?”

“They saw everything in my palace,” Hezekiah said. “There is nothing among my treasures that I did not show them.”

⁵Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, “Hear the word of the LORD Almighty: ⁶The time will surely come when everything in your palace, and all that your predecessors have stored up until this day, will be carried off to Babylon. Nothing will be left, says the LORD. ⁷And some of your descendants, your own flesh and blood who will be born to you, will be taken away, and they will become eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.”

⁸“The word of the LORD you have spoken is good,” Hezekiah replied. For he thought, “There will be peace and security in my lifetime.”

Isaiah 40

Comfort for God's People

¹Comfort, comfort my people, says your God. The Model for Leadership

²Speak tenderly to Jerusalem, and proclaim to her that her hard service has been completed, that her sin has been paid for,

that she has received from the LORD's hand double for all her sins.

³A voice of one calling:

“In the wilderness prepare the way for the LORD^a; make straight in the desert
a highway for our God.^b

⁴Every valley shall be raised up, every mountain and hill made low;
the rough ground shall become level,
the rugged places a plain.

⁵And the glory of the LORD will be revealed, and all people will see it together.

⁶A voice says, “Cry out.”

And I said, “What shall I cry?”

“All people are like grass, and all their faithfulness is like the flowers of the field.

⁷The grass withers and the flowers fall, because the breath of the LORD blows on them.
Surely the people are grass.

⁸The grass withers and the flowers fall,
but the word of our God endures forever.”

⁹You who bring good news to Zion, go up on a high mountain.

You who bring good news to Jerusalem,^c lift up your voice with a shout, lift it up, do not be afraid;
say to the towns of Judah, “Here is your God!”

¹⁰See, the Sovereign LORD comes with power, and he rules with a mighty arm.

See, his reward is with him,
and his recompense accompanies him.

¹¹He tends his flock like a shepherd:
He gathers the lambs in his arms and carries them close to his heart;
he gently leads those that have young.

¹²Who has measured the waters in the hollow of his hand, or with the breadth of his hand marked off the heavens?
Who has held the dust of the earth in a basket, or weighed the mountains on the scales and the hills in a balance?

¹³Who can fathom the Spirit^d of the LORD, or instruct the LORD as his counselor?

¹⁴Whom did the LORD consult to enlighten him, and who taught him the right way?
Who was it that taught him knowledge, or showed him the path of understanding?

¹⁵Surely the nations are like a drop in a bucket; they are regarded as dust on the scales;
he weighs the islands as though they were fine dust.

¹⁶Lebanon is not sufficient for altar fires, nor its animals enough for burnt offerings.

¹⁷Before him all the nations are as nothing; they are regarded by him as worthless and less than nothing.

¹⁸With whom, then, will you compare God?
To what image will you liken him?

¹⁹As for an idol, a metalworker casts it, and a goldsmith overlays it with gold and fashions silver chains for it.

²⁰A person too poor to present such an offering selects wood that will not rot;
they look for a skilled worker to set up an idol that will not topple.

- ²¹Do you not know?
Have you not heard?
Has it not been told you from the beginning?
Have you not understood since the earth was founded?
- ²²He sits enthroned above the circle of the earth, and its people are like grasshoppers.
He stretches out the heavens like a canopy, and spreads them out like a tent to live in.
- ²³He brings princes to naught and reduces the rulers of this world to nothing.
- ²⁴No sooner are they planted, no sooner are they sown,
no sooner do they take root in the ground,
than he blows on them and they wither,
and a whirlwind sweeps them away like chaff.
- ²⁵“To whom will you compare me?
Or who is my equal?” says the Holy One.
- ²⁶Lift up your eyes and look to the heavens: Who created all these?
He who brings out the starry host one by one and calls forth each of them by name.
Because of his great power and mighty strength,
not one of them is missing.
- ²⁷Why do you complain, Jacob?
Why do you say, Israel,
“My way is hidden from the LORD;
my cause is disregarded by my God”?
- ²⁸Do you not know?
Have you not heard?
The LORD is the everlasting God,
the Creator of the ends of the earth.
He will not grow tired or weary,
and his understanding no one can fathom.
- ²⁹He gives strength to the weary and increases the power of the weak.
- ³⁰Even youths grow tired and weary,
and young men stumble and fall;

³¹but those who hope in the LORD will renew their strength.
They will soar on wings like eagles;
they will run and not grow weary,
they will walk and not be faint.

Isaiah 41

The Helper of Israel

¹“Be silent before me, you islands!
Let the nations renew their strength!
Let them come forward and speak;
let us meet together at the place of judgment.

²“Who has stirred up one from the east, calling him in righteousness to his service^a?
He hands nations over to him and subdues kings before him.
He turns them to dust with his sword,
to windblown chaff with his bow.

³He pursues them and moves on unscathed,
by a path his feet have not traveled before.

⁴Who has done this and carried it through, calling forth the generations from the beginning?
I, the LORD—with the first of them and with the last—I am he.”

⁵The islands have seen it and fear;
the ends of the earth tremble.
They approach and come forward; ⁶they help each other and say to their companions, “Be strong!”

⁷The metalworker encourages the goldsmith, and the one who smooths with the hammer spurs on the one who strikes the anvil.
One says of the welding, “It is good.”
The other nails down the idol so it will not topple.

⁸“But you, Israel, my servant,
Jacob, whom I have chosen,
you descendants of Abraham my friend,

⁹I took you from the ends of the earth,
from its farthest corners I called you.
I said, ‘You are my servant’;
I have chosen you and have not rejected you.

¹⁰So do not fear, for I am with you;
do not be dismayed, for I am your God.
I will strengthen you and help you;
I will uphold you with my righteous right hand.

¹¹“All who rage against you will surely be ashamed and disgraced;

- those who oppose you will be as nothing and perish.
- ¹²Though you search for your enemies,
you will not find them.
Those who wage war against you will be as nothing at all.
- ¹³For I am the LORD your God who takes hold of your right hand and says to you, Do not fear;
I will help you.
- ¹⁴Do not be afraid, you worm Jacob,
little Israel, do not fear,
for I myself will help you,” declares the LORD, your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel.
- ¹⁵“See, I will make you into a threshing sledge, new and sharp, with many teeth.
You will thresh the mountains and crush them,
and reduce the hills to chaff.
- ¹⁶You will winnow them, the wind will pick them up, and a gale will blow them away.
But you will rejoice in the LORD and glory in the Holy One of Israel.
- ¹⁷“The poor and needy search for water,
but there is none;
their tongues are parched with thirst.
But I the LORD will answer them;
I, the God of Israel, will not forsake them.
- ¹⁸I will make rivers flow on barren heights, and springs within the valleys.
I will turn the desert into pools of water, and the parched ground into springs.
- ¹⁹I will put in the desert
the cedar and the acacia, the myrtle and the olive.
I will set junipers in the wasteland,
the fir and the cypress together,
- ²⁰so that people may see and know,
may consider and understand, that the hand of the LORD has done this,
that the Holy One of Israel has created it.

that the Holy One of Israel has created it.

²¹“Present your case,” says the LORD.

“Set forth your arguments,” says Jacob’s King.

²²“Tell us, you idols,

what is going to happen.

Tell us what the former things were,

so that we may consider them and know their final outcome.

Or declare to us the things to come,

²³tell us what the future holds,

so we may know that you are gods.

Do something, whether good or bad,

so that we will be dismayed and filled with fear.

²⁴But you are less than nothing and your works are utterly worthless;

whoever chooses you is detestable.

²⁵“I have stirred up one from the north, and he comes— one from the rising sun who calls on my name.

He treads on rulers as if they were mortar,

as if he were a potter treading the clay.

²⁶Who told of this from the beginning, so we could know, or beforehand, so we could say, ‘He was right’?

No one told of this,

no one foretold it,

no one heard any words from you.

²⁷I was the first to tell Zion, ‘Look, here they are!’

I gave to Jerusalem a messenger of good news.

²⁸I look but there is no one—no one among the gods to give counsel, no one to give answer when I ask them.

²⁹See, they are all false!

Their deeds amount to nothing;

their images are but wind and confusion.

Isaiah 42

The Servant of the LORD

¹“Here is my servant, whom I uphold,
my chosen one in whom I delight;
I will put my Spirit on him,
and he will bring justice to the nations.

²He will not shout or cry out, or raise his voice in the streets.

³A bruised reed he will not break, and a smoldering wick he will not snuff out.
In faithfulness he will bring forth justice;

⁴he will not falter or be discouraged till he establishes justice on earth.
In his teaching the islands will put their hope.”

⁵This is what God the LORD says— the Creator of the heavens, who stretches them out,
who spreads out the earth with all that springs from it,
who gives breath to its people,
and life to those who walk on it:

⁶“I, the LORD, have called you in righteousness; I will take hold of your hand.

I will keep you and will make you
to be a covenant for the people and a light for the Gentiles,

⁷to open eyes that are blind, to free captives from prison and to release from the dungeon those who sit in darkness.

⁸“I am the LORD; that is my name!
I will not yield my glory to another or my praise to idols.

⁹See, the former things have taken place,
and new things I declare;

before they spring into being
I announce them to you.”

Song of Praise to the LORD

- ¹⁰Sing to the LORD a new song, his praise from the ends of the earth, you who go down to the sea, and all that is in it,
you islands, and all who live in them.
- ¹¹Let the wilderness and its towns raise their voices; let the settlements where Kedar lives rejoice.
Let the people of Sela sing for joy;
let them shout from the mountaintops.
- ¹²Let them give glory to the LORD and proclaim his praise in the islands.
- ¹³The LORD will march out like a champion, like a warrior he will stir up his zeal;
with a shout he will raise the battle cry
and will triumph over his enemies.
- ¹⁴“For a long time I have kept silent,
I have been quiet and held myself back.
But now, like a woman in childbirth,
I cry out, I gasp and pant.
- ¹⁵I will lay waste the mountains and hills and dry up all their vegetation;
I will turn rivers into islands and dry up the pools.
- ¹⁶I will lead the blind by ways they have not known, along unfamiliar paths
I will guide them;
I will turn the darkness into light before them
and make the rough places smooth.
These are the things I will do;
I will not forsake them.
- ¹⁷But those who trust in idols, who say to images, ‘You are our gods,’ will be turned back in utter shame.

Israel Blind and Deaf

- ¹⁸“Hear, you deaf;
look, you blind, and see!
- ¹⁹Who is blind but my servant,
and deaf like the messenger I send?
Who is blind like the one in covenant with me,
blind like the servant of the LORD?
- ²⁰You have seen many things, but you pay no attention; your ears are open, but you do not listen.”
- ²¹It pleased the LORD for the sake of his righteousness to make his law great and glorious.
- ²²But this is a people plundered and looted, all of them trapped in pits or hidden away in prisons.
They have become plunder,
with no one to rescue them;
they have been made loot,
with no one to say, “Send them back.”
- ²³Which of you will listen to this or pay close attention in time to come?
- ²⁴Who handed Jacob over to become loot,
and Israel to the plunderers?
Was it not the LORD,
against whom we have sinned?
For they would not follow his ways;
they did not obey his law.
- ²⁵So he poured out on them his burning anger, the violence of war.
It enveloped them in flames, yet they did not understand;
it consumed them, but they did not take it to heart.

Isaiah 43

Israel's Only Savior

- ¹But now, this is what the LORD says— he who created you, Jacob,
he who formed you, Israel:
“Do not fear, for I have redeemed you;
I have summoned you by name; you are mine. The Law of Sacrifice
- ²When you pass through the waters, I will be with you;
and when you pass through the rivers,
they will not sweep over you.
When you walk through the fire,
you will not be burned;
the flames will not set you ablaze.
- ³For I am the LORD your God, the Holy One of Israel, your Savior;
I give Egypt for your ransom,
Cush^a and Seba in your stead.
- ⁴Since you are precious and honored in my sight, and because I love you,
I will give people in exchange for you, nations in exchange for your life.
- ⁵Do not be afraid, for I am with you; I will bring your children from the east and gather you from the west.
- ⁶I will say to the north, ‘Give them up!’
and to the south, ‘Do not hold them back.’

Bring my sons from afar and my daughters from the ends of the earth—⁷everyone who is called by my name, whom I created for my glory, whom I formed and made.”

⁸Lead out those who have eyes but are blind, who have ears but are deaf.
⁹All the nations gather together and the peoples assemble.
 Which of their gods foretold this and proclaimed to us the former things?
 Let them bring in their witnesses to prove they were right, so that others may hear and say, “It is true.”
¹⁰“You are my witnesses,” declares the LORD, “and my servant whom I have chosen,
 so that you may know and believe me and understand that I am he.
 Before me no god was formed,
 nor will there be one after me.
¹¹I, even I, am the LORD, and apart from me there is no savior.
¹²I have revealed and saved and proclaimed— I, and not some foreign god among you.
 You are my witnesses,” declares the LORD, “that I am God.
¹³Yes, and from ancient days I am he.
 No one can deliver out of my hand.
 When I act, who can reverse it?”

God’s Mercy and Israel’s Unfaithfulness

¹⁴This is what the LORD says— your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel:
 “For your sake I will send to Babylon and bring down as fugitives all the Babylonians,^b in the ships in which they took pride.
¹⁵I am the LORD, your Holy One, Israel’s Creator, your King.”

¹⁶This is what the LORD says— he who made a way through the sea,
 a path through the mighty waters, ¹⁷who drew out the chariots and horses, the army and reinforcements together,
 and they lay there, never to rise again

- and they lay there, never to rise again,
extinguished, snuffed out like a wick:
- ¹⁸“Forget the former things; do not dwell on the past.
- ¹⁹See, I am doing a new thing!
Now it springs up; do you not perceive it?
I am making a way in the wilderness and streams in the wasteland.
- ²⁰The wild animals honor me, the jackals and the owls, because I provide water in the wilderness
and streams in the wasteland,
to give drink to my people, my chosen, ²¹the people I formed for myself that they may proclaim my praise.
- ²²“Yet you have not called on me, Jacob, you have not wearied yourselves for^c me, Israel.
- ²³You have not brought me sheep for burnt offerings, nor honored me with your sacrifices.
I have not burdened you with grain offerings nor wearied you with demands for incense.
- ²⁴You have not bought any fragrant calamus for me, or lavished on me the fat of your sacrifices.
But you have burdened me with your sins and wearied me with your offenses.
- ²⁵“I, even I, am he who blots out your transgressions, for my own sake, and remembers your sins no more.
- ²⁶Review the past for me,
let us argue the matter together;
state the case for your innocence.
- ²⁷Your first father sinned; those I sent to teach you rebelled against me.
- ²⁸So I disgraced the dignitaries of your temple; I consigned Jacob to destruction^d
and Israel to scorn.

Isaiah 44

Israel the Chosen

- ¹“But now listen, Jacob, my servant, Israel, whom I have chosen. Revival Fire: Man-Made or God-Given?
- ²This is what the LORD says— he who made you, who formed you in the womb, and who will help you:
Do not be afraid, Jacob, my servant,
Jeshurun,^a whom I have chosen.
- ³For I will pour water on the thirsty land, and streams on the dry ground;
I will pour out my Spirit on your offspring, and my blessing on your descendants.
- ⁴They will spring up like grass in a meadow, like poplar trees by flowing streams.
- ⁵Some will say, ‘I belong to the LORD’; others will call themselves by the name of Jacob;
still others will write on their hand, ‘The LORD’s,’
and will take the name Israel.

The LORD, Not Idols

- ⁶“This is what the LORD says— Israel’s King and Redeemer, the LORD Almighty: I am the first and I am the last;
apart from me there is no God.
- ⁷Who then is like me? Let him proclaim it.
Let him declare and lay out before me what has happened since I established my ancient people, and what is yet to come—
yes, let them foretell what will come.
- ⁸Do not tremble, do not be afraid.
Did I not proclaim this and foretell it long ago?
You are my witnesses. Is there any God besides me?
No, there is no other Rock; I know not one.”
- ⁹All who make idols are nothing, and the things they treasure are worthless.
Those who would speak up for them are blind;
they are ignorant, to their own shame.
- ¹⁰Who shapes a god and casts an idol, which can profit nothing?

¹¹People who do that will be put to shame; such craftsmen are only human beings.

Let them all come together and take their stand;
they will be brought down to terror and shame.

¹²The blacksmith takes a tool and works with it in the coals;
he shapes an idol with hammers,
he forges it with the might of his arm.

He gets hungry and loses his strength;
he drinks no water and grows faint.

¹³The carpenter measures with a line and makes an outline with a marker;
he roughs it out with chisels and marks it with compasses.

He shapes it in human form,
human form in all its glory,
that it may dwell in a shrine.

¹⁴He cut down cedars,
or perhaps took a cypress or oak.
He let it grow among the trees of the forest,
or planted a pine, and the rain made it grow.

¹⁵It is used as fuel for burning; some of it he takes and warms himself, he kindles a fire and bakes bread.
But he also fashions a god and worships it;
he makes an idol and bows down to it.

¹⁶Half of the wood he burns in the fire; over it he prepares his meal, he roasts his meat and eats his fill.
He also warms himself and says,
“Ah! I am warm; I see the fire.”

¹⁷From the rest he makes a god, his idol; he bows down to it and worships.
He prays to it and says,
“Save me! You are my god!”

¹⁸They know nothing, they understand nothing; their eyes are plastered over so they cannot see,
and their minds closed so they cannot understand.

¹⁹No one stops to think,
no one has the knowledge or understanding to say, “Half of it I used for fuel;
I even baked bread over its coals,

- I roasted meat and I ate.
Shall I make a detestable thing from what is left?
Shall I bow down to a block of wood?”
- ²⁰Such a person feeds on ashes; a deluded heart misleads him; he cannot save himself, or say, “Is not this thing in my right hand a lie?”
- ²¹“Remember these things, Jacob, for you, Israel, are my servant.
I have made you, you are my servant;
Israel, I will not forget you.
- ²²I have swept away your offenses like a cloud, your sins like the morning mist.
Return to me,
for I have redeemed you.”
- ²³Sing for joy, you heavens, for the LORD has done this; shout aloud, you earth beneath.
Burst into song, you mountains,
you forests and all your trees,
for the LORD has redeemed Jacob,
he displays his glory in Israel.

Jerusalem to Be Inhabited

²⁴“This is what the LORD says— your Redeemer, who formed you in the womb:

I am the LORD,
the Maker of all things,
who stretches out the heavens,
who spreads out the earth by myself,

²⁵who foils the signs of false prophets and makes fools of diviners, who overthrows the learning of the wise and turns it into nonsense,

²⁶who carries out the words of his servants and fulfills the predictions of his messengers, who says of Jerusalem, ‘It shall be inhabited,’ of the towns of Judah, ‘They shall be rebuilt,’ and of their ruins, ‘I will restore them,’

²⁷who says to the watery deep, ‘Be dry, and I will dry up your streams,’

²⁸who says of Cyrus, ‘He is my shepherd and will accomplish all that I please;

he will say of Jerusalem, “Let it be rebuilt,” and of the temple, “Let its foundations be laid.” ’

take hold of

to subdue nations before him and to strip kings of their armor, to open doors before him

so that gates will not be shut:

²I will go before you and will level the mountains^a; I will break down gates of bronze and cut through bars of iron.

³I will give you hidden treasures, riches stored in secret places, so that you may know that I am the LORD, the God of Israel, who summons you by name.

⁴For the sake of Jacob my servant, of Israel my chosen,

I summon you by name
and bestow on you a title of honor, though you do not acknowledge me.

⁵I am the LORD, and there is no other; apart from me there is no God.
I will strengthen you,
though you have not acknowledged me,

⁶so that from the rising of the sun to the place of its setting people may know there is none besides me.
I am the LORD, and there is no other.

⁷I form the light and create darkness, I bring prosperity and create disaster;
I, the LORD, do all these things.

⁸“You heavens above, rain down my righteousness; let the clouds shower it down.
Let the earth open wide,
let salvation spring up,
let righteousness flourish with it;
I, the LORD, have created it.

⁹“Woe to those who quarrel with their Maker, those who are nothing but potsherds
among the potsherds on the ground.
Does the clay say to the potter,
‘What are you making?’
Does your work say,
‘The potter has no hands’?

¹⁰Woe to the one who says to a father, ‘What have you begotten?’
or to a mother,
‘What have you brought to birth?’

¹¹“This is what the LORD says— the Holy One of Israel, and its Maker:
Concerning things to come,
do you question me about my children,
or give me orders about the work of my hands?

¹²It is I who made the earth and created mankind on it.
My own hands stretched out the heavens;
I marshaled their starry hosts.

¹³I will raise up Cyrus^b in my righteousness: I will make all his ways straight.

He will rebuild my city
and set my exiles free, but not for a price or reward,
says the LORD Almighty.”

¹⁴This is what the LORD says:

“The products of Egypt and the merchandise of Cush,^c and those tall Sabeans—
they will come over to you and will be yours;
they will trudge behind you,
coming over to you in chains.
They will bow down before you and plead with you, saying, ‘Surely God is with you, and there is no other;
there is no other god.’ ”

¹⁵Truly you are a God who has been hiding himself, the God and Savior of Israel.

¹⁶All the makers of idols will be put to shame and disgraced; they will go off into disgrace together.

¹⁷But Israel will be saved by the LORD with an everlasting salvation;
you will never be put to shame or disgraced,
to ages everlasting.

¹⁸For this is what the LORD says— he who created the heavens, he is God;
he who fashioned and made the earth,
he founded it;
he did not create it to be empty, but formed it to be inhabited—
he says:
“I am the LORD,
and there is no other.

¹⁹I have not spoken in secret, from somewhere in a land of darkness;
I have not said to Jacob’s descendants, ‘Seek me in vain.’

I, the LORD, speak the truth;
I declare what is right.

²⁰“Gather together and come; assemble, you fugitives from the nations.
Ignorant are those who carry about idols of wood, who pray to gods that cannot save.

²¹Declare what is to be, present it— let them take counsel together.
Who foretold this long ago,
who declared it from the distant past?
Was it not I, the LORD?
And there is no God apart from me, a righteous God and a Savior;
there is none but me.

²²“Turn to me and be saved, all you ends of the earth;
for I am God, and there is no other.

²³By myself I have sworn,
my mouth has uttered in all integrity
a word that will not be revoked:
Before me every knee will bow;
by me every tongue will swear.

²⁴They will say of me, ‘In the LORD alone are deliverance and strength.’ ”
All who have raged against him will come to him and be put to shame.

²⁵But all the descendants of Israel will find deliverance in the LORD and will make their boast in him.

Isaiah 46

Gods of Babylon

¹Bel bows down, Nebo stoops low; their idols are borne by beasts of burden.^a

The images that are carried about are burdensome, a burden for the weary.

²They stoop and bow down together; unable to rescue the burden, they themselves go off into captivity.

³“Listen to me, you descendants of Jacob, all the remnant of the people of Israel, you whom I have upheld since your birth, and have carried since you were born.

⁴Even to your old age and gray hairs I am he, I am he who will sustain you.
I have made you and I will carry you;
I will sustain you and I will rescue you.

⁵“With whom will you compare me or count me equal?
To whom will you liken me that we may be compared?

⁶Some pour out gold from their bags and weigh out silver on the scales;
they hire a goldsmith to make it into a god,
and they bow down and worship it.

⁷They lift it to their shoulders and carry it; they set it up in its place, and there it stands.
From that spot it cannot move.
Even though someone cries out to it, it cannot answer;
it cannot save them from their troubles.

⁸“Remember this, keep it in mind, take it to heart, you rebels.

⁹Remember the former things, those of long ago; I am God, and there is no other;
I am God, and there is none like me.

¹⁰I make known the end from the beginning, from ancient times, what is still to come.
I say, ‘My purpose will stand,
and I will do all that I please.’

¹¹From the east I summon a bird of prey; from a far-off land, a man to fulfill my purpose.

What I have said, that I will bring about;
what I have planned, that I will do.

¹²Listen to me, you stubborn-hearted, you who are now far from my righteousness.

¹³I am bringing my righteousness near, it is not far away;
and my salvation will not be delayed.

I will grant salvation to Zion,
my splendor to Israel.

Isaiah 47

The Fall of Babylon

¹“Go down, sit in the dust, Virgin Daughter Babylon; sit on the ground without a throne, queen city of the Babylonians.^a No more will you be called tender or delicate.

²Take millstones and grind flour; take off your veil.
Lift up your skirts, bare your legs,
and wade through the streams.

³Your nakedness will be exposed and your shame uncovered.
I will take vengeance;
I will spare no one.”

⁴Our Redeemer—the LORD Almighty is his name— is the Holy One of Israel.

⁵“Sit in silence, go into darkness, queen city of the Babylonians;
no more will you be called queen of kingdoms.

⁶I was angry with my people and desecrated my inheritance;
I gave them into your hand,
and you showed them no mercy.

- Even on the aged
you laid a very heavy yoke.
- ⁷You said, 'I am forever—
the eternal queen!'
But you did not consider these things or reflect on what might happen.
- ⁸"Now then, listen, you lover of pleasure, lounging in your security and saying to yourself,
 'I am, and there is none besides me.
I will never be a widow or suffer the loss of children.'
- ⁹Both of these will overtake you in a moment, on a single day:
loss of children and widowhood.
They will come upon you in full measure, in spite of your many sorceries and all your potent spells.
- ¹⁰You have trusted in your wickedness and have said, 'No one sees me.'
Your wisdom and knowledge mislead you when you say to yourself,
 'I am, and there is none besides me.'
- ¹¹Disaster will come upon you, and you will not know how to conjure it away.
A calamity will fall upon you that you cannot ward off with a ransom;

a catastrophe you cannot foresee will suddenly come upon you.

¹²“Keep on, then, with your magic spells and with your many sorceries, which you have labored at since childhood.
Perhaps you will succeed,
perhaps you will cause terror.

¹³All the counsel you have received has only worn you out!
Let your astrologers come forward, those stargazers who make predictions month by month,
let them save you from what is coming upon you.

¹⁴Surely they are like stubble; the fire will burn them up.

They cannot even save themselves from the power of the flame.
These are not coals for warmth;
this is not a fire to sit by.

¹⁵That is all they are to you— these you have dealt with and labored with since childhood.
All of them go on in their error;
there is not one that can save you.

Isaiah 48

Stubborn Israel

¹“Listen to this, you descendants of Jacob, you who are called by the name of Israel
and come from the line of Judah, you who take oaths in the name of the LORD and invoke the God of Israel—
but not in truth or righteousness—

²you who call yourselves citizens of the holy city and claim to rely on the God of Israel— the LORD Almighty is his name:

³I foretold the former things long ago, my mouth announced them and I made them known;
then suddenly I acted, and they came to pass.

⁴For I knew how stubborn you were; your neck muscles were iron, your forehead was bronze.

⁵Therefore I told you these things long ago; before they happened I announced them to you
so that you could not say, ‘My images brought them about;
my wooden image and metal god ordained them.’

⁶You have heard these things; look at them all.
Will you not admit them?

“From now on I will tell you of new things, of hidden things unknown to you.

⁷They are created now, and not long ago; you have not heard of them before today.

So you cannot say,
‘Yes, I knew of them.’

⁸You have neither heard nor understood; from of old your ears have not been open.

Well do I know how treacherous you are;
you were called a rebel from birth.

⁹For my own name’s sake I delay my wrath; for the sake of my praise I hold it back from you,
so as not to destroy you completely.

¹⁰See, I have refined you, though not as silver; I have tested you in the furnace of affliction.

¹¹For my own sake, for my own sake, I do this.
How can I let myself be defamed?
I will not yield my glory to another.

Israel Freed

¹²“Listen to me, Jacob,
Israel, whom I have called:
I am he;
I am the first and I am the last.

¹³My own hand laid the foundations of the earth, and my right hand spread out the heavens;
when I summon them,
they all stand up together.

¹⁴“Come together, all of you, and listen: Which of the idols has foretold these things?
The LORD’s chosen ally
will carry out his purpose against Babylon;
his arm will be against the Babylonians.^a ¹⁵I, even I, have spoken;

yes, I have called him.
I will bring him,
and he will succeed in his mission.

¹⁶“Come near me and listen to this:

“From the first announcement I have not spoken in secret;
at the time it happens, I am there.”

And now the Sovereign LORD has sent me, endowed with his Spirit.

¹⁷This is what the LORD says— your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel:
“I am the LORD your God, who teaches you what is best for you,
who directs you in the way you should go.

¹⁸If only you had paid attention to my commands, your peace would have been like a river,
your well-being like the waves of the sea.

¹⁹Your descendants would have been like the sand, your children like its numberless grains;
their name would never be blotted out nor destroyed from before me.”

²⁰Leave Babylon,

flee from the Babylonians!

Announce this with shouts of joy and proclaim it.

Send it out to the ends of the earth;

say, “The LORD has redeemed his servant Jacob.”

²¹They did not thirst when he led them through the deserts; he made water flow for them from the rock;

he split the rock
and water gushed out.

²²“There is no peace,” says the LORD, “for the wicked.”

Isaiah 49

The Servant of the LORD

- ¹Listen to me, you islands; hear this, you distant nations:
Before I was born the LORD called me;
from my mother's womb he has spoken my name. The Mission and Vision of a Leader
- ²He made my mouth like a sharpened sword, in the shadow of his hand he hid me;
he made me into a polished arrow and concealed me in his quiver.
- ³He said to me, "You are my servant, Israel, in whom I will display my splendor."
- ⁴But I said, "I have labored in vain; I have spent my strength for nothing at all.
Yet what is due me is in the LORD's hand, and my reward is with my God."
- ⁵And now the LORD says— he who formed me in the womb to be his servant to bring Jacob back to him and gather Israel to himself, for I am^a honored in the eyes of the LORD and my God has been my strength—
- ⁶he says:
"It is too small a thing for you to be my servant to restore the tribes of Jacob and bring back those of Israel I have kept.
I will also make you a light for the Gentiles, that my salvation may reach to the ends of the earth."
- ⁷This is what the LORD says— the Redeemer and Holy One of Israel—to him who was despised and abhorred by the nation, to the servant of rulers:
"Kings will see you and stand up, princes will see and bow down,

because of the LORD, who is faithful,
the Holy One of Israel, who has chosen you.”

Restoration of Israel

⁸This is what the LORD says:

“In the time of my favor I will answer you,
and in the day of salvation I will help you;
I will keep you and will make you
to be a covenant for the people,

- to restore the land
and to reassign its desolate inheritances, ⁹to say to the captives, ‘Come out,’
and to those in darkness, ‘Be free!’
- “They will feed beside the roads and find pasture on every barren hill.
¹⁰They will neither hunger nor thirst, nor will the desert heat or the sun beat down on them.
He who has compassion on them will guide them and lead them beside springs of water.
¹¹I will turn all my mountains into roads, and my highways will be raised up.
¹²See, they will come from afar— some from the north, some from the west, some from the region of Aswan.^b”
- ¹³Shout for joy, you heavens; rejoice, you earth;
burst into song, you mountains!
For the LORD comforts his people and will have compassion on his afflicted ones.
- ¹⁴But Zion said, “The LORD has forsaken me, the Lord has forgotten me.”
- ¹⁵“Can a mother forget the baby at her breast and have no compassion on the child she has borne?
Though she may forget,
I will not forget you!
- ¹⁶See, I have engraved you on the palms of my hands; your walls are ever before
me.
- ¹⁷Your children hasten back, and those who laid you waste depart from you.
- ¹⁸Lift up your eyes and look around; all your children gather and come to you.
As surely as I live,” declares the LORD, “you will wear them all as ornaments;
you will put them on, like a bride.
- ¹⁹“Though you were ruined and made desolate and your land laid waste, now you will be too small for your people,
and those who devoured you will be far away.
- ²⁰The children born during your bereavement will yet say in your hearing,

‘This place is too small for us;
give us more space to live in.’

²¹Then you will say in your heart, ‘Who bore me these?
I was bereaved and barren;
I was exiled and rejected.
Who brought these up?
I was left all alone,
but these—where have they come from?’ ”

²²This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“See, I will beckon to the nations,
I will lift up my banner to the peoples;
they will bring your sons in their arms and carry your daughters on their hips.

²³Kings will be your foster fathers, and their queens your nursing mothers.
They will bow down before you with their faces to the ground;
they will lick the dust at your feet.
Then you will know that I am the LORD;
those who hope in me will not be disappointed.”

²⁴Can plunder be taken from warriors, or captives be rescued from the fierce^c?

²⁵But this is what the LORD says:

“Yes, captives will be taken from warriors, and plunder retrieved from the fierce;
I will contend with those who contend with you,
and your children I will save.

²⁶I will make your oppressors eat their own flesh; they will be drunk on their own blood, as with wine.

Then all mankind will know that I, the LORD, am your Savior, your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.”

Isaiah 50

Israel's Sin and the Servant's Obedience

¹This is what the LORD says:

“Where is your mother’s certificate of divorce with which I sent her away?
Or to which of my creditors
did I sell you?
Because of your sins you were sold;
because of your transgressions your mother was sent away.

²When I came, why was there no one?
When I called, why was there no one to answer?
Was my arm too short to deliver you?
Do I lack the strength to rescue you?
By a mere rebuke I dry up the sea,
I turn rivers into a desert;
their fish rot for lack of water and die of thirst.

³I clothe the heavens with darkness and make sackcloth its covering.”

⁴The Sovereign LORD has given me a well-instructed tongue, to know the word that sustains the weary.
He wakens me morning by morning,
wakens my ear to listen like one being instructed.

⁵The Sovereign LORD has opened my ears; I have not been rebellious,
I have not turned away.

⁶I offered my back to those who beat me, my cheeks to those who pulled out my beard;
I did not hide my face
from mocking and spitting.

⁷Because the Sovereign LORD helps me, I will not be disgraced.
Therefore have I set my face like flint, and I know I will not be put to shame.

⁸He who vindicates me is near.
Who then will bring charges against me?

Let us face each other!
Who is my accuser?

Let him confront me!

⁹It is the Sovereign LORD who helps me.

Who will condemn me?

They will all wear out like a garment;
the moths will eat them up.

¹⁰Who among you fears the LORD and obeys the word of his servant?

Let the one who walks in the dark,
who has no light,
trust in the name of the LORD and rely on their God.

¹¹But now, all you who light fires and provide yourselves with flaming torches, go, walk in the light of your fires and of the torches you have set ablaze.

This is what you shall receive from my hand:
You will lie down in torment.

Isaiah 51

Everlasting Salvation for Zion

¹“Listen to me, you who pursue righteousness and who seek the LORD:

Look to the rock from which you were cut and to the quarry from which you were hewn;

²look to Abraham, your father, and to Sarah, who gave you birth.

When I called him he was only one man, and I blessed him and made him many.

³The LORD will surely comfort Zion and will look with compassion on all her ruins;

he will make her deserts like Eden,
her wastelands like the garden of the LORD.

Joy and gladness will be found in her, thanksgiving and the sound of singing.

⁴“Listen to me, my people; hear me, my nation:

Instruction will go out from me;
my justice will become a light to the nations.

⁵My righteousness draws near speedily, my salvation is on the way, and my arm will bring justice to the nations.

The islands will look to me and wait in hope for my arm.

⁶Lift up your eyes to the heavens, look at the earth beneath;

the heavens will vanish like smoke,
the earth will wear out like a garment and its inhabitants die like flies.

But my salvation will last forever,
my righteousness will never fail.

⁷“Hear me, you who know what is right, you people who have taken my instruction to heart:

Do not fear the reproach of mere mortals or be terrified by their insults.

⁸For the moth will eat them up like a garment; the worm will devour them like wool.

But my righteousness will last forever,
my salvation through all generations.”

- ⁹Awake, awake, arm of the LORD, clothe yourself with strength!
Awake, as in days gone by,
as in generations of old.
Was it not you who cut Rahab to pieces, who pierced that monster through?
- ¹⁰Was it not you who dried up the sea, the waters of the great deep,
who made a road in the depths of the sea
so that the redeemed might cross over?
- ¹¹Those the LORD has rescued will return.
They will enter Zion with singing;
everlasting joy will crown their heads.
Gladness and joy will overtake them,
and sorrow and sighing will flee away.
- ¹²“I, even I, am he who comforts you.
Who are you that you fear mere mortals,
human beings who are but grass,
- ¹³that you forget the LORD your Maker, who stretches out the heavens and who lays the foundations of the earth, that you live in constant terror every day because of the wrath of the oppressor, who is bent on destruction?
For where is the wrath of the oppressor?
- ¹⁴The cowering prisoners will soon be set free; they will not die in their dungeon,
nor will they lack bread.
- ¹⁵For I am the LORD your God, who stirs up the sea so that its waves roar
— the LORD Almighty is his name.
- ¹⁶I have put my words in your mouth and covered you with the shadow of my hand— I who set the heavens in place, who laid the foundations of the earth, and who say to Zion, ‘You are my people.’ ”

The Cup of the LORD’s Wrath

- ¹⁷Awake, awake!
Rise up, Jerusalem,
you who have drunk from the hand of the LORD

the cup of his wrath,
you who have drained to its dregs
the goblet that makes people stagger.

¹⁸Among all the children she bore there was none to guide her;
among all the children she reared there was none to take her by the hand.

¹⁹These double calamities have come upon you— who can comfort you?— ruin and destruction, famine and sword—who can^a console you?

²⁰Your children have fainted; they lie at every street corner, like antelope caught in a net.
They are filled with the wrath of the LORD, with the rebuke of your God.

²¹Therefore hear this, you afflicted one, made drunk, but not with wine.

²²This is what your Sovereign LORD says, your God, who defends his people:

“See, I have taken out of your hand
the cup that made you stagger;
from that cup, the goblet of my wrath,
you will never drink again.

²³I will put it into the hands of your tormentors, who said to you, ‘Fall prostrate that we may walk on you.’
And you made your back like the ground, like a street to be walked on.”

Isaiah 52

¹Awake, awake, Zion,
 clothe yourself with strength!
Put on your garments of splendor,
 Jerusalem, the holy city.

The uncircumcised and defiled will not enter you again.

²Shake off your dust;
rise up, sit enthroned, Jerusalem.
Free yourself from the chains on your neck,
Daughter Zion, now a captive.

³For this is what the LORD says:

“You were sold for nothing, and without money you will be redeemed.”

⁴For this is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“At first my people went down to Egypt to live;
lately, Assyria has oppressed them.

⁵“And now what do I have here?” declares the LORD.

“For my people have been taken away for nothing, and those who rule them mock,^a”

declares the LORD.

“And all day long
my name is constantly blasphemed.

⁶Therefore my people will know my name; therefore in that day they will know that it is I who foretold it.
Yes, it is I.”

⁷How beautiful on the mountains are the feet of those who bring good news,
who proclaim peace,
who bring good tidings,
who proclaim salvation,
who say to Zion,
“Your God reigns!”

⁸Listen! Your watchmen lift up their voices; together they shout for joy.
When the LORD returns to Zion,
they will see it with their own eyes.

- ⁹Burst into songs of joy together, you ruins of Jerusalem, for the LORD has comforted his people,
he has redeemed Jerusalem.
- ¹⁰The LORD will lay bare his holy arm in the sight of all the nations, and all the ends of the earth will see
the salvation of our God.
- ¹¹Depart, depart, go out from there!
Touch no unclean thing!
Come out from it and be pure,
you who carry the articles of the LORD's house.
- ¹²But you will not leave in haste or go in flight;
for the LORD will go before you,
the God of Israel will be your rear guard.

The Suffering and Glory of the Servant

- ¹³See, my servant will act wisely^b; he will be raised and lifted up and highly exalted. Servant Leadership Modeled by the Messiah
- ¹⁴Just as there were many who were appalled at him^c— his appearance was so disfigured beyond that of any human being and his form marred beyond human likeness—
- ¹⁵so he will sprinkle many nations,^d and kings will shut their mouths because of him.
For what they were not told, they will see,
and what they have not heard, they will understand.

Isaiah 53

¹Who has believed our message and to whom has the arm of the LORD been revealed?

²He grew up before him like a tender shoot, and like a root out of dry ground.

He had no beauty or majesty to attract us to him,
nothing in his appearance that we should desire him.

³He was despised and rejected by mankind, a man of suffering, and familiar with pain.

Like one from whom people hide their faces
he was despised, and we held him in low esteem.

⁴Surely he took up our pain and bore our suffering, yet we considered him punished by God, stricken by him, and afflicted.

⁵But he was pierced for our transgressions, he was crushed for our iniquities;
the punishment that brought us peace was on him,
and by his wounds we are healed.

⁶We all, like sheep, have gone astray, each of us has turned to our own way;
and the LORD has laid on him
the iniquity of us all.

⁷He was oppressed and afflicted, yet he did not open his mouth;
he was led like a lamb to the slaughter,
and as a sheep before its shearers is silent,
so he did not open his mouth.

⁸By oppression^a and judgment he was taken away.
Yet who of his generation protested?
For he was cut off from the land of the living;
for the transgression of my people he was punished.^b

⁹He was assigned a grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death, though he had done no violence,
nor was any deceit in his mouth.

¹⁰Yet it was the LORD's will to crush him and cause him to suffer, and though the LORD makes^c his life an offering for sin, he will see his offspring and prolong his days, and the will of the LORD will prosper in his hand.

¹¹After he has suffered,
he will see the light of life^d and be satisfied^e; by his knowledge^f my righteous servant will justify many, and he will bear their iniquities.

¹²Therefore I will give him a portion among the great,^g and he will divide the spoils with the strong,^h because he poured out his life unto death, and was numbered with the transgressors.
For he bore the sin of many,
and made intercession for the transgressors.

Isaiah 54

The Future Glory of Zion

- ¹“Sing, barren woman,
you who never bore a child;
burst into song, shout for joy,
you who were never in labor;
because more are the children of the desolate woman than of her who has a husband,”
says the LORD.
- ²“Enlarge the place of your tent, stretch your tent curtains wide,
do not hold back;
lengthen your cords,
strengthen your stakes.
- ³For you will spread out to the right and to the left; your descendants will dispossess nations and settle in their desolate cities.
- ⁴“Do not be afraid; you will not be put to shame.
Do not fear disgrace; you will not be humiliated.
You will forget the shame of your youth and remember no more the reproach of your widowhood.
- ⁵For your Maker is your husband— the LORD Almighty is his name—
the Holy One of Israel is your Redeemer;
he is called the God of all the earth.
- ⁶The LORD will call you back as if you were a wife deserted and distressed in spirit— a wife who married young, only to be rejected,” says your God.
- ⁷“For a brief moment I abandoned you, but with deep compassion I will bring you back.
- ⁸In a surge of anger
I hid my face from you for a moment,

but with everlasting kindness
I will have compassion on you,” says the LORD your Redeemer.

⁹“To me this is like the days of Noah, when I swore that the waters of Noah would never again cover the earth.

So now I have sworn not to be angry with you, never to rebuke you again.

¹⁰Though the mountains be shaken and the hills be removed, yet my unfailing love for you will not be shaken nor my covenant of peace be removed,”
says the LORD, who has compassion on you.

¹¹“Afflicted city, lashed by storms and not comforted, I will rebuild you with stones of turquoise,^a your foundations with lapis lazuli.

¹²I will make your battlements of rubies, your gates of sparkling jewels, and all your walls of precious stones.

¹³All your children will be taught by the LORD, and great will be their peace.

¹⁴In righteousness you will be established: Tyranny will be far from you;
you will have nothing to fear.

Terror will be far removed;
it will not come near you.

¹⁵If anyone does attack you, it will not be my doing; whoever attacks you will surrender to you.

¹⁶“See, it is I who created the blacksmith who fans the coals into flame and forges a weapon fit for its work.

And it is I who have created the destroyer to wreak havoc;

¹⁷no weapon forged against you will prevail, and you will refute every tongue that accuses you.

This is the heritage of the servants of the LORD, and this is their vindication from me,”

declares the LORD.

Isaiah 55

Invitation to the Thirsty

- ¹“Come, all you who are thirsty, come to the waters;
and you who have no money,
come, buy and eat!
Come, buy wine and milk without money and without cost. The Law of Victory: Leaders Communicate Until They See Results
- ²Why spend money on what is not bread, and your labor on what does not satisfy?
Listen, listen to me, and eat what is good,
and you will delight in the richest of fare.
- ³Give ear and come to me;
listen, that you may live.
I will make an everlasting covenant with you,
my faithful love promised to David.
- ⁴See, I have made him a witness to the peoples, a ruler and commander of the peoples.
- ⁵Surely you will summon nations you know not, and nations you do not know will come running to you, because of the LORD your God,
the Holy One of Israel,
for he has endowed you with splendor.”
- ⁶Seek the LORD while he may be found; call on him while he is near.
- ⁷Let the wicked forsake their ways and the unrighteous their thoughts.
Let them turn to the LORD, and he will have mercy on them, and to our God, for he will freely pardon.
- ⁸“For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways,”
declares the LORD.
- ⁹“As the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways and my thoughts than your thoughts.
- ¹⁰As the rain and the snow come down from heaven,
and do not return to it without watering the earth and making it bud and flourish, so that it yields seed for the sower and bread for the eater, ¹¹so is my word that goes out from my mouth: It will not return to me empty,

but will accomplish what I desire and achieve the purpose for which I sent it.
¹²You will go out in joy and be led forth in peace;

the mountains and hills
will burst into song before you,
and all the trees of the field will clap their hands.

¹³Instead of the thornbush will grow the juniper, and instead of briers the myrtle will grow.

This will be for the LORD's renown,
for an everlasting sign,
that will endure forever."

Isaiah 56

Salvation for Others

¹This is what the LORD says:

“Maintain justice and do what is right,
for my salvation is close at hand and my righteousness will soon be revealed.

²Blessed is the one who does this— the person who holds it fast, who keeps the Sabbath without desecrating it,
and keeps their hands from doing any evil.”

³Let no foreigner who is bound to the LORD say, “The LORD will surely exclude me from his people.”
And let no eunuch complain,
“I am only a dry tree.”

⁴For this is what the LORD says:

“To the eunuchs who keep my Sabbaths, who choose what pleases me and hold fast to my covenant—

⁵to them I will give within my temple and its walls a memorial and a name better than sons and daughters;
I will give them an everlasting name
that will endure forever.

⁶And foreigners who bind themselves to the LORD to minister to him,
to love the name of the LORD,
and to be his servants,
all who keep the Sabbath without desecrating it and who hold fast to my covenant—

⁷these I will bring to my holy mountain and give them joy in my house of prayer.

Their burnt offerings and sacrifices will be accepted on my altar;
for my house will be called a house of prayer for all nations.”

⁸The Sovereign LORD declares— he who gathers the exiles of Israel:
“I will gather still others to them besides those already gathered.”

God’s Accusation Against the Wicked

⁹Come, all you beasts of the field, come and devour, all you beasts of the forest!

¹⁰Israel’s watchmen are blind, they all lack knowledge;
they are all mute dogs,
they cannot bark;
they lie around and dream,
they love to sleep.

¹¹They are dogs with mighty appetites; they never have enough.
They are shepherds who lack understanding;
they all turn to their own way,
they seek their own gain.

¹²“Come,” each one cries, “let me get wine!
Let us drink our fill of beer!
And tomorrow will be like today,
or even far better.”

Isaiah 57

¹The righteous perish,
and no one takes it to heart;
the devout are taken away,

and no one understands that the righteous are taken away to be spared from evil.

²Those who walk uprightly enter into peace;
they find rest as they lie in death.

³“But you—come here, you children of a sorceress, you offspring of adulterers and prostitutes!

⁴Who are you mocking?

- At whom do you sneer and stick out your tongue?
Are you not a brood of rebels,
the offspring of liars?
- ⁵You burn with lust among the oaks and under every spreading tree;
you sacrifice your children in the ravines and under the overhanging crags.
- ⁶The idols among the smooth stones of the ravines are your portion; indeed, they are your lot.
Yes, to them you have poured out drink offerings and offered grain offerings.
In view of all this, should I relent?
- ⁷You have made your bed on a high and lofty hill; there you went up to offer your sacrifices.
- ⁸Behind your doors and your doorposts you have put your pagan symbols.
Forsaking me, you uncovered your bed,
you climbed into it and opened it wide;
you made a pact with those whose beds you love,
and you looked with lust on their naked bodies.
- ⁹You went to Molek^a with olive oil and increased your perfumes.
You sent your ambassadors^b far away; you descended to the very realm of the dead!
- ¹⁰You wearied yourself by such going about, but you would not say, 'It is hopeless.'
You found renewal of your strength, and so you did not faint.
- ¹¹"Whom have you so dreaded and feared that you have not been true to
me,

and have neither remembered me
nor taken this to heart?
Is it not because I have long been silent that you do not fear me?

¹²I will expose your righteousness and your works, and they will not benefit
you.

¹³When you cry out for help, let your collection of idols save you!
The wind will carry all of them off,
a mere breath will blow them away.
But whoever takes refuge in me will inherit the land and possess my holy mountain.”

Comfort for the Contrite

¹⁴And it will be said:

“Build up, build up, prepare the road!

Remove the obstacles out of the way of my people.”

¹⁵For this is what the high and exalted One says— he who lives forever, whose name is holy:

“I live in a high and holy place, but also with the one who is contrite and lowly in spirit, to revive the spirit of the lowly and to revive the heart of the contrite.

¹⁶I will not accuse them forever, nor will I always be angry, for then they would faint away because of me—
the very people I have created.

¹⁷I was enraged by their sinful greed; I punished them, and hid my face in anger,
yet they kept on in their willful ways.

¹⁸I have seen their ways, but I will heal them; I will guide them and restore comfort to Israel’s mourners,

¹⁹creating praise on their lips.

Peace, peace, to those far and near,”
says the LORD. “And I will heal them.”

²⁰But the wicked are like the tossing sea, which cannot rest, whose waves cast up mire and mud.

²¹“There is no peace,” says my God, “for the wicked.”

Isaiah 58

True Fasting

- ¹“Shout it aloud, do not hold back.
Raise your voice like a trumpet.
Declare to my people their rebellion and to the descendants of Jacob their sins. Leadership Must Reflect God's Values and Ethics
- ²For day after day they seek me out; they seem eager to know my ways, as if they were a nation that does what is right and has not forsaken the commands of its God.
They ask me for just decisions and seem eager for God to come near them.
- ³“Why have we fasted,’ they say, ‘and you have not seen it?
Why have we humbled ourselves, and you have not noticed?’
- “Yet on the day of your fasting, you do as you please and exploit all your workers.
- ⁴Your fasting ends in quarreling and strife, and in striking each other with wicked fists.
You cannot fast as you do today and expect your voice to be heard on high.
- ⁵Is this the kind of fast I have chosen, only a day for people to humble themselves?
Is it only for bowing one’s head like a reed and for lying in sackcloth and ashes?
Is that what you call a fast,
a day acceptable to the LORD?
- ⁶“Is not this the kind of fasting I have chosen: to loose the chains of injustice and untie the cords of the yoke, to set the oppressed free

and break every yoke?

⁷Is it not to share your food with the hungry and to provide the poor wanderer with shelter— when you see the naked, to clothe them, and not to turn away from your own flesh and blood?

⁸Then your light will break forth like the dawn, and your healing will quickly appear;
then your righteousness^a will go before you, and the glory of the LORD will be your rear guard.

⁹Then you will call, and the LORD will answer; you will cry for help, and he will say: Here am I.

“If you do away with the yoke of oppression, with the pointing finger and malicious talk, ¹⁰and if you spend yourselves in behalf of the hungry and satisfy the needs of the oppressed,
then your light will rise in the darkness,
and your night will become like the noonday.

¹¹The LORD will guide you always; he will satisfy your needs in a sun-scorched land
and will strengthen your frame.
You will be like a well-watered garden,
like a spring whose waters never fail.

¹²Your people will rebuild the ancient ruins and will raise up the age-old foundations;
you will be called Repairer of Broken Walls, Restorer of Streets with Dwellings.

¹³“If you keep your feet from breaking the Sabbath and from doing as you please on my holy day,
if you call the Sabbath a delight and the LORD’s holy day honorable, and if you honor it by not going your own way
and not doing as you please or speaking idle words,

¹⁴then you will find your joy in the LORD, and I will cause you to ride in triumph on the heights of the land and to feast on the inheritance of your father Jacob.”

For the mouth of the LORD has spoken.

Isaiah 59

Sin, Confession and Redemption

¹Surely the arm of the LORD is not too short to save, nor his ear too dull to hear.

²But your iniquities have separated you from your God;
your sins have hidden his face from you,
so that he will not hear.

³For your hands are stained with blood, your fingers with guilt.
Your lips have spoken falsely, and your tongue mutters wicked things.

⁴No one calls for justice; no one pleads a case with integrity.
They rely on empty arguments, they utter lies;
they conceive trouble and give birth to evil.

⁵They hatch the eggs of vipers and spin a spider's web.
Whoever eats their eggs will die,
and when one is broken, an adder is hatched.

⁶Their cobwebs are useless for clothing; they cannot cover themselves with what they make.
Their deeds are evil deeds,
and acts of violence are in their hands.

⁷Their feet rush into sin; they are swift to shed innocent blood.
They pursue evil schemes;
acts of violence mark their ways.

⁸The way of peace they do not know; there is no justice in their paths.
They have turned them into crooked roads;
no one who walks along them will know peace.

⁹So justice is far from us, and righteousness does not reach us.
We look for light, but all is darkness;
for brightness, but we walk in deep shadows.

¹⁰Like the blind we grope along the wall, feeling our way like people without eyes.
At midday we stumble as if it were twilight;
among the strong, we are like the dead.

¹¹We all growl like bears; we moan mournfully like doves.
We look for justice, but find none;
for deliverance, but it is far away.

¹²For our offenses are many in your sight, and our sins testify against us.
Our offenses are ever with us,
and we acknowledge our iniquities:

¹³rebellion and treachery against the LORD, turning our backs on our God, inciting revolt and oppression,
uttering lies our hearts have conceived.

¹⁴So justice is driven back, and righteousness stands at a distance; truth has stumbled in the streets, honesty cannot enter.

¹⁵Truth is nowhere to be found, and whoever shuns evil becomes a prey.

The LORD looked and was displeased that there was no justice.

¹⁶He saw that there was no one, he was appalled that there was no one to intervene;
so his own arm achieved salvation for him,
and his own righteousness sustained him.

¹⁷He put on righteousness as his breastplate, and the helmet of salvation on his head;
he put on the garments of vengeance and wrapped himself in zeal as in a cloak.

¹⁸According to what they have done, so will he repay wrath to his enemies and retribution to his foes;

he will repay the islands their due.

¹⁹From the west, people will fear the name of the LORD, and from the rising of the sun, they will revere his glory.
For he will come like a pent-up flood that the breath of the LORD drives along.^a ²⁰“The Redeemer will come to Zion, to those in Jacob who repent of their sins,”

declares the LORD.

²¹“As for me, this is my covenant with them,” says the LORD. “My Spirit, who is on you, will not depart from you, and my words that I have put in your mouth will always be on your lips, on the lips of your children and on the lips of their descendants—from this time on and forever,” says the LORD.

Isaiah 60

The Glory of Zion

¹“Arise, shine, for your light has come, and the glory of the LORD rises upon you.

²See, darkness covers the earth and thick darkness is over the peoples, but the LORD rises upon you and his glory appears over you.

³Nations will come to your light, and kings to the brightness of your dawn.

⁴“Lift up your eyes and look about you: All assemble and come to you;
your sons come from afar,
and your daughters are carried on the hip.

⁵Then you will look and be radiant, your heart will throb and swell with joy;
the wealth on the seas will be brought to you,
to you the riches of the nations will come.

⁶Herds of camels will cover your land, young camels of Midian and Ephah.
And all from Sheba will come,

bearing gold and incense and proclaiming the praise of the LORD.

⁷All Kedar's flocks will be gathered to you, the rams of Nebaioth will serve
you;
they will be accepted as offerings on my altar,
and I will adorn my glorious temple.

⁸"Who are these that fly along like clouds, like doves to their nests?

⁹Surely the islands look to me; in the lead are the ships of Tarshish,^a bringing your children from afar,
with their silver and gold,
to the honor of the LORD your God,
the Holy One of Israel,
for he has endowed you with splendor.

¹⁰"Foreigners will rebuild your walls, and their kings will serve you.
Though in anger I struck you,
in favor I will show you compassion.

¹¹Your gates will always stand open, they will never be shut, day or night, so that people may bring you the wealth of the nations—their kings led in triumphal procession.

¹²For the nation or kingdom that will not serve you will perish; it will be utterly ruined.

¹³"The glory of Lebanon will come to you, the juniper, the fir and the cypress together,
to adorn my sanctuary;
and I will glorify the place for my feet.

¹⁴The children of your oppressors will come bowing before you; all who despise you will bow down at your feet and will call you the City of the LORD, Zion of the Holy One of Israel.

¹⁵"Although you have been forsaken and hated, with no one traveling through,
I will make you the everlasting pride and the joy of all generations.

¹⁶You will drink the milk of nations and be nursed at royal breasts.

Then you will know that I, the LORD, am your Savior, your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.

¹⁷Instead of bronze I will bring you gold, and silver in place of iron.

Instead of wood I will bring you bronze, and iron in place of stones.

I will make peace your governor and well-being your ruler.

¹⁸No longer will violence be heard in your land, nor ruin or destruction within your borders,

but you will call your walls Salvation and your gates Praise.

¹⁹The sun will no more be your light by day, nor will the brightness of the moon shine on you, for the LORD will be your everlasting light, and your God will be your glory.

²⁰Your sun will never set again, and your moon will wane no more;
the LORD will be your everlasting light, and your days of sorrow will end.

²¹Then all your people will be righteous and they will possess the land forever.

They are the shoot I have planted,
the work of my hands,
for the display of my splendor.

²²The least of you will become a thousand, the smallest a mighty nation.

I am the LORD;
in its time I will do this swiftly.”

Isaiah 61

The Year of the LORD's Favor

- ¹The Spirit of the Sovereign LORD is on me, because the LORD has anointed me
 to proclaim good news to the poor.
He has sent me to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim freedom for the captives and release from darkness for the prisoners,^a The Purpose of God's Anointing ²to proclaim the year of the LORD's favor and the day of vengeance of our God,
to comfort all who mourn,
 ³and provide for those who grieve in Zion— to bestow on them a crown of beauty instead of ashes,

the oil of joy
instead of mourning,

and a garment of praise
instead of a spirit of despair.
They will be called oaks of righteousness, a planting of the LORD
for the display of his splendor.

⁴They will rebuild the ancient ruins and restore the places long devastated;
they will renew the ruined cities that have been devastated for generations.

⁵Strangers will shepherd your flocks; foreigners will work your fields and vineyards.

⁶And you will be called priests of the LORD, you will be named ministers of our God.

You will feed on the wealth of nations, and in their riches you will boast.

⁷Instead of your shame
you will receive a double portion,

and instead of disgrace
you will rejoice in your inheritance.
And so you will inherit a double portion in your land,
and everlasting joy will be yours.

⁸“For I, the LORD, love justice; I hate robbery and wrongdoing.
In my faithfulness I will reward my people and make an everlasting covenant with them.

⁹Their descendants will be known among the nations and their offspring among the peoples.
All who see them will acknowledge that they are a people the LORD has blessed.”

¹⁰I delight greatly in the LORD; my soul rejoices in my God.
For he has clothed me with garments of salvation and arrayed me in a robe of his righteousness, as a bridegroom adorns his head like a priest,
and as a bride adorns herself with her jewels.

¹¹For as the soil makes the sprout come up and a garden causes seeds to grow, so the Sovereign LORD will make righteousness and praise spring up before all nations.

Isaiah 62

Zion's New Name

- ¹For Zion's sake I will not keep silent, for Jerusalem's sake I will not remain quiet, till her vindication shines out like the dawn, her salvation like a blazing torch.
- ²The nations will see your vindication, and all kings your glory;
you will be called by a new name that the mouth of the LORD will bestow.
- ³You will be a crown of splendor in the LORD's hand, a royal diadem in the hand of your God.
- ⁴No longer will they call you Deserted, or name your land Desolate.
But you will be called Hephzibah,^a and your land Beulah^b; for the LORD will take delight in you, and your land will be married.
- ⁵As a young man marries a young woman, so will your Builder marry you;
as a bridegroom rejoices over his bride,
so will your God rejoice over you.
- ⁶I have posted watchmen on your walls, Jerusalem; they will never be silent day or night.
You who call on the LORD,
give yourselves no rest,
- ⁷and give him no rest till he establishes Jerusalem and makes her the praise of the earth.
- ⁸The LORD has sworn by his right hand and by his mighty arm: “Never again will I give your grain
as food for your enemies, and never again will foreigners drink the new wine
for which you have toiled;
- ⁹but those who harvest it will eat it and praise the LORD, and those who gather the grapes will drink it in the courts of my sanctuary.”

¹⁰Pass through, pass through the gates!

Prepare the way for the people.

Build up, build up the highway!

Remove the stones.

Raise a banner for the nations.

¹¹The LORD has made proclamation to the ends of the earth:

“Say to Daughter Zion,

‘See, your Savior comes!

See, his reward is with him,

and his recompense accompanies him.’ ”

¹²They will be called the Holy People, the Redeemed of the LORD;

and you will be called Sought After,

the City No Longer Deserted.

Isaiah 63

God's Day of Vengeance and Redemption

¹Who is this coming from Edom, from Bozrah, with his garments stained crimson?

Who is this, robed in splendor, striding forward in the greatness of his strength?

“It is I, proclaiming victory, mighty to save.”

²Why are your garments red, like those of one treading the winepress?

³“I have trodden the winepress alone; from the nations no one was with me.
I trampled them in my anger and trod them down in my wrath;
their blood spattered my garments,
and I stained all my clothing.

⁴It was for me the day of vengeance; the year for me to redeem had come.

⁵I looked, but there was no one to help, I was appalled that no one gave support;
so my own arm achieved salvation for me,
and my own wrath sustained me.

⁶I trampled the nations in my anger; in my wrath I made them drunk and poured their blood on the ground.”

Praise and Prayer

⁷I will tell of the kindnesses of the LORD, the deeds for which he is to be praised,
according to all the LORD has done for us— yes, the many good things
he has done for Israel,
according to his compassion and many kindnesses.

⁸He said, “Surely they are my people, children who will be true to me”;
and so he became their Savior.

⁹In all their distress he too was distressed, and the angel of his presence saved them.^a

In his love and mercy he redeemed them;
he lifted them up and carried them all the days of old.

¹⁰Yet they rebelled
and grieved his Holy Spirit.
So he turned and became their enemy and he himself fought against them.

¹¹Then his people recalled^b the days of old, the days of Moses and his people— where is he who brought them through the sea, with the shepherd of his flock?

Where is he who set his Holy Spirit among them, Daring Courage Comes from Deep Conviction ¹²who sent his glorious arm of power to be at Moses' right hand, who divided the waters before them,
to gain for himself everlasting renown, ¹³who led them through the depths?
Like a horse in open country,
they did not stumble;
¹⁴like cattle that go down to the plain, they were given rest by the Spirit of the LORD.
This is how you guided your people to make for yourself a glorious name.

¹⁵Look down from heaven and see, from your lofty throne, holy and glorious.
Where are your zeal and your might?
Your tenderness and compassion are withheld from us.

¹⁶But you are our Father, though Abraham does not know us or Israel acknowledge us;
you, LORD, are our Father,
our Redeemer from of old is your name.

¹⁷Why, LORD, do you make us wander from your ways and harden our hearts so we do not revere you?
Return for the sake of your servants,
the tribes that are your inheritance.

¹⁸For a little while your people possessed your holy place, but now our enemies have trampled down your sanctuary.

¹⁹We are yours from of old; but you have not ruled over them, they have not been called^c by your name.

Isaiah 64^a

- ¹Oh, that you would rend the heavens and come down, that the mountains would tremble before you!
- ²As when fire sets twigs ablaze and causes water to boil, come down to make your name known to your enemies and cause the nations to quake before you!
- ³For when you did awesome things that we did not expect, you came down, and the mountains trembled before you.
- ⁴Since ancient times no one has heard, no ear has perceived,
no eye has seen any God besides you,
who acts on behalf of those who wait for him.
- ⁵You come to the help of those who gladly do right, who remember your ways.
But when we continued to sin against them,
you were angry.
How then can we be saved?
- ⁶All of us have become like one who is unclean, and all our righteous acts are like filthy rags;
we all shrivel up like a leaf,
and like the wind our sins sweep us away.
- ⁷No one calls on your name or strives to lay hold of you;
for you have hidden your face from us
and have given us over to^b our sins.
- ⁸Yet you, LORD, are our Father.
We are the clay, you are the potter;
we are all the work of your hand.
- ⁹Do not be angry beyond measure, LORD; do not remember our sins
forever.
Oh, look on us, we pray,
for we are all your people.
- ¹⁰Your sacred cities have become a wasteland; even Zion is a wasteland, Jerusalem a desolation.
- ¹¹Our holy and glorious temple, where our ancestors praised you, has been burned with fire,

and all that we treasured lies in ruins.
¹²After all this, LORD, will you hold yourself back?
Will you keep silent and punish us beyond measure?

Isaiah 65

Judgment and Salvation

¹“I revealed myself to those who did not ask for me; I was found by those who did not seek me.

To a nation that did not call on my name,
I said, ‘Here am I, here am I.’

²All day long I have held out my hands to an obstinate people, who walk in ways not good,
pursuing their own imaginations—

³a people who continually provoke me to my very face, offering sacrifices in gardens and burning incense on altars of brick; ⁴who sit among the graves and spend their nights keeping secret vigil;

who eat the flesh of pigs,
and whose pots hold broth of impure meat;
⁵who say, 'Keep away; don't come near me, for I am too sacred for you!'
Such people are smoke in my nostrils, a fire that keeps burning all day.

⁶"See, it stands written before me: I will not keep silent but will pay back in full;
I will pay it back into their laps—⁷both your sins and the sins of your ancestors,"
says the LORD.
"Because they burned sacrifices on the mountains and defied me on the hills,
I will measure into their laps
the full payment for their former deeds."

⁸This is what the LORD says:

"As when juice is still found in a cluster of grapes and people say, 'Don't destroy it, there is still a blessing in it,'
so will I do in behalf of my servants;
I will not destroy them all.

⁹I will bring forth descendants from Jacob, and from Judah those who will possess my mountains;
my chosen people will inherit them,
and there will my servants live.

¹⁰Sharon will become a pasture for flocks, and the Valley of Achor a resting place for herds,
for my people who seek me.

¹¹"But as for you who forsake the LORD and forget my holy mountain, who spread a table for Fortune and fill bowls of mixed wine for Destiny, ¹²I will destine you for the sword, and all of you will fall in the slaughter;

for I called but you did not answer,
I spoke but you did not listen.
You did evil in my sight
and chose what displeases me.”

¹³Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“My servants will eat,
but you will go hungry;
my servants will drink,
but you will go thirsty;
my servants will rejoice,
but you will be put to shame.
¹⁴My servants will sing out of the joy of their hearts,

but you will cry out

- from anguish of heart and wail in brokenness of spirit.
- ¹⁵You will leave your name for my chosen ones to use in their curses;
the Sovereign LORD will put you to death, but to his servants he will give another name.
- ¹⁶Whoever invokes a blessing in the land will do so by the one true God;
whoever takes an oath in the land will swear by the one true God.
For the past troubles will be forgotten and hidden from my eyes.

New Heavens and a New Earth

- ¹⁷“See, I will create
new heavens and a new earth.
The former things will not be remembered,
nor will they come to mind.
- ¹⁸But be glad and rejoice forever in what I will create, for I will create Jerusalem to be a delight and its people a joy.
- ¹⁹I will rejoice over Jerusalem and take delight in my people;
the sound of weeping and of crying will be heard in it no more.
- ²⁰“Never again will there be in it an infant who lives but a few days, or an old man who does not live out his years;
the one who dies at a hundred will be thought a mere child;
the one who fails to reach^a a hundred will be considered accursed.
- ²¹They will build houses and dwell in them; they will plant vineyards and eat their fruit.
- ²²No longer will they build houses and others live in them, or plant and others eat.
For as the days of a tree,
so will be the days of my people;
my chosen ones will long enjoy
the work of their hands.
- ²³They will not labor in vain, nor will they bear children doomed to misfortune;

for they will be a people blessed by the LORD, they and their descendants with them.

²⁴Before they call I will answer; while they are still speaking I will hear.

²⁵The wolf and the lamb will feed together, and the lion will eat straw like the ox,
and dust will be the serpent's food.

They will neither harm nor destroy
on all my holy mountain,"

says the LORD.

Isaiah 66

Judgment and Hope

¹This is what the LORD says:

“Heaven is my throne,
and the earth is my footstool.
Where is the house you will build for me?
Where will my resting place be?

²Has not my hand made all these things, and so they came into being?”
declares the LORD.

“These are the ones I look on with favor:
those who are humble and contrite in spirit,
and who tremble at my word.

³But whoever sacrifices a bull is like one who kills a person, and whoever offers a lamb is like one who breaks a dog's neck;

whoever makes a grain offering is like one who presents pig's blood, and whoever burns memorial incense is like one who worships an idol.

They have chosen their own ways,
and they delight in their abominations;

⁴so I also will choose harsh treatment for them and will bring on them what they dread.

For when I called, no one answered, when I spoke, no one listened.
They did evil in my sight
and chose what displeases me.”

⁵Hear the word of the LORD, you who tremble at his word:

“Your own people who hate you,
and exclude you because of my name, have said, ‘Let the LORD be glorified, that we may see your joy!’
Yet they will be put to shame.

⁶Hear that uproar from the city, hear that noise from the temple!

It is the sound of the LORD
repaying his enemies all they deserve.

⁷“Before she goes into labor, she gives birth;
before the pains come upon her,
she delivers a son.

⁸Who has ever heard of such things?
Who has ever seen things like this?
Can a country be born in a day or a nation be brought forth in a moment?
Yet no sooner is Zion in labor than she gives birth to her children.

⁹Do I bring to the moment of birth and not give delivery?” says the LORD.

“Do I close up the womb
when I bring to delivery?” says your God.

¹⁰“Rejoice with Jerusalem and be glad for her, all you who love her;
rejoice greatly with her,
all you who mourn over her.

¹¹For you will nurse and be satisfied at her comforting breasts;

you will drink deeply and delight in her overflowing abundance.”

¹²For this is what the LORD says:

“I will extend peace to her like a river,
and the wealth of nations like a flooding stream;
you will nurse and be carried on her arm and dandled on her knees.

¹³As a mother comforts her child, so will I comfort you;
and you will be comforted over Jerusalem.”

¹⁴When you see this, your heart will rejoice and you will flourish like grass;
the hand of the LORD will be made known to his servants, but his fury will be shown to his foes.

¹⁵See, the LORD is coming with fire, and his chariots are like a whirlwind;
he will bring down his anger with fury,
and his rebuke with flames of fire.

¹⁶For with fire and with his sword the LORD will execute judgment on all people, and many will be those slain by the LORD.

¹⁷“Those who consecrate and purify themselves to go into the gardens, following one who is among those who eat the flesh of pigs, rats and other unclean things—they will meet their end together with the one they follow,”
declares the LORD.

¹⁸“And I, because of what they have planned and done, am about to come^a and gather the people of all nations and languages, and they will come and see my glory.

¹⁹“I will set a sign among them, and I will send some of those who survive to the nations—to Tarshish, to the Libyans^b and Lydians (famous as archers), to Tubal and Greece, and to the distant islands that have not heard of my fame or seen my glory. They will proclaim my glory among the nations. ²⁰And they will bring all your people, from all the nations, to my holy mountain in Jerusalem as an offering to the LORD—on horses, in chariots and wagons, and on mules and camels,” says the LORD. “They will bring them, as the Israelites bring their grain offerings, to the temple of the LORD in ceremonially clean vessels. ²¹And
I will select some of them also to be priests and Levites,” says the LORD.

²²“As the new heavens and the new earth that I make will endure before me,” declares the LORD, “so will your name and descendants endure. ²³From one New Moon to another and from one Sabbath to another, all mankind will come and bow down before me,” says the LORD. ²⁴“And they will go out and look on the dead bodies of those who rebelled against me; the worms that eat them will not die, the fire that burns them will not be quenched, and they will be loathsome to all mankind.”

Growth Occurs When Vision and Values Match

Isaiah 1:10–17

God scolds the leaders of Judah and Jerusalem—even calling them rulers of Sodom and people of Gomorrah, the wicked cities he wiped out in Genesis 19—because they continued to perform religious rituals long after their hearts had grown cold and distant toward God. In other words, they continued to pursue a godly vision far from the values that birthed it. They had become empty, hollow leaders.

God resents perfunctory behavior. He doesn't want leaders who merely go through the motions. Leaders can look good while pursuing a worthwhile vision that they no longer consider valuable. Leaders find power only when . . .

1. Their vision and values match.
2. Their lifestyle and lip service match.
3. Their conduct and character match.
4. Their image and integrity match.
5. Their promises and production match.
6. Their strategy and support match.

Judah's Lousy Leaders: Everything Rises and Falls on Leadership

Isaiah 3:1–4

God had a strategy for judging Judah, and part of his judgment involved removing good leaders from the nation. No organization or nation can prosper without good leadership. People suffer with poor leaders at the helm. God knew the way to impact the nation was to change its leadership.

The Law of Navigation: How Leaders Lead

Isaiah 3:14–15

The more power leaders gain, the more they reveal of themselves. Power causes the heart to disclose its contents.

The leaders described in Isaiah 3 displayed their corrupt hearts the moment they won a position of authority. Good or bad, leaders determine where and when the organization goes; this is the ripple effect of the Law of Navigation. The Lord responded to these corrupt leaders by sounding judgment against them.

Leaders must consider the impact of their every move. Leaders always lead. There are no time-outs!

There never comes a time when it doesn't matter what you do. Think of your leadership like a diet. Suppose you eat right in the restaurant with friends, but then go home and consume a whole strawberry cheesecake. You won't lose weight that way! What you eat eventually shows. In the same way, those you lead eventually reflect your leadership. Your navigation as a leader depends on the following:

1. When you know where you are going, you gain conviction.
2. When you have been there before, you gain credibility.
3. When you can take someone with you, you gain connection.

The Value of Vision

Isaiah 4:2–6

Isaiah 4 illustrates how good leaders create a climate for growth based on a picture of a preferred future. A strong God-given vision drove all the worthwhile accomplishments recorded in the Bible. Consider the following examples:

Leader

1. Abraham (Ge 12)
2. Moses (Ex 3; 4)
3. Joshua (Nu 27)
4. David (1Ch 22)
5. Solomon (2Ch 28)
6. Nehemiah (Ne 2)
7. Esther (Est 4)
8. Zerubbabel (Hag 1)
9. Jesus (Mt 28; Lk 15)
10. Paul (Ac 9)

Vision

- To create a great nation of people of faith
- To lead the people of Israel out of Egypt
- To lead the people of Israel into the promised land
- To build the temple in Jerusalem
- To complete the building of the temple
- To rebuild the Jerusalem wall
- To save the Jewish people from Haman
- To rebuild the temple
- To seek and save the lost, and to disciple men to do the same
- To take the gospel to the Jews and Gentiles

The Call of a Leader

Isaiah 6:1–8

The first eight verses of Isaiah 6 illustrate how God calls many leaders. After Isaiah captures a vision for God, the Lord lays out a need for someone to speak for him. God has a message and is looking for a messenger. God issued a general call, for anyone, and Isaiah took it personally. He did so because of three factors that make up a divine call to lead:

1. Opportunity: We see a specific place where we can make a difference. This has to do with timing (v. 1).
2. Ability: We recognize that we have the God-given gifts to do something about the need. This has to do with competence (vv. 6–7).
3. Desire: We want to step out and address the need; our hunger pushes us. This has to do with our passion (v. 8).

Responding to a Divine Call

Isaiah 6:1–8

Have you ever noticed that the experience of Isaiah parallels our own process of responding to a divine call to lead?

Isaiah gets a vision of God (Isa 6:1–4), a vision of himself (6:5–7) and a vision of ministry (6:8). At least five stages in this process apply to us:

Stage One: The Revelation of God (vv. 1–2)

Isaiah saw the Lord in a face-to-face encounter that changed him forever.

Stage Two: The Realization of God's Holiness (vv. 3–4)

Isaiah experiences God as holy. Through this encounter, the Lord becomes more than an abstract idea. Isaiah learns of God's awesome personality.

Stage Three: The Recognition of His Own Sinfulness (v. 5)

Isaiah sees the vast distance between God and himself. He sees the infinite contrast and is broken of self.

Stage Four: The Renewal of His Perspective (vv. 6–7)

An angel touches the prophet, cleansing him and giving him a new outlook. He is ready to serve.

Stage Five: The Response of His Lifestyle (v. 8)

When God calls, Isaiah eagerly steps forward. A call is marked by a fruitful life.

The Law of Connection: The Call Pushes Leaders to Communicate

Isaiah 7:1–17

Isaiah wants to communicate a message that begins to burn inside of him (as it did with Jeremiah). The divine message gives him an urgency to connect with others and spread God's word. God's call gives him a divine compulsion to speak and act.

A leader's sense of call provides divine energy. Ponder a few other examples of this phenomenon:

1. Abraham was called by God through a divine visitation (Ge 12).
2. Joseph was called by God through a dream (Ge 37).
3. Moses was called by God through a voice in a burning bush (Ex 3; 4).
4. Aaron was called by God through his brother Moses (Ex 4).
5. Joshua was called by God through Moses (Ex 17).
6. Gideon was called by God through an angel (Jdg 6).
7. Samuel was called by God through God's audible voice (1Sa 3).
8. David was called by God through the prophet Samuel (1Sa 16).
9. Paul was called by God through a vision while he traveled (Ac 9).
10. Timothy was called by God by Paul's preaching and through his upbringing (1Ti 1; 2Ti 1; 2).

The Benefits of Humility, the Liabilities of Pride

Isaiah 10:1–6

Beware of treating followers unjustly! God reserves a stern condemnation for oppressive leaders.

In Isaiah 10, God speaks to both Assyria and Israel to declare the benefits of humility and the liabilities of pride. Later, God even models the leadership style he wants every leader to embrace by sending the Suffering Servant. The Messiah will come to serve, not to be served (Isa 52; 53; Mk 10:45). God perfectly illustrates servant leadership. Followers come when leaders serve. Look how often God calls his leaders "servants":

1. Abraham: called God's servant (Ge 26:24)
2. Moses: called God's servant (Ex 14:31)
3. Joshua: called Moses' servant (Ex 33:11)
4. Caleb: called God's servant (Nu 14:24)
5. Samuel: called God's servant (1Sa 3:9)
6. David: called Saul's servant (1Sa 29:3)
7. Elijah: called God's servant (2Ki 9:36)
8. Isaiah: called God's servant (Isa 20:3)

A Riches to Rags Story

Isaiah 14:3–23

Proverbs 16:18 reminds us that pride comes before a fall and that a haughty spirit causes one to stumble. We see that truth in action in Isaiah 14.

While we see the immediate fulfillment of this passage in the king of Babylon, many scholars believe the text also speaks of Satan. Note the arrogant words in verses 12–17. What a sobering picture of a leader who goes astray! Both the oppressive king and Satan had one common characteristic: a lust for pride and power. Consider the devil's fall from his original place in heaven, as described in Isaiah 14, Ezekiel 28, and Revelation 12; 20:

1. The one cast down (to the bottomless pit) (Isa 14:15; Rev 12:10; 20:3)

Isaiah: A Leader's Heart of Love for the Unlovely

Isaiah 15:5; 16:9, 11

Someone must have forgotten to tell the prophet Isaiah that he lived in Old Testament times.

You know the picture most have of ancient Hebrew leaders-eye-for-an-eye types, angry, hair akimbo, and eager for God's righteous judgment to fall upon the pagans and the wicked. And yet, here stands Isaiah, crying out for heathen Moab and weeping for wayward Heshbon.

Isaiah demonstrates for us the attitude of a godly leader who sees approaching judgment on unbelievers. He actually grieves over what is coming on lost souls. While he acknowledges and even celebrates God's righteousness and sovereignty in judging those who reject him, he also proclaims that the calamity about to descend is nothing other than a terrible tragedy.

Isaiah's lament over the fate of these ancient nations reveals the attitude of a truly godly leader. While he knew those erring nations surely deserved God's judgment, he also knew that without God's grace and mercy, none of us could expect anything else.

We ought to stand in awed silence when we see the judgment of God falling on those who have forsaken his way. But we should never see his judgment as an occasion to celebrate our own righteousness. Rather, we ought to grieve for the lost and reflect deeply on the grace and mercy God has extended to us.

Personal Qualifications of Leadership

Isaiah 19:11–15

What qualifies a person to be a leader? Most natural leaders don't aspire to be great leaders; they aspire to be great persons. Personal qualifications lead to leadership qualifications. When leaders lead their own lives well, others naturally want to follow.

Consider Mother Teresa of Calcutta, India. It's doubtful she ever said, "I am going to set out to be a great leader!" Yet that is what she became by determining to be the person God created her to be. She developed personal qualities that became leadership qualities.

Isaiah illustrates this from a negative viewpoint. The senseless, naïve leaders of Zoan and Noph lacked the foresight to lead others. Their incompetence prompted God to compare them with a drunken man who can't even walk straight. If we want our leadership to last, we must pay attention to four crucial elements:

1. Character—enables us to do what is right even when it seems difficult.
2. Perspective—enables us to understand what must happen to reach a goal.
3. Courage—enables us to initiate and take the risks to step out toward a worthy goal.
4. Favor—enables us to attract and empower others to join us in the cause.

God's Providence: He Raises Up Leaders and Brings Them Down

Isaiah 23:1–18

The city of Tyre wielded great international influence during Isaiah's day. Its wealthy merchants created a high standard of living. But when God chose to bring them down, no one could stop him. We can position people, but only God exalts them. We can develop others, but only God raises them up.

Vision: Great Leaders Never Lose Sight of the Big Picture

Isaiah 25:1–12

Good leaders never shrink from dealing with the realities of the here and now, no matter how depressing they might be. Yet they never lose sight of the big picture and what the ultimate future looks like.

While Isaiah 25 boasts a wonderful vision for the future, it comes on the heels of chapter 24, which predicts doom and gloom for the immediate future. One chapter deals with a temporary situation; the next pictures the ultimate situation. Leadership must stay in touch with both. Vision separates leaders from followers:

Followers

1. See the here and now

2. Driven by the atmosphere of today

3. Limited perspective on their abilities

4. Can be diverted by today's losses

5. Key word: immediate

Leaders

1. See the ultimate goals and potential

2. Driven by their vision for tomorrow

3. Larger perspective on everyone's abilities

4. Stays on track by focusing on the goal

5. Key word: ultimate

Leaders Manage Stress by Managing Perspective

Isaiah 26:3–4

Those who fix their eyes on the past risk a severe collision with the future. Those who see only the future hit much too hard the speed bumps of today. Only those who fix their eyes on God can effectively negotiate the right pace of life.

Strategic Planning: Where God Fits In

Isaiah 30:1–5

Leaders and organizations constantly make plans. This is one reason why leaders are in demand; they plan for and negotiate the future. Yet Isaiah issues a warning to every leader who develops plans without asking if they fit the mind of God.

Leaders must remember just how tentative strategic plans need to be. No one knows the future except God. Keep in mind the following equation as you plan:

$$\text{Our Preparation} + \text{God's Providence} = \text{Success}$$

Leaders must constantly ask if their plans fit God's revealed will for them and their organization. Then they must ask if their plans remain relevant to the needs of their mission, their values, their vision, and their long-range objectives. Finally, they need to ask if their plans fit the needs of their culture and time. This makes for wise leadership and strategic planning.

The Law of Solid Ground: Leaders Must Earn Trust

Isaiah 33:14–16

Who can stand up under the purification process of God? Who can remain unchanged through the fire of God?

That's the question Isaiah asks and then answers. He lays out a list of traits for the kind of people who can stand in a crisis. Ponder his description:

1. Integrity: The leader's life and words match (v. 15).
2. Justice: The leader rejects dishonest gain (v. 15).
3. Convictions: The leader's values won't allow him to accept bribes (v. 15).
4. Positive focus: The leader refuses to dwell on destructive issues (v. 15).
5. Pure: The leader disciplines his or her mind to remain clean and pure (v. 15).
6. Secure: The leader is firm, stable in his identity and source of strength (v. 16).

Characteristics like these earn the trust of others. When leaders possess them, they feel secure enough to develop others, rather than destroy them. Remember, only secure leaders empower others.

The Law of Navigation: The Role of Planning and Praying

Isaiah 37:1–37

King Hezekiah provides an example of a leader who does what is humanly possible, then leans on God for the outcome. God had to do what the king could not do. A place exists for both preparation and prayer. To employ only one is naïve and incomplete.

Hezekiah: The Art of Thanksgiving

Isaiah 38:9–20

Nothing brings out gratefulness like a reprieve from imminent death.

When King Hezekiah of Judah, a good and godly king, heard from the prophet Isaiah that he was about to die, he immediately turned to the God he had faithfully served. He begged God for an extension of life—and the Lord granted him an additional 15 years. When Hezekiah learned that the Lord would lengthen his life, he did what any godly leader would do: He thanked and praised his God. Upon his recovery, he wrote to the Lord a poem of thanksgiving and praise for the good he had done.

As the godly king meditated on God’s goodness, he realized that the Lord had used even his sickness for his good. In verse 17 he wrote, “Surely it was for my benefit that I suffered such anguish”—the same sentiment expressed many years before by his revered ancestor, David: “It was good for me to be afflicted so that I might learn your decrees” (Ps 119:71).

Hezekiah’s hymn of gratitude not only thanked the Lord for sparing his life, it also expressed his commitment to “sing with stringed instruments all the days of our lives” (Isa 38:20). He realized that expressing gratitude to God ought to be more than a onetime event; it must be a lifestyle.

The Model for Leadership

Isaiah 40:1–31

We must never forget that the greatest model for leadership always comes from the life of God himself. Isaiah 40 makes it clear that God, as the Ultimate Leader, models:

1. Comfort and Security

God supplies comfort and cleansing to his people (vv. 1–2).

2. Empowerment and Delegation

God makes the path straight for others, then has them speak his words (vv. 3–8).

3. Shepherding and Direction

God proclaims good news and guides his people like a Shepherd (vv. 9–11).

4. Power and Authority

No one can challenge God’s strength. He is a Leader with unequalled power (vv. 12–17).

5. Creator and Developer

God is the transcendent Leader who builds and develops others (vv. 21–26).

6. Wise Counselor and Provider

God is the source for every need we may have (vv. 27–31).

The Law of Sacrifice

Isaiah 43:1–7

God, as the Ultimate Leader, consistently practices the Law of Sacrifice. Leaders will do the illogical and surrender valuable possessions in order to fulfill and capture their dream. Fortunately for us, we are God's dream. Only through the prophet Isaiah does God say directly to his people, "I love you."

Revival Fire: Man-Made or God-Given?

Isaiah 44:1–8

What godly leader has no desire in their heart to see the fire of God? We all long for fire to descend from heaven to empower us to accomplish a great task. Sometimes, however, when it seems hard to wait for the "heavenly" fire, we resort to "homemade" fire. Consider four kinds of homemade fire:

1. The fire of association: We feel this fire when we're enjoying a revival atmosphere. It serves as a hot poker.
2. The fire of yesterday: This fire comes from hearing testimonies of saints who talk about the good old days.
3. The fire of selfish desires: This fire comes as a spark when we see how it will benefit me to serve God today.
4. The fire of tradition: This fire comes when we feel warm and comfortable with the way we've always done it.

So what distinguishes divine fire from man-made fire?

Man-Made Fires

1. Have a tendency to go out

God-Given Fires

1. Remain as long as our focus stays on him

2. Are more than enough to meet our needs

2. Are not sufficient for today

3. Are not contagious

3. Are contagious for those who see them

The Mission and Vision of a Leader

Isaiah 49:1–3

Leaders must give their lives to causes that count. They must sense that what they do matters to God. Only then will they feel deep satisfaction for their work. Isaiah speaks some incredible words about the Messiah's mission as a Leader:

1. He was called from his mother's womb (v. 1).
2. He was gifted with specific resources (v. 2).
3. He was protected supernaturally by God (v. 2).
4. He was given a particular divine mission (v. 2).
5. He was ordained to reflect God's glory (v. 3).

While any leader might well covet these descriptions, only in the life of the Messiah, God's servant sent from heaven to redeem earth, were they perfectly fulfilled. Yet they serve as a model for us as we pursue our God-given mission and vision.

Servant Leadership Modeled by the Messiah

Isaiah 52:13—53:12

Beyond all question, Jesus Christ modeled the Law of Sacrifice. He gave up for a time the riches of heaven in order to fulfill his divinely ordained role on earth.

Isaiah 53 describes what is often called “the exchanged life.” Jesus took our sin, pain and failures so we could have his righteousness, healing and victory. While he offers this package to everyone, leaders have the opportunity to benefit from this sacrifice in a particularly tangible fashion.

Ponder for a moment what Christ gave up and what we obtain. Imagine what might happen if you were to implement the entire gift of redemption that Christ paid for on your behalf! He sacrificed greatly so that we might enjoy the following gifts:

His Sacrifice

1. Grief, infirmities, insecurities

2. Sins and transgressions

3. Sicknesses and diseases

4. Mental turmoil and pain

5. Weaknesses

Our Gain

1. Security and solid emotions

2. Forgiveness from guilt

3. Health and wholeness

4. Peace of mind

5. His strength

The Law of Victory: Leaders Communicate Until They See Results

Isaiah 55:1–11

Isaiah 55 offers the words of a great communicator. In this passage God invites everyone to participate in his offer to quench their thirst. He tries to convince his hearers that he alone can fulfill their desires and permanently meet their needs. Then he beckons them to seek him while he may be found.

Verses 10–12 contain a marvelous promise. God says that just as the rain and snow fall from the sky and do not return without watering the earth, so his Word will also accomplish the goals he sets for it. God’s Word will bear fruit. From these three simple verses, note how God evaluates good communication:

1. His Word will get results (v. 10).
2. His Word will furnish tools and resources (v. 10).
3. His Word will meet needs (v. 10).
4. His Word will perform his will (v. 11).
5. His Word will satisfy the soul of the hearers (v. 12).

How about you? Can you, as a leader, make those claims? How do you evaluate your communication? What fruit does your communication produce?

Leadership Must Reflect God’s Values and Ethics

Isaiah 58:1–14

The practice of fasting goes much deeper than the act of going without food. God declares that he delights not merely in his people going without some daily staples, but in loosing the “chains of injustice” and undoing “the cords of the yoke” of those they have oppressed (Isa 58:6).

Leaders would do well to learn from these words. God is calling us to live from his set of values and ethics. Fasting is fine and good—and these days we don’t do it enough—but to fast while continuing to harbor destructive thoughts and oppressive attitudes does not reflect godly leadership. Ethics supply the foundation for our values. Values supply the power that drives our leadership. Consider what God expects from the “fasted life”:

1. Liberate those who are oppressed (v. 6).
2. Share resources with the needy (v. 7).
3. Provide shelter to the homeless (v. 7).
4. Supply clothing to the naked (v. 7).
5. Stop accusing and judging others (v. 9).

The Purpose of God’s Anointing

Isaiah 61:1–3

What does God call his anointed Leader to do? Isaiah describes how God’s Servant comes to preach good tidings to the poor, to heal the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and to proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord. God is the One who anoints, who prepares his leaders for service. But what is the purpose of the anointing?

God anoints leaders to enable them to speak the supernatural words and perform the supernatural tasks he has called them to do. Consider the purposes of God's anointing, according to Isaiah:

1. To supernaturally enable men and women to perform their ministries
2. To bring hope and good news to the afflicted
3. To heal the brokenhearted
4. To proclaim liberty to the captives

5. To set prisoners free

6. To proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord
7. To announce the day of God's vengeance and justice

8. To comfort all who mourn

9. To furnish beauty for those who have lost it

10. To provide happiness and a glad heart

11. To supply an opportunity to praise God's name

12. To glorify the Lord and not man

Daring Courage Comes from Deep Conviction

Isaiah 63:11–14

Isaiah recalls that Moses received his courage from his God-given convictions. Moses' relationship with God came first; next came a foundation of convictions; and finally the courage to lead others without compromise. Popularity with God controlled Moses' life, not popularity with people.

Introduction to Jeremiah

A Call to Change and Repentance

Without question the prophet Jeremiah received one of the toughest assignments of any leader in the Old Testament. God called him to lead a stubborn people, then informed him that the people would not follow his lead (7:27–28).

Jeremiah was born toward the end of the reign of King Josiah, the last good king of Judah. The prophet's leadership came at a time of moral, political, and religious decline, ending in the Babylonian exile. God called Jeremiah as a youth and immediately began to prepare him to serve as a prophet to the nations. He was a priest called to prophetic service at a most unhappy time.

God directed Jeremiah to deliver a hard message, a message of critical evaluation rather than of salvation. He was to call the people to change and repentance, to raise the standard they had dropped, and to call them to recapture their values and heritage. Think of him as a new CEO, called in to turn around a failing organization—only Jeremiah had a country to overhaul, not a mere corporation. He couldn't fire anyone; and in fact, those he attempted to influence rejected him. Jeremiah led the Hebrews during tough times, yet he never lost his vision.

We understand Jeremiah's personality more thoroughly than any other prophet. He clung tenaciously to his assigned task through long years of rejection and persecution, and still stands as a tribute to God's grace and the mettle of a strong leader. What's more, we call Jeremiah "the weeping prophet" because he shed so many tears over the hardness of his people and the severity of their judgment.

This embattled leader embraced core convictions, yet never lost his compassion. His heart didn't grow cold and crusty, despite the calloused hearts of his listeners. He continued to invest himself in his cause even though the people considered him a meddler and a traitor. Jewish men, nobles and kings all tried to assassinate him at one time or another. While God warned Jeremiah from the start that the masses would reject his leadership, he continued to set the pace for what was right.

God's Role in Jeremiah

Jeremiah learned early to rely on God for sustaining grace. In chapter one, God tells him that even before his body took shape in his mother's womb, the Lord had ordained him as a prophet to the nations—to pluck up, tear down, and build again. Several times during his career, Jeremiah determined to quit, but God reminded him of the vision and strengthened him. This divine call became the very reason Jeremiah remained true to his task.

At one point, the prophet likened God's word to an inner fire that would consume him if he didn't continue to speak. Jeremiah provides an example of a leader who continued in tough times through the supernatural work of God. Divine conviction drove him, along with a divine compassion and a divine call.

Lessons in Leadership

- God's calling of a leader matches his empowerment.
- Leaders must expect criticism and sometimes must confront.
- Leaders must not only endure change, but create it.
- Effective leaders identify with the sins and failures of their people.
- Leaders can be compared to both watchmen and shepherds.
- Great leaders never lose their ability to empathize.
- Successful leaders find memorable and creative ways to communicate truth.
- Leaders must cling to their God-given vision even when the people stray.

Jeremiah 1

¹The words of Jeremiah son of Hilkiah, one of the priests at Anathoth in the territory of Benjamin. ²The word of the LORD came to him in the thirteenth year of the reign of Josiah son of Amon king of Judah, ³and through the reign of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah, down to the fifth month of the eleventh year of Zedekiah son of Josiah king of Judah, when the people of Jerusalem went into exile.

The Call of Jeremiah

⁴The word of the LORD came to me, saying, God's Call and Empowerment Match

⁵“Before I formed you in the womb I knew^a you, before you were born I set you apart;
I appointed you as a prophet to the nations.”

⁶“Alas, Sovereign LORD,” I said, “I do not know how to speak; I am too young.”

⁷But the LORD said to me, “Do not say, ‘I am too young.’ You must go to everyone I send you to and say whatever I command you. ⁸Do not be afraid of them, for I am with you and will rescue you,” declares the LORD.

⁹Then the LORD reached out his hand and touched my mouth and said to me, “I have put my words in your mouth. ¹⁰See, today I appoint you over nations and kingdoms to uproot and tear down, to destroy and overthrow, to build and to plant.”

¹¹The word of the LORD came to me: “What do you see, Jeremiah?”

“I see the branch of an almond tree,” I replied.

¹²The LORD said to me, “You have seen correctly, for I am watching^b to see that my word is fulfilled.”

¹³The word of the LORD came to me again: “What do you see?”

“I see a pot that is boiling,” I answered. “It is tilting toward us from the north.”

¹⁴The LORD said to me, “From the north disaster will be poured out on all who live in the land. ¹⁵I am about to summon all the peoples of the northern kingdoms,” declares the LORD.

“Their kings will come and set up their thrones in the entrance of the gates of Jerusalem;
they will come against all her surrounding walls and against all the towns of Judah.

¹⁶I will pronounce my judgments on my people because of their wickedness in forsaking me, in burning incense to other gods
and in worshipping what their hands have made

and in worshipping what their hands have made.

¹⁷“Get yourself ready! Stand up and say to them whatever I command you. Do not be terrified by them, or I will terrify you before them. ¹⁸Today I have made you a fortified city, an iron pillar and a bronze wall to stand against the whole land—against the kings of Judah, its officials, its priests and the people of the land. ¹⁹They will fight against you but will not overcome you, for I am with you and will rescue you,” declares the LORD. The Law of Sacrifice: Jeremiah Gave Up Loads to Lead

Jeremiah 2

Israel Forsakes God

¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²“Go and proclaim in the hearing of Jerusalem: “This is what the LORD says:

“ ‘I remember the devotion of your youth, how as a bride you loved me
and followed me through the wilderness, through a land not sown. Communication: Effective Leaders Use Memorable Imagery

³Israel was holy to the LORD, the firstfruits of his harvest;
all who devoured her were held guilty, and disaster overtook them,’ ”

declares the LORD.

⁴Hear the word of the LORD, you descendants of Jacob, all you clans of Israel.

⁵This is what the LORD says:

“What fault did your ancestors find in me,
that they strayed so far from me?

They followed worthless idols and became worthless themselves.

⁶They did not ask, ‘Where is the LORD, who brought us up out of Egypt and led us through the barren wilderness, through a land of deserts and ravines,
a land of drought and utter darkness,
a land where no one travels and no one lives?’

⁷I brought you into a fertile land to eat its fruit and rich produce.
But you came and defiled my land and made my inheritance detestable.

⁸The priests did not ask,
‘Where is the LORD?’
Those who deal with the law did not know me;
the leaders rebelled against me.
The prophets prophesied by Baal,
following worthless idols.

⁹“Therefore I bring charges against you again,”
declares the LORD.
“And I will bring charges against your children’s children.

¹⁰Cross over to the coasts of Cyprus and look, send to Kedar^a and observe closely; see if there has ever been anything like this:

¹¹Has a nation ever changed its gods?
(Yet they are not gods at all.)
But my people have exchanged their glorious God for worthless idols.

¹²Be appalled at this, you heavens, and shudder with great horror,”
declares the LORD.

¹³“My people have committed two sins:
They have forsaken me,
the spring of living water,
and have dug their own cisterns, broken cisterns that cannot hold water.

¹⁴Is Israel a servant, a slave by birth?
Why then has he become plunder?

- ¹⁵Lions have roared;
they have growled at him.
They have laid waste his land;
his towns are burned and deserted.
- ¹⁶Also, the men of Memphis and Tahpanhes have cracked your skull.
- ¹⁷Have you not brought this on yourselves by forsaking the LORD your God when he led you in the way?
- ¹⁸Now why go to Egypt
to drink water from the Nile^b?

And why go to Assyria to drink water from the Euphrates?
¹⁹Your wickedness will punish you;
your backsliding will rebuke you.

Consider then and realize how evil and bitter it is for you when you forsake the LORD your God and have no awe of me,”

declares the Lord, the LORD Almighty.

²⁰“Long ago you broke off your yoke and tore off your bonds;
you said, ‘I will not serve you!’
Indeed, on every high hill and under every spreading tree you lay down as a prostitute.

²¹I had planted you like a choice vine of sound and reliable stock.

How then did you turn against me into a corrupt, wild vine?

²²Although you wash yourself with soap and use an abundance of cleansing powder, the stain of your guilt is still before me,”

declares the Sovereign LORD.

²³“How can you say, ‘I am not defiled;
I have not run after the Baals’?
See how you behaved in the valley;
consider what you have done.

You are a swift she-camel running here and there,

²⁴a wild donkey accustomed to the desert, sniffing the wind in her craving—
in her heat who can restrain her?

Any males that pursue her need not tire themselves;
at mating time they will find her.

²⁵Do not run until your feet are bare and your throat is dry.

But you said, ‘It’s no use!
I love foreign gods,
and I must go after them.’

²⁶“As a thief is disgraced when he is caught, so the people of Israel are disgraced—
they, their kings and their officials, their priests and their prophets.

²⁷They say to wood, ‘You are my father,’ and to stone, ‘You gave me birth.’
They have turned their backs to me
and not their faces;
yet when they are in trouble, they say,
‘Come and save us!’

²⁸Where then are the gods you made for yourselves?

Let them come if they can save you when you are in trouble!
For you, Judah, have as many gods
as you have towns.

²⁹“Why do you bring charges against me?
You have all rebelled against me,”

declares the LORD.

³⁰“In vain I punished your people;
they did not respond to correction.
Your sword has devoured your prophets like a ravenous lion.

³¹“You of this generation, consider the word of the LORD:

“Have I been a desert to Israel or a land of great darkness?
Why do my people say, ‘We are free to roam;
we will come to you no more’?

³²Does a young woman forget her jewelry,
a bride her wedding ornaments?
Yet my people have forgotten me,
days without number.

³³How skilled you are at pursuing love!
Even the worst of women can learn from your ways.

³⁴On your clothes is found the lifeblood of the innocent poor, though you did not catch them breaking in.
Yet in spite of all this ³⁵you say, ‘I am innocent;

he is not angry with me.’
But I will pass judgment on you because you say, ‘I have not sinned.’

³⁶Why do you go about so much, changing your ways?
You will be disappointed by Egypt
as you were by Assyria.

³⁷You will also leave that place with your hands on your head

with your hands on your head,
for the LORD has rejected those you trust;
you will not be helped by them.

- ¹“If a man divorces his wife and she leaves him and marries another man, should he return to her again?
Would not the land be completely defiled?
But you have lived as a prostitute with many lovers—would you now return to me?”
declares the LORD.
- ²“Look up to the barren heights and see.
Is there any place where you have not been ravished?
By the roadside you sat waiting for lovers,
sat like a nomad in the desert.

You have defiled the land with your prostitution and wickedness.
³Therefore the showers have been withheld, and no spring rains have fallen.
Yet you have the brazen look of a prostitute;
you refuse to blush with shame.
⁴Have you not just called to me:
‘My Father, my friend from my youth,
⁵will you always be angry?
Will your wrath continue forever?’
This is how you talk,
but you do all the evil you can.”

Unfaithful Israel

⁶During the reign of King Josiah, the LORD said to me, “Have you seen what faithless Israel has done? She has gone up on every high hill and under every spreading tree and has committed adultery there. ⁷I thought that after she had done all this she would return to me but she did not, and her unfaithful sister Judah saw it. ⁸I gave faithless Israel her certificate of divorce and sent her away because of all her adulteries. Yet I saw that her unfaithful sister Judah had no fear; she also went out and committed adultery. ⁹Because Israel’s immorality mattered so little to her, she defiled the land and committed adultery with stone and wood. ¹⁰In spite of all this, her unfaithful sister Judah did not return to me with all her heart, but only in pretense,” declares the LORD.

¹¹The LORD said to me, “Faithless Israel is more righteous than unfaithful Judah. ¹²Go, proclaim this message toward the north:

“ ‘Return, faithless Israel,’ declares the LORD,
‘I will frown on you no longer,
for I am faithful,’ declares the LORD,
‘I will not be angry forever.

¹³Only acknowledge your guilt—
you have rebelled against the LORD your God, you have scattered your favors to foreign gods
under every spreading tree, and have not obeyed me,’ ”

declares the LORD.

¹⁴“Return, faithless people,” declares the LORD, “for I am your husband. I will choose you—one from a town and two from a clan—and bring you to Zion. ¹⁵Then I will give you shepherds after my own heart, who will lead you with knowledge and understanding. ¹⁶In those days, when your numbers have increased greatly in the land,” declares the LORD, “people will no longer say, ‘The ark of the covenant of the LORD.’ It will never enter their minds or be remembered; it will not be missed, nor will another one be made. ¹⁷At that time they will call Jerusalem The Throne of the LORD, and all nations will gather in Jerusalem to honor the name of the LORD. No longer will they follow the stubbornness of their evil hearts. ¹⁸In those days the people of Judah will join the people of Israel, and together they will come from a northern land to the land I gave your ancestors as an inheritance. God's Criteria for Leaders: Shepherds After His Heart

¹⁹“I myself said,

“ ‘How gladly would I treat you like my children and give you a pleasant land,
the most beautiful inheritance of any nation.’
I thought you would call me ‘Father’ and not turn away from following me.

²⁰But like a woman unfaithful to her husband,
so you, Israel, have been unfaithful to me,”

declares the LORD.

²¹A cry is heard on the barren heights,
the weeping and pleading of the people of Israel, because they have perverted their ways and have forgotten the LORD their God.

²²“Return, faithless people;
I will cure you of backsliding.”

“Yes, we will come to you, for you are the LORD our God.

²³Surely the idolatrous commotion on the hills and mountains is a deception; surely in the LORD our God is the salvation of Israel.

²⁴From our youth shameful gods have consumed the fruits of our ancestors’ labor—their flocks and herds, their sons and daughters.

²⁵Let us lie down in our shame,
and let our disgrace cover us.
We have sinned against the LORD our God,
both we and our ancestors;
from our youth till this day we have not obeyed the LORD our God.”

Jeremiah 4

¹“If you, Israel, will return, then return to me,”

declares the LORD.

“If you put your detestable idols out of my sight and no longer go astray, ²and if in a truthful, just and righteous way you swear, ‘As surely as the LORD lives,’ then the nations will invoke blessings by him and in him they will boast.”

³This is what the LORD says to the people of Judah and to Jerusalem:

“Break up your unplowed ground and do not sow among thorns.

⁴Circumcise yourselves to the LORD, circumcise your hearts, you people of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem, or my wrath will flare up and burn like fire because of the evil you have done—
burn with no one to quench it.

Disaster From the North

⁵“Announce in Judah and proclaim in Jerusalem and say:

‘Sound the trumpet throughout the land!’

Cry aloud and say:

‘Gather together!

Let us flee to the fortified cities!’

⁶Raise the signal to go to Zion!

Flee for safety without delay!

For I am bringing disaster from the north,
even terrible destruction.”

⁷A lion has come out of his lair;

a destroyer of nations has set out.

He has left his place
to lay waste your land.
Your towns will lie in ruins without inhabitant.

⁸So put on sackcloth,
lament and wail,
for the fierce anger of the LORD has not turned away from us.

⁹“In that day,” declares the LORD, “the king and the officials will lose heart,
the priests will be horrified,
and the prophets will be appalled.”

¹⁰Then I said, “Alas, Sovereign LORD! How completely you have deceived this people and Jerusalem by saying, ‘You will have peace,’ when the sword is at our throats!”

¹¹At that time this people and Jerusalem will be told, “A scorching wind from the barren heights in the desert blows toward my people, but not to winnow or cleanse; ¹²a wind too strong for that comes from me. Now I pronounce my judgments against them.”

¹³Look! He advances like the clouds, his chariots come like a whirlwind,
his horses are swifter than eagles.
Woe to us! We are ruined!

¹⁴Jerusalem, wash the evil from your heart and be saved.
How long will you harbor wicked thoughts?

¹⁵A voice is announcing from Dan, proclaiming disaster from the hills of Ephraim.

¹⁶“Tell this to the nations, proclaim concerning Jerusalem:
‘A besieging army is coming from a distant land, raising a war cry against the cities of Judah.

¹⁷They surround her like men guarding a field, because she has rebelled against me,’ ”

declares the LORD.

¹⁸“Your own conduct and actions have brought this on you.
This is your punishment.
How bitter it is!
How it pierces to the heart!”

¹⁹Oh, my anguish, my anguish!
I writhe in pain.
Oh, the agony of my heart!
My heart pounds within me,
I cannot keep silent.
For I have heard the sound of the trumpet;
I have heard the battle cry. Compassion: Leaders Must Empathize with Human Flaws

²⁰Disaster follows disaster;
the whole land lies in ruins.
In an instant my tents are destroyed,
my shelter in a moment.

²¹How long must I see the battle standard and hear the sound of the trumpet?

²²“My people are fools;
they do not know me.
They are senseless children;
they have no understanding.
They are skilled in doing evil;
they know not how to do good.”

²³I looked at the earth, and it was formless and empty;
and at the heavens,
and their light was gone.

²⁴I looked at the mountains, and they were quaking;
all the hills were swaying.

²⁵I looked, and there were no people;
every bird in the sky had flown away.

²⁶I looked, and the fruitful land was a desert;
all its towns lay in ruins

before the LORD, before his fierce anger.

²⁷This is what the LORD says:

“The whole land will be ruined, though I will not destroy it completely.

²⁸Therefore the earth will mourn and the heavens above grow dark,
because I have spoken and will not relent,
I have decided and will not turn back.”

²⁹At the sound of horsemen and archers every town takes to flight.
Some go into the thickets;
some climb up among the rocks.
All the towns are deserted;
no one lives in them.

³⁰What are you doing, you devastated one?

Why dress yourself in scarlet and put on jewels of gold?
Why highlight your eyes with makeup?
You adorn yourself in vain.
Your lovers despise you;
they want to kill you.

³¹I hear a cry as of a woman in labor,
a groan as of one bearing her first child—
the cry of Daughter Zion gasping for breath, stretching out her hands and saying, “Alas! I am fainting;
my life is given over to murderers.”

Jeremiah 5

Not One Is Upright

¹“Go up and down the streets of Jerusalem, look around and consider,
search through her squares.

If you can find but one person who deals honestly and seeks the truth,
I will forgive this city.

²Although they say, ‘As surely as the LORD lives,’ still they are swearing falsely.”

³LORD, do not your eyes look for truth?
You struck them, but they felt no pain;
you crushed them, but they refused correction.
They made their faces harder than stone and refused to repent.

⁴I thought, “These are only the poor;
they are foolish,
for they do not know the way of the LORD,
the requirements of their God.

⁵So I will go to the leaders and speak to them;
surely they know the way of the LORD,
the requirements of their God.”
But with one accord they too had broken off the yoke and torn off the bonds.

⁶Therefore a lion from the forest will attack them,
a wolf from the desert will ravage them,
a leopard will lie in wait near their towns to tear to pieces any who venture out, for their rebellion is great and their backslidings many.

⁷“Why should I forgive you?

Your children have forsaken me and sworn by gods that are not gods.
I supplied all their needs,

yet they committed adultery and thronged to the houses of prostitutes.

⁸They are well-fed, lusty stallions, each neighing for another man's wife.

⁹Should I not punish them for this?"
declares the LORD.

"Should I not avenge myself
on such a nation as this?

¹⁰"Go through her vineyards and ravage them, but do not destroy them completely.
Strip off her branches,
for these people do not belong to the LORD.

¹¹The people of Israel and the people of Judah have been utterly unfaithful to me,"

declares the LORD.

¹²They have lied about the LORD; they said, "He will do nothing!
No harm will come to us;
we will never see sword or famine.

¹³The prophets are but wind and the word is not in them;
so let what they say be done to them."

¹⁴Therefore this is what the LORD God Almighty says:

"Because the people have spoken these words,
I will make my words in your mouth a fire and these people the wood it consumes.

¹⁵People of Israel," declares the LORD, "I am bringing a distant nation against you— an ancient and enduring nation, a people whose language you do not know,
whose speech you do not understand.

¹⁶Their quivers are like an open grave;
all of them are mighty warriors.

¹⁷They will devour your harvests and food, devour your sons and daughters;
they will devour your flocks and herds

they will devour your fields and herds, devour your vines and fig trees.
With the sword they will destroy the fortified cities in which you trust.

¹⁸“Yet even in those days,” declares the LORD, “I will not destroy you completely. ¹⁹And when the people ask, ‘Why has the LORD our God done all this to us?’ you will tell them, ‘As you have forsaken me and served foreign gods in your own land, so now you will serve foreigners in a land not your own.’

²⁰“Announce this to the descendants of Jacob and proclaim it in Judah:

²¹Hear this, you foolish and senseless people, who have eyes but do not see,
who have ears but do not hear:

²²Should you not fear me?” declares the LORD.
“Should you not tremble in my presence?
I made the sand a boundary for the sea,
an everlasting barrier it cannot cross.
The waves may roll, but they cannot prevail;
they may roar, but they cannot cross it.

²³But these people have stubborn and rebellious hearts;
they have turned aside and gone away.

²⁴They do not say to themselves,
‘Let us fear the LORD our God, who gives autumn and spring rains in season,
who assures us of the regular weeks of harvest.’

²⁵Your wrongdoings have kept these away;
your sins have deprived you of good.

²⁶“Among my people are the wicked who lie in wait like men who snare birds and like those who set traps to catch people.

²⁷Like cages full of birds, their houses are full of deceit;
they have become rich and powerful ²⁸and have grown fat and sleek.

Their evil deeds have no limit;
they do not seek justice.

They do not promote the case of the fatherless;
they do not defend the just cause of the poor.

²⁹Should I not punish them for this?"
declares the LORD.

"Should I not avenge myself
on such a nation as this?

³⁰"A horrible and shocking thing has happened in the land:

³¹The prophets prophesy lies,
the priests rule by their own authority,
and my people love it this way.
But what will you do in the end?

Jeremiah 6

Jerusalem Under Siege

- ¹“Flee for safety, people of Benjamin!
Flee from Jerusalem!
Sound the trumpet in Tekoa!
Raise the signal over Beth Hakkerem!
For disaster looms out of the north,
even terrible destruction.
- ²I will destroy Daughter Zion,
so beautiful and delicate.
- ³Shepherds with their flocks will come against her;
they will pitch their tents around her,
each tending his own portion.”
- ⁴“Prepare for battle against her!
Arise, let us attack at noon!
But, alas, the daylight is fading,
and the shadows of evening grow long.
- ⁵So arise, let us attack at night and destroy her fortresses!”
- ⁶This is what the LORD Almighty says:
- “Cut down the trees and build siege ramps against Jerusalem.
This city must be punished;
it is filled with oppression.
- ⁷As a well pours out its water,
so she pours out her wickedness.
Violence and destruction resound in her;
her sickness and wounds are ever before me.
- ⁸Take warning, Jerusalem, or I will turn away from you and make your land desolate

so no one can live in it.”

⁹This is what the LORD Almighty says:

“Let them glean the remnant of Israel
as thoroughly as a vine;
pass your hand over the branches again,
like one gathering grapes.”

¹⁰To whom can I speak and give warning?
Who will listen to me?
Their ears are closed^a
so they cannot hear.
The word of the LORD is offensive to them;
they find no pleasure in it.

¹¹But I am full of the wrath of the LORD, and I cannot hold it in.

“Pour it out on the children in the street and on the young men gathered together;
both husband and wife will be caught in it,
and the old, those weighed down with years.

¹²Their houses will be turned over to others, together with their fields and their wives,
when I stretch out my hand against those who live in the land,”

declares the LORD.

¹³“From the least to the greatest,
all are greedy for gain;
prophets and priests alike,
all practice deceit.

¹⁴They dress the wound of my people
as though it were not serious.
‘Peace, peace,’ they say,
when there is no peace.

¹⁵Are they ashamed of their detestable conduct?
No, they have no shame at all;
they do not even know how to blush.
So they will fall among the fallen:

they will be brought down when I punish them,”

says the LORD.

¹⁶This is what the LORD says:

“Stand at the crossroads and look;
ask for the ancient paths,
ask where the good way is, and walk in it,
and you will find rest for your souls.
But you said, ‘We will not walk in it.’

The Leader Is a Watchman Who Guards and Guides the Flock

¹⁷I appointed watchmen over you and said,
‘Listen to the sound of the trumpet!’
But you said, ‘We will not listen.’

¹⁸Therefore hear, you nations;
you who are witnesses,
observe what will happen to them.

¹⁹Hear, you earth:
I am bringing disaster on this people,
the fruit of their schemes,
because they have not listened to my words and have rejected my law.

²⁰What do I care about incense from Sheba or sweet calamus from a distant land?
Your burnt offerings are not acceptable;
your sacrifices do not please me.”

²¹Therefore this is what the LORD says:

“I will put obstacles before this people.
Parents and children alike will stumble over them;
neighbors and friends will perish.”

²²This is what the LORD says:

“Look, an army is coming from the land of the north;
a great nation is being stirred up from the ends of the earth.

²³They are armed with bow and spear;
they are cruel and show no mercy.
They sound like the roaring sea
as they ride on their horses;
they come like men in battle formation
to attack you, Daughter Zion.”

²⁴We have heard reports about them, and our hands hang limp.
Anguish has gripped us,
pain like that of a woman in labor.

²⁵Do not go out to the fields or walk on the roads,
for the enemy has a sword,
and there is terror on every side.

²⁶Put on sackcloth, my people,
and roll in ashes;

mourn with bitter wailing as for an only son,

for suddenly the destroyer will come upon us.

²⁷“I have made you a tester of metals and my people the ore,

that you may observe and test their ways.

²⁸They are all hardened rebels, going about to slander.
They are bronze and iron;
they all act corruptly.

²⁹The bellows blow fiercely to burn away the lead with fire, but the refining goes on in vain;
the wicked are not purged out.

³⁰They are called rejected silver,
because the LORD has rejected them.”

Jeremiah 7

False Religion Worthless

¹This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD: ²“Stand at the gate of the LORD’s house and there proclaim this message: “ ‘Hear the word of the LORD, all you people of Judah who come through these gates to worship the LORD. ³This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Reform your ways and your actions, and I will let you live in this place. ⁴Do not trust in deceptive words and say, “This is the temple of the LORD, the temple of the LORD, the temple of the LORD!” ⁵If you really change your ways and your actions and deal with each other justly, ⁶if you do not oppress the foreigner, the fatherless or the widow and do not shed innocent blood in this place, and if you do not follow other gods to your own harm, ⁷then I will let you live in this place, in the land I gave your ancestors for ever and ever. ⁸But look, you are trusting in deceptive words that are worthless.

¹²“ ‘Go now to the place in Shiloh where I first made a dwelling for my Name, and see what I did to it because of the wickedness of my people Israel. ¹³While you were doing all these things, declares the LORD, I spoke to you again and again, but you did not listen; I called you, but you did not answer. ¹⁴Therefore, what I did to Shiloh I will now do to the house that bears my Name, the temple you trust in, the place I gave to you and your ancestors. ¹⁵I will thrust you from my presence, just as I did all your fellow Israelites, the people of Ephraim.’

¹⁶“So do not pray for this people nor offer any plea or petition for them; do not plead with me, for I will not listen to you. ¹⁷Do you not see what they are doing in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? ¹⁸The children gather wood, the fathers light the fire, and the women knead the dough and make cakes to offer to the Queen of Heaven. They pour out drink offerings to other gods to arouse my anger. ¹⁹But am I the one they are provoking? declares the LORD. Are they not rather harming themselves, to their own shame?

²⁰“ ‘Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: My anger and my wrath will be poured out on this place—on man and beast, on the trees of the field and on the crops of your land—and it will burn and not be quenched.

²¹“ ‘This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Go ahead, add your burnt offerings to your other sacrifices and eat the meat yourselves! ²²For when I brought your ancestors out of Egypt and spoke to them, I did not just give them commands about burnt offerings and sacrifices, ²³but I gave them this command: Obey me, and I will be your God and you will be my people. Walk in obedience to all I command you, that it may go well with you. ²⁴But they did not listen or pay attention; instead, they followed the stubborn inclinations of their evil hearts. They went backward and not forward. ²⁵From the time your ancestors left Egypt until now, day after day, again and again I sent you my servants the prophets. ²⁶But they did not listen to me or pay attention. They were stiff-necked and did more evil than their ancestors.’

²⁷“When you tell them all this, they will not listen to you; when you call to them, they will not answer. ²⁸Therefore say to them, ‘This is the nation that has not obeyed the LORD its God or responded to correction. Truth has perished; it has vanished from their lips.

²⁹“ ‘Cut off your hair and throw it away; take up a lament on the barren heights, for the LORD has rejected and abandoned this generation that is under his wrath.

The Valley of Slaughter

³⁰“ ‘The people of Judah have done evil in my eyes, declares the LORD. They have set up their detestable idols in the house that bears my Name and have defiled it. ³¹They have built the high places of Topheth in the Valley of Ben Hinnom to burn their sons and daughters in the fire—something I did not command, nor did it enter my mind. ³²So beware, the days are coming, declares the LORD, when people will no longer call it Topheth or the Valley of Ben Hinnom, but the Valley of Slaughter, for they will bury the dead in Topheth until there is no more room. ³³Then the carcasses of this people will become food for the birds and the wild animals, and there will be no one to frighten them away. ³⁴I will bring an end to the sounds of joy and gladness and to the voices of bride and bridegroom in the towns of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem, for the land will become desolate.

¹“ ‘At that time, declares the LORD, the bones of the kings and officials of Judah, the bones of the priests and prophets, and the bones of the people of Jerusalem will be removed from their graves. ²They will be exposed to the sun and the moon and all the stars of the heavens, which they have loved and served and which they have followed and consulted and worshiped. They will not be gathered up or buried, but will be like dung lying on the ground. ³Wherever I banish them, all the survivors of this evil nation will prefer death to life, declares the LORD Almighty.’ PROFILE in Leadership: Jeremiah: Speaking Hard Truth Without Compromise

Sin and Punishment

⁴“Say to them, ‘This is what the LORD says:

“ ‘When people fall down, do they not get up?
When someone turns away, do they not return?

⁵Why then have these people turned away?
Why does Jerusalem always turn away?
They cling to deceit;
they refuse to return.

⁶I have listened attentively,
but they do not say what is right.
None of them repent of their wickedness, saying, “What have I done?”

Each pursues their own course like a horse charging into battle.

⁷Even the stork in the sky knows her appointed seasons, and the dove, the swift and the thrush observe the time of their migration.
But my people do not know the requirements of the LORD.

⁸“ ‘How can you say, “We are wise, for we have the law of the LORD,” when actually the lying pen of the scribes has handled it falsely?

⁹The wise will be put to shame;
they will be dismayed and trapped.
Since they have rejected the word of the LORD,
what kind of wisdom do they have?

¹⁰Therefore I will give their wives to other men and their fields to new owners.
From the least to the greatest,
all are greedy for gain;
prophets and priests alike,
all practice deceit.

¹¹They dress the wound of my people
as though it were not serious.
“Peace, peace,” they say,
when there is no peace.

¹²Are they ashamed of their detestable conduct?
No, they have no shame at all;
they do not even know how to blush.
So they will fall among the fallen;
they will be brought down when they are punished,

says the LORD.

¹³“ ‘I will take away their harvest,

declares the LORD.

There will be no grapes on the vine.
There will be no figs on the tree,
and their leaves will wither and then leaves will wither.

What I have given them will be taken from them.^a ”

¹⁴Why are we sitting here?

Gather together!

Let us flee to the fortified cities
and perish there!

For the LORD our God has doomed us to perish and given us poisoned water to drink, because we have sinned against him.

¹⁵We hoped for peace

but no good has come,

for a time of healing
but there is only terror.

¹⁶The snorting of the enemy's horses is heard from Dan;
at the neighing of their stallions
the whole land trembles.

They have come to devour
the land and everything in it,
the city and all who live there.

¹⁷“See, I will send venomous snakes among you, vipers that cannot be charmed,
and they will bite you,”

declares the LORD.

¹⁸You who are my Comforter^b in sorrow, my heart is faint within me.

¹⁹Listen to the cry of my people from a land far away:
“Is the LORD not in Zion?
Is her King no longer there?”

“Why have they aroused my anger with their images, with their worthless foreign idols?”

²⁰“The harvest is past,
the summer has ended,
and we are not saved.”

²¹Since my people are crushed, I am crushed;
I mourn, and horror grips me.

²²Is there no balm in Gilead?
Is there no physician there?
Why then is there no healing for the wound of my people?

Jeremiah 9^a

¹Oh, that my head were a spring of water and my eyes a fountain of tears!
I would weep day and night for the slain of my people.

²Oh, that I had in the desert
a lodging place for travelers, so that I might leave my people
and go away from them;
for they are all adulterers,
a crowd of unfaithful people.

³“They make ready their tongue like a bow, to shoot lies;

it is not by truth
that they triumph^b in the land.
They go from one sin to another;
they do not acknowledge me,”

declares the LORD.

⁴“Beware of your friends;
do not trust anyone in your clan.
For every one of them is a deceiver,^c and every friend a slanderer.

⁵Friend deceives friend,
and no one speaks the truth.
They have taught their tongues to lie;
they weary themselves with sinning.

⁶You^d live in the midst of deception; in their deceit they refuse to acknowledge me,”

declares the LORD.

⁷Therefore this is what the LORD Almighty says:

“See, I will refine and test them, for what else can I do because of the sin of my people?

⁸Their tongue is a deadly arrow;
it speaks deceitfully.
With their mouths they all speak cordially to their neighbors, but in their hearts they set traps for them.

⁹Should I not punish them for this?”
declares the LORD.

“Should I not avenge myself
on such a nation as this?”

¹⁰I will weep and wail for the mountains and take up a lament concerning the wilderness grasslands.
They are desolate and untraveled,
and the lowing of cattle is not heard.

The birds have all fled and the animals are gone.

¹¹“I will make Jerusalem a heap of ruins,
a haunt of jackals;
and I will lay waste the towns of Judah
so no one can live there.”

¹²Who is wise enough to understand this? Who has been instructed by the LORD and can explain it? Why has the land been ruined and laid waste like a desert that no one can cross?

¹³The LORD said, “It is because they have forsaken my law, which I set before them; they have not obeyed me or followed my law. ¹⁴Instead, they have followed the stubbornness of their hearts; they have followed the Baals, as their ancestors taught them.” ¹⁵Therefore this is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: “See, I will make this people eat bitter food and drink poisoned water. ¹⁶I will scatter them among nations that neither they nor their ancestors have known, and I will pursue them with the sword until I have made an end of them.”

¹⁷This is what the LORD Almighty says:

“Consider now! Call for the wailing women to come;
send for the most skillful of them.

¹⁸Let them come quickly and wail over us till our eyes overflow with tears and water streams from our eyelids.

¹⁹The sound of wailing is heard from Zion:
‘How ruined we are!
How great is our shame!

We must leave our land
because our houses are in ruins.’ ”

²⁰Now, you women, hear the word of the LORD; open your ears to the words of his mouth.

Teach your daughters how to wail;
teach one another a lament.

²¹Death has climbed in through our windows and has entered our fortresses;
it has removed the children from the streets and the young men from the public squares.

²²Say, “This is what the LORD declares:

“ ‘Dead bodies will lie like dung on the open field, like cut grain behind the reaper,
with no one to gather them.’ ”

²³This is what the LORD says:

“Let not the wise boast of their wisdom or the strong boast of their strength or the rich boast of their riches, Priorities: Leaders Must Know What’s Really Valuable ²⁴but let the one who boasts boast about this:

that they have the understanding to know me,
that I am the LORD, who exercises kindness, justice and righteousness on earth,
for in these I delight,”

declares the LORD.

²⁵“The days are coming,” declares the LORD, “when I will punish all who are circumcised only in the flesh— ²⁶Egypt, Judah, Edom, Ammon, Moab and all who live in the wilderness in distant places.^e For all these nations are really uncircumcised, and even the whole house of Israel is uncircumcised in heart.”

Jeremiah 10

God and Idols

¹Hear what the LORD says to you, people of Israel. ²This is what the LORD says:

“Do not learn the ways of the nations or be terrified by signs in the heavens, though the nations are terrified by them.

³For the practices of the peoples are worthless;
they cut a tree out of the forest,
and a craftsman shapes it with his chisel.

⁴They adorn it with silver and gold;
they fasten it with hammer and nails
so it will not totter.

⁵Like a scarecrow in a cucumber field,
their idols cannot speak;

they must be carried because they cannot walk.
Do not fear them;

they can do no harm
nor can they do any good.”

⁶No one is like you, LORD;
you are great,
and your name is mighty in power.

⁷Who should not fear you,
King of the nations?
This is your due.
Among all the wise leaders of the nations and in all their kingdoms,
there is no one like you.

⁸They are all senseless and foolish;
they are taught by worthless wooden idols.

⁹Hammered silver is brought from Tarshish and gold from Uphaz.
What the craftsman and goldsmith have made is then dressed in blue and purple—all made by skilled workers.

¹⁰But the LORD is the true God; he is the living God, the eternal King.
When he is angry, the earth trembles;
the nations cannot endure his wrath.

¹¹“Tell them this: ‘These gods, who did not make the heavens and the earth, will perish from the earth and from under the heavens.’ ”^a ¹²But God made the earth by his power;

he founded the world by his wisdom
and stretched out the heavens by his understanding.

¹³When he thunders, the waters in the heavens roar;
he makes clouds rise from the ends of the earth.
He sends lightning with the rain
and brings out the wind from his storehouses.

¹⁴Everyone is senseless and without knowledge;
every goldsmith is shamed by his idols.
The images he makes are a fraud;
they have no breath in them

they have no breath in them.

¹⁵They are worthless, the objects of mockery;
when their judgment comes, they will perish.

¹⁶He who is the Portion of Jacob is not like these,
for he is the Maker of all things, including Israel, the people of his inheritance—
the LORD Almighty is his name.

Coming Destruction

¹⁷Gather up your belongings to leave the land, you who live under siege.

¹⁸For this is what the LORD says: “At this time I will hurl out those who live in this land;
I will bring distress on them
so that they may be captured.”

¹⁹Woe to me because of my injury!
My wound is incurable!
Yet I said to myself,
“This is my sickness, and I must endure it.”

²⁰My tent is destroyed;
all its ropes are snapped.
My children are gone from me and are no more;
no one is left now to pitch my tent or to set up my shelter.

²¹The shepherds are senseless and do not inquire of the LORD;

so they do not prosper and all their flock is scattered.

²²Listen! The report is coming—a great commotion from the land of the north!
It will make the towns of Judah desolate,
a haunt of jackals.

Jeremiah's Prayer

²³LORD, I know that people's lives are not their own; it is not for them to direct their steps.

²⁴Discipline me, LORD, but only in due measure— not in your anger, or you will reduce me to nothing.

²⁵Pour out your wrath on the nations that do not acknowledge you, on the peoples who do not call on your name.
For they have devoured Jacob;

they have devoured him completely and destroyed his homeland.

Jeremiah 11

The Covenant Is Broken

¹This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD: ²“Listen to the terms of this covenant and tell them to the people of Judah and to those who live in Jerusalem. ³Tell them that this is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: ‘Cursed is the one who does not obey the terms of this covenant— ⁴the terms I commanded your ancestors when I brought them out of Egypt, out of the iron-smelting furnace.’ I said, ‘Obey me and do everything I command you, and you will be my people, and I will be your God. ⁵Then I will fulfill the oath I swore to your ancestors, to give them a land flowing with milk and honey’—the land you possess today.”

I answered, “Amen, LORD.”

⁶The LORD said to me, “Proclaim all these words in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem: ‘Listen to the terms of this covenant and follow them. ⁷From the time I brought your ancestors up from Egypt until today, I warned them again and again, saying, “Obey me.” ⁸But they did not listen or pay attention; instead, they followed the stubbornness of their evil hearts. So I brought on them all the curses of the covenant I had commanded them to follow but that they did not keep.’ ”

⁹Then the LORD said to me, “There is a conspiracy among the people of Judah and those who live in Jerusalem. ¹⁰They have returned to the sins of their ancestors, who refused to listen to my words. They have followed other gods to serve them. Both Israel and Judah have broken the covenant I made with their ancestors. ¹¹Therefore this is what the LORD says: ‘I will bring on them a disaster they cannot escape. Although they cry out to me, I will not listen to them. ¹²The towns of Judah and the people of Jerusalem will go and cry out to the gods to whom they burn incense, but they will not help them at all when disaster strikes. ¹³You, Judah, have as many gods as you have towns; and the altars you have set up to burn incense to that shameful god Baal are as many as the streets of Jerusalem.’

¹⁴“Do not pray for this people or offer any plea or petition for them, because I will not listen when they call to me in the time of their distress.

¹⁵“What is my beloved doing in my temple
as she, with many others, works out her evil schemes?
Can consecrated meat avert your punishment?
When you engage in your wickedness,

then you rejoice.^a”

¹⁶The LORD called you a thriving olive tree with fruit beautiful in form.
But with the roar of a mighty storm
he will set it on fire, and its branches will be broken.

¹⁷The LORD Almighty, who planted you, has decreed disaster for you, because the people of both Israel and Judah have done evil and aroused my anger by burning incense to Baal.

Plot Against Jeremiah

¹⁸Because the LORD revealed their plot to me, I knew it, for at that time he showed me what they were doing. ¹⁹I had been like a gentle lamb led to the slaughter; I did not realize that they had plotted against me, saying,

“Let us destroy the tree and its fruit;
let us cut him off from the land of the living, that his name be remembered no more.”

²⁰But you, LORD Almighty, who judge righteously and test the heart and mind, let me see your vengeance on them,
for to you I have committed my cause.

²¹Therefore this is what the LORD says about the people of Anathoth who are threatening to kill you, saying, “Do not prophesy in the name of the LORD or you will die by our hands”— ²²therefore this is what the LORD Almighty says: “I will punish them. Their young men will die by the sword, their sons and daughters by famine. ²³Not even a remnant will be left to them, because I will bring disaster on the people of Anathoth in the year of their punishment.”

Jeremiah 12

Jeremiah's Complaint

- ¹You are always righteous, LORD, when I bring a case before you.
Yet I would speak with you about your justice:
Why does the way of the wicked prosper?
Why do all the faithless live at ease? Attitude: Leaders Don't Get Lost in the Problems
- ²You have planted them, and they have taken root;
they grow and bear fruit.
You are always on their lips
but far from their hearts.
- ³Yet you know me, LORD;
you see me and test my thoughts about you.
Drag them off like sheep to be butchered!
Set them apart for the day of slaughter!
- ⁴How long will the land lie parched and the grass in every field be withered?
Because those who live in it are wicked,
the animals and birds have perished.
Moreover, the people are saying,
“He will not see what happens to us.”

God's Answer

- ⁵“If you have raced with men on foot and they have worn you out,
how can you compete with horses?
If you stumble^a in safe country, how will you manage in the thickets by^b
the Jordan?
- ⁶Your relatives, members of your own family—
even they have betrayed you;
they have raised a loud cry against you.
Do not trust them,
though they speak well of you.

- ⁷“I will forsake my house,
abandon my inheritance;
I will give the one I love into the hands of her enemies.
- ⁸My inheritance has become to me like a lion in the forest.
She roars at me;
therefore I hate her.
- ⁹Has not my inheritance become to me like a speckled bird of prey that other birds of prey surround and attack?
Go and gather all the wild beasts;
bring them to devour.
- ¹⁰Many shepherds will ruin my vineyard and trample down my field;
they will turn my pleasant field into a desolate wasteland.
- ¹¹It will be made a wasteland, parched and desolate before me;
the whole land will be laid waste because there is no one who cares.
- ¹²Over all the barren heights in the desert destroyers will swarm,
for the sword of the LORD will devour from one end of the land to the other;
no one will be safe.
- ¹³They will sow wheat but reap thorns;
they will wear themselves out but gain nothing.
They will bear the shame of their harvest because of the LORD’s fierce anger.”

¹⁴This is what the LORD says: “As for all my wicked neighbors who seize the inheritance I gave my people Israel, I will uproot them from their lands and I will uproot the people of Judah from among them. ¹⁵But after I uproot them, I will again have compassion and will bring each of them back to their own inheritance and their own country. ¹⁶And if they learn well the ways of my people and swear by my name, saying, ‘As surely as the LORD lives’—even as they once taught my people to swear by Baal—then they will be established among my people. ¹⁷But if any nation does not listen, I will completely uproot and destroy it,” declares the LORD.

Jeremiah 13

A Linen Belt

¹This is what the LORD said to me: “Go and buy a linen belt and put it around your waist, but do not let it touch water.” ²So I bought a belt, as the LORD directed, and put it around my waist. The Linen Sash: An Analogy for Leaders Who Want to Be Useful

³Then the word of the LORD came to me a second time: ⁴“Take the belt you bought and are wearing around your waist, and go now to Perath^a and hide it there in a crevice in the rocks.” ⁵So I went and hid it at Perath, as the LORD told me.

⁶Many days later the LORD said to me, “Go now to Perath and get the belt I told you to hide there.” ⁷So I went to Perath and dug up the belt and took it from the place where I had hidden it, but now it was ruined and completely useless.

⁸Then the word of the LORD came to me: ⁹“This is what the LORD says: ‘In the same way I will ruin the pride of Judah and the great pride of Jerusalem. ¹⁰These wicked people, who refuse to listen to my words, who follow the stubbornness of their hearts and go after other gods to serve and worship them, will be like this belt—completely useless! ¹¹For as a belt is bound around the waist, so I bound all the people of Israel and all the people of Judah to me,’ declares the LORD, ‘to be my people for my renown and praise and honor. But they have not listened.’”

Wineskins

¹²“Say to them: ‘This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: Every wineskin should be filled with wine.’ And if they say to you, ‘Don’t we know that every wineskin should be filled with wine?’ ¹³then tell them, ‘This is what the LORD says: I am going to fill with drunkenness all who live in this land, including the kings who sit on David’s throne, the priests, the prophets and all those living in Jerusalem. ¹⁴I will smash them one against the other, parents and children alike, declares the LORD. I will allow no pity or mercy or compassion to keep me from destroying them.’ ”

Threat of Captivity

¹⁵Hear and pay attention, do not be arrogant,
for the LORD has spoken.

¹⁶Give glory to the LORD your God before he brings the darkness, before your feet stumble on the darkening hills.

You hope for light,
but he will turn it to utter darkness and change it to deep gloom.

¹⁷If you do not listen,

I will weep in secret
because of your pride;
my eyes will weep bitterly,
overflowing with tears,
because the LORD's flock will be taken captive.

¹⁸Say to the king and to the queen mother,
"Come down from your thrones,

for your glorious crowns will fall from your heads.”

¹⁹The cities in the Negev will be shut up, and there will be no one to open them.
All Judah will be carried into exile, carried completely away.

²⁰Look up and see those who are coming from the north.
Where is the flock that was entrusted to you,
the sheep of which you boasted?

²¹What will you say when the LORD sets over you those you cultivated as your special allies?

Will not pain grip you like that of a woman in labor?

²²And if you ask yourself,
“Why has this happened to me?”— it is because of your many sins that your skirts have been torn off and your body mistreated.

²³Can an Ethiopian^b change his skin or a leopard its spots?

Neither can you do good who are accustomed to doing evil.

²⁴“I will scatter you like chaff driven by the desert wind.

²⁵This is your lot,
the portion I have decreed for you,”

declares the LORD,

“because you have forgotten me and trusted in false gods.

²⁶I will pull up your skirts over your face that your shame may be seen—

²⁷your adulteries and lustful neighings, your shameless prostitution!

I have seen your detestable acts on the hills and in the fields.

Woe to you, Jerusalem!

How long will you be unclean?”

Jeremiah 14

Drought, Famine, Sword

¹This is the word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah concerning the drought:

²“Judah mourns,
her cities languish;
they wail for the land,
and a cry goes up from Jerusalem.

³The nobles send their servants for water;

they go to the cisterns
but find no water.

They return with their jars unfilled;
dismayed and despairing,
they cover their heads.

⁴The ground is cracked because there is no rain in the land;

the farmers are dismayed and cover their heads.

⁵Even the doe in the field deserts her newborn fawn because there is no grass.

⁶Wild donkeys stand on the barren heights and pant like jackals;

their eyes fail
for lack of food.”

⁷Although our sins testify against us, do something, LORD, for the sake of your name.
For we have often rebelled;
we have sinned against you.

⁸You who are the hope of Israel,
its Savior in times of distress,
why are you like a stranger in the land,
like a traveler who stays only a night?

⁹Why are you like a man taken by surprise, like a warrior powerless to save?
You are among us, LORD,
and we bear your name;
do not forsake us!

¹⁰This is what the LORD says about this people:

“They greatly love to wander;
they do not restrain their feet.
So the LORD does not accept them;
he will now remember their wickedness and punish them for their sins.”

¹¹Then the LORD said to me, “Do not pray for the well-being of this people.

¹²Although they fast, I will not listen to their cry; though they offer burnt offerings and grain offerings, I will not accept them. Instead, I will destroy them with the sword, famine and plague.”

¹³But I said, “Alas, Sovereign LORD! The prophets keep telling them, ‘You will not see the sword or suffer famine. Indeed, I will give you lasting peace in this place.’ ”

¹⁴Then the LORD said to me, “The prophets are prophesying lies in my name. I have not sent them or appointed them or spoken to them. They are prophesying to you false visions, divinations, idolatries^a and the delusions of their own minds.

¹⁵Therefore this is what the LORD says about the prophets who are prophesying in my name: I did not send them, yet they are saying, ‘No sword or famine will touch this land.’ Those same prophets will perish by sword and famine. ¹⁶And the people they are prophesying to will be thrown out into the streets of Jerusalem because of the famine and sword. There will be no one to bury them, their wives, their sons and their daughters. I will pour out on them the calamity they deserve. What Happens to Leaders Who Mislead and Damage Others?

¹⁷“Speak this word to them:

“ ‘Let my eyes overflow with tears night and day without ceasing;
for the Virgin Daughter, my people, has suffered a grievous wound,
a crushing blow.

¹⁸If I go into the country,
I see those slain by the sword;
if I go into the city,
I see the ravages of famine.

Both prophet and priest have gone to a land they know not.' ”

¹⁹Have you rejected Judah completely?
Do you despise Zion?

Why have you afflicted us
so that we cannot be healed?

We hoped for peace
but no good has come,

for a time of healing
but there is only terror.

²⁰We acknowledge our wickedness, LORD, and the guilt of our ancestors;
we have indeed sinned against you.

²¹For the sake of your name do not despise us;
do not dishonor your glorious throne.

Remember your covenant with us and do not break it.

²²Do any of the worthless idols of the nations bring rain?

Do the skies themselves send down showers?

No, it is you, LORD our God.

Therefore our hope is in you,
for you are the one who does all this.

Jeremiah 15

¹Then the LORD said to me: “Even if Moses and Samuel were to stand before me, my heart would not go out to this people. Send them away from my presence! Let them go! ²And if they ask you, ‘Where shall we go?’ tell them, ‘This is what the LORD says:

“ ‘Those destined for death, to death;
those for the sword, to the sword;
those for starvation, to starvation;
those for captivity, to captivity.’

³“I will send four kinds of destroyers against them,” declares the LORD, “the sword to kill and the dogs to drag away and the birds and the wild animals to devour and destroy. ⁴I will make them abhorrent to all the kingdoms of the earth because of what Manasseh son of Hezekiah king of Judah did in Jerusalem.

⁵“Who will have pity on you, Jerusalem?
Who will mourn for you?
Who will stop to ask how you are?

⁶You have rejected me,” declares the LORD.
“You keep on backsliding.
So I will reach out and destroy you;
I am tired of holding back.

⁷I will winnow them with a winnowing fork at the city gates of the land.
I will bring bereavement and destruction on my people,
for they have not changed their ways.

⁸I will make their widows more numerous than the sand of the sea.
At midday I will bring a destroyer against the mothers of their young men;
suddenly I will bring down on them anguish and terror.

⁹The mother of seven will grow faint and breathe her last.

Her sun will set while it is still dawn.

her sun will set while it is sun day;
she will be disgraced and humiliated.
I will put the survivors to the sword before their enemies,”

declares the LORD.

¹⁰Alas, my mother, that you gave me birth,
a man with whom the whole land strives and contends!
I have neither lent nor borrowed,
yet everyone curses me.

¹¹The LORD said,

“Surely I will deliver you for a good purpose;
surely I will make your enemies plead with you in times of disaster and times of distress.

¹²“Can a man break iron—iron from the north—or bronze?

¹³“Your wealth and your treasures
I will give as plunder, without charge, because of all your sins

throughout your country.

¹⁴I will enslave you to your enemies in^a a land you do not know, for my anger will kindle a fire that will burn against you.”

¹⁵LORD, you understand;
remember me and care for me.
Avenge me on my persecutors.
You are long-suffering—do not take me away;
think of how I suffer reproach for your sake. Courage: One Person Standing with God
Is Invincible

¹⁶When your words came, I ate them;
they were my joy and my heart’s delight,
for I bear your name,
LORD God Almighty.

¹⁷I never sat in the company of revelers, never made merry with them;
I sat alone because your hand was on me and you had filled me with indignation.

¹⁸Why is my pain unending and my wound grievous and incurable?
You are to me like a deceptive brook,
like a spring that fails.

¹⁹Therefore this is what the LORD says:

“If you repent, I will restore you that you may serve me;
if you utter worthy, not worthless, words,
you will be my spokesman.
Let this people turn to you,
but you must not turn to them.

²⁰I will make you a wall to this people,
a fortified wall of bronze;

they will fight against you but will not overcome you, for I am with you to rescue and save you,”

declares the LORD.

²¹“I will save you from the hands of the wicked and deliver you from the grasp of the cruel.”

Jeremiah 16

Day of Disaster

¹Then the word of the LORD came to me: ²“You must not marry and have sons or daughters in this place.” ³For this is what the LORD says about the sons and daughters born in this land and about the women who are their mothers and the men who are their fathers: ⁴“They will die of deadly diseases. They will not be mourned or buried but will be like dung lying on the ground. They will perish by sword and famine, and their dead bodies will become food for the birds and the wild animals.”

⁵For this is what the LORD says: “Do not enter a house where there is a funeral meal; do not go to mourn or show sympathy, because I have withdrawn my blessing, my love and my pity from this people,” declares the LORD. ⁶“Both high and low will die in this land. They will not be buried or mourned, and no one will cut themselves or shave their head for the dead. ⁷No one will offer food to comfort those who mourn for the dead—not even for a father or a mother—nor will anyone give them a drink to console them.

⁸“And do not enter a house where there is feasting and sit down to eat and drink. ⁹For this is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Before your eyes and in your days I will bring an end to the sounds of joy and gladness and to the voices of bride and bridegroom in this place.

¹⁰“When you tell these people all this and they ask you, ‘Why has the LORD decreed such a great disaster against us? What wrong have we done? What sin have we committed against the LORD our God?’ ¹¹then say to them, ‘It is because your ancestors forsook me,’ declares the LORD, ‘and followed other gods and served and worshiped them. They forsook me and did not keep my law. ¹²But you have behaved more wickedly than your ancestors. See how all of you are following the stubbornness of your evil hearts instead of obeying me. ¹³So I will throw you out of this land into a land neither you nor your ancestors have known, and there you will serve other gods day and night, for I will show you no favor.’

¹⁴“However, the days are coming,” declares the LORD, “when it will no longer be said, ‘As surely as the LORD lives, who brought the Israelites up out of Egypt,’ ¹⁵but it will be said, ‘As surely as the LORD lives, who brought the Israelites up out of the land of the north and out of all the countries where he had banished them.’ For I will restore them to the land I gave their ancestors.

¹⁶“But now I will send for many fishermen,” declares the LORD, “and they will catch them. After that I will send for many hunters, and they will hunt them down on every mountain and hill and from the crevices of the rocks. ¹⁷My eyes are on all their ways; they are not hidden from me, nor is their sin concealed from my eyes. ¹⁸I will repay them double for their wickedness and their sin, because they have defiled my land with the lifeless forms of their vile images and have filled my inheritance with their detestable idols.”

¹⁹LORD, my strength and my fortress, my refuge in time of distress, to you the nations will come from the ends of the earth and say, “Our ancestors possessed nothing but false gods, worthless idols that did them no good.

²⁰Do people make their own gods?
Yes, but they are not gods!”

²¹“Therefore I will teach them—this time I will teach them my power and might.

Then they will know that my name is the LORD.

¹“Judah’s sin is engraved with an iron tool, inscribed with a flint point, on the tablets of their hearts and on the horns of their altars.

²Even their children remember their altars and Asherah poles^a beside the spreading trees and on the high hills.

³My mountain in the land and your^b wealth and all your treasures I will give away as plunder, together with your high places,
because of sin throughout your country.

⁴Through your own fault you will lose the inheritance I gave you.
I will enslave you to your enemies in a land you do not know,
for you have kindled my anger,
and it will burn forever.”

⁵This is what the LORD says:

“Cursed is the one who trusts in man, who draws strength from mere flesh and whose heart turns away from the LORD.

⁶That person will be like a bush in the wastelands;
they will not see prosperity when it comes.
They will dwell in the parched places of the desert,
in a salt land where no one lives.

⁷“But blessed is the one who trusts in the LORD, whose confidence is in him.

⁸They will be like a tree planted by the water that sends out its roots by the stream.
It does not fear when heat comes;
its leaves are always green.
It has no worries in a year of drought and never fails to bear fruit.”

⁹The heart is deceitful above all things and beyond cure.
Who can understand it?

¹⁰“I the LORD search the heart and examine the mind, to reward each person according to their conduct,
according to what their deeds deserve.”

- According to what they could observe.
- ¹¹Like a partridge that hatches eggs it did not lay are those who gain riches by unjust means.
When their lives are half gone, their riches will desert them,
and in the end they will prove to be fools.
- ¹²A glorious throne, exalted from the beginning,
is the place of our sanctuary.
- ¹³LORD, you are the hope of Israel; all who forsake you will be put to shame.
Those who turn away from you will be written in the dust because they have forsaken the LORD,
the spring of living water.
- ¹⁴Heal me, LORD, and I will be healed; save me and I will be saved, for you are the one I praise.
- ¹⁵They keep saying to me,
“Where is the word of the LORD?
Let it now be fulfilled!”
- ¹⁶I have not run away from being your shepherd;
you know I have not desired the day of despair.
What passes my lips is open before you.
- ¹⁷Do not be a terror to me;
you are my refuge in the day of disaster.
- ¹⁸Let my persecutors be put to shame,
but keep me from shame;
let them be terrified,
but keep me from terror.
Bring on them the day of disaster;
destroy them with double destruction.

Keeping the Sabbath Day Holy

¹⁹This is what the LORD said to me: “Go and stand at the Gate of the People,^c through which the kings of Judah go in and out; stand also at all the other gates of Jerusalem. ²⁰Say to them, ‘Hear the word of the LORD, you kings of Judah and all people of Judah and everyone living in Jerusalem who come through these gates. ²¹This is what the LORD says: Be careful not to carry a load on the Sabbath day or bring it through the gates of Jerusalem. ²²Do not bring a load out of your houses or do any work on the Sabbath, but keep the Sabbath day holy, as I commanded your ancestors. ²³Yet they did not listen or pay attention; they were stiff-necked and would not listen or respond to discipline. ²⁴But if you are careful to obey me, declares the LORD, and bring no load through the gates of this city on the Sabbath, but keep the Sabbath day holy by not doing any work on it, ²⁵then kings who sit on David’s throne will come through the gates of this city with their officials. They and their officials will come riding in chariots and on horses, accompanied by the men of Judah and those living in Jerusalem, and this city will be inhabited forever. ²⁶People will come from the towns of Judah and the villages around Jerusalem, from the territory of Benjamin and the western foothills, from the hill country and the Negev, bringing burnt offerings and sacrifices, grain offerings and incense, and bringing thank offerings to the house of the LORD. ²⁷But if you do not obey me to keep the Sabbath day holy by not carrying any load as you come through the gates of Jerusalem on the Sabbath day, then I will kindle an unquenchable fire in the gates of Jerusalem that will consume her fortresses.’ ”

Jeremiah 18

At the Potter's House

¹This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD: ²“Go down to the potter's house, and there I will give you my message.” ³So I went down to the potter's house, and I saw him working at the wheel. ⁴But the pot he was shaping from the clay was marred in his hands; so the potter formed it into another pot, shaping it as seemed best to him.

⁵Then the word of the LORD came to me. ⁶He said, “Can I not do with you, Israel, as this potter does?” declares the LORD. “Like clay in the hand of the potter, so are you in my hand, Israel. ⁷If at any time I announce that a nation or kingdom is to be uprooted, torn down and destroyed, ⁸and if that nation I warned repents of its evil, then I will relent and not inflict on it the disaster I had planned. ⁹And if at another time I announce that a nation or kingdom is to be built up and planted, ¹⁰and if it does evil in my sight and does not obey me, then I will reconsider the good I had intended to do for it.

¹¹“Now therefore say to the people of Judah and those living in Jerusalem, ‘This is what the LORD says: Look! I am preparing a disaster for you and devising a plan against you. So turn from your evil ways, each one of you, and reform your ways and your actions.’ ¹²But they will reply, ‘It's no use. We will continue with our own plans; we will all follow the stubbornness of our evil hearts.’ ”

¹³Therefore this is what the LORD says:

“Inquire among the nations:
Who has ever heard anything like this?
A most horrible thing has been done by Virgin Israel.

¹⁴Does the snow of Lebanon ever vanish from its rocky slopes?
Do its cool waters from distant sources ever stop flowing?^a ¹⁵Yet my people have forgotten me;

they burn incense to worthless idols.

they can make to themselves now, which made them stumble in their ways,
in the ancient paths.

They made them walk in byways,
on roads not built up.

¹⁶Their land will be an object of horror and of lasting scorn;
all who pass by will be appalled and will shake their heads.

¹⁷Like a wind from the east,
I will scatter them before their enemies;
I will show them my back and not my face
in the day of their disaster.”

¹⁸They said, “Come, let’s make plans against Jeremiah; for the teaching of the law by the priest will not cease, nor will counsel from the wise, nor the word from the prophets. So come, let’s attack him with our tongues and pay no attention to anything he says.” Teachability: To Keep Leading, Keep Learning

¹⁹Listen to me, LORD;
hear what my accusers are saying!

²⁰Should good be repaid with evil?
Yet they have dug a pit for me.
Remember that I stood before you and spoke in their behalf to turn your wrath away from them.

²¹So give their children over to famine;
hand them over to the power of the sword.
Let their wives be made childless and widows;
let their men be put to death,
their young men slain by the sword in battle.

²²Let a cry be heard from their houses
when you suddenly bring invaders against them, for they have dug a pit to capture me and have hidden snares for my feet.

²³But you, LORD, know
all their plots to kill me.

Do not forgive their crimes or blot out their sins from your sight.
Let them be overthrown before you;
deal with them in the time of your anger.

Jeremiah 19

⁷“ ‘In this place I will ruin^a the plans of Judah and Jerusalem. I will make them fall by the sword before their enemies, at the hands of those who want to kill them, and I will give their carcasses as food to the birds and the wild animals. ⁸I will devastate this city and make it an object of horror and scorn; all who pass by will be appalled and will scoff because of all its wounds. ⁹I will make them eat the flesh of their sons and daughters, and they will eat one another’s flesh because their enemies will press the siege so hard against them to destroy them.’

¹⁰“Then break the jar while those who go with you are watching, ¹¹and say to them, ‘This is what the LORD Almighty says: I will smash this nation and this city just as this potter’s jar is smashed and cannot be repaired. They will bury the dead in Topheth until there is no more room. ¹²This is what I will do to this place and to those who live here, declares the LORD. I will make this city like Topheth. ¹³The houses in Jerusalem and those of the kings of Judah will be defiled like this place, Topheth—all the houses where they burned incense on the roofs to all the starry hosts and poured out drink offerings to other gods.’ ”

¹⁴Jeremiah then returned from Topheth, where the LORD had sent him to prophesy, and stood in the court of the LORD’s temple and said to all the people, ¹⁵“This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: ‘Listen! I am going to bring on this city and all the villages around it every disaster I pronounced against them, because they were stiff-necked and would not listen to my words.’ ”

Jeremiah 20

Jeremiah and Pashhur

¹When the priest Pashhur son of Immer, the official in charge of the temple of the LORD, heard Jeremiah prophesying these things, ²he had Jeremiah the prophet beaten and put in the stocks at the Upper Gate of Benjamin at the LORD's temple. ³The next day, when Pashhur released him from the stocks, Jeremiah said to him, "The LORD's name for you is not Pashhur, but Terror on Every Side. ⁴For this is what the LORD says: 'I will make you a terror to yourself and to all your friends; with your own eyes you will see them fall by the sword of their enemies. I will give all Judah into the hands of the king of Babylon, who will carry them away to Babylon or put them to the sword. ⁵I will deliver all the wealth of this city into the hands of their enemies—all its products, all its valuables and all the treasures of the kings of Judah. They will take it away as plunder and carry it off to Babylon. ⁶And you, Pashhur, and all who live in your house will go into exile to Babylon. There you will die and be buried, you and all your friends to whom you have prophesied lies.' "

Jeremiah's Complaint

⁷You deceived^a me, LORD, and I was deceived^b; you overpowered me and prevailed.

I am ridiculed all day long;
everyone mocks me.

⁸Whenever I speak, I cry out proclaiming violence and destruction.
So the word of the LORD has brought me insult and reproach all day long.

⁹But if I say, "I will not mention his word or speak anymore in his name,"
his word is in my heart like a fire,
a fire shut up in my bones.
I am weary of holding it in;
indeed, I cannot.

¹⁰I hear many whispering,
"Terror on every side!
Denounce him! Let's denounce him!"

All my friends are waiting for me to slip, saying, “Perhaps he will be deceived;
then we will prevail over him and take our revenge on him.”

¹¹But the LORD is with me like a mighty warrior; so my persecutors will stumble and not prevail.

They will fail and be thoroughly disgraced;
their dishonor will never be forgotten.

¹²LORD Almighty, you who examine the righteous and probe the heart and mind,

let me see your vengeance on them,
for to you I have committed my cause.

¹³Sing to the LORD!

Give praise to the LORD!

He rescues the life of the needy from the hands of the wicked.

¹⁴Cursed be the day I was born!

May the day my mother bore me not be blessed!

¹⁵Cursed be the man who brought my father the news, who made him very glad, saying,
“A child is born to you—a son!”

¹⁶May that man be like the towns
the LORD overthrew without pity.

May he hear wailing in the morning,
a battle cry at noon.

¹⁷For he did not kill me in the womb,
with my mother as my grave,
her womb enlarged forever.

¹⁸Why did I ever come out of the womb to see trouble and sorrow and to end my days in shame?

Jeremiah 21

God Rejects Zedekiah's Request

¹The word came to Jeremiah from the LORD when King Zedekiah sent to him Pashhur son of Malkijah and the priest Zephaniah son of Maaseiah. They said:

²“Inquire now of the LORD for us because Nebuchadnezzar^a king of Babylon is attacking us. Perhaps the LORD will perform wonders for us as in times past so that he will withdraw from us.”

³But Jeremiah answered them, “Tell Zedekiah, ⁴‘This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: I am about to turn against you the weapons of war that are in your hands, which you are using to fight the king of Babylon and the Babylonians^b who are outside the wall besieging you. And I will gather them inside this city. ⁵I myself will fight against you with an outstretched hand and a mighty arm in furious anger and in great wrath. ⁶I will strike down those who live in this city—both man and beast—and they will die of a terrible plague. ⁷After that, declares the LORD, I will give Zedekiah king of Judah, his officials and the people in this city who survive the plague, sword and famine, into the hands of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and to their enemies who want to kill them. He will put them to the sword; he will show them no mercy or pity or compassion.’

⁸“Furthermore, tell the people, ‘This is what the LORD says: See, I am setting before you the way of life and the way of death. ⁹Whoever stays in this city will die by the sword, famine or plague. But whoever goes out and surrenders to the Babylonians who are besieging you will live; they will escape with their lives. ¹⁰I have determined to do this city harm and not good, declares the LORD. It will be given into the hands of the king of Babylon, and he will destroy it with fire.’

¹¹“Moreover, say to the royal house of Judah, ‘Hear the word of the LORD. ¹²This is what the LORD says to you, house of David:

“ ‘Administer justice every morning;
rescue from the hand of the oppressor
the one who has been robbed, or my wrath will break out and burn like fire
because of the evil you have done—

because of the evil you have done
burn with no one to quench it.

¹³I am against you, Jerusalem, you who live above this valley on the rocky plateau, declares the LORD—you who say, “Who can come against us?
Who can enter our refuge?”

¹⁴I will punish you as your deeds deserve,
declares the LORD.
I will kindle a fire in your forests that will consume everything around you.’ ”

Jeremiah 22

Judgment Against Wicked Kings

¹This is what the LORD says: “Go down to the palace of the king of Judah and proclaim this message there: ²‘Hear the word of the LORD to you, king of Judah, you who sit on David’s throne—you, your officials and your people who come through these gates. ³This is what the LORD says: Do what is just and right. Rescue from the hand of the oppressor the one who has been robbed. Do no wrong or violence to the foreigner, the fatherless or the widow, and do not shed innocent blood in this place. ⁴For if you are careful to carry out these commands, then kings who sit on David’s throne will come through the gates of this palace, riding in chariots and on horses, accompanied by their officials and their people. ⁵But if you do not obey these commands, declares the LORD, I swear by myself that this palace will become a ruin.’ ”

⁶For this is what the LORD says about the palace of the king of Judah:

“Though you are like Gilead to me,
like the summit of Lebanon,
I will surely make you like a wasteland, like towns not inhabited. The Measure of a Man Is What He Does with Power

⁷I will send destroyers against you,
each man with his weapons,
and they will cut up your fine cedar beams and throw them into the fire.

⁸“People from many nations will pass by this city and will ask one another, ‘Why has the LORD done such a thing to this great city?’ ⁹And the answer will be: ‘Because they have forsaken the covenant of the LORD their God and have worshiped and served other gods.’ ”

¹⁰Do not weep for the dead king or mourn his loss;
rather, weep bitterly for him who is exiled,

because he will never return
nor see his native land again.

¹¹For this is what the LORD says about Shallum^a son of Josiah, who succeeded his father as king of Judah but has gone from this place: “He will never return.

¹²He will die in the place where they have led him captive; he will not see this land again.”

¹³“Woe to him who builds his palace by unrighteousness, his upper rooms by injustice,
making his own people work for nothing,
not paying them for their labor.

¹⁴He says, ‘I will build myself a great palace with spacious upper rooms.’
So he makes large windows in it, panels it with cedar and decorates it in red.

¹⁵“Does it make you a king to have more and more cedar?
Did not your father have food and drink?
He did what was right and just,
so all went well with him.

¹⁶He defended the cause of the poor and needy, and so all went well.
Is that not what it means to know me?”
declares the LORD.

¹⁷“But your eyes and your heart are set only on dishonest gain, on shedding innocent blood and on oppression and extortion.”

¹⁸Therefore this is what the LORD says about Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah:

“They will not mourn for him:

‘Alas, my brother! Alas, my sister!’

They will not mourn for him:

‘Alas, my master! Alas, his splendor!’

¹⁹He will have the burial of a donkey—dragged away and thrown outside the gates of Jerusalem.”

²⁰“Go up to Lebanon and cry out, let your voice be heard in Bashan,
cry out from Abarim,
for all your allies are crushed.

²¹I warned you when you felt secure,
but you said, ‘I will not listen!’
This has been your way from your youth;
you have not obeyed me.

²²The wind will drive all your shepherds away,
and your allies will go into exile.
Then you will be ashamed and disgraced because of all your wickedness.

²³You who live in ‘Lebanon,^b who are nestled in cedar buildings, how you will groan when pangs come upon you,
pain like that of a woman in labor!

²⁴“As surely as I live,” declares the LORD, “even if you, Jehoiachin^c son of Jehoiakim king of Judah, were a signet ring on my right hand, I would still pull you off. ²⁵I will deliver you into the hands of those who want to kill you, those you fear—Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and the Babylonians.^d ²⁶I will hurl you and the mother who gave you birth into another country, where neither of you was born, and there you both will die. ²⁷You will never come back to the land you long to return to.”

²⁸Is this man Jehoiachin a despised, broken pot, an object no one wants?
Why will he and his children be hurled out, cast into a land they do not know?

²⁹O land, land, land, hear the word of the LORD!

³⁰This is what the LORD says: “Record this man as if childless,
a man who will not prosper in his lifetime,
for none of his offspring will prosper, none will sit on the throne of David or rule anymore in Judah.”

Jeremiah 23

The Righteous Branch

¹“Woe to the shepherds who are destroying and scattering the sheep of my pasture!” declares the LORD. ²Therefore this is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says to the shepherds who tend my people: “Because you have scattered my flock and driven them away and have not bestowed care on them, I will bestow punishment on you for the evil you have done,” declares the LORD. ³“I myself will gather the remnant of my flock out of all the countries where I have driven them and will bring them back to their pasture, where they will be fruitful and increase in number. ⁴I will place shepherds over them who will tend them, and they will no longer be afraid or terrified, nor will any be missing,” declares the LORD.

The Changing of the Guard: When Leaders Need to Be Replaced

⁵“The days are coming,” declares the LORD, “when I will raise up for David^a a righteous Branch, a King who will reign wisely and do what is just and right in the land.

⁶In his days Judah will be saved and Israel will live in safety.

This is the name by which he will be called:
The LORD Our Righteous Savior.

⁷“So then, the days are coming,” declares the LORD, “when people will no longer say, ‘As surely as the LORD lives, who brought the Israelites up out of Egypt,’ ⁸but they will say, ‘As surely as the LORD lives, who brought the descendants of Israel up out of the land of the north and out of all the countries where he had banished them.’ Then they will live in their own land.”

Lying Prophets

⁹Concerning the prophets:

My heart is broken within me;
all my bones tremble.
I am like a drunken man,
like a strong man overcome by wine, because of the LORD
and his holy words.

¹⁰The land is full of adulterers; because of the curse^b the land lies parched and the pastures in the wilderness are withered.
The prophets follow an evil course and use their power unjustly.

¹¹“Both prophet and priest are godless;
even in my temple I find their wickedness,”

declares the LORD.

¹²“Therefore their path will become slippery;
they will be banished to darkness and there they will fall.
I will bring disaster on them
in the year they are punished,”

declares the LORD.

¹³“Among the prophets of Samaria
I saw this repulsive thing:

They prophesied by Baal
and led my people Israel astray. Vision: God-Given or Man-Made?

¹⁴And among the prophets of Jerusalem
I have seen something horrible:
They commit adultery and live a lie.
They strengthen the hands of evildoers,
so that not one of them turns from their wickedness.
They are all like Sodom to me;
the people of Jerusalem are like Gomorrah.”

¹⁵Therefore this is what the LORD Almighty says concerning the prophets:

“I will make them eat bitter food and drink poisoned water, because from the prophets of Jerusalem ungodliness has spread throughout the land.”

¹⁶This is what the LORD Almighty says:

“Do not listen to what the prophets are prophesying to you;
they fill you with false hopes.
They speak visions from their own minds,
not from the mouth of the LORD.

¹⁷They keep saying to those who despise me,
‘The LORD says: You will have peace.’
And to all who follow the stubbornness of their hearts
they say, ‘No harm will come to you.’

¹⁸But which of them has stood in the council of the LORD to see or to hear his word?
Who has listened and heard his word?

¹⁹See, the storm of the LORD
will burst out in wrath,

a whirlwind swirling down
on the heads of the wicked.

²⁰The anger of the LORD will not turn back until he fully accomplishes the purposes of his heart.

In days to come
you will understand it clearly.

²¹I did not send these prophets,
yet they have run with their message;
I did not speak to them,
yet they have prophesied.

²²But if they had stood in my council, they would have proclaimed my words to my people and would have turned them from their evil ways and from their evil deeds.

²³“Am I only a God nearby,”

declares the LORD,

“and not a God far away?

²⁴Who can hide in secret places
so that I cannot see them?”

declares the LORD.

“Do not I fill heaven and earth?”

declares the LORD.

²⁵“I have heard what the prophets say who prophesy lies in my name. They say, ‘I had a dream! I had a dream!’ ²⁶How long will this continue in the hearts of these lying prophets, who prophesy the delusions of their own minds? ²⁷They think the dreams they tell one another will make my people forget my name, just as their ancestors forgot my name through Baal worship. ²⁸Let the prophet who has a dream recount the dream, but let the one who has my word speak it faithfully. For what has straw to do with grain?” declares the LORD. ²⁹“Is not my word like fire,” declares the LORD, “and like a hammer that breaks a rock in pieces?

³⁰“Therefore,” declares the LORD, “I am against the prophets who steal from one another words supposedly from me. ³¹Yes,” declares the LORD, “I am against the prophets who wag their own tongues and yet declare, ‘The LORD declares.’ ³²Indeed, I am against those who prophesy false dreams,” declares the LORD. “They tell them and lead my people astray with their reckless lies, yet I did not send or appoint them. They do not benefit these people in the least,” declares the LORD.

False Prophecy

³³“When these people, or a prophet or a priest, ask you, ‘What is the message from the LORD?’ say to them, ‘What message? I will forsake you, declares the LORD.’ ³⁴If a prophet or a priest or anyone else claims, ‘This is a message from the LORD,’ I will punish them and their household. ³⁵This is what each of you keeps saying to your friends and other Israelites: ‘What is the LORD’s answer?’ or ‘What has the LORD spoken?’ ³⁶But you must not mention ‘a message from the LORD’ again, because each one’s word becomes their own message. So you distort the words of the living God, the LORD Almighty, our God. ³⁷This is what you keep saying to a prophet: ‘What is the LORD’s answer to you?’ or ‘What has the LORD spoken?’ ³⁸Although you claim, ‘This is a message from the LORD,’ this is what the LORD says: You used the words, ‘This is a message from the LORD,’ even though I told you that you must not claim, ‘This is a message from the LORD.’ ³⁹Therefore, I will surely forget you and cast you out of my presence along with the city I gave to you and your ancestors. ⁴⁰I will bring on you everlasting disgrace—everlasting shame that will not be forgotten.”

Jeremiah 24

Two Baskets of Figs

¹After Jehoiachin^a son of Jehoiakim king of Judah and the officials, the skilled workers and the artisans of Judah were carried into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, the LORD showed me two baskets of figs placed in front of the temple of the LORD. ²One basket had very good figs, like those that ripen early; the other basket had very bad figs, so bad they could not be eaten.

³Then the LORD asked me, “What do you see, Jeremiah?”

“Figs,” I answered. “The good ones are very good, but the bad ones are so bad they cannot be eaten.”

⁴Then the word of the LORD came to me: ⁵“This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: ‘Like these good figs, I regard as good the exiles from Judah, whom I sent away from this place to the land of the Babylonians.’^b ⁶My eyes will watch over them for their good, and I will bring them back to this land. I will build them up and not tear them down; I will plant them and not uproot them. ⁷I will give them a heart to know me, that I am the LORD. They will be my people, and I will be their God, for they will return to me with all their heart.

⁸“ ‘But like the bad figs, which are so bad they cannot be eaten,’ says the LORD, ‘so will I deal with Zedekiah king of Judah, his officials and the survivors from Jerusalem, whether they remain in this land or live in Egypt. ⁹I will make them abhorrent and an offense to all the kingdoms of the earth, a reproach and a byword, a curse^c and an object of ridicule, wherever I banish them. ¹⁰I will send the sword, famine and plague against them until they are destroyed from the land I gave to them and their ancestors.’ ”

Jeremiah 25

Seventy Years of Captivity

¹The word came to Jeremiah concerning all the people of Judah in the fourth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah, which was the first year of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon. ²So Jeremiah the prophet said to all the people of Judah and to all those living in Jerusalem: ³For twenty-three years—from the thirteenth year of Josiah son of Amon king of Judah until this very day—the word of the LORD has come to me and I have spoken to you again and again, but you have not listened.

⁴And though the LORD has sent all his servants the prophets to you again and again, you have not listened or paid any attention. ⁵They said, “Turn now, each of you, from your evil ways and your evil practices, and you can stay in the land the LORD gave to you and your ancestors for ever and ever. ⁶Do not follow other gods to serve and worship them; do not arouse my anger with what your hands have made. Then I will not harm you.”

⁷“But you did not listen to me,” declares the LORD, “and you have aroused my anger with what your hands have made, and you have brought harm to yourselves.”

⁸Therefore the LORD Almighty says this: “Because you have not listened to my words, ⁹I will summon all the peoples of the north and my servant Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon,” declares the LORD, “and I will bring them against this land and its inhabitants and against all the surrounding nations. I will completely destroy^a them and make them an object of horror and scorn, and an everlasting ruin. ¹⁰I will banish from them the sounds of joy and gladness, the voices of bride and bridegroom, the sound of millstones and the light of the lamp. ¹¹This whole country will become a desolate wasteland, and these nations will serve the king of Babylon seventy years.

¹²“But when the seventy years are fulfilled, I will punish the king of Babylon and his nation, the land of the Babylonians,^b for their guilt,” declares the LORD, “and will make it desolate forever. ¹³I will bring on that land all the things I have spoken against it, all that are written in this book and prophesied by Jeremiah against all the nations. ¹⁴They themselves will be enslaved by many nations and great kings; I will repay them according to their deeds and the work of their hands.”

The Cup of God's Wrath

¹⁵This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, said to me: “Take from my hand this cup filled with the wine of my wrath and make all the nations to whom I send you drink it. ¹⁶When they drink it, they will stagger and go mad because of the sword I will send among them.”

¹⁷So I took the cup from the LORD’s hand and made all the nations to whom he sent me drink it: ¹⁸Jerusalem and the towns of Judah, its kings and officials, to make them a ruin and an object of horror and scorn, a curse^c—as they are today; ¹⁹Pharaoh king of Egypt, his attendants, his officials and all his people, ²⁰and all the foreign people there; all the kings of Uz; all the kings of the Philistines (those of Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron, and the people left at Ashdod); ²¹Edom, Moab and Ammon; ²²all the kings of Tyre and Sidon; the kings of the coastlands across the sea; ²³Dedan, Tema, Buz and all who are in distant places^d; ²⁴all the kings of Arabia and all the kings of the foreign people who live in the wilderness; ²⁵all the kings of Zimri, Elam and Media; ²⁶and all the kings of the north, near and far, one after the other—all the kingdoms on the face of the earth. And after all of them, the king of Sheshak^e will drink it too.

²⁷“Then tell them, ‘This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Drink, get drunk and vomit, and fall to rise no more because of the sword I will send among you.’ ²⁸But if they refuse to take the cup from your hand and drink, tell them, ‘This is what the LORD Almighty says: You must drink it! ²⁹See, I am beginning to bring disaster on the city that bears my Name, and will you indeed go unpunished? You will not go unpunished, for I am calling down a sword on all who live on the earth, declares the LORD Almighty.’

³⁰“Now prophesy all these words against them and say to them:

“ ‘The LORD will roar from on high;
he will thunder from his holy dwelling and roar mightily against his land.
He will shout like those who tread the grapes,
shout against all who live on the earth.

³¹The tumult will resound to the ends of the earth,
for the LORD will bring charges against the nations;
he will bring judgment on all mankind and put the wicked to the sword,’ ”

declares the LORD.

³²This is what the LORD Almighty says:

“Look! Disaster is spreading from nation to nation;

a mighty storm is rising
from the ends of the earth.”

³³At that time those slain by the LORD will be everywhere—from one end of the earth to the other. They will not be mourned or gathered up or buried, but will be like dung lying on the ground.

³⁴Weep and wail, you shepherds;
roll in the dust, you leaders of the flock.
For your time to be slaughtered has come;
you will fall like the best of the rams.^f

³⁵The shepherds will have nowhere to flee, the leaders of the flock no place to escape.

³⁶Hear the cry of the shepherds,
the wailing of the leaders of the flock,
for the LORD is destroying their pasture.

³⁷The peaceful meadows will be laid waste because of the fierce anger of the LORD.

³⁸Like a lion he will leave his lair, and their land will become desolate because of the sword^g of the oppressor and because of the LORD’s fierce anger.

Jeremiah 26

Jeremiah Threatened With Death

¹Early in the reign of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah, this word came from the LORD: ²“This is what the LORD says: Stand in the courtyard of the LORD’s house and speak to all the people of the towns of Judah who come to worship in the house of the LORD. Tell them everything I command you; do not omit a word. ³Perhaps they will listen and each will turn from their evil ways. Then I will relent and not inflict on them the disaster I was planning because of the evil they have done. ⁴Say to them, ‘This is what the LORD says: If you do not listen to me and follow my law, which I have set before you, ⁵and if you do not listen to the words of my servants the prophets, whom I have sent to you again and again (though you have not listened), ⁶then I will make this house like Shiloh and this city a curse^a among all the nations of the earth.’ ”

⁷The priests, the prophets and all the people heard Jeremiah speak these words in the house of the LORD. ⁸But as soon as Jeremiah finished telling all the people everything the LORD had commanded him to say, the priests, the prophets and all the people seized him and said, “You must die! ⁹Why do you prophesy in the LORD’s name that this house will be like Shiloh and this city will be desolate and deserted?” And all the people crowded around Jeremiah in the house of the LORD.

¹⁰When the officials of Judah heard about these things, they went up from the royal palace to the house of the LORD and took their places at the entrance of the New Gate of the LORD’s house. ¹¹Then the priests and the prophets said to the officials and all the people, “This man should be sentenced to death because he has prophesied against this city. You have heard it with your own ears!”

¹²Then Jeremiah said to all the officials and all the people: “The LORD sent me to prophesy against this house and this city all the things you have heard. ¹³Now reform your ways and your actions and obey the LORD your God. Then the LORD will relent and not bring the disaster he has pronounced against you. ¹⁴As for me, I am in your hands; do with me whatever you think is good and right. ¹⁵Be assured, however, that if you put me to death, you will bring the guilt of innocent blood on yourselves and on this city and on those who live in it, for in truth the LORD has sent me to you to speak all these words in your hearing.”

¹⁶Then the officials and all the people said to the priests and the prophets, “This man should not be sentenced to death! He has spoken to us in the name of the LORD our God.”

¹⁷Some of the elders of the land stepped forward and said to the entire assembly of people, ¹⁸“Micah of Moresheth prophesied in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah. He told all the people of Judah, ‘This is what the LORD Almighty says:

“ ‘Zion will be plowed like a field,
Jerusalem will become a heap of rubble,
the temple hill a mound overgrown with thickets.’”^b

¹⁹“Did Hezekiah king of Judah or anyone else in Judah put him to death? Did not Hezekiah fear the LORD and seek his favor? And did not the LORD relent, so that he did not bring the disaster he pronounced against them? We are about to bring a terrible disaster on ourselves!”

²⁰(Now Uriah son of Shemaiah from Kiriath Jearim was another man who prophesied in the name of the LORD; he prophesied the same things against this city and this land as Jeremiah did. ²¹When King Jehoiakim and all his officers and officials heard his words, the king was determined to put him to death. But Uriah heard of it and fled in fear to Egypt. ²²King Jehoiakim, however, sent Elnathan son of Akbor to Egypt, along with some other men. ²³They brought Uriah out of Egypt and took him to King Jehoiakim, who had him struck down with a sword and his body thrown into the burial place of the common people.) ²⁴Furthermore, Ahikam son of Shaphan supported Jeremiah, and so he was not handed over to the people to be put to death.

Judah to Serve Nebuchadnezzar

¹Early in the reign of Zedekiah^a son of Josiah king of Judah, this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD: ²This is what the LORD said to me: “Make a yoke out of straps and crossbars and put it on your neck. ³Then send word to the kings of Edom, Moab, Ammon, Tyre and Sidon through the envoys who have come to Jerusalem to Zedekiah king of Judah. ⁴Give them a message for their masters and say, ‘This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: “Tell this to your masters: ⁵With my great power and outstretched arm I made the earth and its people and the animals that are on it, and I give it to anyone I please. ⁶Now I will give all your countries into the hands of my servant Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon; I will make even the wild animals subject to him. ⁷All nations will serve him and his son and his grandson until the time for his land comes; then many nations and great kings will subjugate him. God Uses the Unrighteous Leader to Prune the Righteous

⁸“ ‘If, however, any nation or kingdom will not serve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon or bow its neck under his yoke, I will punish that nation with the sword, famine and plague, declares the LORD, until I destroy it by his hand. ⁹So do not listen to your prophets, your diviners, your interpreters of dreams, your mediums or your sorcerers who tell you, ‘You will not serve the king of Babylon.’ ¹⁰They prophesy lies to you that will only serve to remove you far from your lands; I will banish you and you will perish. ¹¹But if any nation will bow its neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon and serve him, I will let that nation remain in its own land to till it and to live there, declares the LORD.” ’ ”

¹²I gave the same message to Zedekiah king of Judah. I said, “Bow your neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon; serve him and his people, and you will live. ¹³Why will you and your people die by the sword, famine and plague with which the LORD has threatened any nation that will not serve the king of Babylon? ¹⁴Do not listen to the words of the prophets who say to you, ‘You will not serve the king of Babylon,’ for they are prophesying lies to you. ¹⁵‘I have not sent them,’ declares the LORD. ‘They are prophesying lies in my name. Therefore, I will banish you and you will perish, both you and the prophets who prophesy to you.’ ”

¹⁶Then I said to the priests and all these people, “This is what the LORD says: Do not listen to the prophets who say, ‘Very soon now the articles from the LORD’s house will be brought back from Babylon.’ They are prophesying lies to you. ¹⁷Do not listen to them. Serve the king of Babylon, and you will live. Why should this city become a ruin? ¹⁸If they are prophets and have the word of the LORD, let them plead with the LORD Almighty that the articles remaining in the house of the LORD and in the palace of the king of Judah and in Jerusalem not be taken to Babylon. ¹⁹For this is what the LORD Almighty says about the pillars, the bronze Sea, the movable stands and the other articles that are left in this city, ²⁰which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon did not take away when he carried Jehoiachin^b son of Jehoiakim king of Judah into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon, along with all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem— ²¹yes, this is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says about the things that are left in the house of the LORD and in the palace of the king of Judah and in Jerusalem: ²²‘They will be taken to Babylon and there they will remain until the day I come for them,’ declares the LORD. ‘Then I will bring them back and restore them to this place.’ ”

Jeremiah 28

The False Prophet Hananiah

¹In the fifth month of that same year, the fourth year, early in the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, the prophet Hananiah son of Azzur, who was from Gibeon, said to me in the house of the LORD in the presence of the priests and all the people: ²“This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: ‘I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon. ³Within two years I will bring back to this place all the articles of the LORD’s house that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon removed from here and took to Babylon. ⁴I will also bring back to this place Jehoiachin^a son of Jehoiakim king of Judah and all the other exiles from Judah who went to Babylon,’ declares the LORD, ‘for I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon.’ ”

⁵Then the prophet Jeremiah replied to the prophet Hananiah before the priests and all the people who were standing in the house of the LORD. ⁶He said, “Amen! May the LORD do so! May the LORD fulfill the words you have prophesied by bringing the articles of the LORD’s house and all the exiles back to this place from Babylon. ⁷Nevertheless, listen to what I have to say in your hearing and in the hearing of all the people: ⁸From early times the prophets who preceded you and me have prophesied war, disaster and plague against many countries and great kingdoms. ⁹But the prophet who prophesies peace will be recognized as one truly sent by the LORD only if his prediction comes true.”

¹⁰Then the prophet Hananiah took the yoke off the neck of the prophet Jeremiah and broke it, ¹¹and he said before all the people, “This is what the LORD says: ‘In the same way I will break the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon off the neck of all the nations within two years.’ ” At this, the prophet Jeremiah went on his way.

¹²After the prophet Hananiah had broken the yoke off the neck of the prophet Jeremiah, the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: ¹³“Go and tell Hananiah, ‘This is what the LORD says: You have broken a wooden yoke, but in its place you will get a yoke of iron. ¹⁴This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: I will put an iron yoke on the necks of all these nations to make them serve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and they will serve him. I will even give him control over the wild animals.’ ”

¹⁵Then the prophet Jeremiah said to Hananiah the prophet, “Listen, Hananiah! The LORD has not sent you, yet you have persuaded this nation to trust in lies. ¹⁶Therefore this is what the LORD says: ‘I am about to remove you from the face of the earth. This very year you are going to die, because you have preached rebellion against the LORD.’ ”

¹⁷In the seventh month of that same year, Hananiah the prophet died.

Jeremiah 29

A Letter to the Exiles

¹This is the text of the letter that the prophet Jeremiah sent from Jerusalem to the surviving elders among the exiles and to the priests, the prophets and all the other people Nebuchadnezzar had carried into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon.

²(This was after King Jehoiachin^a and the queen mother, the court officials and the leaders of Judah and Jerusalem, the skilled workers and the artisans had gone into exile from Jerusalem.) ³He entrusted the letter to Elasah son of Shaphan and to Gemariah son of Hilkiah, whom Zedekiah king of Judah sent to King Nebuchadnezzar in Babylon. It said:

⁴This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says to all those I carried into exile from Jerusalem to Babylon: ⁵“Build houses and settle down; plant gardens and eat what they produce. ⁶Marry and have sons and daughters; find wives for your sons and give your daughters in marriage, so that they too may have sons and daughters. Increase in number there; do not decrease. ⁷Also, seek the peace and prosperity of the city to which I have carried you into exile. Pray to the LORD for it, because if it prospers, you too will prosper.” ⁸Yes, this is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: “Do not let the prophets and diviners among you deceive you. Do not listen to the dreams you encourage them to have. ⁹They are prophesying lies to you in my name. I have not sent them,” declares the LORD.

¹⁰This is what the LORD says: “When seventy years are completed for Babylon, I will come to you and fulfill my good promise to bring you back to this place. ¹¹For I know the plans I have for you,” declares the LORD, “plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future. ¹²Then you will call on me and come and pray to me, and I will listen to you. ¹³You will seek me and find me when you seek me with all your heart. ¹⁴I will be found by you,” declares the LORD, “and will bring you back from captivity.”^b I will gather you from all the nations and places where I have banished you,” declares the LORD, “and will bring you back to the place from which I carried you into exile.”

Rewards: Leaders with Integrity Can Remain Optimistic

¹⁵You may say, “The LORD has raised up prophets for us in Babylon,” ¹⁶but this is what the LORD says about the king who sits on David’s throne and all the people who remain in this city, your fellow citizens who did not go with you into exile— ¹⁷yes, this is what the LORD Almighty says: “I will send the sword, famine and plague against them and I will make them like figs that are so bad they cannot be eaten. ¹⁸I will pursue them with the sword, famine and plague and will make them abhorrent to all the kingdoms of the earth, a curse^c and an object of horror, of scorn and reproach, among all the nations where I drive them. ¹⁹For they have not listened to my words,” declares the LORD, “words that I sent to them again and again by my servants the prophets. And you exiles have not listened either,” declares the LORD.

²⁰Therefore, hear the word of the LORD, all you exiles whom I have sent away from Jerusalem to Babylon. ²¹This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says about Ahab son of Kolaiah and Zedekiah son of Maaseiah, who are prophesying lies to you in my name: “I will deliver them into the hands of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and he will put them to death before your very eyes. ²²Because of them, all the exiles from Judah who are in Babylon will use this curse: ‘May the LORD treat you like Zedekiah and Ahab, whom the king of Babylon burned in the fire.’ ²³For they have done outrageous things in Israel; they have committed adultery with their neighbors’ wives, and in my name they have uttered lies—which I did not authorize. I know it and am a witness to it,” declares the LORD.

Message to Shemaiah

²⁴Tell Shemaiah the Nehelamite, ²⁵“This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: You sent letters in your own name to all the people in Jerusalem, to the priest Zephaniah son of Maaseiah, and to all the other priests. You said to Zephaniah, ²⁶‘The LORD has appointed you priest in place of Jehoiada to be in charge of the house of the LORD; you should put any maniac who acts like a prophet into the stocks and neck-irons. ²⁷So why have you not reprimanded Jeremiah from Anathoth, who poses as a prophet among you? ²⁸He has sent this message to us in Babylon: It will be a long time. Therefore build houses and settle down; plant gardens and eat what they produce.’ ”

²⁹Zephaniah the priest, however, read the letter to Jeremiah the prophet. ³⁰Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: ³¹“Send this message to all the exiles: ‘This is what the LORD says about Shemaiah the Nehelamite: Because Shemaiah has prophesied to you, even though I did not send him, and has persuaded you to trust in lies, ³²this is what the LORD says: I will surely punish Shemaiah the Nehelamite and his descendants. He will have no one left among this people, nor will he see the good things I will do for my people, declares the LORD, because he has preached rebellion against me.’ ”

Jeremiah 30

Restoration of Israel

¹This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD: ²“This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: ‘Write in a book all the words I have spoken to you. ³The days are coming,’ declares the LORD, ‘when I will bring my people Israel and Judah back from captivity^a and restore them to the land I gave their ancestors to possess,’ says the LORD.”

⁴These are the words the LORD spoke concerning Israel and Judah: ⁵“This is what the LORD says:

“ ‘Cries of fear are heard— terror, not peace.

⁶Ask and see:

Can a man bear children?

Then why do I see every strong man with his hands on his stomach like a woman in labor, every face turned deathly pale?

⁷How awful that day will be!

No other will be like it.

It will be a time of trouble for Jacob, but he will be saved out of it.

⁸“ ‘In that day,’ declares the LORD Almighty, ‘I will break the yoke off their necks

and will tear off their bonds;
no longer will foreigners enslave them.

⁹Instead, they will serve the LORD their God and David their king, whom I will raise up for them.

¹⁰“ ‘So do not be afraid, Jacob my servant;
do not be dismayed, Israel,’

declares the LORD.

‘I will surely save you out of a distant place,
your descendants from the land of their exile.
Jacob will again have peace and security,
and no one will make him afraid.

God Punishes with Bad Leaders, Rewards with Good Ones

¹¹I am with you and will save you,’
declares the LORD.

‘Though I completely destroy all the nations

among which I scatter you,
I will not completely destroy you.
I will discipline you but only in due measure;
I will not let you go entirely unpunished.'

¹²"This is what the LORD says:

" 'Your wound is incurable, your injury beyond healing.

¹³There is no one to plead your cause,
no remedy for your sore,
no healing for you.

¹⁴All your allies have forgotten you;
they care nothing for you.
I have struck you as an enemy would and punished you as would the cruel, because your guilt is so great and your sins so many.

¹⁵Why do you cry out over your wound,
your pain that has no cure?
Because of your great guilt and many sins
I have done these things to you.

¹⁶" 'But all who devour you will be devoured;
all your enemies will go into exile.
Those who plunder you will be plundered;
all who make spoil of you I will despoil.

¹⁷But I will restore you to health and heal your wounds,'

declares the LORD,

'because you are called an outcast,
Zion for whom no one cares.'

¹⁸"This is what the LORD says:

" 'I will restore the fortunes of Jacob's tents and have compassion on his dwellings;
the city will be rebuilt on her ruins,
and the palace will stand in its proper place.

¹⁹From them will come songs of thanksgiving and the sound of rejoicing.

I will add to their numbers,
and they will not be decreased;
I will bring them honor,
and they will not be disdained.

²⁰Their children will be as in days of old,
and their community will be established before me;
I will punish all who oppress them.

²¹Their leader will be one of their own;
their ruler will arise from among them.
I will bring him near and he will come close to me—for who is he who will devote himself to be close to me?

declares the LORD.

²²“ ‘So you will be my people, and I will be your God.’ ”

²³See, the storm of the LORD
will burst out in wrath,

a driving wind swirling down
on the heads of the wicked.

²⁴The fierce anger of the LORD will not turn back until he fully accomplishes
the purposes of his heart.

In days to come
you will understand this.

Jeremiah 31

¹“At that time,” declares the LORD, “I will be the God of all the families of Israel, and they will be my people.”

²This is what the LORD says:

“The people who survive the sword will find favor in the wilderness;
I will come to give rest to Israel.”

³The LORD appeared to us in the past,^a saying:

“I have loved you with an everlasting love;
I have drawn you with unfailing kindness.

⁴I will build you up again,
and you, Virgin Israel, will be rebuilt.
Again you will take up your timbrels and go out to dance with the joyful.

⁵Again you will plant vineyards
on the hills of Samaria;

the farmers will plant them
and enjoy their fruit.

⁶There will be a day when watchmen cry out on the hills of Ephraim, ‘Come, let us go up to Zion, to the LORD our God.’ ”

⁷This is what the LORD says:

“Sing with joy for Jacob;
shout for the foremost of the nations.
Make your praises heard, and say, ‘LORD, save your people,
the remnant of Israel.’

⁸See, I will bring them from the land of the north and gather them from the ends of the earth.
Among them will be the blind and the lame, expectant mothers and women in labor;
a great throng will return.

⁹They will come with weeping;
they will pray as I bring them back.
I will lead them beside streams of water on a level path where they will not stumble, because I am Israel’s father, and Ephraim is my firstborn son.

¹⁰“Hear the word of the LORD, you nations; proclaim it in distant coastlands:

‘He who scattered Israel will gather them and will watch over his flock like a shepherd.’

¹¹For the LORD will deliver Jacob and redeem them from the hand of those stronger than they.

¹²They will come and shout for joy on the heights of Zion; they will rejoice in the bounty of the LORD— the grain, the new wine and the olive oil,
the young of the flocks and herds.
They will be like a well-watered garden,
and they will sorrow no more.

¹³Then young women will dance and be glad,
young men and old as well.

I will turn their mourning into gladness;

I will give them comfort and joy instead of sorrow.

¹⁴I will satisfy the priests with abundance, and my people will be filled with my bounty,”

declares the LORD.

¹⁵This is what the LORD says:

“A voice is heard in Ramah, mourning and great weeping,

Rachel weeping for her children and refusing to be comforted, because they are no more.”

¹⁶This is what the LORD says:

“Restrain your voice from weeping and your eyes from tears, for your work will be rewarded,”

declares the LORD.

“They will return from the land of the enemy.

¹⁷So there is hope for your descendants,”

declares the LORD.

“Your children will return to their own land.

¹⁸“I have surely heard Ephraim’s moaning:
‘You disciplined me like an unruly calf,
and I have been disciplined.
Restore me, and I will return, because you are the LORD my God.

¹⁹After I strayed,
I repented;
after I came to understand,
I beat my breast.

I was ashamed and humiliated because I bore the disgrace of my youth.'

²⁰Is not Ephraim my dear son,
the child in whom I delight?
Though I often speak against him,
I still remember him.
Therefore my heart yearns for him;
I have great compassion for him,"

declares the LORD.

²¹"Set up road signs;
put up guideposts.
Take note of the highway,
the road that you take.
Return, Virgin Israel, return to your towns.

²²How long will you wander, unfaithful Daughter Israel?
The LORD will create a new thing on earth—
the woman will return to^b the man."

²³This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: "When I bring them back from captivity,^c the people in the land of Judah and in its towns will once again use these words: 'The LORD bless you, you prosperous city, you sacred mountain.' ²⁴People will live together in Judah and all its towns—farmers and those who move about with their flocks. ²⁵I will refresh the weary and satisfy the faint."

²⁶At this I awoke and looked around. My sleep had been pleasant to me.

²⁷"The days are coming," declares the LORD, "when I will plant the kingdoms of Israel and Judah with the offspring of people and of animals. ²⁸Just as I watched over them to uproot and tear down, and to overthrow, destroy and bring disaster, so I will watch over them to build and to plant," declares the LORD. ²⁹"In those days people will no longer say,

'The parents have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge.'

³⁰Instead, everyone will die for their own sin; whoever eats sour grapes—their own teeth will be set on edge.

³¹“The days are coming,” declares the LORD, “when I will make a new covenant with the people of Israel and with the people of Judah.

³²It will not be like the covenant

I made with their ancestors when I took them by the hand to lead them out of Egypt, because they broke my covenant,
though I was a husband to^d them,^e”

declares the LORD.

³³“This is the covenant I will make with the people of Israel after that time,” declares the LORD.

“I will put my law in their minds and write it on their hearts.

I will be their God,
and they will be my people.

³⁴No longer will they teach their neighbor, or say to one another, ‘Know the LORD,’ because they will all know me, from the least of them to the greatest,”

declares the LORD.

“For I will forgive their wickedness and will remember their sins no more.”

³⁵This is what the LORD says,

he who appoints the sun
to shine by day,
who decrees the moon and stars
to shine by night,

who stirs up the sea
so that its waves roar—
the LORD Almighty is his name:

³⁶“Only if these decrees vanish from my sight,”
declares the LORD,
“will Israel ever cease being a nation before me.”

³⁷This is what the LORD says:

“Only if the heavens above can be measured and the foundations of the earth below be searched out will I reject all the descendants of Israel because of all they have done,”

declares the LORD.

³⁸“The days are coming,” declares the LORD, “when this city will be rebuilt for me from the Tower of Hananel to the Corner Gate. ³⁹The measuring line will stretch from there straight to the hill of Gareb and then turn to Goah. ⁴⁰The whole valley where dead bodies and ashes are thrown, and all the terraces out to the Kidron Valley on the east as far as the corner of the Horse Gate, will be holy to the LORD. The city will never again be uprooted or demolished.”

Jeremiah 32

Jeremiah Buys a Field

¹This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD in the tenth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, which was the eighteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar. ²The army of the king of Babylon was then besieging Jerusalem, and Jeremiah the prophet was confined in the courtyard of the guard in the royal palace of Judah.

³Now Zedekiah king of Judah had imprisoned him there, saying, “Why do you prophesy as you do? You say, ‘This is what the LORD says: I am about to give this city into the hands of the king of Babylon, and he will capture it. ⁴Zedekiah king of Judah will not escape the Babylonians^a but will certainly be given into the hands of the king of Babylon, and will speak with him face to face and see him with his own eyes. ⁵He will take Zedekiah to Babylon, where he will remain until I deal with him, declares the LORD. If you fight against the Babylonians, you will not succeed.’ ”

⁶Jeremiah said, “The word of the LORD came to me: ⁷Hanamel son of Shallum your uncle is going to come to you and say, ‘Buy my field at Anathoth, because as nearest relative it is your right and duty to buy it.’

⁸“Then, just as the LORD had said, my cousin Hanamel came to me in the courtyard of the guard and said, ‘Buy my field at Anathoth in the territory of Benjamin. Since it is your right to redeem it and possess it, buy it for yourself.’

“I knew that this was the word of the LORD; ⁹so I bought the field at Anathoth from my cousin Hanamel and weighed out for him seventeen shekels^b of silver. ¹⁰I signed and sealed the deed, had it witnessed, and weighed out the silver on the scales. ¹¹I took the deed of purchase—the sealed copy containing the terms and conditions, as well as the unsealed copy— ¹²and I gave this deed to Baruch son of Neriah, the son of Mahseiah, in the presence of my cousin Hanamel and of the witnesses who had signed the deed and of all the Jews sitting in the courtyard of the guard.

¹³“In their presence I gave Baruch these instructions: ¹⁴‘This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Take these documents, both the sealed and unsealed copies of the deed of purchase, and put them in a clay jar so they will last a long time. ¹⁵For this is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Houses, fields and vineyards will again be bought in this land.’

¹⁷“Ah, Sovereign LORD, you have made the heavens and the earth by your great power and outstretched arm. Nothing is too hard for you. ¹⁸You show love to thousands but bring the punishment for the parents’ sins into the laps of their children after them. Great and mighty God, whose name is the LORD Almighty, ¹⁹great are your purposes and mighty are your deeds. Your eyes are open to the ways of all mankind; you reward each person according to their conduct and as their deeds deserve. ²⁰You performed signs and wonders in Egypt and have continued them to this day, in Israel and among all mankind, and have gained the renown that is still yours. ²¹You brought your people Israel out of Egypt with signs and wonders, by a mighty hand and an outstretched arm and with great terror. ²²You gave them this land you had sworn to give their ancestors, a land flowing with milk and honey. ²³They came in and took possession of it, but they did not obey you or follow your law; they did not do what you commanded them to do. So you brought all this disaster on them.

²⁶Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: ²⁷“I am the LORD, the God of all mankind. Is anything too hard for me? ²⁸Therefore this is what the LORD says: I am about to give this city into the hands of the Babylonians and to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, who will capture it. ²⁹The Babylonians who are attacking this city will come in and set it on fire; they will burn it down, along with the houses where the people aroused my anger by burning incense on the roofs to Baal and by pouring out drink offerings to other gods.

³⁰“The people of Israel and Judah have done nothing but evil in my sight from their youth; indeed, the people of Israel have done nothing but arouse my anger with what their hands have made, declares the LORD. ³¹From the day it was built until now, this city has so aroused my anger and wrath that I must remove it from my sight. ³²The people of Israel and Judah have provoked me by all the evil they have done—they, their kings and officials, their priests and prophets, the people of Judah and those living in Jerusalem. ³³They turned their backs to me and not their faces; though I taught them again and again, they would not listen or respond to discipline. ³⁴They set up their vile images in the house that bears my Name and defiled it. ³⁵They built high places for Baal in the Valley of Ben Hinnom to sacrifice their sons and daughters to Molek, though I never commanded—nor did it enter my mind—that they should do such a detestable thing and so make Judah sin.

³⁶“You are saying about this city, ‘By the sword, famine and plague it will be given into the hands of the king of Babylon’; but this is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: ³⁷I will surely gather them from all the lands where I banish them in my furious anger and great wrath; I will bring them back to this place and let them live in safety. ³⁸They will be my people, and I will be their God. ³⁹I will give them singleness of heart and action, so that they will always fear me and that all will then go well for them and for their children after them. ⁴⁰I will make an everlasting covenant with them: I will never stop doing good to them, and I will inspire them to fear me, so that they will never turn away from me. ⁴¹I will rejoice in doing them good and will assuredly plant them in this land with all my heart and soul.

⁴²“This is what the LORD says: As I have brought all this great calamity on this people, so I will give them all the prosperity I have promised them. ⁴³Once more fields will be bought in this land of which you say, ‘It is a desolate waste, without people or animals, for it has been given into the hands of the Babylonians.’ ⁴⁴Fields will be bought for silver, and deeds will be signed, sealed and witnessed in the territory of Benjamin, in the villages around Jerusalem, in the towns of Judah and in the towns of the hill country, of the western foothills and of the Negev, because I will restore their fortunes,^c declares the LORD.”

Promise of Restoration

¹While Jeremiah was still confined in the courtyard of the guard, the word of the LORD came to him a second time: ²“This is what the LORD says, he who made the earth, the LORD who formed it and established it—the LORD is his name: ³‘Call to me and I will answer you and tell you great and unsearchable things you do not know.’ ⁴For this is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says about the houses in this city and the royal palaces of Judah that have been torn down to be used against the siege ramps and the sword ⁵in the fight with the Babylonians^a: ‘They will be filled with the dead bodies of the people I will slay in my anger and wrath. I will hide my face from this city because of all its wickedness.

⁶“ ‘Nevertheless, I will bring health and healing to it; I will heal my people and will let them enjoy abundant peace and security. ⁷I will bring Judah and Israel back from captivity^b and will rebuild them as they were before. ⁸I will cleanse them from all the sin they have committed against me and will forgive all their sins of rebellion against me. ⁹Then this city will bring me renown, joy, praise and honor before all nations on earth that hear of all the good things I do for it; and they will be in awe and will tremble at the abundant prosperity and peace I provide for it.’

¹⁰“This is what the LORD says: ‘You say about this place, “It is a desolate waste, without people or animals.” Yet in the towns of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem that are deserted, inhabited by neither people nor animals, there will be heard once more ¹¹the sounds of joy and gladness, the voices of bride and bridegroom, and the voices of those who bring thank offerings to the house of the LORD, saying, “Give thanks to the LORD Almighty, for the LORD is good;

his love endures forever.”

For I will restore the fortunes of the land as they were before,’ says the LORD.

¹²“This is what the LORD Almighty says: ‘In this place, desolate and without people or animals—in all its towns there will again be pastures for shepherds to rest their flocks. ¹³In the towns of the hill country, of the western foothills and of the Negev, in the territory of Benjamin, in the villages around Jerusalem and in the towns of Judah, flocks will again pass under the hand of the one who counts them,’ says the LORD.

¹⁴“ ‘The days are coming,’ declares the LORD, ‘when I will fulfill the good promise I made to the people of Israel and Judah.

¹⁵“ ‘In those days and at that time
I will make a righteous Branch sprout from David’s line;
he will do what is just and right in the land.

¹⁶In those days Judah will be saved and Jerusalem will live in safety.
This is the name by which it^c will be called: The LORD Our Righteous Savior.’

¹⁷For this is what the LORD says: ‘David will never fail to have a man to sit on the throne of Israel, ¹⁸nor will the Levitical priests ever fail to have a man to stand before me continually to offer burnt offerings, to burn grain offerings and to present sacrifices.’ ”

²³The word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: ²⁴“Have you not noticed that these people are saying, ‘The LORD has rejected the two kingdoms^d he chose’? So they despise my people and no longer regard them as a nation. ²⁵This is what the LORD says: ‘If I have not made my covenant with day and night and established the laws of heaven and earth, ²⁶then I will reject the descendants of Jacob and David my servant and will not choose one of his sons to rule over the descendants of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. For I will restore their fortunes^e and have compassion on them.’ ”

Jeremiah 34

Warning to Zedekiah

¹While Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and all his army and all the kingdoms and peoples in the empire he ruled were fighting against Jerusalem and all its surrounding towns, this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD: ²“This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: Go to Zedekiah king of Judah and tell him, ‘This is what the LORD says: I am about to give this city into the hands of the king of Babylon, and he will burn it down. ³You will not escape from his grasp but will surely be captured and given into his hands. You will see the king of Babylon with your own eyes, and he will speak with you face to face. And you will go to Babylon.

⁴“ ‘Yet hear the LORD’s promise to you, Zedekiah king of Judah. This is what the LORD says concerning you: You will not die by the sword; ⁵you will die peacefully. As people made a funeral fire in honor of your predecessors, the kings who ruled before you, so they will make a fire in your honor and lament, “Alas, master!” I myself make this promise, declares the LORD.’ ”

⁶Then Jeremiah the prophet told all this to Zedekiah king of Judah, in Jerusalem, ⁷while the army of the king of Babylon was fighting against Jerusalem and the other cities of Judah that were still holding out—Lachish and Azekah. These were the only fortified cities left in Judah.

Freedom for Slaves

⁸The word came to Jeremiah from the LORD after King Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people in Jerusalem to proclaim freedom for the slaves. ⁹Everyone was to free their Hebrew slaves, both male and female; no one was to hold a fellow Hebrew in bondage. ¹⁰So all the officials and people who entered into this covenant agreed that they would free their male and female slaves and no longer hold them in bondage. They agreed, and set them free. ¹¹But afterward they changed their minds and took back the slaves they had freed and enslaved them again.

¹²Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: ¹³“This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: I made a covenant with your ancestors when I brought them out of Egypt, out of the land of slavery. I said, ¹⁴‘Every seventh year each of you must free any fellow Hebrews who have sold themselves to you. After they have served you six years, you must let them go free.’^a Your ancestors, however, did not listen to me or pay attention to me. ¹⁵Recently you repented and did what is right in my sight: Each of you proclaimed freedom to your own people. You even made a covenant before me in the house that bears my Name. ¹⁶But now you have turned around and profaned my name; each of you has taken back the male and female slaves you had set free to go where they wished. You have forced them to become your slaves again.

¹⁷“Therefore this is what the LORD says: You have not obeyed me; you have not proclaimed freedom to your own people. So I now proclaim ‘freedom’ for you, declares the LORD—‘freedom’ to fall by the sword, plague and famine. I will make you abhorrent to all the kingdoms of the earth. ¹⁸Those who have violated my covenant and have not fulfilled the terms of the covenant they made before me, I will treat like the calf they cut in two and then walked between its pieces. ¹⁹The leaders of Judah and Jerusalem, the court officials, the priests and all the people of the land who walked between the pieces of the calf, ²⁰I will deliver into the hands of their enemies who want to kill them. Their dead bodies will become food for the birds and the wild animals.

²¹“I will deliver Zedekiah king of Judah and his officials into the hands of their enemies who want to kill them, to the army of the king of Babylon, which has withdrawn from you. ²²I am going to give the order, declares the LORD, and I will bring them back to this city. They will fight against it, take it and burn it down. And I will lay waste the towns of Judah so no one can live there.”

Jeremiah 35

The Rekabites

¹This is the word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD during the reign of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah: ²“Go to the Rekabite family and invite them to come to one of the side rooms of the house of the LORD and give them wine to drink.”

⁶But they replied, “We do not drink wine, because our forefather Jehonadab^a son of Rekab gave us this command: ‘Neither you nor your descendants must ever drink wine. ⁷Also you must never build houses, sow seed or plant vineyards; you must never have any of these things, but must always live in tents. Then you will live a long time in the land where you are nomads.’ ⁸We have obeyed everything our forefather Jehonadab son of Rekab commanded us. Neither we nor our wives nor our sons and daughters have ever drunk wine ⁹or built houses to live in or had vineyards, fields or crops. ¹⁰We have lived in tents and have fully obeyed everything our forefather Jehonadab commanded us. ¹¹But when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon invaded this land, we said, ‘Come, we must go to Jerusalem to escape the Babylonian^b and Aramean armies.’ So we have remained in Jerusalem.”

¹²Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, saying: ¹³“This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: Go and tell the people of Judah and those living in Jerusalem, ‘Will you not learn a lesson and obey my words?’ declares the LORD. ¹⁴Jehonadab son of Rekab ordered his descendants not to drink wine and this command has been kept. To this day they do not drink wine, because they obey their forefather’s command. But I have spoken to you again and again, yet you have not obeyed me. ¹⁵Again and again I sent all my servants the prophets to you. They said, “Each of you must turn from your wicked ways and reform your actions; do not follow other gods to serve them. Then you will live in the land I have given to you and your ancestors.” But you have not paid attention or listened to me. ¹⁶The descendants of Jehonadab son of Rekab have carried out the command their forefather gave them, but these people have not obeyed me.'

¹⁷"Therefore this is what the LORD God Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'Listen! I am going to bring on Judah and on everyone living in Jerusalem every disaster I pronounced against them. I spoke to them, but they did not listen; I called to them, but they did not answer.' "

¹⁸Then Jeremiah said to the family of the Rekabites, "This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'You have obeyed the command of your forefather Jehonadab and have followed all his instructions and have done everything he ordered.' ¹⁹Therefore this is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'Jehonadab son of Rekab will never fail to have a descendant to serve me.' "

Jeremiah 36

Jehoiakim Burns Jeremiah's Scroll

¹In the fourth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah, this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD: ²“Take a scroll and write on it all the words I have spoken to you concerning Israel, Judah and all the other nations from the time I began speaking to you in the reign of Josiah till now. ³Perhaps when the people of Judah hear about every disaster I plan to inflict on them, they will each turn from their wicked ways; then I will forgive their wickedness and their sin.”

PROFILE in Leadership: Bad Leaders: Refuse to Heed Warnings

⁴So Jeremiah called Baruch son of Neriah, and while Jeremiah dictated all the words the LORD had spoken to him, Baruch wrote them on the scroll. ⁵Then Jeremiah told Baruch, “I am restricted; I am not allowed to go to the LORD’s temple. ⁶So you go to the house of the LORD on a day of fasting and read to the people from the scroll the words of the LORD that you wrote as I dictated. Read them to all the people of Judah who come in from their towns. ⁷Perhaps they will bring their petition before the LORD and will each turn from their wicked ways, for the anger and wrath pronounced against this people by the LORD are great.”

⁸Baruch son of Neriah did everything Jeremiah the prophet told him to do; at the LORD’s temple he read the words of the LORD from the scroll. ⁹In the ninth month of the fifth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah, a time of fasting before the LORD was proclaimed for all the people in Jerusalem and those who had come from the towns of Judah. ¹⁰From the room of Gemariah son of Shaphan the secretary, which was in the upper courtyard at the entrance of the New Gate of the temple, Baruch read to all the people at the LORD’s temple the words of Jeremiah from the scroll.

¹¹When Micaiah son of Gemariah, the son of Shaphan, heard all the words of the LORD from the scroll, ¹²he went down to the secretary’s room in the royal palace, where all the officials were sitting: Elishama the secretary, Delaiah son of Shemaiah, Elnathan son of Akbor, Gemariah son of Shaphan, Zedekiah son of Hananiah, and all the other officials. ¹³After Micaiah told them everything he had heard Baruch read to the people from the scroll, ¹⁴all the officials sent Jehudi son of Nethaniah, the son of Shelemiah, the son of Cushi, to say to Baruch, “Bring the scroll from which you have read to the people and come.” So

Baruch son of Neriah went to them with the scroll in his hand. ¹⁵They said to him, “Sit down, please, and read it to us.”

So Baruch read it to them. ¹⁶When they heard all these words, they looked at each other in fear and said to Baruch, “We must report all these words to the king.” ¹⁷Then they asked Baruch, “Tell us, how did you come to write all this? Did Jeremiah dictate it?”

¹⁸“Yes,” Baruch replied, “he dictated all these words to me, and I wrote them in ink on the scroll.”

¹⁹Then the officials said to Baruch, “You and Jeremiah, go and hide. Don’t let anyone know where you are.”

²⁰After they put the scroll in the room of Elishama the secretary, they went to the king in the courtyard and reported everything to him. ²¹The king sent Jehudi to get the scroll, and Jehudi brought it from the room of Elishama the secretary and read it to the king and all the officials standing beside him. ²²It was the ninth month and the king was sitting in the winter apartment, with a fire burning in the firepot in front of him. ²³Whenever Jehudi had read three or four columns of the scroll, the king cut them off with a scribe’s knife and threw them into the firepot, until the entire scroll was burned in the fire. ²⁴The king and all his attendants who heard all these words showed no fear, nor did they tear their clothes. ²⁵Even though Elnathan, Delaiah and Gemariah urged the king not to burn the scroll, he would not listen to them. ²⁶Instead, the king commanded Jerahmeel, a son of the king, Seraiah son of Azriel and Shelemiah son of Abdeel to arrest Baruch the scribe and Jeremiah the prophet. But the LORD had hidden them.

²⁷After the king burned the scroll containing the words that Baruch had written at Jeremiah’s dictation, the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: ²⁸“Take another scroll and write on it all the words that were on the first scroll, which Jehoiakim king of Judah burned up. ²⁹Also tell Jehoiakim king of Judah, ‘This is what the LORD says: You burned that scroll and said, “Why did you write on it that the king of Babylon would certainly come and destroy this land and wipe from it both man and beast?” ³⁰Therefore this is what the LORD says about Jehoiakim king of Judah: He will have no one to sit on the throne of David; his body will be thrown out and exposed to the heat by day and the frost by night. ³¹I will punish him and his children and his attendants for their wickedness; I will bring on them and those living in Jerusalem and the people of Judah every disaster I pronounced against them, because they have not

³²So Jeremiah took another scroll and gave it to the scribe Baruch son of Neriah, and as Jeremiah dictated, Baruch wrote on it all the words of the scroll that Jehoiakim king of Judah had burned in the fire. And many similar words were added to them.

Jeremiah 37

Jeremiah in Prison

¹Zedekiah son of Josiah was made king of Judah by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon; he reigned in place of Jehoiachin^a son of Jehoiakim. ²Neither he nor his attendants nor the people of the land paid any attention to the words the LORD had spoken through Jeremiah the prophet.

³King Zedekiah, however, sent Jehukal son of Shelemiah with the priest Zephaniah son of Maaseiah to Jeremiah the prophet with this message: “Please pray to the LORD our God for us.”

⁴Now Jeremiah was free to come and go among the people, for he had not yet been put in prison. ⁵Pharaoh’s army had marched out of Egypt, and when the Babylonians^b who were besieging Jerusalem heard the report about them, they withdrew from Jerusalem.

⁶Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah the prophet: ⁷“This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says: Tell the king of Judah, who sent you to inquire of me, ‘Pharaoh’s army, which has marched out to support you, will go back to its own land, to Egypt. ⁸Then the Babylonians will return and attack this city; they will capture it and burn it down.’

¹¹After the Babylonian army had withdrawn from Jerusalem because of Pharaoh’s army, ¹²Jeremiah started to leave the city to go to the territory of Benjamin to get his share of the property among the people there. ¹³But when he reached the Benjamin Gate, the captain of the guard, whose name was Irijah son of Shelemiah, the son of Hananiah, arrested him and said, “You are deserting to the Babylonians!”

¹⁴“That’s not true!” Jeremiah said. “I am not deserting to the Babylonians.” But Irijah would not listen to him; instead, he arrested Jeremiah and brought him to the officials. ¹⁵They were angry with Jeremiah and had him beaten and imprisoned in the house of Jonathan the secretary, which they had made into a prison.

¹⁶Jeremiah was put into a vaulted cell in a dungeon, where he remained a long time. ¹⁷Then King Zedekiah sent for him and had him brought to the palace, where he asked him privately, “Is there any word from the LORD?”

“Yes,” Jeremiah replied, “you will be delivered into the hands of the king of Babylon.”

¹⁸Then Jeremiah said to King Zedekiah, “What crime have I committed against you or your attendants or this people, that you have put me in prison?

¹⁹Where are your prophets who prophesied to you, ‘The king of Babylon will not attack you or this land’? ²⁰But now, my lord the king, please listen. Let me bring my petition before you: Do not send me back to the house of Jonathan the secretary, or I will die there.”

²¹King Zedekiah then gave orders for Jeremiah to be placed in the courtyard of the guard and given a loaf of bread from the street of the bakers each day until all the bread in the city was gone. So Jeremiah remained in the courtyard of the guard.

Jeremiah 38

Jeremiah Thrown Into a Cistern

¹Shephatiah son of Mattan, Gedaliah son of Pashhur, Jehukal^a son of Shelemiah, and Pashhur son of Malkijah heard what Jeremiah was telling all the people when he said, ²“This is what the LORD says: ‘Whoever stays in this city will die by the sword, famine or plague, but whoever goes over to the Babylonians^b will live. They will escape with their lives; they will live.’ ³And this is what the LORD says: ‘This city will certainly be given into the hands of the army of the king of Babylon, who will capture it.’ ”

Responsibility: Like It or Not, the Buck Stops with the Leader

⁴Then the officials said to the king, “This man should be put to death. He is discouraging the soldiers who are left in this city, as well as all the people, by the things he is saying to them. This man is not seeking the good of these people but their ruin.”

⁵“He is in your hands,” King Zedekiah answered. “The king can do nothing to oppose you.”

⁶So they took Jeremiah and put him into the cistern of Malkijah, the king’s son, which was in the courtyard of the guard. They lowered Jeremiah by ropes into the cistern; it had no water in it, only mud, and Jeremiah sank down into the mud.

⁷But Ebed-Melek, a Cushite,^c an official^d in the royal palace, heard that they had put Jeremiah into the cistern. While the king was sitting in the Benjamin Gate, ⁸Ebed-Melek went out of the palace and said to him, ⁹“My lord the king, these men have acted wickedly in all they have done to Jeremiah the prophet. They have thrown him into a cistern, where he will starve to death when there is no longer any bread in the city.”

¹⁰Then the king commanded Ebed-Melek the Cushite, “Take thirty men from here with you and lift Jeremiah the prophet out of the cistern before he dies.”

¹¹So Ebed-Melek took the men with him and went to a room under the treasury in the palace. He took some old rags and worn-out clothes from there and let them down with ropes to Jeremiah in the cistern. ¹²Ebed-Melek the Cushite said to Jeremiah, “Put these old rags and worn-out clothes under your arms to pad the ropes.” Jeremiah did so, ¹³and they pulled him up with the ropes and lifted him out of the cistern. And Jeremiah remained in the courtyard of the guard.

Zedekiah Questions Jeremiah Again

¹⁴Then King Zedekiah sent for Jeremiah the prophet and had him brought to the third entrance to the temple of the LORD. “I am going to ask you something,” the king said to Jeremiah. “Do not hide anything from me.”

¹⁵Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, “If I give you an answer, will you not kill me? Even if I did give you counsel, you would not listen to me.”

¹⁶But King Zedekiah swore this oath secretly to Jeremiah: “As surely as the LORD lives, who has given us breath, I will neither kill you nor hand you over to those who want to kill you.”

¹⁷Then Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, “This is what the LORD God Almighty, the God of Israel, says: ‘If you surrender to the officers of the king of Babylon, your life will be spared and this city will not be burned down; you and your family will live. ¹⁸But if you will not surrender to the officers of the king of Babylon, this city will be given into the hands of the Babylonians and they will burn it down; you yourself will not escape from them.’ ”

¹⁹King Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, “I am afraid of the Jews who have gone over to the Babylonians, for the Babylonians may hand me over to them and they will mistreat me.”

²⁰“They will not hand you over,” Jeremiah replied. “Obey the LORD by doing what I tell you. Then it will go well with you, and your life will be spared. ²¹But if you refuse to surrender, this is what the LORD has revealed to me: ²²All the women left in the palace of the king of Judah will be brought out to the officials of the king of Babylon. Those women will say to you:

“ ‘They misled you and overcame you— those trusted friends of yours.
Your feet are sunk in the mud;
your friends have deserted you.’ ”

²³“All your wives and children will be brought out to the Babylonians. You yourself will not escape from their hands but will be captured by the king of Babylon; and this city will^e be burned down.”

²⁴Then Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, “Do not let anyone know about this conversation, or you may die. ²⁵If the officials hear that I talked with you, and they come to you and say, ‘Tell us what you said to the king and what the king said to you; do not hide it from us or we will kill you,' ²⁶then tell them, 'I was pleading with the king not to send me back to Jonathan's house to die there.' "

²⁷All the officials did come to Jeremiah and question him, and he told them everything the king had ordered him to say. So they said no more to him, for no one had heard his conversation with the king.

²⁸And Jeremiah remained in the courtyard of the guard until the day Jerusalem was captured.

The Fall of Jerusalem

This is how Jerusalem was taken:

Jeremiah 39

¹In the ninth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the tenth month, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon marched against Jerusalem with his whole army and laid siege to it. ²And on the ninth day of the fourth month of Zedekiah's eleventh year, the city wall was broken through. ³Then all the officials of the king of Babylon came and took seats in the Middle Gate: Nergal-Sharezzer of Samgar, Nebo-Sarsekim a chief officer, Nergal-Sharezzer a high official and all the other officials of the king of Babylon. ⁴When Zedekiah king of Judah and all the soldiers saw them, they fled; they left the city at night by way of the king's garden, through the gate between the two walls, and headed toward the Arabah.^a

⁸The Babylonians^c set fire to the royal palace and the houses of the people and broke down the walls of Jerusalem. ⁹Nebuzaradan commander of the imperial guard carried into exile to Babylon the people who remained in the city, along with those who had gone over to him, and the rest of the people. ¹⁰But Nebuzaradan the commander of the guard left behind in the land of Judah some of the poor people, who owned nothing; and at that time he gave them vineyards and fields.

¹¹Now Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had given these orders about Jeremiah through Nebuzaradan commander of the imperial guard: ¹²"Take him and look after him; don't harm him but do for him whatever he asks." ¹³So Nebuzaradan the commander of the guard, Nebushazban a chief officer, Nergal-Sharezzer a high official and all the other officers of the king of Babylon ¹⁴sent and had Jeremiah taken out of the courtyard of the guard. They turned him over to Gedaliah son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, to take him back to his home. So he remained among his own people.

¹⁵While Jeremiah had been confined in the courtyard of the guard, the word of the LORD came to him: ¹⁶“Go and tell Ebed-Melek the Cushite, ‘This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: I am about to fulfill my words against this city—words concerning disaster, not prosperity. At that time they will be fulfilled before your eyes. ¹⁷But I will rescue you on that day, declares the LORD; you will not be given into the hands of those you fear. ¹⁸I will save you; you will not fall by the sword but will escape with your life, because you trust in me, declares the LORD.’ ”

Jeremiah 40

Jeremiah Freed

¹The word came to Jeremiah from the LORD after Nebuzaradan commander of the imperial guard had released him at Ramah. He had found Jeremiah bound in chains among all the captives from Jerusalem and Judah who were being carried into exile to Babylon. ²When the commander of the guard found Jeremiah, he said to him, “The LORD your God decreed this disaster for this place. ³And now the LORD has brought it about; he has done just as he said he would. All this happened because you people sinned against the LORD and did not obey him. ⁴But today I am freeing you from the chains on your wrists. Come with me to Babylon, if you like, and I will look after you; but if you do not want to, then don’t come. Look, the whole country lies before you; go wherever you please.” ⁵However, before Jeremiah turned to go,^a Nebuzaradan added, “Go back to Gedaliah son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon has appointed over the towns of Judah, and live with him among the people, or go anywhere else you please.”

Then the commander gave him provisions and a present and let him go. ⁶So Jeremiah went to Gedaliah son of Ahikam at Mizpah and stayed with him among the people who were left behind in the land. Gedaliah's Poor Decision-Making Skills Lead to Disaster

Gedaliah Assassinated

⁷When all the army officers and their men who were still in the open country heard that the king of Babylon had appointed Gedaliah son of Ahikam as governor over the land and had put him in charge of the men, women and children who were the poorest in the land and who had not been carried into exile to Babylon, ⁸they came to Gedaliah at Mizpah—Ishmael son of Nethaniah, Johanan and Jonathan the sons of Kareah, Seraiah son of Tanhumeth, the sons of Ephai the Netophathite, and Jaazaniah^b the son of the Maakathite, and their men. ⁹Gedaliah son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, took an oath to reassure them and their men. “Do not be afraid to serve the Babylonians,^c” he said. “Settle down in the land and serve the king of Babylon, and it will go well with you. ¹⁰I myself will stay at Mizpah to represent you before the Babylonians who come to us, but you are to harvest the wine, summer fruit and olive oil, and put them in your storage jars, and live in the towns you have taken over.”

¹³Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers still in the open country came to Gedaliah at Mizpah ¹⁴and said to him, “Don’t you know that Baalis king of the Ammonites has sent Ishmael son of Nethaniah to take your life?” But Gedaliah son of Ahikam did not believe them.

¹⁵Then Johanan son of Kareah said privately to Gedaliah in Mizpah, “Let me go and kill Ishmael son of Nethaniah, and no one will know it. Why should he take your life and cause all the Jews who are gathered around you to be scattered and the remnant of Judah to perish?”

¹⁶But Gedaliah son of Ahikam said to Johanan son of Kareah, “Don’t do such a thing! What you are saying about Ishmael is not true.”

Jeremiah 41

¹In the seventh month Ishmael son of Nethaniah, the son of Elishama, who was of royal blood and had been one of the king's officers, came with ten men to Gedaliah son of Ahikam at Mizpah. While they were eating together there, ²Ishmael son of Nethaniah and the ten men who were with him got up and struck down Gedaliah son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, with the sword, killing the one whom the king of Babylon had appointed as governor over the land. ³Ishmael also killed all the men of Judah who were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, as well as the Babylonian^a soldiers who were there.

¹¹When Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers who were with him heard about all the crimes Ishmael son of Nethaniah had committed, ¹²they took all their men and went to fight Ishmael son of Nethaniah. They caught up with him near the great pool in Gibeon. ¹³When all the people Ishmael had with him saw Johanan son of Kareah and the army officers who were with him, they were glad. ¹⁴All the people Ishmael had taken captive at Mizpah turned and went over to Johanan son of Kareah. ¹⁵But Ishmael son of Nethaniah and eight of his men escaped from Johanan and fled to the Ammonites.

Flight to Egypt

¹⁶Then Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers who were with him led away all the people of Mizpah who had survived, whom Johanan had recovered from Ishmael son of Nethaniah after Ishmael had assassinated Gedaliah son of Ahikam—the soldiers, women, children and court officials he had recovered from Gibeon. ¹⁷And they went on, stopping at Geruth Kimham near Bethlehem on their way to Egypt ¹⁸to escape the Babylonians.^b They were afraid of them because Ishmael son of Nethaniah had killed Gedaliah son of Ahikam, whom the king of Babylon had appointed as governor over the land.

Jeremiah 42

¹Then all the army officers, including Johanan son of Kareah and Jezaniah^a son of Hoshaiah, and all the people from the least to the greatest approached

²Jeremiah the prophet and said to him, “Please hear our petition and pray to the LORD your God for this entire remnant. For as you now see, though we were once many, now only a few are left. ³Pray that the LORD your God will tell us where we should go and what we should do.” Jeremiah Makes a Tough Call

⁴“I have heard you,” replied Jeremiah the prophet. “I will certainly pray to the LORD your God as you have requested; I will tell you everything the LORD says and will keep nothing back from you.”

⁵Then they said to Jeremiah, “May the LORD be a true and faithful witness against us if we do not act in accordance with everything the LORD your God sends you to tell us. ⁶Whether it is favorable or unfavorable, we will obey the LORD our God, to whom we are sending you, so that it will go well with us, for we will obey the LORD our God.”

⁷Ten days later the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah. ⁸So he called together Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers who were with him and all the people from the least to the greatest. ⁹He said to them, “This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, to whom you sent me to present your petition, says: ¹⁰‘If you stay in this land, I will build you up and not tear you down; I will plant you and not uproot you, for I have relented concerning the disaster I have inflicted on you. ¹¹Do not be afraid of the king of Babylon, whom you now fear. Do not be afraid of him, declares the LORD, for I am with you and will save you and deliver you from his hands. ¹²I will show you compassion so that he will have compassion on you and restore you to your land.’

¹³“However, if you say, ‘We will not stay in this land,’ and so disobey the LORD your God, ¹⁴and if you say, ‘No, we will go and live in Egypt, where we will not see war or hear the trumpet or be hungry for bread,’ ¹⁵then hear the word of the LORD, you remnant of Judah. This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: ‘If you are determined to go to Egypt and you do go to settle there, ¹⁶then the sword you fear will overtake you there, and the famine you dread will follow you into Egypt, and there you will die. ¹⁷Indeed, all who are determined to go to Egypt to settle there will die by the sword, famine and plague; not one of them will survive or escape the disaster I will bring on them.'

¹⁸This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: 'As my anger and wrath have been poured out on those who lived in Jerusalem, so will my wrath be poured out on you when you go to Egypt. You will be a curse^b and an object of horror, a curse^c and an object of reproach; you will never see this place again.'

¹⁹"Remnant of Judah, the LORD has told you, 'Do not go to Egypt.' Be sure of this: I warn you today ²⁰that you made a fatal mistake when you sent me to the LORD your God and said, 'Pray to the LORD our God for us; tell us everything he says and we will do it.' ²¹I have told you today, but you still have not obeyed the LORD your God in all he sent me to tell you. ²²So now, be sure of this: You will die by the sword, famine and plague in the place where you want to go to settle."

¹When Jeremiah had finished telling the people all the words of the LORD their God—everything the LORD had sent him to tell them— ²Azariah son of Hoshai and Johanan son of Kareah and all the arrogant men said to Jeremiah, “You are lying! The LORD our God has not sent you to say, ‘You must not go to Egypt to settle there.’ ³But Baruch son of Neriah is inciting you against us to hand us over to the Babylonians,^a so they may kill us or carry us into exile to Babylon.”

⁴So Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers and all the people disobeyed the LORD’s command to stay in the land of Judah. ⁵Instead, Johanan son of Kareah and all the army officers led away all the remnant of Judah who had come back to live in the land of Judah from all the nations where they had been scattered. ⁶They also led away all those whom Nebuzaradan commander of the imperial guard had left with Gedaliah son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan—the men, the women, the children and the king’s daughters. And they took Jeremiah the prophet and Baruch son of Neriah along with them. ⁷So they entered Egypt in disobedience to the LORD and went as far as Tahpanhes.

⁸In Tahpanhes the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah: ⁹“While the Jews are watching, take some large stones with you and bury them in clay in the brick pavement at the entrance to Pharaoh’s palace in Tahpanhes. ¹⁰Then say to them, ‘This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: I will send for my servant Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and I will set his throne over these stones I have buried here; he will spread his royal canopy above them. ¹¹He will come and attack Egypt, bringing death to those destined for death, captivity to those destined for captivity, and the sword to those destined for the sword. ¹²He will set fire to the temples of the gods of Egypt; he will burn their temples and take their gods captive. As a shepherd picks his garment clean of lice, so he will pick Egypt clean and depart. ¹³There in the temple of the sun^b in Egypt he will demolish the sacred pillars and will burn down the temples of the gods of Egypt.’ ”

Jeremiah 44

Disaster Because of Idolatry

¹This word came to Jeremiah concerning all the Jews living in Lower Egypt—in Migdol, Tahpanhes and Memphis—and in Upper Egypt: ²“This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: You saw the great disaster I brought on Jerusalem and on all the towns of Judah. Today they lie deserted and in ruins ³because of the evil they have done. They aroused my anger by burning incense to and worshiping other gods that neither they nor you nor your ancestors ever knew. ⁴Again and again I sent my servants the prophets, who said, ‘Do not do this detestable thing that I hate!’ ⁵But they did not listen or pay attention; they did not turn from their wickedness or stop burning incense to other gods. ⁶Therefore, my fierce anger was poured out; it raged against the towns of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem and made them the desolate ruins they are today.

¹¹“Therefore this is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: I am determined to bring disaster on you and to destroy all Judah. ¹²I will take away the remnant of Judah who were determined to go to Egypt to settle there. They will all perish in Egypt; they will fall by the sword or die from famine. From the least to the greatest, they will die by sword or famine. They will become a curse and an object of horror, a curse and an object of reproach. ¹³I will punish those who live in Egypt with the sword, famine and plague, as I punished Jerusalem. ¹⁴None of the remnant of Judah who have gone to live in Egypt will escape or survive to return to the land of Judah, to which they long to return and live; none will return except a few fugitives.”

¹⁵Then all the men who knew that their wives were burning incense to other gods, along with all the women who were present—a large assembly—and all the people living in Lower and Upper Egypt, said to Jeremiah, ¹⁶“We will not listen to the message you have spoken to us in the name of the LORD! ¹⁷We will certainly do everything we said we would: We will burn incense to the Queen of Heaven and will pour out drink offerings to her just as we and our ancestors, our kings and our officials did in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem. At that time we had plenty of food and were well off and suffered no harm. ¹⁸But ever since we stopped burning incense to the Queen of Heaven and pouring out drink offerings to her, we have had nothing and have been perishing by sword and famine.”

²⁰Then Jeremiah said to all the people, both men and women, who were answering him, ²¹“Did not the LORD remember and call to mind the incense burned in the towns of Judah and the streets of Jerusalem by you and your ancestors, your kings and your officials and the people of the land? ²²When the LORD could no longer endure your wicked actions and the detestable things you did, your land became a curse and a desolate waste without inhabitants, as it is today. ²³Because you have burned incense and have sinned against the LORD and have not obeyed him or followed his law or his decrees or his stipulations, this disaster has come upon you, as you now see.”

²⁴Then Jeremiah said to all the people, including the women, “Hear the word of the LORD, all you people of Judah in Egypt. ²⁵This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: You and your wives have done what you said you would do when you promised, ‘We will certainly carry out the vows we made to burn incense and pour out drink offerings to the Queen of Heaven.’

“Go ahead then, do what you promised! Keep your vows! ²⁶But hear the word of the LORD, all you Jews living in Egypt: ‘I swear by my great name,’ says the LORD, ‘that no one from Judah living anywhere in Egypt will ever again invoke my name or swear, “As surely as the Sovereign LORD lives.” ²⁷For I am watching over them for harm, not for good; the Jews in Egypt will perish by sword and famine until they are all destroyed. ²⁸Those who escape the sword and return to the land of Judah from Egypt will be very few. Then the whole remnant of Judah who came to live in Egypt will know whose word will stand—mine or theirs.

²⁹“ ‘This will be the sign to you that I will punish you in this place,’ declares the LORD, 'so that you will know that my threats of harm against you will surely stand.' ³⁰This is what the LORD says: 'I am going to deliver Pharaoh Hophra king of Egypt into the hands of his enemies who want to kill him, just as I gave Zedekiah king of Judah into the hands of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, the enemy who wanted to kill him.' "

Jeremiah 45

A Message to Baruch

¹When Baruch son of Neriah wrote on a scroll the words Jeremiah the prophet dictated in the fourth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah, Jeremiah said this to Baruch: ²“This is what the LORD, the God of Israel, says to you, Baruch: ³You said, ‘Woe to me! The LORD has added sorrow to my pain; I am worn out with groaning and find no rest.’ ⁴But the LORD has told me to say to you, ‘This is what the LORD says: I will overthrow what I have built and uproot what I have planted, throughout the earth. ⁵Should you then seek great things for yourself? Do not seek them. For I will bring disaster on all people, declares the LORD, but wherever you go I will let you escape with your life.’ ”

Jeremiah 46

A Message About Egypt

¹This is the word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah the prophet concerning the nations: ²Concerning Egypt:

This is the message against the army of Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt, which was defeated at Carchemish on the Euphrates River by Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon in the fourth year of Jehoiakim son of Josiah king of Judah:

³“Prepare your shields, both large and small, and march out for battle!

⁴Harness the horses,
mount the steeds!

Take your positions with helmets on!
Polish your spears,
put on your armor!

⁵What do I see?

They are terrified,
they are retreating,
their warriors are defeated.

They flee in haste
without looking back,
and there is terror on every side,”

declares the LORD.

⁶“The swift cannot flee
nor the strong escape.
In the north by the River Euphrates
they stumble and fall.

⁷“Who is this that rises like the Nile,
like rivers of surging waters?

⁸Egypt rises like the Nile,
like rivers of surging waters.
She says, ‘I will rise and cover the earth;
I will destroy cities and their people.’

⁹Charge, you horses!
Drive furiously, you charioteers!
March on, you warriors—men of Cush^a and Put who carry shields, men of Lydia who draw the bow.

¹⁰But that day belongs to the Lord, the LORD Almighty— a day of vengeance, for vengeance on his foes.
The sword will devour till it is satisfied,
till it has quenched its thirst with blood.
For the Lord, the LORD Almighty, will offer sacrifice in the land of the north by the River Euphrates.

¹¹“Go up to Gilead and get balm, Virgin Daughter Egypt.
But you try many medicines in vain;
there is no healing for you.

¹²The nations will hear of your shame;
your cries will fill the earth.
One warrior will stumble over another;
both will fall down together.”

¹³This is the message the LORD spoke to Jeremiah the prophet about the coming of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon to attack Egypt:

- ¹⁴“Announce this in Egypt, and proclaim it in Migdol; proclaim it also in Memphis and Tahpanhes:
‘Take your positions and get ready, for the sword devours those around you.’
- ¹⁵Why will your warriors be laid low?
They cannot stand, for the LORD will push them down.
- ¹⁶They will stumble repeatedly;
they will fall over each other.
They will say, ‘Get up, let us go back to our own people and our native lands, away from the sword of the oppressor.’
- ¹⁷There they will exclaim, ‘Pharaoh king of Egypt is only a loud noise;
he has missed his opportunity.’
- ¹⁸“As surely as I live,” declares the King, whose name is the LORD Almighty, “one will come who is like Tabor among the mountains, like Carmel by the sea.
- ¹⁹Pack your belongings for exile,
you who live in Egypt,
for Memphis will be laid waste and lie in ruins without inhabitant.
- ²⁰“Egypt is a beautiful heifer,

but a gadfly is coming against her from the north.

²¹The mercenaries in her ranks are like fattened calves.
They too will turn and flee together,
they will not stand their ground,
for the day of disaster is coming upon them,
the time for them to be punished.

²²Egypt will hiss like a fleeing serpent as the enemy advances in force;
they will come against her with axes,
like men who cut down trees.

²³They will chop down her forest,”

declares the LORD,

“dense though it be.

They are more numerous than locusts,
they cannot be counted.

²⁴Daughter Egypt will be put to shame, given into the hands of the people of the north.”

²⁵The LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says: “I am about to bring punishment on Amon god of Thebes, on Pharaoh, on Egypt and her gods and her kings, and on those who rely on Pharaoh. ²⁶I will give them into the hands of those who want to kill them—Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and his officers. Later, however, Egypt will be inhabited as in times past,” declares the LORD.

²⁷“Do not be afraid, Jacob my servant;
do not be dismayed, Israel.
I will surely save you out of a distant place,
your descendants from the land of their exile.
Jacob will again have peace and security,
and no one will make him afraid.

²⁸Do not be afraid, Jacob my servant,
for I am with you,” declares the LORD.
“Though I completely destroy all the nations
among which I scatter you,
I will not completely destroy you.
I will discipline you but only in due measure;

“I will discipline you but only in due measure;

I will not let you go entirely unpunished.”

Jeremiah 47

A Message About the Philistines

¹This is the word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah the prophet concerning the Philistines before Pharaoh attacked Gaza: ²This is what the LORD says:

“See how the waters are rising in the north;
they will become an overflowing torrent.
They will overflow the land and everything in it,
the towns and those who live in them.
The people will cry out;
all who dwell in the land will wail

³at the sound of the hooves of galloping steeds, at the noise of enemy chariots and the rumble of their wheels.

Parents will not turn to help their children;
their hands will hang limp.

⁴For the day has come to destroy all the Philistines and to remove all survivors who could help Tyre and Sidon.

The LORD is about to destroy the Philistines, the remnant from the coasts of Caphtor.^a ⁵Gaza will shave her head in mourning;

Ashkelon will be silenced.
You remnant on the plain,
how long will you cut yourselves?

⁶“ ‘Alas, sword of the LORD, how long till you rest?
Return to your sheath;
cease and be still.’

⁷But how can it rest
when the LORD has commanded it,

when he has ordered it to attack Ashkelon and the coast?”

Jeremiah 48

A Message About Moab

¹Concerning Moab:

This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says:

“Woe to Nebo, for it will be ruined.

Kiriathaim will be disgraced and captured;

the stronghold^a will be disgraced and shattered.

²Moab will be praised no more;

in Heshbon^b people will plot her downfall: ‘Come, let us put an end to that nation.’

You, the people of Madmen,^c will also be silenced; the sword will pursue you.

³Cries of anguish arise from Horonaim, cries of great havoc and destruction.

⁴Moab will be broken;

her little ones will cry out.^d

⁵They go up the hill to Luhith, weeping bitterly as they go;

on the road down to Horonaim anguished cries over the destruction are heard.

⁶Flee! Run for your lives;

become like a bush^e in the desert.

⁷Since you trust in your deeds and riches, you too will be taken captive, and Chemosh will go into exile,

together with his priests and officials.

⁸The destroyer will come against every town, and not a town will escape.

The valley will be ruined and the plateau destroyed, because the LORD has spoken.

⁹Put salt on Moab,
for she will be laid waste^f; her towns will become desolate,
with no one to live in them.

¹⁰“A curse on anyone who is lax in doing the LORD’s work!
A curse on anyone who keeps their sword from bloodshed!

¹¹“Moab has been at rest from youth, like wine left on its dregs, not poured from one jar to another—
she has not gone into exile.
So she tastes as she did,
and her aroma is unchanged.

¹²But days are coming,”
declares the LORD,
“when I will send men who pour from pitchers,
and they will pour her out;

they will empty her pitchers and smash her jars.

¹³Then Moab will be ashamed of Chemosh, as Israel was ashamed

when they trusted in Bethel.

¹⁴“How can you say, ‘We are warriors, men valiant in battle’?

¹⁵Moab will be destroyed and her towns invaded; her finest young men will go down in the slaughter,” declares the King, whose name is the LORD Almighty.

¹⁶“The fall of Moab is at hand;
her calamity will come quickly.

¹⁷Mourn for her, all who live around her, all who know her fame;
say, ‘How broken is the mighty scepter,
how broken the glorious staff!’

¹⁸“Come down from your glory and sit on the parched ground, you inhabitants of Daughter Dibon, for the one who destroys Moab will come up against you and ruin your fortified cities.

¹⁹Stand by the road and watch,
you who live in Aroer.

Ask the man fleeing and the woman escaping,
ask them, 'What has happened?'

²⁰Moab is disgraced, for she is shattered.
Wail and cry out!

Announce by the Arnon that Moab is destroyed.

²¹Judgment has come to the plateau—to Holon, Jahzah and Mephaath,

²²to Dibon, Nebo and Beth Diblathaim,

²³to Kiriathaim, Beth Gamul and Beth Meon, ²⁴to Kerioth and Bozrah— to all the towns of Moab, far and near.

²⁵Moab's horn^g is cut off; her arm is broken,"

declares the LORD.

²⁶"Make her drunk,
for she has defied the LORD.

Let Moab wallow in her vomit;
let her be an object of ridicule. Leadership Brings Temptations

²⁷Was not Israel the object of your ridicule?

Was she caught among thieves, that you shake your head in scorn whenever you speak of her?

²⁸Abandon your towns and dwell among the rocks, you who live in Moab.
Be like a dove that makes its nest
at the mouth of a cave.

²⁹"We have heard of Moab's pride—
how great is her arrogance!—
of her insolence, her pride, her conceit and the haughtiness of her heart.

³⁰I know her insolence but it is futile,"

declares the LORD,

"and her boasts accomplish nothing.

³¹Therefore I wail over Moab,
for all Moab I cry out,
I moan for the people of Kir Hareseth.

³²I weep for you, as Jazer weeps, you vines of Sibmah.

Your branches spread as far as the sea^h; they reached as far asⁱ Jazer.

The destroyer has fallen on your ripened fruit and grapes.

³³Joy and gladness are gone from the orchards and fields of Moab.
I have stopped the flow of wine from the presses;
no one treads them with shouts of joy.
Although there are shouts,
they are not shouts of joy.

³⁴“The sound of their cry rises from Heshbon to Elealeh and Jahaz, from Zoar as far as Horonaim and Eglath Shelishiyah, for even the waters of Nimrim are dried up.

³⁵In Moab I will put an end to those who make offerings on the high places and burn incense to their gods,”

declares the LORD.

³⁶“So my heart laments for Moab like the music of a pipe; it laments like a pipe for the people of Kir Hareseth.
The wealth they acquired is gone.

³⁷Every head is shaved
and every beard cut off;

every hand is slashed and every waist is covered with sackcloth.

³⁸On all the roofs in Moab and in the public squares

there is nothing but mourning, for I have broken Moab like a jar that no one wants,”

declares the LORD.

³⁹“How shattered she is! How they wail!
How Moab turns her back in shame!
Moab has become an object of ridicule, an object of horror to all those around her.”

⁴⁰This is what the LORD says:

“Look! An eagle is swooping down, spreading its wings over Moab.

⁴¹Kerioth^j will be captured and the strongholds taken.
In that day the hearts of Moab’s warriors will be like the heart of a woman in labor.

⁴²Moab will be destroyed as a nation because she defied the LORD.

⁴³Terror and pit and snare await you,
you people of Moab,”

declares the LORD.

⁴⁴“Whoever flees from the terror
will fall into a pit,
whoever climbs out of the pit
will be caught in a snare;
for I will bring on Moab
the year of her punishment,”

declares the LORD.

⁴⁵“In the shadow of Heshbon
the fugitives stand helpless, for a fire has gone out from Heshbon,
a blaze from the midst of Sihon;
it burns the foreheads of Moab,
the skulls of the noisy boasters.

⁴⁶Woe to you, Moab!
The people of Chemosh are destroyed;
your sons are taken into exile and your daughters into captivity.

⁴⁷“Yet I will restore the fortunes of Moab in days to come,”
declares the LORD.

Here ends the judgment on Moab.

Jeremiah 49

A Message About Ammon

¹Concerning the Ammonites:

This is what the LORD says:

“Has Israel no sons?

Has Israel no heir?

Why then has Molek^a taken possession of Gad?

Why do his people live in its towns?

²But the days are coming,”

declares the LORD,

“when I will sound the battle cry against Rabbah of the Ammonites;

it will become a mound of ruins,

and its surrounding villages will be set on fire.

Then Israel will drive out those who drove her out,”

says the LORD.

³“Wail, Heshbon, for Ai is destroyed!
Cry out, you inhabitants of Rabbah!
Put on sackcloth and mourn;
rush here and there inside the walls,
for Molek will go into exile,
together with his priests and officials.

⁴Why do you boast of your valleys, boast of your valleys so fruitful?
Unfaithful Daughter Ammon,
you trust in your riches and say,
‘Who will attack me?’

⁵I will bring terror on you from all those around you,”

declares the Lord, the LORD Almighty.

“Every one of you will be driven away,
and no one will gather the fugitives.

⁶“Yet afterward, I will restore the fortunes of the Ammonites,”

declares the LORD.

A Message About Edom

⁷Concerning Edom:

This is what the LORD Almighty says:

“Is there no longer wisdom in Teman?
Has counsel perished from the prudent?
Has their wisdom decayed?

⁸Turn and flee, hide in deep caves,
you who live in Dedan,
for I will bring disaster on Esau
at the time when I punish him.

⁹If grape pickers came to you,
would they not leave a few grapes?
If thieves came during the night,
would they not steal only as much as they wanted?

¹⁰But I will strip Esau bare;
I will uncover his hiding places,
so that he cannot conceal himself.
His armed men are destroyed,
also his allies and neighbors,
so there is no one to say,

¹¹‘Leave your fatherless children; I will keep them alive.
Your widows too can depend on me.’ ”

¹²This is what the LORD says: “If those who do not deserve to drink the cup must drink it, why should you go unpunished? You will not go unpunished, but must drink it. ¹³I swear by myself,” declares the LORD, “that Bozrah will become a ruin and a curse,^b an object of horror and reproach; and all its towns will be in ruins forever.”

¹⁴I have heard a message from the LORD; an envoy was sent to the nations to say, “Assemble yourselves to attack it!
Rise up for battle!”

¹⁵“Now I will make you small among the nations, despised by mankind.

¹⁶The terror you inspire and the pride of your heart have deceived you,
you who live in the clefts of the rocks,
who occupy the heights of the hill.
Though you build your nest as high as the eagle's, from there I will bring you down,"

declares the LORD.

¹⁷"Edom will become an object of horror;
all who pass by will be appalled and will scoff because of all its wounds.

¹⁸As Sodom and Gomorrah were overthrown, along with their neighboring towns,"

says the LORD,

"so no one will live there;
no people will dwell in it.

¹⁹"Like a lion coming up from Jordan's thickets to a rich pastureland,
I will chase Edom from its land in an instant.
Who is the chosen one I will appoint for this?
Who is like me and who can challenge me?
And what shepherd can stand against me?"

²⁰Therefore, hear what the LORD has planned against Edom, what he has purposed against those who live in Teman:
The young of the flock will be dragged away;
their pasture will be appalled at their fate.

²¹At the sound of their fall the earth will tremble; their cry will resound to the Red Sea.^c

²²Look! An eagle will soar and swoop down, spreading its wings over Bozrah.

In that day the hearts of Edom's warriors will be like the heart of a woman in labor.

A Message About Damascus

²³Concerning Damascus:

“Hamath and Arpad are dismayed, for they have heard bad news.
They are disheartened, troubled like^d the restless sea.

²⁴Damascus has become feeble,

she has turned to flee
and panic has gripped her;
anguish and pain have seized her,
pain like that of a woman in labor.

²⁵Why has the city of renown not been abandoned, the town in which I delight?

²⁶Surely, her young men will fall in the streets; all her soldiers will be silenced in that day,”

declares the LORD Almighty.

²⁷“I will set fire to the walls of Damascus; it will consume the fortresses of Ben-Hadad.”

A Message About Kedar and Hazor

²⁸Concerning Kedar and the kingdoms of Hazor, which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon attacked: This is what the LORD says:

“Arise, and attack Kedar and destroy the people of the East.

²⁹Their tents and their flocks will be taken; their shelters will be carried off with all their goods and camels.

People will shout to them,
‘Terror on every side!’

³⁰“Flee quickly away!
Stay in deep caves, you who live in Hazor,”

declares the LORD.

“Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon has plotted against you;
he has devised a plan against you.

³¹“Arise and attack a nation at ease, which lives in confidence,”

declares the LORD,

“a nation that has neither gates nor bars;
its people live far from danger.

³²Their camels will become plunder, and their large herds will be spoils of war.

I will scatter to the winds those who are in distant places^e and will bring disaster on them from every side,”

declares the LORD.

³³“Hazor will become a haunt of jackals,
a desolate place forever.
No one will live there;
no people will dwell in it.”

A Message About Elam

³⁴This is the word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah the prophet concerning Elam, early in the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah: ³⁵This is what the LORD Almighty says:

“See, I will break the bow of Elam, the mainstay of their might.

³⁶I will bring against Elam the four winds from the four quarters of heaven;
I will scatter them to the four winds, and there will not be a nation
where Elam’s exiles do not go.

³⁷I will shatter Elam before their foes,
before those who want to kill them;
I will bring disaster on them,
even my fierce anger,”

declares the LORD.

“I will pursue them with the sword until I have made an end of them.

³⁸I will set my throne in Elam and destroy her king and officials,”

declares the LORD.

³⁹“Yet I will restore the fortunes of Elam in days to come,”

declares the LORD.

Jeremiah 50

A Message About Babylon

¹This is the word the LORD spoke through Jeremiah the prophet concerning Babylon and the land of the Babylonians^a:

²“Announce and proclaim among the nations, lift up a banner and proclaim it;
keep nothing back, but say,

‘Babylon will be captured;
Bel will be put to shame,
Marduk filled with terror.

Her images will be put to shame and her idols filled with terror.’

³A nation from the north will attack her and lay waste her land.

No one will live in it;
both people and animals will flee away.

⁴“In those days, at that time,”
declares the LORD,

“the people of Israel and the people of Judah together will go in tears to seek the LORD their God.

⁵They will ask the way to Zion and turn their faces toward it.

They will come and bind themselves to the LORD in an everlasting covenant that will not be forgotten.

⁶“My people have been lost sheep;
their shepherds have led them astray and caused them to roam on the mountains.
They wandered over mountain and hill and forgot their own resting place.

⁷Whoever found them devoured them;
their enemies said, ‘We are not guilty, for they sinned against the LORD, their verdant pasture, the LORD, the hope of their ancestors.’

⁸“Flee out of Babylon;
leave the land of the Babylonians,
and be like the goats that lead the flock.

⁹For I will stir up and bring against Babylon an alliance of great nations from the land of the north.

They will take up their positions against her,
and from the north she will be captured.
Their arrows will be like skilled warriors who do not return empty-handed.

¹⁰So Babylonia^b will be plundered; all who plunder her will have their fill,”
declares the LORD.

¹¹“Because you rejoice and are glad,
you who pillage my inheritance, because you frolic like a heifer threshing grain and neigh like stallions,

¹²your mother will be greatly ashamed;
she who gave you birth will be disgraced.
She will be the least of the nations—
a wilderness, a dry land, a desert.

¹³Because of the LORD’s anger she will not be inhabited but will be completely desolate.

All who pass Babylon will be appalled;
they will scoff because of all her wounds.

¹⁴“Take up your positions around Babylon, all you who draw the bow.
Shoot at her! Spare no arrows, for she has sinned against the LORD.

¹⁵Shout against her on every side!
She surrenders, her towers fall,
her walls are torn down.
Since this is the vengeance of the LORD,
take vengeance on her;
do to her as she has done to others.

¹⁶Cut off from Babylon the sower, and the reaper with his sickle at harvest.
Because of the sword of the oppressor let everyone return to their own people, let everyone flee to their own land.

¹⁷“Israel is a scattered flock that lions have chased away.

The first to devour them was the king of Assyria;
the last to crush their bones was Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon.”

¹⁸Therefore this is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says:

“I will punish the king of Babylon and his land as I punished the king of Assyria.

¹⁹But I will bring Israel back to their own pasture, and they will graze on Carmel and Bashan;

their appetite will be satisfied
on the hills of Ephraim and Gilead.

²⁰In those days, at that time,”
declares the LORD,
“search will be made for Israel’s guilt,
but there will be none,
and for the sins of Judah,
but none will be found,
for I will forgive the remnant I spare.

²¹“Attack the land of Merathaim and those who live in Pekod.
Pursue, kill and completely destroy^c them,”

declares the LORD.

“Do everything I have commanded you.

²²The noise of battle is in the land,
the noise of great destruction!

²³How broken and shattered is the hammer of the whole earth!

How desolate is Babylon
among the nations!

²⁴I set a trap for you, Babylon, and you were caught before you knew it;

you were found and captured because you opposed the LORD.

²⁵The LORD has opened his arsenal and brought out the weapons of his wrath, for the Sovereign LORD Almighty has work to do in the land of the Babylonians.

²⁶Come against her from afar.
Break open her granaries;
pile her up like heaps of grain.

Completely destroy her and leave her no remnant.

²⁷Kill all her young bulls;
let them go down to the slaughter!
Woe to them! For their day has come,
the time for them to be punished.

²⁸Listen to the fugitives and refugees from Babylon declaring in Zion how the LORD our God has taken vengeance, vengeance for his temple.

²⁹“Summon archers against Babylon, all those who draw the bow.
Encamp all around her;
let no one escape.
Repay her for her deeds;
do to her as she has done.
For she has defied the LORD,
the Holy One of Israel.

³⁰Therefore, her young men will fall in the streets; all her soldiers will be silenced in that day,”

declares the LORD.

³¹“See, I am against you, you arrogant one,”
declares the Lord, the LORD Almighty, “for your day has come,
the time for you to be punished.

³²The arrogant one will stumble and fall and no one will help her up;
I will kindle a fire in her towns that will consume all who are around her.”

³³This is what the LORD Almighty says:

“The people of Israel are oppressed, and the people of Judah as well.
All their captors hold them fast,
refusing to let them go.

³⁴Yet their Redeemer is strong;
the LORD Almighty is his name.
He will vigorously defend their cause

he will vigorously defend their cause
so that he may bring rest to their land, but unrest to those who live in Babylon.

³⁵“A sword against the Babylonians!”
declares the LORD—

“against those who live in Babylon and against her officials and wise men!

³⁶A sword against her false prophets!
They will become fools.

A sword against her warriors!
They will be filled with terror.

³⁷A sword against her horses and chariots and all the foreigners in her ranks!
They will become weaklings.

A sword against her treasures!
They will be plundered.

³⁸A drought on^d her waters!
They will dry up.
For it is a land of idols,
idols that will go mad with terror.

³⁹“So desert creatures and hyenas will live there, and there the owl will dwell.
It will never again be inhabited or lived in from generation to generation.

⁴⁰As I overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah
along with their neighboring towns,”

declares the LORD,

“so no one will live there;
no people will dwell in it.

⁴¹“Look! An army is coming from the north; a great nation and many kings are being stirred up from the ends of the earth.

⁴²They are armed with bows and spears;
they are cruel and without mercy.
They sound like the roaring sea
as they ride on their horses;
they come like men in battle formation
to attack you, Daughter Babylon.

⁴³The king of Babylon has heard reports about them, and his hands hang limp.
Anguish has gripped him,
pain like that of a woman in labor.

⁴⁴Like a lion coming up from Jordan's thickets to a rich pastureland,
I will chase Babylon from its land in an instant.
Who is the chosen one I will appoint for this?
Who is like me and who can challenge me?
And what shepherd can stand against me?"

⁴⁵Therefore, hear what the LORD has planned against Babylon, what he has purposed against the land of the Babylonians:
The young of the flock will be dragged away;
their pasture will be appalled at their fate.

⁴⁶At the sound of Babylon's capture the earth will tremble; its cry will resound among the nations.

Jeremiah 51

¹This is what the LORD says:

“See, I will stir up the spirit of a destroyer against Babylon and the people of Leb Kamai.^a ²I will send foreigners to Babylon to winnow her and to devastate her land; they will oppose her on every side in the day of her disaster.

³Let not the archer string his bow, nor let him put on his armor.
Do not spare her young men;
completely destroy^b her army.

⁴They will fall down slain in Babylon,^c fatally wounded in her streets.

⁵For Israel and Judah have not been forsaken by their God, the LORD Almighty, though their land^d is full of guilt before the Holy One of Israel.

⁶“Flee from Babylon!
Run for your lives!
Do not be destroyed because of her sins.
It is time for the LORD’s vengeance;
he will repay her what she deserves.

⁷Babylon was a gold cup in the LORD’s hand; she made the whole earth drunk.
The nations drank her wine;
therefore they have now gone mad.

⁸Babylon will suddenly fall and be broken.
Wail over her!
Get balm for her pain;
perhaps she can be healed.

⁹“ ‘We would have healed Babylon,
but she cannot be healed;
let us leave her and each go to our own land,
for her judgment reaches to the skies,
it rises as high as the heavens.’

it rises as high as the heavens.

¹⁰“ ‘The LORD has vindicated us; come, let us tell in Zion what the LORD our God has done.’

¹¹“Sharpen the arrows, take up the shields!
The LORD has stirred up the kings of the Medes, because his purpose is to destroy Babylon.
The LORD will take vengeance,
vengeance for his temple.

¹²Lift up a banner against the walls of Babylon!
Reinforce the guard,
station the watchmen,
prepare an ambush!
The LORD will carry out his purpose,
his decree against the people of Babylon.

¹³You who live by many waters and are rich in treasures, your end has come,
the time for you to be destroyed.

¹⁴The LORD Almighty has sworn by himself: I will surely fill you with troops, as with a swarm of locusts,
and they will shout in triumph over you.

¹⁵“He made the earth by his power;
he founded the world by his wisdom
and stretched out the heavens by his understanding.

¹⁶When he thunders, the waters in the heavens roar; he makes clouds rise from the ends of the earth.
He sends lightning with the rain
and brings out the wind from his storehouses.

¹⁷“Everyone is senseless and without knowledge; every goldsmith is shamed by his idols.
The images he makes are a fraud;
they have no breath in them.

¹⁸They are worthless, the objects of mockery; when their judgment comes, they will perish.

¹⁹He who is the Portion of Jacob is not like these, for he is the Maker of all things, including the people of his inheritance—
the LORD Almighty is his name.

²⁰“You are my war club, my weapon for battle—
with you I shatter nations,
with you I destroy kingdoms, ²¹with you I shatter horse and rider,
with you I shatter chariot and driver, ²²with you I shatter man and woman, with you I shatter old man and youth,
with you I shatter young man and young woman, ²³with you I shatter shepherd and flock, with you I shatter farmer and oxen,
with you I shatter governors and officials.

²⁴“Before your eyes I will repay Babylon and all who live in Babylonia^e for all the wrong they have done in Zion,” declares the LORD.

²⁵“I am against you, you destroying mountain, you who destroy the whole earth,”

declares the LORD.

“I will stretch out my hand against you,
roll you off the cliffs,
and make you a burned-out mountain.

²⁶No rock will be taken from you for a cornerstone, nor any stone for a foundation, for you will be desolate forever,”

declares the LORD.

²⁷“Lift up a banner in the land!
Blow the trumpet among the nations!
Prepare the nations for battle against her;
summon against her these kingdoms:
Ararat, Minni and Ashkenaz.
Appoint a commander against her;

Appoint a commander against her,
send up horses like a swarm of locusts.

²⁸Prepare the nations for battle against her— the kings of the Medes, their governors and all their officials,
and all the countries they rule.

²⁹The land trembles and writhes, for the LORD's purposes against Babylon stand—to lay waste the land of Babylon
so that no one will live there.

³⁰Babylon's warriors have stopped fighting; they remain in their strongholds.

Their strength is exhausted;
they have become weaklings.
Her dwellings are set on fire;
the bars of her gates are broken.

³¹One courier follows another and messenger follows messenger to announce to the king of Babylon that his entire city is captured, ³²the river crossings seized,

the marshes set on fire,
and the soldiers terrified.”

³³This is what the LORD Almighty, the God of Israel, says:

“Daughter Babylon is like a threshing floor at the time it is trampled;
the time to harvest her will soon come.”

³⁴“Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon has devoured us, he has thrown us into confusion,
he has made us an empty jar.
Like a serpent he has swallowed us and filled his stomach with our delicacies, and then has spewed us out.

³⁵May the violence done to our flesh^f be on Babylon,” say the inhabitants of Zion.
“May our blood be on those who live in Babylonia,” says Jerusalem.

³⁶Therefore this is what the LORD says:

“See, I will defend your cause and avenge you;
I will dry up her sea
and make her springs dry.

³⁷Babylon will be a heap of ruins,
a haunt of jackals,
an object of horror and scorn,
a place where no one lives.

³⁸Her people all roar like young lions, they growl like lion cubs.

³⁹But while they are aroused,
I will set out a feast for them and make them drunk.

~~and none from among~~ so that they shout with laughter—then sleep forever and not awake,”

declares the LORD.

⁴⁰“I will bring them down like lambs to the slaughter, like rams and goats.

⁴¹“How Sheshak^g will be captured, the boast of the whole earth seized!

How desolate Babylon will be among the nations!

⁴²The sea will rise over Babylon;
its roaring waves will cover her.

⁴³Her towns will be desolate, a dry and desert land,
a land where no one lives,
through which no one travels.

⁴⁴I will punish Bel in Babylon and make him spew out what he has swallowed.
The nations will no longer stream to him.
And the wall of Babylon will fall.

⁴⁵“Come out of her, my people!
Run for your lives!
Run from the fierce anger of the LORD.

⁴⁶Do not lose heart or be afraid when rumors are heard in the land;
one rumor comes this year, another the next, rumors of violence in the land and of ruler against ruler.

⁴⁷For the time will surely come when I will punish the idols of Babylon;
her whole land will be disgraced and her slain will all lie fallen within her.

⁴⁸Then heaven and earth and all that is in them will shout for joy over Babylon, for out of the north destroyers will attack her,”

declares the LORD.

⁴⁹“Babylon must fall because of Israel’s slain, just as the slain in all the earth have fallen because of Babylon.

⁵⁰You who have escaped the sword,
leave and do not linger!
Remember the LORD in a distant land, and call to mind Jerusalem.”

⁵¹“We are disgraced, for we have been insulted

and shame covers our faces, because foreigners have entered the holy places of the LORD's house."

⁵²"But days are coming," declares the LORD, "when I will punish her idols, and throughout her land

the wounded will groan.

⁵³Even if Babylon ascends to the heavens and fortifies her lofty stronghold,
I will send destroyers against her,”

declares the LORD.

⁵⁴“The sound of a cry comes from Babylon, the sound of great destruction from the land of the Babylonians.^h

⁵⁵The LORD will destroy Babylon; he will silence her noisy din.
Waves of enemies will rage like great waters;
the roar of their voices will resound.

⁵⁶A destroyer will come against Babylon;
her warriors will be captured,
and their bows will be broken.
For the LORD is a God of retribution;
he will repay in full.

⁵⁷I will make her officials and wise men drunk, her governors, officers and warriors as well;
they will sleep forever and not awake,”
declares the King, whose name is the LORD Almighty.

⁵⁸This is what the LORD Almighty says:

“Babylon’s thick wall will be leveled and her high gates set on fire;
the peoples exhaust themselves for nothing,
the nations’ labor is only fuel for the flames.”

⁵⁹This is the message Jeremiah the prophet gave to the staff officer Seraiah son of Neriah, the son of Mahseiah, when he went to Babylon with Zedekiah king of Judah in the fourth year of his reign. ⁶⁰Jeremiah had written on a scroll about all the disasters that would come upon Babylon—all that had been recorded concerning Babylon. ⁶¹He said to Seraiah, “When you get to Babylon, see that you read all these words aloud. ⁶²Then say, ‘LORD, you have said you will destroy this place, so that neither people nor animals will live in it; it will be desolate forever.’ ⁶³When you finish reading this scroll, tie a stone to it and throw it into the Euphrates. ⁶⁴Then say, ‘So will Babylon sink to rise no more because of the disaster I will bring on her. And her people will fall.’ ”

The words of Jeremiah end here.

Jeremiah 52

The Fall of Jerusalem

¹Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem eleven years. His mother's name was Hamutal daughter of Jeremiah; she was from Libnah. ²He did evil in the eyes of the LORD, just as Jehoiakim had done. ³It was because of the LORD's anger that all this happened to Jerusalem and Judah, and in the end he thrust them from his presence.

Now Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon. The Law of Connection: Leaders Must Achieve Reception, Not Rebellion

⁴So in the ninth year of Zedekiah's reign, on the tenth day of the tenth month, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon marched against Jerusalem with his whole army. They encamped outside the city and built siege works all around it. ⁵The city was kept under siege until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah.

⁶By the ninth day of the fourth month the famine in the city had become so severe that there was no food for the people to eat. ⁷Then the city wall was broken through, and the whole army fled. They left the city at night through the gate between the two walls near the king's garden, though the Babylonians^a were surrounding the city. They fled toward the Arabah,^b ⁸but the Babylonian^c army pursued King Zedekiah and overtook him in the plains of Jericho. All his soldiers were separated from him and scattered, ⁹and he was captured.

He was taken to the king of Babylon at Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he pronounced sentence on him. ¹⁰There at Riblah the king of Babylon killed the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes; he also killed all the officials of Judah. ¹¹Then he put out Zedekiah's eyes, bound him with bronze shackles and took him to Babylon, where he put him in prison till the day of his death.

¹²On the tenth day of the fifth month, in the nineteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, Nebuzaradan commander of the imperial guard, who served the king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem. ¹³He set fire to the temple of the LORD, the royal palace and all the houses of Jerusalem. Every important building he burned down. ¹⁴The whole Babylonian army, under the commander of the imperial guard, broke down all the walls around Jerusalem. ¹⁵Nebuzaradan the commander of the guard carried into exile some of the poorest people and those who remained in the city, along with the rest of the craftsmen^d and those who had deserted to the king of Babylon. ¹⁶But Nebuzaradan left behind the rest of the poorest people of the land to work the vineyards and fields.

²⁰The bronze from the two pillars, the Sea and the twelve bronze bulls under it, and the movable stands, which King Solomon had made for the temple of the LORD, was more than could be weighed. ²¹Each pillar was eighteen cubits high and twelve cubits in circumference^e; each was four fingers thick, and hollow. ²²The bronze capital on top of one pillar was five cubits^f high and was decorated with a network and pomegranates of bronze all around. The other pillar, with its pomegranates, was similar. ²³There were ninety-six pomegranates on the sides; the total number of pomegranates above the surrounding network was a hundred.

²⁴The commander of the guard took as prisoners Seraiah the chief priest, Zephaniah the priest next in rank and the three doorkeepers. ²⁵Of those still in the city, he took the officer in charge of the fighting men, and seven royal advisers. He also took the secretary who was chief officer in charge of conscripting the people of the land, sixty of whom were found in the city. ²⁶Nebuzaradan the commander took them all and brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah. ²⁷There at Riblah, in the land of Hamath, the king had them executed.

So Judah went into captivity, away from her land. ²⁸This is the number of the people Nebuchadnezzar carried into exile:

in the seventh year, 3,023 Jews;

^gin Nebuchadnezzar's eighteenth year,
832 people from Jerusalem;

^hin his twenty-third year,

745 Jews taken into exile by Nebuzaradan the commander of the imperial guard.

There were 4,600 people in all.

Jehoiachin Released

³¹In the thirty-seventh year of the exile of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the year Awel-Marduk became king of Babylon, on the twenty-fifth day of the twelfth month, he released Jehoiachin king of Judah and freed him from prison.

³²He spoke kindly to him and gave him a seat of honor higher than those of the other kings who were with him in Babylon. ³³So Jehoiachin put aside his prison clothes and for the rest of his life ate regularly at the king's table. ³⁴Day by day the king of Babylon gave Jehoiachin a regular allowance as long as he lived, till the day of his death.

God's Call and Empowerment Match

Jeremiah 1:4–10

Jeremiah's call to become a prophet to the nations came early in his life—and it scared him terribly. Why? He failed to see that God's call and his empowerment always match. When God calls you to do something, he always provides the empowerment to fulfill that calling.

If God calls you, heed the call. He will also give you the resources to accomplish the work. But if he hasn't called you, don't conjure up some self-appointment. If he doesn't send you, you will not ultimately succeed (Jer 23:21–32). Jeremiah received his call through a "word of the LORD," one of several Jewish leaders called this way (Jer 1:4; Eze 1:3; Hos 1:1; Joel 1:1; Jnh 1:1). Note the circumstances of God's call on Jeremiah's life given in Jeremiah 1:4–10:

- God created Jeremiah for a purpose (v. 5).
- Jeremiah felt inadequate (v. 6).
- God wanted total control (v. 7).
- God gave the promise of a blessing (v. 8).
- God gave Jeremiah spiritual anointing (v. 9).
- God gave Jeremiah a difficult ministry (v. 10).

God's call, whether from birth or otherwise (see Ac 9 for other types of calls), eventually gets confirmed when God endorses a person's vocation. They feel they can do nothing else. How about you? What are your earliest memories of the call of God on your life?

The Law of Sacrifice: Jeremiah Gave Up Loads to Lead

Jeremiah 1:18–19

Leaders must practice the Law of Sacrifice. We must give up to go up. Our call to lead is no cakewalk, but calls for responsibility and sacrifice.

1. He was called to a ministry of opposition (1:18–19).
Jeremiah never gained popularity. People didn't flock to hear him denounce their wickedness.
2. He was not permitted to marry (16:1–2).
Jeremiah lived a life of solitude without the joys of family and loved ones.
3. He was beaten and put into stocks (20:1–3).
The people responded to the prophet's message with physical punishment.
4. He was publicly disgraced to depict the judgment of Israel (27:1–3).
God told Jeremiah to put bonds and stocks around his neck to illustrate the coming yoke of Babylon.
5. He was imprisoned in a dungeon (38:1–6).
Jeremiah was treated worse than thieves or murderers; he almost suffocated in this dry well.

Do you suddenly feel a little better about your plight as a leader? Jeremiah faced horrible odds, yet never walked away from his message or his call from God.

Communication: Effective Leaders Use Memorable Imagery

Jeremiah 2:1–16

We increase our ability to cast vision when we improve our communication. Effective leaders find memorable ways to communicate with their people.

Jeremiah uses vivid analogies and metaphors to describe how Israel has drifted from the Lord. He uses word pictures like a bride running to and then from her husband, a man digging a cistern, and a slave who has lost his freedom.

God challenged Jeremiah to communicate with those who refused to listen to him. This likely stretched him to become an even better communicator than if he had been given an easy task. As you scan the pages of his book, notice that Jeremiah, along with other Old Testament prophets, used five tools in an attempt to drive home his message:

1. Strong Beginning

Jeremiah didn't waste words as he grabbed the people's attention.

2. Simple Language

Jeremiah didn't try to impress anyone with huge, theological terms.

3. One Theme

Jeremiah stuck with one profound issue per message, not seventeen.

4. Pictures

Jeremiah used word pictures, illustrations and object lessons to drive home his message.

5. Emotional Ending

Jeremiah closed his communication with an appeal to strike both heart and head.

God's Criteria for Leaders: Shepherds After His Heart

Jeremiah 3:15

God tells us his criteria for leadership when he promises through Jeremiah that he will give the people shepherds after his own heart—the same description given to David in the book of 1 Samuel. What does this mean? God says these shepherds are to lead his people with “knowledge and understanding.”

This kind of leader doesn't develop automatically. Most seminaries still struggle with providing practical, usable tools for the men and women they are preparing for ministry. A “shepherd after God's own heart” must possess at least four skills:

1. Attitude Skills

A servant's heart, both positive and persistent.

2. People Skills

The ability to relate to others: communicate, delegate, motivate, confront, etc.

3. Equipping Skills

The ability to train and develop others for service.

4. Leadership Skills

The ability to cast vision, plan strategy, direct teams, and empower others.

Compassion: Leaders Must Empathize with Human Flaws

Jeremiah 4:19–26

Compassion drove Jeremiah. He empathized with the flaws of his people, and even though he warned them of coming judgment, his proclamation sounded far from cold and sterile. He identified with the Israelites and anguished over their plight. This enabled him to lead over the long haul.

The Leader Is a Watchman Who Guards and Guides the Flock

Jeremiah 6:16–19

Jeremiah illustrates the leader's job as a watchman. God appointed watchmen over his people to sound the trumpet in times of danger and to serve as his voice.

A watchman provides an outstanding metaphor for a leader. Watchmen guard and guide those they supervise. They guard against anything that would endanger the vision. They guide those they oversee, encouraging them to continue on the path toward that vision. They watch out for danger and maintain quality control. They cry out warnings to those who drift from the vision. They commit themselves to finishing the task they began. Watchmen must possess strong moral fiber and must remain committed to a strong sense of right and wrong.

Jeremiah served well as a watchman, but he never convinced the masses to get on board with what was right. In your own leadership, where do you draw the line between doing what is right and doing what will retain followers?

Jeremiah: Speaking Hard Truth Without Compromise

Jeremiah 8:1–13

Jeremiah did not receive a pleasant message from God to deliver to his people. The Lord ordered him to declare judgment and destruction on Judah. God told the prophet that he was about to destroy a sinful generation, a group of stubborn men and women who had turned to the basest kind of idolatry.

The Lord had patiently borne with these people. For many years he had issued stern warnings about their sin—yet they refused to surrender to him. They had grown so depraved and shameless that God told Jeremiah they could no longer even blush over their vile conduct (Jer 8:12).

The truly godly leader takes no pleasure in announcing divine judgment. It is a grievous thing to have to announce that the time for retribution has come. God himself grieves when his people's sin sinks to the point of no return. On the other hand, a truly godly leader never shrinks from confronting sin or from declaring the message of God. Effective leaders faithfully confront sin and call the sinner to repentance.

It could not have been easy for Jeremiah to communicate God's words of judgment. Neither is it easy to communicate today with people who need to be confronted over their sin. But leadership means speaking all the truth—sometimes unpleasant and painful truth—that God has entrusted to us.

Priorities: Leaders Must Know What's Really Valuable

Jeremiah 9:23–24

What is our ultimate priority? What should we pursue more than anything else? What is worth boasting about? Some business leaders would answer, "Wealth and investments." Some educational or political leaders would reply, "Intelligence and strategy." Some athletic or sports leaders might respond, "Strength and speed."

But Jeremiah warns us against boasting about any of these. These are valuable resources, but not ultimate priorities. The only thing worth boasting about is a vital relationship with God. The others are merely a means to an end.

Leaders must recognize the difference between these two:

The Ultimate

1. God is the source.
2. He provides a life.
3. Spiritual things are the end.

The Immediate

1. The others are a resource.
2. These provide a living.
3. Material things are a means to an end.

Attitude: Leaders Don't Get Lost in the Problems

Jeremiah 12:1–4

If Jeremiah complained about relatively easy days, then how could God use him in hard times? Like us, Jeremiah suffered from hardening of the attitudes. We lose perspective on what real problems look like and what God is able to do. Let's focus on his promise, not our problems.

The Linen Sash: An Analogy for Leaders Who Want to Be Useful

Jeremiah 13:1–11

God instructed Jeremiah to wear a linen sash for a while, then bury it. What happened? The once useful sash became useless.

Through this sash, God provides a teaching analogy for his people. The ruined piece of clothing represented the people of Israel who once served and worshiped God, but then became useless through their disobedience. Leaders have special reasons to pay close attention to this object lesson. Consider the parallels between leaders and the linen sash:

Remain useful when:

1. They are stretched.

We must be stretched and challenged.

2. They are secure.

We must draw our identity from God.

3. They are solid.

We must possess stable values.

Become useless when:

1. They are soiled.

We cannot live with sin and apathy.

2. They are separated.

We cannot live as mavericks.

3. They are shrunk.

We aren't useful when we think small.

What Happens to Leaders Who Mislead and Damage Others?

Jeremiah 14:14–16

A group of false prophets spoke about the future, as Jeremiah did, yet they proclaimed a much more positive message than his. People liked them because they spoke what they wanted to hear. Nevertheless, God told Jeremiah to continue speaking truthfully. The very drought, famine and sword the false prophets denied would soon kill them.

God reserves special judgment for leaders who speak out of turn and who give the people merely what they want to hear. Note the sharp contrast between these prophets and Jeremiah:

Jeremiah

1. Spoke the truth even when it hurt
2. Constantly checked and purified
3. Gave direction tied to an eternal hope
4. Was eventually proven right

False Leaders

1. Spoke only what made people feel good
2. Were motivated by selfish gain his motives and popularity
3. Gave direction tied to temporary pleasure
4. Lost their lives because of what they said

Courage: One Person Standing with God Is Invincible

Jeremiah 15:15–21

Jeremiah asked God to remember the stand he took. This leader acted with courage when no one else seemed to be able to do so. In three short verses, we read what Jeremiah endured in his struggle to stand courageously:

1. He was neglected (v. 15).
2. He was mistreated (v. 15).
3. He was lonely (v. 17).
4. He endured continual discouragement (v. 18).
5. He felt let down by God (v. 18).

In verses 19–21, God gave his prophet courage by giving him a . . .

1. Picture of himself—God allowed him to stand and see a vision of Yahweh.
2. Picture of the people—God confirms Jeremiah's view: The people are stubborn.
3. Picture of victory—God reminds him that the Lord is greater than any circumstance.

Teachability: To Keep Leading, Keep Learning

Jeremiah 18:18

If you want to keep leading, you must keep learning. Yesterday's growth cannot suffice for today. We must remain teachable and flexible. God is the Potter; we are the clay. He will do what he wishes. We must allow him to mold us in the way he desires.

Convictions: Turning Defeat into Dividends

Jeremiah 20:1–18

Every leader experiences both good and bad days. Even God's greatest leaders become discouraged. Jeremiah 20 allows us to see into the heart of a great leader. Jeremiah complains to God in the first ten verses. He praises God for his victories in the next four verses. And in the next five verses he curses the day he was born.

The key question on your bad day is: Are you going to give up or get up? And how can you get up?

1. Rise above self-pity. Failure is an attitude, not just an outcome.
2. Think positively. Success comes by going from failure to failure without losing enthusiasm.
3. Learn from your experiences. Failure isn't failure unless you learn nothing from it.
4. Seek alternatives. All successful leaders vary their approaches.
5. Develop a sense of humor. Laughter is the shortest distance between two people and the fastest way to get perspective.
6. Be realistic. The first job of the leader is to define reality.
7. Establish new goals. Failure is an opportunity to begin again, but more intelligently.
8. Develop a passion. Your own resolution to succeed counts for more than anything else.
9. Broaden your base of support. No single venture should support your entire emotional life.
10. Separate your self-worth from your performance. A positive self-image prepares you for success.

The Measure of a Man Is What He Does with Power

Jeremiah 22:6–30

Leaders who use their power or influence for personal gain offend God. Jeremiah cautions leaders who build their own “kingdoms” but fail to exhibit wisdom. He warns them against preoccupation with their own welfare rather than the people God has given them. God considers such misuse of power grounds for removal.

The Changing of the Guard: When Leaders Need to Be Replaced

Jeremiah 23:1–16

God does not hesitate to remove poor or wicked leaders—and beyond their removal, God pronounces his judgment on them.

Jeremiah 23 supplies us with a good evaluation tool to recognize what God values in a leader and what constitutes grounds for dismissal and replacement. Study the characteristics of the kind of leaders God promised to replace:

1. Leaders who destroy their people instead of developing them (v. 1)
2. Leaders who scatter their people instead of uniting them in a cause (v. 1)
3. Leaders who abandon their people in fear instead of remaining responsible (v. 4)
4. Leaders who act in self-serving and unjust ways instead of standing for the truth (v. 10)
5. Leaders who lie, as though there were no God (v. 11)
6. Leaders who lead their people astray instead of guiding them into security (v. 13)
7. Leaders who foster evil and deceit instead of integrity and honesty (v. 14)
8. Leaders who fill people with false hope rather than speaking God’s Word (v. 16)

God didn’t merely threaten to remove bad leaders; he also promised to raise up a Righteous Branch from the line of David to replace these artificial leaders. Today we know that Righteous Branch has a beautiful name: Jesus Christ!

Vision: God-Given or Man-Made?

Jeremiah 23:13–40

How do we recognize a vision as God-given or as man-made? First, does it align with the Word of God, the nature of God, and the ways of God? Second, does it advance God’s kingdom, and not necessarily the leader’s? Third, does it bless other people? Finally, does the vision stand the test of time?

God Uses the Unrighteous Leader to Prune the Righteous

Jeremiah 27:1–8

While God never ordains false leaders, he may use wicked leaders—even self-appointed ones—to perform his purposes.

What an irony! God warns against false leaders and simultaneously uses an evil king (the Babylonian Nebuchadnezzar) to prune the people he calls his own. Jeremiah 27 helps us to see an important truth regarding how God carries out his will in history:

1. His Moral Will

God instructs us to lead with a heart of integrity. We must not lead without his approval. But it is our choice. We learn this lesson from the false prophets of Jeremiah's day.

2. His Sovereign Will

God may choose to use any leader to accomplish his purposes. It is God's choice. We learn this lesson from King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon.

Rewards: Leaders with Integrity Can Remain Optimistic

Jeremiah 29:11–14

Even in Israel's darkest hour, God assured the people of his plans to prosper them and give them a hopeful future. Just so, even when we don't see immediate results, we can remain assured of God's ultimate blessing and benefit. The fruit may not come immediately, but it will come ultimately.

God Punishes with Bad Leaders, Rewards with Good Ones

Jeremiah 30:10–22

Jeremiah declares that God's way of punishing his people is to give them bad leaders (Jer 30:10–11), while the Lord's way of rewarding them is to give them good leaders (30:21–22). Everything rises and falls on leadership. As the leader goes, so go the people. Why is this true?

1. Because leaders represent the people they oversee.
2. Because people reflect the leader they follow.
3. Because leaders are usually the most influential individuals among the people.
4. Because when God starts a movement, he uses one person to spearhead it.
5. Because people are like sheep and look to leaders for models.

Bad Leaders: Refuse to Heed Warnings

Jeremiah 36:1—40:16

History offers countless examples of leaders who failed because they refused to heed warnings. Just before the outbreak of World War II, British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain failed to heed warnings from several parties concerning the threat posed by Adolf Hitler. Instead, Chamberlain pursued a policy of “appeasement” and confidently announced “peace in our time.” He died a year after the Nazi invasion of Poland.

Two leaders described in the book of Jeremiah—King Jehoiakim of Judah and Gedaliah, governor of Judah—also failed to heed dire warnings, and it cost them dearly.

Jehoiakim received a scroll containing Jeremiah’s prophecies of destruction. But instead of heeding them, the king burned the scroll and called for the arrest of Jeremiah and his scribe (Jer 36:1–24). The result: divine judgment on him and his family.

Gedaliah, appointed governor of Judah by the Babylonian king, failed to heed a warning of his impending assassination. He learned of the plot, who was involved, and what could be done to prevent it. But instead of taking the advice offered him, he chose to ignore the threat—and an assassin soon took his life.

A good leader knows when to heed warnings and advice. God has given us his Word, his Spirit and one another to keep us on the right track. Wise leaders carefully consider the words of all three.

Responsibility: Like It or Not, the Buck Stops with the Leader

Jeremiah 38:1–6

Power abuse occurs not only when evil leaders act out of selfishness, but when good leaders neglect to do what they should. In this case, King Zedekiah delegated an undesirable task to someone else, declaring himself powerless to act. The king lacked the courage to use his power to protect God’s prophet.

Jeremiah, on the other hand, remained responsible to a call he didn’t like. He proclaimed destruction against his own people, naming Babylon as the executioner. Imagine that you were an evangelist standing in church today, declaring that God was raising up the communists to punish America. You declare that God cares nothing for the Declaration of Independence or the Constitution; in fact, the things we emphasize offend God. If you try to stop speaking this message, you feel disobedient. The word burns inside you and you must speak. So you pursue responsibility, not popularity.

Such was the man and the message of Jeremiah.

Gedaliah's Poor Decision-Making Skills Lead to Disaster

Jeremiah 40:5—41:2

The Babylonians appointed Gedaliah the governor of Judah and put him in charge of the poor who had not been taken into exile. But the man failed to develop good decision-making skills. In fact, he made one disastrous decision because he neglected to process available information. A man named Ishmael eventually assassinated him, preventing him from ever reaching his potential as a leader.

What could Gedaliah have done to better approach the decisions before him?

1. Maintain a vision of the big picture.
2. Gather all the information possible.
3. Listen to those closest to the situation.
4. Narrow the best options.
5. Imagine the outcome of each option.
6. Note the moral and spiritual ramifications to the decision.
7. Make choices based on the following criteria:
 - a. Which best reflects the mind of God?
 - b. Which benefits the whole of the people?
 - c. Which aligns itself with the mission you are to accomplish?

Jeremiah Makes a Tough Call

Jeremiah 42:1—43:13

Most leaders don't look forward to making tough calls. Jeremiah had to make a tough call when his people rejected God's solution to a dilemma. Jeremiah had to remind them of their disobedience and explain the consequences of their choice (Jer 42:19–22).

Many leaders fail because of an inability to make tough decisions. Consider some guidelines for making a tough call:

1. Accept tough calls as a requirement of leadership.
2. Do your homework. Research can make or break a decision.
3. Set a deadline.
4. Make sure the timing is right.
5. Seek counsel from the right people.
6. Make your decisions on the principles and values you believe in.
7. Develop systems that enable you to make the tough call.
8. Understand the emotional expense of making the tough call.
9. Recognize your part and God's part.
10. Pray for discernment and courage.

Communication: Jeremiah Uses Word Pictures

Jeremiah 43:8–13

Jeremiah led the people primarily through his word gifts. He expressed his leadership using gifts of prophecy, teaching and exhortation. Through wise use of these gifts, he became a master communicator.

His book features at least 12 metaphors, or word pictures, that he used to communicate God's message to God's people. Effective leaders find similar analogies and object lessons to make their point. Study and learn from Jeremiah, a master communicator.

Jeremiah's twelve object lessons:

1. The almond branch (1:11–12)
2. The boiling pot (1:13–19)
3. The ruined linen belt (13:1–11)
4. The wineskins (13:12–14)
5. The drought (14:1–9)
6. The partridge (17:9–11)
7. The potter and the clay (18:1–17)
8. The broken jar (19:1–13)
9. Two baskets of figs (24:1–10)
10. The crossbars and yokes (27:1–11)

Leadership Brings Temptations

Jeremiah 48:26–30

The nation of Moab dominated several others in her most powerful years, but God pronounced a severe judgment against her. Why? Moab's leaders, caught up in their own power, defied the Lord. Pride, conceit and arrogance began to drive her leaders.

The same danger often ruins leaders today. Several related temptations commonly lead to the destruction of contemporary leaders:

1. Pride: We enjoy thinking that we did it on our own.
2. Possessions: We pursue the perks that come with our visibility.
3. Popularity: We begin to believe our own press.
4. Power: We recognize our clout and use it to advance ourselves.

5. Prestige: We love the feeling of being important and irreplaceable.
6. Pleasure: We think we deserve special treatment not given to others.
7. People: We cross a line from serving others to pleasing people.

After enjoying leadership success, a sequence of events often follows:

1. Satisfaction: We enjoy the victory we have achieved.
2. Indulgence: We unconsciously feel we deserve a pleasurable reward.
3. Compromise: We rationalize our behavior.
4. Denial: We continue leading, not realizing our impure motives.
5. Adultery: We give ourselves to another, sexually, emotionally, or financially.
6. Obsession: We get trapped in a pattern that consumes us.

The Law of Connection: Leaders Must Achieve Reception, Not Rebellion

Jeremiah 52:1–11

God judged Zedekiah because he rebelled against the king of Babylon. Zedekiah forgot that even the leader works for someone. His rebellion led to the downfall of Jerusalem. Leaders must remember they are stewards of the people God has given them. A leader's rebellion leads to rebellion among the people.

Introduction to Lamentations

Reflecting the Heart of a Leader

The prophet Jeremiah wrote the passionate little book of Lamentations after the Babylonians captured and destroyed Jerusalem. It is a deeply personal work, displaying the raw emotions of the prophet in response to the brutalization of Judah. Although he had predicted his people's exile and rebuked them for their unrepentant hearts, he deeply felt their pain and hurt when foreigners killed many of them and forced most of the others into exile in a pagan land.

This book feels like the book of Psalms, full of emotion and reflecting the heart of a leader who desires the best for the people he once influenced. At the same time, it captures the mind of a leader who never waivers from his convictions, even when he must stand by them all alone. Midway through the book, Jeremiah reminds the people that repentance is all God requires and that he renews his mercies every morning (3:22–23).

Jeremiah is rightly called the “weeping prophet,” and Lamentations summarizes his cry for the people. We learn again that a leader cannot divorce himself or herself from the people he or she leads. Good leaders model both the heart and the behavior they want others to embrace. Someone once said, “Don’t get too far out in front of your people or they will mistake you for the enemy.” While standards must be upheld, the leader cannot hold those standards in some cold, distant fashion, unfeeling of the people’s heart.

Good leaders are more than entrepreneurs. Entrepreneurs can act alone, but leaders cannot. By definition, they have followers whom they always want to take with them. Jeremiah knew what was best for the people, but he did not force them to cooperate. He pled with them to obey, but they refused. As a result, he lamented their apathy and their wasted potential.

As you read this book, allow the emotions of this “weeping prophet” to penetrate your own heart. Do you care for the people you lead to this degree? Are you as concerned for the “one lost sheep” who fails to take the journey, as you are for the 99 who go? Do you really love the people you lead? Perhaps Jeremiah can mentor us.

God’s Role in Lamentations

God must play the disciplinarian in this book. He informed Jeremiah that unless the Jews repented, they would fall into captivity. God continued to remind Jeremiah of his divine standards and imperatives: repentance and obedience.

At the same time, God communicates his mercy and is seen as the Lord who weeps over the state of his people. How difficult it must be for God! He foreknows the decline of his people and how simple it would be for them to avoid disaster, yet he chooses to wait for their decision and repentance, like a parent who awaits a prodigal's return. This book is not merely about Jeremiah's lament, but God's as well.

Lessons in Leadership

- God must break leaders over a need before they can implement a vision for that need.
- In tough spots, the person who leads best maintains compassion for the followers.
- Even the most noble endeavors fail with immoral leadership.
- Good leaders provide justice, but never without mercy on those who repent.

Lamentations 1^a

¹How deserted lies the city, once so full of people!
How like a widow is she,
who once was great among the nations!
She who was queen among the provinces has now become a slave.

²Bitterly she weeps at night, tears are on her cheeks.

Among all her lovers
there is no one to comfort her.
All her friends have betrayed her;
they have become her enemies.

³After affliction and harsh labor, Judah has gone into exile.
She dwells among the nations;
she finds no resting place.
All who pursue her have overtaken her in the midst of her distress.

⁴The roads to Zion mourn, for no one comes to her appointed festivals.
All her gateways are desolate,
her priests groan,
her young women grieve,
and she is in bitter anguish.

⁵Her foes have become her masters; her enemies are at ease.
The LORD has brought her grief because of her many sins.
Her children have gone into exile,
captive before the foe.

⁶All the splendor has departed from Daughter Zion.

Her princes are like deer that find no pasture;

in weakness they have fled before the pursuer.

⁷In the days of her affliction and wandering Jerusalem remembers all the treasures that were hers in days of old.
When her people fell into enemy hands,
there was no one to help her.

Her enemies looked at her and laughed at her destruction. We Sustain God's Conquest When We Maintain Our Character

⁸Jerusalem has sinned greatly and so has become unclean.
All who honored her despise her,
for they have all seen her naked;

she herself groans and turns away.

⁹Her filthiness clung to her skirts; she did not consider her future.
Her fall was astounding;
there was none to comfort her.
“Look, LORD, on my affliction, for the enemy has triumphed.”

¹⁰The enemy laid hands on all her treasures;

she saw pagan nations enter her sanctuary—

those you had forbidden to enter your assembly.

¹¹“All her people groan as they search for bread;
they barter their treasures for food
to keep themselves alive.
“Look, LORD, and consider, for I am despised.”

¹²“Is it nothing to you, all you who pass by?
Look around and see.
Is any suffering like my suffering that was inflicted on me, that the LORD brought on me in the day of his fierce anger?

¹³“From on high he sent fire, sent it down into my bones.
He spread a net for my feet and turned me back.
He made me desolate,
faint all the day long.

¹⁴“My sins have been bound into a yoke^b; by his hands they were woven together.
They have been hung on my neck,
and the Lord has sapped my strength.
He has given me into the hands of those I cannot withstand.

¹⁵“The Lord has rejected all the warriors in my midst;
he has summoned an army against me
to^c crush my young men.
In his winepress the Lord has trampled Virgin Daughter Judah.

¹⁶“This is why I weep and my eyes overflow with tears.
No one is near to comfort me,
no one to restore my spirit.

My children are destitute because the enemy has prevailed.”

¹⁷Zion stretches out her hands, but there is no one to comfort her.
The LORD has decreed for Jacob that his neighbors become his foes;

Jerusalem has become an unclean thing among them.

¹⁸“The LORD is righteous, yet I rebelled against his command.
Listen, all you peoples;
look on my suffering.
My young men and young women have gone into exile.

¹⁹“I called to my allies but they betrayed me.

My priests and my elders perished in the city while they searched for food

to keep themselves alive.

²⁰“See, LORD, how distressed I am!
I am in torment within,
and in my heart I am disturbed,
for I have been most rebellious.
Outside, the sword bereaves;
inside, there is only death.

²¹“People have heard my groaning, but there is no one to comfort me.
All my enemies have heard of my distress;
they rejoice at what you have done.
May you bring the day you have announced
so they may become like me.

²²“Let all their wickedness come before you; deal with them as you have dealt with me because of all my sins.

My groans are many and my heart is faint.”

Lamentations 2^a

¹How the Lord has covered Daughter Zion with the cloud of his anger^b!
He has hurled down the splendor of Israel from heaven to earth;
he has not remembered his footstool
in the day of his anger.

²Without pity the Lord has swallowed up all the dwellings of Jacob;
in his wrath he has torn down
the strongholds of Daughter Judah.
He has brought her kingdom and its princes down to the ground in dishonor.

³In fierce anger he has cut off every horn^{c,d} of Israel.
He has withdrawn his right hand
at the approach of the enemy.
He has burned in Jacob like a flaming fire that consumes everything around it.

⁴Like an enemy he has strung his bow; his right hand is ready.
Like a foe he has slain
all who were pleasing to the eye;
he has poured out his wrath like fire on the tent of Daughter Zion.

⁵The Lord is like an enemy; he has swallowed up Israel.
He has swallowed up all her palaces and destroyed her strongholds.
He has multiplied mourning and lamentation for Daughter Judah.

⁶He has laid waste his dwelling like a garden; he has destroyed his place of meeting.
The LORD has made Zion forget her appointed festivals and her Sabbaths;
in his fierce anger he has spurned

both king and priest.

⁷The Lord has rejected his altar and abandoned his sanctuary.
He has given the walls of her palaces into the hands of the enemy;
they have raised a shout in the house of the LORD as on the day of an appointed festival.

⁸The LORD determined to tear down the wall around Daughter Zion.
He stretched out a measuring line and did not withhold his hand from destroying.
He made ramparts and walls lament;
together they wasted away.

⁹Her gates have sunk into the ground; their bars he has broken and destroyed.
Her king and her princes are exiled among the nations, the law is no more,
and her prophets no longer find visions from the LORD.

¹⁰The elders of Daughter Zion sit on the ground in silence;
they have sprinkled dust on their heads and put on sackcloth.

The young women of Jerusalem have bowed their heads to the ground.

¹¹My eyes fail from weeping, I am in torment within;
my heart is poured out on the ground because my people are destroyed, because children and infants faint

in the streets of the city.

¹²They say to their mothers, “Where is bread and wine?”
as they faint like the wounded
in the streets of the city,

as their lives ebb away
in their mothers' arms.

¹³What can I say for you?
With what can I compare you,
Daughter Jerusalem?
To what can I liken you,
that I may comfort you,
Virgin Daughter Zion?
Your wound is as deep as the sea.
Who can heal you?

¹⁴The visions of your prophets were false and worthless;
they did not expose your sin to ward off your captivity.

The prophecies they gave you were false and misleading.

¹⁵All who pass your way clap their hands at you;
they scoff and shake their heads
at Daughter Jerusalem: “Is this the city that was called the perfection of beauty,
the joy of the whole earth?”

¹⁶All your enemies open their mouths wide against you;
they scoff and gnash their teeth and say, “We have swallowed her up.
This is the day we have waited for;
we have lived to see it.”

¹⁷The LORD has done what he planned; he has fulfilled his word, which he decreed long ago.
He has overthrown you without pity,
he has let the enemy gloat over you,
he has exalted the horn^e of your foes.

¹⁸The hearts of the people cry out to the Lord.
You walls of Daughter Zion, let your tears flow like a river
day and night;
give yourself no relief,
your eyes no rest.

¹⁹Arise, cry out in the night, as the watches of the night begin;
pour out your heart like water in the presence of the Lord.
Lift up your hands to him for the lives of your children, who faint from hunger

at every street corner.

²⁰“Look, LORD, and consider: Whom have you ever treated like this?
Should women eat their offspring,
the children they have cared for?
Should priest and prophet be killed in the sanctuary of the Lord? Compassion for a Need Brings Commitment to a Vision

²¹“Young and old lie together in the dust of the streets;
my young men and young women
have fallen by the sword.
You have slain them in the day of your anger;
you have slaughtered them without pity.

²²“As you summon to a feast day, so you summoned against me terrors on every side.
In the day of the LORD’s anger no one escaped or survived;
those I cared for and reared my enemy has destroyed.”

Lamentations 3^a

¹I am the man who has seen affliction by the rod of the LORD's wrath.

PROFILE in Leadership: Jeremiah: Hope in the Midst of Calamity

²He has driven me away and made me walk in darkness rather than light;

³indeed, he has turned his hand against me again and again, all day long.

⁴He has made my skin and my flesh grow old and has broken my bones.

⁵He has besieged me and surrounded me with bitterness and hardship.

⁶He has made me dwell in darkness like those long dead.

⁷He has walled me in so I cannot escape; he has weighed me down with chains.

⁸Even when I call out or cry for help, he shuts out my prayer.

⁹He has barred my way with blocks of stone; he has made my paths crooked.

¹⁰Like a bear lying in wait, like a lion in hiding,

¹¹he dragged me from the path and mangled me and left me without help.

¹²He drew his bow and made me the target for his arrows.

¹³He pierced my heart with arrows from his quiver.

¹⁴I became the laughingstock of all my people; they mock me in song all day long.

¹⁵He has filled me with bitter herbs and given me gall to drink.

¹⁶He has broken my teeth with gravel; he has trampled me in the dust.

¹⁷I have been deprived of peace; I have forgotten what prosperity is.

¹⁸So I say, "My splendor is gone and all that I had hoped from the LORD."

¹⁹I remember my affliction and my wandering, the bitterness and the gall.

²⁰I well remember them, and my soul is downcast within me.

²¹Yet this I call to mind and therefore I have hope: God Is Ultimately in Control and Will

Mercifully Act for His People

- ²²Because of the LORD's great love we are not consumed, for his compassions never fail.
- ²³They are new every morning; great is your faithfulness.
- ²⁴I say to myself, "The LORD is my portion; therefore I will wait for him."
- ²⁵The LORD is good to those whose hope is in him, to the one who seeks
him;
- ²⁶it is good to wait quietly for the salvation of the LORD.
- ²⁷It is good for a man to bear the yoke while he is young.
- ²⁸Let him sit alone in silence, for the LORD has laid it on him.
- ²⁹Let him bury his face in the dust— there may yet be hope.
- ³⁰Let him offer his cheek to one who would strike him, and let him be filled with disgrace.
- ³¹For no one is cast off by the Lord forever.
- ³²Though he brings grief, he will show compassion, so great is his unfailing love.
- ³³For he does not willingly bring affliction or grief to anyone.
- ³⁴To crush underfoot all prisoners in the land,
- ³⁵to deny people their rights before the Most High,
- ³⁶to deprive them of justice— would not the Lord see such things?
- ³⁷Who can speak and have it happen if the Lord has not decreed it?
- ³⁸Is it not from the mouth of the Most High that both calamities and good things come?
- ³⁹Why should the living complain when punished for their sins?
- ⁴⁰Let us examine our ways and test them, and let us return to the LORD.
- ⁴¹Let us lift up our hearts and our hands to God in heaven, and say:
- ⁴²"We have sinned and rebelled and you have not forgiven.
- ⁴³"You have covered yourself with anger and pursued us; you have slain without pity.
- ⁴⁴You have covered yourself with a cloud so that no prayer can get through.

⁴⁵You have made us scum and refuse among the nations.

⁴⁶“All our enemies have opened their mouths wide against us.

⁴⁷We have suffered terror and pitfalls, ruin and destruction.”

⁴⁸Streams of tears flow from my eyes because my people are destroyed.

⁴⁹My eyes will flow unceasingly, without relief,

⁵⁰until the LORD looks down from heaven and sees.

⁵¹What I see brings grief to my soul because of all the women of my city.

⁵²Those who were my enemies without cause hunted me like a bird.

⁵³They tried to end my life in a pit and threw stones at me;

⁵⁴the waters closed over my head, and I thought I was about to perish.

⁵⁵I called on your name, LORD, from the depths of the pit.

⁵⁶You heard my plea: “Do not close your ears to my cry for relief.”

⁵⁷You came near when I called you, and you said, “Do not fear.”

⁵⁸You, Lord, took up my case; you redeemed my life.

⁵⁹LORD, you have seen the wrong done to me.

Uphold my cause!

⁶⁰You have seen the depth of their vengeance, all their plots against me.

⁶¹LORD, you have heard their insults, all their plots against me— ⁶²what my enemies whisper and mutter against me all day long.

⁶³Look at them! Sitting or standing, they mock me in their songs.

⁶⁴Pay them back what they deserve, LORD, for what their hands have done.

⁶⁵Put a veil over their hearts, and may your curse be on them!

⁶⁶Pursue them in anger and destroy them from under the heavens of the LORD.

Lamentations 4^a

¹How the gold has lost its luster, the fine gold become dull!

The sacred gems are scattered
at every street corner.

²How the precious children of Zion, once worth their weight in gold, are now considered as pots of clay,
the work of a potter's hands!

³Even jackals offer their breasts to nurse their young, but my people have become heartless like ostriches in the desert.

⁴Because of thirst the infant's tongue sticks to the roof of its mouth;
the children beg for bread,
but no one gives it to them.

⁵Those who once ate delicacies are destitute in the streets.
Those brought up in royal purple
now lie on ash heaps.

⁶The punishment of my people is greater than that of Sodom, which was overthrown in a moment without a hand turned to help her. The Principle of Rewards

⁷Their princes were brighter than snow and whiter than milk, their bodies more ruddy than rubies,
their appearance like lapis lazuli.

⁸But now they are blacker than soot; they are not recognized in the streets.
Their skin has shriveled on their bones;
it has become as dry as a stick.

⁹Those killed by the sword are better off than those who die of famine; racked with hunger, they waste away for lack of food from the field.

¹⁰With their own hands compassionate women have cooked their own children, who became their food

when my people were destroyed.

¹¹The LORD has given full vent to his wrath; he has poured out his fierce anger.
He kindled a fire in Zion that consumed her foundations.

¹²The kings of the earth did not believe, nor did any of the peoples of the world,
that enemies and foes could enter the gates of Jerusalem.

¹³But it happened because of the sins of her prophets and the iniquities of her priests, who shed within her

the blood of the righteous.

¹⁴Now they grope through the streets as if they were blind.
They are so defiled with blood that no one dares to touch their garments.

¹⁵“Go away! You are unclean!” people cry to them.
“Away! Away! Don’t touch us!”
When they flee and wander about,
people among the nations say,
“They can stay here no longer.”

¹⁶The LORD himself has scattered them; he no longer watches over them.
The priests are shown no honor,
the elders no favor.

¹⁷Moreover, our eyes failed, looking in vain for help;

from our towers we watched for a nation that could not save us.

¹⁸People stalked us at every step, so we could not walk in our streets.
Our end was near, our days were numbered,
for our end had come.

¹⁹Our pursuers were swifter than eagles in the sky;
they chased us over the mountains and lay in wait for us in the desert.

²⁰The LORD's anointed, our very life breath, was caught in their traps.
We thought that under his shadow
we would live among the nations.

²¹Rejoice and be glad, Daughter Edom, you who live in the land of Uz.
But to you also the cup will be passed;
you will be drunk and stripped naked.

²²Your punishment will end, Daughter Zion; he will not prolong your exile.
But he will punish your sin, Daughter Edom, and expose your wickedness.

Lamentations 5

- ¹Remember, LORD, what has happened to us; look, and see our disgrace.
²Our inheritance has been turned over to strangers, our homes to foreigners.
³We have become fatherless, our mothers are widows.
⁴We must buy the water we drink; our wood can be had only at a price.
⁵Those who pursue us are at our heels; we are weary and find no rest.
⁶We submitted to Egypt and Assyria to get enough bread.
⁷Our ancestors sinned and are no more, and we bear their punishment.
⁸Slaves rule over us, and there is no one to free us from their hands.
⁹We get our bread at the risk of our lives because of the sword in the desert.
¹⁰Our skin is hot as an oven, feverish from hunger.
¹¹Women have been violated in Zion, and virgins in the towns of Judah.
¹²Princes have been hung up by their hands; elders are shown no respect.
¹³Young men toil at the millstones; boys stagger under loads of wood.
¹⁴The elders are gone from the city gate; the young men have stopped their music. Successful Leaders Depend on God ¹⁵Joy is gone from our hearts; our dancing has turned to mourning.
¹⁶The crown has fallen from our head.
 Woe to us, for we have sinned!
¹⁷Because of this our hearts are faint, because of these things our eyes grow dim ¹⁸for Mount Zion, which lies desolate, with jackals prowling over it.

¹⁹You, LORD, reign forever; your throne endures from generation to generation.
²⁰Why do you always forget us?
 Why do you forsake us so long?
²¹Restore us to yourself, LORD, that we may return; renew our days as of old ²²unless you have utterly rejected us and are angry with us beyond measure.

We Sustain God's Conquest When We Maintain Our Character

Lamentations 1:7–8

God had given his people so many possessions. For centuries they had enjoyed conquest of the promised land. Now they lost everything—and all because they had sinned greatly.

Great conquests must be supported by great character. Whatever gains leaders make, they can lose in a heartbeat, unless they simultaneously develop the character to support those gains. Over the last 20 years we have watched many leaders fall morally. Generally speaking, their charisma (gifts) exceeded their character (moral infrastructure). The gift grew bigger than the person.

It has been said, “Nothing is so hard to gain, and so easy to lose, as a good reputation.” Leaders must recognize how fleeting is their fame or popularity. Instead, they must give themselves to constructing their character. Only then will they keep the gains God gives them through their leadership.

We usually recognize . . .

1. Talents and gifts.
2. The superb product.
3. Excellence in performance.
4. External appearances.

We should equally recognize . . .

1. Solid character and integrity.
2. The process that develops on the way.
3. Excellence in discipline.
4. Internal stability and obedience.

Compassion for a Need Brings Commitment to a Vision

Lamentations 2:20

Although for many years Jeremiah had predicted the captivity of his rebellious people, he weeps when his prophecy comes true. In Lamentations 2:20 he begs the Lord to stop the punishment. He asks for pity.

This dialogue between Jeremiah and God about the Hebrews offers a rare glimpse into the heart-shaping work God did in Jeremiah, the leader. While the prophet has a passion for righteousness and justice, at the same time he has compassion for the very people who so anger him. Like Moses, Jeremiah often displayed one face to the people—usually judgment and threats—but another to God in prayer. He begged Yahweh not to abandon his people. Compassion enabled Jeremiah to remain committed to the vision that one day God would restore his people.

This is what makes a godly leader great: clear and firm leadership, yet a compassionate heart as an intercessor. Reggie McNeal writes, “One mark of genuine spiritual greatness is compassion for one’s tormentors.”

Leaders must first feel burdened for the people’s needs; only then will they commit themselves to a vision of their deliverance. Jeremiah’s compassion kept him in the game when it would have been easier to walk away. He teaches us that while people may reject your messages and oppose your arguments, they remain helpless against your prayers.

PROFILE in Leadership

Jeremiah: Hope in the Midst of Calamity

Lamentations 3:1–66

As Jeremiah trudged through his ruined city, he smelled destruction everywhere. He knew the invading Babylonians had devastated Jerusalem because the people of Judah had forsaken their God. The Lord's people had brought this misery on themselves—yet his heart still broke.

For two whole chapters Jeremiah laments the calamity. He recognizes the chastening hand of God, for he says, “Is it not from the mouth of the Most High that both calamities and good things come?” (La 3:38). Right in the middle of his dirge he pauses to express one of the most hopeful pronouncements in the Old Testament: “Because of the LORD's great love we are not consumed, for his compassions never fail. They are new every morning; great is your faithfulness” (3:22–23).

In the midst of the carnage, in the midst of his own wailing, the prophet finds hope in knowing that God still reigns. He knows that restoration and repentance can occur. God's anger will not burn against his people forever. And so Jeremiah can continue. Oh, there will still be tears—the last two chapters of Lamentations again play the mournful sounds of a funeral march. Yet because God lives, hope lives!

Effective leaders bank on hope, even in the face of God's judgment. They know that, for those who call on the name of the Lord Jesus Christ, restoration and redemption can indeed follow destruction.

God Is Ultimately in Control and Will Mercifully Act for His People

Lamentations 3:21–36

Jeremiah the leader wisely remains fixed on a vision of God's sovereignty: God is more powerful than the Babylonians. He focuses on God's nature: God is full of mercy and compassion. He dwells on his vision of God's plans: God will deliver his people and give them a hopeful future.

The Principle of Rewards

Lamentations 4:6–8

You might call it the principle of rewards: What gets rewarded gets done. Good leaders recognize how to attach both rewards and consequences to team members' performance. Any system of rewards should prioritize the most important conduct, then reward it publicly. In addition, the system ought to prioritize the non-negotiable negatives, because they damage the team. A price should be attached to these, as well.

Jeremiah gives us a snapshot of how God did this with his people. He says the consequences for their sin exceeded that of Sodom, for while that ancient city vanished in a moment, Judah's punishment dragged on and on.

How do we communicate rewards to our people? To what do we pay attention? Do our people know what is important? When team members don't produce the results the leader desires, usually just a few reasons explain why:

1. They are not sure what to do.
2. They don't know what to do first.
3. They don't know how to do it.
4. The reward system does not align with the group goals.
5. The leader presents unnecessary obstacles.

Successful Leaders Depend on God

Lamentations 5:14–19

Successful leaders depend not on their own wit and wisdom, but on God. Jeremiah confesses both the sin of the people and that God reigns forever and will ultimately restore what has been lost. Leaders act according to their gifts and calling, but trust God to bring about the desired results.

Introduction to Ezekiel

A Leader with Backbone and Conviction

God raised up Ezekiel to serve as a prophet during a most difficult time in Israel's history. He provides a tremendous illustration of a leader with backbone and conviction.

From the beginning, God warned Ezekiel that he would speak to a stubborn group. He faced opposition at almost every turn—a level of opposition that might cause many leaders to reevaluate their position and move on. Ezekiel chose to remain and stay true to his convictions. Appropriately enough, the name of this strong prophet means “God strengthens.”

Ezekiel demonstrates for us three leadership skills. First, a leader can lead off of vision, even in tough times. Second, a leader can stay true to core values, even in tough times. Third, a leader can compel people to grapple even with hard truth.

Ezekiel clearly led out of vision. God consistently provided him with unusual visions that drove him to speak in unusual ways. From hands and scrolls descending from heaven, to four abominations committed in the temple, to vines, eagles, lions, dry bones, and fires, Ezekiel trafficked in strange but memorable pictures. These pictures often arrived with a divine interpretation and instructions on how he was to communicate God's Word to the people. Ezekiel closely followed the leadership axiom on vision: See it clearly, show it creatively, and say it constantly.

Ezekiel managed to stay true to his convictions and core values despite the people's response. God said from the beginning: “And whether they listen or fail to listen—for they are a rebellious people—they will know that a prophet has been among them. And you, son of man, do not be afraid of them or their words . . . or be terrified by them, though they are a rebellious people. You must speak my words to them, whether they listen or fail to listen, for they are rebellious. But you, son of man, listen to what I say to you. Do not rebel like that rebellious people; open your mouth and eat what I give you” (2:5–8).

Ezekiel compelled the people to hear him and wrestle with the pressing issues. He was an extremely creative communicator, often using visual aids or dramatically acting out his message. He quickly obeyed the Lord's instructions, even when many of the symbolic actions God called him to enact looked difficult or embarrassing. His dynamic ministry won the respect, attention and admiration of Judah's elders. But while they listened to him, they refused to act on what he said. This disappointed Ezekiel, for no one took greater pains to cast a vision to his own generation than he did.

God's Role in Ezekiel

God described Ezekiel as a watchman. He called the prophet to warn the Jews of impending danger if they did not repent. Like a watchman who sees an invading army en route, he admonishes the people to get ready or be destroyed. God describes himself to Ezekiel as the One who supplies the right words. God is the Director of this great drama that Ezekiel acts out. He is the Writer of the script Ezekiel is to read to the people. And he is the Author who closes the curtain when the play ends—a finale in the form of the invading Babylonian army—when it's too late for the people to discover the play is no mere act.

Lessons in Leadership

- One leader with courage is a majority.
- Effective leaders communicate creatively and unforgettably.
- Leaders are stewards of the people and of the resources they oversee.
- We must lead ourselves before we lead anyone else.
- A leader stands between God's goals and the people's problems.
- Often, a leader takes his or her first step alone.

Ezekiel 1

Ezekiel's Inaugural Vision

¹In my thirtieth year, in the fourth month on the fifth day, while I was among the exiles by the Kebar River, the heavens were opened and I saw visions of God.

Communicating Vision

²On the fifth of the month—it was the fifth year of the exile of King Jehoiachin—³the word of the LORD came to Ezekiel the priest, the son of Buzi, by the Kebar River in the land of the Babylonians.^a There the hand of the LORD was on him.

⁴I looked, and I saw a windstorm coming out of the north—an immense cloud with flashing lightning and surrounded by brilliant light. The center of the fire looked like glowing metal, ⁵and in the fire was what looked like four living creatures. In appearance their form was human, ⁶but each of them had four faces and four wings. ⁷Their legs were straight; their feet were like those of a calf and gleamed like burnished bronze. ⁸Under their wings on their four sides they had human hands. All four of them had faces and wings, ⁹and the wings of one touched the wings of another. Each one went straight ahead; they did not turn as they moved. Vision: You Can Seize Only What You Can See

¹⁰Their faces looked like this: Each of the four had the face of a human being, and on the right side each had the face of a lion, and on the left the face of an ox; each also had the face of an eagle. ¹¹Such were their faces. They each had two wings spreading out upward, each wing touching that of the creature on either side; and each had two other wings covering its body. ¹²Each one went straight ahead. Wherever the spirit would go, they would go, without turning as they went. ¹³The appearance of the living creatures was like burning coals of fire or like torches. Fire moved back and forth among the creatures; it was bright, and lightning flashed out of it. ¹⁴The creatures sped back and forth like flashes of lightning.

¹⁵As I looked at the living creatures, I saw a wheel on the ground beside each creature with its four faces. ¹⁶This was the appearance and structure of the wheels: They sparkled like topaz, and all four looked alike. Each appeared to be made like a wheel intersecting a wheel. ¹⁷As they moved, they would go in any one of the four directions the creatures faced; the wheels did not change direction as the creatures went. ¹⁸Their rims were high and awesome, and all four rims were full of eyes all around.

¹⁹When the living creatures moved, the wheels beside them moved; and when the living creatures rose from the ground, the wheels also rose. ²⁰Wherever the spirit would go, they would go, and the wheels would rise along with them, because the spirit of the living creatures was in the wheels. ²¹When the creatures moved, they also moved; when the creatures stood still, they also stood still; and when the creatures rose from the ground, the wheels rose along with them, because the spirit of the living creatures was in the wheels.

²⁵Then there came a voice from above the vault over their heads as they stood with lowered wings. ²⁶Above the vault over their heads was what looked like a throne of lapis lazuli, and high above on the throne was a figure like that of a man. ²⁷I saw that from what appeared to be his waist up he looked like glowing metal, as if full of fire, and that from there down he looked like fire; and brilliant light surrounded him. ²⁸Like the appearance of a rainbow in the clouds on a rainy day, so was the radiance around him.

This was the appearance of the likeness of the glory of the LORD. When I saw it, I fell facedown, and I heard the voice of one speaking.

Ezekiel 2

Ezekiel's Call to Be a Prophet

¹He said to me, “Son of man,^a stand up on your feet and I will speak to you.” ²As he spoke, the Spirit came into me and raised me to my feet, and I heard him speaking to me. The Necessity of a Call in Tough Times

³He said: “Son of man, I am sending you to the Israelites, to a rebellious nation that has rebelled against me; they and their ancestors have been in revolt against me to this very day. ⁴The people to whom I am sending you are obstinate and stubborn. Say to them, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says.’ ⁵And whether they listen or fail to listen—for they are a rebellious people—they will know that a prophet has been among them. ⁶And you, son of man, do not be afraid of them or their words. Do not be afraid, though briars and thorns are all around you and you live among scorpions. Do not be afraid of what they say or be terrified by them, though they are a rebellious people. ⁷You must speak my words to them, whether they listen or fail to listen, for they are rebellious. ⁸But you, son of man, listen to what I say to you. Do not rebel like that rebellious people; open your mouth and eat what I give you.”

⁹Then I looked, and I saw a hand stretched out to me. In it was a scroll, ¹⁰which he unrolled before me. On both sides of it were written words of lament and mourning and woe.

Ezekiel 3

¹And he said to me, “Son of man, eat what is before you, eat this scroll; then go and speak to the people of Israel.” ²So I opened my mouth, and he gave me the scroll to eat.

³Then he said to me, “Son of man, eat this scroll I am giving you and fill your stomach with it.” So I ate it, and it tasted as sweet as honey in my mouth.

⁴He then said to me: “Son of man, go now to the people of Israel and speak my words to them. ⁵You are not being sent to a people of obscure speech and strange language, but to the people of Israel— ⁶not to many peoples of obscure speech and strange language, whose words you cannot understand. Surely if I had sent you to them, they would have listened to you. ⁷But the people of Israel are not willing to listen to you because they are not willing to listen to me, for all the Israelites are hardened and obstinate. ⁸But I will make you as unyielding and hardened as they are. ⁹I will make your forehead like the hardest stone, harder than flint. Do not be afraid of them or terrified by them, though they are a rebellious people.” Adaptability: Effective Leaders Adapt to Changing Needs

¹⁰And he said to me, “Son of man, listen carefully and take to heart all the words I speak to you. ¹¹Go now to your people in exile and speak to them. Say to them, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says,’ whether they listen or fail to listen.”

¹²Then the Spirit lifted me up, and I heard behind me a loud rumbling sound as the glory of the LORD rose from the place where it was standing.^a ¹³It was the sound of the wings of the living creatures brushing against each other and the sound of the wheels beside them, a loud rumbling sound. ¹⁴The Spirit then lifted me up and took me away, and I went in bitterness and in the anger of my spirit, with the strong hand of the LORD on me. ¹⁵I came to the exiles who lived at Tel Aviv near the Kebar River. And there, where they were living, I sat among them for seven days—deeply distressed.

Ezekiel’s Task as Watchman

¹⁶At the end of seven days the word of the LORD came to me: ¹⁷“Son of man, I have made you a watchman for the people of Israel; so hear the word I speak and give them warning from me. ¹⁸When I say to a wicked person, ‘You will surely die,’ and you do not warn them or speak out to dissuade them from their evil ways in order to save their life, that wicked person will die for^b their sin, and I will hold you accountable for their blood. ¹⁹But if you do warn the wicked person and they do not turn from their wickedness or from their evil ways, they will die for their sin; but you will have saved yourself.

²⁰“Again, when a righteous person turns from their righteousness and does evil, and I put a stumbling block before them, they will die. Since you did not warn them, they will die for their sin. The righteous things that person did will not be remembered, and I will hold you accountable for their blood. ²¹But if you do warn the righteous person not to sin and they do not sin, they will surely live because they took warning, and you will have saved yourself.”

²²The hand of the LORD was on me there, and he said to me, “Get up and go out to the plain, and there I will speak to you.” ²³So I got up and went out to the plain. And the glory of the LORD was standing there, like the glory I had seen by the Kebar River, and I fell facedown.

²⁴Then the Spirit came into me and raised me to my feet. He spoke to me and said: “Go, shut yourself inside your house. ²⁵And you, son of man, they will tie with ropes; you will be bound so that you cannot go out among the people. ²⁶I will make your tongue stick to the roof of your mouth so that you will be silent and unable to rebuke them, for they are a rebellious people. ²⁷But when I speak to you, I will open your mouth and you shall say to them, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says.’ Whoever will listen let them listen, and whoever will refuse let them refuse; for they are a rebellious people.

Ezekiel 4

Siege of Jerusalem Symbolized

⁴“Then lie on your left side and put the sin of the people of Israel upon yourself.^a You are to bear their sin for the number of days you lie on your side. ⁵I have assigned you the same number of days as the years of their sin. So for 390 days you will bear the sin of the people of Israel.

⁶“After you have finished this, lie down again, this time on your right side, and bear the sin of the people of Judah. I have assigned you 40 days, a day for each year. ⁷Turn your face toward the siege of Jerusalem and with bared arm prophesy against her. ⁸I will tie you up with ropes so that you cannot turn from one side to the other until you have finished the days of your siege.

⁹“Take wheat and barley, beans and lentils, millet and spelt; put them in a storage jar and use them to make bread for yourself. You are to eat it during the 390 days you lie on your side. ¹⁰Weigh out twenty shekels^b of food to eat each day and eat it at set times. ¹¹Also measure out a sixth of a hin^c of water and drink it at set times. ¹²Eat the food as you would a loaf of barley bread; bake it in the sight of the people, using human excrement for fuel.” ¹³The LORD said, “In this way the people of Israel will eat defiled food among the nations where I will drive them.”

¹⁴Then I said, “Not so, Sovereign LORD! I have never defiled myself. From my youth until now I have never eaten anything found dead or torn by wild animals. No impure meat has ever entered my mouth.”

¹⁵“Very well,” he said, “I will let you bake your bread over cow dung instead of human excrement.”

¹⁶He then said to me: “Son of man, I am about to cut off the food supply in Jerusalem. The people will eat rationed food in anxiety and drink rationed water in despair, ¹⁷for food and water will be scarce. They will be appalled at the sight of each other and will waste away because of^d their sin.

Ezekiel 5

God's Razor of Judgment

¹“Now, son of man, take a sharp sword and use it as a barber's razor to shave your head and your beard. Then take a set of scales and divide up the hair. ²When the days of your siege come to an end, burn a third of the hair inside the city. Take a third and strike it with the sword all around the city. And scatter a third to the wind. For I will pursue them with drawn sword. ³But take a few hairs and tuck them away in the folds of your garment. ⁴Again, take a few of these and throw them into the fire and burn them up. A fire will spread from there to all Israel.

⁵“This is what the Sovereign LORD says: This is Jerusalem, which I have set in the center of the nations, with countries all around her. ⁶Yet in her wickedness she has rebelled against my laws and decrees more than the nations and countries around her. She has rejected my laws and has not followed my decrees.

⁷“Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: You have been more unruly than the nations around you and have not followed my decrees or kept my laws. You have not even^a conformed to the standards of the nations around you.

⁸“Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I myself am against you, Jerusalem, and I will inflict punishment on you in the sight of the nations. ⁹Because of all your detestable idols, I will do to you what I have never done before and will never do again. ¹⁰Therefore in your midst parents will eat their children, and children will eat their parents. I will inflict punishment on you and will scatter all your survivors to the winds. ¹¹Therefore as surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, because you have defiled my sanctuary with all your vile images and detestable practices, I myself will shave you; I will not look on you with pity or spare you. ¹²A third of your people will die of the plague or perish by famine inside you; a third will fall by the sword outside your walls; and a third I will scatter to the winds and pursue with drawn sword.

¹³“Then my anger will cease and my wrath against them will subside, and I will be avenged. And when I have spent my wrath on them, they will know that I the LORD have spoken in my zeal.

¹⁴“I will make you a ruin and a reproach among the nations around you, in the sight of all who pass by. ¹⁵You will be a reproach and a taunt, a warning and an object of horror to the nations around you when I inflict punishment on you in anger and in wrath and with stinging rebuke. I the LORD have spoken. ¹⁶When I shoot at you with my deadly and destructive arrows of famine, I will shoot to destroy you. I will bring more and more famine upon you and cut off your supply of food. ¹⁷I will send famine and wild beasts against you, and they will leave you childless. Plague and bloodshed will sweep through you, and I will bring the sword against you. I the LORD have spoken.”

Ezekiel 6

Doom for the Mountains of Israel

¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, set your face against the mountains of Israel; prophesy against them ³and say: ‘You mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Sovereign LORD. This is what the Sovereign LORD says to the mountains and hills, to the ravines and valleys: I am about to bring a sword against you, and I will destroy your high places. ⁴Your altars will be demolished and your incense altars will be smashed; and I will slay your people in front of your idols. ⁵I will lay the dead bodies of the Israelites in front of their idols, and I will scatter your bones around your altars. ⁶Wherever you live, the towns will be laid waste and the high places demolished, so that your altars will be laid waste and devastated, your idols smashed and ruined, your incense altars broken down, and what you have made wiped out. ⁷Your people will fall slain among you, and you will know that I am the LORD. PROFILE in Leadership: Ezekiel: Zealous for the Name of the Lord

⁸“ ‘But I will spare some, for some of you will escape the sword when you are scattered among the lands and nations. ⁹Then in the nations where they have been carried captive, those who escape will remember me—how I have been grieved by their adulterous hearts, which have turned away from me, and by their eyes, which have lusted after their idols. They will loathe themselves for the evil they have done and for all their detestable practices. ¹⁰And they will know that I am the LORD; I did not threaten in vain to bring this calamity on them.

¹¹“ ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Strike your hands together and stamp your feet and cry out “Alas!” because of all the wicked and detestable practices of the people of Israel, for they will fall by the sword, famine and plague. ¹²One who is far away will die of the plague, and one who is near will fall by the sword, and anyone who survives and is spared will die of famine. So will I pour out my wrath on them. ¹³And they will know that I am the LORD, when their people lie slain among their idols around their altars, on every high hill and on all the mountaintops, under every spreading tree and every leafy oak—places where they offered fragrant incense to all their idols. ¹⁴And I will stretch out my hand against them and make the land a desolate waste from the desert to Diblah^a—wherever they live. Then they will know that I am the

Ezekiel 7

The End Has Come

¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, this is what the Sovereign LORD says to the land of Israel:

“ ‘The end! The end has come upon the four corners of the land!

³The end is now upon you,
and I will unleash my anger against you.
I will judge you according to your conduct
and repay you for all your detestable practices.

⁴I will not look on you with pity;
I will not spare you.
I will surely repay you for your conduct and for the detestable practices among you.

“ ‘Then you will know that I am the LORD.’

⁵“This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“ ‘Disaster! Unheard-of^a disaster!
See, it comes!

⁶The end has come!
The end has come!
It has roused itself against you.
See, it comes!

⁷Doom has come upon you,
upon you who dwell in the land.
The time has come! The day is near!
There is panic, not joy, on the mountains.

⁸I am about to pour out my wrath on you and spend my anger against you.
I will judge you according to your conduct
and repay you for all your detestable practices.

⁹I will not look on you with pity;
I will not spare you.
I will repay you for your conduct and for the detestable practices among you.

“ ‘Then you will know that it is I the LORD who strikes you.

¹⁰“ ‘See, the day!

See, it comes!

Doom has burst forth,
the rod has budded,
arrogance has blossomed!

¹¹Violence has arisen,^b a rod to punish the wicked.

None of the people will be left,
none of that crowd—
none of their wealth,
nothing of value.

¹²The time has come!

The day has arrived!

Let not the buyer rejoice
nor the seller grieve,
for my wrath is on the whole crowd.

¹³The seller will not recover the property that was sold—as long as both buyer and seller live.
For the vision concerning the whole crowd will not be reversed.
Because of their sins, not one of them will preserve their life.

¹⁴“ ‘They have blown the trumpet, they have made all things ready,
but no one will go into battle,
for my wrath is on the whole crowd.

¹⁵Outside is the sword;
inside are plague and famine.

Those in the country will die by the sword;

those in the city
will be devoured by famine and plague.

¹⁶The fugitives who escape will flee to the mountains.

Like doves of the valleys,
they will all moan,
each for their own sins.

¹⁷Every hand will go limp;
every leg will be wet with urine.

¹⁸They will put on sackcloth and be clothed with terror.
Every face will be covered with shame,
and every head will be shaved.

¹⁹“ ‘They will throw their silver into the streets, and their gold will be treated as a thing unclean.

Their silver and gold will not be able to deliver them in the day of the LORD's wrath.

It will not satisfy their hunger or fill their stomachs,
for it has caused them to stumble into sin.

²⁰They took pride in their beautiful jewelry and used it to make their detestable idols.
They made it into vile images;
therefore I will make it a thing unclean for them.

²¹I will give their wealth as plunder to foreigners and as loot to the wicked of the earth, who will defile it.

²²I will turn my face away from the people, and robbers will desecrate the place I treasure.

They will enter it
and will defile it.

²³“ ‘Prepare chains!

For the land is full of bloodshed,
and the city is full of violence.

²⁴I will bring the most wicked of nations to take possession of their houses.

I will put an end to the pride of the mighty,
and their sanctuaries will be desecrated.

²⁵When terror comes,
they will seek peace in vain.

²⁶Calamity upon calamity will come,
and rumor upon rumor.

They will go searching for a vision from the prophet, priestly instruction in the law will cease,
the counsel of the elders will come to an end.

²⁷The king will mourn,
the prince will be clothed with despair,
and the hands of the people of the land will tremble.
I will deal with them according to their conduct, and by their own standards I will judge them.

“ ‘Then they will know that I am the LORD.’ ”

Ezekiel 8

Idolatry in the Temple

¹In the sixth year, in the sixth month on the fifth day, while I was sitting in my house and the elders of Judah were sitting before me, the hand of the Sovereign LORD came on me there. ²I looked, and I saw a figure like that of a man.^a From what appeared to be his waist down he was like fire, and from there up his appearance was as bright as glowing metal. ³He stretched out what looked like a hand and took me by the hair of my head. The Spirit lifted me up between earth and heaven and in visions of God he took me to Jerusalem, to the entrance of the north gate of the inner court, where the idol that provokes to jealousy stood. ⁴And there before me was the glory of the God of Israel, as in the vision I had seen in the plain.

⁵Then he said to me, “Son of man, look toward the north.” So I looked, and in the entrance north of the gate of the altar I saw this idol of jealousy.

⁶And he said to me, “Son of man, do you see what they are doing—the utterly detestable things the Israelites are doing here, things that will drive me far from my sanctuary? But you will see things that are even more detestable.”

⁷Then he brought me to the entrance to the court. I looked, and I saw a hole in the wall. ⁸He said to me, “Son of man, now dig into the wall.” So I dug into the wall and saw a doorway there.

⁹And he said to me, “Go in and see the wicked and detestable things they are doing here.” ¹⁰So I went in and looked, and I saw portrayed all over the walls all kinds of crawling things and unclean animals and all the idols of Israel. ¹¹In front of them stood seventy elders of Israel, and Jaazaniah son of Shaphan was standing among them. Each had a censer in his hand, and a fragrant cloud of incense was rising.

¹²He said to me, “Son of man, have you seen what the elders of Israel are doing in the darkness, each at the shrine of his own idol? They say, ‘The LORD does not see us; the LORD has forsaken the land.’ ” ¹³Again, he said, “You will see them doing things that are even more detestable.”

The Law of Solid Ground: Leaders Pay for Conduct No One Sees

¹⁴Then he brought me to the entrance of the north gate of the house of the LORD, and I saw women sitting there, mourning the god Tammuz. ¹⁵He said to me, “Do you see this, son of man? You will see things that are even more detestable than this.”

¹⁶He then brought me into the inner court of the house of the LORD, and there at the entrance to the temple, between the portico and the altar, were about twenty-five men. With their backs toward the temple of the LORD and their faces toward the east, they were bowing down to the sun in the east.

¹⁷He said to me, “Have you seen this, son of man? Is it a trivial matter for the people of Judah to do the detestable things they are doing here? Must they also fill the land with violence and continually arouse my anger? Look at them putting the branch to their nose! ¹⁸Therefore I will deal with them in anger; I will not look on them with pity or spare them. Although they shout in my ears, I will not listen to them.”

Ezekiel 9

Judgment on the Idolaters

¹Then I heard him call out in a loud voice, “Bring near those who are appointed to execute judgment on the city, each with a weapon in his hand.” ²And I saw six men coming from the direction of the upper gate, which faces north, each with a deadly weapon in his hand. With them was a man clothed in linen who had a writing kit at his side. They came in and stood beside the bronze altar.

³Now the glory of the God of Israel went up from above the cherubim, where it had been, and moved to the threshold of the temple. Then the LORD called to the man clothed in linen who had the writing kit at his side ⁴and said to him, “Go throughout the city of Jerusalem and put a mark on the foreheads of those who grieve and lament over all the detestable things that are done in it.”

⁵As I listened, he said to the others, “Follow him through the city and kill, without showing pity or compassion. ⁶Slaughter the old men, the young men and women, the mothers and children, but do not touch anyone who has the mark. Begin at my sanctuary.” So they began with the old men who were in front of the temple.

⁷Then he said to them, “Defile the temple and fill the courts with the slain. Go!” So they went out and began killing throughout the city. ⁸While they were killing and I was left alone, I fell facedown, crying out, “Alas, Sovereign LORD! Are you going to destroy the entire remnant of Israel in this outpouring of your wrath on Jerusalem?”

⁹He answered me, “The sin of the people of Israel and Judah is exceedingly great; the land is full of bloodshed and the city is full of injustice. They say, ‘The LORD has forsaken the land; the LORD does not see.’ ¹⁰So I will not look on them with pity or spare them, but I will bring down on their own heads what they have done.”

¹¹Then the man in linen with the writing kit at his side brought back word, saying, “I have done as you commanded.”

Ezekiel 10

God's Glory Departs From the Temple

¹I looked, and I saw the likeness of a throne of lapis lazuli above the vault that was over the heads of the cherubim. ²The LORD said to the man clothed in linen, "Go in among the wheels beneath the cherubim. Fill your hands with burning coals from among the cherubim and scatter them over the city." And as I watched, he went in.

³Now the cherubim were standing on the south side of the temple when the man went in, and a cloud filled the inner court. ⁴Then the glory of the LORD rose from above the cherubim and moved to the threshold of the temple. The cloud filled the temple, and the court was full of the radiance of the glory of the LORD. ⁵The sound of the wings of the cherubim could be heard as far away as the outer court, like the voice of God Almighty^a when he speaks.

⁶When the LORD commanded the man in linen, "Take fire from among the wheels, from among the cherubim," the man went in and stood beside a wheel. ⁷Then one of the cherubim reached out his hand to the fire that was among them. He took up some of it and put it into the hands of the man in linen, who took it and went out. ⁸(Under the wings of the cherubim could be seen what looked like human hands.) ⁹I looked, and I saw beside the cherubim four wheels, one beside each of the cherubim; the wheels sparkled like topaz. ¹⁰As for their appearance, the four of them looked alike; each was like a wheel intersecting a wheel. ¹¹As they moved, they would go in any one of the four directions the cherubim faced; the wheels did not turn about^b as the cherubim went. The cherubim went in whatever direction the head faced, without turning as they went. ¹²Their entire bodies, including their backs, their hands and their wings, were completely full of eyes, as were their four wheels. ¹³I heard the wheels being called "the whirling wheels." ¹⁴Each of the cherubim had four faces: One face was that of a cherub, the second the face of a human being, the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an eagle.

¹⁵Then the cherubim rose upward. These were the living creatures I had seen by the Kebar River. ¹⁶When the cherubim moved, the wheels beside them moved; and when the cherubim spread their wings to rise from the ground, the wheels did not leave their side. ¹⁷When the cherubim stood still, they also stood still; and when the cherubim rose, they rose with them, because the spirit of the living creatures was in them.

¹⁸Then the glory of the LORD departed from over the threshold of the temple and stopped above the cherubim. ¹⁹While I watched, the cherubim spread their wings and rose from the ground, and as they went, the wheels went with them. They stopped at the entrance of the east gate of the LORD's house, and the glory of the God of Israel was above them.

²⁰These were the living creatures I had seen beneath the God of Israel by the Kebar River, and I realized that they were cherubim. ²¹Each had four faces and four wings, and under their wings was what looked like human hands. ²²Their faces had the same appearance as those I had seen by the Kebar River. Each one went straight ahead.

Ezekiel 11

God's Sure Judgment on Jerusalem

¹Then the Spirit lifted me up and brought me to the gate of the house of the LORD that faces east. There at the entrance of the gate were twenty-five men, and I saw among them Jaazaniah son of Azzur and Pelatiah son of Benaiah, leaders of the people. ²The LORD said to me, "Son of man, these are the men who are plotting evil and giving wicked advice in this city. ³They say, 'Haven't our houses been recently rebuilt? This city is a pot, and we are the meat in it.' ⁴Therefore prophesy against them; prophesy, son of man." God Looks at the Leader's Heart

⁵Then the Spirit of the LORD came on me, and he told me to say: "This is what the LORD says: That is what you are saying, you leaders in Israel, but I know what is going through your mind. ⁶You have killed many people in this city and filled its streets with the dead.

⁷"Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: The bodies you have thrown there are the meat and this city is the pot, but I will drive you out of it. ⁸You fear the sword, and the sword is what I will bring against you, declares the Sovereign LORD. ⁹I will drive you out of the city and deliver you into the hands of foreigners and inflict punishment on you. ¹⁰You will fall by the sword, and I will execute judgment on you at the borders of Israel. Then you will know that I am the LORD. ¹¹This city will not be a pot for you, nor will you be the meat in it; I will execute judgment on you at the borders of Israel. ¹²And you will know that I am the LORD, for you have not followed my decrees or kept my laws but have conformed to the standards of the nations around you."

¹³Now as I was prophesying, Pelatiah son of Benaiah died. Then I fell facedown and cried out in a loud voice, "Alas, Sovereign LORD! Will you completely destroy the remnant of Israel?"

The Promise of Israel's Return

¹⁴The word of the LORD came to me: ¹⁵"Son of man, the people of Jerusalem have said of your fellow exiles and all the other Israelites, 'They are far away from the LORD; this land was given to us as our possession.'

¹⁶"Therefore say: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Although I sent them far away among the nations and scattered them among the countries, yet for a little while I have been a sanctuary for them in the countries where they have gone.’

¹⁷“Therefore say: ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will gather you from the nations and bring you back from the countries where you have been scattered, and I will give you back the land of Israel again.’

¹⁸“They will return to it and remove all its vile images and detestable idols. ¹⁹I will give them an undivided heart and put a new spirit in them; I will remove from them their heart of stone and give them a heart of flesh. ²⁰Then they will follow my decrees and be careful to keep my laws. They will be my people, and I will be their God. ²¹But as for those whose hearts are devoted to their vile images and detestable idols, I will bring down on their own heads what they have done, declares the Sovereign LORD.”

²²Then the cherubim, with the wheels beside them, spread their wings, and the glory of the God of Israel was above them. ²³The glory of the LORD went up from within the city and stopped above the mountain east of it. ²⁴The Spirit lifted me up and brought me to the exiles in Babylonia^a in the vision given by the Spirit of God.

Then the vision I had seen went up from me, ²⁵and I told the exiles everything the LORD had shown me.

Ezekiel 12

The Exile Symbolized

¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, you are living among a rebellious people. They have eyes to see but do not see and ears to hear but do not hear, for they are a rebellious people. Vision: A Revelation Without Action Fades

⁷So I did as I was commanded. During the day I brought out my things packed for exile. Then in the evening I dug through the wall with my hands. I took my belongings out at dusk, carrying them on my shoulders while they watched.

⁸In the morning the word of the LORD came to me: ⁹“Son of man, did not the Israelites, that rebellious people, ask you, ‘What are you doing?’

¹⁰“Say to them, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: This prophecy concerns the prince in Jerusalem and all the Israelites who are there.’ ¹¹Say to them, ‘I am a sign to you.’

“As I have done, so it will be done to them. They will go into exile as captives.

¹²“The prince among them will put his things on his shoulder at dusk and leave, and a hole will be dug in the wall for him to go through. He will cover his face so that he cannot see the land. ¹³I will spread my net for him, and he will be caught in my snare; I will bring him to Babylonia, the land of the Chaldeans, but he will not see it, and there he will die. ¹⁴I will scatter to the winds all those around him—his staff and all his troops—and I will pursue them with drawn sword.

¹⁵“They will know that I am the LORD, when I disperse them among the nations and scatter them through the countries. ¹⁶But I will spare a few of them from the sword, famine and plague, so that in the nations where they go they may acknowledge all their detestable practices. Then they will know that I am the LORD.”

¹⁷The word of the LORD came to me: ¹⁸“Son of man, tremble as you eat your food, and shudder in fear as you drink your water. ¹⁹Say to the people of the land: ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says about those living in Jerusalem and in the land of Israel: They will eat their food in anxiety and drink their water in despair, for their land will be stripped of everything in it because of the violence of all who live there. ²⁰The inhabited towns will be laid waste and the land will be desolate. Then you will know that I am the LORD.’ ”

There Will Be No Delay

²¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²²“Son of man, what is this proverb you have in the land of Israel: ‘The days go by and every vision comes to nothing’? ²³Say to them, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am going to put an end to this proverb, and they will no longer quote it in Israel.’ Say to them, ‘The days are near when every vision will be fulfilled. ²⁴For there will be no more false visions or flattering divinations among the people of Israel. ²⁵But I the LORD will speak what I will, and it shall be fulfilled without delay. For in your days, you rebellious people, I will fulfill whatever I say, declares the Sovereign LORD.’ ”

²⁶The word of the LORD came to me: ²⁷“Son of man, the Israelites are saying, ‘The vision he sees is for many years from now, and he prophesies about the distant future.’

²⁸“Therefore say to them, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: None of my words will be delayed any longer; whatever I say will be fulfilled, declares the Sovereign LORD.’ ”

Ezekiel 13

False Prophets Condemned

¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, prophesy against the prophets of Israel who are now prophesying. Say to those who prophesy out of their own imagination: ‘Hear the word of the LORD! ³This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Woe to the foolish^a prophets who follow their own spirit and have seen nothing! ⁴Your prophets, Israel, are like jackals among ruins. ⁵You have not gone up to the breaches in the wall to repair it for the people of Israel so that it will stand firm in the battle on the day of the LORD. ⁶Their visions are false and their divinations a lie. Even though the LORD has not sent them, they say, “The LORD declares,” and expect him to fulfill their words. ⁷Have you not seen false visions and uttered lying divinations when you say, “The LORD declares,” though I have not spoken?

¹⁰“ ‘Because they lead my people astray, saying, “Peace,” when there is no peace, and because, when a flimsy wall is built, they cover it with whitewash, ¹¹therefore tell those who cover it with whitewash that it is going to fall. Rain will come in torrents, and I will send hailstones hurtling down, and violent winds will burst forth. ¹²When the wall collapses, will people not ask you, “Where is the whitewash you covered it with?”

¹³“ ‘Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: In my wrath I will unleash a violent wind, and in my anger hailstones and torrents of rain will fall with destructive fury. ¹⁴I will tear down the wall you have covered with whitewash and will level it to the ground so that its foundation will be laid bare. When it^b falls, you will be destroyed in it; and you will know that I am the LORD. ¹⁵So I will pour out my wrath against the wall and against those who covered it with whitewash. I will say to you, “The wall is gone and so are those who whitewashed it, ¹⁶those prophets of Israel who prophesied to Jerusalem and saw visions of peace for her when there was no peace, declares the Sovereign LORD.” ’

¹⁷“Now, son of man, set your face against the daughters of your people who

prophecy out of their own imagination. Prophecy against them ¹⁸and say, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Woe to the women who sew magic charms on all their wrists and make veils of various lengths for their heads in order to ensnare people. Will you ensnare the lives of my people but preserve your own? ¹⁹You have profaned me among my people for a few handfuls of barley and scraps of bread. By lying to my people, who listen to lies, you have killed those who should not have died and have spared those who should not live.

²⁰“ ‘Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am against your magic charms with which you ensnare people like birds and I will tear them from your arms; I will set free the people that you ensnare like birds. ²¹I will tear off your veils and save my people from your hands, and they will no longer fall prey to your power. Then you will know that I am the LORD. ²²Because you disheartened the righteous with your lies, when I had brought them no grief, and because you encouraged the wicked not to turn from their evil ways and so save their lives, ²³therefore you will no longer see false visions or practice divination. I will save my people from your hands. And then you will know that I am the LORD.’ ”

Ezekiel 14

Idolaters Condemned

¹Some of the elders of Israel came to me and sat down in front of me. ²Then the word of the LORD came to me: ³“Son of man, these men have set up idols in their hearts and put wicked stumbling blocks before their faces. Should I let them inquire of me at all? ⁴Therefore speak to them and tell them, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: When any of the Israelites set up idols in their hearts and put a wicked stumbling block before their faces and then go to a prophet, I the LORD will answer them myself in keeping with their great idolatry. ⁵I will do this to recapture the hearts of the people of Israel, who have all deserted me for their idols.’

⁷“ ‘When any of the Israelites or any foreigner residing in Israel separate themselves from me and set up idols in their hearts and put a wicked stumbling block before their faces and then go to a prophet to inquire of me, I the LORD will answer them myself. ⁸I will set my face against them and make them an example and a byword. I will remove them from my people. Then you will know that I am the LORD.

⁹“ ‘And if the prophet is enticed to utter a prophecy, I the LORD have enticed that prophet, and I will stretch out my hand against him and destroy him from among my people Israel. ¹⁰They will bear their guilt—the prophet will be as guilty as the one who consults him. ¹¹Then the people of Israel will no longer stray from me, nor will they defile themselves anymore with all their sins. They will be my people, and I will be their God, declares the Sovereign LORD.’ ”

Jerusalem’s Judgment Inescapable

¹²The word of the LORD came to me: ¹³“Son of man, if a country sins against me by being unfaithful and I stretch out my hand against it to cut off its food supply and send famine upon it and kill its people and their animals, ¹⁴even if these three men—Noah, Daniel^a and Job—were in it, they could save only themselves by their righteousness, declares the Sovereign LORD. The Law of Influence: Even the Best Leaders Can’t Force Action

¹⁵“Or if I send wild beasts through that country and they leave it childless and it becomes desolate so that no one can pass through it because of the beasts, ¹⁶as surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, even if these three men were in it, they could not save their own sons or daughters. They alone would be saved, but the land would be desolate.

¹⁷“Or if I bring a sword against that country and say, ‘Let the sword pass throughout the land,’ and I kill its people and their animals, ¹⁸as surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, even if these three men were in it, they could not save their own sons or daughters. They alone would be saved.

¹⁹“Or if I send a plague into that land and pour out my wrath on it through bloodshed, killing its people and their animals, ²⁰as surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, even if Noah, Daniel and Job were in it, they could save neither son nor daughter. They would save only themselves by their righteousness.

²¹“For this is what the Sovereign LORD says: How much worse will it be when I send against Jerusalem my four dreadful judgments—sword and famine and wild beasts and plague—to kill its men and their animals! ²²Yet there will be some survivors—sons and daughters who will be brought out of it. They will come to you, and when you see their conduct and their actions, you will be consoled regarding the disaster I have brought on Jerusalem—every disaster I have brought on it. ²³You will be consoled when you see their conduct and their actions, for you will know that I have done nothing in it without cause, declares the Sovereign LORD.”

Ezekiel 15

Jerusalem as a Useless Vine

¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, how is the wood of a vine different from that of a branch from any of the trees in the forest? ³Is wood ever taken from it to make anything useful? Do they make pegs from it to hang things on? ⁴And after it is thrown on the fire as fuel and the fire burns both ends and chars the middle, is it then useful for anything? ⁵If it was not useful for anything when it was whole, how much less can it be made into something useful when the fire has burned it and it is charred?

⁶“Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: As I have given the wood of the vine among the trees of the forest as fuel for the fire, so will I treat the people living in Jerusalem. ⁷I will set my face against them. Although they have come out of the fire, the fire will yet consume them. And when I set my face against them, you will know that I am the LORD. ⁸I will make the land desolate because they have been unfaithful, declares the Sovereign LORD.”

Ezekiel 16

Jerusalem as an Adulterous Wife

¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, confront Jerusalem with her detestable practices ³and say, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says to Jerusalem: Your ancestry and birth were in the land of the Canaanites; your father was an Amorite and your mother a Hittite. ⁴On the day you were born your cord was not cut, nor were you washed with water to make you clean, nor were you rubbed with salt or wrapped in cloths. ⁵No one looked on you with pity or had compassion enough to do any of these things for you. Rather, you were thrown out into the open field, for on the day you were born you were despised.

⁶“ ‘Then I passed by and saw you kicking about in your blood, and as you lay there in your blood I said to you, “Live!”^a ⁷I made you grow like a plant of the field. You grew and developed and entered puberty. Your breasts had formed and your hair had grown, yet you were stark naked.

⁸“ ‘Later I passed by, and when I looked at you and saw that you were old enough for love, I spread the corner of my garment over you and covered your naked body. I gave you my solemn oath and entered into a covenant with you, declares the Sovereign LORD, and you became mine.

⁹“ ‘I bathed you with water and washed the blood from you and put ointments on you. ¹⁰I clothed you with an embroidered dress and put sandals of fine leather on you. I dressed you in fine linen and covered you with costly garments. ¹¹I adorned you with jewelry: I put bracelets on your arms and a necklace around your neck, ¹²and I put a ring on your nose, earrings on your ears and a beautiful crown on your head. ¹³So you were adorned with gold and silver; your clothes were of fine linen and costly fabric and embroidered cloth. Your food was honey, olive oil and the finest flour. You became very beautiful and rose to be a queen. ¹⁴And your fame spread among the nations on account of your beauty, because the splendor I had given you made your beauty perfect, declares the Sovereign LORD.

¹⁵“ ‘But you trusted in your beauty and used your fame to become a prostitute. You lavished your favors on anyone who passed by and your beauty became his. ¹⁶You took some of your garments to make gaudy high places, where you carried on your prostitution. You went to him, and he possessed your beauty.^b ¹⁷You also took the fine jewelry I gave you, the jewelry made of my gold and silver, and you made for yourself male idols and engaged in prostitution with them. ¹⁸And you took your embroidered clothes to put on them, and you offered my oil and incense before them. ¹⁹Also the food I provided for you—the flour, olive oil and honey I gave you to eat—you offered as fragrant incense before them. That is what happened, declares the Sovereign LORD.

²⁰“ ‘And you took your sons and daughters whom you bore to me and sacrificed them as food to the idols. Was your prostitution not enough? ²¹You slaughtered my children and sacrificed them to the idols. ²²In all your detestable practices and your prostitution you did not remember the days of your youth, when you were naked and bare, kicking about in your blood.

²³“ ‘Woe! Woe to you, declares the Sovereign LORD. In addition to all your other wickedness, ²⁴you built a mound for yourself and made a lofty shrine in every public square. ²⁵At every street corner you built your lofty shrines and degraded your beauty, spreading your legs with increasing promiscuity to anyone who passed by. ²⁶You engaged in prostitution with the Egyptians, your neighbors with large genitals, and aroused my anger with your increasing promiscuity. ²⁷So I stretched out my hand against you and reduced your territory; I gave you over to the greed of your enemies, the daughters of the Philistines, who were shocked by your lewd conduct. ²⁸You engaged in prostitution with the Assyrians too, because you were insatiable; and even after that, you still were not satisfied. ²⁹Then you increased your promiscuity to include Babylonia,^c a land of merchants, but even with this you were not satisfied. The Law of Magnetism: God's People Become Like Pagan Leaders

³²“ ‘You adulterous wife! You prefer strangers to your own husband! ³³All prostitutes receive gifts, but you give gifts to all your lovers, bribing them to come to you from everywhere for your illicit favors. ³⁴So in your prostitution you are the opposite of others; no one runs after you for your favors. You are the very opposite, for you give payment and none is given to you.

³⁵“ ‘Therefore, you prostitute, hear the word of the LORD! ³⁶This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Because you poured out your lust and exposed your naked body in your promiscuity with your lovers, and because of all your detestable idols, and because you gave them your children's blood, ³⁷therefore I am going to gather all your lovers, with whom you found pleasure, those you loved as well as those you hated. I will gather them against you from all around and will strip you in front of them, and they will see you stark naked. ³⁸I will sentence you to the punishment of women who commit adultery and who shed blood; I will bring on you the blood vengeance of my wrath and jealous anger. ³⁹Then I will deliver you into the hands of your lovers, and they will tear down your mounds and destroy your lofty shrines. They will strip you of your clothes and take your fine jewelry and leave you stark naked. ⁴⁰They will bring a mob against you, who will stone you and hack you to pieces with their swords. ⁴¹They will burn down your houses and inflict punishment on you in the sight of many women. I will put a stop to your prostitution, and you will no longer pay your lovers. ⁴²Then my wrath against you will subside and my jealous anger will turn away from you; I will be calm and no longer angry.

⁴³“ ‘Because you did not remember the days of your youth but enraged me with all these things, I will surely bring down on your head what you have done, declares the Sovereign LORD. Did you not add lewdness to all your other detestable practices?

⁴⁹“ ‘Now this was the sin of your sister Sodom: She and her daughters were arrogant, overfed and unconcerned; they did not help the poor and needy. ⁵⁰They were haughty and did detestable things before me. Therefore I did away with them as you have seen. ⁵¹Samaria did not commit half the sins you did. You have done more detestable things than they, and have made your sisters seem righteous by all these things you have done. ⁵²Bear your disgrace, for you have furnished some justification for your sisters. Because your sins were more vile than theirs, they appear more righteous than you. So then, be ashamed and bear your disgrace, for you have made your sisters appear righteous.

⁵³“ ‘However, I will restore the fortunes of Sodom and her daughters and of Samaria and her daughters, and your fortunes along with them, ⁵⁴so that you may bear your disgrace and be ashamed of all you have done in giving them comfort. ⁵⁵And your sisters, Sodom with her daughters and Samaria with her daughters, will return to what they were before; and you and your daughters will return to what you were before. ⁵⁶You would not even mention your sister Sodom in the day of your pride, ⁵⁷before your wickedness was uncovered. Even so, you are now scorned by the daughters of Edom^e and all her neighbors and the daughters of the Philistines—all those around you who despise you. ⁵⁸You will bear the consequences of your lewdness and your detestable practices, declares the LORD.

⁵⁹“ ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will deal with you as you deserve, because you have despised my oath by breaking the covenant. ⁶⁰Yet I will remember the covenant I made with you in the days of your youth, and I will establish an everlasting covenant with you. ⁶¹Then you will remember your ways and be ashamed when you receive your sisters, both those who are older than you and those who are younger. I will give them to you as daughters, but not on the basis of my covenant with you. ⁶²So I will establish my covenant with you, and you will know that I am the LORD. ⁶³Then, when I make atonement for you for all you have done, you will remember and be ashamed and never again open your mouth because of your humiliation, declares the Sovereign LORD.’ ”

Ezekiel 17

Two Eagles and a Vine

¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, set forth an allegory and tell it to the Israelites as a parable. ³Say to them, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: A great eagle with powerful wings, long feathers and full plumage of varied colors came to Lebanon. Taking hold of the top of a cedar, ⁴he broke off its topmost shoot and carried it away to a land of merchants, where he planted it in a city of traders.

⁷“ ‘But there was another great eagle with powerful wings and full plumage. The vine now sent out its roots toward him from the plot where it was planted and stretched out its branches to him for water. ⁸It had been planted in good soil by abundant water so that it would produce branches, bear fruit and become a splendid vine.’

⁹“Say to them, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Will it thrive? Will it not be uprooted and stripped of its fruit so that it withers? All its new growth will wither. It will not take a strong arm or many people to pull it up by the roots. ¹⁰It has been planted, but will it thrive? Will it not wither completely when the east wind strikes it—wither away in the plot where it grew?’ ”

¹⁶“ ‘As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, he shall die in Babylon, in the land of the king who put him on the throne, whose oath he despised and whose treaty he broke. ¹⁷Pharaoh with his mighty army and great horde will be of no help to him in war, when ramps are built and siege works erected to destroy many lives. ¹⁸He despised the oath by breaking the covenant. Because he had given his hand in pledge and yet did all these things, he shall not escape.

¹⁹“ ‘Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: As surely as I live, I will repay him for despising my oath and breaking my covenant. ²⁰I will spread my net for him, and he will be caught in my snare. I will bring him to Babylon and execute judgment on him there because he was unfaithful to me. ²¹All his choice troops will fall by the sword, and the survivors will be scattered to the winds. Then you will know that I the LORD have spoken.

²²“ ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I myself will take a shoot from the very top of a cedar and plant it; I will break off a tender sprig from its topmost shoots and plant it on a high and lofty mountain. ²³On the mountain heights of Israel I will plant it; it will produce branches and bear fruit and become a splendid cedar. Birds of every kind will nest in it; they will find shelter in the shade of its branches. ²⁴All the trees of the forest will know that I the LORD bring down the tall tree and make the low tree grow tall. I dry up the green tree and make the dry tree flourish.

“ ‘I the LORD have spoken, and I will do it.’ ”

Ezekiel 18

The One Who Sins Will Die

¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²“What do you people mean by quoting this proverb about the land of Israel:

“ ‘The parents eat sour grapes, and the children’s teeth are set on edge’? Discernment: Leaders Assess Situations, Then Respond

³“As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, you will no longer quote this proverb in Israel. ⁴For everyone belongs to me, the parent as well as the child—both alike belong to me. The one who sins is the one who will die.

⁵“Suppose there is a righteous man who does what is just and right.

⁶He does not eat at the mountain shrines or look to the idols of Israel.

He does not defile his neighbor’s wife or have sexual relations with a woman during her period.

⁷He does not oppress anyone, but returns what he took in pledge for a loan.

He does not commit robbery
but gives his food to the hungry
and provides clothing for the naked.

⁸He does not lend to them at interest or take a profit from them.
He withholds his hand from doing wrong and judges fairly between two parties.

⁹He follows my decrees and faithfully keeps my laws.
That man is righteous;
he will surely live,

declares the Sovereign LORD.

¹⁰“Suppose he has a violent son, who sheds blood or does any of these other things^a ¹¹(though the father has done none of them):

“He eats at the mountain shrines.
He defiles his neighbor’s wife.

¹²He oppresses the poor and needy.
He commits robbery.
He does not return what he took in pledge.
He looks to the idols.
He does detestable things.

¹³He lends at interest and takes a profit.

Will such a man live? He will not! Because he has done all these detestable things, he is to be put to death; his blood will be on his own head.

¹⁴“But suppose this son has a son who sees all the sins his father commits, and though he sees them, he does not do such things:

¹⁵“He does not eat at the mountain shrines
or look to the idols of Israel.
He does not defile his neighbor’s wife.

¹⁶He does not oppress anyone or require a pledge for a loan.

He does not commit robbery
but gives his food to the hungry
and provides clothing for the naked.

¹⁷He withholds his hand from mistreating the poor and takes no interest or profit from them.
He keeps my laws and follows my decrees.

He will not die for his father's sin; he will surely live. ¹⁸But his father will die for his own sin, because he practiced extortion, robbed his brother and did what was wrong among his people.

¹⁹"Yet you ask, 'Why does the son not share the guilt of his father?' Since the son has done what is just and right and has been careful to keep all my decrees, he will surely live. ²⁰The one who sins is the one who will die. The child will not share the guilt of the parent, nor will the parent share the guilt of the child. The righteousness of the righteous will be credited to them, and the wickedness of the wicked will be charged against them.

²¹"But if a wicked person turns away from all the sins they have committed and keeps all my decrees and does what is just and right, that person will surely live; they will not die. ²²None of the offenses they have committed will be remembered against them. Because of the righteous things they have done, they will live. ²³Do I take any pleasure in the death of the wicked? declares the Sovereign LORD. Rather, am I not pleased when they turn from their ways and live?

²⁴"But if a righteous person turns from their righteousness and commits sin and does the same detestable things the wicked person does, will they live? None of the righteous things that person has done will be remembered. Because of the unfaithfulness they are guilty of and because of the sins they have committed, they will die.

²⁵"Yet you say, 'The way of the Lord is not just.' Hear, you Israelites: Is my way unjust? Is it not your ways that are unjust? ²⁶If a righteous person turns from their righteousness and commits sin, they will die for it; because of the sin they have committed they will die. ²⁷But if a wicked person turns away from the wickedness they have committed and does what is just and right, they will save their life. ²⁸Because they consider all the offenses they have committed and turn away from them, that person will surely live; they will not die. ²⁹Yet the Israelites say, 'The way of the Lord is not just.' Are my ways unjust, people of Israel? Is it not your ways that are unjust?

³⁰“Therefore, you Israelites, I will judge each of you according to your own ways, declares the Sovereign LORD. Repent! Turn away from all your offenses; then sin will not be your downfall. ³¹Rid yourselves of all the offenses you have committed, and get a new heart and a new spirit. Why will you die, people of Israel? ³²For I take no pleasure in the death of anyone, declares the Sovereign LORD. Repent and live!

Ezekiel 19

A Lament Over Israel's Princes

¹“Take up a lament concerning the princes of Israel ²and say:

“ ‘What a lioness was your mother among the lions!

She lay down among them and reared her cubs. Discipline: If Leaders Can't Rule Themselves, They Can't Rule Others

- ³She brought up one of her cubs, and he became a strong lion.
He learned to tear the prey
and he became a man-eater.
- ⁴The nations heard about him,
and he was trapped in their pit.

They led him with hooks to the land of Egypt.

⁵“ ‘When she saw her hope unfulfilled, her expectation gone,
she took another of her cubs and made him a strong lion.

⁶He prowled among the lions,
for he was now a strong lion.
He learned to tear the prey
and he became a man-eater.

⁷He broke down^a their strongholds and devastated their towns.
The land and all who were in it were terrified by his roaring.

⁸Then the nations came against him, those from regions round about.
They spread their net for him,
and he was trapped in their pit.

⁹With hooks they pulled him into a cage and brought him to the king of Babylon.
They put him in prison,
so his roar was heard no longer
on the mountains of Israel.

¹⁰“ ‘Your mother was like a vine in your vineyard^b planted by the water;
it was fruitful and full of branches because of abundant water.

¹¹Its branches were strong,
fit for a ruler’s scepter.

It towered high above the thick foliage, conspicuous for its height and for its many branches.

¹²But it was uprooted in fury and thrown to the ground.
The east wind made it shrivel,
it was stripped of its fruit;

its strong branches withered and fire consumed them.

¹³Now it is planted in the desert,
in a dry and thirsty land.

¹⁴Fire spread from one of its main^c branches and consumed its fruit.
No strong branch is left on it
fit for a ruler's scepter.'

“This is a lament and is to be used as a lament.”

Ezekiel 20

Rebellious Israel Purged

²Then the word of the LORD came to me: ³“Son of man, speak to the elders of Israel and say to them, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Have you come to inquire of me? As surely as I live, I will not let you inquire of me, declares the Sovereign LORD.’

⁴“Will you judge them? Will you judge them, son of man? Then confront them with the detestable practices of their ancestors ⁵and say to them: ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: On the day I chose Israel, I swore with uplifted hand to the descendants of Jacob and revealed myself to them in Egypt. With uplifted hand I said to them, “I am the LORD your God.” ⁶On that day I swore to them that I would bring them out of Egypt into a land I had searched out for them, a land flowing with milk and honey, the most beautiful of all lands. ⁷And I said to them, “Each of you, get rid of the vile images you have set your eyes on, and do not defile yourselves with the idols of Egypt. I am the LORD your God.”

⁸“ ‘But they rebelled against me and would not listen to me; they did not get rid of the vile images they had set their eyes on, nor did they forsake the idols of Egypt. So I said I would pour out my wrath on them and spend my anger against them in Egypt. ⁹But for the sake of my name, I brought them out of Egypt. I did it to keep my name from being profaned in the eyes of the nations among whom they lived and in whose sight I had revealed myself to the Israelites. ¹⁰Therefore I led them out of Egypt and brought them into the wilderness. ¹¹I gave them my decrees and made known to them my laws, by which the person who obeys them will live. ¹²Also I gave them my Sabbaths as a sign between us, so they would know that I the LORD made them holy.

¹³“ ‘Yet the people of Israel rebelled against me in the wilderness. They did not follow my decrees but rejected my laws—by which the person who obeys them will live—and they utterly desecrated my Sabbaths. So I said I would pour out my wrath on them and destroy them in the wilderness. ¹⁴But for the sake of my name I did what would keep it from being profaned in the eyes of the nations in whose sight I had brought them out. ¹⁵Also with uplifted hand I swore to them in the wilderness that I would not bring them into the land I had given them—a land flowing with milk and honey, the most beautiful of all lands— ¹⁶because they rejected my laws and did not follow my decrees and desecrated my Sabbaths. For their hearts were devoted to their idols. ¹⁷Yet I looked on them with pity and did not destroy them or put an end to them in the wilderness. ¹⁸I said to their children in the wilderness, “Do not follow the statutes of your parents or keep their laws or defile yourselves with their idols. ¹⁹I am the LORD your God; follow my decrees and be careful to keep my laws. ²⁰Keep my Sabbaths holy, that they may be a sign between us. Then you will know that I am the LORD your God.”

²¹“ ‘But the children rebelled against me: They did not follow my decrees, they were not careful to keep my laws, of which I said, “The person who obeys them will live by them,” and they desecrated my Sabbaths. So I said I would pour out my wrath on them and spend my anger against them in the wilderness. ²²But I withheld my hand, and for the sake of my name I did what would keep it from being profaned in the eyes of the nations in whose sight I had brought them out. ²³Also with uplifted hand I swore to them in the wilderness that I would disperse them among the nations and scatter them through the countries, ²⁴because they had not obeyed my laws but had rejected my decrees and desecrated my Sabbaths, and their eyes lusted after their parents’ idols. ²⁵So I gave them other statutes that were not good and laws through which they could not live; ²⁶I defiled them through their gifts—the sacrifice of every firstborn—that I might fill them with horror so they would know that I am the LORD.’

³⁰“Therefore say to the Israelites: ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Will you defile yourselves the way your ancestors did and lust after their vile images? ³¹When you offer your gifts—the sacrifice of your children in the fire—you continue to defile yourselves with all your idols to this day. Am I to let you inquire of me, you Israelites? As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, I will not let you inquire of me.

³²“ ‘You say, “We want to be like the nations, like the peoples of the world, who serve wood and stone.” But what you have in mind will never happen. ³³As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, I will reign over you with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm and with outpoured wrath. ³⁴I will bring you from the nations and gather you from the countries where you have been scattered—with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm and with outpoured wrath. ³⁵I will bring you into the wilderness of the nations and there, face to face, I will execute judgment upon you. ³⁶As I judged your ancestors in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so I will judge you, declares the Sovereign LORD. ³⁷I will take note of you as you pass under my rod, and I will bring you into the bond of the covenant. ³⁸I will purge you of those who revolt and rebel against me. Although I will bring them out of the land where they are living, yet they will not enter the land of Israel. Then you will know that I am the LORD.

³⁹“ ‘As for you, people of Israel, this is what the Sovereign LORD says: Go and serve your idols, every one of you! But afterward you will surely listen to me and no longer profane my holy name with your gifts and idols. ⁴⁰For on my holy mountain, the high mountain of Israel, declares the Sovereign LORD, there in the land all the people of Israel will serve me, and there I will accept them. There I will require your offerings and your choice gifts,^b along with all your holy sacrifices. ⁴¹I will accept you as fragrant incense when I bring you out from the nations and gather you from the countries where you have been scattered, and I will be proved holy through you in the sight of the nations. ⁴²Then you will know that I am the LORD, when I bring you into the land of Israel, the land I had sworn with uplifted hand to give to your ancestors. ⁴³There you will remember your conduct and all the actions by which you have defiled yourselves, and you will loathe yourselves for all the evil you have done. ⁴⁴You will know that I am the LORD, when I deal with you for my name’s sake and not according to your evil ways and your corrupt practices, you people of Israel, declares the Sovereign LORD.’ ”

Prophecy Against the South

⁴⁵The word of the LORD came to me: ⁴⁶“Son of man, set your face toward the south; preach against the south and prophesy against the forest of the southland.

⁴⁷Say to the southern forest: ‘Hear the word of the LORD. This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am about to set fire to you, and it will consume all your trees, both green and dry. The blazing flame will not be quenched, and every face from south to north will be scorched by it. ⁴⁸Everyone will see that I the LORD have kindled it; it will not be quenched.’ ”

⁴⁹Then I said, “Sovereign LORD, they are saying of me, ‘Isn’t he just telling parables?’ ”^c

Ezekiel 21^a

Babylon as God's Sword of Judgment

¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, set your face against Jerusalem and preach against the sanctuary. Prophecy against the land of Israel ³and say to her: ‘This is what the LORD says: I am against you. I will draw my sword from its sheath and cut off from you both the righteous and the wicked. ⁴Because I am going to cut off the righteous and the wicked, my sword will be unsheathed against everyone from south to north. ⁵Then all people will know that I the LORD have drawn my sword from its sheath; it will not return again.’

⁶“Therefore groan, son of man! Groan before them with broken heart and bitter grief. ⁷And when they ask you, ‘Why are you groaning?’ you shall say, ‘Because of the news that is coming. Every heart will melt with fear and every hand go limp; every spirit will become faint and every leg will be wet with urine.’ It is coming! It will surely take place, declares the Sovereign LORD.”

⁸The word of the LORD came to me: ⁹“Son of man, prophesy and say, ‘This is what the Lord says:

“ ‘A sword, a sword,
sharpened and polished—¹⁰sharpened for the slaughter, polished to flash like lightning!

“ ‘Shall we rejoice in the scepter of my royal son? The sword despises every such stick.

¹¹“ ‘The sword is appointed to be polished, to be grasped with the hand;
it is sharpened and polished,
made ready for the hand of the slayer.

¹²Cry out and wail, son of man, for it is against my people;
it is against all the princes of Israel.
They are thrown to the sword along with my people.

Therefore beat your breast.

¹³“ ‘Testing will surely come. And what if even the scepter, which the sword despises, does not continue? declares the Sovereign LORD.’

¹⁴“So then, son of man, prophesy and strike your hands together.
Let the sword strike twice,
even three times.
It is a sword for slaughter—
a sword for great slaughter, closing in on them from every side.

¹⁵So that hearts may melt with fear and the fallen be many,
I have stationed the sword for slaughter^b at all their gates.
Look! It is forged to strike like lightning, it is grasped for slaughter.

¹⁶Slash to the right, you sword,
then to the left,
wherever your blade is turned.

¹⁷I too will strike my hands together, and my wrath will subside.
I the LORD have spoken.”

¹⁸The word of the LORD came to me: ¹⁹“Son of man, mark out two roads for the sword of the king of Babylon to take, both starting from the same country. Make a signpost where the road branches off to the city. ²⁰Mark out one road for the sword to come against Rabbah of the Ammonites and another against Judah and fortified Jerusalem. ²¹For the king of Babylon will stop at the fork in the road, at the junction of the two roads, to seek an omen: He will cast lots with arrows, he will consult his idols, he will examine the liver. ²²Into his right hand will come the lot for Jerusalem, where he is to set up battering rams, to give the command to slaughter, to sound the battle cry, to set battering rams against the gates, to build a ramp and to erect siege works. ²³It will seem like a false omen to those who have sworn allegiance to him, but he will remind them of their guilt and take them captive.

²⁴“Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: ‘Because you people have brought to mind your guilt by your open rebellion, revealing your sins in all that you do—because you have done this, you will be taken captive.

²⁵“ ‘You profane and wicked prince of Israel, whose day has come, whose time of punishment has reached its climax, ²⁶this is what the Sovereign LORD says: Take off the turban, remove the crown. It will not be as it was: The lowly will be exalted and the exalted will be brought low. ²⁷A ruin! A ruin! I will make it a ruin! The crown will not be restored until he to whom it rightfully belongs shall come; to him I will give it.’

²⁸“And you, son of man, prophesy and say, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says about the Ammonites and their insults:

“ ‘A sword, a sword,
drawn for the slaughter,

polished to consume
and to flash like lightning!

²⁹Despite false visions concerning you and lying divinations about you, it will be laid on the necks of the wicked who are to be slain, whose day has come,
whose time of punishment has reached its climax.

³⁰“ ‘Let the sword return to its sheath.
In the place where you were created,
in the land of your ancestry,
I will judge you.

³¹I will pour out my wrath on you and breathe out my fiery anger against you;
I will deliver you into the hands of brutal men,
men skilled in destruction.

³²You will be fuel for the fire,
your blood will be shed in your land,
you will be remembered no more;
for I the LORD have spoken.’ ”

Ezekiel 22

Judgment on Jerusalem's Sins

¹The word of the LORD came to me:

⁶“ ‘See how each of the princes of Israel who are in you uses his power to shed blood. ⁷In you they have treated father and mother with contempt; in you they have oppressed the foreigner and mistreated the fatherless and the widow. ⁸You have despised my holy things and desecrated my Sabbaths. ⁹In you are slanderers who are bent on shedding blood; in you are those who eat at the mountain shrines and commit lewd acts. ¹⁰In you are those who dishonor their father’s bed; in you are those who violate women during their period, when they are ceremonially unclean. ¹¹In you one man commits a detestable offense with his neighbor’s wife, another shamefully defiles his daughter-in-law, and another violates his sister, his own father’s daughter. ¹²In you are people who accept bribes to shed blood; you take interest and make a profit from the poor. You extort unjust gain from your neighbors. And you have forgotten me, declares the Sovereign LORD.

¹³“ ‘I will surely strike my hands together at the unjust gain you have made and at the blood you have shed in your midst. ¹⁴Will your courage endure or your hands be strong in the day I deal with you? I the LORD have spoken, and I will do it. ¹⁵I will disperse you among the nations and scatter you through the countries; and I will put an end to your uncleanness. ¹⁶When you have been defiled^a in the eyes of the nations, you will know that I am the LORD.’ ”

¹⁷Then the word of the LORD came to me: ¹⁸“Son of man, the people of Israel have become dross to me; all of them are the copper, tin, iron and lead left inside a furnace. They are but the dross of silver. ¹⁹Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: ‘Because you have all become dross, I will gather you into Jerusalem. ²⁰As silver, copper, iron, lead and tin are gathered into a furnace to be melted with a fiery blast, so will I gather you in my anger and my wrath and put you inside the city and melt you. ²¹I will gather you and I will blow on you with my fiery wrath, and you will be melted inside her. ²²As silver is melted in a furnace, so you will be melted inside her, and you will know that I the LORD have poured out my wrath on you.’ ”

²³Again the word of the LORD came to me: ²⁴“Son of man, say to the land, ‘You are a land that has not been cleansed or rained on in the day of wrath.’ ²⁵There is a conspiracy of her princes^b within her like a roaring lion tearing its prey; they devour people, take treasures and precious things and make many widows within her. ²⁶Her priests do violence to my law and profane my holy things; they do not distinguish between the holy and the common; they teach that there is no difference between the unclean and the clean; and they shut their eyes to the keeping of my Sabbaths, so that I am profaned among them. ²⁷Her officials within her are like wolves tearing their prey; they shed blood and kill people to make unjust gain. ²⁸Her prophets whitewash these deeds for them by false visions and lying divinations. They say, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says’—when the LORD has not spoken. ²⁹The people of the land practice extortion and commit robbery; they oppress the poor and needy and mistreat the foreigner, denying them justice. The Position of a Leader: Standing in the Gap

³⁰“I looked for someone among them who would build up the wall and stand before me in the gap on behalf of the land so I would not have to destroy it, but I found no one. ³¹So I will pour out my wrath on them and consume them with my fiery anger, bringing down on their own heads all they have done, declares the Sovereign LORD.” What Does God Look for in a Leader?

Ezekiel 23

Two Adulterous Sisters

¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, there were two women, daughters of the same mother. ³They became prostitutes in Egypt, engaging in prostitution from their youth. In that land their breasts were fondled and their virgin bosoms caressed. ⁴The older was named Oholah, and her sister was Oholibah. They were mine and gave birth to sons and daughters. Oholah is Samaria, and Oholibah is Jerusalem.

¹⁴“But she carried her prostitution still further. She saw men portrayed on a wall, figures of Chaldeans^a portrayed in red, ¹⁵with belts around their waists and flowing turbans on their heads; all of them looked like Babylonian chariot officers, natives of Chaldea.^b ¹⁶As soon as she saw them, she lusted after them and sent messengers to them in Chaldea. ¹⁷Then the Babylonians came to her, to the bed of love, and in their lust they defiled her. After she had been defiled by them, she turned away from them in disgust. ¹⁸When she carried on her prostitution openly and exposed her naked body, I turned away from her in disgust, just as I had turned away from her sister. ¹⁹Yet she became more and more promiscuous as she recalled the days of her youth, when she was a prostitute in Egypt. ²⁰There she lusted after her lovers, whose genitals were like those of donkeys and whose emission was like that of horses. ²¹So you longed for the lewdness of your youth, when in Egypt your bosom was caressed and your young breasts fondled.^c

²²“Therefore, Oholibah, this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will stir up your lovers against you, those you turned away from in disgust, and I will bring them against you from every side— ²³the Babylonians and all the Chaldeans, the men of Pekod and Shoa and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them, handsome young men, all of them governors and commanders, chariot officers and men of high rank, all mounted on horses. ²⁴They will come against you with weapons,^d chariots and wagons and with a throng of people; they will take up positions against you on every side with large and small shields and with helmets. I will turn you over to them for punishment, and they will punish you according to their standards. ²⁵I will direct my jealous anger against you, and they will deal with you in fury. They will cut off your noses and your ears, and those of you who are left will fall by the sword. They will take away your sons and daughters, and those of you who are left will be consumed by fire. ²⁶They will also strip you of your clothes and take your fine jewelry. ²⁷So I will put a stop to the lewdness and prostitution you began in Egypt. You will not look on these things with longing or remember Egypt anymore.

²⁸“For this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am about to deliver you into the hands of those you hate, to those you turned away from in disgust. ²⁹They will deal with you in hatred and take away everything you have worked for. They will leave you stark naked, and the shame of your prostitution will be exposed. Your lewdness and promiscuity ³⁰have brought this on you, because you lusted after the nations and defiled yourself with their idols. ³¹You have gone the way of your sister; so I will put her cup into your hand.

³²“This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“You will drink your sister’s cup,
a cup large and deep;
it will bring scorn and derision,
for it holds so much.

³³You will be filled with drunkenness and sorrow,
the cup of ruin and desolation,
the cup of your sister Samaria.

³⁴You will drink it and drain it dry and chew on its pieces—
and you will tear your breasts.

I have spoken, declares the Sovereign LORD.

³⁶The LORD said to me: “Son of man, will you judge Oholah and Oholibah? Then confront them with their detestable practices, ³⁷for they have committed adultery and blood is on their hands. They committed adultery with their idols; they even sacrificed their children, whom they bore to me, as food for them. ³⁸They have also done this to me: At that same time they defiled my sanctuary and desecrated my Sabbaths. ³⁹On the very day they sacrificed their children to their idols, they entered my sanctuary and desecrated it. That is what they did in my house. Confrontation: It Comes with the Territory

⁴⁰“They even sent messengers for men who came from far away, and when they arrived you bathed yourself for them, applied eye makeup and put on your jewelry. ⁴¹You sat on an elegant couch, with a table spread before it on which you had placed the incense and olive oil that belonged to me.

⁴⁸“So I will put an end to lewdness in the land, that all women may take warning and not imitate you. ⁴⁹You will suffer the penalty for your lewdness and bear the consequences of your sins of idolatry. Then you will know that I am the Sovereign LORD.”

Ezekiel 24

Jerusalem as a Cooking Pot

¹In the ninth year, in the tenth month on the tenth day, the word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, record this date, this very date, because the king of Babylon has laid siege to Jerusalem this very day. ³Tell this rebellious people a parable and say to them: ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“ ‘Put on the cooking pot; put it on and pour water into it.

⁴Put into it the pieces of meat,
all the choice pieces—the leg and the shoulder.
Fill it with the best of these bones;
⁵take the pick of the flock.
Pile wood beneath it for the bones;

bring it to a boil
and cook the bones in it.

6“ ‘For this is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“ ‘Woe to the city of bloodshed,
to the pot now encrusted,
whose deposit will not go away!
Take the meat out piece by piece in whatever order it comes.

7“ ‘For the blood she shed is in her midst:

She poured it on the bare rock;
she did not pour it on the ground,
where the dust would cover it.

8To stir up wrath and take revenge
I put her blood on the bare rock, so that it would not be covered.

9“ ‘Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“ ‘Woe to the city of bloodshed!
I, too, will pile the wood high.

10So heap on the wood and kindle the fire.

Cook the meat well,
mixing in the spices;
and let the bones be charred.

11Then set the empty pot on the coals till it becomes hot and its copper glows, so that its impurities may be melted and its deposit burned away.

12It has frustrated all efforts;
its heavy deposit has not been removed,
not even by fire.

13“ ‘Now your impurity is lewdness. Because I tried to cleanse you but you would not be cleansed from your impurity, you will not be clean again until my wrath against you has subsided.

¹⁴“ ‘I the LORD have spoken. The time has come for me to act. I will not hold back; I will not have pity, nor will I relent. You will be judged according to your conduct and your actions, declares the Sovereign LORD.’ ”

Ezekiel’s Wife Dies

¹⁵The word of the LORD came to me: ¹⁶“Son of man, with one blow I am about to take away from you the delight of your eyes. Yet do not lament or weep or shed any tears. ¹⁷Groan quietly; do not mourn for the dead. Keep your turban fastened and your sandals on your feet; do not cover your mustache and beard or eat the customary food of mourners.”

¹⁸So I spoke to the people in the morning, and in the evening my wife died. The next morning I did as I had been commanded.

¹⁹Then the people asked me, “Won’t you tell us what these things have to do with us? Why are you acting like this?”

²⁰So I said to them, “The word of the LORD came to me: ²¹Say to the people of Israel, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am about to desecrate my sanctuary—the stronghold in which you take pride, the delight of your eyes, the object of your affection. The sons and daughters you left behind will fall by the sword. ²²And you will do as I have done. You will not cover your mustache and beard or eat the customary food of mourners. ²³You will keep your turbans on your heads and your sandals on your feet. You will not mourn or weep but will waste away because of^a your sins and groan among yourselves. ²⁴Ezekiel will be a sign to you; you will do just as he has done. When this happens, you will know that I am the Sovereign LORD.’

²⁵“And you, son of man, on the day I take away their stronghold, their joy and glory, the delight of their eyes, their heart’s desire, and their sons and daughters as well— ²⁶on that day a fugitive will come to tell you the news. ²⁷At that time your mouth will be opened; you will speak with him and will no longer be silent. So you will be a sign to them, and they will know that I am the LORD.”

Ezekiel 25

A Prophecy Against Ammon

¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, set your face against the Ammonites and prophesy against them. ³Say to them, ‘Hear the word of the Sovereign LORD. This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Because you said “Aha!” over my sanctuary when it was desecrated and over the land of Israel when it was laid waste and over the people of Judah when they went into exile, ⁴therefore I am going to give you to the people of the East as a possession. They will set up their camps and pitch their tents among you; they will eat your fruit and drink your milk. ⁵I will turn Rabbah into a pasture for camels and Ammon into a resting place for sheep. Then you will know that I am the LORD. ⁶For this is what the Sovereign LORD says: Because you have clapped your hands and stamped your feet, rejoicing with all the malice of your heart against the land of Israel, ⁷therefore I will stretch out my hand against you and give you as plunder to the nations. I will wipe you out from among the nations and exterminate you from the countries. I will destroy you, and you will know that I am the LORD.’ ”

A Prophecy Against Moab

⁸“This is what the Sovereign LORD says: ‘Because Moab and Seir said, “Look, Judah has become like all the other nations,” ⁹therefore I will expose the flank of Moab, beginning at its frontier towns—Beth Jeshimoth, Baal Meon and Kiriathaim—the glory of that land. ¹⁰I will give Moab along with the Ammonites to the people of the East as a possession, so that the Ammonites will not be remembered among the nations; ¹¹and I will inflict punishment on Moab. Then they will know that I am the LORD.’ ”

A Prophecy Against Edom

¹²“This is what the Sovereign LORD says: ‘Because Edom took revenge on Judah and became very guilty by doing so, ¹³therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will stretch out my hand against Edom and kill both man and beast. I will lay it waste, and from Teman to Dedan they will fall by the sword. ¹⁴I will take vengeance on Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they will deal with Edom in accordance with my anger and my wrath; they will know my vengeance, declares the Sovereign LORD.’ ”

A Prophecy Against Philistia

¹⁵“This is what the Sovereign LORD says: ‘Because the Philistines acted in vengeance and took revenge with malice in their hearts, and with ancient hostility sought to destroy Judah, ¹⁶therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am about to stretch out my hand against the Philistines, and I will wipe out the Kerethites and destroy those remaining along the coast. ¹⁷I will carry out great vengeance on them and punish them in my wrath. Then they will know that I am the LORD, when I take vengeance on them.’ ”

Ezekiel 26

A Prophecy Against Tyre

¹In the eleventh month of the twelfth^a year, on the first day of the month, the word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, because Tyre has said of Jerusalem, ‘Aha! The gate to the nations is broken, and its doors have swung open to me; now that she lies in ruins I will prosper,’ ³therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am against you, Tyre, and I will bring many nations against you, like the sea casting up its waves. ⁴They will destroy the walls of Tyre and pull down her towers; I will scrape away her rubble and make her a bare rock. ⁵Out in the sea she will become a place to spread fishnets, for I have spoken, declares the Sovereign LORD. She will become plunder for the nations, ⁶and her settlements on the mainland will be ravaged by the sword. Then they will know that I am the LORD.

⁷“For this is what the Sovereign LORD says: From the north I am going to bring against Tyre Nebuchadnezzar^b king of Babylon, king of kings, with horses and chariots, with horsemen and a great army. ⁸He will ravage your settlements on the mainland with the sword; he will set up siege works against you, build a ramp up to your walls and raise his shields against you. ⁹He will direct the blows of his battering rams against your walls and demolish your towers with his weapons. ¹⁰His horses will be so many that they will cover you with dust. Your walls will tremble at the noise of the warhorses, wagons and chariots when he enters your gates as men enter a city whose walls have been broken through. ¹¹The hooves of his horses will trample all your streets; he will kill your people with the sword, and your strong pillars will fall to the ground. ¹²They will plunder your wealth and loot your merchandise; they will break down your walls and demolish your fine houses and throw your stones, timber and rubble into the sea. ¹³I will put an end to your noisy songs, and the music of your harps will be heard no more. ¹⁴I will make you a bare rock, and you will become a place to spread fishnets. You will never be rebuilt, for I the LORD have spoken, declares the Sovereign LORD.

¹⁵“This is what the Sovereign LORD says to Tyre: Will not the coastlands tremble at the sound of your fall, when the wounded groan and the slaughter takes place in you? ¹⁶Then all the princes of the coast will step down from their thrones and lay aside their robes and take off their embroidered garments. Clothed with terror, they will sit on the ground, trembling every moment, appalled at you. ¹⁷Then they will take up a lament concerning you and say to

you:

“ ‘How you are destroyed, city of renown,
 peopled by men of the sea!
You were a power on the seas,
 you and your citizens;

you put your terror
on all who lived there.

¹⁸Now the coastlands tremble on the day of your fall;

the islands in the sea
are terrified at your collapse.’

¹⁹“This is what the Sovereign LORD says: When I make you a desolate city, like cities no longer inhabited, and when I bring the ocean depths over you and its vast waters cover you, ²⁰then I will bring you down with those who go down to the pit, to the people of long ago. I will make you dwell in the earth below, as in ancient ruins, with those who go down to the pit, and you will not return or take your place^c in the land of the living. ²¹I will bring you to a horrible end and you will be no more. You will be sought, but you will never again be found, declares the Sovereign LORD.”

Ezekiel 27

A Lament Over Tyre

¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, take up a lament concerning Tyre. ³Say to Tyre, situated at the gateway to the sea, merchant of peoples on many coasts, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“ ‘You say, Tyre,
“I am perfect in beauty.”

⁴Your domain was on the high seas;
your builders brought your beauty to perfection.

⁵They made all your timbers of juniper from Senir^a;
they took a cedar from Lebanon to make a mast for you.

⁶Of oaks from Bashan
they made your oars;
of cypress wood^b from the coasts of Cyprus
they made your deck, adorned with ivory.

⁷Fine embroidered linen from Egypt was your sail and served as your banner;
your awnings were of blue and purple
from the coasts of Elishah.

⁸Men of Sidon and Arvad were your oarsmen;
your skilled men, Tyre, were aboard as your sailors.

⁹Veteran craftsmen of Byblos were on board as shipwrights to caulk your seams.
All the ships of the sea and their sailors came alongside to trade for your wares.

¹⁰“ ‘Men of Persia, Lydia and Put served as soldiers in your army.
They hung their shields and helmets on your walls, bringing you splendor.

¹¹Men of Arvad and Helek guarded your walls on every side;

men of Gammad
were in your towers.
They hung their shields around your walls;
they brought your beauty to perfection.

12“ ‘Tarshish did business with you because of your great wealth of goods; they exchanged silver, iron, tin and lead for your merchandise.

13“ ‘Greece, Tubal and Meshek did business with you; they traded human beings and articles of bronze for your wares.

14“ ‘Men of Beth Togarmah exchanged chariot horses, cavalry horses and mules for your merchandise.

15“ ‘The men of Rhodes^c traded with you, and many coastlands were your customers; they paid you with ivory tusks and ebony.

16“ ‘Aram^d did business with you because of your many products; they exchanged turquoise, purple fabric, embroidered work, fine linen, coral and rubies for your merchandise.

17“ ‘Judah and Israel traded with you; they exchanged wheat from Minnith and confections,^e honey, olive oil and balm for your wares.

18“ ‘Damascus did business with you because of your many products and great wealth of goods. They offered wine from Helbon, wool from Zahar¹⁹ and casks of wine from Izal in exchange for your wares: wrought iron, cassia and calamus.

20“ ‘Dedan traded in saddle blankets with you.

21“ ‘Arabia and all the princes of Kedar were your customers; they did business with you in lambs, rams and goats.

22“ ‘The merchants of Sheba and Raamah traded with you; for your merchandise they exchanged the finest of all kinds of spices and precious stones, and gold.

23“ ‘Harran, Kanneh and Eden and merchants of Sheba, Ashur and Kilmad traded with you. ²⁴In your marketplace they traded with you beautiful garments, blue fabric, embroidered work and multicolored rugs with cords twisted and tightly knotted.

25“ ‘The ships of Tarshish serve as carriers for your wares.

26“ ‘The ships are filled with precious goods.

you are filled with heavy cargo as you sail the sea.

²⁶Your oarsmen take you out to the high seas.

But the east wind will break you to pieces far out at sea.

²⁷Your wealth, merchandise and wares,
your mariners, sailors and shipwrights,
your merchants and all your soldiers,

- and everyone else on board will sink into the heart of the sea on the day of your shipwreck.
- ²⁸The shorelands will quake
when your sailors cry out.
- ²⁹All who handle the oars
will abandon their ships;
the mariners and all the sailors will stand on the shore.
- ³⁰They will raise their voice and cry bitterly over you;
they will sprinkle dust on their heads
and roll in ashes.
- ³¹They will shave their heads because of you and will put on sackcloth.
They will weep over you with anguish of soul and with bitter mourning.
- ³²As they wail and mourn over you,
they will take up a lament concerning you:
“Who was ever silenced like Tyre, surrounded by the sea?”
- ³³When your merchandise went out on the seas,
you satisfied many nations;
with your great wealth and your wares
you enriched the kings of the earth.
- ³⁴Now you are shattered by the sea
in the depths of the waters;
your wares and all your company have gone down with you.
- ³⁵All who live in the coastlands
are appalled at you;

their kings shudder with horror
and their faces are distorted with fear.

³⁶The merchants among the nations scoff at you;
you have come to a horrible end
and will be no more.' ”

Ezekiel 28

A Prophecy Against the King of Tyre

¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, say to the ruler of Tyre,
‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“ ‘In the pride of your heart
you say, “I am a god;
I sit on the throne of a god
in the heart of the seas.”

But you are a mere mortal and not a god, though you think you are as wise as a god. Ezekiel Speaks with Courage

³Are you wiser than Daniel^a?
Is no secret hidden from you?

⁴By your wisdom and understanding you have gained wealth for yourself and amassed gold and silver in your treasuries.

⁵By your great skill in trading you have increased your wealth, and because of your wealth your heart has grown proud.

⁶“ ‘Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“ ‘Because you think you are wise,
as wise as a god,

⁷I am going to bring foreigners against you,
the most ruthless of nations;
they will draw their swords against your beauty and wisdom and pierce your shining splendor.

⁸They will bring you down to the pit, and you will die a violent death
in the heart of the seas.

⁹Will you then say, “I am a god,”
in the presence of those who kill you?
You will be but a mortal, not a god,
in the hands of those who slay you.

¹⁰You will die the death of the uncircumcised at the hands of foreigners.

I have spoken, declares the Sovereign LORD.’ ”

¹¹The word of the LORD came to me: ¹²“Son of man, take up a lament concerning the king of Tyre and say to him: ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“ ‘You were the seal of perfection, full of wisdom and perfect in beauty.

¹³You were in Eden,
the garden of God;
every precious stone adorned you:
carnelian, chrysolite and emerald,
topaz, onyx and jasper,
lapis lazuli, turquoise and beryl.^b
Your settings and mountings^c were made of gold;
on the day you were created they were prepared.

¹⁴You were anointed as a guardian cherub, for so I ordained you.

for so I created you.
You were on the holy mount of God;
you walked among the fiery stones.

¹⁵You were blameless in your ways from the day you were created till wickedness was found in you.

¹⁶Through your widespread trade you were filled with violence, and you sinned.

So I drove you in disgrace from the mount of God,
and I expelled you, guardian cherub,
from among the fiery stones.

¹⁷Your heart became proud on account of your beauty, and you corrupted your wisdom

because of your splendor.
So I threw you to the earth;
I made a spectacle of you before kings.

¹⁸By your many sins and dishonest trade
you have desecrated your sanctuaries.
So I made a fire come out from you,
and it consumed you,
and I reduced you to ashes on the ground in the sight of all who were watching.

¹⁹All the nations who knew you
are appalled at you;
you have come to a horrible end
and will be no more.' ”

A Prophecy Against Sidon

²⁰The word of the LORD came to me: ²¹“Son of man, set your face against Sidon; prophesy against her ²²and say: ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“ ‘I am against you, Sidon, and among you I will display my glory.
You will know that I am the LORD,
when I inflict punishment on you and within you am proved to be holy.

²³I will send a plague upon you and make blood flow in your streets.
The slain will fall within you,
with the sword against you on every side.
Then you will know that I am the LORD.

²⁴“ ‘No longer will the people of Israel have malicious neighbors who are painful briers and sharp thorns. Then they will know that I am the Sovereign LORD.

²⁵“ ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: When I gather the people of Israel from the nations where they have been scattered, I will be proved holy through them in the sight of the nations. Then they will live in their own land, which I gave to my servant Jacob. ²⁶They will live there in safety and will build houses and plant vineyards; they will live in safety when I inflict punishment on all their neighbors who maligned them. Then they will know that I am the LORD their God.’ ”

Ezekiel 29

A Prophecy Against Egypt

Judgment on Pharaoh

¹In the tenth year, in the tenth month on the twelfth day, the word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, set your face against Pharaoh king of Egypt and prophesy against him and against all Egypt. ³Speak to him and say: ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“ ‘I am against you, Pharaoh king of Egypt,
you great monster lying among your streams.
You say, “The Nile belongs to me;
I made it for myself.”

⁴But I will put hooks in your jaws and make the fish of your streams stick to your scales.
I will pull you out from among your streams,
with all the fish sticking to your scales.

⁵I will leave you in the desert,
you and all the fish of your streams.
You will fall on the open field and not be gathered or picked up.
I will give you as food to the beasts of the earth and the birds of the sky.

⁶Then all who live in Egypt will know that I am the LORD.

“ ‘You have been a staff of reed for the people of Israel. ⁷When they grasped you with their hands, you splintered and you tore open their shoulders; when they leaned on you, you broke and their backs were wrenched.^a

⁸“ ‘Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will bring a sword against you and kill both man and beast. ⁹Egypt will become a desolate wasteland. Then they will know that I am the LORD.

“ ‘Because you said, “The Nile is mine; I made it,” ¹⁰therefore I am against you and against your streams, and I will make the land of Egypt a ruin and a desolate waste from Migdol to Aswan, as far as the border of Cush.^b ¹¹The foot of neither man nor beast will pass through it; no one will live there for forty years. ¹²I will make the land of Egypt desolate among devastated lands, and her cities will lie desolate forty years among ruined cities. And I will disperse the Egyptians among the nations and scatter them through the countries.

¹³“ ‘Yet this is what the Sovereign LORD says: At the end of forty years I will gather the Egyptians from the nations where they were scattered. ¹⁴I will bring them back from captivity and return them to Upper Egypt, the land of their ancestry. There they will be a lowly kingdom. ¹⁵It will be the lowliest of kingdoms and will never again exalt itself above the other nations. I will make it so weak that it will never again rule over the nations. ¹⁶Egypt will no longer be a source of confidence for the people of Israel but will be a reminder of their sin in turning to her for help. Then they will know that I am the Sovereign LORD.’ ”

Nebuchadnezzar's Reward

¹⁷In the twenty-seventh year, in the first month on the first day, the word of the LORD came to me: ¹⁸“Son of man, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon drove his army in a hard campaign against Tyre; every head was rubbed bare and every shoulder made raw. Yet he and his army got no reward from the campaign he led against Tyre. ¹⁹Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am going to give Egypt to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and he will carry off its wealth. He will loot and plunder the land as pay for his army. ²⁰I have given him Egypt as a reward for his efforts because he and his army did it for me, declares the Sovereign LORD.

²¹“On that day I will make a horn^c grow for the Israelites, and I will open your mouth among them. Then they will know that I am the LORD.”

Ezekiel 30

A Lament Over Egypt

¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, prophesy and say: ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“ ‘Wail and say,
“Alas for that day!”

³For the day is near,
the day of the LORD is near—
a day of clouds,
a time of doom for the nations.

⁴A sword will come against Egypt, and anguish will come upon Cush.^a
When the slain fall in Egypt, her wealth will be carried away and her foundations torn down.

⁵Cush and Libya, Lydia and all Arabia, Kub and the people of the covenant land will fall by the sword along with Egypt.

⁶“ ‘This is what the LORD says:

“ ‘The allies of Egypt will fall and her proud strength will fail.

From Migdol to Aswan
they will fall by the sword within her,

declares the Sovereign LORD.

⁷“ ‘They will be desolate
among desolate lands, and their cities will lie

among ruined cities.

⁸Then they will know that I am the LORD,
when I set fire to Egypt and all her helpers are crushed.

⁹“ ‘On that day messengers will go out from me in ships to frighten Cush out of her complacency. Anguish will take hold of them on the day of Egypt’s doom, for it is sure to come.

¹⁰“ ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“ ‘I will put an end to the hordes of Egypt
by the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon.

¹¹He and his army—the most ruthless of nations—will be brought in to destroy the land.
They will draw their swords against Egypt and fill the land with the slain.

¹²I will dry up the waters of the Nile and sell the land to an evil nation;

by the hand of foreigners
I will lay waste the land and everything in it.

I the LORD have spoken.

¹³“ ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“ ‘I will destroy the idols and put an end to the images in Memphis.
No longer will there be a prince in Egypt,
and I will spread fear throughout the land.

¹⁴I will lay waste Upper Egypt, set fire to Zoan

 and inflict punishment on Thebes.
¹⁵I will pour out my wrath on Pelusium,
 the stronghold of Egypt,
 and wipe out the hordes of Thebes.
¹⁶I will set fire to Egypt;
 Pelusium will writhe in agony.
 Thebes will be taken by storm;
 Memphis will be in constant distress.
¹⁷The young men of Heliopolis and Bubastis will fall by the sword,
 and the cities themselves will go into captivity.
¹⁸Dark will be the day at Tahpanhes when I break the yoke of Egypt;
 there her proud strength will come to an end.
 She will be covered with clouds,
 and her villages will go into captivity.
¹⁹So I will inflict punishment on Egypt, and they will know that I am the LORD.' ”

Pharaoh's Arms Are Broken

²⁰In the eleventh year, in the first month on the seventh day, the word of the LORD came to me: ²¹“Son of man, I have broken the arm of Pharaoh king of Egypt. It has not been bound up to be healed or put in a splint so that it may become strong enough to hold a sword. ²²Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am against Pharaoh king of Egypt. I will break both his arms, the good arm as well as the broken one, and make the sword fall from his hand. ²³I will disperse the Egyptians among the nations and scatter them through the countries. ²⁴I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon and put my sword in his hand, but I will break the arms of Pharaoh, and he will groan before him like a mortally wounded man. ²⁵I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, but the arms of Pharaoh will fall limp. Then they will know that I am the LORD, when I put my sword into the hand of the king of Babylon and he brandishes it against Egypt. ²⁶I will disperse the Egyptians among the nations and scatter them through the countries. Then they will know that I am the LORD.”

Ezekiel 31

Pharaoh as a Felled Cedar of Lebanon

¹In the eleventh year, in the third month on the first day, the word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, say to Pharaoh king of Egypt and to his hordes:

“ ‘Who can be compared with you in majesty?

³Consider Assyria, once a cedar in Lebanon, with beautiful branches overshadowing the forest;
it towered on high,
its top above the thick foliage.

⁴The waters nourished it, deep springs made it grow tall;

their streams flowed

all around its base

and sent their channels to all the trees of the field.

⁵So it towered higher than all the trees of the field;

its boughs increased and its branches grew long, spreading because of abundant waters.

⁶All the birds of the sky
nested in its boughs,
all the animals of the wild gave birth under its branches;

all the great nations lived in its shade.

⁷It was majestic in beauty,
with its spreading boughs,

for its roots went down to abundant waters.

⁸The cedars in the garden of God
could not rival it,

nor could the junipers equal its boughs,

nor could the plane trees compare with its branches—no tree in the garden of God could match its beauty.

⁹I made it beautiful with abundant branches, the envy of all the trees of Eden
in the garden of God.

¹⁰“ ‘Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: Because the great cedar towered over the thick foliage, and because it was proud of its height, ¹¹I gave it into the hands of the ruler of the nations, for him to deal with according to its wickedness. I cast it aside, ¹²and the most ruthless of foreign nations cut it down and left it. Its boughs fell on the mountains and in all the valleys; its branches lay broken in all the ravines of the land. All the nations of the earth came out from under its shade and left it. ¹³All the birds settled on the fallen tree, and all the wild animals lived among its branches. ¹⁴Therefore no other trees by the waters are ever to tower proudly on high, lifting their tops above the thick foliage. No other trees so well-watered are ever to reach such a height; they are all destined for death, for the earth below, among mortals who go down to the realm of the dead.

¹⁸“ ‘Which of the trees of Eden can be compared with you in splendor and majesty? Yet you, too, will be brought down with the trees of Eden to the earth below; you will lie among the uncircumcised, with those killed by the sword.

“ ‘This is Pharaoh and all his hordes, declares the Sovereign LORD.’ ”

Ezekiel 32

A Lament Over Pharaoh

¹In the twelfth year, in the twelfth month on the first day, the word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, take up a lament concerning Pharaoh king of Egypt and say to him:

“ ‘You are like a lion among the nations;
you are like a monster in the seas thrashing about in your streams, churning the water with your feet and muddying the streams.

³“ ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“ ‘With a great throng of people
I will cast my net over you,
and they will haul you up in my net.

⁴I will throw you on the land and hurl you on the open field.
I will let all the birds of the sky settle on you and all the animals of the wild gorge themselves on you.

⁵I will spread your flesh on the mountains and fill the valleys with your remains.

⁶I will drench the land with your flowing blood all the way to the mountains, and the ravines will be filled with your flesh.

⁷When I snuff you out, I will cover the heavens and darken their stars;
I will cover the sun with a cloud,
and the moon will not give its light.

⁸All the shining lights in the heavens
I will darken over you;
I will bring darkness over your land,

declares the Sovereign LORD.

⁹I will trouble the hearts of many peoples
when I bring about your destruction among the nations, among^a lands you have not known.

¹⁰I will cause many peoples to be appalled at you,
and their kings will shudder with horror because of you when I brandish my sword before them.

On the day of your downfall

each of them will tremble every moment for his life.

¹¹“ ‘For this is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“ ‘The sword of the king of Babylon will come against you.

¹²I will cause your hordes to fall by the swords of mighty men—
the most ruthless of all nations.
They will shatter the pride of Egypt, and all her hordes will be overthrown.

¹³I will destroy all her cattle from beside abundant waters

no longer to be stirred by the foot of man or muddied by the hooves of cattle.

¹⁴Then I will let her waters settle and make her streams flow like oil,

declares the Sovereign LORD.

¹⁵When I make Egypt desolate and strip the land of everything in it, when I strike down all who live there,
then they will know that I am the LORD.'

¹⁶"This is the lament they will chant for her. The daughters of the nations will chant it; for Egypt and all her hordes they will chant it, declares the Sovereign LORD."

Egypt's Descent Into the Realm of the Dead

¹⁷In the twelfth year, on the fifteenth day of the month, the word of the LORD came to me: ¹⁸"Son of man, wail for the hordes of Egypt and consign to the earth below both her and the daughters of mighty nations, along with those who go down to the pit. ¹⁹Say to them, 'Are you more favored than others? Go down and be laid among the uncircumcised.' ²⁰They will fall among those killed by the sword. The sword is drawn; let her be dragged off with all her hordes. ²¹From within the realm of the dead the mighty leaders will say of Egypt and her allies, 'They have come down and they lie with the uncircumcised, with those killed by the sword.'

²⁸“You too, Pharaoh, will be broken and will lie among the uncircumcised, with those killed by the sword.

²⁹“Edom is there, her kings and all her princes; despite their power, they are laid with those killed by the sword. They lie with the uncircumcised, with those who go down to the pit.

³¹“Pharaoh—he and all his army—will see them and he will be consoled for all his hordes that were killed by the sword, declares the Sovereign LORD.

³²Although I had him spread terror in the land of the living, Pharaoh and all his hordes will be laid among the uncircumcised, with those killed by the sword, declares the Sovereign LORD.”

Ezekiel 33

Renewal of Ezekiel's Call as Watchman

¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, speak to your people and say to them: ‘When I bring the sword against a land, and the people of the land choose one of their men and make him their watchman, ³and he sees the sword coming against the land and blows the trumpet to warn the people, ⁴then if anyone hears the trumpet but does not heed the warning and the sword comes and takes their life, their blood will be on their own head. ⁵Since they heard the sound of the trumpet but did not heed the warning, their blood will be on their own head. If they had heeded the warning, they would have saved themselves. ⁶But if the watchman sees the sword coming and does not blow the trumpet to warn the people and the sword comes and takes someone's life, that person's life will be taken because of their sin, but I will hold the watchman accountable for their blood.’

⁷“Son of man, I have made you a watchman for the people of Israel; so hear the word I speak and give them warning from me. ⁸When I say to the wicked, ‘You wicked person, you will surely die,’ and you do not speak out to dissuade them from their ways, that wicked person will die for^a their sin, and I will hold you accountable for their blood. ⁹But if you do warn the wicked person to turn from their ways and they do not do so, they will die for their sin, though you yourself will be saved.

¹⁰“Son of man, say to the Israelites, ‘This is what you are saying: “Our offenses and sins weigh us down, and we are wasting away because of^b them. How then can we live?” ’ ¹¹Say to them, ‘As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, I take no pleasure in the death of the wicked, but rather that they turn from their ways and live. Turn! Turn from your evil ways! Why will you die, people of Israel?’

¹²“Therefore, son of man, say to your people, ‘If someone who is righteous disobeys, that person's former righteousness will count for nothing. And if someone who is wicked repents, that person's former wickedness will not bring condemnation. The righteous person who sins will not be allowed to live even though they were formerly righteous.’ ¹³If I tell a righteous person that they will surely live, but then they trust in their righteousness and do evil, none of the righteous things that person has done will be remembered; they will die for the evil they have done. ¹⁴And if I say to a wicked person, ‘You will surely die,’ but they then turn away from their sin and do what is just and right— ¹⁵if they give back what they took in pledge for a loan, return what they have stolen, follow the decrees that give life, and do no evil—that person will surely live; they will not die. ¹⁶None of the sins that person has committed will be remembered against them. They have done what is just and right; they will surely live.

¹⁷“Yet your people say, ‘The way of the Lord is not just.’ But it is their way that is not just. ¹⁸If a righteous person turns from their righteousness and does evil, they will die for it. ¹⁹And if a wicked person turns away from their wickedness and does what is just and right, they will live by doing so. ²⁰Yet you Israelites say, ‘The way of the Lord is not just.’ But I will judge each of you according to your own ways.”

Jerusalem’s Fall Explained

²¹In the twelfth year of our exile, in the tenth month on the fifth day, a man who had escaped from Jerusalem came to me and said, “The city has fallen!” ²²Now the evening before the man arrived, the hand of the LORD was on me, and he opened my mouth before the man came to me in the morning. So my mouth was opened and I was no longer silent.

²³Then the word of the LORD came to me: ²⁴“Son of man, the people living in those ruins in the land of Israel are saying, ‘Abraham was only one man, yet he possessed the land. But we are many; surely the land has been given to us as our possession.’ ²⁵Therefore say to them, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Since you eat meat with the blood still in it and look to your idols and shed blood, should you then possess the land? ²⁶You rely on your sword, you do detestable things, and each of you defiles his neighbor’s wife. Should you then possess the land?’

²⁷“Say this to them: ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: As surely as I live, those who are left in the ruins will fall by the sword, those out in the country I will give to the wild animals to be devoured, and those in strongholds and caves will die of a plague. ²⁸I will make the land a desolate waste, and her proud strength will come to an end, and the mountains of Israel will become desolate so that no one will cross them. ²⁹Then they will know that I am the LORD, when I have made the land a desolate waste because of all the detestable things they have done.’

³⁰“As for you, son of man, your people are talking together about you by the walls and at the doors of the houses, saying to each other, ‘Come and hear the message that has come from the LORD.’ ³¹My people come to you, as they usually do, and sit before you to hear your words, but they do not put them into practice. Their mouths speak of love, but their hearts are greedy for unjust gain. ³²Indeed, to them you are nothing more than one who sings love songs with a beautiful voice and plays an instrument well, for they hear your words but do not put them into practice.

³³“When all this comes true—and it surely will—then they will know that a prophet has been among them.”

Ezekiel 34

The LORD Will Be Israel's Shepherd

¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds of Israel; prophesy and say to them: ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Woe to you shepherds of Israel who only take care of yourselves! Should not shepherds take care of the flock? ³You eat the curds, clothe yourselves with the wool and slaughter the choice animals, but you do not take care of the flock. ⁴You have not strengthened the weak or healed the sick or bound up the injured. You have not brought back the strays or searched for the lost. You have ruled them harshly and brutally. ⁵So they were scattered because there was no shepherd, and when they were scattered they became food for all the wild animals. ⁶My sheep wandered over all the mountains and on every high hill. They were scattered over the whole earth, and no one searched or looked for them.

⁷“ ‘Therefore, you shepherds, hear the word of the LORD: ⁸As surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, because my flock lacks a shepherd and so has been plundered and has become food for all the wild animals, and because my shepherds did not search for my flock but cared for themselves rather than for my flock, ⁹therefore, you shepherds, hear the word of the LORD: ¹⁰This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am against the shepherds and will hold them accountable for my flock. I will remove them from tending the flock so that the shepherds can no longer feed themselves. I will rescue my flock from their mouths, and it will no longer be food for them.

¹¹“ ‘For this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I myself will search for my sheep and look after them. ¹²As a shepherd looks after his scattered flock when he is with them, so will I look after my sheep. I will rescue them from all the places where they were scattered on a day of clouds and darkness. ¹³I will bring them out from the nations and gather them from the countries, and I will bring them into their own land. I will pasture them on the mountains of Israel, in the ravines and in all the settlements in the land. ¹⁴I will tend them in a good pasture, and the mountain heights of Israel will be their grazing land. There they will lie down in good grazing land, and there they will feed in a rich pasture on the mountains of Israel. ¹⁵I myself will tend my sheep and have them lie down, declares the Sovereign LORD. ¹⁶I will search for the lost and bring back the strays. I will bind up the injured and strengthen the weak, but the sleek and the strong I will destroy. I will shepherd the flock with justice. Leaders Are to Relate as Shepherds to People

¹⁷“ ‘As for you, my flock, this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will judge between one sheep and another, and between rams and goats. ¹⁸Is it not enough for you to feed on the good pasture? Must you also trample the rest of your pasture with your feet? Is it not enough for you to drink clear water? Must you also muddy the rest with your feet? ¹⁹Must my flock feed on what you have trampled and drink what you have muddied with your feet?

²⁰“ ‘Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says to them: See, I myself will judge between the fat sheep and the lean sheep. ²¹Because you shove with flank and shoulder, butting all the weak sheep with your horns until you have driven them away, ²²I will save my flock, and they will no longer be plundered. I will judge between one sheep and another. ²³I will place over them one shepherd, my servant David, and he will tend them; he will tend them and be their shepherd. ²⁴I the LORD will be their God, and my servant David will be prince among them. I the LORD have spoken.

²⁵“ ‘I will make a covenant of peace with them and rid the land of savage beasts so that they may live in the wilderness and sleep in the forests in safety. ²⁶I will make them and the places surrounding my hill a blessing.^a I will send down showers in season; there will be showers of blessing. ²⁷The trees will yield their fruit and the ground will yield its crops; the people will be secure in their land. They will know that I am the LORD, when I break the bars of their yoke and rescue them from the hands of those who enslaved them. ²⁸They will no longer be plundered by the nations, nor will wild animals devour them. They will live in safety, and no one will make them afraid. ²⁹I will provide for them a land renowned for its crops, and they will no longer be victims of famine in the land or bear the scorn of the nations. ³⁰Then they will know that I, the LORD their God, am with them and that they, the Israelites, are my people, declares the Sovereign LORD. ³¹You are my sheep, the sheep of my pasture, and I am your God, declares the Sovereign LORD.’ ”

Ezekiel 35

A Prophecy Against Edom

¹The word of the LORD came to me: ²“Son of man, set your face against Mount Seir; prophesy against it ³and say: ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am against you, Mount Seir, and I will stretch out my hand against you and make you a desolate waste. ⁴I will turn your towns into ruins and you will be desolate. Then you will know that I am the LORD.

⁵“ ‘Because you harbored an ancient hostility and delivered the Israelites over to the sword at the time of their calamity, the time their punishment reached its climax, ⁶therefore as surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, I will give you over to bloodshed and it will pursue you. Since you did not hate bloodshed, bloodshed will pursue you. ⁷I will make Mount Seir a desolate waste and cut off from it all who come and go. ⁸I will fill your mountains with the slain; those killed by the sword will fall on your hills and in your valleys and in all your ravines. ⁹I will make you desolate forever; your towns will not be inhabited. Then you will know that I am the LORD.

¹⁰“ ‘Because you have said, “These two nations and countries will be ours and we will take possession of them,” even though I the LORD was there, ¹¹therefore as surely as I live, declares the Sovereign LORD, I will treat you in accordance with the anger and jealousy you showed in your hatred of them and I will make myself known among them when I judge you. ¹²Then you will know that I the LORD have heard all the contemptible things you have said against the mountains of Israel. You said, “They have been laid waste and have been given over to us to devour.” ¹³You boasted against me and spoke against me without restraint, and I heard it. ¹⁴This is what the Sovereign LORD says: While the whole earth rejoices, I will make you desolate. ¹⁵Because you rejoiced when the inheritance of Israel became desolate, that is how I will treat you. You will be desolate, Mount Seir, you and all of Edom. Then they will know that I am the LORD.’ ”

Ezekiel 36

Hope for the Mountains of Israel

¹“Son of man, prophesy to the mountains of Israel and say, ‘Mountains of Israel, hear the word of the LORD. ²This is what the Sovereign LORD says: The enemy said of you, “Aha! The ancient heights have become our possession.” ’

⁴therefore, mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Sovereign LORD: This is what the Sovereign LORD says to the mountains and hills, to the ravines and valleys, to the desolate ruins and the deserted towns that have been plundered and ridiculed by the rest of the nations around you— ⁵this is what the Sovereign LORD says: In my burning zeal I have spoken against the rest of the nations, and against all Edom, for with glee and with malice in their hearts they made my land their own possession so that they might plunder its pastureland.’ ⁶Therefore prophesy concerning the land of Israel and say to the mountains and hills, to the ravines and valleys: ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I speak in my jealous wrath because you have suffered the scorn of the nations. ⁷Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I swear with uplifted hand that the nations around you will also suffer scorn.

⁸“ ‘But you, mountains of Israel, will produce branches and fruit for my people Israel, for they will soon come home. ⁹I am concerned for you and will look on you with favor; you will be plowed and sown, ¹⁰and I will cause many people to live on you—yes, all of Israel. The towns will be inhabited and the ruins rebuilt. ¹¹I will increase the number of people and animals living on you, and they will be fruitful and become numerous. I will settle people on you as in the past and will make you prosper more than before. Then you will know that I am the LORD. ¹²I will cause people, my people Israel, to live on you. They will possess you, and you will be their inheritance; you will never again deprive them of their children.

¹³“ ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Because some say to you, “You devour people and deprive your nation of its children,” ¹⁴therefore you will no longer devour people or make your nation childless, declares the Sovereign

LORD. ¹⁵No longer will I make you hear the taunts of the nations, and no longer will you suffer the scorn of the peoples or cause your nation to fall, declares the Sovereign LORD.’ ”

Israel’s Restoration Assured

¹⁶Again the word of the LORD came to me: ¹⁷“Son of man, when the people of Israel were living in their own land, they defiled it by their conduct and their actions. Their conduct was like a woman’s monthly uncleanness in my sight. ¹⁸So I poured out my wrath on them because they had shed blood in the land and because they had defiled it with their idols. ¹⁹I dispersed them among the nations, and they were scattered through the countries; I judged them according to their conduct and their actions. ²⁰And wherever they went among the nations they profaned my holy name, for it was said of them, ‘These are the LORD’s people, and yet they had to leave his land.’ ²¹I had concern for my holy name, which the people of Israel profaned among the nations where they had gone.

²²“Therefore say to the Israelites, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: It is not for your sake, people of Israel, that I am going to do these things, but for the sake of my holy name, which you have profaned among the nations where you have gone. ²³I will show the holiness of my great name, which has been profaned among the nations, the name you have profaned among them. Then the nations will know that I am the LORD, declares the Sovereign LORD, when I am proved holy through you before their eyes.

²⁴“ ‘For I will take you out of the nations; I will gather you from all the countries and bring you back into your own land. ²⁵I will sprinkle clean water on you, and you will be clean; I will cleanse you from all your impurities and from all your idols. ²⁶I will give you a new heart and put a new spirit in you; I will remove from you your heart of stone and give you a heart of flesh. ²⁷And I will put my Spirit in you and move you to follow my decrees and be careful to keep my laws. ²⁸Then you will live in the land I gave your ancestors; you will be my people, and I will be your God. ²⁹I will save you from all your uncleanness. I will call for the grain and make it plentiful and will not bring famine upon you. ³⁰I will increase the fruit of the trees and the crops of the field, so that you will no longer suffer disgrace among the nations because of famine. ³¹Then you will remember your evil ways and wicked deeds, and you will loathe yourselves for your sins and detestable practices. ³²I want you to know that I am not doing this for your sake, declares the Sovereign LORD. Be ashamed and disgraced for your conduct, people of Israel!

³³“ ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: On the day I cleanse you from all your sins, I will resettle your towns, and the ruins will be rebuilt. ³⁴The desolate land will be cultivated instead of lying desolate in the sight of all who pass through it. ³⁵They will say, “This land that was laid waste has become like the garden of Eden; the cities that were lying in ruins, desolate and destroyed, are now fortified and inhabited.” ³⁶Then the nations around you that remain will know that I the LORD have rebuilt what was destroyed and have replanted what was desolate. I the LORD have spoken, and I will do it.’

³⁷“This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Once again I will yield to Israel’s plea and do this for them: I will make their people as numerous as sheep, ³⁸as numerous as the flocks for offerings at Jerusalem during her appointed festivals. So will the ruined cities be filled with flocks of people. Then they will know that I am the LORD.”

Ezekiel 37

The Valley of Dry Bones

¹The hand of the LORD was on me, and he brought me out by the Spirit of the LORD and set me in the middle of a valley; it was full of bones. ²He led me back and forth among them, and I saw a great many bones on the floor of the valley, bones that were very dry. ³He asked me, “Son of man, can these bones live?”

I said, “Sovereign LORD, you alone know.”

⁴Then he said to me, “Prophecy to these bones and say to them, ‘Dry bones, hear the word of the LORD! ⁵This is what the Sovereign LORD says to these bones: I will make breath^a enter you, and you will come to life. ⁶I will attach tendons to you and make flesh come upon you and cover you with skin; I will put breath in you, and you will come to life. Then you will know that I am the LORD.’ ”

⁷So I prophesied as I was commanded. And as I was prophesying, there was a noise, a rattling sound, and the bones came together, bone to bone. ⁸I looked, and tendons and flesh appeared on them and skin covered them, but there was no breath in them.

⁹Then he said to me, “Prophecy to the breath; prophecy, son of man, and say to it, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: Come, breath, from the four winds and breathe into these slain, that they may live.’ ” ¹⁰So I prophesied as he commanded me, and breath entered them; they came to life and stood up on their feet—a vast army.

¹¹Then he said to me: “Son of man, these bones are the people of Israel. They say, ‘Our bones are dried up and our hope is gone; we are cut off.’ ¹²Therefore prophecy and say to them: ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: My people, I am going to open your graves and bring you up from them; I will bring you back to the land of Israel. ¹³Then you, my people, will know that I am the LORD, when I open your graves and bring you up from them. ¹⁴I will put my Spirit in you and you will live, and I will settle you in your own land. Then you will know that I the LORD have spoken, and I have done it, declares the LORD.’ ”

One Nation Under One King

¹⁵The word of the LORD came to me: ¹⁶“Son of man, take a stick of wood and write on it, ‘Belonging to Judah and the Israelites associated with him.’ Then take another stick of wood, and write on it, ‘Belonging to Joseph (that is, to Ephraim) and all the Israelites associated with him.’ ¹⁷Join them together into one stick so that they will become one in your hand.

¹⁸“When your people ask you, ‘Won’t you tell us what you mean by this?’ ¹⁹say to them, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am going to take the stick of Joseph—which is in Ephraim’s hand—and of the Israelite tribes associated with him, and join it to Judah’s stick. I will make them into a single stick of wood, and they will become one in my hand.’ ²⁰Hold before their eyes the sticks you have written on ²¹and say to them, ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will take the Israelites out of the nations where they have gone. I will gather them from all around and bring them back into their own land. ²²I will make them one nation in the land, on the mountains of Israel. There will be one king over all of them and they will never again be two nations or be divided into two kingdoms. ²³They will no longer defile themselves with their idols and vile images or with any of their offenses, for I will save them from all their sinful backsliding,^b and I will cleanse them. They will be my people, and I will be their God.

²⁴“ ‘My servant David will be king over them, and they will all have one shepherd. They will follow my laws and be careful to keep my decrees. ²⁵They will live in the land I gave to my servant Jacob, the land where your ancestors lived. They and their children and their children’s children will live there forever, and David my servant will be their prince forever. ²⁶I will make a covenant of peace with them; it will be an everlasting covenant. I will establish them and increase their numbers, and I will put my sanctuary among them forever. ²⁷My dwelling place will be with them; I will be their God, and they will be my people. ²⁸Then the nations will know that I the LORD make Israel holy, when my sanctuary is among them forever.’ ”

The LORD's Great Victory Over the Nations

⁷“ ‘Get ready; be prepared, you and all the hordes gathered about you, and take command of them. ⁸After many days you will be called to arms. In future years you will invade a land that has recovered from war, whose people were gathered from many nations to the mountains of Israel, which had long been desolate. They had been brought out from the nations, and now all of them live in safety. ⁹You and all your troops and the many nations with you will go up, advancing like a storm; you will be like a cloud covering the land.

¹⁰“ ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: On that day thoughts will come into your mind and you will devise an evil scheme. ¹¹You will say, “I will invade a land of unwallled villages; I will attack a peaceful and unsuspecting people—all of them living without walls and without gates and bars. ¹²I will plunder and loot and turn my hand against the resettled ruins and the people gathered from the nations, rich in livestock and goods, living at the center of the land.^d” ¹³Sheba and Dedan and the merchants of Tarshish and all her villages^e will say to you, “Have you come to plunder? Have you gathered your hordes to loot, to carry off silver and gold, to take away livestock and goods and to seize much plunder?” ’

¹⁴“Therefore, son of man, prophesy and say to Gog: ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: In that day, when my people Israel are living in safety, will you not take notice of it? ¹⁵You will come from your place in the far north, you and many nations with you, all of them riding on horses, a great horde, a mighty army. ¹⁶You will advance against my people Israel like a cloud that covers the land. In days to come, Gog, I will bring you against my land, so that the nations may know me when I am proved holy through you before their eyes.

¹⁷“ ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: You are the one I spoke of in former days by my servants the prophets of Israel. At that time they prophesied for years that I would bring you against them. ¹⁸This is what will happen in that day: When Gog attacks the land of Israel, my hot anger will be aroused, declares the Sovereign LORD. ¹⁹In my zeal and fiery wrath I declare that at that time there shall be a great earthquake in the land of Israel. ²⁰The fish in the sea, the birds in the sky, the beasts of the field, every creature that moves along the ground, and all the people on the face of the earth will tremble at my presence. The mountains will be overturned, the cliffs will crumble and every wall will fall to the ground. ²¹I will summon a sword against Gog on all my mountains, declares the Sovereign LORD. Every man’s sword will be against his brother. ²²I will execute judgment on him with plague and bloodshed; I will pour down torrents of rain, hailstones and burning sulfur on him and on his troops and on the many nations with him. ²³And so I will show my greatness and my holiness, and I will make myself known in the sight of many nations. Then they will know that I am the LORD.’

¹“Son of man, prophesy against Gog and say: ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am against you, Gog, chief prince of^a Meshek and Tubal. ²I will turn you around and drag you along. I will bring you from the far north and send you against the mountains of Israel. ³Then I will strike your bow from your left hand and make your arrows drop from your right hand. ⁴On the mountains of Israel you will fall, you and all your troops and the nations with you. I will give you as food to all kinds of carrion birds and to the wild animals. ⁵You will fall in the open field, for I have spoken, declares the Sovereign LORD. ⁶I will send fire on Magog and on those who live in safety in the coastlands, and they will know that I am the LORD.

⁷“ ‘I will make known my holy name among my people Israel. I will no longer let my holy name be profaned, and the nations will know that I the LORD am the Holy One in Israel. ⁸It is coming! It will surely take place, declares the Sovereign LORD. This is the day I have spoken of.

⁹“ ‘Then those who live in the towns of Israel will go out and use the weapons for fuel and burn them up—the small and large shields, the bows and arrows, the war clubs and spears. For seven years they will use them for fuel. ¹⁰They will not need to gather wood from the fields or cut it from the forests, because they will use the weapons for fuel. And they will plunder those who plundered them and loot those who looted them, declares the Sovereign LORD.

¹¹“ ‘On that day I will give Gog a burial place in Israel, in the valley of those who travel east of the Sea. It will block the way of travelers, because Gog and all his hordes will be buried there. So it will be called the Valley of Hamon Gog.^b

¹²“ ‘For seven months the Israelites will be burying them in order to cleanse the land. ¹³All the people of the land will bury them, and the day I display my glory will be a memorable day for them, declares the Sovereign LORD. ¹⁴People will be continually employed in cleansing the land. They will spread out across the land and, along with others, they will bury any bodies that are lying on the ground.

“ ‘After the seven months they will carry out a more detailed search. ¹⁵As they go through the land, anyone who sees a human bone will leave a marker beside it until the gravediggers bury it in the Valley of Hamon Gog, ¹⁶near a town called

Hamonah.^c And so they will cleanse the land.'

²¹"I will display my glory among the nations, and all the nations will see the punishment I inflict and the hand I lay on them. ²²From that day forward the people of Israel will know that I am the LORD their God. ²³And the nations will know that the people of Israel went into exile for their sin, because they were unfaithful to me. So I hid my face from them and handed them over to their enemies, and they all fell by the sword. ²⁴I dealt with them according to their uncleanness and their offenses, and I hid my face from them.

²⁵"Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will now restore the fortunes of Jacob^d and will have compassion on all the people of Israel, and I will be zealous for my holy name. ²⁶They will forget their shame and all the unfaithfulness they showed toward me when they lived in safety in their land with no one to make them afraid. ²⁷When I have brought them back from the nations and have gathered them from the countries of their enemies, I will be proved holy through them in the sight of many nations. ²⁸Then they will know that I am the LORD their God, for though I sent them into exile among the nations, I will gather them to their own land, not leaving any behind. ²⁹I will no longer hide my face from them, for I will pour out my Spirit on the people of Israel, declares the Sovereign LORD."

Ezekiel 40

The Temple Area Restored ¹In the twenty-fifth year of our exile, at the beginning of the year, on the tenth of the month, in the fourteenth year after the fall of the city—on that very day the hand of the LORD was on me and he took me there. ²In visions of God he took me to the land of Israel and set me on a very high mountain, on whose south side were some buildings that looked like a city. ³He took me there, and I saw a man whose appearance was like bronze; he was standing in the gateway with a linen cord and a measuring rod in his hand. ⁴The man said to me, “Son of man, look carefully and listen closely and pay attention to everything I am going to show you, for that is why you have been brought here. Tell the people of Israel everything you see.” Great

Leaders See the Big Picture and the Little Process

The East Gate to the Outer Court ⁵I saw a wall completely surrounding the temple area. The length of the measuring rod in the man’s hand was six long cubits,^a each of which was a cubit and a handbreadth. He measured the wall; it was one measuring rod thick and one rod high.

⁶Then he went to the east gate. He climbed its steps and measured the threshold of the gate; it was one rod deep. ⁷The alcoves for the guards were one rod long and one rod wide, and the projecting walls between the alcoves were five cubits^b thick. And the threshold of the gate next to the portico facing the temple was one rod deep.

⁸Then he measured the portico of the gateway; ⁹it^c was eight cubits^d deep and its jambs were two cubits^e thick. The portico of the gateway faced the temple.

¹⁰Inside the east gate were three alcoves on each side; the three had the same measurements, and the faces of the projecting walls on each side had the same measurements. ¹¹Then he measured the width of the entrance of the gateway; it was ten cubits and its length was thirteen cubits.^f ¹²In front of each alcove was a wall one cubit high, and the alcoves were six cubits square. ¹³Then he measured the gateway from the top of the rear wall of one alcove to the top of the opposite

one; the distance was twenty-five cubits^g from one parapet opening to the opposite one. ¹⁴He measured along the faces of the projecting walls all around the inside of the gateway—sixty cubits.^h The measurement was up to the porticoⁱ facing the courtyard.^j ¹⁵The distance from the entrance of the gateway to the far end of its portico was fifty cubits.^k ¹⁶The alcoves and the projecting walls inside the gateway were surmounted by narrow parapet openings all around, as was the portico; the openings all around faced inward. The faces of the projecting walls were decorated with palm trees.

The Outer Court ¹⁷*Then he brought me into the outer court. There I saw some rooms and a pavement that had been constructed all around the court; there were thirty rooms along the pavement. ¹⁸It abutted the sides of the gateways and was as wide as they were long; this was the lower pavement. ¹⁹Then he measured the distance from the inside of the lower gateway to the outside of the inner court; it was a hundred cubits^l on the east side as well as on the north.*

The North Gate ²⁰*Then he measured the length and width of the north gate, leading into the outer court. ²¹Its alcoves—three on each side—its projecting walls and its portico had the same measurements as those of the first gateway. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. ²²Its openings, its portico and its palm tree decorations had the same measurements as those of the gate facing east. Seven steps led up to it, with its portico opposite them. ²³There was a gate to the inner court facing the north gate, just as there was on the east. He measured from one gate to the opposite one; it was a hundred cubits.*

The South Gate ²⁴*Then he led me to the south side and I saw the south gate. He measured its jambs and its portico, and they had the same measurements as the others. ²⁵The gateway and its portico had narrow openings all around, like the openings of the others. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. ²⁶Seven steps led up to it, with its portico opposite them; it had palm tree decorations on the faces of the projecting walls on each side. ²⁷The inner court also had a gate facing south, and he measured from this gate to the outer gate on the south side; it was a hundred cubits.*

The Gates to the Inner Court ²⁸*Then he brought me into the inner court through the south gate, and he measured the south gate; it had the same* measurements as the others. ²⁹Its alcoves, its projecting walls and its portico had the same measurements as the others. The gateway and its portico had openings all around. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide.

³²Then he brought me to the inner court on the east side, and he measured the gateway; it had the same measurements as the others. ³³Its alcoves, its projecting walls and its portico had the same measurements as the others. The gateway and its portico had openings all around. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. ³⁴Its portico faced the outer court; palm trees decorated the jambs on either side, and eight steps led up to it.

³⁵Then he brought me to the north gate and measured it. It had the same measurements as the others, ³⁶as did its alcoves, its projecting walls and its portico, and it had openings all around. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. ³⁷Its portico^m faced the outer court; palm trees decorated the jambs on either side, and eight steps led up to it.

The Rooms for Preparing Sacrifices ³⁸A room with a doorway was by the portico in each of the inner gateways, where the burnt offerings were washed.

³⁹In the portico of the gateway were two tables on each side, on which the burnt offerings, sin offeringsⁿ and guilt offerings were slaughtered. ⁴⁰By the outside wall of the portico of the gateway, near the steps at the entrance of the north gateway were two tables, and on the other side of the steps were two tables. ⁴¹So there were four tables on one side of the gateway and four on the other—eight tables in all—on which the sacrifices were slaughtered. ⁴²There were also four tables of dressed stone for the burnt offerings, each a cubit and a half long, a cubit and a half wide and a cubit high.^o On them were placed the utensils for slaughtering the burnt offerings and the other sacrifices. ⁴³And double-pronged hooks, each a handbreadth^p long, were attached to the wall all around. The tables were for the flesh of the offerings.

The Rooms for the Priests ⁴⁴Outside the inner gate, within the inner court, were two rooms, one^q at the side of the north gate and facing south, and another at the side of the south^r gate and facing north. ⁴⁵He said to me, “The room facing south is for the priests who guard the temple, ⁴⁶and the room facing north is for the priests who guard the altar. These are the sons of Zadok, who are the only Levites who may draw near to the LORD to minister before him.”

⁴⁷Then he measured the court: It was square—a hundred cubits long and a hundred cubits wide. And the altar was in front of the temple.

The New Temple ⁴⁸He brought me to the portico of the temple and measured the jambs of the portico; they were five cubits wide on either side. The width of the entrance was fourteen cubits^s and its projecting walls were^t three cubits^u wide on either side. ⁴⁹The portico was twenty cubits^v wide, and twelve^w cubits^x from front to back. It was reached by a flight of stairs,^y and there were pillars on each side of the jambs.

Ezekiel 41

¹Then the man brought me to the main hall and measured the jambs; the width of the jambs was six cubits^a on each side.^b ²The entrance was ten cubits^c wide, and the projecting walls on each side of it were five cubits^d wide. He also measured the main hall; it was forty cubits long and twenty cubits wide.^e

³Then he went into the inner sanctuary and measured the jambs of the entrance; each was two cubits^f wide. The entrance was six cubits wide, and the projecting walls on each side of it were seven cubits^g wide. ⁴And he measured the length of the inner sanctuary; it was twenty cubits, and its width was twenty cubits across the end of the main hall. He said to me, “This is the Most Holy Place.”

⁵Then he measured the wall of the temple; it was six cubits thick, and each side room around the temple was four cubits^h wide. ⁶The side rooms were on three levels, one above another, thirty on each level. There were ledges all around the wall of the temple to serve as supports for the side rooms, so that the supports were not inserted into the wall of the temple. ⁷The side rooms all around the temple were wider at each successive level. The structure surrounding the temple was built in ascending stages, so that the rooms widened as one went upward. A stairway went up from the lowest floor to the top floor through the middle floor.

⁸I saw that the temple had a raised base all around it, forming the foundation of the side rooms. It was the length of the rod, six long cubits. ⁹The outer wall of the side rooms was five cubits thick. The open area between the side rooms of the temple ¹⁰and the priests’ rooms was twenty cubits wide all around the temple. ¹¹There were entrances to the side rooms from the open area, one on the north and another on the south; and the base adjoining the open area was five cubits wide all around.

¹²The building facing the temple courtyard on the west side was seventy cubitsⁱ wide. The wall of the building was five cubits thick all around, and its length was ninety cubits.^j

¹³Then he measured the temple; it was a hundred cubits^k long, and the temple courtyard and the building with its walls were also a hundred cubits long. ¹⁴The width of the temple courtyard on the east, including the front of the temple, was a hundred cubits.

¹⁵Then he measured the length of the building facing the courtyard at the rear of the temple, including its galleries on each side; it was a hundred cubits.

The main hall, the inner sanctuary and the portico facing the court, ¹⁶as well as the thresholds and the narrow windows and galleries around the three of them—everything beyond and including the threshold was covered with wood. The floor, the wall up to the windows, and the windows were covered. ¹⁷In the space above the outside of the entrance to the inner sanctuary and on the walls at regular intervals all around the inner and outer sanctuary ¹⁸were carved cherubim and palm trees. Palm trees alternated with cherubim. Each cherub had two faces: ¹⁹the face of a human being toward the palm tree on one side and the face of a lion toward the palm tree on the other. They were carved all around the whole temple. ²⁰From the floor to the area above the entrance, cherubim and palm trees were carved on the wall of the main hall.

²¹The main hall had a rectangular doorframe, and the one at the front of the Most Holy Place was similar. ²²There was a wooden altar three cubits^l high and two cubits square^m; its corners, its baseⁿ and its sides were of wood. The man said to me, “This is the table that is before the LORD.” ²³Both the main hall and the Most Holy Place had double doors. ²⁴Each door had two leaves—two hinged leaves for each door. ²⁵And on the doors of the main hall were carved cherubim and palm trees like those carved on the walls, and there was a wooden overhang on the front of the portico. ²⁶On the sidewalls of the portico were narrow windows with palm trees carved on each side. The side rooms of the temple also had overhangs.

The Rooms for the Priests ¹Then the man led me northward into the outer court and brought me to the rooms opposite the temple courtyard and opposite the outer wall on the north side. ²The building whose door faced north was a hundred cubits long and fifty cubits wide.^a ³Both in the section twenty cubits^b from the inner court and in the section opposite the pavement of the outer court, gallery faced gallery at the three levels. ⁴In front of the rooms was an inner passageway ten cubits wide and a hundred cubits^c long.^d Their doors were on the north. ⁵Now the upper rooms were narrower, for the galleries took more space from them than from the rooms on the lower and middle floors of the building. ⁶The rooms on the top floor had no pillars, as the courts had; so they were smaller in floor space than those on the lower and middle floors. ⁷There was an outer wall parallel to the rooms and the outer court; it extended in front of the rooms for fifty cubits. ⁸While the row of rooms on the side next to the outer court was fifty cubits long, the row on the side nearest the sanctuary was a hundred cubits long. ⁹The lower rooms had an entrance on the east side as one enters them from the outer court.

¹⁰On the south side^e along the length of the wall of the outer court, adjoining the temple courtyard and opposite the outer wall, were rooms ¹¹with a passageway in front of them. These were like the rooms on the north; they had the same length and width, with similar exits and dimensions. Similar to the doorways on the north ¹²were the doorways of the rooms on the south. There was a doorway at the beginning of the passageway that was parallel to the corresponding wall extending eastward, by which one enters the rooms.

¹³Then he said to me, “The north and south rooms facing the temple courtyard are the priests’ rooms, where the priests who approach the LORD will eat the most holy offerings. There they will put the most holy offerings—the grain offerings, the sin offerings^f and the guilt offerings—for the place is holy. ¹⁴Once the priests enter the holy precincts, they are not to go into the outer court until they leave behind the garments in which they minister, for these are holy. They are to put on other clothes before they go near the places that are for the people.”

¹⁵When he had finished measuring what was inside the temple area, he led me out by the east gate and measured the area all around: ¹⁶He measured the east side with the measuring rod; it was five hundred cubits.^{g,h} ¹⁷He measured the north side; it was five hundred cubitsⁱ by the measuring rod. ¹⁸He measured the south side; it was five hundred cubits by the measuring rod. ¹⁹Then he turned to the west side and measured; it was five hundred cubits by the measuring rod. ²⁰So he measured the area on all four sides. It had a wall around it, five hundred cubits long and five hundred cubits wide, to separate the holy from the common.

Ezekiel 43

God's Glory Returns to the Temple ¹Then the man brought me to the gate facing east, ²and I saw the glory of the God of Israel coming from the east. His voice was like the roar of rushing waters, and the land was radiant with his glory. ³The vision I saw was like the vision I had seen when he^a came to destroy the city and like the visions I had seen by the Kebar River, and I fell facedown. ⁴The glory of the LORD entered the temple through the gate facing east. ⁵Then the Spirit lifted me up and brought me into the inner court, and the glory of the LORD filled the temple.

⁶While the man was standing beside me, I heard someone speaking to me from inside the temple. ⁷He said: "Son of man, this is the place of my throne and the place for the soles of my feet. This is where I will live among the Israelites forever. The people of Israel will never again defile my holy name—neither they nor their kings—by their prostitution and the funeral offerings^b for their kings at their death.^c ⁸When they placed their threshold next to my threshold and their doorposts beside my doorposts, with only a wall between me and them, they defiled my holy name by their detestable practices. So I destroyed them in my anger. ⁹Now let them put away from me their prostitution and the funeral offerings for their kings, and I will live among them forever.

¹⁰"Son of man, describe the temple to the people of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their sins. Let them consider its perfection, ¹¹and if they are ashamed of all they have done, make known to them the design of the temple—its arrangement, its exits and entrances—its whole design and all its regulations^d and laws. Write these down before them so that they may be faithful to its design and follow all its regulations.

¹²"This is the law of the temple: All the surrounding area on top of the mountain will be most holy. Such is the law of the temple.

The Great Altar Restored ¹³"These are the measurements of the altar in long cubits,^e that cubit being a cubit and a handbreadth: Its gutter is a cubit deep and a cubit wide, with a rim of one span^f around the edge. And this is the height of the altar: ¹⁴From the gutter on the ground up to the lower ledge that goes around the altar it is two cubits high, and the ledge is a cubit wide.^g From this lower ledge to the upper ledge that goes around the altar it is four cubits high, and that ledge is also a cubit wide.^h ¹⁵Above that, the altar hearth is four cubits high, and four horns project upward from the hearth. ¹⁶The altar hearth is square, twelve cubitsⁱ long and twelve cubits wide. ¹⁷The upper ledge also is square, fourteen cubits^j long and fourteen cubits wide. All around the altar is a gutter of one cubit with a rim of half a cubit.^k The steps of the altar face east.”

¹⁸Then he said to me, “Son of man, this is what the Sovereign LORD says: These will be the regulations for sacrificing burnt offerings and splashing blood against the altar when it is built: ¹⁹You are to give a young bull as a sin offering^l to the Levitical priests of the family of Zadok, who come near to minister before me, declares the Sovereign LORD. ²⁰You are to take some of its blood and put it on the four horns of the altar and on the four corners of the upper ledge and all around the rim, and so purify the altar and make atonement for it. ²¹You are to take the bull for the sin offering and burn it in the designated part of the temple area outside the sanctuary.

²²“On the second day you are to offer a male goat without defect for a sin offering, and the altar is to be purified as it was purified with the bull. ²³When you have finished purifying it, you are to offer a young bull and a ram from the flock, both without defect. ²⁴You are to offer them before the LORD, and the priests are to sprinkle salt on them and sacrifice them as a burnt offering to the LORD.

²⁵“For seven days you are to provide a male goat daily for a sin offering; you are also to provide a young bull and a ram from the flock, both without defect. ²⁶For seven days they are to make atonement for the altar and cleanse it; thus they will dedicate it. ²⁷At the end of these days, from the eighth day on, the priests are to present your burnt offerings and fellowship offerings on the altar. Then I will accept you, declares the Sovereign LORD.”

Ezekiel 44

The Priesthood Restored ¹Then the man brought me back to the outer gate of the sanctuary, the one facing east, and it was shut.

²The LORD said to me, “This gate is to remain shut. It must not be opened; no one may enter through it. It is to remain shut because the LORD, the God of Israel, has entered through it. ³The prince himself is the only one who may sit inside the gateway to eat in the presence of the LORD. He is to enter by way of the portico of the gateway and go out the same way.”

⁴Then the man brought me by way of the north gate to the front of the temple. I looked and saw the glory of the LORD filling the temple of the LORD, and I fell facedown.

¹⁰“ ‘The Levites who went far from me when Israel went astray and who wandered from me after their idols must bear the consequences of their sin.

¹¹They may serve in my sanctuary, having charge of the gates of the temple and serving in it; they may slaughter the burnt offerings and sacrifices for the people and stand before the people and serve them. ¹²But because they served them in the presence of their idols and made the people of Israel fall into sin, therefore I have sworn with uplifted hand that they must bear the consequences of their sin, declares the Sovereign LORD. ¹³They are not to come near to serve me as priests or come near any of my holy things or my most holy offerings; they must bear the shame of their detestable practices. ¹⁴And I will appoint them to guard the temple for all the work that is to be done in it.

¹⁵“ ‘But the Levitical priests, who are descendants of Zadok and who guarded my sanctuary when the Israelites went astray from me, are to come near to minister before me; they are to stand before me to offer sacrifices of fat and blood, declares the Sovereign LORD. ¹⁶They alone are to enter my sanctuary; they alone are to come near my table to minister before me and serve me as guards.

²⁰“ ‘They must not shave their heads or let their hair grow long, but they are to keep the hair of their heads trimmed. ²¹No priest is to drink wine when he enters the inner court. ²²They must not marry widows or divorced women; they may marry only virgins of Israelite descent or widows of priests. ²³They are to teach my people the difference between the holy and the common and show them how to distinguish between the unclean and the clean.

²⁴“ ‘In any dispute, the priests are to serve as judges and decide it according to my ordinances. They are to keep my laws and my decrees for all my appointed festivals, and they are to keep my Sabbaths holy.

²⁵“ ‘A priest must not defile himself by going near a dead person; however, if the dead person was his father or mother, son or daughter, brother or unmarried sister, then he may defile himself. ²⁶After he is cleansed, he must wait seven days. ²⁷On the day he goes into the inner court of the sanctuary to minister in the sanctuary, he is to offer a sin offering^a for himself, declares the Sovereign LORD.

²⁸“ ‘I am to be the only inheritance the priests have. You are to give them no possession in Israel; I will be their possession. ²⁹They will eat the grain offerings, the sin offerings and the guilt offerings; and everything in Israel devoted^b to the LORD will belong to them. ³⁰The best of all the firstfruits and of all your special gifts will belong to the priests. You are to give them the first portion of your ground meal so that a blessing may rest on your household. ³¹The priests must not eat anything, whether bird or animal, found dead or torn by wild animals.

Ezekiel 45

Israel Fully Restored ¹“ ‘When you allot the land as an inheritance, you are to present to the LORD a portion of the land as a sacred district, 25,000 cubits^a long and 20,000^b cubits^c wide; the entire area will be holy. ²Of this, a section 500 cubits^d square is to be for the sanctuary, with 50 cubits^e around it for open land. ³In the sacred district, measure off a section 25,000 cubits long and 10,000 cubits^f wide. In it will be the sanctuary, the Most Holy Place. ⁴It will be the sacred portion of the land for the priests, who minister in the sanctuary and who draw near to minister before the LORD. It will be a place for their houses as well as a holy place for the sanctuary. ⁵An area 25,000 cubits long and 10,000 cubits wide will belong to the Levites, who serve in the temple, as their possession for towns to live in.^g ⁶“ ‘You are to give the city as its property an area 5,000 cubits^h wide and 25,000 cubits long, adjoining the sacred portion; it will belong to all Israel.

⁹“ ‘This is what the Sovereign LORD says: You have gone far enough, princes of Israel! Give up your violence and oppression and do what is just and right. Stop dispossessing my people, declares the Sovereign LORD. ¹⁰You are to use accurate scales, an accurate ephahⁱ and an accurate bath.^j ¹¹The ephah and the bath are to be the same size, the bath containing a tenth of a homer and the ephah a tenth of a homer; the homer is to be the standard measure for both. ¹²The shekel^k is to consist of twenty gerahs. Twenty shekels plus twenty-five shekels plus fifteen shekels equal one mina.^l homer of wheat and a sixth of an ephahⁿ from each homer of barley. ¹⁴The prescribed portion of olive oil, measured by the bath, is a tenth of a bath^o from each cor (which consists of ten baths or one homer, for ten baths are equivalent to a homer). ¹⁵Also one sheep is to be taken from every flock of two hundred from the well-watered pastures of Israel. These will be used for the grain offerings, burnt offerings and fellowship offerings to make atonement for the people, declares the Sovereign LORD. ¹⁶All the people of the land will be required to give this special offering to the prince in Israel. ¹⁷It will be the duty of the prince to provide the burnt offerings, grain offerings and drink offerings at the festivals, the New Moons and the Sabbaths—at all the appointed festivals of Israel. He will provide the sin offerings,^p grain offerings, burnt offerings and fellowship offerings to make atonement for the Israelites.

¹³“ ‘This is the special gift you are to offer: a sixth of an ephah^m from each

²¹“ ‘In the first month on the fourteenth day you are to observe the Passover, a festival lasting seven days, during which you shall eat bread made without yeast. ²²On that day the prince is to provide a bull as a sin offering for himself and for all the people of the land. ²³Every day during the seven days of the festival he is to provide seven bulls and seven rams without defect as a burnt offering to the LORD, and a male goat for a sin offering. ²⁴He is to provide as a grain offering an ephah for each bull and an ephah for each ram, along with a hin^q of olive oil for each ephah.

²⁵“ ‘During the seven days of the festival, which begins in the seventh month on the fifteenth day, he is to make the same provision for sin offerings, burnt offerings, grain offerings and oil.

Ezekiel 46

¹²“ ‘When the prince provides a freewill offering to the LORD—whether a burnt offering or fellowship offerings—the gate facing east is to be opened for him. He shall offer his burnt offering or his fellowship offerings as he does on the Sabbath day. Then he shall go out, and after he has gone out, the gate will be shut.

¹³“ ‘Every day you are to provide a year-old lamb without defect for a burnt offering to the LORD; morning by morning you shall provide it. ¹⁴You are also to provide with it morning by morning a grain offering, consisting of a sixth of an ephah^c with a third of a hin^d of oil to moisten the flour. The presenting of this grain offering to the LORD is a lasting ordinance. ¹⁵So the lamb and the grain offering and the oil shall be provided morning by morning for a regular burnt offering.

¹⁹Then the man brought me through the entrance at the side of the gate to the sacred rooms facing north, which belonged to the priests, and showed me a place at the western end. ²⁰He said to me, “This is the place where the priests are to cook the guilt offering and the sin offering^e and bake the grain offering, to avoid bringing them into the outer court and consecrating the people.”

²¹He then brought me to the outer court and led me around to its four corners, and I saw in each corner another court. ²²In the four corners of the outer court were enclosed^f courts, forty cubits long and thirty cubits wide;^g each of the courts in the four corners was the same size. ²³Around the inside of each of the four courts was a ledge of stone, with places for fire built all around under the ledge. ²⁴He said to me, “These are the kitchens where those who minister at the temple are to cook the sacrifices of the people.”

Ezekiel 47

The River From the Temple ¹The man brought me back to the entrance to the temple, and I saw water coming out from under the threshold of the temple toward the east (for the temple faced east). The water was coming down from under the south side of the temple, south of the altar. ²He then brought me out through the north gate and led me around the outside to the outer gate facing east, and the water was trickling from the south side.

³As the man went eastward with a measuring line in his hand, he measured off a thousand cubits^a and then led me through water that was ankle-deep. ⁴He measured off another thousand cubits and led me through water that was knee-deep. He measured off another thousand and led me through water that was up to the waist. ⁵He measured off another thousand, but now it was a river that I could not cross, because the water had risen and was deep enough to swim in—a river that no one could cross. ⁶He asked me, “Son of man, do you see this?”

Then he led me back to the bank of the river. ⁷When I arrived there, I saw a great number of trees on each side of the river. ⁸He said to me, “This water flows toward the eastern region and goes down into the Arabah,^b where it enters the Dead Sea. When it empties into the sea, the salty water there becomes fresh. ⁹Swarms of living creatures will live wherever the river flows. There will be large numbers of fish, because this water flows there and makes the salt water fresh; so where the river flows everything will live. ¹⁰Fishermen will stand along the shore; from En Gedi to En Eglaim there will be places for spreading nets. The fish will be of many kinds—like the fish of the Mediterranean Sea. ¹¹But the swamps and marshes will not become fresh; they will be left for salt. ¹²Fruit trees of all kinds will grow on both banks of the river. Their leaves will not wither, nor will their fruit fail. Every month they will bear fruit, because the water from the sanctuary flows to them. Their fruit will serve for food and their leaves for healing.”

The Boundaries of the Land ¹³This is what the Sovereign LORD says: “These are the boundaries of the land that you will divide among the twelve tribes of Israel as their inheritance, with two portions for Joseph. ¹⁴You are to divide it equally among them. Because I swore with uplifted hand to give it to your ancestors, this land will become your inheritance.

¹⁵“This is to be the boundary of the land:

“On the north side it will run from the Mediterranean Sea by the Hethlon road past Lebo Hamath to Zedad, ¹⁶Berothah^c and Sibraim (which lies on the border between Damascus and Hamath), as far as Hazer Hattikon, which is on the border of Hauran. ¹⁷The boundary will extend from the sea to Hazar Enan,^d along the northern border of Damascus, with the border of Hamath to the north. This will be the northern boundary.

³“On the east side the boundary will run between Hauran and Damascus, along the Jordan between Gilead and the land of Israel, to the Dead Sea and as far as Tamar.^e This will be the eastern boundary.

³“On the south side it will run from Tamar as far as the waters of Meribah Kadesh, then along the Wadi of Egypt to the Mediterranean Sea. This will be the southern boundary.

³“On the west side, the Mediterranean Sea will be the boundary to a point opposite Lebo Hamath. This will be the western boundary.

²¹“You are to distribute this land among yourselves according to the tribes of Israel. ²²You are to allot it as an inheritance for yourselves and for the foreigners residing among you and who have children. You are to consider them as native-born Israelites; along with you they are to be allotted an inheritance among the tribes of Israel. ²³In whatever tribe a foreigner resides, there you are to give them their inheritance,” declares the Sovereign LORD.

Ezekiel 48

The Division of the Land ¹“These are the tribes, listed by name: At the northern frontier, Dan will have one portion; it will follow the Hethlon road to Lebo Hamath; Hazar Enan and the northern border of Damascus next to Hamath will be part of its border from the east side to the west side.

²“Asher will have one portion; it will border the territory of Dan from east to west.

³“Naphtali will have one portion; it will border the territory of Asher from east to west.

⁴“Manasseh will have one portion; it will border the territory of Naphtali from east to west.

⁵“Ephraim will have one portion; it will border the territory of Manasseh from east to west.

⁶“Reuben will have one portion; it will border the territory of Ephraim from east to west.

⁸“Bordering the territory of Judah from east to west will be the portion you are to present as a special gift. It will be 25,000 cubits^a wide, and its length from east to west will equal one of the tribal portions; the sanctuary will be in the center of it.

⁹“The special portion you are to offer to the LORD will be 25,000 cubits long and 10,000 cubits^b wide. ¹⁰This will be the sacred portion for the priests. It will be 25,000 cubits long on the north side, 10,000 cubits wide on the west side, 10,000 cubits wide on the east side and 25,000 cubits long on the south side. In the center of it will be the sanctuary of the LORD. ¹¹This will be for the consecrated priests, the Zadokites, who were faithful in serving me and did not go astray as the Levites did when the Israelites went astray. ¹²It will be a special gift to them from the sacred portion of the land, a most holy portion, bordering the territory of the Levites.

¹³“Alongside the territory of the priests, the Levites will have an allotment 25,000 cubits long and 10,000 cubits wide. Its total length will be 25,000 cubits and its width 10,000 cubits. ¹⁴They must not sell or exchange any of it. This is the best of the land and must not pass into other hands, because it is holy to the LORD.

¹⁵“The remaining area, 5,000 cubits^c wide and 25,000 cubits long, will be for the common use of the city, for houses and for pastureland. The city will be in the center of it ¹⁶and will have these measurements: the north side 4,500 cubits,^d the south side 4,500 cubits, the east side 4,500 cubits, and the west side 4,500 cubits. ¹⁷The pastureland for the city will be 250 cubits^e on the north, 250 cubits on the south, 250 cubits on the east, and 250 cubits on the west. ¹⁸What remains of the area, bordering on the sacred portion and running the length of it, will be 10,000 cubits on the east side and 10,000 cubits on the west side. Its produce will supply food for the workers of the city. ¹⁹The workers from the city who farm it will come from all the tribes of Israel. ²⁰The entire portion will be a square, 25,000 cubits on each side. As a special gift you will set aside the sacred portion, along with the property of the city.

²¹“What remains on both sides of the area formed by the sacred portion and the property of the city will belong to the prince. It will extend eastward from the 25,000 cubits of the sacred portion to the eastern border, and westward from the 25,000 cubits to the western border. Both these areas running the length of the tribal portions will belong to the prince, and the sacred portion with the temple sanctuary will be in the center of them. ²²So the property of the Levites and the property of the city will lie in the center of the area that belongs to the prince. The area belonging to the prince will lie between the border of Judah and the border of Benjamin.

²³“As for the rest of the tribes: Benjamin will have one portion; it will extend from the east side to the west side.

²⁴“Simeon will have one portion; it will border the territory of Benjamin from east to west.

²⁵“Issachar will have one portion; it will border the territory of Simeon from east to west.

²⁶“Zebulun will have one portion; it will border the territory of Issachar from east to west.

²⁷“Gad will have one portion; it will border the territory of Zebulun from east to west.

²⁸“The southern boundary of Gad will run south from Tamar to the waters of Meribah Kadesh, then along the Wadi of Egypt to the Mediterranean Sea.

²⁹“This is the land you are to allot as an inheritance to the tribes of Israel, and these will be their portions,” declares the Sovereign LORD.

The Gates of the New City ³⁰“These will be the exits of the city: Beginning on the north side, which is 4,500 cubits long, ³¹the gates of the city will be named after the tribes of Israel. The three gates on the north side will be the gate of Reuben, the gate of Judah and the gate of Levi.

³²“On the east side, which is 4,500 cubits long, will be three gates: the gate of Joseph, the gate of Benjamin and the gate of Dan.

³³“On the south side, which measures 4,500 cubits, will be three gates: the gate of Simeon, the gate of Issachar and the gate of Zebulun.

³⁴“On the west side, which is 4,500 cubits long, will be three gates: the gate of Gad, the gate of Asher and the gate of Naphtali.

³⁵“The distance all around will be 18,000 cubits.^f

“And the name of the city from that time on will be:

THE LORD IS THERE.”

Communicating Vision

Ezekiel 1:1–3

Like Jeremiah, Ezekiel knew how to communicate a message so that every listener understood and knew what to do. This is the mark of a successful communicator. Note how he communicated:

1. His vision was memorable; his words inventive.

God instructed the prophet how to cast his vision. He is told to use object lessons, using materials like a brick, an iron plate, his own body, ropes, ingredients for bread, human dung, and cow manure. God's instructions seemed so radical that even Ezekiel felt repulsed by them. Yet no one would ever forget the lessons.

2. His vision was measurable; his words insightful.

Ezekiel spoke specifically about future events. He gave no fuzzy, ambiguous word about how God wanted the people to follow, should they decide to cooperate. He delivered a compelling and detailed word about how long Israel had drifted from God, the siege of Jerusalem, how long the exile would last, and what conditions would be like when God brought about his long-threatened punishment.

3. His vision was motivational; his words gave incentive.

Ezekiel didn't talk merely to pronounce judgment. He wanted to compel the Israelites to repent and return to God. He discussed how defiling life would be under a foreign leader and the horror of submitting to a power that didn't understand them. He gave them a reason to act.

Vision: You Can Seize Only What You Can See

Ezekiel 1:4–28

This great book begins with a vision. Ezekiel receives a revelation from God of four angelic figures. In this vision, God calls the prophet to be his spokesman and watchman to the Hebrew exiles. This vision is the first of four in the book:

1. The vision of the four angels (Eze 1–3)
2. The vision of glory and godlessness (Eze 8–11)
3. The vision of the burning vine (Eze 15)
4. The vision of the dry bones (Eze 37)

Ezekiel describes this first vision in vivid detail. Like all effective leaders, he spoke as clearly as possible. A pastor once said, "If it's fuzzy in the pulpit, it's foggy in the pew."

Ezekiel provided vision by way of analogies, then applied those visions. He communicated a picture (Eze 1), then communicated his point (Eze 2). Divine visions always help a leader and the people move in the right direction. A divine vision also seems to include these components:

1. A clear mental image: It serves as a sort of blueprint inside of us.
2. A positive change: It serves to improve present conditions.

3. A future focus: It furnishes insight and direction for the unseen future.
4. A gift from God: It is divinely inspired, not humanly manipulated.
5. A chosen people and time: It is for a select leader and group at a given time.

The Necessity of a Call in Tough Times

Ezekiel 2:1–10

God described not only what he wanted Ezekiel to do, but also the conditions in which he would serve. God told him he was sending him to a rebellious people who acted like stubborn children. Yet he was to continue speaking whether they listened or not (Eze 2:7). God's call didn't depend on the people's response. Ezekiel had to stand strong even when the people ignored him.

God has Ezekiel eat a scroll (representing the divine words he is to speak), inscribed both on the front and the back, leaving him no room to change or add to the message he is to speak (2:10). Ezekiel had to stay honest and true to those words.

This presents a challenge to leaders. What role does God play and what role do we play? Are leaders never permitted to speak from their own mind and emotions? Consider the roles of both God and people:

God's Role

1. He calls us into service.
2. He gives us gifts and graces.
3. He provides words of direction.
4. He supplies a compelling fire inside us.
5. He controls the outcome.

The Human Role

1. People confirm our call.
2. People cooperate with their gifts.
3. We use our mind and emotions.
4. Others recognize and respect the fire.
5. We are to be faithful to the end.

Adaptability: Effective Leaders Adapt to Changing Needs

Ezekiel 3:8–9

Because Israel acted like a stubborn mule and would not listen to the prophet's words, Ezekiel had to adapt to the needs of his audience. God spoke these words to him: "I will make you as unyielding and hardened as they are. I will make your forehead like the hardest stone, harder than flint. Do not be afraid of them or terrified by them, though they are a rebellious people" (Eze 3:8–9).

Effective leaders allow God to shape them into the kind of people they need to be for each situation they encounter. They don't get stuck on one method or mode of operation. When approaching a new and different context, leaders should read . . .

1. Situations: Do my circumstances tell me it is time to move forward?
2. People: Are the people ready and willing to make a move?
3. Timing: Is this the right time to make a move?
4. Staff: Does my team have the gifts and the influence to lead the way?
5. Opportunity: Do we have the opportunity to be successful if we move?
6. Resources: Do we possess the resources to move now?
7. Themselves: Am I the right person to lead the way?

PROFILE in Leadership

Ezekiel: Zealous for the Name of the Lord

Ezekiel 6:7, 10, 13–14

Like many other prophets, Ezekiel warned his people of coming destruction should they refuse to abandon their sin. Yet more than any other prophet, Ezekiel wedded his announcements of judgment to a deep concern that the people see God's hand in the devastation. At least 43 times the prophet attaches to his fearsome prophecies some form of the phrase, "And they will know that I am the LORD."

Ezekiel felt a burning desire, not only to communicate to his people the seriousness of their sin, but also that God stood at the center of all that was about to happen—God, and not fate or bad luck or poor military strategy. The prophet possessed a profound zeal to relate almighty God to every area of their lives. And he wanted the scattered remnant to remember their unbreakable connection to the Lord.

Ezekiel's passion for the name of God should drive home in the heart of every leader the seriousness of the sin of idolatry. God spoke with awesome solemnity when he forbade the Israelites from worshiping anyone or anything other than him (Ex 20:3). Wise leaders always keep in mind that God requires not only that we have no gods before him, but that we have no other gods beside him. No one long escapes who treats his name with contempt. Not then, and not today.

The Law of Solid Ground: Leaders Pay for Conduct No One Sees

Ezekiel 8:12–13

When leaders believe they can do whatever they want in private even if it contradicts what they do in public, they violate their calling. Leaders who last commit themselves to personal integrity, even when no one is watching, because they know it will pay off in public, when many may be watching.

God Looks at the Leader's Heart

Ezekiel 11:1–13

When God measures the greatness of a leader, he puts his tape measure around the heart, not the head. Ezekiel 11 echoes the message we learn from King David in 1 Samuel 16. When God punishes evil leaders, their followers also get punished. We may conclude from this that no nation rises above its leadership.

What can we learn from these failed leaders? The chief lesson lies in their hearts. God desires that leaders first develop the following heart characteristics:

1. Healthy personal security
2. Strong Biblical identity
3. Growing intimacy with him
4. Consistent personal disciplines
5. Pure motives and ambitions

6. Biblical values and priorities

7. Humble servant's heart
8. Healthy community relationships
9. Principle-centered decisions

10. Compassionate love for people

Vision: A Revelation Without Action Fades

Ezekiel 12:1–28

God told Ezekiel to pack up his belongings and symbolically act out the exile awaiting the Jews, once again using creative means to communicate vision.

In Ezekiel 12:21–28 God speaks of the powerlessness of visions unless someone puts feet to them. Visions lose their strength without action to support them. Good leaders always share both the vision and the steps to its implementation.

Yet the first step always must be to catch the God-given vision. Consider one process to go through as you attempt to catch God's vision for the people:

1. Look within you: What do you feel?
2. Look behind you: What have you learned?
3. Look around you: What is happening to others?
4. Look ahead of you: What is the big picture?
5. Look above you: What does God expect of you?
6. Look beside you: What resources are available to you?

The Law of Influence: Even the Best Leaders Can't Force Action

Ezekiel 14:12–14

Even the best leaders cannot force followers to act. God says even three of his choice servants—Noah, Daniel and Job—could not save rebellious Judah. All three were full of integrity, character and discipline, totally competent and responsible to do the right thing. Yet God says even they could save only themselves.

The Law of Magnetism: God's People Become Like Pagan Leaders

Ezekiel 16:23–29

We attract who we are, not who we want. Consider the following:

1. Attraction: We tend to attract those similar to us.
2. Reflection: We tend to reflect those who lead or follow us.
3. Repercussion: We tend to face similar consequences as those who are like us.

Discernment: Leaders Assess Situations, Then Respond

Ezekiel 18:1–32

God handles each circumstance based on his assessment of the individual situation. In Ezekiel 18 God reminds us to use discernment in each situation we face. Don't package everyone together, but size everyone up, one at a time. Respond correctly to each situation.

Consider a few rules of thumb to increase your leadership discernment:

1. Analyze past successes.

Try to identify the root issues of problems you have already solved. What patterns do you see? What enabled you to succeed?

2. Assess each person based on their particular situation.

Don't fall into such a rut that you begin to stereotype everyone. Let each team member be an individual and discern what is right for him or her, without the baggage of others.

3. Listen to your gut.

Try to recall times when your intuition "spoke" to you correctly. Get data, but go beyond mere information to your heart's sense of the right thing.

4. Learn from wise leaders.

What great leaders do you admire? Study and read the lives of other leaders with gifting similar to yours and discover how they think and make decisions.

Discipline: If Leaders Can't Rule Themselves, They Can't Rule Others

Ezekiel 19:1–14

There is no leadership without self-discipline. Since the "princes" of Ezekiel 19 lacked the discipline to lead their own lives well, they also failed to lead anyone else well. Leaders must first lead themselves and earn the right to attract followers. The best leader serves as a model for others.

The Position of a Leader: Standing in the Gap

Ezekiel 22:24–31

God contrasts the poor leader with the godly leader in Ezekiel 22. The poor leader oppresses and destroys his or her followers, while the godly leader "stands in the gap" on behalf of the land and the people (v. 30). These leaders represent God to the people, and represent the people to God. They serve as "middlemen," serving God and serving the needs of the people. This text describes ten traits of the leader God affirms:

1. Consecration: They set themselves apart and remain committed to their call.
2. Discipline: They do what is right even when it is difficult.
3. Servanthood: They model a selfless life, lived for the benefit of others.
4. Vision: They see what God sees and live off the power of potential.
5. Compassion: Love for their cause and their people moves them to action.
6. Trustworthiness: They keep their word regardless of what others do.

7. Decisiveness: They make good decisions in a timely manner.
8. Wisdom: They think like God thinks and avoid impetuous moves.
9. Courage: They take risks for what is right.
10. Passion: They demonstrate enthusiasm for their divine calling.

What Does God Look for in a Leader?

Ezekiel 22:30

This single verse contains a good description of the kind of leader God looks for. Take a look at what God was seeking in Ezekiel's day:

1. A man: God wasn't looking for a large committee, but a single person.
2. Among them: This person would relate best to people within his own culture.
3. A builder of walls: He must be constructive and hard working.
4. Stand in the gap: He must bridge the gap between people and God.
5. On behalf of the land: He carries a burden and vision for where he lives.

Confrontation: It Comes with the Territory

Ezekiel 23:36–39

God told Ezekiel to confront his people using colorful and striking imagery. "Oholah" and "Oholibah" are symbolic names for sinful Israel and Judah. God describes the sins they have committed and demands that Ezekiel confront the people with their rebellion.

At times a leader must confront sinful or destructive behavior in the ranks. No healthy leader enjoys confrontation, but no healthy leader avoids it, either. What can we learn from God and Ezekiel about confrontation?

1. Be compassionate. Ezekiel hurt as he recalled the sins of Israel.
2. Be forthright. Ezekiel spoke honestly and directly to the issues.
3. Be specific. Ezekiel didn't drop hints, but gave specifics about the problem.
4. Be clear. Ezekiel spoke simply about the consequences of such behavior.
5. Be redemptive. Ezekiel communicated for the purpose of restoring the people.
6. Be hopeful. Ezekiel ended with words of hope for the future.

Ezekiel Speaks with Courage

Ezekiel 28:1–19

Ezekiel could speak hard truth to the king of Tyre because God had deposited in him a . . .

1. Dream: He saw what God saw—a preferred future with just leaders.
2. Desire: He had a desire to see change and to be part of the solution.
3. Decisiveness: He recognized what needed to be done and he chose to step in.
4. Daring: His courage to act outweighed his fear of the king.
5. Dedication: He remained committed to fulfilling his call, whatever the cost.
6. Direction: He had a clear plan for change.
7. Dependence on God: He relied on God to do what only he could do.

God Is the One Who Raises Up and Removes Leaders

Ezekiel 30:20–26

It is God who raises up leaders and who removes them from office; our job is to submit to his bidding. Leaders commonly misunderstand this truth. God says that whether leaders are good or evil, he ultimately is the One who puts them there—and he will remove them.

Watchmen: All Leaders Are Stewards of Their God-Given Resources

Ezekiel 33:1–6

If a leader sees calamity approaching and sounds the trumpet to warn the people, he has done his work. If the watchman fails to warn the people of approaching disaster, God will hold the watchman accountable for the lives lost—a sobering truth about the awesome responsibility of leadership.

Leaders Are to Relate as Shepherds to People

Ezekiel 34:11–24

The Lord of ancient Israel was the Great Shepherd to his flock, Israel. He calls all spiritual leaders to view their role in the same way. The word picture of the shepherd enables us to see what kind of relational skills and attitudes we are to build into our leadership. Ezekiel 34 describes how the shepherd cares for his flock. The shepherd . . .

1. Searches out the lost sheep (vv. 11–16).
2. Delivers the captive sheep (v. 12).
3. Gathers the dispersed sheep (v. 13).
4. Feeds the hungry sheep (v. 13).
5. Rests the weary sheep (v. 15).
6. Binds up the hurt sheep (v. 16).
7. Strengthens the weak sheep (v. 16).
8. Protects the vulnerable sheep (vv. 17–22).
9. Equips the needy sheep (v. 23).
10. Directs all the sheep (v. 24).

You may want to compare this text to Psalm 23, another picture of the leader as a shepherd. In that psalm God is the Shepherd, providing guidance, restoration, preparation, resources, comfort and anointing for his sheep.

Great Leaders See the Big Picture and the Little Process

Ezekiel 40:1—44:31

God, the Ultimate Leader, never loses sight of the whole, but never ignores details, either. What does God communicate in these chapters?

1. I care about the details.
2. No one is unimportant.
3. We have a bigger purpose for what we do.
4. The labor of each individual has meaning.

Introduction to
Daniel

Faith and Leadership in Action

The exemplary personal character of Daniel makes him a favorite Bible personality for many. He is one of only a handful of men in the Bible about whom God says nothing negative. Although he shared the human nature of all other biblical leaders, he seems to rise above the others because of a combination of qualities:

- Character—He displays character by refusing to do wrong before foreign kings.
- Competence—Kings offer to pay him for his ability to interpret dreams.
- Convictions—He refuses to eat the king's meat or drink his wine.
- Courage—He faces the lions' den without flinching.
- Charisma—He is so winsome that royalty wants him to play key roles in government.
- Commitment—He remains committed to his God despite pressure to compromise.
- Compassion—He never loses his love for others, even in an enemy culture.

In the early chapters of the book, we see Daniel and his Hebrew friends in action as they live out their faith and leadership in a foreign land. Daniel stands up to King Nebuchadnezzar and requests that he and his friends be allowed to eat something other than what fills the plates of the other young men in the palace. He negotiates terms and ends up stronger and healthier for his decision. This catches the attention of the Babylonian officials and Daniel becomes a man of influence, even as a youth. Soon, he is interpreting dreams for the king, offering wise counsel to officials, and demonstrating a commitment to his faith rare for anyone, young or old.

Before he is through, Daniel has left a legacy stretching over the reigns of three kings, both Babylonian and Persian. He was a leader who lived the life God meant him to live. As he aged, he moved from interpreter of dreams to a dreamer himself—providing prophetic insight into the end times. He delivered his deep and complex words from a pure heart, showing himself to be a man who loved God, lived his faith, and wanted to influence many others to embrace Yahweh. As you read the book, watch for Daniel, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego to demonstrate leadership powerful enough to influence entire people groups to follow.

God's Role in Daniel

Old Testament leaders succeeded as long as they stayed intimately connected to God. Daniel proves this pattern. God continually blessed Daniel with wisdom, skills and favor, as long as Daniel maintained his character and courage.

God led Daniel faithfully from the time he was a young boy. By the time of the Babylonian captivity, Daniel and his friends had followed Yahweh for years. They continued this lifestyle as adults, and God not only blessed them but bailed them out of dangerous and even deadly situations.

The book of Daniel serves as a powerful illustration of what can happen when God and a healthy, spiritual leader cooperate to reach their world.

Lessons in Leadership

- Leaders must first possess godly qualities before they develop skills.
- Commitment precedes everything—resources will follow a leader's resolve.
- Leaders must often stand alone as they begin their journey.
- To identify the leader in a group, look for the one to whom everyone listens.
- A gift may take a leader to the top, but humility enables him to endure.
- Spiritual leaders talk to God about people before talking to people about God.
- Godly leaders do not pursue their own fame, but are out to make God famous.

Daniel 1

Daniel's Training in Babylon

¹In the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim king of Judah, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came to Jerusalem and besieged it. ²And the Lord delivered Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand, along with some of the articles from the temple of God. These he carried off to the temple of his god in Babylonia^a and put in the treasure house of his god.

³Then the king ordered Ashpenaz, chief of his court officials, to bring into the king's service some of the Israelites from the royal family and the nobility—⁴young men without any physical defect, handsome, showing aptitude for every kind of learning, well informed, quick to understand, and qualified to serve in the king's palace. He was to teach them the language and literature of the Babylonians.^b ⁵The king assigned them a daily amount of food and wine from the king's table. They were to be trained for three years, and after that they were to enter the king's service. Leadership Qualifications: Prerequisite for Responsibility

⁶Among those who were chosen were some from Judah: Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah. ⁷The chief official gave them new names: to Daniel, the name Belteshazzar; to Hananiah, Shadrach; to Mishael, Meshach; and to Azariah, Abednego.

⁸But Daniel resolved not to defile himself with the royal food and wine, and he asked the chief official for permission not to defile himself this way. ⁹Now God had caused the official to show favor and compassion to Daniel, ¹⁰but the official told Daniel, "I am afraid of my lord the king, who has assigned your^c food and drink. Why should he see you looking worse than the other young men your age? The king would then have my head because of you."

¹¹Daniel then said to the guard whom the chief official had appointed over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah, ¹²"Please test your servants for ten days: Give us nothing but vegetables to eat and water to drink. ¹³Then compare our appearance with that of the young men who eat the royal food, and treat your servants in accordance with what you see." ¹⁴So he agreed to this and tested them for ten days.

¹⁵At the end of the ten days they looked healthier and better nourished than any of the young men who ate the royal food. ¹⁶So the guard took away their choice food and the wine they were to drink and gave them vegetables instead.

¹⁷To these four young men God gave knowledge and understanding of all kinds of literature and learning. And Daniel could understand visions and dreams of all kinds.

¹⁸At the end of the time set by the king to bring them into his service, the chief official presented them to Nebuchadnezzar. ¹⁹The king talked with them, and he found none equal to Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah; so they entered the king's service. ²⁰In every matter of wisdom and understanding about which the king questioned them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians and enchanterers in his whole kingdom.

²¹And Daniel remained there until the first year of King Cyrus.

Daniel 2

Nebuchadnezzar's Dream

¹In the second year of his reign, Nebuchadnezzar had dreams; his mind was troubled and he could not sleep. ²So the king summoned the magicians, enchanter, sorcerers and astrologers^a to tell him what he had dreamed. When they came in and stood before the king, ³he said to them, "I have had a dream that troubles me and I want to know what it means."^b Nebuchadnezzar and Daniel: A Contrast in Pride and Humility

⁴Then the astrologers answered the king,^c "May the king live forever! Tell your servants the dream, and we will interpret it."

⁵The king replied to the astrologers, "This is what I have firmly decided: If you do not tell me what my dream was and interpret it, I will have you cut into pieces and your houses turned into piles of rubble. ⁶But if you tell me the dream and explain it, you will receive from me gifts and rewards and great honor. So tell me the dream and interpret it for me."

⁷Once more they replied, "Let the king tell his servants the dream, and we will interpret it."

⁸Then the king answered, "I am certain that you are trying to gain time, because you realize that this is what I have firmly decided: ⁹If you do not tell me the dream, there is only one penalty for you. You have conspired to tell me misleading and wicked things, hoping the situation will change. So then, tell me the dream, and I will know that you can interpret it for me."

¹⁰The astrologers answered the king, "There is no one on earth who can do what the king asks! No king, however great and mighty, has ever asked such a thing of any magician or enchanter or astrologer. ¹¹What the king asks is too difficult. No one can reveal it to the king except the gods, and they do not live among humans."

¹²This made the king so angry and furious that he ordered the execution of all the wise men of Babylon. ¹³So the decree was issued to put the wise men to death, and men were sent to look for Daniel and his friends to put them to death.

¹⁴When Arioch, the commander of the king's guard, had gone out to put to death the wise men of Babylon, Daniel spoke to him with wisdom and tact. ¹⁵He asked the king's officer, "Why did the king issue such a harsh decree?" Arioch then explained the matter to Daniel. ¹⁶At this, Daniel went in to the king and asked for time, so that he might interpret the dream for him.

¹⁷Then Daniel returned to his house and explained the matter to his friends Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah. ¹⁸He urged them to plead for mercy from the God of heaven concerning this mystery, so that he and his friends might not be executed with the rest of the wise men of Babylon. ¹⁹During the night the mystery was revealed to Daniel in a vision. Then Daniel praised the God of heaven ²⁰and said:

"Praise be to the name of God for ever and ever;
wisdom and power are his.

²¹He changes times and seasons;
he deposes kings and raises up others.
He gives wisdom to the wise and knowledge to the discerning.

²²He reveals deep and hidden things;
he knows what lies in darkness,
and light dwells with him.

²³I thank and praise you, God of my ancestors:
You have given me wisdom and power,
you have made known to me what we asked of you,
you have made known to us the dream of the king."

Daniel Interprets the Dream

²⁴Then Daniel went to Arioch, whom the king had appointed to execute the wise men of Babylon, and said to him, “Do not execute the wise men of Babylon. Take me to the king, and I will interpret his dream for him.”

²⁵Arioch took Daniel to the king at once and said, “I have found a man among the exiles from Judah who can tell the king what his dream means.”

²⁶The king asked Daniel (also called Belteshazzar), “Are you able to tell me what I saw in my dream and interpret it?”

²⁷Daniel replied, “No wise man, enchanter, magician or diviner can explain to the king the mystery he has asked about, ²⁸but there is a God in heaven who reveals mysteries. He has shown King Nebuchadnezzar what will happen in days to come. Your dream and the visions that passed through your mind as you were lying in bed are these: ²⁹“As Your Majesty was lying there, your mind turned to things to come, and the revealer of mysteries showed you what is going to happen. ³⁰As for me, this mystery has been revealed to me, not because I have greater wisdom than anyone else alive, but so that Your Majesty may know the interpretation and that you may understand what went through your mind.

³⁶“This was the dream, and now we will interpret it to the king. ³⁷Your Majesty, you are the king of kings. The God of heaven has given you dominion and power and might and glory; ³⁸in your hands he has placed all mankind and the beasts of the field and the birds in the sky. Wherever they live, he has made you ruler over them all. You are that head of gold.

³⁹“After you, another kingdom will arise, inferior to yours. Next, a third kingdom, one of bronze, will rule over the whole earth. ⁴⁰Finally, there will be a fourth kingdom, strong as iron—for iron breaks and smashes everything—and as iron breaks things to pieces, so it will crush and break all the others. ⁴¹Just as you saw that the feet and toes were partly of baked clay and partly of iron, so this will be a divided kingdom; yet it will have some of the strength of iron in it, even as you saw iron mixed with clay. ⁴²As the toes were partly iron and partly clay, so this kingdom will be partly strong and partly brittle. ⁴³And just as you saw the iron mixed with baked clay, so the people will be a mixture and will not remain united, any more than iron mixes with clay.

⁴⁴“In the time of those kings, the God of heaven will set up a kingdom that will never be destroyed, nor will it be left to another people. It will crush all those kingdoms and bring them to an end, but it will itself endure forever. ⁴⁵This is the meaning of the vision of the rock cut out of a mountain, but not by human hands—a rock that broke the iron, the bronze, the clay, the silver and the gold to pieces.

“The great God has shown the king what will take place in the future. The dream is true and its interpretation is trustworthy.”

⁴⁶Then King Nebuchadnezzar fell prostrate before Daniel and paid him honor and ordered that an offering and incense be presented to him. ⁴⁷The king said to Daniel, “Surely your God is the God of gods and the Lord of kings and a revealer of mysteries, for you were able to reveal this mystery.”

⁴⁸Then the king placed Daniel in a high position and lavished many gifts on him. He made him ruler over the entire province of Babylon and placed him in charge of all its wise men. ⁴⁹Moreover, at Daniel’s request the king appointed Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego administrators over the province of Babylon, while Daniel himself remained at the royal court.

Daniel 3

The Image of Gold and the Blazing Furnace

¹King Nebuchadnezzar made an image of gold, sixty cubits high and six cubits wide,^a and set it up on the plain of Dura in the province of Babylon. ²He then summoned the satraps, prefects, governors, advisers, treasurers, judges, magistrates and all the other provincial officials to come to the dedication of the image he had set up. ³So the satraps, prefects, governors, advisers, treasurers, judges, magistrates and all the other provincial officials assembled for the dedication of the image that King Nebuchadnezzar had set up, and they stood before it. Commitment: When a Leader Has Resolve, Resources Follow PROFILE in Leadership: Nebuchadnezzar: Face-to-Face with the Majesty of God

⁷Therefore, as soon as they heard the sound of the horn, flute, zither, lyre, harp and all kinds of music, all the nations and peoples of every language fell down and worshiped the image of gold that King Nebuchadnezzar had set up.

⁸At this time some astrologers^b came forward and denounced the Jews. ⁹They said to King Nebuchadnezzar, “May the king live forever! ¹⁰Your Majesty has issued a decree that everyone who hears the sound of the horn, flute, zither, lyre, harp, pipe and all kinds of music must fall down and worship the image of gold, ¹¹and that whoever does not fall down and worship will be thrown into a blazing furnace. ¹²But there are some Jews whom you have set over the affairs of the province of Babylon—Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego—who pay no attention to you, Your Majesty. They neither serve your gods nor worship the image of gold you have set up.”

¹³Furious with rage, Nebuchadnezzar summoned Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego. So these men were brought before the king, ¹⁴and Nebuchadnezzar said to them, “Is it true, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, that you do not serve my gods or worship the image of gold I have set up? ¹⁵Now when you hear the sound of the horn, flute, zither, lyre, harp, pipe and all kinds of music, if you are ready to fall down and worship the image I made, very good. But if you do not worship it, you will be thrown immediately into a blazing furnace. Then what god will be able to rescue you from my hand?"

¹⁶Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego replied to him, "King Nebuchadnezzar, we do not need to defend ourselves before you in this matter. ¹⁷If we are thrown into the blazing furnace, the God we serve is able to deliver us from it, and he will deliver us^c from Your Majesty's hand. ¹⁸But even if he does not, we want you to know, Your Majesty, that we will not serve your gods or worship the image of gold you have set up." PROFILE in Leadership: Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego: Courage Fueled by Faith

¹⁹Then Nebuchadnezzar was furious with Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, and his attitude toward them changed. He ordered the furnace heated seven times hotter than usual ²⁰and commanded some of the strongest soldiers in his army to tie up Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego and throw them into the blazing furnace. ²¹So these men, wearing their robes, trousers, turbans and other clothes, were bound and thrown into the blazing furnace. ²²The king's command was so urgent and the furnace so hot that the flames of the fire killed the soldiers who took up Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, ²³and these three men, firmly tied, fell into the blazing furnace.

²⁴Then King Nebuchadnezzar leaped to his feet in amazement and asked his advisers, "Weren't there three men that we tied up and threw into the fire?"

They replied, "Certainly, Your Majesty."

²⁵He said, "Look! I see four men walking around in the fire, unbound and unharmed, and the fourth looks like a son of the gods."

²⁶Nebuchadnezzar then approached the opening of the blazing furnace and shouted, "Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, servants of the Most High God, come out! Come here!"

So Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego came out of the fire, ²⁷and the satraps, prefects, governors and royal advisers crowded around them. They saw that the fire had not harmed their bodies, nor was a hair of their heads singed; their robes were not scorched, and there was no smell of fire on them.

²⁸Then Nebuchadnezzar said, "Praise be to the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, who has sent his angel and rescued his servants! They trusted in him and defied the king's command and were willing to give up their lives rather than serve or worship any god except their own God. ²⁹Therefore I decree that the people of any nation or language who say anything against the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego be cut into pieces and their houses be turned into piles of rubble, for no other god can save in this way.”

³⁰Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego in the province of Babylon.

Daniel 4^a

Nebuchadnezzar's Dream of a Tree

¹King Nebuchadnezzar,

To the nations and peoples of every language, who live in all the earth:

May you prosper greatly! 21 Qualities: TEACHABILITY: The King Is Slow to Learn

²It is my pleasure to tell you about the miraculous signs and wonders that the Most High God has performed for me.

³How great are his signs,
how mighty his wonders!
His kingdom is an eternal kingdom;
his dominion endures from generation to generation.

⁴I, Nebuchadnezzar, was at home in my palace, contented and prosperous. ⁵I had a dream that made me afraid. As I was lying in bed, the images and visions that passed through my mind terrified me. ⁶So I commanded that all the wise men of Babylon be brought before me to interpret the dream for me. ⁷When the magicians, enchanters, astrologers^b and diviners came, I told them the dream, but they could not interpret it for me. ⁸Finally, Daniel came into my presence and I told him the dream. (He is called Belteshazzar, after the name of my god, and the spirit of the holy gods is in him.) Competence: People Come to See a Gift in Action

⁹I said, "Belteshazzar, chief of the magicians, I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in you, and no mystery is too difficult for you. Here is my dream; interpret it for me. ¹⁰These are the visions I saw while lying in bed: I looked, and there before me stood a tree in the middle of the land. Its height was enormous. ¹¹The tree grew large and strong and its top touched the sky; it was visible to the ends of the earth. ¹²Its leaves were beautiful, its fruit abundant, and on it was food for all.

Under it the wild animals found shelter, and the birds lived in its branches; from it every creature was fed.

¹³“In the visions I saw while lying in bed, I looked, and there before me was a holy one, a messenger,^c coming down from heaven. ¹⁴He called in a loud voice: ‘Cut down the tree and trim off its branches; strip off its leaves and scatter its fruit. Let the animals flee from under it and the birds from its branches. ¹⁵But let the stump and its roots, bound with iron and bronze, remain in the ground, in the grass of the field.

“ ‘Let him be drenched with the dew of heaven, and let him live with the animals among the plants of the earth. ¹⁶Let his mind be changed from that of a man and let him be given the mind of an animal, till seven times^d pass by for him.

¹⁷“ ‘The decision is announced by messengers, the holy ones declare the verdict, so that the living may know that the Most High is sovereign over all kingdoms on earth and gives them to anyone he wishes and sets over them the lowliest of people.’

¹⁸“This is the dream that I, King Nebuchadnezzar, had. Now, Belteshazzar, tell me what it means, for none of the wise men in my kingdom can interpret it for me. But you can, because the spirit of the holy gods is in you.”

Daniel Interprets the Dream

¹⁹Then Daniel (also called Belteshazzar) was greatly perplexed for a time, and his thoughts terrified him. So the king said, “Belteshazzar, do not let the dream or its meaning alarm you.”

Belteshazzar answered, “My lord, if only the dream applied to your enemies and its meaning to your adversaries! ²⁰The tree you saw, which grew large and strong, with its top touching the sky, visible to the whole earth, ²¹with beautiful leaves and abundant fruit, providing food for all, giving shelter to the wild animals, and having nesting places in its branches for the birds— ²²Your Majesty, you are that tree! You have become great and strong; your greatness has grown until it reaches the sky, and your dominion extends to distant parts of the earth.

²⁴“This is the interpretation, Your Majesty, and this is the decree the Most High has issued against my lord the king: ²⁵You will be driven away from people and will live with the wild animals; you will eat grass like the ox and be drenched with the dew of heaven. Seven times will pass by for you until you acknowledge that the Most High is sovereign over all kingdoms on earth and gives them to anyone he wishes. ²⁶The command to leave the stump of the tree with its roots means that your kingdom will be restored to you when you acknowledge that Heaven rules. ²⁷Therefore, Your Majesty, be pleased to accept my advice: Renounce your sins by doing what is right, and your wickedness by being kind to the oppressed. It may be that then your prosperity will continue.”

The Dream Is Fulfilled

²⁸All this happened to King Nebuchadnezzar. ²⁹Twelve months later, as the king was walking on the roof of the royal palace of Babylon, ³⁰he said, “Is not this the great Babylon I have built as the royal residence, by my mighty power and for the glory of my majesty?”

³¹Even as the words were on his lips, a voice came from heaven, “This is what is decreed for you, King Nebuchadnezzar: Your royal authority has been taken from you. ³²You will be driven away from people and will live with the wild animals; you will eat grass like the ox. Seven times will pass by for you until you acknowledge that the Most High is sovereign over all kingdoms on earth and gives them to anyone he wishes.”

³³Immediately what had been said about Nebuchadnezzar was fulfilled. He was driven away from people and ate grass like the ox. His body was drenched with the dew of heaven until his hair grew like the feathers of an eagle and his nails like the claws of a bird.

³⁴At the end of that time, I, Nebuchadnezzar, raised my eyes toward heaven, and my sanity was restored. Then I praised the Most High; I honored and glorified him who lives forever.

His dominion is an eternal dominion;
his kingdom endures from generation to generation.

³⁵All the peoples of the earth are regarded as nothing.

He does as he pleases with the powers of heaven and the peoples of the earth.

No one can hold back his hand or say to him: "What have you done?"

³⁶At the same time that my sanity was restored, my honor and splendor were returned to me for the glory of my kingdom. My advisers and nobles sought me out, and I was restored to my throne and became even greater than before. ³⁷Now I, Nebuchadnezzar, praise and exalt and glorify the King of heaven, because everything he does is right and all his ways are just. And those who walk in pride he is able to humble.

Daniel 5

The Writing on the Wall

⁵Suddenly the fingers of a human hand appeared and wrote on the plaster of the wall, near the lampstand in the royal palace. The king watched the hand as it wrote. ⁶His face turned pale and he was so frightened that his legs became weak and his knees were knocking.

⁷The king summoned the enchanters, astrologers^b and diviners. Then he said to these wise men of Babylon, “Whoever reads this writing and tells me what it means will be clothed in purple and have a gold chain placed around his neck, and he will be made the third highest ruler in the kingdom.”

⁸Then all the king’s wise men came in, but they could not read the writing or tell the king what it meant. ⁹So King Belshazzar became even more terrified and his face grew more pale. His nobles were baffled.

¹⁰The queen,^c hearing the voices of the king and his nobles, came into the banquet hall. “May the king live forever!” she said. “Don’t be alarmed! Don’t look so pale! ¹¹There is a man in your kingdom who has the spirit of the holy gods in him. In the time of your father he was found to have insight and intelligence and wisdom like that of the gods. Your father, King Nebuchadnezzar, appointed him chief of the magicians, enchanters, astrologers and diviners. ¹²He did this because Daniel, whom the king called Belteshazzar, was found to have a keen mind and knowledge and understanding, and also the ability to interpret dreams, explain riddles and solve difficult problems. Call for Daniel, and he will tell you what the writing means.”

¹³So Daniel was brought before the king, and the king said to him, “Are you Daniel, one of the exiles my father the king brought from Judah? ¹⁴I have heard that the spirit of the gods is in you and that you have insight, intelligence and outstanding wisdom. ¹⁵The wise men and enchanters were brought before me to read this writing and tell me what it means, but they could not explain it. ¹⁶Now

I have heard that you are able to give interpretations and to solve difficult problems. If you can read this writing and tell me what it means, you will be clothed in purple and have a gold chain placed around your neck, and you will be made the third highest ruler in the kingdom.”

The Law of Influence: When Daniel Spoke, People

¹⁷Then Daniel answered the king, “You may keep your gifts for yourself and give your rewards to someone else. Nevertheless, I will read the writing for the king and tell him what it means.

¹⁸“Your Majesty, the Most High God gave your father Nebuchadnezzar sovereignty and greatness and glory and splendor. ¹⁹Because of the high position he gave him, all the nations and peoples of every language dreaded and feared him. Those the king wanted to put to death, he put to death; those he wanted to spare, he spared; those he wanted to promote, he promoted; and those he wanted to humble, he humbled. ²⁰But when his heart became arrogant and hardened with pride, he was deposed from his royal throne and stripped of his glory. ²¹He was driven away from people and given the mind of an animal; he lived with the wild donkeys and ate grass like the ox; and his body was drenched with the dew of heaven, until he acknowledged that the Most High God is sovereign over all kingdoms on earth and sets over them anyone he wishes.

²²“But you, Belshazzar, his son,^d have not humbled yourself, though you knew all this. ²³Instead, you have set yourself up against the Lord of heaven. You had the goblets from his temple brought to you, and you and your nobles, your wives and your concubines drank wine from them. You praised the gods of silver and gold, of bronze, iron, wood and stone, which cannot see or hear or understand. But you did not honor the God who holds in his hand your life and all your ways. ²⁴Therefore he sent the hand that wrote the inscription.

²⁵“This is the inscription that was written:

MENE, MENE, TEKEL, PARSIN

²⁶“Here is what these words mean:

Mene^e: God has numbered the days of your reign and brought it to an end.

²⁷*Tekel*^f: You have been weighed on the scales and found wanting.

²⁸*Peres*^g: Your kingdom is divided and given to the Medes and Persians.”

²⁹Then at Belshazzar's command, Daniel was clothed in purple, a gold chain was placed around his neck, and he was proclaimed the third highest ruler in the kingdom.

³⁰That very night Belshazzar, king of the Babylonians,^h was slain, ³¹and Darius the Mede took over the kingdom, at the age of sixty-two.ⁱ

Daniel 6^a

Daniel in the Den of Lions

¹It pleased Darius to appoint 120 satraps to rule throughout the kingdom, ²with three administrators over them, one of whom was Daniel. The satraps were made accountable to them so that the king might not suffer loss. ³Now Daniel so distinguished himself among the administrators and the satraps by his exceptional qualities that the king planned to set him over the whole kingdom. ⁴At this, the administrators and the satraps tried to find grounds for charges against Daniel in his conduct of government affairs, but they were unable to do so. They could find no corruption in him, because he was trustworthy and neither corrupt nor negligent. ⁵Finally these men said, “We will never find any basis for charges against this man Daniel unless it has something to do with the law of his God.”

Decision Making: Choices Confirm or Compromise Values

⁶So these administrators and satraps went as a group to the king and said: “May King Darius live forever! ⁷The royal administrators, prefects, satraps, advisers and governors have all agreed that the king should issue an edict and enforce the decree that anyone who prays to any god or human being during the next thirty days, except to you, Your Majesty, shall be thrown into the lions’ den. ⁸Now, Your Majesty, issue the decree and put it in writing so that it cannot be altered—in accordance with the law of the Medes and Persians, which cannot be repealed.” ⁹So King Darius put the decree in writing.

¹⁰Now when Daniel learned that the decree had been published, he went home to his upstairs room where the windows opened toward Jerusalem. Three times a day he got down on his knees and prayed, giving thanks to his God, just as he had done before. ¹¹Then these men went as a group and found Daniel praying and asking God for help. ¹²So they went to the king and spoke to him about his royal decree: “Did you not publish a decree that during the next thirty days anyone who prays to any god or human being except to you, Your Majesty, would be thrown into the lions’ den?”

The king answered, “The decree stands—in accordance with the law of the Medes and Persians, which cannot be repealed.”

¹³Then they said to the king, “Daniel, who is one of the exiles from Judah, pays no attention to you, Your Majesty, or to the decree you put in writing. He still prays three times a day.” ¹⁴When the king heard this, he was greatly distressed; he was determined to rescue Daniel and made every effort until sundown to save him.

¹⁵Then the men went as a group to King Darius and said to him, “Remember, Your Majesty, that according to the law of the Medes and Persians no decree or edict that the king issues can be changed.”

¹⁶So the king gave the order, and they brought Daniel and threw him into the lions’ den. The king said to Daniel, “May your God, whom you serve continually, rescue you!”

¹⁷A stone was brought and placed over the mouth of the den, and the king sealed it with his own signet ring and with the rings of his nobles, so that Daniel’s situation might not be changed. ¹⁸Then the king returned to his palace and spent the night without eating and without any entertainment being brought to him. And he could not sleep.

¹⁹At the first light of dawn, the king got up and hurried to the lions’ den. ²⁰When he came near the den, he called to Daniel in an anguished voice, “Daniel, servant of the living God, has your God, whom you serve continually, been able to rescue you from the lions?”

²¹Daniel answered, “May the king live forever! ²²My God sent his angel, and he shut the mouths of the lions. They have not hurt me, because I was found innocent in his sight. Nor have I ever done any wrong before you, Your Majesty.”

²³The king was overjoyed and gave orders to lift Daniel out of the den. And when Daniel was lifted from the den, no wound was found on him, because he had trusted in his God.

²⁴At the king’s command, the men who had falsely accused Daniel were brought in and thrown into the lions’ den, along with their wives and children. And before they reached the floor of the den, the lions overpowered them and crushed all their bones.

²⁵Then King Darius wrote to all the nations and peoples of every language in all the earth:

“May you prosper greatly!

²⁶“I issue a decree that in every part of my kingdom people must fear and reverence the God of Daniel.

“For he is the living God and he endures forever;
his kingdom will not be destroyed,
his dominion will never end.
²⁷He rescues and he saves;

he performs signs and wonders in the heavens and on the earth.

He has rescued Daniel from the power of the lions.”

²⁸So Daniel prospered during the reign of Darius and the reign of Cyrus^b the Persian.

Daniel 7

Daniel's Dream of Four Beasts

¹In the first year of Belshazzar king of Babylon, Daniel had a dream, and visions passed through his mind as he was lying in bed. He wrote down the substance of his dream. The Role of Praying and Planning in Leadership

²Daniel said: "In my vision at night I looked, and there before me were the four winds of heaven churning up the great sea. ³Four great beasts, each different from the others, came up out of the sea.

⁴"The first was like a lion, and it had the wings of an eagle. I watched until its wings were torn off and it was lifted from the ground so that it stood on two feet like a human being, and the mind of a human was given to it.

⁵"And there before me was a second beast, which looked like a bear. It was raised up on one of its sides, and it had three ribs in its mouth between its teeth. It was told, 'Get up and eat your fill of flesh!'

⁶"After that, I looked, and there before me was another beast, one that looked like a leopard. And on its back it had four wings like those of a bird. This beast had four heads, and it was given authority to rule.

⁷"After that, in my vision at night I looked, and there before me was a fourth beast—terrifying and frightening and very powerful. It had large iron teeth; it crushed and devoured its victims and trampled underfoot whatever was left. It was different from all the former beasts, and it had ten horns.

⁸"While I was thinking about the horns, there before me was another horn, a little one, which came up among them; and three of the first horns were uprooted before it. This horn had eyes like the eyes of a human being and a mouth that spoke boastfully.

⁹"As I looked,

 "thrones were set in place,
 and the Ancient of Days took his seat.
His clothing was as white as snow;
 the hair of his head was white like wool.
His throne was flaming with fire,
 and its wheels were all ablaze.

¹⁰A river of fire was flowing,
coming out from before him.
Thousands upon thousands attended him;
ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him.
The court was seated,
and the books were opened.

¹¹“Then I continued to watch because of the boastful words the horn was speaking. I kept looking until the beast was slain and its body destroyed and thrown into the blazing fire. ¹²(The other beasts had been stripped of their authority, but were allowed to live for a period of time.) ¹³“In my vision at night I looked, and there before me was one like a son of man,^a coming with the clouds of heaven. He approached the Ancient of Days and was led into his presence. ¹⁴He was given authority, glory and sovereign power; all nations and peoples of every language worshiped him. His dominion is an everlasting dominion that will not pass away, and his kingdom is one that will never be destroyed.

The Interpretation of the Dream

¹⁵“I, Daniel, was troubled in spirit, and the visions that passed through my mind disturbed me. ¹⁶I approached one of those standing there and asked him the meaning of all this.

“So he told me and gave me the interpretation of these things: ¹⁷‘The four great beasts are four kings that will rise from the earth. ¹⁸But the holy people of the Most High will receive the kingdom and will possess it forever—yes, for ever and ever.’

¹⁹“Then I wanted to know the meaning of the fourth beast, which was different from all the others and most terrifying, with its iron teeth and bronze claws—the beast that crushed and devoured its victims and trampled underfoot whatever was left. ²⁰I also wanted to know about the ten horns on its head and about the other horn that came up, before which three of them fell—the horn that looked more imposing than the others and that had eyes and a mouth that spoke boastfully. ²¹As I watched, this horn was waging war against the holy people and defeating them, ²²until the Ancient of Days came and pronounced judgment in favor of the holy people of the Most High, and the time came when they possessed the kingdom.

²³“He gave me this explanation: ‘The fourth beast is a fourth kingdom that will appear on earth. It will be different from all the other kingdoms and will devour the whole earth, trampling it down and crushing it. ²⁴The ten horns are ten kings who will come from this kingdom. After them another king will arise, different from the earlier ones; he will subdue three kings. ²⁵He will speak against the Most High and oppress his holy people and try to change the set times and the laws. The holy people will be delivered into his hands for a time, times and half a time.^b ²⁶“ ‘But the court will sit, and his power will be taken away and completely destroyed forever. ²⁷Then the sovereignty, power and greatness of all the kingdoms under heaven will be handed over to the holy people of the Most High. His kingdom will be an everlasting kingdom, and all rulers will worship and obey him.’

²⁸“This is the end of the matter. I, Daniel, was deeply troubled by my thoughts, and my face turned pale, but I kept the matter to myself.”

Daniel 8

Daniel's Vision of a Ram and a Goat

¹In the third year of King Belshazzar's reign, I, Daniel, had a vision, after the one that had already appeared to me. ²In my vision I saw myself in the citadel of Susa in the province of Elam; in the vision I was beside the Ulai Canal. ³I looked up, and there before me was a ram with two horns, standing beside the canal, and the horns were long. One of the horns was longer than the other but grew up later. ⁴I watched the ram as it charged toward the west and the north and the south. No animal could stand against it, and none could rescue from its power. It did as it pleased and became great.

⁵As I was thinking about this, suddenly a goat with a prominent horn between its eyes came from the west, crossing the whole earth without touching the ground. ⁶It came toward the two-horned ram I had seen standing beside the canal and charged at it in great rage. ⁷I saw it attack the ram furiously, striking the ram and shattering its two horns. The ram was powerless to stand against it; the goat knocked it to the ground and trampled on it, and none could rescue the ram from its power. ⁸The goat became very great, but at the height of its power the large horn was broken off, and in its place four prominent horns grew up toward the four winds of heaven.

⁹Out of one of them came another horn, which started small but grew in power to the south and to the east and toward the Beautiful Land. ¹⁰It grew until it reached the host of the heavens, and it threw some of the starry host down to the earth and trampled on them. ¹¹It set itself up to be as great as the commander of the army of the LORD; it took away the daily sacrifice from the LORD, and his sanctuary was thrown down. ¹²Because of rebellion, the LORD's people^a and the daily sacrifice were given over to it. It prospered in everything it did, and truth was thrown to the ground.

¹³Then I heard a holy one speaking, and another holy one said to him, "How long will it take for the vision to be fulfilled—the vision concerning the daily sacrifice, the rebellion that causes desolation, the surrender of the sanctuary and the trampling underfoot of the LORD's people?"

¹⁴He said to me, "It will take 2,300 evenings and mornings; then the sanctuary will be reconsecrated.”

The Interpretation of the Vision

¹⁵While I, Daniel, was watching the vision and trying to understand it, there before me stood one who looked like a man. ¹⁶And I heard a man's voice from the Ulai calling, "Gabriel, tell this man the meaning of the vision." PROFILE in Leadership: Daniel: A Man Who Sought Understanding

¹⁷As he came near the place where I was standing, I was terrified and fell prostrate. "Son of man,"^b he said to me, "understand that the vision concerns the time of the end."

¹⁸While he was speaking to me, I was in a deep sleep, with my face to the ground. Then he touched me and raised me to my feet.

¹⁹He said: "I am going to tell you what will happen later in the time of wrath, because the vision concerns the appointed time of the end."^c ²⁰The two-horned ram that you saw represents the kings of Media and Persia. ²¹The shaggy goat is the king of Greece, and the large horn between its eyes is the first king. ²²The four horns that replaced the one that was broken off represent four kingdoms that will emerge from his nation but will not have the same power.

²³"In the latter part of their reign, when rebels have become completely wicked, a fierce-looking king, a master of intrigue, will arise. ²⁴He will become very strong, but not by his own power. He will cause astounding devastation and will succeed in whatever he does. He will destroy those who are mighty, the holy people. ²⁵He will cause deceit to prosper, and he will consider himself superior. When they feel secure, he will destroy many and take his stand against the Prince of princes. Yet he will be destroyed, but not by human power.

²⁶"The vision of the evenings and mornings that has been given you is true, but seal up the vision, for it concerns the distant future."

²⁷I, Daniel, was worn out. I lay exhausted for several days. Then I got up and went about the king's business. I was appalled by the vision; it was beyond understanding.

Daniel 9

Daniel's Prayer

¹In the first year of Darius son of Xerxes^a (a Mede by descent), who was made ruler over the Babylonian^b kingdom— ²in the first year of his reign, I, Daniel, understood from the Scriptures, according to the word of the LORD given to Jeremiah the prophet, that the desolation of Jerusalem would last seventy years. ³So I turned to the Lord God and pleaded with him in prayer and petition, in fasting, and in sackcloth and ashes.

⁴I prayed to the LORD my God and confessed:

“Lord, the great and awesome God, who keeps his covenant of love with those who love him and keep his commandments, ⁵we have sinned and done wrong. We have been wicked and have rebelled; we have turned away from your commands and laws. ⁶We have not listened to your servants the prophets, who spoke in your name to our kings, our princes and our ancestors, and to all the people of the land.

⁷“Lord, you are righteous, but this day we are covered with shame—the people of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem and all Israel, both near and far, in all the countries where you have scattered us because of our unfaithfulness to you. ⁸We and our kings, our princes and our ancestors are covered with shame, LORD, because we have sinned against you. ⁹The Lord our God is merciful and forgiving, even though we have rebelled against him; ¹⁰we have not obeyed the LORD our God or kept the laws he gave us through his servants the prophets. ¹¹All Israel has transgressed your law and turned away, refusing to obey you.

“Therefore the curses and sworn judgments written in the Law of Moses, the servant of God, have been poured out on us, because we have sinned against you. ¹²You have fulfilled the words spoken against us and against our rulers by bringing on us great disaster. Under the whole heaven nothing has ever been done like what has been done to Jerusalem. ¹³Just as it is written in the Law of Moses, all this disaster has come on us, yet we have not sought the favor of the LORD our God by turning from our sins and giving attention to your truth. ¹⁴The LORD did not hesitate to bring the disaster on us, for the LORD our God is righteous in everything he does; yet we have not obeyed him.

¹⁵“Now, Lord our God, who brought your people out of Egypt with a mighty hand and who made for yourself a name that endures to this day, we have sinned, we have done wrong. ¹⁶Lord, in keeping with all your righteous acts, turn away your anger and your wrath from Jerusalem, your city, your holy hill. Our sins and the iniquities of our ancestors have made Jerusalem and your people an object of scorn to all those around us.

¹⁷“Now, our God, hear the prayers and petitions of your servant. For your sake, Lord, look with favor on your desolate sanctuary. ¹⁸Give ear, our God, and hear; open your eyes and see the desolation of the city that bears your Name. We do not make requests of you because we are righteous, but because of your great mercy. ¹⁹Lord, listen! Lord, forgive! Lord, hear and act! For your sake, my God, do not delay, because your city and your people bear your Name.”

The Seventy “Sevens”

²⁰While I was speaking and praying, confessing my sin and the sin of my people Israel and making my request to the LORD my God for his holy hill—
²¹while I was still in prayer, Gabriel, the man I had seen in the earlier vision, came to me in swift flight about the time of the evening sacrifice. ²²He instructed me and said to me, “Daniel, I have now come to give you insight and understanding. ²³As soon as you began to pray, a word went out, which I have come to tell you, for you are highly esteemed. Therefore, consider the word and understand the vision: ²⁴“Seventy ‘sevens’^c are decreed for your people and your holy city to finish^d transgression, to put an end to sin, to atone for wickedness, to bring in everlasting righteousness, to seal up vision and prophecy and to anoint the Most Holy Place.^e

²⁵“Know and understand this: From the time the word goes out to restore and rebuild Jerusalem until the Anointed One,^f the ruler, comes, there will be seven ‘sevens,’ and sixty-two ‘sevens.’ It will be rebuilt with streets and a trench, but in times of trouble. ²⁶After the sixty-two ‘sevens,’ the Anointed One will be put to death and will have nothing.^g The people of the ruler who will come will destroy the city and the sanctuary. The end will come like a flood: War will continue until the end, and desolations have been decreed. ²⁷He will confirm a covenant with many for one 'seven.'^h In the middle of the 'seven'ⁱ he will put an end to sacrifice and offering. And at the temple^j he will set up an abomination that causes desolation, until the end that is decreed is poured out on him.^{k,l}

Daniel's Vision of a Man

¹In the third year of Cyrus king of Persia, a revelation was given to Daniel (who was called Belteshazzar). Its message was true and it concerned a great war.^a The understanding of the message came to him in a vision. Spiritual Leaders Lead God's Family and God's Army

²At that time I, Daniel, mourned for three weeks. ³I ate no choice food; no meat or wine touched my lips; and I used no lotions at all until the three weeks were over.

¹⁰A hand touched me and set me trembling on my hands and knees. ¹¹He said, "Daniel, you who are highly esteemed, consider carefully the words I am about to speak to you, and stand up, for I have now been sent to you." And when he said this to me, I stood up trembling.

¹²Then he continued, "Do not be afraid, Daniel. Since the first day that you set your mind to gain understanding and to humble yourself before your God, your words were heard, and I have come in response to them. ¹³But the prince of the Persian kingdom resisted me twenty-one days. Then Michael, one of the chief princes, came to help me, because I was detained there with the king of Persia. ¹⁴Now I have come to explain to you what will happen to your people in the future, for the vision concerns a time yet to come."

¹⁵While he was saying this to me, I bowed with my face toward the ground and was speechless. ¹⁶Then one who looked like a man^b touched my lips, and I opened my mouth and began to speak. I said to the one standing before me, “I am overcome with anguish because of the vision, my lord, and I feel very weak.

¹⁷How can I, your servant, talk with you, my lord? My strength is gone and I can hardly breathe.”

¹⁸Again the one who looked like a man touched me and gave me strength.

¹⁹“Do not be afraid, you who are highly esteemed,” he said. “Peace! Be strong now; be strong.”

When he spoke to me, I was strengthened and said, “Speak, my lord, since you have given me strength.”

²⁰So he said, “Do you know why I have come to you? Soon I will return to fight against the prince of Persia, and when I go, the prince of Greece will come; ²¹but first I will tell you what is written in the Book of Truth. (No one supports me against them except Michael, your prince.

Daniel 11

¹And in the first year of Darius the Mede, I took my stand to support and protect him.)

The Kings of the South and the North

²“Now then, I tell you the truth: Three more kings will arise in Persia, and then a fourth, who will be far richer than all the others. When he has gained power by his wealth, he will stir up everyone against the kingdom of Greece.

³Then a mighty king will arise, who will rule with great power and do as he pleases. ⁴After he has arisen, his empire will be broken up and parceled out toward the four winds of heaven. It will not go to his descendants, nor will it have the power he exercised, because his empire will be uprooted and given to others.

⁵“The king of the South will become strong, but one of his commanders will become even stronger than he and will rule his own kingdom with great power.

⁶After some years, they will become allies. The daughter of the king of the South will go to the king of the North to make an alliance, but she will not retain her power, and he and his power^a will not last. In those days she will be betrayed, together with her royal escort and her father^b and the one who supported her.

¹¹“Then the king of the South will march out in a rage and fight against the king of the North, who will raise a large army, but it will be defeated. ¹²When the army is carried off, the king of the South will be filled with pride and will slaughter many thousands, yet he will not remain triumphant. ¹³For the king of the North will muster another army, larger than the first; and after several years, he will advance with a huge army fully equipped.

¹⁴“In those times many will rise against the king of the South. Those who are violent among your own people will rebel in fulfillment of the vision, but without success. ¹⁵Then the king of the North will come and build up siege ramps and will capture a fortified city. The forces of the South will be powerless to resist; even their best troops will not have the strength to stand. ¹⁶The invader will do as he pleases; no one will be able to stand against him. He will establish himself in the Beautiful Land and will have the power to destroy it. ¹⁷He will determine to come with the might of his entire kingdom and will make an alliance with the king of the South. And he will give him a daughter in marriage in order to overthrow the kingdom, but his plans^c will not succeed or help him. ¹⁸Then he will turn his attention to the coastlands and will take many of them, but a commander will put an end to his insolence and will turn his insolence back on him. ¹⁹After this, he will turn back toward the fortresses of his own country but will stumble and fall, to be seen no more.

²⁰“His successor will send out a tax collector to maintain the royal splendor. In a few years, however, he will be destroyed, yet not in anger or in battle.

²¹“He will be succeeded by a contemptible person who has not been given the honor of royalty. He will invade the kingdom when its people feel secure, and he will seize it through intrigue. ²²Then an overwhelming army will be swept away before him; both it and a prince of the covenant will be destroyed. ²³After coming to an agreement with him, he will act deceitfully, and with only a few people he will rise to power. ²⁴When the richest provinces feel secure, he will invade them and will achieve what neither his fathers nor his forefathers did. He will distribute plunder, loot and wealth among his followers. He will plot the overthrow of fortresses—but only for a time.

²⁵“With a large army he will stir up his strength and courage against the king of the South. The king of the South will wage war with a large and very powerful army, but he will not be able to stand because of the plots devised against him. ²⁶Those who eat from the king’s provisions will try to destroy him; his army will be swept away, and many will fall in battle. ²⁷The two kings, with their hearts bent on evil, will sit at the same table and lie to each other, but to no avail, because an end will still come at the appointed time. ²⁸The king of the North will return to his own country with great wealth, but his heart will be set against the holy covenant. He will take action against it and then return to his own country.

²⁹“At the appointed time he will invade the South again, but this time the outcome will be different from what it was before. ³⁰Ships of the western coastlands will oppose him, and he will lose heart. Then he will turn back and vent his fury against the holy covenant. He will return and show favor to those who forsake the holy covenant.

³¹“His armed forces will rise up to desecrate the temple fortress and will abolish the daily sacrifice. Then they will set up the abomination that causes desolation. ³²With flattery he will corrupt those who have violated the covenant, but the people who know their God will firmly resist him.

³³“Those who are wise will instruct many, though for a time they will fall by the sword or be burned or captured or plundered. ³⁴When they fall, they will receive a little help, and many who are not sincere will join them. ³⁵Some of the wise will stumble, so that they may be refined, purified and made spotless until the time of the end, for it will still come at the appointed time.

The King Who Exalts Himself

³⁶“The king will do as he pleases. He will exalt and magnify himself above every god and will say unheard-of things against the God of gods. He will be successful until the time of wrath is completed, for what has been determined must take place. ³⁷He will show no regard for the gods of his ancestors or for the one desired by women, nor will he regard any god, but will exalt himself above them all. ³⁸Instead of them, he will honor a god of fortresses; a god unknown to his ancestors he will honor with gold and silver, with precious stones and costly gifts. ³⁹He will attack the mightiest fortresses with the help of a foreign god and will greatly honor those who acknowledge him. He will make them rulers over many people and will distribute the land at a price.^d ⁴⁰“At the time of the end the king of the South will engage him in battle, and the king of the North will storm out against him with chariots and cavalry and a great fleet of ships. He will invade many countries and sweep through them like a flood. ⁴¹He will also invade the Beautiful Land. Many countries will fall, but Edom, Moab and the leaders of Ammon will be delivered from his hand. ⁴²He will extend his power over many countries; Egypt will not escape. ⁴³He will gain control of the treasures of gold and silver and all the riches of Egypt, with the Libyans and Cushites^e in submission. ⁴⁴But reports from the east and the north will alarm him, and he will set out in a great rage to destroy and annihilate many. ⁴⁵He will pitch his royal tents between the seas at^f the beautiful holy mountain. Yet he will come to his end, and no one will help him.

Daniel 12

The End Times

¹“At that time Michael, the great prince who protects your people, will arise. There will be a time of distress such as has not happened from the beginning of nations until then. But at that time your people—everyone whose name is found written in the book—will be delivered. ²Multitudes who sleep in the dust of the earth will awake: some to everlasting life, others to shame and everlasting contempt. ³Those who are wise^a will shine like the brightness of the heavens, and those who lead many to righteousness, like the stars for ever and ever. ⁴But you, Daniel, roll up and seal the words of the scroll until the time of the end. Many will go here and there to increase knowledge.”

⁵Then I, Daniel, looked, and there before me stood two others, one on this bank of the river and one on the opposite bank. ⁶One of them said to the man clothed in linen, who was above the waters of the river, “How long will it be before these astonishing things are fulfilled?”

⁷The man clothed in linen, who was above the waters of the river, lifted his right hand and his left hand toward heaven, and I heard him swear by him who lives forever, saying, “It will be for a time, times and half a time.^b When the power of the holy people has been finally broken, all these things will be completed.”

⁸I heard, but I did not understand. So I asked, “My lord, what will the outcome of all this be?”

⁹He replied, “Go your way, Daniel, because the words are rolled up and sealed until the time of the end. ¹⁰Many will be purified, made spotless and refined, but the wicked will continue to be wicked. None of the wicked will understand, but those who are wise will understand.

¹³“As for you, go your way till the end. You will rest, and then at the end of the days you will rise to receive your allotted inheritance.”

Nebuchadnezzar and Daniel: A Contrast in Pride and Humility

Daniel 2:1–28

When the magicians of Babylon fail to interpret a troubling dream, Nebuchadnezzar threatens to kill them all. He embodies pride and arrogance. Contrast him with Daniel, who steps forward to interpret the dream, yet refuses to accept personal glory. Instead, he honors the God of heaven.

21 Qualities

CHARACTER | Daniel Had What It Took!

Daniel 2:48

DOES THE PRIVATE life of a leader truly impact his or her public life? No question about it. Daniel illustrates why character plays such a vital role.

Daniel could have tried merely to survive his experience as a captive in a foreign land. Instead, he never left his disciplined life of character and personal commitment. Ponder the character he displayed during his times of testing under the kings of Babylon:

1. His Diet: He wouldn't compromise on ritually unclean foods, but ate only vegetables.
2. His Motives: He didn't take credit for interpreting dreams, but glorified God instead.
3. His Honesty: He spoke the truth to authorities, regardless of its unpopularity.
4. His Disciplines: He continued praying daily, even though it might cost him his life.
5. His Integrity: He had no interest in bribes or payoffs.
6. His Convictions: He stayed committed to his friends and beliefs even as he rose through the ranks.

How a leader deals with the circumstances of life tells you many things about his character. Crisis doesn't necessarily make character, but it certainly does reveal it. Adversity makes a person choose one of two paths: character or compromise. Every time a leader chooses character, he grows stronger.

Character is the foundation on which a leader builds his or her life. It all begins with character, because leadership operates on the basis of trust. People will follow a leader only so far as they trust him or her. Character communicates credibility, harnesses respect, creates consistency and earns trust.

Every leader must know the following about character:

1. Character is more than talk.

Anyone can say that he has integrity, but action is the real indicator of character. Your character determines who you are and what you do. That's why you can never separate a leader's character from his actions. If a leader's actions and intentions continually work against each other, look to his character to find out why.

2. Talent is a gift, but character is a choice.

We have no control over a lot of things in life. We don't get to choose our parents or the circumstances of our birth and upbringing. But we do choose our character. We create it each time we make choices.

3. Character brings lasting success with people.

True leadership always involves others. Followers do not trust leaders whose character they know to be flawed, and they will not continue to follow them.

4. Leaders cannot rise above the limitations of their character.

Character will either limit or support a leader, depending on its strength. It will always determine whether a leader finishes well.

Nebuchadnezzar: Face-to-Face with the Majesty of God

Daniel 3:1–30

While King Nebuchadnezzar provides a great example of a leader with seriously misplaced passion, he provides an even better example of what happens when a man comes face-to-face with the majesty of the living God.

Nebuchadnezzar, full of pride, created a 90-foot-high golden “god” whom all of his subjects were ordered to worship. It must have been a magnificent sight, gleaming brightly and all alone in the glare of the hot Mesopotamian sun.

But it was just a statue.

Nebuchadnezzar, a leader of great passion, threatened to kill anyone who disobeyed his orders. When three of God’s servants refused to bow down, the king flew into a rage and ordered them burned alive. On that day, the king saw up close the infinite difference between the God of Israel and the idol he had set up. Before the king’s bedazzled eyes, God performed a great miracle that left Nebuchadnezzar and the other witnesses gaping in awe.

The king would never be the same. He turned from his idol to the God whose people he had once persecuted. He praised the Lord and demanded that his subjects worship him alone.

Godly leaders should ask the Lord to show them regular glimpses of his power and glory. When he does that, it becomes much easier to direct our passion toward serving the one, true God.

Commitment: When a Leader Has Resolve, Resources Follow

Daniel 3:1–18

When the three friends of Daniel refused to worship a statue Nebuchadnezzar had made, they told the king that they expected their God to deliver them. Immediately afterwards they made a bold statement of commitment: “But even if he does not, we want you to know, Your Majesty, that we will not serve your gods or worship the image of gold you have set up” (Da 3:18). The second statement did not dilute the first, but simply declared the men’s resolve.

Once we make a commitment, the resources follow—but they seldom follow until we declare our commitment. From this text we learn the following about developing commitment:

1. It usually begins with a struggle.
2. It seldom surrounds abilities or gifts.
3. It is the result of choice, not condition.
4. It is fostered when we settle the issue before it arises.
5. It is enhanced by deep trust in God.
6. It lasts when we remain single-minded.

Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego: Courage Fueled by Faith

Daniel 3:16–18

Every leader will at some point reach a crossroads of faith, when he or she has to take a stand—even at the risk of great personal loss.

Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego faced such a moment. They were given one simple choice: bow or die. There would be no bargaining, no compromise, no “meeting halfway.” Nebuchadnezzar ordered them to bow to his idol, or be reduced to ashes. They chose the furnace.

How could they resist such peer pressure and deadly threats? Their speech gives us several clues:

1. “The God we serve is able to deliver us” (v. 17). They believed in the omnipotence of God, that nothing was too hard for him.
2. “He will deliver us” (v. 17). They believed in the love of God that acts on behalf of the beloved.
3. “Even if . . . not” (v. 18). They believed in the sovereignty of God, that he acts on the basis of his own pleasure and will.
4. “The God we serve . . .” (v. 17). They not only believed certain things, they acted on them and had done so all of their lives.

All leaders will face times of testing when they will be ordered to “bow.” During those times they need the courage and conviction to say, “I will never bow!”

TEACHABILITY | The King Is Slow to Learn

Daniel 4:1–37

KING NEBUCHADNEZZAR proved himself to be one of the most arrogant leaders in history, so self-centered and prideful that God dealt with him in a most unusual way.

God gave the king a vision of a huge tree, chopped down by an angel. The tree represented him. God removed him from his position and drove him into the wilderness to live like an animal. His hair and fingernails grew long; he ate the same diet as the beasts of the field; he dwelt in caves and dirt shelters. And he stayed out there until he fully recognized God as the supreme Ruler of the world. He had to learn submission, relinquish control and power, and become teachable.

Fortunately, God’s discipline worked. Once the king returned to the palace, he became a different man. He no longer laid claim to sovereignty or wisdom. He perceived his greatness as God-given (Da 4:36). He sought to honor God rather than himself as the source of every good thing (4:37). Notice how Nebuchadnezzar developed a teachable spirit:

1. Grateful Words

The king expressed appreciation and blessing for God’s grace and mercy.

2. Hungry Mind

The king possessed a passion and hunger for personal growth.

3. Big-picture Perspective

The king saw things from a new, larger viewpoint.

4. Dissatisfaction with the Present

The king did not feel content with the status quo or mediocrity.

5. Humble Heart

The king expressed humility regarding his own importance and power.

6. Magnetic Spirit

The king began once more to attract nobles and counselors.

How about you? Are you a teachable leader? Do you want to dictate the people or circumstances from whom you will learn, or will you learn from anyone? Consider a few steps to improve your teachability:

1. Don't believe your own press.

The greatest enemy of tomorrow's success is today's. Don't get distracted by your achievements.

2. Observe how you react to mistakes.

Do you admit them when you make them? Do you apologize or get defensive? Get honest about your needs.

3. Try something new.

When was the last time you did something for the first time? Challenges change us for the better and keep us learning.

4. Grow in the area of your strength.

Read books on leadership and in your area of giftedness. Don't be satisfied with where you are today. Keep stretching.

Competence: People Come to See a Gift in Action

Daniel 4:8

Although Nebuchadnezzar pays lip service to the Most High God after seeing him in action, he still thinks too highly of himself. So God gives him a vision about how he will be humbled. Once again, Daniel is called upon to interpret a dream, since all recognize him as the only one with the ability to explain such visions.

When a leader operates in the area of his or her gift, people will watch and listen. Competence is a key attribute for every leader. Without even knowing it, followers ask four questions of every leader:

1. Knowledge: Does the leader know where he is going?
2. Desire: Do I want to go where the leader is going?
3. Ability: Can the leader get me there?
4. Trust: Do I trust this leader?

Because Daniel could answer “yes” to each of these questions, he entered each challenge primed to succeed. He enjoyed peace, not panic; faith, not fear; and commitment, not compromise.

Every leader must ask, “What is my gift? What do I offer that people need? What unique contribution do I make that makes people want to follow me?”

The Law of Influence: When Daniel Spoke, People Listened

Daniel 5:13–14

Despite the fact that Daniel was a refugee in a foreign land, he had influence. At times, he had no position or title, but when Daniel spoke, everyone listened. Why? People listened to Daniel for the following reasons:

1. Relationships: People listen to us because of who we know.
Daniel had a reputation for knowing the God of Israel.
2. Sacrifice: People listen to us because of what we have suffered.
Daniel gave up his right to eat the king’s food.
3. Character: People listen to us because of our integrity.
Daniel remained blameless and trustworthy even when he had to rebuke kings.
4. Relevance: People listen to us because we identify with their needs.
Daniel lived with the Babylonians and identified with their struggles and lifestyle.
5. Insight: People listen to us because of what we know.
Daniel could interpret dreams and visions that confused everyone else.
6. Vulnerability: People listen to us because we are genuinely transparent.
Daniel’s life was an open book.
7. Experience: People listen to us because we’ve succeeded in the past.
Daniel’s credibility came from years of living well.
8. Humility: People listen to us when we incarnate meekness.
Daniel served and submitted to authorities, unless they broke a higher law.
9. Competence: People listen to us because of our abilities and expertise.

- Daniel did many things better than anyone else.
10. Courage: People listen to us because we demonstrate conviction.
Daniel was no one's puppet and showed he would die for his convictions.

Decision Making: Choices Confirm or Compromise Values

Daniel 6:1–10

One day Daniel had to decide whether he would submit to an ungodly law, or stick with his convictions. He chose his life principles. He likely followed in the footsteps of other strong leaders of the Old Testament:

1. Weigh out the options in front of you.
2. Ask if those choices force you to compromise personal values.
3. Seek wise counsel.
4. Count the cost.
5. Decide based on principles.
6. Act on your decision swiftly and firmly.

Someone once said, "If you take so much time making a decision that it is too late to act, then you might as well have whittled a stick." This happens too often among contemporary leaders. They desire to do right, but by waiting to survey the pulse of their people, they paralyze the organization. Some leaders are so indecisive, their favorite color is plaid. Daniel maintained a set of values and principles that enabled him to make decisions quickly and confidently.

The Role of Praying and Planning in Leadership

Daniel 7:1—12:13

God controls the future. Therefore, we should never plan without praying. If God isn't in our plans, we waste our time. At the same time, we should respond to the guidance God gives us. Once we get confirmation and peace from God, we should act accordingly. Obedience is a reflection of faith.

Daniel: A Man Who Sought Understanding

Daniel 8:15, 17, 27

The prophet Daniel, like any godly leader, craved insight from the Lord. But Daniel wanted more than to receive a vision from God; he wanted God to explain the vision. The Lord obliged, but also showed Daniel the price attached to such a privilege.

Do you realize the cost of receiving a genuine vision from the Lord? After Daniel received this prophecy, he fainted, lay sick in bed for days, felt great astonishment over what he had seen, yet still didn't fully understand it (Da 8:27). And during the vision itself, he felt great fear (8:17). It is no trifling matter to receive a genuine word from God!

By the time of this vision, Daniel was an old man. He had served three pagan kings and had accumulated enormous experience. He constantly studied the Scripture. Yet he realized he still had to work to gain an accurate understanding of what God told him. After he received this vision, he tells us that he was "trying to understand it" (8:15).

It is not enough for leaders to know the Word of God or to know the prophecies contained in that Word. They must seek to understand how that Word applies to them and to their followers. And they must never take for granted the enormous privilege of communicating the revelation of God.

Spiritual Leaders Lead God's Family and God's Army

Daniel 10:1–21

The vision Daniel receives in chapter 10 presents him with a deeper challenge than any in his past. He now learns he is engaged in spiritual warfare. In his dialogue with an angel, Daniel learns some important lessons every leader ought to master:

1. Spiritual leaders lead not only God's family, but God's army (vv. 10–21).
2. Prayer ignites spiritual warfare invisible to us (vv. 10–12).
3. Both spiritual kingdoms seem to have princes (v. 13).
4. Spiritual warfare can delay victories (vv. 13–14).
5. We must not fear spiritual warfare (vv. 18–19).
6. Understanding warfare enables us to cooperate with God's purposes (vv. 20–21).

As you seek to lead in a more strategic way, recognize that you will encounter struggles beyond mere human opposition. You must wisely face an invisible, spiritual world around you. You need both prayer and persistence.

Introduction to

Hosea

A Visual Demonstration of Israel's Unfaithfulness to God

Hosea, the first of the “minor prophets,” led and prophesied in Israel during a season of material wealth but spiritual poverty. Because of this, God called him to do something very costly. In order to send a memorable message to the people of Israel, Hosea was to marry a prostitute—thus giving the people a visual demonstration of their unfaithfulness to Yahweh. Hosea’s words were to help the people feel the grief of God, who responded to their rebellion like a husband with an adulterous wife. In the same way Gomer had betrayed Hosea, Israel had betrayed God.

Hosea vividly illustrates the Law of Sacrifice. In order to fulfill his divine calling, he had to pay a huge price. At his own expense, he married Gomer and watched her drift from her marriage time and again. We can only imagine his pain, called to live with her lies and deception, having to explain to his children that their mother would not be home that night, then watching her public humiliation as evil men auctioned off her body for the carnal delight of strangers. Certainly, when Hosea spoke to the Israelites about their spiritual state, he could do it with empathy and passion. He knew firsthand how God felt about the spiritual adultery of his chosen people.

Leadership really is about sacrifice. Many of us want the perks of leadership without the price of leadership. Yet becoming a leader isn’t about gaining rights; it’s about giving them up. Leaders in the business world often err in thinking that becoming a C.E.O. means more liberties with the budget, more options with their time, and more freedom with their lifestyle. From God’s perspective, leadership means quite the opposite. Leaders relinquish options and remain careful to do all things for the sake of the gospel (1Co 9:19–23).

Leading people is also about more than words; it really is a lifestyle. We cannot separate our communication from our conduct. To speak with the kind of credibility and emotion he did, Hosea had to live what God was living. Hollow leadership results when we do not incarnate the values we want others to embrace. Hypocrisy replaces integrity. No one wants to follow this kind of leader. The way we talk, the way we lead, and the way we live should mesh. Just ask Hosea.

God's Role in Hosea

God reveals himself in this book as both a forgiving Lord and a holy Judge who requires repentance on the part of his erring people. Because he endured an adulterous bride in Israel, he called Hosea to imitate his situation—then to speak to the people about his forgiveness and judgment. God led his leader, Hosea, in an experience he would never forget. Hosea got to step into God's shoes for a season and feel what he felt. Through Hosea, God communicated both his unconditional love and his unchanging law.

Lessons in Leadership

- Leaders must maintain poise even in the midst of unfair demands.
- The simple game plan is the best when restoring or rebuilding.
- Followers in volatile situations need consistency from leaders.
- Leaders must lead from established values and standards.
- Regardless of what the people do, leaders must model what is right.
- Effective leaders never lose sight of the big picture.

Hosea 1

¹The word of the LORD that came to Hosea son of Beeri during the reigns of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, and during the reign of Jeroboam son of Jehoash^a king of Israel: PROFILE in Leadership: Hosea: The Cost of Leadership

Hosea's Wife and Children

²When the LORD began to speak through Hosea, the LORD said to him, "Go, marry a promiscuous woman and have children with her, for like an adulterous wife this land is guilty of unfaithfulness to the LORD." ³So he married Gomer daughter of Diblaim, and she conceived and bore him a son. The Law of Sacrifice: Hosea Marries a Harlot to Teach the Truth

⁴Then the LORD said to Hosea, "Call him Jezreel, because I will soon punish the house of Jehu for the massacre at Jezreel, and I will put an end to the kingdom of Israel. ⁵In that day I will break Israel's bow in the Valley of Jezreel."

⁶Gomer conceived again and gave birth to a daughter. Then the LORD said to Hosea, "Call her Lo-Ruhamah (which means "not loved"), for I will no longer show love to Israel, that I should at all forgive them. ⁷Yet I will show love to Judah; and I will save them—not by bow, sword or battle, or by horses and horsemen, but I, the LORD their God, will save them."

⁸After she had weaned Lo-Ruhamah, Gomer had another son. ⁹Then the LORD said, "Call him Lo-Ammi (which means "not my people"), for you are not my people, and I am not your God."^b

¹⁰"Yet the Israelites will be like the sand on the seashore, which cannot be measured or counted. In the place where it was said to them, 'You are not my people,' they will be called 'children of the living God.' ¹¹The people of Judah and the people of Israel will come together; they will appoint one leader and will come up out of the land, for great will be the day of Jezreel."^c

Hosea 2^a

¹“Say of your brothers, ‘My people,’ and of your sisters, ‘My loved one.’

Israel Punished and Restored

- ²“Rebuke your mother, rebuke her, for she is not my wife, and I am not her husband.
Let her remove the adulterous look from her face and the unfaithfulness from between her breasts.
- ³Otherwise I will strip her naked and make her as bare as on the day she was born;
I will make her like a desert,
turn her into a parched land,
and slay her with thirst.
- ⁴I will not show my love to her children, because they are the children of adultery.
- ⁵Their mother has been unfaithful and has conceived them in disgrace.
She said, ‘I will go after my lovers, who give me my food and my water,
my wool and my linen, my olive oil and my drink.’
- ⁶Therefore I will block her path with thornbushes; I will wall her in so that she cannot find her way.
- ⁷She will chase after her lovers but not catch them; she will look for them but not find them.
Then she will say,
‘I will go back to my husband as at first,
for then I was better off than now.’
- ⁸She has not acknowledged that I was the one who gave her the grain, the new wine and oil, who lavished on her the silver and gold—which they used for Baal.
- ⁹“Therefore I will take away my grain when it ripens, and my new wine when it is ready.
I will take back my wool and my linen, intended to cover her naked body.
- ¹⁰So now I will expose her lewdness before the eyes of her lovers;
no one will take her out of my hands.
- ¹¹I will stop all her celebrations: her yearly festivals, her New Moons, her Sabbath days—all her appointed festivals.

¹²I will ruin her vines and her fig trees, which she said were her pay from her lovers;

I will make them a thicket, and wild animals will devour them.

¹³I will punish her for the days she burned incense to the Baals;
she decked herself with rings and jewelry,
and went after her lovers,
but me she forgot,”

declares the LORD.

¹⁴“Therefore I am now going to allure her; I will lead her into the wilderness and speak tenderly to her.

¹⁵There I will give her back her vineyards, and will make the Valley of Achor^b a door of hope.
There she will respond^c as in the days of her youth, as in the day she came up out of Egypt.

¹⁶“In that day,” declares the LORD, “you will call me ‘my husband’;
you will no longer call me ‘my master.’^d”

¹⁷I will remove the names of the Baals from her lips; no longer will their names be invoked.

¹⁸In that day I will make a covenant for them with the beasts of the field,
the birds in the sky
and the creatures that move along the ground.

Bow and sword and battle
I will abolish from the land,
so that all may lie down in safety.

¹⁹I will betroth you to me forever; I will betroth you in^e righteousness and justice, in^f love and compassion.

²⁰I will betroth you in^g faithfulness, and you will acknowledge the LORD.

²¹“In that day I will respond,”
declares the LORD—

“I will respond to the skies,
and they will respond to the earth;

²²and the earth will respond to the grain, the new wine and the olive oil, and they will respond to Jezreel.^h

²³I will plant her for myself in the land; I will show my love to the one I called ‘Not my loved one.’ⁱ

I will say to those called ‘Not my people,’^j ‘You are my people’; and they will say, ‘You are my God.’ ”

Hosea 3

Hosea's Reconciliation With His Wife

¹The LORD said to me, “Go, show your love to your wife again, though she is loved by another man and is an adulteress. Love her as the LORD loves the Israelites, though they turn to other gods and love the sacred raisin cakes.” The Law of Empowerment: Hosea Loves by Decision, Not Reaction

²So I bought her for fifteen shekels^a of silver and about a homer and a lethek^b of barley. ³Then I told her, “You are to live with me many days; you must not be a prostitute or be intimate with any man, and I will behave the same way toward you.”

⁴For the Israelites will live many days without king or prince, without sacrifice or sacred stones, without ephod or household gods. ⁵Afterward the Israelites will return and seek the LORD their God and David their king. They will come trembling to the LORD and to his blessings in the last days.

Hosea 4

The Charge Against Israel

¹Hear the word of the LORD, you Israelites, because the LORD has a charge to bring against you who live in the land:

“There is no faithfulness, no love,
no acknowledgment of God in the land.

²There is only cursing,^a lying and murder, stealing and adultery;
they break all bounds,
and bloodshed follows bloodshed.

³Because of this the land dries up, and all who live in it waste away;
the beasts of the field, the birds in the sky and the fish in the sea are swept away.

⁴“But let no one bring a charge, let no one accuse another, for your people are like those who bring charges against a priest.

⁵You stumble day and night, and the prophets stumble with you.
So I will destroy your mother—

⁶my people are destroyed from lack of knowledge.

“Because you have rejected knowledge,
I also reject you as my priests;
because you have ignored the law of your God,
I also will ignore your children.

⁷The more priests there were, the more they sinned against me;
they exchanged their glorious God^b for something disgraceful.

⁸They feed on the sins of my people and relish their wickedness.

⁹And it will be: Like people, like priests.
I will punish both of them for their ways and repay them for their deeds.

¹⁰“They will eat but not have enough; they will engage in prostitution but not flourish,
because they have deserted the LORD to give themselves ¹¹to prostitution; old wine and new wine take away their understanding.

¹²My people consult a wooden idol, and a diviner’s rod speaks to them.
A spirit of prostitution leads them astray;

they are unfaithful to their God.

¹³They sacrifice on the mountaintops and burn offerings on the hills, under oak, poplar and terebinth,
where the shade is pleasant.
Therefore your daughters turn to prostitution and your daughters-in-law to adultery.

¹⁴“I will not punish your daughters when they turn to prostitution, nor your daughters-in-law
when they commit adultery, because the men themselves consort with harlots and sacrifice with shrine prostitutes—
a people without understanding will come to ruin!

¹⁵“Though you, Israel, commit adultery, do not let Judah become guilty.

“Do not go to Gilgal;
do not go up to Beth Aven.^c
And do not swear, ‘As surely as the LORD lives!’

¹⁶The Israelites are stubborn, like a stubborn heifer.
How then can the LORD pasture them like lambs in a meadow?

¹⁷Ephraim is joined to idols; leave him alone!

¹⁸Even when their drinks are gone, they continue their prostitution; their rulers dearly love shameful ways.

¹⁹A whirlwind will sweep them away, and their sacrifices will bring them shame.

Hosea 5

Judgment Against Israel

Pay attention, you Israelites!

Listen, royal house!

This judgment is against you:

You have been a snare at Mizpah,
a net spread out on Tabor.

²The rebels are knee-deep in slaughter.

I will discipline all of them.

³I know all about Ephraim; Israel is not hidden from me.

Ephraim, you have now turned to prostitution;
Israel is corrupt.

⁴“Their deeds do not permit them to return to their God.

A spirit of prostitution is in their heart;
they do not acknowledge the LORD.

⁵Israel’s arrogance testifies against them; the Israelites, even Ephraim, stumble in their sin;

Judah also stumbles with them.

⁶When they go with their flocks and herds to seek the LORD,

they will not find him;
he has withdrawn himself from them.

⁷They are unfaithful to the LORD; they give birth to illegitimate children.

When they celebrate their New Moon feasts,
he will devour^a their fields.

⁸“Sound the trumpet in Gibeah, the horn in Ramah.

Raise the battle cry in Beth Aven^b; lead on, Benjamin.

⁹Ephraim will be laid waste on the day of reckoning.

- Among the tribes of Israel
I proclaim what is certain.
- ¹⁰Judah's leaders are like those who move boundary stones.
I will pour out my wrath on them like a flood of water. The Law of Solid Ground: Leaders Who Move Boundaries
- ¹¹Ephraim is oppressed, trampled in judgment, intent on pursuing idols.^c
- ¹²I am like a moth to Ephraim, like rot to the people of Judah.
- ¹³"When Ephraim saw his sickness, and Judah his sores, then Ephraim turned to Assyria, and sent to the great king for help.
But he is not able to cure you,
not able to heal your sores.
- ¹⁴For I will be like a lion to Ephraim, like a great lion to Judah.
I will tear them to pieces and go away;
I will carry them off, with no one to rescue them.
- ¹⁵Then I will return to my lair until they have borne their guilt and seek my face—

in their misery
they will earnestly seek me.”

Hosea 6

Israel Unrepentant

¹“Come, let us return to the LORD.
He has torn us to pieces
but he will heal us;

he has injured us
but he will bind up our wounds. The Art of Confrontation

²After two days he will revive us; on the third day he will restore us, that we may live in his presence.

³Let us acknowledge the LORD; let us press on to acknowledge him.
As surely as the sun rises,
he will appear;
he will come to us like the winter rains, like the spring rains that water the earth.”

⁴“What can I do with you, Ephraim?
What can I do with you, Judah?
Your love is like the morning mist,
like the early dew that disappears.

⁵Therefore I cut you in pieces with my prophets, I killed you with the words of my mouth— then my judgments go forth like the sun.^a ⁶For I desire mercy, not sacrifice, and acknowledgment of God rather than burnt offerings.

⁷As at Adam,^b they have broken the covenant; they were unfaithful to me there.

⁸Gilead is a city of evildoers, stained with footprints of blood.

⁹As marauders lie in ambush for a victim, so do bands of priests;
they murder on the road to Shechem, carrying out their wicked schemes.

¹⁰I have seen a horrible thing in Israel: There Ephraim is given to prostitution,
Israel is defiled.

¹¹“Also for you, Judah, a harvest is appointed.

“Whenever I would restore the fortunes of my people,

Hosea 7

- ¹whenever I would heal Israel, the sins of Ephraim are exposed and the crimes of Samaria revealed.
They practice deceit,
thieves break into houses,
bandits rob in the streets;
- ²but they do not realize that I remember all their evil deeds.
Their sins engulf them;
they are always before me.
- ³“They delight the king with their wickedness, the princes with their lies.
⁴They are all adulterers, burning like an oven whose fire the baker need not stir from the kneading of the dough till it rises.
⁵On the day of the festival of our king the princes become inflamed with wine,
and he joins hands with the mockers.
⁶Their hearts are like an oven; they approach him with intrigue.
Their passion smolders all night;
in the morning it blazes like a flaming fire.
⁷All of them are hot as an oven; they devour their rulers.
All their kings fall,
and none of them calls on me.
- ⁸“Ephraim mixes with the nations; Ephraim is a flat loaf not turned over.
⁹Foreigners sap his strength, but he does not realize it.
His hair is sprinkled with gray,
but he does not notice.
¹⁰Israel’s arrogance testifies against him, but despite all this he does not return to the LORD his God or search for him.
- ¹¹“Ephraim is like a dove, easily deceived and senseless— now calling to Egypt,
now turning to Assyria.
¹²When they go, I will throw my net over them; I will pull them down like

the birds in the sky.
When I hear them flocking together,
I will catch them.
¹³Woe to them,
because they have strayed from me!
Destruction to them,
because they have rebelled against me!

I long to redeem them
but they speak about me falsely.

¹⁴They do not cry out to me from their hearts but wail on their beds.
They slash themselves,^a appealing to their gods for grain and new wine, but they turn away from me.

¹⁵I trained them and strengthened their arms, but they plot evil against me.

¹⁶They do not turn to the Most High; they are like a faulty bow.

Their leaders will fall by the sword because of their insolent words.

For this they will be ridiculed in the land of Egypt.

Hosea 8

Israel to Reap the Whirlwind

An eagle is over the house of the LORD because the people have broken my covenant and rebelled against my law.

²Israel cries out to me, ‘Our God, we acknowledge you!’

³But Israel has rejected what is good; an enemy will pursue him.

⁴They set up kings without my consent; they choose princes without my approval.

With their silver and gold

they make idols for themselves to their own destruction.

⁵Samaria, throw out your calf-idol!

My anger burns against them.
How long will they be incapable of purity?

⁶They are from Israel!
This calf—a metalworker has made it;
it is not God.
It will be broken in pieces, that calf of Samaria.

⁷“They sow the wind
and reap the whirlwind.
The stalk has no head;
it will produce no flour.
Were it to yield grain, foreigners would swallow it up.

⁸Israel is swallowed up; now she is among the nations like something no one wants.

⁹For they have gone up to Assyria like a wild donkey wandering alone.
Ephraim has sold herself to lovers.

¹⁰Although they have sold themselves among the nations, I will now gather them together.
They will begin to waste away
under the oppression of the mighty king.

¹¹“Though Ephraim built many altars for sin offerings, these have become altars for sinning.

¹²I wrote for them the many things of my law, but they regarded them as something foreign.

¹³Though they offer sacrifices as gifts to me, and though they eat the meat, the LORD is not pleased with them.
Now he will remember their wickedness and punish their sins:
They will return to Egypt.

¹⁴Israel has forgotten their Maker and built palaces;
Judah has fortified many towns.

But I will send fire on their cities

But I will send fire on their cities that will consume their fortresses.”

Hosea 9

Punishment for Israel

- ¹Do not rejoice, Israel; do not be jubilant like the other nations.
For you have been unfaithful to your God;
you love the wages of a prostitute at every threshing floor.
- ²Threshing floors and winepresses will not feed the people; the new wine will fail them.
- ³They will not remain in the LORD's land; Ephraim will return to Egypt and eat unclean food in Assyria.
- ⁴They will not pour out wine offerings to the LORD, nor will their sacrifices please him.
Such sacrifices will be to them like the bread of mourners;
all who eat them will be unclean.
This food will be for themselves;
it will not come into the temple of the LORD.
- ⁵What will you do on the day of your appointed festivals, on the feast days of the LORD?
- ⁶Even if they escape from destruction, Egypt will gather them,
and Memphis will bury them.
Their treasures of silver will be taken over by briers,
and thorns will overrun their tents.
- ⁷The days of punishment are coming, the days of reckoning are at hand.
Let Israel know this.
Because your sins are so many and your hostility so great,
the prophet is considered a fool,
the inspired person a maniac.
- ⁸The prophet, along with my God, is the watchman over Ephraim,^a yet snares await him on all his paths, and hostility in the house of his God.
- ⁹They have sunk deep into corruption, as in the days of Gibeah.

God will remember their wickedness
and punish them for their sins.

¹⁰“When I found Israel, it was like finding grapes in the desert;
when I saw your ancestors,
it was like seeing the early fruit on the fig tree.
But when they came to Baal Peor, they consecrated themselves to that shameful idol and became as vile as the thing they loved.

¹¹Ephraim’s glory will fly away like a bird— no birth, no pregnancy, no conception.

¹²Even if they rear children, I will bereave them of every one.

Woe to them
when I turn away from them!

¹³I have seen Ephraim, like Tyre, planted in a pleasant place.

But Ephraim will bring out their children to the slayer.”

¹⁴Give them, LORD— what will you give them?

Give them wombs that miscarry and breasts that are dry.

¹⁵“Because of all their wickedness in Gilgal, I hated them there.
Because of their sinful deeds,
I will drive them out of my house.
I will no longer love them;
all their leaders are rebellious.

¹⁶Ephraim is blighted, their root is withered, they yield no fruit.
Even if they bear children,
I will slay their cherished offspring.”

¹⁷My God will reject them because they have not obeyed him;
they will be wanderers among the nations.

Hosea 10

- ¹Israel was a spreading vine; he brought forth fruit for himself.
As his fruit increased,
he built more altars;
as his land prospered,
he adorned his sacred stones.
- ²Their heart is deceitful, and now they must bear their guilt.
The LORD will demolish their altars and destroy their sacred stones.
- ³Then they will say, “We have no king because we did not revere the
LORD.
But even if we had a king,
what could he do for us?” Israel's Leaders Broke the Law of Solid Ground
- ⁴They make many promises, take false oaths and make agreements;

therefore lawsuits spring up like poisonous weeds in a plowed field.

⁵The people who live in Samaria fear for the calf-idol of Beth Aven.^a

Its people will mourn over it, and so will its idolatrous priests,
those who had rejoiced over its splendor,
because it is taken from them into exile.

⁶It will be carried to Assyria as tribute for the great king.

Ephraim will be disgraced;
Israel will be ashamed of its foreign alliances.

⁷Samaria's king will be destroyed, swept away like a twig on the surface of the waters.

⁸The high places of wickedness^b will be destroyed— it is the sin of Israel.

Thorns and thistles will grow up and cover their altars.

Then they will say to the mountains, "Cover us!"
and to the hills, "Fall on us!"

⁹"Since the days of Gibeah, you have sinned, Israel, and there you have remained."^c

Will not war again overtake the evildoers in Gibeah?

¹⁰When I please, I will punish them; nations will be gathered against them to put them in bonds for their double sin.

¹¹Ephraim is a trained heifer that loves to thresh;
so I will put a yoke
on her fair neck.

I will drive Ephraim,
Judah must plow,
and Jacob must break up the ground.

¹²Sow righteousness for yourselves, reap the fruit of unfailing love, and break up your unplowed ground;
for it is time to seek the LORD, until he comes and showers his righteousness on you.

¹³But you have planted wickedness, you have reaped evil,
you have eaten the fruit of deception.

Because you have depended on your own strength and on your many warriors,

¹⁴the roar of battle will rise against your people, so that all your fortresses will be devastated— as Shalman devastated Beth Arbel on the day of battle,

when mothers were dashed to the ground with their children.

¹⁵So will it happen to you, Bethel, because your wickedness is great.
When that day dawns,
the king of Israel will be completely destroyed.

Hosea 11

God's Love for Israel

¹“When Israel was a child, I loved him, and out of Egypt I called my son.

²But the more they were called, the more they went away from me.^a

They sacrificed to the Baals and they burned incense to images.
³It was I who taught Ephraim to walk, taking them by the arms;

but they did not realize it was I who healed them.
⁴I led them with cords of human kindness, with ties of love.
 To them I was like one who lifts
 a little child to the cheek, and I bent down to feed them.
⁵“Will they not return to Egypt and will not Assyria rule over them because they refuse to repent?
⁶A sword will flash in their cities; it will devour their false prophets and put an end to their plans.
⁷My people are determined to turn from me.
 Even though they call me God Most High,
 I will by no means exalt them.
⁸“How can I give you up, Ephraim?
 How can I hand you over, Israel?
 How can I treat you like Admah?
 How can I make you like Zeboyim?
 My heart is changed within me;
 all my compassion is aroused.
⁹I will not carry out my fierce anger, nor will I devastate Ephraim again.
 For I am God, and not a man—
 the Holy One among you.
 I will not come against their cities.
¹⁰They will follow the LORD; he will roar like a lion.
 When he roars,
 his children will come trembling from the west.
¹¹They will come from Egypt, trembling like sparrows, from Assyria, fluttering like doves.
 I will settle them in their homes,”
 declares the LORD.

Israel's Sin

¹²Ephraim has surrounded me with lies, Israel with deceit.
 And Judah is unruly against God,

even against the faithful Holy One.^b

Hosea 12^a

¹Ephraim feeds on the wind; he pursues the east wind all day and multiplies lies and violence.

He makes a treaty with Assyria and sends olive oil to Egypt.

²The LORD has a charge to bring against Judah; he will punish Jacob^b according to his ways and repay him according to his deeds.

³In the womb he grasped his brother's heel; as a man he struggled with God.

⁴He struggled with the angel and overcame him; he wept and begged for his favor.

- He found him at Bethel and talked with him there—⁵the LORD God Almighty, the LORD is his name!
⁶But you must return to your God; maintain love and justice, and wait for your God always.
- ⁷The merchant uses dishonest scales and loves to defraud.
⁸Ephraim boasts,
“I am very rich; I have become wealthy.
With all my wealth they will not find in me any iniquity or sin.”
- ⁹“I have been the LORD your God ever since you came out of Egypt;
I will make you live in tents again,
as in the days of your appointed festivals.
¹⁰I spoke to the prophets, gave them many visions and told parables through them.”
- ¹¹Is Gilead wicked?
Its people are worthless!
Do they sacrifice bulls in Gilgal?
Their altars will be like piles of stones on a plowed field.
- ¹²Jacob fled to the country of Aram^c; Israel served to get a wife, and to pay for her he tended sheep.
- ¹³The LORD used a prophet to bring Israel up from Egypt, by a prophet he cared for him.
- ¹⁴But Ephraim has aroused his bitter anger; his Lord will leave on him the guilt of his bloodshed and will repay him for his contempt.

Hosea 13

The LORD's Anger Against Israel

- ¹When Ephraim spoke, people trembled; he was exalted in Israel.
But he became guilty of Baal worship and died.
- ²Now they sin more and more; they make idols for themselves from their silver,
cleverly fashioned images,
all of them the work of craftsmen.
It is said of these people,
“They offer human sacrifices!
They kiss^a calf-idols!”
- ³Therefore they will be like the morning mist, like the early dew that disappears,
like chaff swirling from a threshing floor,
like smoke escaping through a window.
- ⁴“But I have been the LORD your God ever since you came out of Egypt.
You shall acknowledge no God but me,
no Savior except me.
- ⁵I cared for you in the wilderness, in the land of burning heat.
- ⁶When I fed them, they were satisfied; when they were satisfied, they became proud;
then they forgot me.
- ⁷So I will be like a lion to them, like a leopard I will lurk by the path.
- ⁸Like a bear robbed of her cubs, I will attack them and rip them open;
like a lion I will devour them—
a wild animal will tear them apart.
- ⁹“You are destroyed, Israel, because you are against me, against your helper.
- ¹⁰Where is your king, that he may save you?
Where are your rulers in all your towns,
of whom you said,
‘Give me a king and princes’?

¹¹So in my anger I gave you a king, and in my wrath I took him away.

¹²The guilt of Ephraim is stored up, his sins are kept on record.

¹³Pains as of a woman in childbirth come to him, but he is a child without wisdom;

when the time arrives,

he doesn't have the sense to come out of the womb.

¹⁴"I will deliver this people from the power of the grave; I will redeem them from death.

Where, O death, are your plagues?

Where, O grave, is your destruction?

"I will have no compassion,

¹⁵even though he thrives among his brothers.

An east wind from the LORD will come, blowing in from the desert;

his spring will fail
and his well dry up.

His storehouse will be plundered of all its treasures.

¹⁶The people of Samaria must bear their guilt, because they have rebelled against their God.

They will fall by the sword;
their little ones will be dashed to the ground,
their pregnant women ripped open.”^b

Hosea 14^a

Repentance to Bring Blessing

- ¹Return, Israel, to the LORD your God.
Your sins have been your downfall! Humility: No Matter Who the Leader Is—God Still Rules!
- ²Take words with you and return to the LORD.
Say to him:
“Forgive all our sins
and receive us graciously,
that we may offer the fruit of our lips.”^b
- ³Assyria cannot save us; we will not mount warhorses.
We will never again say ‘Our gods’
to what our own hands have made,
for in you the fatherless find compassion.”
- ⁴“I will heal their waywardness and love them freely, for my anger has turned away from them.
- ⁵I will be like the dew to Israel; he will blossom like a lily.

Like a cedar of Lebanon
he will send down his roots;
⁶his young shoots will grow.
His splendor will be like an olive tree,
his fragrance like a cedar of Lebanon.

⁷People will dwell again in his shade; they will flourish like the grain, they will blossom like the vine—
Israel's fame will be like the wine of Lebanon.

⁸Ephraim, what more have I^c to do with idols?
I will answer him and care for him.
I am like a flourishing juniper;
your fruitfulness comes from me.”

⁹Who is wise? Let them realize these things.
Who is discerning? Let them understand.
The ways of the LORD are right;
the righteous walk in them,
but the rebellious stumble in them.

PROFILE in Leadership

Hosea: The Cost of Leadership

Hosea 1:1—3:5

It can be painful to read the story of Hosea. Out of obedience to God, the prophet marries the prostitute Gomer, who refuses to change her ways for her husband or for their children. Still, Hosea tries to bring his wife back, to redeem her from the sordid life to which she so stubbornly clings.

From the human perspective, it is easy to wonder why Hosea continues to punish himself this way. Why would a man subject himself to the kind of heartache he must have felt in trying to make a faithful wife out of a prostitute? Why wouldn't he just "cut his losses" and rid himself of this wicked woman?

The quick answer is that Hosea's life did not belong to him alone. Like us, he had given his heart and soul to God. In Paul's words, "You are not your own . . . you were bought at a price" (1Co 6:19–20). Hosea realized that God had called him to become a living metaphor of the love of God for his people—and he obeyed, regardless of the personal cost.

Hosea illustrates the heartaches that may come from following the call of God. As leaders, we continue to pray for and minister to those who have strayed from the Lord—even when it hurts—knowing that God did the same for us.

The Law of Sacrifice: Hosea Marries a Harlot to Teach the Truth

Hosea 1:2

Can you imagine what Hosea must have felt when God asked him to propose to a prostitute? The Lord instructed him to marry Gomer in order to illustrate the spiritual adultery Israel had committed against God. The Hebrews had been unfaithful to God and pursued other gods, just as a harlot joins herself to several men. What a request!

Leadership is about sacrifice. It means giving up personal options in order to guide the people to where they need to go. Hosea made several sacrifices in his leadership:

1. He was asked to marry a prostitute.
2. He was asked to lead in a time of rebellion.
3. He was given a very unpopular message.
4. He was told to have children despite an absentee wife.
5. He was committed to remain poised under harsh demands.
6. He was instructed to live faithfully and consistently in a volatile situation.

Leaders lose their right to selfishness. They must take into account the lives of others when making decisions. They must say what the people need to hear, not merely what they want to hear. They must guide the people to where they ought to go, not necessarily where they desire to go. Could this explain why we have so few good leaders?

The Law of Empowerment: Hosea Loves by Decision, Not Reaction

Hosea 3:1

In Hosea 3 the prophet receives one profound command. He is told to go and reconcile with his wife, who remains in an adulterous relationship. He is told to act, not react. He is to love Gomer rather than take revenge.

God calls leaders to live on a higher level than followers. We are called to respond as God did to Israel. Although Israel had committed falsehood (Hos 4:1), prostitution (4:11), murder (5:2), robbery (7:1) and oppression (12:7), along with repeated spiritual adultery, God continued to guide and empower his people.

In the final chapter, the prophet pleads with Israel to return to the Lord (14:1), that they might be graciously received, restored and healed (14:2–4). Leaders can do this only when they live and lead from principle rather than from reaction.

The Law of Solid Ground: Leaders Who Move Boundaries

Hosea 5:10

Boundary stones were to be fixed and so bring definition to a plot of land. Israel's leaders moved what never should have been moved; they compromised values. Leaders who cannot be trusted with basic integrity will surely suffer God's anger. Every organization needs boundary stones. Leaders must establish and keep them.

The Art of Confrontation

Hosea 6:1—7:16

Hosea is not above speaking words of confrontation. He uses vivid imagery and colorful images to describe the evil behavior of his people. Look at his train of thought:

1. He clarifies the desired relationship he wishes to have (6:1–3).
2. He defines the unacceptable behavior (6:4–5).
3. He highlights his values and priorities (6:6).
4. He lists the conduct that illustrates his point (7:1–14).

5. He reminds the people of their training (7:15).
6. He declares the consequences (7:16).

For six more chapters Hosea continues to detail the people's unacceptable conduct. Then, in chapter 14, he offers words of restoration. All good confrontation ends in the hope of restoration. The goal is always reconciliation, not excommunication.

When team members drift from goals, leaders owe it to them and to the organization to confront or clarify the situation. This is the only way to stay on track and to maintain respect from the team. Hosea has written the book on it!

Israel's Leaders Broke the Law of Solid Ground

Hosea 10:3–4

How had Israel drifted into such serious sin? Hosea's answer: Israel had no real leadership. False promises had eroded the people's confidence in their leaders. They concluded: "We have no king . . . They make many promises, take false oaths and make agreements" (Hos 10:3–4). People follow only in proportion to their trust in the leader.

Humility: No Matter Who the Leader Is—God Still Rules!

Hosea 14:1–7

One of the missing pieces in Israel's leadership was humility. They had forgotten who created their prosperity and good fortune. Hosea 11:1–4 and 12:7–9 remind the nation that God taught them and provided for them.

Leaders err when they assume they are the source of blessing. Wise leaders seek to make good decisions, but realize the outcome remains in God's hands. Leaders merely manage what God owns. Leaders are in charge, but God is in control.

Hosea 14:1–7 gives a prescription to help leaders recapture humility:

1. Return: Do a turnaround and pursue the Lord (v. 1).
2. Repent: Confess specifically your self-sufficiency (v. 2).
3. Remember: Remind yourself that only God is in control (v. 3).
4. Result: Only then will God respond with blessing and restoration (vv. 4–7).

Leaders Love Everyone, but Don't Drop Their Convictions

Hosea 14:9

Do leaders always love and care for people, regardless of who they are? Certainly, both God and Hosea modeled unconditional love. But does a time come when showing compassion for someone ends, or otherwise a leader violates a bedrock principle?

This is where leaders draw a line in the sand. While they are to love and care for anyone they contact, this doesn't mean they chuck their convictions. They respond with grace, but never drift from their guiding priorities and principles. We cling to convictions even in our lowest moment.

Both God and Hosea continued to act from principle. Leaders practice the Law of Empowerment by living out priorities:

Leaders are to . . .

1. Act from their principles.
2. Empower others even when it's difficult.
3. Live off of character.

Followers often . . .

1. React from their feelings.
2. Withdraw in difficult times.
3. Live off of emotions.

Introduction to Joel

A God-Given Message to Judah

The prophet Joel directed his message to Judah and, more specifically, to the city of Jerusalem. Joel was an educated, well-read leader who knew not only the writings of the other prophets, but also the current events of his day. He used them all to illustrate the message God had given him.

Joel effectively used an invasion of locusts that occurred during his day as his primary word picture. He utilized this natural catastrophe to underscore his message of repentance. He spoke of the “day of the LORD” which would come much like the locusts—surprising and terrifying. He attempted to awaken the people of Judah from their spiritual apathy and disobedience and provoke them to return to the Lord.

Joel teaches us that leaders must see the future clearly and project what steps must be taken to thrive in it. Joel called the leaders of his day to sound a warning of repentance to successive generations he would never meet—a futurist in the truest sense of the word.

Second, leaders must read and interpret current events. Joel saw and explained the locusts of his day in a way that made his message vivid and memorable. He took a physical reality and capitalized on it to illustrate a spiritual reality. His mind focused on both current events and eternal outcomes.

Third, corporate or community repentance begins with the leader. People usually act en masse when a leader sounds the trumpet and provides an example of what must be done. This proved true in Joel’s case. Joel called the priests to model repentance with sackcloth and mourning. People do what people see.

Fourth, leaders must never cry out for change without providing some solutions. It does little good to merely complain. Leaders must sound the alarm, but then say, “And here are some steps we can take to improve.” Along with his warning of judgment, Joel talks about the promise of the Holy Spirit and the need for his filling. He spoke of the coming day of the Lord and the need to call on God for deliverance. He listed the steps of repentance the people of Judah needed to take if they were to renew themselves and find restoration in the grace of God.

God’s Role in Joel

God is the Ultimate Leader in control, the One who sends the locusts and the One who will come on the day of the Lord—a day far more terrifying than mere locusts. God sometimes uses the natural realm to direct us to truths in the spiritual realm. God uses the disastrous locust plague to illustrate a far greater spiritual catastrophe to come if his people refuse to return to him.

Lessons in Leadership

- Leaders are realistic futurists—they define reality and distribute hope.
- Great leaders communicate in relevant ways, connecting the known to the unknown.
- If leaders project a problem to the people, they must propose a plan for the people.

Joel 1

¹The word of the LORD that came to Joel son of Pethuel.

An Invasion of Locusts

- ²Hear this, you elders; listen, all who live in the land.
Has anything like this ever happened in your days or in the days of your ancestors?
- ³Tell it to your children, and let your children tell it to their children, and their children to the next generation.
- ⁴What the locust swarm has left the great locusts have eaten;
what the great locusts have left the young locusts have eaten;
what the young locusts have left other locusts^a have eaten.
- ⁵Wake up, you drunkards, and weep!
Wail, all you drinkers of wine;
wail because of the new wine,
for it has been snatched from your lips.
- ⁶A nation has invaded my land, a mighty army without number;
it has the teeth of a lion, the fangs of a lioness. The Law of Intuition: Joel Interprets the Disaster of the Locusts
- ⁷It has laid waste my vines and ruined my fig trees.
It has stripped off their bark and thrown it away, leaving their branches white.
- ⁸Mourn like a virgin in sackcloth grieving for the betrothed of her youth.
- ⁹Grain offerings and drink offerings are cut off from the house of the LORD.
The priests are in mourning,
those who minister before the LORD.
- ¹⁰The fields are ruined, the ground is dried up;
the grain is destroyed,
the new wine is dried up,
the olive oil fails.
- ¹¹Despair, you farmers, wail, you vine growers;
grieve for the wheat and the barley,

because the harvest of the field is destroyed.

¹²The vine is dried up and the fig tree is withered;
the pomegranate, the palm and the apple^b tree— all the trees of the field —are dried up.

Surely the people's joy is withered away.

A Call to Lamentation

¹³Put on sackcloth, you priests, and mourn; wail, you who minister before the altar.

Come, spend the night in sackcloth,
you who minister before my God;
for the grain offerings and drink offerings are withheld from the house of your God.

¹⁴Declare a holy fast; call a sacred assembly.

Summon the elders and all who live in the land to the house of the LORD your God, and cry out to the LORD.

¹⁵Alas for that day!
For the day of the LORD is near; it will come like destruction from the Almighty.^c

¹⁶Has not the food been cut off before our very eyes— joy and gladness from the house of our God?

¹⁷The seeds are shriveled beneath the clods.^d
The storehouses are in ruins,
the granaries have been broken down,
for the grain has dried up.

¹⁸How the cattle moan!

The herds mill about because they have no pasture;
even the flocks of sheep are suffering.

¹⁹To you, LORD, I call, for fire has devoured the pastures in the wilderness and flames have burned up all the trees of the field.

²⁰Even the wild animals pant for you; the streams of water have dried up and fire has devoured the pastures in the wilderness.

Joel 2

An Army of Locusts

¹Blow the trumpet in Zion; sound the alarm on my holy hill.

Let all who live in the land tremble, for the day of the LORD is coming.

It is close at hand— The Law of Connection: Joel Uses the Times to Say the Timeless

²a day of darkness and gloom, a day of clouds and blackness.
Like dawn spreading across the mountains
a large and mighty army comes,
such as never was in ancient times
nor ever will be in ages to come.

³Before them fire devours, behind them a flame blazes.
Before them the land is like the garden of Eden, behind them, a desert waste— nothing escapes them.

⁴They have the appearance of horses; they gallop along like cavalry.

⁵With a noise like that of chariots they leap over the mountaintops, like a crackling fire consuming stubble,
like a mighty army drawn up for battle.

⁶At the sight of them, nations are in anguish; every face turns pale.

⁷They charge like warriors; they scale walls like soldiers.
They all march in line,
not swerving from their course.

⁸They do not jostle each other; each marches straight ahead.

They plunge through defenses without breaking ranks.

⁹They rush upon the city; they run along the wall.
They climb into the houses;
like thieves they enter through the windows.

¹⁰Before them the earth shakes, the heavens tremble,
the sun and moon are darkened,
and the stars no longer shine.

¹¹The LORD thunders at the head of his army;
his forces are beyond number,
and mighty is the army that obeys his command.
The day of the LORD is great; it is dreadful.
Who can endure it?

Rend Your Heart

¹²“Even now,” declares the LORD, “return to me with all your heart, with fasting and weeping and mourning.”

¹³Rend your heart and not your garments.
Return to the LORD your God, for he is gracious and compassionate, slow to anger and abounding in love,
and he relents from sending calamity.

¹⁴Who knows? He may turn and relent and leave behind a blessing— grain offerings and drink offerings for the LORD your God.

¹⁵Blow the trumpet in Zion, declare a holy fast,
call a sacred assembly.

¹⁶Gather the people, consecrate the assembly;
bring together the elders,
gather the children,
those nursing at the breast.
Let the bridegroom leave his room and the bride her chamber.

¹⁷Let the priests, who minister before the LORD, weep between the portico and the altar.
Let them say, “Spare your people, LORD.
Do not make your inheritance an object of scorn, a byword among the nations.

Why should they say among the peoples,
‘Where is their God?’ ”

The LORD’s Answer

¹⁸Then the LORD was jealous for his land and took pity on his people.

¹⁹The LORD replied^a to them:

“I am sending you grain, new wine and olive oil, enough to satisfy you fully;
never again will I make you an object of scorn to the nations.

20“I will drive the northern horde far from you, pushing it into a parched and barren land;
its eastern ranks will drown in the Dead Sea and its western ranks in the Mediterranean Sea.
And its stench will go up;
its smell will rise.”

Surely he has done great things!

²¹Do not be afraid, land of Judah; be glad and rejoice.

Surely the LORD has done great things!

²²Do not be afraid, you wild animals, for the pastures in the wilderness are becoming green.

The trees are bearing their fruit;
the fig tree and the vine yield their riches.

23Be glad, people of Zion, rejoice in the LORD your God, for he has given you the autumn rains
because he is faithful.

He sends you abundant showers,
both autumn and spring rains, as before.

²⁴The threshing floors will be filled with grain; the vats will overflow with new wine and oil.

²⁵“I will repay you for the years the locusts have eaten— the great locust and the young locust, the other locusts and the locust swarm^b— my great army that I sent among
you.

26 You will have plenty to eat, until you are full, and you will praise the name of the LORD your God, who has worked wonders for you; never again will my people be shamed.

27 Then you will know that I am in Israel, that I am the LORD your God, and that there is no other;
never again will my people be shamed.

The Day of the LORD

²⁸“And afterward, I will pour out my Spirit on all people.

Your sons and daughters will prophesy,
your old men will dream dreams,

your young men will see visions.

²⁹Even on my servants, both men and women, I will pour out my Spirit in those days.

³⁰I will show wonders in the heavens and on the earth, blood and fire and billows of smoke.

³¹The sun will be turned to darkness and the moon to blood before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the LORD.

³²And everyone who calls on the name of the LORD will be saved; for on Mount Zion and in Jerusalem there will be deliverance, as the LORD has said, even among the survivors whom the LORD calls.^c

Joel 3^a

The Nations Judged

¹“In those days and at that time, when I restore the fortunes of Judah and Jerusalem, The Law of Navigation: Joel Declares Hope if Judah Will Respond

²I will gather all nations and bring them down to the Valley of Jehoshaphat.^b

There I will put them on trial for what they did to my inheritance, my people Israel, because they scattered my people among the nations and divided up my land.

³They cast lots for my people and traded boys for prostitutes;
they sold girls for wine to drink.

⁴“Now what have you against me, Tyre and Sidon and all you regions of Philistia? Are you repaying me for something I have done? If you are paying me back, I will swiftly and speedily return on your own heads what you have done.

⁵For you took my silver and my gold and carried off my finest treasures to your temples.^c ⁶You sold the people of Judah and Jerusalem to the Greeks, that you might send them far from their homeland.

⁷“See, I am going to rouse them out of the places to which you sold them, and I will return on your own heads what you have done. ⁸I will sell your sons and daughters to the people of Judah, and they will sell them to the Sabeans, a nation far away.” The LORD has spoken.

⁹Proclaim this among the nations: Prepare for war!
Rouse the warriors!

Let all the fighting men draw near and attack.

¹⁰Beat your plowshares into swords and your pruning hooks into spears.
Let the weakling say,
“I am strong!”

¹¹Come quickly, all you nations from every side, and assemble there.

Bring down your warriors, LORD!

¹²“Let the nations be roused; let them advance into the Valley of Jehoshaphat, for there I will sit to judge all the nations on every side.

¹³Swing the sickle, for the harvest is ripe.
Come. trample the grapes.

----- R -----

for the winepress is full and the vats overflow—
so great is their wickedness!”

¹⁴Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision!

For the day of the LORD is near in the valley of decision.

¹⁵The sun and moon will be darkened, and the stars no longer shine.

¹⁶The LORD will roar from Zion and thunder from Jerusalem;
the earth and the heavens will tremble.

But the LORD will be a refuge for his people, a stronghold for the people of Israel.

Blessings for God’s People

¹⁷“Then you will know that I, the LORD your God, dwell in Zion, my holy hill.

Jerusalem will be holy;
never again will foreigners invade her.

¹⁸“In that day the mountains will drip new wine, and the hills will flow with milk;

all the ravines of Judah will run with water.

A fountain will flow out of the LORD’s house and will water the valley of acacias.^d

¹⁹But Egypt will be desolate, Edom a desert waste, because of violence done to the people of Judah, in whose land they shed innocent blood.

²⁰Judah will be inhabited forever and Jerusalem through all generations.

²¹Shall I leave their innocent blood unavenged?
No, I will not.”

The LORD dwells in Zion!

The Law of Intuition: Joel Interprets the Disaster of the Locusts

Joel 1:6–7

Joel provides us with an example of a leader who rightly reads his times and culture and interprets them for the masses. His divine intuition enables him to stay ahead of the times and lead in a wise and discerning manner.

Intuition is like a head start in a race; you can beat the fastest runner in the world with a big enough head start. Joel provides this head start to the Hebrews, then gives them a plan to respond to the coming disaster. “Declare a holy fast; call a sacred assembly. Summon the elders and all who live in the land to the house of the LORD your God, and cry out to the LORD,” he advises them (Joel 1:14). He helps us see that God sometimes uses the natural realm to illustrate realities in the spiritual realm.

The Law of Connection: Joel Uses the Times to Say the Timeless

Joel 2:1–32

Leaders understand how to be relevant. Relevance means using temporal events to say what is timeless.

The prophet uses the current events of his time to share timeless truth. Every Hebrew knew of the plague of locusts. When that subject came up, everyone paid attention. Joel grabbed their attention with a current event and used it to illustrate God’s coming judgment. He and God communicated in these ways:

1. Creatively: They used word pictures and current events.
2. Constantly: They continued to speak until the people understood.
3. Consistently: Their messages didn’t contradict each other.

The Law of Navigation: Joel Declares Hope if Judah Will Respond

Joel 3:1–21

In the last chapter of his short book, Joel pronounces judgment on the nations. The nation of Israel could look forward to a future full of hope—if they would respond with obedience. Joel predicts that God will use them to judge the nations. The day of the Lord will bring terror to the rebellious and hope to the trusting.

The Law of Navigation forces leaders to become students of three facets of leadership: discernment, strategy and the future. They must interpret the times, see the future, and plan the steps. Joel paints pictures for the people to help them see what he sees.

Introduction to
Amos

A Spiritual Plumb Line Raised

God called the fiery prophet Amos to correct the injustice of the leaders of his day in Israel, Judah and the surrounding nations. He seems an unlikely leader, called as a shepherd in the desert of Judah. As a shepherd, he supplemented his income by taking care of “sycamore-fig trees” (1:1; 7:14–15). He brought no known credentials to his prophetic work except for his divine call.

Amos first challenged the sins of the surrounding nations—something the Israelites liked. But when he turned to correct his own people, his popularity plummeted. The writings of this clear thinker show that he possessed a thorough knowledge of history and the problems of his day. He uses language rich in symbols and figures, with close attention to detail. He tries to compel the people to see the immorality and injustice of their generation and to make it right.

In Amos’s day, marketplace exploitation had grown so bad that God used him to threaten the people with “fire”: war, economic depression and destruction. God gives power to leaders for the provision, protection and progress of followers. Whenever leaders abuse that power, God shows his displeasure with their stewardship.

Amos also shows us that God hates injustice. While it may look as if he doesn’t do anything about the outrage, he is watching and disapproves of leaders who tolerate it. Amos accused leaders of a spiritual deterioration that paralleled their material prosperity (5:12, 21). They still “went to church,” yet didn’t see their own hypocrisy. Amos castigated the leaders for their corruption (2:7–8) and pointed out their disregard for human rights (2:6). For about a decade, Amos became God’s eyes, heart and mouthpiece to the people of Israel.

Amos taught that leaders must lead from moral absolutes, not from convenience and expediency. Amos used a plumb line to illustrate that God’s people had drifted from the revealed standard. A plumb line helped builders detect the straightness of a wall, the equivalent of a level today. Builders attached a weight to a string, then let gravity use the string to draw a straight vertical line. Amos attempted to raise a spiritual plumb line against the corruption and crookedness of his day.

God’s Role in Amos

Amos did not base his plea on the nature of man or the innate goodness of human nature. God was the standard—and he remains the same at all times and in every place. Self-interest always distorts man’s perspective. Amos based his plea on the nature and righteousness of God, the “plumb line” from which every person is measured. Despite the shifting values of mankind, God never changes, nor does he grade on a curve. He is the absolute leader and controller of history and challenges leaders when they drift from his absolutes.

- It's easiest for leaders to drift when there is economic security.
- God gives power to leaders to help followers, not themselves.
- When an organization goes bad, leaders must own the responsibility.
- The foundation for all leadership is trust, integrity and justice.
- Leaders must raise the standard; as the leader goes, so goes the organization.

Amos 1

¹The words of Amos, one of the shepherds of Tekoa—the vision he saw concerning Israel two years before the earthquake, when Uzziah was king of Judah and Jeroboam son of Jehoash^a was king of Israel. Efficiency Minus Ethics Equals Emptiness

²He said:

“The LORD roars from Zion and thunders from Jerusalem;
the pastures of the shepherds dry up, and the top of Carmel withers.”

Judgment on Israel’s Neighbors

³This is what the LORD says:

“For three sins of Damascus,
even for four, I will not relent.

Because she threshed Gilead with sledges having iron teeth,

⁴I will send fire on the house of Hazael that will consume the fortresses of Ben-Hadad.

⁵I will break down the gate of Damascus; I will destroy the king who is in^b the Valley of Aven^c
and the one who holds the scepter in Beth Eden.
The people of Aram will go into exile to Kir,”

says the LORD.

⁶This is what the LORD says:

“For three sins of Gaza,
even for four, I will not relent.
Because she took captive whole communities and sold them to Edom,

⁷I will send fire on the walls of Gaza that will consume her fortresses.

⁸I will destroy the king^d of Ashdod and the one who holds the scepter in Ashkelon.

I will turn my hand against Ekron, till the last of the Philistines are dead,” says the Sovereign LORD.

⁹This is what the LORD says:

“For three sins of Tyre,
even for four, I will not relent.
Because she sold whole communities of captives to Edom, disregarding a treaty of brotherhood,

¹⁰I will send fire on the walls of Tyre that will consume her fortresses.”

¹¹This is what the LORD says:

“For three sins of Edom,
even for four, I will not relent.
Because he pursued his brother with a sword and slaughtered the women of the land, because his anger raged continually and his fury flamed unchecked,

¹²I will send fire on Teman that will consume the fortresses of Bozrah.”

¹³This is what the LORD says:

“For three sins of Ammon,
even for four, I will not relent.

Because he ripped open the pregnant women of Gilead in order to extend his borders,

¹⁴I will set fire to the walls of Rabbah that will consume her fortresses amid war cries on the day of battle, amid violent winds on a stormy day.

¹⁵Her king^e will go into exile, he and his officials together,”

says the LORD.

Amos 2

¹This is what the LORD says:

“For three sins of Moab,
even for four, I will not relent.

Because he burned to ashes
the bones of Edom's king,

²I will send fire on Moab that will consume the fortresses of Kerioth.^a

Moab will go down in great tumult amid war cries and the blast of the trumpet.

³I will destroy her ruler and kill all her officials with him,"

says the LORD.

⁴This is what the LORD says:

"For three sins of Judah,
even for four, I will not relent.

Because they have rejected the law of the LORD and have not kept his decrees, because they have been led astray by false gods,^b

the gods^c their ancestors followed, The Law of Solid Ground: Good Leaders Remove the Planks from Their Eyes

⁵I will send fire on Judah that will consume the fortresses of Jerusalem."

Judgment on Israel

⁶This is what the LORD says:

“For three sins of Israel,
even for four, I will not relent.
They sell the innocent for silver,
and the needy for a pair of sandals.

⁷They trample on the heads of the poor as on the dust of the ground and deny justice to the oppressed.
Father and son use the same girl and so profane my holy name.

⁸They lie down beside every altar on garments taken in pledge.
In the house of their god
they drink wine taken as fines.

⁹“Yet I destroyed the Amorites before them, though they were tall as the cedars and strong as the oaks.

I destroyed their fruit above and their roots below.

¹⁰I brought you up out of Egypt and led you forty years in the wilderness to give you the land of the Amorites.

¹¹“I also raised up prophets from among your children and Nazirites from among your youths.

Is this not true, people of Israel?”

declares the LORD.

¹²“But you made the Nazirites drink wine and commanded the prophets not to prophecy.

¹³“Now then, I will crush you as a cart crushes when loaded with grain.

¹⁴The swift will not escape, the strong will not muster their strength, and the warrior will not save his life.

¹⁵The archer will not stand his ground, the fleet-footed soldier will not get away, and the horseman will not save his life.

¹⁶Even the bravest warriors will flee naked on that day,”

declares the LORD.

Amos 3

Witnesses Summoned Against Israel

¹Hear this word, people of Israel, the word the LORD has spoken against you—against the whole family I brought up out of Egypt: The Law of the Picture: God Holds His People Accountable to Lead the World

²“You only have I chosen of all the families of the earth;

therefore I will punish you for all your sins.”

³Do two walk together unless they have agreed to do so?

⁴Does a lion roar in the thicket when it has no prey?
Does it growl in its den
when it has caught nothing?

⁵Does a bird swoop down to a trap on the ground when no bait is there?
Does a trap spring up from the ground
if it has not caught anything?

⁶When a trumpet sounds in a city, do not the people tremble?
When disaster comes to a city,
has not the LORD caused it?

⁷Surely the Sovereign LORD does nothing without revealing his plan to his servants the prophets.

⁸The lion has roared— who will not fear?
The Sovereign LORD has spoken—who can but prophesy?

⁹Proclaim to the fortresses of Ashdod and to the fortresses of Egypt:
“Assemble yourselves on the mountains of Samaria;
see the great unrest within her and the oppression among her people.”

¹⁰“They do not know how to do right,” declares the LORD, “who store up in their fortresses
what they have plundered and looted.”

¹¹Therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says:

“An enemy will overrun your land, pull down your strongholds and plunder your fortresses.”

¹²This is what the LORD says:

“As a shepherd rescues from the lion’s mouth only two leg bones or a piece of an ear, so will the Israelites living in Samaria be rescued, with only the head of a bed and a piece of fabric^a from a couch.^b”

¹³“Hear this and testify against the descendants of Jacob,” declares the Lord, the LORD God Almighty.

¹⁴“On the day I punish Israel for her sins, I will destroy the altars of Bethel;
the horns of the altar will be cut off and fall to the ground.

¹⁵I will tear down the winter house along with the summer house;
the houses adorned with ivory will be destroyed and the mansions will be demolished,”

declares the LORD.

Amos 4

Israel Has Not Returned to God

¹Hear this word, you cows of Bashan on Mount Samaria, you women who oppress the poor and crush the needy and say to your husbands, “Bring us some drinks!” PROFILE in Leadership: Amos: A Prophet of Wrath and Mercy

²The Sovereign LORD has sworn by his holiness: “The time will surely come when you will be taken away with hooks, the last of you with fishhooks.^a ³You will each go straight out through breaches in the wall, and you will be cast out toward Harmon,^b”

declares the LORD.

⁴“Go to Bethel and sin; go to Gilgal and sin yet more. Bring your sacrifices every morning, your tithes every three years.^c ⁵Burn leavened bread as a thank offering and brag about your freewill offerings— boast about them, you Israelites, for this is what you love to do,”

declares the Sovereign LORD.

⁶“I gave you empty stomachs in every city and lack of bread in every town, yet you have not returned to me,”
declares the LORD.

⁷“I also withheld rain from you when the harvest was still three months away.

I sent rain on one town,
but withheld it from another.
One field had rain;
another had none and dried up.

⁸People staggered from town to town for water but did not get enough to drink, yet you have not returned to me,”

declares the LORD.

⁹“Many times I struck your gardens and vineyards, destroying them with blight and mildew.

Locusts devoured your fig and olive trees,
yet you have not returned to me,”

declares the LORD.

¹⁰“I sent plagues among you as I did to Egypt.

I killed your young men with the sword,
along with your captured horses.

I filled your nostrils with the stench of your camps,
yet you have not returned to me,”

declares the LORD.

¹¹“I overthrew some of you as I overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah.

You were like a burning stick snatched from the fire,
yet you have not returned to me,”

declares the LORD.

¹²“Therefore this is what I will do to you, Israel, and because I will do this to you, Israel,
prepare to meet your God.”

¹³He who forms the mountains, who creates the wind, and who reveals his thoughts to mankind,
who turns dawn to darkness,
and treads on the heights of the earth—
the LORD God Almighty is his name.

Amos 5

A Lament and Call to Repentance

¹Hear this word, Israel, this lament I take up concerning you:

²“Fallen is Virgin Israel, never to rise again, deserted in her own land,
with no one to lift her up.”

³This is what the Sovereign LORD says to Israel:

“Your city that marches out a thousand strong will have only a hundred left;
your town that marches out a hundred strong will have only ten left.”

⁴This is what the LORD says to Israel:

“Seek me and live;
⁵do not seek Bethel, do not go to Gilgal,
do not journey to Beersheba.
For Gilgal will surely go into exile, and Bethel will be reduced to nothing.^a”

⁶Seek the LORD and live, or he will sweep through the tribes of Joseph like a fire; it will devour them, and Bethel will have no one to quench it.

⁷There are those who turn justice into bitterness and cast righteousness to the ground. The Law of Influence: Amos Judges Leaders for Abusing Their Positions

⁸He who made the Pleiades and Orion, who turns midnight into dawn and darkens day into night, who calls for the waters of the sea and pours them out over the face of the land—
the LORD is his name.

⁹With a blinding flash he destroys the stronghold and brings the fortified city to ruin.

¹⁰There are those who hate the one who upholds justice in court and detest the one who tells the truth.

¹¹You levy a straw tax on the poor and impose a tax on their grain.
Therefore, though you have built stone mansions,
you will not live in them;
though you have planted lush vineyards,
you will not drink their wine.

¹²For I know how many are your offenses and how great your sins.

There are those who oppress the innocent and take bribes and deprive the poor of justice in the courts.

¹³Therefore the prudent keep quiet in such times, for the times are evil.

¹⁴Seek good, not evil, that you may live.
Then the LORD God Almighty will be with you, just as you say he is.

¹⁵Hate evil, love good; maintain justice in the courts.
Perhaps the LORD God Almighty will have mercy on the remnant of Joseph.

¹⁶Therefore this is what the Lord, the LORD God Almighty, says:

“There will be wailing in all the streets and cries of anguish in every public square.
The farmers will be summoned to weep and the mourners to wail.

¹⁷There will be wailing in all the vineyards, for I will pass through your midst,”
says the LORD.

The Day of the LORD

¹⁸Woe to you who long for the day of the LORD!
Why do you long for the day of the LORD?
That day will be darkness, not light.

¹⁹It will be as though a man fled from a lion only to meet a bear, as though he entered his house and rested his hand on the wall only to have a snake bite him.

²⁰Will not the day of the LORD be darkness, not light— pitch-dark, without a ray of brightness?

²¹“I hate, I despise your religious festivals; your assemblies are a stench to me.

²²Even though you bring me burnt offerings and grain offerings, I will not accept them.

Though you bring choice fellowship offerings,
I will have no regard for them.

²³Away with the noise of your songs!
I will not listen to the music of your harps.

²⁴But let justice roll on like a river, righteousness like a never-failing stream!

²⁵“Did you bring me sacrifices and offerings forty years in the wilderness, people of Israel?

²⁶You have lifted up the shrine of your king, the pedestal of your idols, the star of your god^b— which you made for yourselves.

²⁷Therefore I will send you into exile beyond Damascus,” says the LORD, whose name is God Almighty.

Amos 6

Woe to the Complacent

- ¹Woe to you who are complacent in Zion, and to you who feel secure on Mount Samaria,
you notable men of the foremost nation,
to whom the people of Israel come!
- ²Go to Kalneh and look at it; go from there to great Hamath, and then go down to Gath in Philistia.
Are they better off than your two kingdoms?
Is their land larger than yours?
- ³You put off the day of disaster and bring near a reign of terror.
- ⁴You lie on beds adorned with ivory and lounge on your couches.

You dine on choice lambs and fattened calves.
⁵You strum away on your harps like David and improvise on musical instruments.
⁶You drink wine by the bowlful and use the finest lotions, but you do not grieve over the ruin of Joseph.
⁷Therefore you will be among the first to go into exile; your feasting and lounging will end.

The LORD Abhors the Pride of Israel ⁸The Sovereign LORD has sworn by himself—the LORD God Almighty declares:

“I abhor the pride of Jacob and detest his fortresses;
I will deliver up the city and everything in it.”

⁹If ten people are left in one house, they too will die. ¹⁰And if the relative who comes to carry the bodies out of the house to burn them^a asks anyone who might be hiding there, “Is anyone else with you?” and he says, “No,” then he will go on to say, “Hush! We must not mention the name of the LORD.”

¹¹For the LORD has given the command, and he will smash the great house into pieces
and the small house into bits.

¹²Do horses run on the rocky crags?
Does one plow the sea^b with oxen?
But you have turned justice into poison and the fruit of righteousness into bitterness—

¹³you who rejoice in the conquest of Lo Debar^c and say, “Did we not take Karnaim^d by our own strength?”

¹⁴For the LORD God Almighty declares, “I will stir up a nation against you, Israel,
that will oppress you all the way from Lebo Hamath to the valley of the Arabah.”

Amos 7

Locusts, Fire and a Plumb Line

¹This is what the Sovereign LORD showed me: He was preparing swarms of locusts after the king's share had been harvested and just as the late crops were coming up. ²When they had stripped the land clean, I cried out, "Sovereign LORD, forgive! How can Jacob survive? He is so small!" Leaders Influence in the Prayer Closet

³So the LORD relented.

"This will not happen," the LORD said.

⁴This is what the Sovereign LORD showed me: The Sovereign LORD was calling for judgment by fire; it dried up the great deep and devoured the land.

⁵Then I cried out, "Sovereign LORD, I beg you, stop! How can Jacob survive? He is so small!"

⁶So the LORD relented.

"This will not happen either," the Sovereign LORD said.

⁷This is what he showed me: The Lord was standing by a wall that had been built true to plumb,^a with a plumb line^b in his hand. ⁸And the LORD asked me, "What do you see, Amos?"

"A plumb line," I replied.

Then the Lord said, "Look, I am setting a plumb line among my people Israel; I will spare them no longer.

⁹"The high places of Isaac will be destroyed and the sanctuaries of Israel will be ruined; with my sword I will rise against the house of Jeroboam."

Amos and Amaziah

¹⁰Then Amaziah the priest of Bethel sent a message to Jeroboam king of Israel: “Amos is raising a conspiracy against you in the very heart of Israel. The land cannot bear all his words. ¹¹For this is what Amos is saying:

“ ‘Jeroboam will die by the sword,
and Israel will surely go into exile,
away from their native land.’ ”

¹²Then Amaziah said to Amos, “Get out, you seer! Go back to the land of Judah. Earn your bread there and do your prophesying there. ¹³Don’t prophesy anymore at Bethel, because this is the king’s sanctuary and the temple of the kingdom.”

¹⁴Amos answered Amaziah, “I was neither a prophet nor the son of a prophet, but I was a shepherd, and I also took care of sycamore-fig trees. ¹⁵But the LORD took me from tending the flock and said to me, ‘Go, prophesy to my people Israel.’ ¹⁶Now then, hear the word of the LORD. You say,

“ ‘Do not prophesy against Israel, and stop preaching against the descendants of Isaac.’ ”

¹⁷“Therefore this is what the LORD says:

“ ‘Your wife will become a prostitute in the city,
and your sons and daughters will fall by the sword.
Your land will be measured and divided up,
and you yourself will die in a pagan^c country.
And Israel will surely go into exile,
away from their native land.’ ”

Amos 8

A Basket of Ripe Fruit

¹This is what the Sovereign LORD showed me: a basket of ripe fruit. ²“What do you see, Amos?” he asked.

“A basket of ripe fruit,” I answered.

Then the LORD said to me, “The time is ripe for my people Israel; I will spare them no longer.

³“In that day,” declares the Sovereign LORD, “the songs in the temple will turn to wailing.^a Many, many bodies—flung everywhere! Silence!”

⁴Hear this, you who trample the needy and do away with the poor of the land, ⁵saying,

“When will the New Moon be over that we may sell grain, and the Sabbath be ended that we may market wheat?”— skimping on the measure, boosting the price

and cheating with dishonest scales, ⁶buying the poor with silver and the needy for a pair of sandals, selling even the sweepings with the wheat.

⁷The LORD has sworn by himself, the Pride of Jacob: “I will never forget anything they have done.

⁸“Will not the land tremble for this, and all who live in it mourn?
The whole land will rise like the Nile;
it will be stirred up and then sink
like the river of Egypt.

⁹“In that day,” declares the Sovereign LORD,

“I will make the sun go down at noon and darken the earth in broad daylight.

¹⁰I will turn your religious festivals into mourning and all your singing into weeping.

I will make all of you wear sackcloth and shave your heads.

I will make that time like mourning for an only son and the end of it like a bitter day.

¹¹“The days are coming,” declares the Sovereign LORD, “when I will send a famine through the land— not a famine of food or a thirst for water, but a famine of hearing the words of the LORD.

¹²People will stagger from sea to sea and wander from north to east, searching for the word of the LORD, but they will not find it.

¹³“In that day

“the lovely young women and strong young men will faint because of thirst.

¹⁴Those who swear by the sin of Samaria— who say, ‘As surely as your god lives, Dan,’ or, ‘As surely as the god^b of Beersheba lives’— they will fall, never to rise again.”

Amos 9

Israel to Be Destroyed

¹I saw the Lord standing by the altar, and he said:

“Strike the tops of the pillars
so that the thresholds shake.
Bring them down on the heads of all the people;
those who are left I will kill with the sword.
Not one will get away,
none will escape.

²Though they dig down to the depths below, from there my hand will take them.
Though they climb up to the heavens above,
from there I will bring them down.

³Though they hide themselves on the top of Carmel, there I will hunt them down and seize them.
Though they hide from my eyes at the bottom of the sea,
there I will command the serpent to bite them.

⁴Though they are driven into exile by their enemies, there I will command the sword to slay them.

“I will keep my eye on them for harm and not for good.”

⁵The Lord, the LORD Almighty— he touches the earth and it melts, and all who live in it mourn;
the whole land rises like the Nile,
then sinks like the river of Egypt;

⁶he builds his lofty palace^a in the heavens and sets its foundation^b on the earth;
he calls for the waters of the sea
and pours them out over the face of the land—
the LORD is his name.

⁷“Are not you Israelites the same to me as the Cushites^c?”

declares the LORD.

“Did I not bring Israel up from Egypt, the Philistines from Caphtor^d and the Arameans from Kir?

⁸“Surely the eyes of the Sovereign LORD are on the sinful kingdom.

I will destroy it
from the face of the earth.
Yet I will not totally destroy the descendants of Jacob,”

declares the LORD.

⁹“For I will give the command, and I will shake the people of Israel among all the nations

as grain is shaken in a sieve,
and not a pebble will reach the ground.

¹⁰All the sinners among my people will die by the sword, all those who say,
‘Disaster will not overtake or meet us.’

Israel’s Restoration

¹¹“In that day

“I will restore David’s fallen shelter—
I will repair its broken walls and restore its ruins—
and will rebuild it as it used to be,

Vision: Amos Finishes with a Hopeful Vision of the Future

¹²so that they may possess the remnant of Edom and all the nations that bear my name,^e”

declares the LORD, who will do these things.

¹³“The days are coming,” declares the LORD,

“when the reaper will be overtaken by the plowman and the planter by the one treading grapes.

New wine will drip from the mountains and flow from all the hills,

¹⁴and I will bring my people Israel back from exile.^f

“They will rebuild the ruined cities and live in them.

They will plant vineyards and drink their wine;
they will make gardens and eat their fruit.

¹⁵I will plant Israel in their own land, never again to be uprooted from the land I have given them,” says the LORD your God.

Efficiency Minus Ethics Equals Emptiness

Amos 1:1—2:16

Leaders who fail morally do not lead anyone to a better place. The higher the leader goes, the deeper his character must develop. The larger the outward privilege, the larger the inward character must be. Character represents the inner life of a leader. God judged ancient leaders because of missing character:

1. Damascus, Syria—because they ruthlessly butchered Gilead without just cause.
2. Gaza—because they made captives of free people and sold them into slavery.
3. Tyre—because they ignored a covenant of peace and brotherhood.
4. Edom—because they attacked their own family tribes and showed no compassion.
5. Ammon—because they murdered women in order to expand their territory.
6. Moab—because they displayed no respect for leadership in neighboring nations.

The Law of Solid Ground: Good Leaders Remove the Planks from Their Eyes

Amos 2:4–16

The entire first chapter of Amos and part of the second details God's judgment on Israel's neighbors. No doubt Israel enjoyed these words. They likely cheered Amos on, yelling, "Preach it, brother! Those heathen nations really need to get their act together!"

Once Amos finished with Damascus, Gaza, Tyre, Edom, Ammon and Moab, however, he directed his words closer to home—to Judah. Now his listeners probably squirmed. Finally, Amos dropped the bomb and declared judgment on Israel. Everyone grew quiet. How dare Amos lump them into God's judgment!

Quality leaders remain objective. They can be trusted because they see the "plank in their own eye" before trying to remove the speck from their brother's (Mt 7:3–5). When leaders fail to be objective, people begin to question whether their perspective is skewed by self-interest. Trust wanes. People trust leaders who practice the Law of Solid Ground. Such leaders fulfill three primary objectives:

1. Protection: To make sure the people are defended from harm.
2. Provision: To make sure the people are resourced to do their work.
3. Progress: To make sure the enterprise reaches the desired destination.

The Law of the Picture: God Holds His People Accountable to Lead the World

Amos 3:1–2

God's people had wanted to live like other nations did. They failed to realize that he held them to a higher standard than other nations. God intended to guide them himself, making them a nation of leaders who could become a model for the world. It's an example of the Law of the Picture: people do what people see. God wanted Israel to be a light to the nations. They were to exemplify the life all people were to live. God's heavy judgment fell because he held his people accountable to lead the world to himself.

Amos: A Prophet of Wrath and Mercy

Amos 4:1–12

Sometimes it's easy to forget that the God who showers grace upon his people is the same God who warns of impending judgment and who exercises his wrath.

Amos teaches us that leaders must present God as he presents himself: as the God of love and mercy and the God of holiness and wrath. As the apostle Paul says in Romans 11:22, "Consider therefore the kindness and sternness of God."

Can you imagine calling the women of your church or organization, "cows of Bashan"? Yet that is the very name Amos uses to address the women of Israel (Am 4:1). The prophet speaks harsh words to his people, warning them finally to "prepare to meet your God" (4:12). This was no promise of a pleasant encounter, but a pronouncement of wrath on those who refused to return to and bow to the God who had faithfully guided, protected and provided for them.

But Amos also speaks words of hope. Through the prophet, God tells the people that they can still humble themselves and return to him and receive mercy (9:8–15).

This is the picture of God that today's leaders must present. God's people must see that he is a God of grace and mercy and a God of wrath and judgment. Any presentation that falls short of that standard is at best incomplete.

The Law of Influence: Amos Judges Leaders for Abusing Their Positions

Amos 5:7–17

Amos is sometimes called the angry prophet. Most of his words express heated emotion. He condemns leaders who fail to provide justice for their people. Amos 5:7–17 contains his lamentation and call for repentance to those who turn justice into bitterness.

When leaders act unjustly, their influence creates a ripple effect. God hates injustice, but especially among leaders whose crooked influence infects an entire nation! Note the leadership abuses in Amos's day:

1. They abandoned morality (v. 7).
2. They confused values (v. 10).
3. They taxed the poor for selfish gain (v. 11).
4. They were corrupt and oppressed citizens (v. 12).
5. They took bribes (v. 12).
6. They deprived people of justice in court (v. 12).

The scary part of this sad story is that these leaders could not see their own corruption. Amos 5:18 warns against longing for the day of the Lord, for it will be a dreadful day of judgment, not a joyful celebration.

Leaders Influence in the Prayer Closet

Amos 7:1–6

Amos must have felt overwhelmed: God had threatened to annihilate Israel! The prophet already had warned the people of judgment; now it had arrived. What could he do?

The only thing he could do was to beg God to forgive. Amos prayed for his people with compassion and honesty. Tiny Israel, he said, would not survive the judgment. Twice he interceded and twice God withdrew his judgment. Amos stepped in between the people and God, and negotiated their survival.

Prayer changes things. Amos shows us what to do with impossible problems. Of course, prayer doesn't take the place of solid leadership; Amos continued to perform his job of truth telling (Am 7:10–17). Yet he reminds leaders how powerful their prayers can be in the face of trouble. Sometimes we have no idea what kind of changes we orchestrate or what kind of pain we spare others by what we do in our prayer closets!

Vision: Amos Finishes with a Hopeful Vision of the Future

Amos 9:11–15

The prophet followed his warnings of judgment with words of encouragement. The book concludes with Amos's vision for the future—full of hope, healing and positive change. It illustrates once again how much people need both admonishment and affirmation.

The prophets nearly always followed the same pattern to address the erring population. They pronounced judgment, then painted a picture of a preferred future in which people would repent and realign themselves with the vision. In Amos 9:11–15, Amos spoke of this better tomorrow. Look at how he put it:

1. Leadership would be restored (v. 11).
2. Broken places would be repaired (v. 11).

3. Lost land would be replaced (v. 12).
4. Hope for prosperity would be renewed (vv. 13–15).

Men and women become depressed when they hear only words of judgment. We all need some picture of how we can cooperate with God to redeem our situation.

Introduction to Obadiah

A Message to the People of Edom

No more obscure Old Testament prophet exists than Obadiah. He wrote the shortest book in the Old Testament, with just 21 verses. We know very little about the dating of the book or the author, except for his name, which means, “servant of the Lord.”

We do know, however, his message. Obadiah wrote about the people of Edom, the descendants of Esau. Esau was Jacob’s twin brother, an outdoorsman and a hunter whom God scolded after he succumbed to his lust for immediate gratification (Ge 25:27–34; Heb 12:16). Esau neglected his priorities and lost sight of God’s eternal perspective. This inclination led to self-centered descendants, angry and arrogant people who desired vengeance over Jacob’s descendants (Israel). For centuries the Edomites gloated over the misfortunes of the Jews. Obadiah targeted their selfish pride.

The prophet’s timeless lesson applies to leaders universally. Obadiah declares that pride and treachery earn the reward of destruction, but humility and loyalty to God gain the Lord’s blessing.

We learn from Obadiah that destructive rivalry, comparison and competition provide a horrible motivation for leadership. Those incentives so moved the Edomites that they lost perspective and sabotaged their own activities. How often does this happen to leaders today?

Second, God hates pride. He promised to humble the Edomites for their arrogant attitudes and their self-centered worldview. They thought they had achieved the success they enjoyed, but God exposed their faulty thinking. Leaders must never buy into the notion that they “did it all” themselves. The higher leaders go and the deeper they grow, the more they become aware that God has promoted them. Their success does not deceive them. Leaders blinded by pride should be pitied. God will raise up an Obadiah to humble them and clear up the issue.

God’s Role in Obadiah

God sees what goes on worldwide and stands ready to move with irresistible power. He used Obadiah to confront the pride of the Edomites as an example to leaders and nations everywhere. He will not allow arrogance to continue indefinitely. Generally, he grants a warning to leaders through a word from another leader, a failure, a broken relationship, a personal weakness, or a plan that falls through. If the leader fails to take heed, God sets the wheels of justice in motion. And he will execute his sentence through whatever means he wishes.

Lessons in Leadership

- Leaders must not violate a primary reason they have power: to protect the powerless.
- Pride clouds a leader's perspective and causes him or her to act illogically.
- One can gain power in any of three fundamental ways: intimidation, exchange, or honor.
- God judges leaders who abuse their power.

This is what the Sovereign LORD says about Edom—

We have heard a message from the LORD: An envoy was sent to the nations to say, “Rise, let us go against her for battle”— ²“See, I will make you small among the nations; you will be utterly despised.” God Is the Source for a Leader's Success

³The pride of your heart has deceived you, you who live in the clefts of the rocks^a and make your home on the heights,

you who say to yourself,
‘Who can bring me down to the ground?’

⁴Though you soar like the eagle and make your nest among the stars, from there I will bring you down,”

declares the LORD.

⁵“If thieves came to you, if robbers in the night— oh, what a disaster awaits you!

would they not steal only as much as they wanted?
If grape pickers came to you,
would they not leave a few grapes?

⁶But how Esau will be ransacked, his hidden treasures pillaged!

⁷All your allies will force you to the border; your friends will deceive and overpower you; those who eat your bread will set a trap for you,^b but you will not detect it.

⁸“In that day,” declares the LORD, “will I not destroy the wise men of Edom, those of understanding in the mountains of Esau?” Power Abuse: Edom Used Its Power for Unjust Causes

⁹Your warriors, Teman, will be terrified, and everyone in Esau’s mountains will be cut down in the slaughter.

¹⁰Because of the violence against your brother Jacob, you will be covered with shame;
you will be destroyed forever.

you will be destroyed forever.

¹¹On the day you stood aloof while strangers carried off his wealth and foreigners entered his gates and cast lots for Jerusalem, you were like one of them.

¹²You should not gloat over your brother in the day of his misfortune, nor rejoice over the people of Judah in the day of their destruction, nor boast so much in the day of their trouble.

¹³You should not march through the gates of my people in the day of their disaster, nor gloat over them in their calamity in the day of their disaster, nor seize their wealth

in the day of their disaster.

¹⁴You should not wait at the crossroads to cut down their fugitives, nor hand over their survivors

in the day of their trouble.

¹⁵“The day of the LORD is near for all nations.

As you have done, it will be done to you; your deeds will return upon your own head. The Principle of the Harvest: Leaders Reap What They Sow

¹⁶Just as you drank on my holy hill, so all the nations will drink continually; they will drink and drink and be as if they had never been.

¹⁷But on Mount Zion will be deliverance; it will be holy,
and Jacob will possess his inheritance.

¹⁸Jacob will be a fire and Joseph a flame;
Esau will be stubble,
and they will set him on fire and destroy him.

There will be no survivors from Esau.”

The LORD has spoken.

¹⁹People from the Negev will occupy the mountains of Esau, and people from the foothills will possess the land of the Philistines.
They will occupy the fields of Ephraim and Samaria, and Benjamin will possess Gilead.

²⁰This company of Israelite exiles who are in Canaan will possess the land as far as Zarephath; the exiles from Jerusalem who are in Sepharad will possess the towns of the Negev.

²¹Deliverers will go up on^c Mount Zion to govern the mountains of Esau.
And the kingdom will be the LORD's.

God Is the Source for a Leader's Success

Obadiah 2–4

We humans tend toward self-centeredness, self-promotion, self-sufficiency, self-reliance and self-righteousness. When leaders succumb to this tendency, they adversely affect their followers. While leaders may determine the course of their success, God remains the source of their success. God is the source of any gains we make.

Power Abuse: Edom Used Its Power for Unjust Causes

Obadiah 8–14

The Edomites violated an important use of power: to protect the powerless. Even though the Edomites did not directly violate the Jews, they did stand idly by when another country abused them. When leaders have the power to do good and don't use it, God holds them equally guilty (Jas 4:17).

The Principle of the Harvest: Leaders Reap What They Sow

Obadiah 15–18

Every leader reaps what he sows. The self-preoccupation that kept the Edomites from helping neighboring nations came back to haunt them in the day of their need. Power can be used to achieve or to intimidate; it can help others or haunt others. Edom misused its power and reaped terror and destruction.

Introduction to

Jonah

The Perfect Portrait of a Reluctant Leader We should feel grateful that God included Jonah in the canon of Scripture. If ever God provided a picture of our human nature—our inclination to run from duty in favor of serving self—he did it through Jonah. He furnishes the perfect portrait of a reluctant leader in a needy time.

Yet he is not alone! God has called many reluctant leaders. Consider Moses, who, in Egypt, thought he could do more than he really could. God called him only after 40 years of preparation, when he thought he could do less than he really could. He expressed total reluctance as he stood before a burning bush, trying to excuse himself from leadership. Or consider Gideon, whom God called to lead an attack against the Midianites. He argued with an angel, explaining why he couldn't do it. Or consider King Saul, who stood head and shoulders above everyone else. Yet he hid among the luggage when Samuel came to anoint him king of Israel. Or consider Jeremiah, whom God called to be a prophet to the nations. This young man debated with God on the basis of his tender age, as though God had forgotten how old he was. God basically responded, "I have been preparing you since before you took shape in your mother's womb."

Jonah's reluctance didn't take the form of a debate; he simply ran in the other direction. He didn't object to his call on the basis of his inabilities, but upon the seeming irrationality of calling Nineveh to repent. Jonah saw this as an evil culture that didn't deserve a warning of impending doom. So he ran. Days later he discovered that called leaders can't outrun God. Some frightened sailors threw him overboard (at his direction), and a huge fish swallowed the sputtering prophet. Over the next three days he regained perspective while in the belly of the fish, and when God ordered the beast to spit him up on shore, the chastened prophet at last fulfilled the task God had given him.

It is interesting to note that every major player in the story—the storm, the sailors, the fish, the king, the Ninevites, the vine, the worm and the east wind—all obey God . . . except for Jonah, the leader God chose. Sometimes the leader must repent before he can call the people to do so.

Despite Jonah's disobedience, his lack of perspective, his cultural prejudice, his self-righteousness, his wrong motives, and his bad attitude, God never gave up on him. The central lesson? Sometimes God uses us, in spite of us. He even uses reluctant leaders to accomplish his gracious mission.

God's Role in Jonah

God once again takes the initiative in this book. The leader he chooses refuses at first to obey. God chases him down, calls upon a huge fish (perhaps a whale) to swallow him, enables him to live for three days in the belly of that creature, then orders him spit up on shore. Only then does Jonah go to Nineveh to speak. Yet even after he delivers his message, God has to take the initiative once more when Jonah reacts angrily to their repentance. God raises up a vine to give him shade, then teaches him a lesson about mercy and grace. God must work harder at getting his chosen leader into an obedient posture than he has to for the Ninevites!

Lessons in Leadership

- Motives are key: Why a leader does something ultimately determines what he does.
- Leaders must model what they demand from the people.
- God's mercy overcomes our reluctance, prejudice and small thinking.
- We can still lead if our impulse for obedience grows stronger than our reluctance.
- Leaders lose their right to be selfish.

Jonah 1

Jonah Flees From the LORD

¹The word of the LORD came to Jonah son of Amittai: ²“Go to the great city of Nineveh and preach against it, because its wickedness has come up before me.”

Character: Jonah Runs from Commitment PROFILE in Leadership: Jonah: The Prophet Who Ran Down

³But Jonah ran away from the LORD and headed for Tarshish. He went down to Joppa, where he found a ship bound for that port. After paying the fare, he went aboard and sailed for Tarshish to flee from the LORD.

⁴Then the LORD sent a great wind on the sea, and such a violent storm arose that the ship threatened to break up. ⁵All the sailors were afraid and each cried out to his own god. And they threw the cargo into the sea to lighten the ship.

But Jonah had gone below deck, where he lay down and fell into a deep sleep. ⁶The captain went to him and said, “How can you sleep? Get up and call on your god! Maybe he will take notice of us so that we will not perish.”

⁷Then the sailors said to each other, “Come, let us cast lots to find out who is responsible for this calamity.” They cast lots and the lot fell on Jonah. ⁸So they asked him, “Tell us, who is responsible for making all this trouble for us? What kind of work do you do? Where do you come from? What is your country? From what people are you?”

⁹He answered, “I am a Hebrew and I worship the LORD, the God of heaven, who made the sea and the dry land.”

¹⁰This terrified them and they asked, “What have you done?” (They knew he was running away from the LORD, because he had already told them so.) ¹¹The sea was getting rougher and rougher. So they asked him, “What should we do to you to make the sea calm down for us?”

¹²“Pick me up and throw me into the sea,” he replied, “and it will become calm. I know that it is my fault that this great storm has come upon you.”

¹³Instead, the men did their best to row back to land. But they could not, for the sea grew even wilder than before. ¹⁴Then they cried out to the LORD, “Please, LORD, do not let us die for taking this man’s life. Do not hold us accountable for killing an innocent man, for you, LORD, have done as you pleased.” ¹⁵Then they took Jonah and threw him overboard, and the raging sea grew calm. ¹⁶At this the men greatly feared the LORD, and they offered a sacrifice to the LORD and made vows to him.

Jonah’s Prayer

¹⁷Now the LORD provided a huge fish to swallow Jonah, and Jonah was in the belly of the fish three days and three nights.

Jonah 2^a

¹From inside the fish Jonah prayed to the LORD his God. ²He said:

“In my distress I called to the LORD, and he answered me.

From deep in the realm of the dead I called for help, and you listened to my cry.

³You hurled me into the depths,
into the very heart of the seas,
and the currents swirled about me;

all your waves and breakers
swept over me.

⁴I said, 'I have been banished from your sight;

yet I will look again
toward your holy temple.'

⁵The engulfing waters threatened me,^b
the deep surrounded me;
seaweed was wrapped around my head.

⁶To the roots of the mountains I sank down;
the earth beneath barred me in forever.
But you, LORD my God, brought my life up from the pit.

⁷"When my life was ebbing away,
I remembered you, LORD,
and my prayer rose to you, to your holy temple. The Law of the Picture: Leaders Must Incarnate What They Ask Others to Do

⁸"Those who cling to worthless idols turn away from God's love for them.

⁹But I, with shouts of grateful praise, will sacrifice to you.
What I have vowed I will make good.
I will say, 'Salvation comes from the LORD.' "

¹⁰And the LORD commanded the fish, and it vomited Jonah onto dry land. Qualities: INITIATIVE: One Earmark of a True Leader ²¹

Jonah 3

Jonah Goes to Nineveh

¹Then the word of the LORD came to Jonah a second time: ²“Go to the great city of Nineveh and proclaim to it the message I give you.” PROFILE in Leadership: Jonah:

Second Chances God Can Use Even a Reluctant Leader

³Jonah obeyed the word of the LORD and went to Nineveh. Now Nineveh was a very large city; it took three days to go through it. ⁴Jonah began by going a day’s journey into the city, proclaiming, “Forty more days and Nineveh will be overthrown.” ⁵The Ninevites believed God. A fast was proclaimed, and all of them, from the greatest to the least, put on sackcloth.

⁶When Jonah’s warning reached the king of Nineveh, he rose from his throne, took off his royal robes, covered himself with sackcloth and sat down in the dust.

⁷This is the proclamation he issued in Nineveh:

“By the decree of the king and his nobles:

Do not let people or animals, herds or flocks, taste anything; do not let them eat or drink. ⁸But let people and animals be covered with sackcloth. Let everyone call urgently on God. Let them give up their evil ways and their violence. ⁹Who knows? God may yet relent and with compassion turn from his fierce anger so that we will not perish.” The Law of Influence: The King Leads in Delivering Nineveh

¹⁰When God saw what they did and how they turned from their evil ways, he relented and did not bring on them the destruction he had threatened.

Jonah 4

Jonah's Anger at the LORD's Compassion

¹But to Jonah this seemed very wrong, and he became angry. ²He prayed to the LORD, "Isn't this what I said, LORD, when I was still at home? That is what I tried to forestall by fleeing to Tarshish. I knew that you are a gracious and compassionate God, slow to anger and abounding in love, a God who relents from sending calamity. ³Now, LORD, take away my life, for it is better for me to die than to live." Motive Check: Why We Act Determines How We React PROFILE in Leadership: Jonah: Lessons from a Pouting Prophet

⁴But the LORD replied, "Is it right for you to be angry?"

⁵Jonah had gone out and sat down at a place east of the city. There he made himself a shelter, sat in its shade and waited to see what would happen to the city. ⁶Then the LORD God provided a leafy plant^a and made it grow up over Jonah to give shade for his head to ease his discomfort, and Jonah was very happy about the plant. ⁷But at dawn the next day God provided a worm, which chewed the plant so that it withered. ⁸When the sun rose, God provided a scorching east wind, and the sun blazed on Jonah's head so that he grew faint. He wanted to die, and said, "It would be better for me to die than to live."

⁹But God said to Jonah, "Is it right for you to be angry about the plant?"

"It is," he said. "And I'm so angry I wish I were dead."

¹⁰But the LORD said, "You have been concerned about this plant, though you did not tend it or make it grow. It sprang up overnight and died overnight. ¹¹And should I not have concern for the great city of Nineveh, in which there are more than a hundred and twenty thousand people who cannot tell their right hand from their left—and also many animals?"

Character: Jonah Runs from Commitment

Jonah 1:1–10

When God told Jonah to warn the people of Nineveh to repent, the prophet turned the other direction and fled. Spot someone who runs from commitment, and you'll find a person who lacks character.

Many times a leader must ask his followers to make a commitment. Usually God first asks the leader to commit. At this point, the leader discovers how much he's embraced the cause. Is he cautious, curious, or committed? Jonah teaches us the consequences of avoiding God's call to commitment:

1. We miss the privilege of partnership with God (vv. 1–3).
2. Our choice damages more people than we know (v. 4).
3. We become hardened and desensitized to the tragedies we cause (vv. 5–8).
4. We lose both integrity and trust (vv. 9–10).

PROFILE in Leadership

Jonah: The Prophet Who Ran Down

Jonah 1:1–17

Who among us hasn't heard God telling us to do something we really didn't want to do? Sometimes it's easy to convince ourselves that we know better than God what needs to be done.

Jonah was a godly prophet, yet when God commanded him to preach repentance to the Ninevites, Jonah ran in the opposite direction. As he ran, he went nowhere but down—down to the seashore, down to the bottom of the ship, down to the water, and down into the belly of the fish. Jonah learned what can happen to the man or woman who is called to lead but who shrinks from that role of leadership.

One can only imagine the wretched conditions inside the creature God had prepared to temporarily house Jonah. But was it any worse than the situations into which we put ourselves when we run from God? Eventually the Lord will bring us to a place where we have little choice but to stop, listen, and obey.

But why wait for such an unpleasant place?

Leaders may not always understand why God wants them to do certain things, but he doesn't ask us to depend upon our own understanding or logic. Rather, he calls us to walk in obedience to his instruction. Don't make it necessary for God to introduce you to the inside of a fish!

The Law of the Picture: Leaders Must Incarnate What They Ask Others to Do

Jonah 2:7–9

God told Jonah to call the people of Nineveh to repent. They had lived a life of pride and selfishness, and had failed to submit to God in worship. But when Jonah ran from God, he was guilty of the same things! God humbled Jonah and gave him perspective in the belly of the fish, where the prophet got his heart right through a profound worship experience.

The leader must first incarnate the life he calls the people to live. People do what people see. Once Jonah repented, he was ready to call others to repent.

21 Qualities

INITIATIVE | One Earmark of a True Leader

Jonah 2:10—3:10

ONE EARMARK of a true leader is the display of initiative. By definition, leaders cannot wait for someone else to move; if they do, they are really followers, not leaders. Initiative requires an element of risk, faith and foresight. When did you last initiate something significant? If you haven't pushed yourself lately and left your comfort zone, you may need a jump start in initiative.

Why Do We Fail to Initiate?

It seems easier to run from a challenge than to step out and take a risk. When we initiate, we commit ourselves to a direction. We may feel uncertain about what the future holds. What if we change our minds? What if no one follows? What if we fail in front of our followers? We run from commitment and initiative for a variety of reasons.

Reason

1. We are afraid we'll be unable to keep the commitment.

2. We suspect we might find "greener grass" somewhere else.

3. We expend time and energy only for personal gain.

Issue

1. Low sense of security

2. Paralyzed will

3. No surrender

4. Our past makes trust difficult.

4. Emotional baggage

5. We are lazy and unmotivated.

5. Apathy and neutrality

6. We fear the risk of being rejected.

6. Poor self-esteem

7. We fear the unknown and the unfamiliar.

7. Low confidence

8. We don't want to lose our freedom.

8. Entitlement philosophy

9. We fear being different from others.

9. Politically correct

10. We don't really know who we are.

10. Gifts and calling

Jonah had to learn initiative. It started with learning submission to God. Once we surrender to his call on our life and leadership, we can step out to follow him. We can take risks because our future lies in his hands. Once Jonah submitted to God's call, he saw all kinds of results. What happens when we accept God's call to initiate and commit?

1. We assume healthy personal responsibility (1:12).
2. We'll likely see many come to faith in God (1:13–16).
3. We receive a God-given time and place to gain perspective (1:17).
4. We deepen our experience of worship and prayer (2:1–9).
5. We progress toward a new level of personal freedom (2:10).
6. We enjoy partnership with God (3:1–9).
7. We gain the satisfaction of seeing changed lives (3:10).

PROFILE in Leadership

Jonah: Second Chances

Jonah 3:1–3

“Then the word of the LORD came to Jonah a second time.” After all Jonah had done (and failed to do), God still offered him a second chance to be a leader of great influence. What does “a second time” mean?

- The first time is lost. What might Jonah’s life have been like if he’d obeyed the first time? We will never know. You will never know what impact you will forfeit or the consequences that will come from your disobedience.
- You need grace. Jonah is the prodigal son of the Old Testament. Both men received mercy and grace instead of justice. Be thankful for the grace God gives you if you receive a second chance.
- God has a purpose for your life. God’s purposes are stronger than our failures. He didn’t allow Jonah’s initial failure to be the end of the story.
- You have an opportunity to make a better choice. Jonah obeyed God the second time. Saying “Yes, Lord” can change your life and leadership. While it’s always better to make the right choice the first time, God is gracious. As he did with Jonah, he may offer another opportunity to make the right choice. When you get a second chance, make it count!
- You can be different. Because Jonah took God’s second chance, 120,000 people heard God’s message, repented, and were saved. You have no idea how many people you can help if you seek God’s forgiveness, obey his calling, and take the second chance he offers you to lead with excellence.

God Can Use Even a Reluctant Leader

Jonah 3:1–3

We often get caught up in the story of “the big fish” and miss the story of “the big God”! The miracle of Nineveh’s redemption is a story of God’s pursuit of a leader who ran from a commitment. God wanted a divine partnership in which both parties committed themselves to the cause with reckless abandon.

What might have happened had Jonah failed to go? What if he had rejected God’s call to commitment? What if he avoided it and God never pursued him? History might be different . . . at least for one ancient people.

Fortunately, God comes for us when we run from commitment. Most of the time he gives us a second opportunity, just as he did with Jonah. Note the stages leading up to that second chance:

1. Recognition of failure or inability
2. A crisis of honest reflection
3. Drawing near to God for empowerment

4. The opportunity to recommit ourselves

The Law of Influence: The King Leads in Delivering Nineveh

Jonah 3:6–9

When the news of Jonah's message of judgment reached the king of Nineveh, he immediately repented. He took off his royal robe, covered himself with sackcloth, and sat down in the dust. He repented for his own sin. Then he used his influence to bring about citywide revival. He issued a decree that every citizen follow his lead. When God saw his response, he had compassion on the Ninevites and did not destroy them.

In this case, the leader influenced the fate of an entire population. He did so by providing the three fundamentals every follower needs:

1. A clear model: He repented first, setting an example (v. 6).
2. A clear message: He called his people to a specific action (vv. 7–8).
3. A clear motivation: He gave the people a reason for taking action (v. 9).

Motive Check: Why We Act Determines How We React

Jonah 4:1–2

Jonah felt great delight when God planned to destroy the wicked people of Nineveh, but he grew angry when they repented and God showed them compassion. He suspected God might do something just like that, and that made him even angrier. He would have preferred to see God remove the threat of Nineveh. His selfish motives led him astray.

Consequently, God gave him an object lesson. When the Lord sent a worm to eat the plant that gave Jonah shade, the prophet grew angry. God reminded him that he had no right to his anger, since he had done nothing to create the plant. Would he be angry at the death of a mere vine, but unmoved at the destruction of more than 120,000 people? Didn't the Creator have a right to restore them? Of course he did.

God gave Jonah a motive check—and us a reminder. Leaders must determine to be motivated only by what motivates God.

Jonah: Lessons from a Pouting Prophet

Jonah 4

Jonah's ministry in Nineveh was a great success. The people repented, so God relented. But Jonah didn't worship and celebrate; he whined and complained. Even so, this pouting prophet can teach us valuable lessons about leadership.

Your decisions as a leader affect many people. Every decision Jonah made had an impact on others. As a leader, you must never forget that your actions or inactions—your obedience or disobedience to God—can either benefit or hinder those you lead.

Continually examine your heart. In the end, Jonah obeyed God and fulfilled his will. But Jonah's heart wasn't right and God called him on it. Good leaders do the right things for the right reasons with the right heart. That's why it's important to ask yourself whether you've sought God's will in any given situation. You need to consider whether God is pleased with your internal motivation. You need to try to see things from his perspective.

Recognize God doesn't need to use you. God could have sent an angel to the people of Nineveh, but instead he chose a fallible human leader. We should marvel at God's decision to work through us as leaders. Every day express gratitude for the influence God has entrusted to you and seek to use it wisely.

Introduction to Micah

What Does the Lord Require of You?

Micah's name means, "Who is like the LORD?" This is precisely the question he posed in his prophetic ministry in the middle of the eighth century B.C. His life modeled one who is "like the LORD," and he called the people of Judah to this same lifestyle of divine imitation. His leadership challenged false prophets, corrupt political leaders and wayward residents of Judah to live their faith authentically.

The summary verse of his book, Micah 6:8, asks: "He has shown you, O mortal, what is good. And what does the LORD require of you? To act justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with your God."

Micah deeply suspected the wickedness and corruption of the cities of Judah. This country prophet intuitively perceived the greed that lay behind the decisions of the priestly and political leaders of his day. He championed the cause of the poor and the oppressed and rebuked those in charge for their exploitation of others.

Micah warns leaders today about leading for personal gain rather than organizational gain. When leaders benefit from the system apart from followers—something is wrong with the leader or the system, and maybe both.

Micah also cautions leaders about doing what's right on the surface to hide a corrupt heart. Leadership cannot merely be an "outside" job; it must be an "inside" job as well. Healthy, effective leadership stems from who we are, not just what we do. Leaders can masquerade only for a while . . . before reality becomes obvious.

Finally, Micah teaches us that a leader's spiritual life must transform his or her social ethics and approach to leadership. Integrity means "oneness," the opposite of hypocrisy. One compartment of our life cannot contradict another.

God's Role in Micah

The book of Micah pictures God as the Ruler of all things. The Lord used the prophet Micah to spell out what he wanted from the Hebrews—but he also used ungodly neighbors like Assyria to punish the corrupt leaders of Israel and Judah. Micah began to connect the wickedness of Judah and the lightning raids of the Assyrians. As evil rose in Judah, military power rose in Assyria. God would sovereignly use even this to accomplish his purposes. He will use even unjust instruments to correct his own unjust people.

In addition, God assumed the role of watching over the peasants of Judah. Passing armies would often invade villages and make slaves of the residents while Judah's leaders looked the other way. God chose to use Micah to speak out against the selfishness of the nation's leaders.

Other People of Influence in Micah

The Assyrians, the corrupt vendors, the false prophets Lessons in Leadership

- Healthy leadership enables everyone to win: the leader, the follower and the organization.
- God expects leaders to guard the poor and oppressed, those without an advocate.
- Leadership is a life we live, not a show we perform.
- Values absent from the leader cannot be exported.
- Leadership plus hypocrisy equals leadership minus credibility.

THE LAW OF INFLUENCE: Woe to Leaders Who Abuse Power (3:1–12)

Micah 1

¹The word of the LORD that came to Micah of Moresheth during the reigns of Jotham, Ahaz and Hezekiah, kings of Judah—the vision he saw concerning Samaria and Jerusalem. Values: Leaders Know What to Cry About

²Hear, you peoples, all of you, listen, earth and all who live in it, that the Sovereign LORD may bear witness against you, the Lord from his holy temple.

Judgment Against Samaria and Jerusalem

³Look! The LORD is coming from his dwelling place; he comes down and treads on the heights of the earth.

⁴The mountains melt beneath him and the valleys split apart, like wax before the fire,
like water rushing down a slope.

⁵All this is because of Jacob's transgression, because of the sins of the people of Israel.

What is Jacob's transgression?

Is it not Samaria?

What is Judah's high place?

Is it not Jerusalem?

⁶"Therefore I will make Samaria a heap of rubble, a place for planting vineyards.

I will pour her stones into the valley and lay bare her foundations.

⁷All her idols will be broken to pieces; all her temple gifts will be burned with fire;

I will destroy all her images.

Since she gathered her gifts from the wages of prostitutes, as the wages of prostitutes they will again be used."

Weeping and Mourning

⁸Because of this I will weep and wail; I will go about barefoot and naked.

I will howl like a jackal and moan like an owl.

⁹For Samaria's plague is incurable; it has spread to Judah.

It has reached the very gate of my people,
even to Jerusalem itself.

¹⁰Tell it not in Gath^a; weep not at all.

In Beth Ophrah^b roll in the dust.

¹¹Pass by naked and in shame, you who live in Shaphir.^c

Those who live in Zaanan^d will not come out.
Beth Ezel is in mourning;
it no longer protects you.

¹²Those who live in Maroth^e writhe in pain, waiting for relief, because disaster has come from the LORD, even to the gate of Jerusalem.

¹³You who live in Lachish, harness fast horses to the chariot.

You are where the sin of Daughter Zion began,
for the transgressions of Israel were found in you.

¹⁴Therefore you will give parting gifts to Moresheth Gath.

The town of Akzib^f will prove deceptive to the kings of Israel.

¹⁵I will bring a conqueror against you who live in Mareshah.^g

The nobles of Israel will flee to Adullam.

¹⁶Shave your head in mourning for the children in whom you delight;
make yourself as bald as the vulture,
for they will go from you into exile.

Micah 2

Human Plans and God's Plans

¹Woe to those who plan iniquity, to those who plot evil on their beds!
At morning's light they carry it out because it is in their power to do it. Character: Leaders Can't Give What They Don't Have ²They covet fields and seize them, and houses, and take them.

They defraud people of their homes,
they rob them of their inheritance.

³Therefore, the LORD says:

“I am planning disaster against this people,
from which you cannot save yourselves.
You will no longer walk proudly,
for it will be a time of calamity.

⁴In that day people will ridicule you; they will taunt you with this mournful song:

‘We are utterly ruined;
my people's possession is divided up.
He takes it from me!
He assigns our fields to traitors.’ ”

⁵Therefore you will have no one in the assembly of the LORD to divide the land by lot.

False Prophets

⁶“Do not prophesy,” their prophets say.

“Do not prophesy about these things;
disgrace will not overtake us.”

⁷You descendants of Jacob, should it be said, “Does the LORD become^a impatient?

Does he do such things?”

“Do not my words do good to the one whose ways are upright?

⁸Lately my people have risen up like an enemy.

You strip off the rich robe from those who pass by without a care, like men returning from battle.

⁹You drive the women of my people from their pleasant homes.

You take away my blessing from their children forever.

¹⁰Get up, go away!

For this is not your resting place,
because it is defiled,
it is ruined, beyond all remedy.

¹¹If a liar and deceiver comes and says, 'I will prophesy for you plenty of wine and beer,'
that would be just the prophet for this people!

Deliverance Promised

¹²“I will surely gather all of you, Jacob; I will surely bring together the remnant of Israel.

I will bring them together like sheep in a pen,
like a flock in its pasture;
the place will throng with people. Leaders Must Motivate, Not Manipulate ¹³The One who breaks open the way will go up before them; they will break through the gate and go out.

Their King will pass through before them,
the LORD at their head.”

Micah 3

Leaders and Prophets Rebuked

¹Then I said,

“Listen, you leaders of Jacob,
you rulers of Israel.

Should you not embrace justice, The Law of Influence: Woe to Leaders Who Abuse Power

²you who hate good and love evil; who tear the skin from my people and the flesh from their bones;

³who eat my people’s flesh, strip off their skin and break their bones in pieces;
who chop them up like meat for the pan,
like flesh for the pot?”

⁴Then they will cry out to the LORD, but he will not answer them.
At that time he will hide his face from them because of the evil they have done.

⁵This is what the LORD says:

“As for the prophets who lead my people astray,
they proclaim ‘peace’
if they have something to eat, but prepare to wage war against anyone who refuses to feed them.

⁶Therefore night will come over you, without visions, and darkness, without divination.

The sun will set for the prophets,
and the day will go dark for them.

⁷The seers will be ashamed and the diviners disgraced.
They will all cover their faces because there is no answer from God.”

⁸But as for me, I am filled with power, with the Spirit of the LORD, and with justice and might,
to declare to Jacob his transgression,
to Israel his sin.

⁹Hear this, you leaders of Jacob, you rulers of Israel, who despise justice

and distort all that is right;

¹⁰who build Zion with bloodshed, and Jerusalem with wickedness.

¹¹Her leaders judge for a bribe, her priests teach for a price, and her prophets tell fortunes for money.

Yet they look for the LORD's support and say, "Is not the LORD among us?
No disaster will come upon us."

¹²Therefore because of you, Zion will be plowed like a field,
Jerusalem will become a heap of rubble,
the temple hill a mound overgrown with thickets.

Micah 4

The Mountain of the LORD

¹In the last days

the mountain of the LORD's temple will be established as the highest of the mountains;

it will be exalted above the hills,

and peoples will stream to it. Vision: Leaders See It, Say It, and Show It Before They Seize It

²Many nations will come and say,

“Come, let us go up to the mountain of the LORD, to the temple of the God of Jacob.

He will teach us his ways,
so that we may walk in his paths.”

The law will go out from Zion,
the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.

³He will judge between many peoples and will settle disputes for strong nations far and wide.

They will beat their swords into plowshares
and their spears into pruning hooks.

Nation will not take up sword against nation,
nor will they train for war anymore.

⁴Everyone will sit under their own vine and under their own fig tree, and no one will make them afraid,
for the LORD Almighty has spoken.

⁵All the nations may walk in the name of their gods, but we will walk in the name of the LORD
our God for ever and ever.

The LORD's Plan

⁶“In that day,” declares the LORD,

“I will gather the lame;

I will assemble the exiles and those I have brought to grief.

⁷I will make the lame my remnant, those driven away a strong nation.
The LORD will rule over them in Mount Zion from that day and forever.

⁸As for you, watchtower of the flock, stronghold^a of Daughter Zion, the former dominion will be restored to you;
kingship will come to Daughter Jerusalem.”

⁹Why do you now cry aloud— have you no king^b?
Has your ruler^c perished, that pain seizes you like that of a woman in labor?

¹⁰Writhe in agony, Daughter Zion, like a woman in labor, for now you must leave the city to camp in the open field.
You will go to Babylon;
there you will be rescued.
There the LORD will redeem you out of the hand of your enemies.

¹¹But now many nations are gathered against you.
They say, “Let her be defiled,
let our eyes gloat over Zion!”

¹²But they do not know the thoughts of the LORD;
they do not understand his plan,
that he has gathered them like sheaves to the threshing floor.

¹³“Rise and thresh, Daughter Zion, for I will give you horns of iron;
I will give you hooves of bronze,
and you will break to pieces many nations.”
You will devote their ill-gotten gains to the LORD, their wealth to the Lord of all the earth.

Micah 5^a

A Promised Ruler From Bethlehem

¹Marshal your troops now, city of troops, for a siege is laid against us.
They will strike Israel's ruler on the cheek with a rod.

²"But you, Bethlehem Ephrathah, though you are small among the clans^b of Judah, out of you will come for me one who will be ruler over Israel, whose origins are from of old,
from ancient times."

³Therefore Israel will be abandoned until the time when she who is in labor bears a son, and the rest of his brothers return to join the Israelites.

⁴He will stand and shepherd his flock in the strength of the LORD, in the majesty of the name of the LORD his God.
And they will live securely, for then his greatness will reach to the ends of the earth.

⁵And he will be our peace when the Assyrians invade our land and march through our fortresses.
We will raise against them seven shepherds,
even eight commanders,

⁶who will rule^c the land of Assyria with the sword, the land of Nimrod with drawn sword.^d
He will deliver us from the Assyrians

when they invade our land and march across our borders.

⁷The remnant of Jacob will be in the midst of many peoples like dew from the LORD,
like showers on the grass, which do not wait for anyone or depend on man.

⁸The remnant of Jacob will be among the nations, in the midst of many peoples,
like a lion among the beasts of the forest,
like a young lion among flocks of sheep, which mauls and mangles as it goes,
and no one can rescue.

⁹Your hand will be lifted up in triumph over your enemies, and all your foes will be destroyed.

¹⁰“In that day,” declares the LORD,

“I will destroy your horses from among you and demolish your chariots.

¹¹I will destroy the cities of your land and tear down all your strongholds.

¹²I will destroy your witchcraft and you will no longer cast spells.

¹³I will destroy your idols and your sacred stones from among you;
you will no longer bow down to the work of your hands.

¹⁴I will uproot from among you your Asherah poles^e
when I demolish your cities.

¹⁵I will take vengeance in anger and wrath on the nations that have not obeyed me.”

Micah 6

The LORD's Case Against Israel ¹Listen to what the LORD says:

“Stand up, plead my case before the mountains;
let the hills hear what you have to say.

²“Hear, you mountains, the LORD's accusation; listen, you everlasting foundations of the earth.
For the LORD has a case against his people; he is lodging a charge against Israel.

³“My people, what have I done to you?
How have I burdened you? Answer me.

⁴I brought you up out of Egypt and redeemed you from the land of slavery.
I sent Moses to lead you,
also Aaron and Miriam.

⁵My people, remember what Balak king of Moab plotted and what Balaam son of Beor answered.
Remember your journey from Shittim to Gilgal, that you may know the righteous acts of the LORD.”

⁶With what shall I come before the LORD and bow down before the exalted God?
Shall I come before him with burnt offerings, with calves a year old?

⁷Will the LORD be pleased with thousands of rams, with ten thousand rivers of olive oil?

Shall I offer my firstborn for my transgression,
the fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?

⁸He has shown you, O mortal, what is good.
And what does the LORD require of you?
To act justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly^a with your God.

Israel's Guilt and Punishment

9Listen! The LORD is calling to the city— and to fear your name is wisdom

“Heed the rod and the One who appointed it.^b

10Am I still to forget your ill-gotten treasures, you wicked house, and the short ephah,^c which is accursed?

11Shall I acquit someone with dishonest scales, with a bag of false weights?

12Your rich people are violent; your inhabitants are liars and their tongues speak deceitfully.

13Therefore, I have begun to destroy you, to ruin^d you because of your sins.

14You will eat but not be satisfied; your stomach will still be empty.^e

You will store up but save nothing, because what you save^f I will give to the sword.

15You will plant but not harvest; you will press olives but not use the oil, you will crush grapes but not drink the wine.

16You have observed the statutes of Omri and all the practices of Ahab’s house;

you have followed their traditions.

Therefore I will give you over to ruin and your people to derision;

you will bear the scorn of the nations.^g”

Micah 7

Israel's Misery

¹What misery is mine!

I am like one who gathers summer fruit
at the gleaning of the vineyard;
there is no cluster of grapes to eat,
none of the early figs that I crave.

²The faithful have been swept from the land; not one upright person remains.

Everyone lies in wait to shed blood;
they hunt each other with nets.

³Both hands are skilled in doing evil; the ruler demands gifts,
the judge accepts bribes,
the powerful dictate what they desire—they all conspire together. Servanthood: Leaders Who Fail to Practice Servant Leadership Become Self-Serving

⁴The best of them is like a brier, the most upright worse than a thorn hedge.
The day God visits you has come,
the day your watchmen sound the alarm.
Now is the time of your confusion.

⁵Do not trust a neighbor; put no confidence in a friend.
Even with the woman who lies in your embrace guard the words of your lips.

⁶For a son dishonors his father, a daughter rises up against her mother, a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law—
a man's enemies are the members of his own household.

⁷But as for me, I watch in hope for the LORD, I wait for God my Savior;
my God will hear me.

Israel Will Rise

⁸Do not gloat over me, my enemy!

Though I have fallen, I will rise.

Though I sit in darkness,
the LORD will be my light.

⁹Because I have sinned against him, I will bear the LORD's wrath, until he pleads my case

and upholds my cause.

He will bring me out into the light;

I will see his righteousness.

¹⁰Then my enemy will see it and will be covered with shame,
she who said to me,

"Where is the LORD your God?"

My eyes will see her downfall;

even now she will be trampled underfoot like mire in the streets.

¹¹The day for building your walls will come, the day for extending your boundaries.

¹²In that day people will come to you from Assyria and the cities of Egypt, even from Egypt to the Euphrates and from sea to sea and from mountain to mountain.

¹³The earth will become desolate because of its inhabitants, as the result of their deeds.

Prayer and Praise

¹⁴Shepherd your people with your staff, the flock of your inheritance, which lives by itself in a forest, in fertile pasturelands.^a Let them feed in Bashan and Gilead as in days long ago.

¹⁵“As in the days when you came out of Egypt, I will show them my wonders.”

¹⁶Nations will see and be ashamed, deprived of all their power.
They will put their hands over their mouths and their ears will become deaf.

¹⁷They will lick dust like a snake, like creatures that crawl on the ground.
They will come trembling out of their dens;
they will turn in fear to the LORD our God and will be afraid of you.

¹⁸Who is a God like you, who pardons sin and forgives the transgression of the remnant of his inheritance?
You do not stay angry forever
but delight to show mercy.

¹⁹You will again have compassion on us; you will tread our sins underfoot and hurl all our iniquities into the depths of the sea.

²⁰You will be faithful to Jacob, and show love to Abraham, as you pledged on oath to our ancestors
in days long ago.

Values: Leaders Know What to Cry About

Micah 1:1–9

Micah provides us with an example of a leader who knows what to cry about. While he could declare the Lord's judgment against Samaria and Jerusalem, he also wept over the punishment their citizens were to endure. They would always be the people he loved.

The more leaders mature, the more value they place on people. When all is said and done, leadership isn't about strategy, marketing, organization, efficiency, or high-quality products, but about people. Micah hurt when others hurt, even though they were in the wrong. The high value he placed on people teaches us:

1. People are an organization's most appreciable asset.
2. People skills are a leader's most important asset.
3. If you are good with people, you can lead in a variety of contexts.
4. You can have people skills and not be a good leader, but you cannot be a good leader without people skills.

Character: Leaders Can't Give What They Don't Have

Micah 2:1–13

The wicked leaders of Micah's day led out of convenience and expediency. They did what was right by them.

The Greek word for character is often translated "image." It means a notch, indentation, a sharpening, scratching, or writing on a stone or a coin. Consequently, character historically meant a distinctive mark impressed or formed on the inside of a person by an outside force. To better understand character, take a look at some common misconceptions about it:

1. Character is not merely how a person acts; some can masquerade poor character.
2. Character isn't just what a person will ideally be in the future; that's called hope.
3. Character is not only what others see on the outside; it begins on the inside.
4. Character isn't limited to wisdom in evaluating others' behavior; that's judgment.
5. Character isn't only about discipline; I may be disciplined in one area and not in another.

Leaders Must Motivate, Not Manipulate

Micah 2:12–13

God pronounces judgment on the win-lose proposition of manipulation. Manipulation means moving together for my advantage; motivation means moving together for mutual advantage. God warns that plans should be laid for the benefit of the people, not the leader. And he promises to deliver his people from selfish, wicked leaders.

The Law of Influence: Woe to Leaders Who Abuse Power

Micah 3:1–12

God pronounces a dark future for leaders who practice injustice and abuse their power to take advantage of others. God rebukes poor leaders and false prophets for their sins that impacted the entire land. God notes that these leaders had power and influence, but that they used it for their own purposes. Study the chapter to see what God hated so much about these abusive leaders:

1. They destroyed people instead of developing them (vv. 1–3).
2. They misled people into confusion, instead of leading them in a cause (vv. 5–7).
3. They distorted justice instead of upholding justice for the common man (vv. 9–10).
4. They took bribes for themselves instead of taking responsibility for the people (vv. 11–12).

Vision: Leaders See It, Say It, and Show It Before They Seize It

Micah 4:1–2

All great leaders begin their journey with a vision. People have to buy in to both the leader and the vision before they take the journey.

The prophet paints a picture of what life will be like in the future, during the last days—a glorious vision anyone could get excited about!

The “house of the LORD” was to be a strategic place (Mic 4:1), an influential place (4:2) and an equipping place (4:2). In order for Micah to succeed, he had to possess and persuade the people concerning God’s vision for them. Then, he had to wait. Visions usually work like the birth of a baby; they take a long time in coming.

For any leader to successfully communicate a vision, they should know the vital signs of a successful vision:

1. A clear picture—the ability to see the vision.
2. A committed people—the ability to transmit the vision.
3. A consistent prayer—the ability to intercede for the vision.
4. A constructive passion—the ability to work toward the vision.
5. A calm persistence—the ability to patiently wait for the vision.

God Holds Leaders Responsible for Creating an Environment of Justice

Micah 6:8

Micah 6:8 declares what God expects of every one of his people, a lesson especially crucial for leaders. Why? Because God holds leaders responsible for creating healthy environments. The people learn to love justice and show mercy when their leader creates an environment for both.

The three items listed in this text define the values and character of a godly leader:

1. Act justly: Justice and integrity rule their decisions regarding policy and program.
2. Love mercy: A love for people and relationship skills remain a high priority.
3. Walk humbly with God: A respectful relationship with God governs their strategy and lifestyle.

Servanthood: Leaders Who Fail to Practice Servant Leadership Become Self-Serving

Micah 7:3–4
